U.S. Cup Team Buckles Down To Hard Work

ADELAIDE, Australia (AP)—U.S. Davis Cup forces buckled down to hard practice today, confident they have a good chance of recapturing the international tennis trophy from the Australians next week.

The challenge round opens next Monday, and even the staunchest of this continent's net followers are beginning to be concerned about prospects for keeping the cup.

Vic Seixas, U.S. captain and top player, showed no effects of his recent ankle injury in a brisk workout, while young Tony trabert continued his robust stroking.

Seixas took a nasty tumble in the fifth set of his match with Italy's Fausto Gardini last Friday and turned his ankle on the slippery court. He pulled out of the final singles Sunday. Today he said the limb didn't trouble him at all.

The U.S. captain threw a scare into the Australians by whipping their ace, Frank Sedgman, for the Victoria championship two weeks ago. Then Trabert added to this Commonwealth's discomfort by the ease with which he trounced Gardini in the windup singles of the inter-zone matches.

It now appears that Sedgman will have to win both his singles matches if Australia is to retain the Davis Cup.

On their present form, both Seixas and Trabert stand to beat the Aussies' No. 2 player, whether it's Ken McGregor or left-handed Mervyn Rose. Australian officials seem doubtful of their line-up at the moment. The draw will be made at the week-end.

Australia's great doubles combination of Sedgman and McGregor is generally conceded a point in that competition.

Beliveau Packs 'Em In As Montreal Edges Boston Bruins 4-3

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

A star flashed briefly across the National Hockey League horizon last week, scattering a shower of gold in its wake and promising more to come. NHL officials couldn't help looking regretful as Jean-Marc Beliveau headed back to Quebec after completing his three-game tryout with Montreal Canadiens.

The big guy looked like money in the bank. Nobody begrudged the Canadiens the five goals Beliveau parked behind rival netminders while he was on loan from Quebec Aces of the Quebec Senior Hockey League. To a man, the league's other five club-owners were willing to chance more of the same, if it brought the prospect of throngs of fans, interested in seeing Beliveau perform. He drew 42,339 in his three-game stint.

But they'll have to wait till next year at least. Beliveau has commitments to his hometown, where Quebeckers regard him as a sort of all-year Santa Claus, who presents them with a sackful of goals every winter.

TEMPORARY LURE

The comfort to the Canadiens and their rivals was that the Montreal club had lured Beliveau onto an NHL rink, at least temporarily, after years of unsuccessful wooing. It looked like a good bet that the guy they call "le gros Bill" would be back for more next year.

Beliveau bowed out in Boston Sunday, potting two goals against the Bruins and looking as much like a big-leaguer as when he scored three against New York Rangers in his Montreal debut last week. The biggest Boston crowd of the season—12,984 fans—watched him lead the Canadiens to their 4-3 victory over the Bruins and boost the Habitants into second place.

In other week-end games, Detroit Red Wings showed they intend to dominate the league until playoff time by trimming New York 5-2 Sunday night after tying 1-1 with the cellar-dwellers Saturday night. Toronto and Chicago split, the Maple Leafs winning 4-1 in Toronto Saturday night and the Black Hawks turning the tables 4-2 at home Sunday night

WALLOP CANADIENS

Boston walloped Montreal 6-3 Saturday night, but that wasn't the fault of Beliveau. He was capably looked after throughout the game by the Bruins. A crowd of 14,714 saw him Saturday night, more than the 14,641 who watched him tally three goals Thursday night.

The Red Wings gained three points in the week-end action. They now top the league with 39 points and appear well on the way to their fifth league championship.

Hy Buller's 65-foot shot with two minutes, 18 seconds left to play gave the Rangers their Saturday night tie when the Wings appeared to have the game sewed up on the strength of Len Kelly's goal early in the last period.

Veteran Ted Lindsay Sunday scored his 200th goal in NHL competition as the Wings outplayed the New Yorkers. Metro Prystai netted his 100th and Marcel Pronovost scored two and got two assists. Glen Skov completed Detroit's scoring. Goals by Wally Hergesheimer and Nick Mickoski had given the Rangers a brief first-period lead.

Chicago's early-season wonders fell into No. 4 spot in their games with the Leafs. The Hawks winless streak was extended to eight games Saturday night in Toronto as a crowd of 12,543, one of the smallest of the season, saw Tod Sloan, Teeder Kennedy, Ron Stewart, and Bobby Hassard score for the Leafs. Al Dewsbury got Chicago's goal.

Two third-period goals by Bill Gadsby and Fred Glover enabled the Hawks to turn the tables at home. Up to that point the game was tied. Gordie Hannigan and Kennedy had scored for Toronto, Dewsbury and Jim Peters for Chicago.

Lowly Sarnia Sailors Edge Stratford Indians In 4-3 Victory

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

It looks as it Stratford Indians are not out of their slump after all.

The pace-setting Indians of the Ontario Hockey Association Senior A group gave some healthy signs Friday night they had snapped out of it, but Saturday night they dropped back in their losing gait.

The lowly Sarnia Sailors edged out a 4-3 win over the Indians in their latest encounter and the defeat was Stratford's sixth in their last seven games. Friday night the Indians registered their only decision in that string by beating Kitchener-Waterloo Dutchmen with a third-period rally.

Their big line of Dinny Flanagan, Mickey Roth and Billy Flick clicked for the first time in many a night and picked up 10 scoring points between them. But they couldn't do a thing Saturday night. George Aitken bagged all three Stratford goals, two in the final period.

ACCOUNTED FOR GOALS

The line of Skippy Frezell, Jim Wilson and Don Emms accounted for the Sarnia goals for a victory that enabled them to move back into a tie for fifth place with Chatham Maroons, who dropped a 3-2 decision to Kitchener-Waterloo.

In the other game the second-place Owen Sound Mercurys handed Hamilton Tigers their 23rd straight defeat by blanking the luckless Cats 14-0.

Wilson and Frezell scored twice for Sarnia and Emms assisted on two of the goals. The Indians' loss cut their lead to three points over the Mercurys.

In the Northern Ontario Hockey Association southern group senior division, the week-end was disastrous to North Bay Trappers. Sault Ste. Marie (Ont.) Greyhounds trimmed them 6-3 Saturday night and the Trappers dropped a 3-2 decision Sunday to the Michigan Sault Indians.

Noranda Copper Kings broke even in their two Porcupine Mines Senior A League games, winning 5-2 against Abitibi Eskimos at Iroquois Falls Saturday night and dropping a 3-2 decision to South Porcupine Sunday on the Porkies' home ice.

Don Bauer fired three second-period goals for Kitchener-Waterloo in their win at home over Chatham. Don Rope, Art Hurst and Maurice Leveque added three more goals for the Dutchmen in the final period. Paul Emms playing his first game for Chatham, and Joe Carveth fired the Chatham goals.

BLAST HAMILTON

Barrie Edges Galt 3-2 For 2nd Place

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Don't count Barrie Flyers out of the Ontario Hockey Association Junior A race.

The Flyers, who topped the standings early in the season but bowed out to Toronto Marlboros, are on the climb.

Strengthened by trades, Barrie is in second place, four points off the pace being set by the Marlies.

Barrie's 3-2 win over Galt Saturday night was the Flyers' fifth straight victory. But the Marlies stayed four points in the lead with a 5-1 victory over Guelph Biltmores Sunday.

In other Saturday games St. Catharines defeated Toronto St. Michael's 4-3 and Oshawa trounced Three Rivers 4-2 in an interlocking schedule game with the Quebec Junior League. Sunday St. Michael's tied St. Catharines 5-5, Windsor defeated Kitchener 2-0 and the Montreal Canadiens smothered Oshawa 13-1. In a Quebec league game, Quebec Citadelles blanked Three Rivers Reds 6-0.

WINNING GOAL

Ray Thibeault scored the winning goal for Barrie while Galt was a man short in the third period. Skip Teal and Orv Tessier scored the other Barrie markers. Jim McBurney and John Sleaver tallied for Galt.

Billy Haas scored in an overtime period to give St. Catharines its win over St. Michael's. In regulation time Hugh Barlow scored two for the Teepees and Alex Leslie notched one. Jim Caffery, Bill Knox and Les Duff scored for the Collegians.

Oshawa won one, tied one and lost two on its Quebec tour. Saturday night Three Rivers twice tied the score but two quick goals in the final period gave the Generals the winning margin. Rip Collins, Harry Sinden, Bob Attersley and Jack Armstrong scored for Oshawa. Louis Desrosiers and Jean-Marie Cossette counted for Three Rivers.

Guy Rousseau scored four tallies for the Canadiens in Sunday's rout of the Generals. It was the most one-sided victory in both leagues this season. Denis Boucher, Les Lilley and Claude Vinet each scored twice and Brian MacKay, Phil Goyette and Henri Richard notched one each. Roger Maisonneuve scored Oshawa's tally.

NINTH VICTORY

Publish Book On War In Norway

LONDON (CP)—The first of some 25 volumes embracing the official history of Allied military campaigns in the Second World War was to be published Dec. 10. The work, dealing with operations in Norway, has been compiled by the historian, Dr. T. K. Derry, and is based on extensive research and specially-prepared summaries by a selected staff of narrators It took 18 months to complete.

The remaining volumes, being put together under the direction of Prof. J. R. M. Butler of Cambridge University, will be released in series, with the deadline for the final number set for 1965.

The latest report shows that more than 12,000,000 documents, including unit war diaries, are stored in war office vaults for detailed check by the narrators.

HAND-PICKED MEN

Altogether 92 summaries, or blue books, were projected as a foundation for the official histories of the widespread global operations. Those assigned to this job are mainly hand-picked retired senior army officers. Already 87 of the blue books have been completed, with the remainder expected to be ready by 1956.

Cost of the undertaking is reported to be about £80,000 a year.

Because the Second World War was global in extent, with operations co-ordinated in Washington and London, Butler plans to devote five volumes—one written by himself—to grand strategy.

Six volumes covering operations in the Mediterranean and the Middle East are being written by a team supervised by Maj.-Gen. I. S. O. Playfair. Specializing on four or five volumes on the war against Japan is Maj.-Gen. S. W. Kirby. And Maj. L. F. Ellis, whose account of the 1939-40 campaign in France and Flanders is due to be published next fall, has taken charge of a team concentrating on three volumes provisionally entitled "Victory in the West."

Aided Air Growth Notary Now 91

MONTREAL (CP)—A man who has watched — and helped — the RCAF grow from infancy into a full-fledged arm of Canada's defence celebrated his 91st birthday recently by going to his Montreal offices and turning in a full day's work.

George R. Lighthall, a notary for the last 70 years, became involved indirectly in the founding of the RCAF when he was named corresponding secretary here during the First World War for the Overseas Club and organized subscriptions for that group.

In January, 1915, the club decided to form an imperial air flotilla representing all overseas Dominions. Mr. Lighthall set up a committee that obtained four aircraft for more than $50,000.

By 1917, the committee had grown to such proportions it was decided to have it incorporated by Parliament and it adopted the title "Canadian Division of the Aerial League of the British Empire."

Later in 1917, when the Royal Flying Corps was looking for recruits, Mr. Lighthall offered the services of the committee. He was authorized to set up a centre in his Montreal office where 1,100 persons applied. Ninety-seven per cent were accepted.

In 1919, with men recruited by Mr. Lighthall and his friends and trained in imperial air flotilla aircraft, the "Canadian Air Force" was founded with headquarters at Camp Borden, Ont.

Mr. Lighthall still likes a game of billiards and plays a good hand of bridge. This season he attended all the McGill University football games.

The models were based on the competition's theme — the unknown political prisoner. Left to right, the models are by Anne Kahane, Montreal; Julien Herbert, Montreal, and Robert Norgate, of Ottawa. They were chosen by the Sculptors' Society of Canada and will be exhibited across Canada before being sent abroad.

Fire Destroys Dundas Hotel

DUNDAS (CP)—The Collins hotel, believed to be the oldest hotel in Ontario, was gutted by fire late Saturday night. Unofficial loss estimates ranged as high as $100,000.

Scores of persons attending a dance in the basement dining hall walked calmly out of the building. Several guests in upstairs rooms also escaped.

The fire, believed to have started in the kitchen, was fought by Dundas volunteer firemen and firemen from Hamilton, six miles southeast.

At Riverview there was a pool of water and five dead goldfish beside the smashed aquarium.

Pearson's Presidency At UN Canadian Highlight Of Year

By NORMAN ALTSTEDTER

Canada's external affairs minister, one of the most highly-regarded diplomats among UN delegates, held the top post through a strife-ridden session. He has another tough assignment when the assembly reconvenes in February to finish its work.

Pearson was at the centre of diplomatic activity on all major UN problems, but most particularly that of Korea, the UN's biggest headache.

Behind the scenes he worked closely with top delegates of Britain and the United States in helping to shape their differing views to support of the Indian peace plan for Korea. The proposal was adopted by the assembly with 54 countries backing it—the entire non-Communist membership uniting for the first time on a Korean resolution.

But the Communists—Chinese, North Koreans and the Soviet bloc—rejected the plan and Pearson's personal appeal. The next UN step on Korea will be decided in February with Pearson again chairman of the assembly meetings.

SEASONED NEGOTIATOR

Another Canadian emerged during the year as a seasoned negotiator—Health Minister Paul Martin, who took over leadership of the Canadian delegation at the assembly's seventh session when Pearson was elected president in October.

In the period before the Indian plan was presented, Martin conferred day and night with India's Krishna Menon, author of the proposal who was sent here by Prime Minister Nehru. At one point leading up to the vote, Britain and Canada split with the U.S. over the resolution, but the differences were short-lived after Russia blasted the proposal. The U.S. then dropped most of its objections.

In the colonial problem, Canada played a mediatory role. Canada differed in substance and degree both with Britain and the U.S. on various aspects of the bitterest colonial question—the Arab-Asian demand for independence for the French protectorates of Tunisia and Morocco.

By supporting a mildly-worded resolution urging direct negotiations between French and Tunisian and Moroccan authorities, Canada came closer to the Arab-Asian viewpoint than did Britain or the U.S.

Britain backed France's claim that the UN was not competent to deal with the problems because they were domestic matters. The U.S. opposed the resolution on Morocco, claiming that Tunis was further along the road towards self-government than Morocco.

MEDIATION EFFORTS

Nevertheless, Canada made clear it has absolute faith in France's pledge it is leading its protectorates towards self-government and voiced recognition of the strong ties binding France and Canada.

The Canadian delegation also helped in mediation efforts aiming at a start in direct negotiations between Israel and the Arab states with which it is still technically at war.

Canada and Norway were the leaders in framing a Palestine resolution accepted by Israel but rejected by the Arab countries. The resolution passed in committee but failed to get the two-thirds majority needed for passage in plenary session of the assembly.

Some delegates, however, held hope that Arab rejection at the UN would change to a move towards direct negotiations in the Middle East.

On the economic side of UN work, Canada's voice as one of the "have" nations, continued to be listened to closely.

2 Badly Burned In Car Smashup

ACTON (CP)—Two young men were found badly burned in their automobile near here Sunday.

Several hours later they were identified as John Bacon, 17, and Farr Wilfred Trimble, 20, both of Rockwood.

Identification was made through licence plates and later confirmed by a dentist.

The young men, both of whom worked at Guelph, had gone to Toronto Saturday and were apparently on their way home when the car went out of control, hit a tree and burst into flames.

MANY GATES

There are close to 50 points at which international railway traffic moves across the Canada-United States border.

Get Terms In Pen

ST. THOMAS (CP)—Three-year penitentiary terms were imposed Saturday on William Titchener, 22, and Gordon Copeland, 25, for stealing a safe containing money from a drug store Nov. 4. The safe and its contents were valued at $500 altogether. Similarly charged, Donald Titchener, 19-year-old brother of William, was given nine months determinate and nine months indeterminate in reformatory.

Woman Sets Air Record

MARSEILLE, France (AP)—Jacqueline Auriol, daughter-in-law of the French president, Sunday bettered her own woman's record for flying over a closed 100-kilometre (62.13 mile) course with an average time of 534.375 miles an hour. Mrs. Auriol's flight beat the record of 511.360 miles an hour which she set in May, 1951. She flew a "Mistral" jet fighter.

Veteran Missionary Dies In Toronto

TORONTO (CP)—The Rev. W. Harvey Grant, 87, a missionary in Honan, China for more than 30 years, died Saturday. He was one of the oldest graduates of the University of Toronto.

Dr. Grant, a native of Oneida, Ont., 18 miles southeast of Brantford, went to China in 1902 under the Foreign Mission Board of the Presbyterian Church in Canada. After church union he continued in the missionary service of the United Church of Canada.

He retired in 1937.

Korean Train Wrecked By Canadian Destroyer

ABOARD HMCS CRUSADER (CP) — This Canadian destroyer qualified as a member of the "train-buster club" in a recent night patrol off the east coast of Korea.

The Crusader, commanded by Lt.-Cmdr. John Bovey of Montreal, for some nights had stationed herself close to the enemy shore where a railway runs near the beach. Gun crews stood by their weapons, ready to open up the instant a train appeared.

Their shooting would have to be quick and accurate. There was only about 1,000 yards of exposed track running between two tunnels, with a smaller tunnel in the centre. With the train travelling between 25 and 30 miles an hour, the gunners didn't have much time.

ENGINE IS TARGET

Their instructions were to get the engine, thus stopping the train. However, the first night the Crusader gunners managed to knock off only two box cars and on succeeding nights there were no trains.

On the last night of the patrol the chance came. The moment the train came in sight the 4.5-inch guns stopped it cold with one salvo.

When smoke cleared there was no sign of the engine, but it soon reappeared from the centre tunnel, smoke and steam pouring from every seam. The guns gave it their full attention, but it disappeared again, so the Crusader turned her attention to the 13 boxcars left behind.

Air spotters reported at dawn: "Remains of 13 cars on and near railway, all badly damaged, several burned out, track cut in at least three places, with section of rail hanging down embankment. Engine turned over at bottom of embankment. Railway completely blocked."

As she headed for port, the Crusader received this message from the commander of task force 95: "Welcome to the train-busters club."

MOTOR "PURRED" LIKE A KITTEN—Elmer Kleinman, who spent five hours investigating strange noises in the motor of his car after he had driven to work in Indianapolis, found this tiny grey kitten, weak but alive. It was hidden from view on a shelf under the car's hood above the radiator where it had apparently crawled to keep warm during the night. A saucer of milk soon revived it.

Unfrocked Priest Sentenced To Nine Years

ROME (Reuters)—An unfrocked monsignor and former keeper of the Vatican's secret archives was sentenced Saturday to nine years' imprisonment for swindling rich Italian industrialists out of 850,000,000 lire (about $1,372,000) and $450,000 in American currency.

The verdict brought to an end a trial which had dragged on for three years. Eduardo Prettner Cippicio was first brought to trial in 1949, but the hearings were adjourned three times because of the illness of an important prosecution witness, Msgr. Guidetti, who died last April.

Cippicio, 47, was unfrocked in 1948 after he escaped from the "tower of the winds"—one of the bastions of the ancient Vatican Palace. He had been held there while a commission of cardinals investigated charges that he had embezzled and stolen jewelry. He was re-arrested a few days later and unfrocked.

In the earlier stages of his trial he had told the court: "Many people used to come to me when I was at the Vatican asking for foreign currency. At the same time requests came from Catholic organizations and persons abroad asking for Italian currency. It was only a matter of fitting together."

Fairmount Holds Christmas Concert

FAIRMOUNT (ENS)—The Fairmount Christmas concert was held in the schoolhouse Wednesday evening under the leadership of the teacher, Mr. Gary Stevenson.

There was a very large attendance. The chairman of the evening was Mr. Bruce Sargent.

The program consisted of singing of Christmas carols, recitations and pageants. Santa Claus also was there.

This was followed by a presentation to Mr. and Mrs. Allan Cochrane of Orono., nee Eleanor Downes, of a beautiful table lamp.

South Africa Finds Identity Cards Costly Business

JOHANNESBURG (Reuters) — The government of South Africa is finding that the job of photographing and issuing identity cards to its some 5,500,000 inhabitants is tough, time-consuming and costly.

The task was begun in November to help implement Premier Daniel F. Malan's racial - segregation policy.

The first difficulty was in finding a cheap, durable material for the cards that could not be altered.

Each card will carry the full name of the holder, sex, racial group, nationality, identity number and photograph.

For the non-African groups—and Indians—the department considered a rectangular pass of light metal similar to that used for Africans in the Belgian Congo. But this system was abandoned because each plate would cost 98 cents.

Instead, a laminated, lightweight board with a transparent plastic cover, which can be processed so that nothing can be erased from it, was selected.

For Africans—full-blooded natives—the census department will issue reference books. The identity cards will be sealed in the cover of the book.

About 2,500,000 cards will be issued to African men. For the present, they will not be issued to African women, because Africans do not like their womenfolk to carry passes.

Another 3,000,000 cards will be issued to all persons of both sexes more than 16 years old in the other race groups.

Teams of government photographers will tour the remotest African reserves photographing Africans at a charge of 28 cents for the two pictures which each African needs.

One goes on the identity card. The other goes on to the African's card in the national register of population, kept at the South African administrative capital, Pretoria.

The whole project is being undertaken under the National Registration Act, passed two years ago by the South African Parliament as part of the administrative machinery of Malan's segregation policy.

JUNIOR RED CROSS members at Verdun High School put the finishing touches to wooden strollers for Christmas distribution to needy children throughout Canada.

Cold, Blustery Christmas For Men At Top Of World

OTTAWA (CP)—A cold, blustery Christmas awaits a group of hardy Canadians working near the top of the world at the northern edge of Canada's Arctic frontier.

They are the Mounties and the weathermen on lonely Ellesmere Island, whose frozen wastes stretch out west of Greenland, about 800 miles within the arctic circle and about 1,800 miles north of Winnipeg.

Cut off from civilization except for the annual visit of a supply ship and an occasional RCAF plane, Ellesmere's vast areas of ice and snow stretch 500 miles long to within 600 miles of the north pole.

At the northern tip is the weather station "Alert" and at the southeast corner, at Craig Harbor, is the lonely outpost of the RCMP, vigilantes of the north.

For Constables H. A. Johnson, 25, of Dartmouth, N.S., and A. C. Frier, 24, of Acton, Ont., Christmas may be a day of an extra walrus steak and memories of warmer, brighter days back home.

This will be the fifth Christmas in the Arctic for the two bachelors—both northern RCMP volunteers—who make their headquarters in a radio-equipped hut at Craig Harbor, but whose patrols by dog-sled take them hundreds of miles from that base.

They got turkeys from the C. D. Howe supply ship that made its annual northern visit to Craig Harbor last August, but RCMP officials at Ottawa guess that the turkey probably has been eaten by this time. Walrus meat may be their Christmas fare.

Christmas mail is being dropped by an RCAF plane.

At Alert, where four Canadians and four Americans prepare weather reports from transmission to civilization by radio, there may be a jollier time. Transport officials say plenty of supplies have been sent to that station and there should be a big Christmas celebration.

Warm Weather Covers Alberta

EDMONTON (CP) — Record warm weather bathes Alberta as mild Pacific air hovers over the province and the weatherman says there is no sign of a break.

Cooler air spread overnight, the weather office reported today. Probably this will prevent new heat records being set today but it will not cause any drastic change.

With Santa Claus due to arrive in less than two weeks, Edmonton had a grass fire Sunday. Grass at the city's southern limits burned for about half an hour. No damage was done as firefighters stood guard for half an hour to prevent its spreading to a nearby housing project.

Sunday's records were 60 at Lethbridge which had a previous high for Dec. 14 of 53 in 1939; Calgary 61 compared with 49 in 1939 and Edmonton 51.5 compared with 46.2 in 1943.

Mrs. W. Allen Heads Warkworth WMS

WARKWORTH (ENS). — The Women's Missionary Society of St. Paul's United Church held its meeting on Thursday evening in the church parlors, with Mrs. W. G. Allen presiding and Mrs. Glen Hancock pianist.

Mrs. Harry Kelly was in charge of the devotional service. Mrs. Joe Greenly read the Scripture lesson and led in prayer.

A group of five girls sang "O Little Town of Bethlehem." Readings were given by the following girls. Carol Howe, Ruth Edgar, Lilian Wragg, and Susan Hoey.

The Christmas carol "Joy to the World" was followed by a reading by Mrs. Arthur Ward and a solo entitled "The Christmas Candles" by Mrs. Jim McCleary, and a reading entitled "Born a King" by Mrs. Kelly.

It was decided in the business meeting that the meetings would be held in the afternoon.

Mrs. D. H. Evans presented a slate of officers for 1953 as follows: President, Mrs. W. Grant Allen; first vice-president, Mrs. A. L. Sisco; second vice-president, Mrs. M. Peterson; recording and press secretary, Mrs. A. E. Harwood; treasurer, Mrs. Howard Evans; Christian stewardship and finance secretary, Mrs. H. Kelly; friendship secretary, Mrs. H. Buttars; supply secretary, Mrs. J. A. Greenly; temperance secretary, Mrs. Oscar Laver; literature secretary, Mrs. Harry Allen; pianist, Mrs. C. Massey; assistant pianist, Mrs. Glen Hancock.

The officers will be installed at the January meeting by the Rev. A. L. Sisco. After the closing prayer by the Rev. Mr. Sisco, lunch wass erved by Mrs. C. Diamond and Mrs. L. Evans, the hostesses.

Lakevale Ladies' Aid Hold Christmas Party

FOWLER'S CORNERS— Lakevale Ladies' Aid Society held its Christmas meeting at the home of Mrs. Bruce Scott on Wednesday evening. Mrs. Robertson took the devotional period, using the story of the wise men following the star and the finding of the Christ Child, bringing this story into our everyday living.

At the close of the meeting the ticket on the cushion sold by Mrs. McConnell and Mrs. Deyell was drawn for by Ralph Deyell, the winner of the cushion being Mrs. Milton Dunlop.

Mystery Thriller Dramas Unfold During Plane Flights

By ADELAIDE KERR

A bomb explodes a Canadian airliner in full flight; and an unwanted wife — and 22 others — plummet to death A mild-looking passenger on a plane from a Communist country seizes control of an airliner at pistol point and pilots it to freedom.

An old warplane glides to earth in the southern United States and a dozen aliens without passports vanish in the dark to emerge with new names and lives. In the cushioned seat of a trans-atlantic airliner dozes a smuggler, who has diamonds hidden in his heels.

Some of these happenings, which made front pages, chilled the spines of readers. There was the story of Albert Guay, the dapper little Quebec jeweller, who was tired of his wife and in love with a pretty young waitress.

BOMBED AIRLINER

One September day in 1949, Mrs. Guay — whose life was insured for $10,000 — boarded a Canadian airliner. Forty miles from Quebec a bomb exploded in its baggage compartment and the plane crashed, killing all on board. Some time later Guay went to his death on the gallows, convicted of time-bombing a plane to murder his wife.

At the same moment young John Grant rushed to the ticket window shouting: "Don't let that plane take off; I just put a bag full of gasoline on it."

Grant's wife and two children were on board the plane. He, too, was unhappy at home and in love with an airline stewardess. Grant was sentenced to prison for one to 20 years.

CLOSE CALL

Twenty passengers aboard a Mexican airliner had a closer call last September. Their plane was in flight when a bomb exploded in its baggage compartment A cool-headed pilot made an emergency landing with all on board safe.

Police said seven of the passengers had been hired for fictitious jobs in Oaxaca, insured for a total of $230,000. Emilio Arellano, an engineer, and singer Paco Sierra, named as beneficiaries of some of the policies, are awaiting trial.

Immigration agents knew aliens were being smuggled into the U.S. by chartered plane. They long sought Gregorio Simovich, a Russian-born Cuban smuggler, as the kingpin but the Cuban government refused to extradite him.

ALIEN SMUGGLERS

One day last fall border patrolmen found Simonovich trudging along the runway of an abandoned air field. The unknown plane that dropped him there had disappeared. The Russian was tried for smuggling aliens and sentenced to two years.

Last June three Yugoslav mechanics travelling on a Yugoslav airliner to Trieste, whipped out pistols, took control of the plane and brought it down in central Italy. The mechanics asked political asylum and remained in Italy.

Not long ago a gem smuggler arrived by plane from Belgium with thousands of dollars worth of diamonds hidden in the hollow handle of a clothes brush U. S. customs agents knew who he was, but they let him pass. They followed and watched him hand the brush to Adolph Neumann of Montreal and Abraham Hornstein of New York. Then they arrested them.

NEW HOPE FOR NEAR-BLIND — Clear-image lenses, developed by New York optometrist Dr. William Feinbloom, standing, enable this young patient to once more read a newspaper. The thick, specially ground "clear-image" lenses are said to open new vistas of vision to people with only a fraction of normal sight. Dr. Feinbloom estimates that the lenses could benefit at least 15,000 limited-vision persons in the United States.

Rescue 4 From Plane

TOKYO (Reuters)—A United States C-47 transport plane plunged into the sea Sunday near the Haneda international airport on Tokyo Bay, the Far East Air Force announced. A Japanese fishing boat picked up four crew members, suffering only minor injuries. The plane was carrying no passengers.

Plane Hits Mountain

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — A Dutch military catalina flying boat with nine persons aboard crashed on a mountain slope in north Lebanon, the Lebanese civil aviation directorate announced. All nine were taken to a hospital in Tripoli.

LOL Officers Installed At Marmora

Wor. Bro. Gordon Moffatt, past district master of District No. 2, Centre Hastings, was the installing officer.

Guardians of Marmora Boys' Juvenile Orange Lodge No. 34 were appointed for 1953, the First Guardian being Wor. Bro. W. J. Cottrell and the Second Guardian Bro. Ray Brown.

Endicott Wins Stalin Prize

Endicott, head of the leftist Canadian Peace Congress, was one of seven winners, each from a different country, who received the 100,000-ruble awards on Prime Minister Stalin's 73rd birthday.

(At arbitrary Russian rates, which set the value of the ruble at 25 cents, the award would be worth $25,000. Actually, however, the ruble is valued at much less in world currency exchange.)

The prized this year went especially to leaders in the Communist-sponsored peace partisan movement in various countries.

Endicott is believed to have attended the peace congress which ended in Vienna Saturday.

9 Die In Crash

DAMASCUS, Syria (AP)—A Syrian Airways Dakota plane rammed into a mountain near Ez Nebk Sunday, killing nine of the 15 persons aboard. The plane was en route, in bad weather, from Damascus to Aleppo.

UN Delegates Vote Against Reds US Condemnation

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—The United Nations assembly in a wearied, pre-dawn vote today turned down a Russian demand for condemnation of the United States for the alleged mass murder of Communist prisoners on Pongam island in Korea.

Immediately after—at 4:45 a.m. EST—the assembly adjourned until Feb. 24, after the inauguration of President-elect Eisenhower of the U.S.

Red-eyed after a tense all-night debate, assembly delegates voted 45 "nays" to five Soviet-bloc "yeas" against the Russian proposal. Ten members of the Arab-Asian bloc abstained. The other three in that group—Iraq, Lebanon, and Thailand—voted against the Soviet move.

The Soviet bloc gained no support outside of its own tight little group for the resolution, which was denounced by U.S. delegate Ernest A. Gross as a "sickening" and "shabby midnight propaganda stunt."

Gross, replying to charges launched at midnight Saturday by Soviet delegate Andrei Gromyko, said the riot on Dec. 14 in which 87 persons were killed was engineered to help the Kremlin cover up the fact that "the aggressors and their sponsors have rejected peace in Korea." He said the guards fired at the rioting Reds to quell them and to avoid greater casualties.

REFERS TO REJECTION

Gross referred to the blunt rejection by the Communists of the Indian peace plan approved by the general assembly Dec. 3 by a vote of 54 to 5 (Soviet bloc) with Nationalist China abstaining.

"The Soviet government," Gross said, "may now recognize the mistake it made in so brutally rejecting the Indian resolution for peace in Korea and in so contemptuously flouting the will of the United Nations. . .

Selwyn Lloyd, British minister of state; Henri Hoppenot, France; Selim Sarper, Turkey; Alexis Kyrou, Greece; David Johnson, Canada, and Leslie K. Munro, New Zealand—whose countries have troops fighting in Korea—assured Gross they were standing with him in indignant repudiation of the Soviet tactics and allegations. Lloyd said it "is a matter of bitter regret on the eve of Christmas to have this poisonous propaganda injected here."

GREAT MISUSE

Johnson, head of Canada's permanent delegation, said the assembly had seen many Soviet propaganda resolutions but never had been confronted "with a more flagrant misuse of this great forum."

"The object of this Soviet move is to attempt to weaken and if possible destroy the unity on the Korean question which marked the seventh session," Johnson said. "So far as we are concerned, that attempt will fail."

Gromyko also linked the riots with the UN adoption of the Indian Korean plan. He said the U.S. wanted to perpetuate the Korean war and the Indian resolution was part of that scheme.

Gromyko charged that in May, 1951, the U.S. shipped 1,400 Chinese and North Korean prisoners to the U.S. to serve as "guinea pigs in atom experiments;" that in May 1952, American hangmen gouged out the eyes of 18 prisoners, and that on May 30, 1952, the U.S. burned 800 prisoners alive in flame-thrower experiments.

"ODIOUS" CHARGE

Hoppenot, answering for the West, said the guinea-pig charge was "odious."

Lloyd, in his turn on the rostrum, referred to a statement by Czech delegate Mrs. Gertrude Sekaninova that the UN command destroyed the "modest effects" the prisoners kept in their huts. He reminded the assembly that he had visited the camps himself and had noticed that among the "modest effects" were such things as sharp spears, guns with knives and other weapons.

The debate alternated among Soviet satellites and members of the western or neutral camps until the speakers were talked out, utterly weary.

Suggest Truman Ask Congress For Funds Again

WASHINGTON (AP) — The national security resources board recommended to President Truman today that he again ask Congress for money to build the St. Lawrence seaway because of its strategic importance.

The suggestion was made in a report by Jack Gorrie, NSRB chairman, on a study of recommendations made several months ago by the President's materials policy commission.

The report pointed out that Truman on several occasions has unsuccessfully sought money for the multi-million-dollar seaway to link the Great Lakes with the sea.

It cited "compelling military and commercial advantages" for the proposed seaway and recommend that the President:

"Ask Congress to authorize and provide funds for United States participation in immediate construction of the St. Lawrence seaway and power project."

SEE DISADVANTAGE

The report pointed out that in the absence of congressional approval of the project the Canadian government has made plans to go ahead with construction alone.

This, it said, would be "disadvantageous. . .in that the U. S. will not share in the management of the seaway, which will be on the Canadian side of the river."

The power phase of the dual purpose project now is before the federal power commission, where the New York state power authority seeks permission to join with Canada in building the power project. The Ontario hydro-electric commission will build the Canadian share of the power development

HOME FOR CHRISTMAS after a year in North Korean waters on HMCS Nootka, five Peterborough sailors will spend Christmas with relatives in Peterborough. Parents and friends were on hand to greet three sailors who arrived late Saturday from Halifax. Mr. and Mrs. James Buchan, 294 Lake St., with daughter Lynne (top photo), greeted son AB Donald Buchan. Able Seaman Robert (Scotty) Roger and Johnny Vincent (centre, lower photo) were met by Vincent's brother Dave (at left) and father, Jack (at right). Two others, PO Donald Howell and AB Fred LaPlante will also spend Christmas at home.—(Examiner Staff Photos).

5 Sailors Return From Korea For Chistmas With Families

After almost a year in Korean waters with the HMCS Nootka, five Peterborough men will spend Christmas with their relatives.

The Nootka, a Tribal class destroyer, left Halifax on December 30, 1951, and since then has been pounding North Korean shore batteries and protecting aircraft carriers bound for Korea.

Three sailors, Able Seaman Johnny Vincent, 129 Sofia St., Bob (Scotty) Roger, 242 Munro Ave., and Donald Buchan, 294 Lake St., arrived home Saturday night. Later PO Donald Howell, 358 Stewart St., visited briefly with his parents, after stopping off in Trenton to see his wife.

Two other Peterborough Petty Officers, Robert Honour, 496 College St., and George Payne, 549 McCannan Ave., who also served on the Nootka, will be home in January. They're still in Halifax and will be there for the ship's refitting; both men expect to be back in Peterborough about January 19.

PATROLLING KOREAN WATERS

The Nootka during the past year has been working mostly in Korean waters, out of Japan, on coastal and carrier patrols. The Peterborough sailors saw action against Chinese Red shore batteries while protecting small islands near the mainland.

About their hottest engagement was near the Manchurian border where about 200 shells were peppered at the Nootka.

"We picked a little flack out of soup in the galley that day," laughed Vincent who added that no one was hurt in that encounter.

Highlight of the year was crossing the equator and the usual initiation for all those who cross it for the first time. First timers included all the Peterborough sailors and also the Nootka's commander, R. M. Steele.

They crossed the equator prior to entering Singapore. There the first timers were sent before King Neptune and his Court and sentenced. After paint and eggs were applied, the sailors were tossed, clothes and all, into a large tank.

FIRST VISIT

The Nootka's visit to Singapore marked the first time that a Canadian naval ship had visited there. For the large Canadian community in Singapore the visit called for special greetings.

"The people there gave us a wonderful time; they invited us into their homes for meals during the two-day stop-over," said Vincent.

Car Smashes Into Sander

CAMPBELLFORD (ENS). — About $400 damage resulted on Sunday morning when a car driven by George E. Begg, 19, of 63 Centre Street, Campbellford, plowed into the rear of a sand truck on Highway 30, a few miles south of the town.

The sand truck, driven by 32-year-old Robert Carlaw of RR 2, Codrington, was engaged in sanding operations. Begg didn't see the truck until it was too late, and skidded into the rear of the vehicle. He received a slight bump on the forehead, but otherwise no one was injured. Provincial Constable Archie Eady of Campbellford investigated.

Masons And Ladies Attend Unique Christmas Ceremony

A most colorful Christmas observance ceremony was attended by more than 250 Masons and their ladies in the Masonic Temple on Sunday afternoon. It was the annual observance of anniversary of the birth of Christ by Moore Preceptory, Knights Templar. It was also the first time the wives of Masons had an opportunity to see through he new temple.

The ceremony was held in the new lodge room and was in charge of Percy D. Windrim, presiding preceptor, and eight preceptors in uniform formed an escort.

The Rev. Henry Cotton, minister of St. Andrew's United Church, delivered the Christmas message. Harry Northrop presided at the organ and led in the singing of Christmas carols.

The Christmas message of the acting grand master, Fred G. Mann, was read by Mr. Windrim and the chaplain of the Preceptory, Ben Smith, assisted in the ceremony.

Following the observance program, the gathering adjourned to the dining-room where the ceremony of the annual cutting of the Chrismas cake and the drinking of the four libations was held. The large Christmas cake, beautifully adorned with a cross, was cut by Mel McDougall, who presided, and then was distributed to the guests. The libations were taken by Mr. McDougall, Mr. Mann, R. L. Dobbin and Dr. Malcolm McCulloch.

William Peltz delighted the audience in three solos and he was accompanied by Mr. Northrop.

WARKWORTH (ENS)— Four mantel radios, two guns and several flashlights were stolen early Saturday morning from the Warkworth Co-op.

Stolen were: four radio, a shotgun, a .22 calibre rifle, and a number of flashlihgts. Provincial police from Campbellford are investigating.

No Christmas Skiing

COBOURG (ENS)—Two inches of snow fell over the week-end to replace last week's snow fall which had melted away. Several went out to the Northumberland Ski Club yesterday, but there was not enough snow even to use the ski trails. It will take a heavy fall of snow to lay a foundation for skiing on the hill, and there is little likelihood that there will be skiing for Christmas.

Nine Officers Out Of Prison

HAVANA (AP) — The Cuban Navy announced today that nine retired officers accused of plotting an armed revolt against President Fulgencio Batista have been released from military prison but still are under house arrest.

The announcement gave no reason for their release but presumably it was to let the men spend Christmas with their families. They are to be tried later by a navy court.

The navy men, including three top commanders, had been dismissed from service soon after Batista overthrew the government of Carlos Prio Socarras last March. They were arrested Saturday night a few hours after police in Mamoroneck, N. Y., seized a store of arms there that they said were to have been used in a "Christmas revolt" in Cuba.

Cuban officials did not indicate whether there was any connection between the two incidents.

A New York sheriff said one of four men arrested at Mamaroneck had confessed the arms were bought for Prio Socarras, now living in Miami, Fla. Prio Socarras denied knowledge of a revolutionary plot.

Have No Trouble Getting Dollars

TORONTO (CP) — Dr. J. G. Endicott, chairman of the leftist Canadian Peace Congress, won't have any trouble exchanging his Stalin peace prize for Canadian dollars.

Foreign exchange officials said today that at the present rate of exchange the ruble is worth 24½ cents bringing Dr. Endicott's award of 100,000 rubles to $25,000.

The former United Church missionary now attending the Communist peace conference in Vienna, isn't expected in Toronto until January. Banking officials said he won't have difficulty bringing his prize money into the country if he chooses to do so.

Dr. Endicott was one of seven persons in seven countries to be so honored. Another winner was Paul Robeson, United States singer and actor.

Fire Hoses Halt Douk Parade

GRAND FORKS, B. C. (CP) — Sons of Freedom Doukhobors attempting a march on Grand Forks were stopped short of their mark when authorities blasted them with fire hoses and bundled them back to their homes in a school bus.

About 30 members of the sect made the march Saturday from the nearby Doukhobor community of Gilpin, an hour after RCMP had warned them to confine parading to their own settlements.

There was no stripping. The same group had been turned back at the city outskirts a few days before, RCMP said.

Will Attempt To Televise Visit Of 14th Century Ghosts

By JOHN DUDMAN

LONDON (Reuters)—Five million British TV fans will look in on a 600-year-old "haunted house" early next year to watch six magicians try to trap two high-born 14th century ghosts.

The magicians hope the television cameras will catch all or part of the ectoplasm of the "Black Prince,"—son of King Edward III—and a beautiful young noblewoman known as "Edith of the Swan Neck."

Many persons including American soldiers billeted in the musty manor house at Bexley during the war, claim they've seen shades of the Prince and Edith trapsing through the ancient oak corridors.

The magicians are members of the Magic Circle, an organization of magicians, conjurors and spiritualists. On the BBC television program they will hide near the sweeping Jacobian staircase of the manor and near the stately dining hall where the ghostly pair are rumored to hang out.

And if the ghosts fall for the trap?

"Then we'll lay them right on the spot for the TV boys," said the Magic Circle's secretary Francis White.

CAN THEY BE TELEVISED

If there are ghosts, can they be televised?

A spokesman for the Society of Psychic Research says he doubts it. He doesn't think TV cameras could get a real grip on a ghost.

The Black Prince made his name fighting French and Spaniards in the 14th century. He always wore black armor and presumably his ghost does too.

Edith is said to have been the wife of Sir Thomas At Hall, a nobleman on the Black Princes' staff. She is said to have thrown herself from the battlements after seeing her husband gored to death by a stag.

SAW HIM FOUR TIMES

The late dowager Lady Limerick, who lived in the house a few years ago, says she saw the Black Prince four times. He was "very shadowy and grey," she said. She believes he haunted the house because it was where he courted his cousin, Joan.

Members of a local psychic research society camped in the manor one night. They claim they heard mysterious footsteps, tappings, loud bangs and rattling doors.

A white "cloudy maze" about two feet in height appeared in the corner of a downstairs room, they said.

White commented: "If anything unexpected turns up we shall probably be as baffled as anyone else. Still, it will make the program all the more interesting. . ."

The telecast will be part of a BBC program on occult magic.

M-O-O-R-E THAN SHE EXPECTED—"Mama" Holstein, of Merced, Calif., is understandably proud of her four calves. Quadruplet births in the bovine world are extremely rare, and it is seldom that all four calves survive, as did the quartet above.

Pearson Heads For Ottawa After Marathon Assembly

By NORMAN ALTSTEDTER

UNITED NATIONSL, N Y. (CP) When the United Nations assembly recessed at 4:45 a. m. today, Canada's external affairs minister prepared to attend a 10:30 a.m. cabinet meeting in Ottawa.

Assembly President L. B. Pearson was scheduled to take off at 8 a. m. in an RCAF plane for the flight home.

Before he banged the gavel to end the first part of the seventh assembly session, Pearson sat at the podium in the UN's colorful new assembly hall for 8¼ hours without a break—a record in UN annals. Before supper he had presided for 3 hours. Before that he had acted as chairman in an hour-long meeting of the assembly's steering committee.

DELAYS PROCEEDINGS

Russia's presentation at the last minute of charges against the United States of "mass murder" of Korean prisoners of Pongam threw a monkey wrench into carefully-laid plans for recessing the assembly.

A scheduled special television broadcast and a press conference by Pearson were cancelled. A planned midnight take-off was a thing of the past.

As a Canadian, Pearson must have desired mightily to get a few licks in against the Russian charges, which Western delegates clammed as a "nasty" propaganda manoeuvre.

As assembly president, he had to give Russia's Andrei Gromyko every chance possible under the rules of procedure to press his charges.

Before the debate on prisoners started at 12:30 a. m., the assembly sat grimly through the speeches of 39 delegates explaining their votes on a resolution which the economic committee had discussed for a full week.

STRAIN SHOWING

The strain was showing The delegate from Uruguay expressed belief that some of his colleagues were attacking his resolution on personal grounds.

Pearson tried to soothe ruffled feelings.

For nine weeks Pearson has played the arbiter and negotiator in public and private. He has been host to a constant stream of delegates seeking and giving advice.

The Canadian took a quiet hand himself in some of the tough negotiating behind the scenes on the big problems that called for deftness to keep the non-Communist world united. Pearson's grind starts again Feb. 24, or earlier if he decides it is necessary to reconvene the assembly.

Higher Nickel Production Still Short Of Total Needs

By FORBES RHUDE
Canadian Press Business Editor

The free world's production of nickel this year will total about 315,000,000 pounds, or 20,000,000 pounds more than in 1951.

This estimate is given in a year-end review of the nickel industry by Dr. John F. Thompson, chairman of the board of the International Nickel Company of Canada, Ltd.

The free world's production, Dr. Thompson says, is believed to be more than five times that of the rest of the world. Canada supplies 90 per cent of it, or about 280,000,000 tons this year.

Concerning the supply situation, Dr. Thompson comments:

"Repeated statements have appeared indicating a shortage in nickel supplies. For some time, allocations of nickel have been made by the international materials conference for participating countries.

HAVE BEEN AVAILABLE

"These allocations have been in excess of the defence requirements set by the respective governments. Nickel allocations beyond those needed for direct defence have been available for the supporting civilian economies and, in the case of the United States, also have provided contributions for the government stockpile.

"However, reports indicate that free-world nickel supplies are not now adequate to meet large government stockpile objectives simultaneously with unrestricted civilian consumption and the requirements of defence programs.

"Nickel-bearing scrap is flowing in easier supply and direct defence orders have been spread over a longer period, thus helping to relieve some of the demand for the metal."

Dr. Thompson states that throughout the world the search for new deposits of nickel is being pushed at an unprecedented rate.

International Nickel, the world's largest producer, expects to complete this coming year a $150,000,000 program in connection with underground mining expansion at its operations in the Sudbury district of Northern Ontario.

ANNUAL CAPACITY

This, Dr. Thompson says, will give International an annual capacity of 13,000,000 tons of ore entirely from underground operations, assuring maintenance of the current yearly rate of approximately 250,000,000 pounds of refined nickel.

Falconbridge Nickel Mines, Ltd., in Northern Ontario, Canada's second largest producer, is engaged in an expansion program designed to give it an annual capacity in 1954 of 35,000,000 pounds.

Sherritt-Gordon Mines, Ltd., is developing a nickel-copper deposit at Lynn Lake, in northern Manitoba, and is building a 17,000,000-pound annual capacity refinery near Edmonton, scheduled for completion in 1953.

The United States government-financed Nicaro Nickel project in Cuba is back in operation and reported to be approaching a goal of 30,000,000 pounds annually.

The nickel mines operated by the French firm of S. A. Le Nickel in New Caledonia are said to be now producing approximately 14,000,000 pounds a year, and are being modernized.

HUGE ROOT CELLAR—Believed the biggest in Canada, this root cellar at Lethbridge, Alta., has a storage capacity of 200 train car-loads of vegetables. Storage for turnips and potatoes is in bins with 62-feet-long loading ways beside each. The root cellar is 235 feet long and 125 feet wide and can hold 70 semi-trailers at the same time, with the central driveway still left clear.

Huge Alberta Root Cellar Used To Store Vegetables

LETHBRIDGE, Alta. (CP)—A root cellar, probably the biggest in Canada, is being used here as a pre-shipping storage place for turnips and potatoes.

Storage capacity is 200 train carloads of vegetables, or enough to make up almost seven trains of 30 cars each. Storage is provided in bins with 62-foot-long loading ways beside each.

"It is certainly the biggest root cellar in Alberta and I don't know of any larger in all Canada," said A. A. Cameron, manager of the Lethbridge branch of Consolidated Fruit Co. Ltd., of Calgary which owns the cellar.

Mr. Cameron was manager of the Southern Alberta Co-operative Vegetable Growers' Association Ltd. which built the cellar in 1948. Later Consolidated bought the cellar.

CONTINUOUS SUPPLY

"The cellar was built with the objective of providing storage facilities to enable a continuous supply of vegetables throughout the winter," said Mr. Cameron.

Potatoes and turnips require a constant storage temperature of 38 degrees above zero and also constant humidity.

Expansion of irrigated farming in southwestern Alberta, said Mr. Cameron, will bring a greater demand for storage space for turnips, potatoes and other vegetables.

Canadians Get Extra Training During Leaves From Front

By BILL BOSS

IN KOREA (CP)—Censorship now permits disclosure of the fact that it was "restful" November for the Canadians here.

After 81 days of constant enemy shelling, the 25th Canadian infantry brigade was pulled out of the line Nov. 1 to relax from the strain.

The time, however, was not spent idly.

There were two or three days of complete rest and partics to enable the men to blow off steam.

Then the brigade commander, Brig. P. P. Bogert of Ottawa, began preparing his soldiers for their next session in the line.

INDIVIDUAL TRAINING

Emphasis was on individual training rather than on brushing up on tactics. In today's static war, essentially one of fixed positions with only raids, patrols and ambushes to break the monotony, the emphasis has returned to the individual soldier.

Bogert insisted that the men relearn how to break down and clean their weapons in the dark, to correct machine-gun stoppages and get them firing again in the cold, and to brush up on the 1,001 things the individual soldier must know how to do when he's fighting on his own.

Analyzing with his staff the lessons of the Oct. 23 "Battle of Gibraltar Spur," when the 1st battalion of the Royal Canadian Regiment lost and recaptured a company position, Bogert has drawn many lessons. The brigade was taught them during November.

BECOME PRACTICE

Several may not be disclosed but others are obvious and have become Canadian practice Enemy shelling so disorganized the RCR position Oct. 23, and so scattered its ammunition reserves that the men could only fight until the ammunition in their weapons was exhausted.

Bogert has ordered that henceforth riflemen always carry a bandolier of ammunition around their waists, and machine-gunners carry pouches of ammo over their shoulders.

He has devised new tunneling techniques enabling men to shelter tactically during barrages and still be in position to fight instantly the barrage lifts.

Mighty Hunt

KIRKLAND LAKE, Ont (CP)—A party of men hunting in the Matachewan district near here bagged a moose weighing 1,200 pounds. The party also shot another moose during the hunt.

Iron Mines To Boost Production

Premier Frost Says Marmora One Of 4 Big Projects

MARMORA (CP) — Premier Frost said today that major iron ore projects under way in two areas of the province and being planned in two others, will bring Ontario to the fore in iron and steel production.

He made the statement while on an inspection trip through this district 30 miles northwest of Belleville, where the Bethlehem Steel Company is surveying iron ore properties.

QUALITY ORE

Mr. Frost said iron ore production is well under way in the Steep Rock area north of Lake Superior, where a future annual output of 10,000,000 tons of top-quality ore is assured; and in the Algoma district around Sault Ste. Marie, where there are "hundreds of millions of tons of ore" in reserve.

Exploration has shown extensive ore bodies in the Marmora district and in the Calabogie area of Renfrew county. Plans are being studied to bring these properties into large-scale production.

Premier Frost said the present Steep Rock output is more than 1,250,000 tons a year.

LINDSAY —(ENS)— The sponsor's prize for a Christmas lottery conducted in Lindsay was one year's suspended sentence, donated by Magistrate E. A. Gee. Walter Hontoon, 20, of Lindsay, was charged with operating a lottery on a $10 lamp. Constable Percy Mark testified he found on Hontoon's person sheets with the names of 70 persons who had bought tickets. Magistrate Gee said he was prepared to donate a maximum of three months to Hontoon, but Crown Attorney Lorne Jordan held out for suspended sentence.

THE LAND ASSEMBLY SCHEME shown in the sketch map above represents 516 acres of the 1,256 acres that will be annexed to the city out of Smith township Jan. 1. It was announced today that the Ontario Municipal Board approved the annexation of the acreage. The boundary does not follow exactly the line on the map, but runs parallel to it some feet outside it. Some of the other land being annexed is situated between the Land Assembly block and the north boundary of the city, and the Otonabee river on the east. Another section extends to the west, north of Jackson Park.

Municipal Board Approves City Annexation Of 1,256 Acres In Smith

Large Chunk of Township To Become Part of Peterborough Jan. 1 Over Opposition of Many In Area

The Ontario Municipal Board have approved the city's application to annex 1,256 acres of Smith township land for housing development. The annexation is effective Jan. 1. Civic officials testified at hearings before the Municipal Board in September and November that there is a shortage of houses for veterans of the Second World War and for other residents as well. They argued that there are no suitable tracts of land within the boundaries of the city available for housing projects.

The two-man board, consisting of George A. Lister, chairman, and C. F. Nunn, reserved judgment on the application when evidence was completed on Nov. 7.

Opposing the application was a list of Smith township ratepayers who feared a substantial increase in their taxes when they came into the city. Moreover, through their counsel, Ralph Standish, they expressed doubt that the city would need that much land for development.

"Too much and too soon," was the comment of Mr. Standish.

He also declared that there were alternative sites in the city that should be developed first.

The board noted the objections and then reserved judgment.

LAND ASSEMBLY SCHEME

Lots on 516 acres of choice Smith township farmland were bought under the Land Assembly Scheme to provide cheap land for housing. Federal and provincial authorities are partners in this scheme, along with the city.

The city pays for the services up to the edge of the Land Assembly property; then as development proceeds in an orderly way inside, the city instals the services and is paid for them.

W. W. Scott of the housing branch of the Department of Planning and Development predicted that "assuming normal development the land can be sold in five or six years."

Included in the area annexed for the Land Assembly Scheme are the following properties: John Stalker, 116 acres and Joseph Brown 100 acres (east of extension of Hilliard St. and south of Concession Rd.); Roy Sanderson 130 acres, Melville Stewart 20 acres, John Stalker 50 acres, and Isaac Hetherington 100 acres (west of extension of Hilliard St. to a strip of land 250 feet west of Highway 7).

This 516 acres was purchased by the Land Assembly for $211,-000.

(Mr. Scott said at the hearing that it was not the policy of the Land Assembly Scheme to expropriate, and unless the city was able to annex the area they would drop the scheme.)

Now that the Municipal Board have granted the city's application this difficulty is removed.

Besides the 516 acres under the Land Assembly there is 740 acres south, east and west of that area.

About 200 acres, lying between Highway 7 and Hilliard St. and north of Wolsely St., was cut off from Smith township; so it too was annexed.

FILTRATION PLANT

Another parcel is the triangular-shaped land east of the Land Assembly area, running from Langton St. where it meets with the Otonabee River north to a point 150 feet north of Concession Rd. (It is bisected by Highway 28 and includes the filtration plant.)

The western section annexed was also at the request of Smith township who felt they could not properly service this area. It is southwest of the Land Assembly area and follows the city boundary as follows: Wolsley St. west on Highway 7 to Donegal; north on Donegal to Bellevue; west on Bellevue to Fairbairn St.; north on Fairbairn to Highland Rd.; then west on Highland to West Communication to a point 150 feet north of Lee St.; east about 2,000 feet; south, half way to Higland Rd. and east to a point 250 feet west of Highway 7.

To avoid mixups with the township the city annexed 250 feet west of the Highway; 150 west of the extension of Hilliard St., and 150 feet of the Concession Road.

Slipped On Snow Two Cars Hit Man Injured

William C. Lanonette, 36, 308 McGill St., was injured shortly before midnight Saturday in a two-car collision on Otonabee St., just east of the Locks Bridge.

He was taken to Civic Hospital by ambulance for treatment of possible fractured ribs. His condition is reported as satisfactory today.

Police report Robert C. Smith, R. R. 1 Canton was driving east. His car is said to have slipped sideways on the snow-covered pavement and into the path of an oncoming car driven by Lanonette.

Lanonette, was driving west and was unable to stop in time to avoid a collision.

Extensive damage resulted to both vehicles.

Patrol Sgt. Harold Mesley and constable Harold Mesley were assisted in investigating the accident by OPP constables George Louth and Ernie Lunn who were on patrol and arrived at the scene first.

People Fill City Churches For Christmas Services

Peterborough churches were filled to capacity Sunday evening for special Christmas services. Carol singing, special choral numbers, candlelight services and nativity plays were presented in the various Protestant churches. An instrumental ensemble of six pieces provided a lovely Christmas musical program at the South-End Presbyterian Church on Sunday morning. The service was held held in the Confederation School. For 15 minutes prior to the service the ensemble played Christmas hymns and carols and also accompanied the congregation in its singing of the familiar hymns.

A Sunday School choir of 40 children sang two numbers during the service and two choral numbers and a ladies' double duo also added to a most enjoyable musical part of the service. The minister was Mr. John Crawford of Knox College who graduates in the spring and then intends to go as a missionary to Formosa.

During the service a beautiful basket of red carnations was presented to Gwen Craw, the musical director, by James Dutton on behalf of the choir.

ST. PAUL'S PRESBYTERIAN

A highlight of the Christmas season was the nativity play "The Star in the East," presented Sunday evening by the Young People's Society and directed by Roger Davis.

Three choirs of 75 voices led in the service of song and sang several numbers during the play. The choir loft was the setting for three of the scenes: The star in the east, as seen by the Magi; the vision, as seen by the shepherds; and the adoration, the cradle scene. In the first part of the service the three choirs sang several numbers and then followed the processional hymn to the gallery, and the nativity play.

The play ended in the manger scene where 60 boys and girls in their beautiful white surplices and robes knelt before the manger and sang "Away in a Manger."

Those taking part in the play were Edgar Kee, the arrogant Herod; Norma Ball, the humble soldier; James Davidson, the chief counsellor of Herod; Melchior, youngest of the Magi, Robert Oliver; Caspar, oldest of the Magi, Alex Ingram; Balthazar, middle-aged of Magi, Herbert Ross; Haran, older shepherd, man of faith, Roger Davis; Jephtha, sage's shepherd boy, Gerald Middleton; Azor middle-aged scoffing shepherd, Carman Bulmer; Laban, middle-aged gentle shepherd, John Amos; the angel, Jean Leach; and people of Bethlehem, Carman Bulmer, Carol Raper, Beverley Pidgeon, James Davidson, Ruth Curtis, Jean Smith and Harvey McFadgen. Costuming was in charge of Ruth Curtis and lighting in charge of Barbara Luther, with Gwen Craw prompting.

The annual candlelight service was presented at George St. United Church by the senior, intermediate and junior choirs under the direction of Charles E. Allen, organist.

PROCESSIONAL

An effective processional with 150 choir members carrying electric candles was an inspiring beginning for this service of music. Christmas anthems were sung by the individual and combined choirs.

Soloists with the choirs were Miss Mary Chenowith, Miss June Delahaye, Miss Phyllis Hart, Miss Ruth Grand, Mrs. James Goldie, Mrs. C. Carson and Reginald Peters.

Candlight services were also held at St. Andrew's and Trinity United Churches and Murray St. Baptist Church.

The choir at St. Andrew's United Church sang Christmas anthems and carols under the direction of H. I. Northrop, organist. Soloists for the service were Don Eason, Mrs. D. Praskey, Mrs. R. Fleming and W. Peltz. A ladies quartet, Mrs. D. Sproule, Mrs. L. McLaren, Mrs. H. Northrop and Mrs. J. McColl sang, Sleep Holy Babe.

The senior and junior choirs under the leadership of Donald Kennedy, organist and choir leader, presented the annual candlelight and carol service at Trinity United Church.

AFTERNOON SERVICE

Murray St. Baptist Church held its candlelight service in the afternoon with junior and senior choirs taking part under the direction of Stanley Northrop, organist. The soloist for the service was John Moore of Reaboro. Special Christmas music was also provided by, Miss Betty Lapp, pianist; Mr. Northrop, violinist, and a quartet, Mrs. Charles Holmes, Mrs. Stanley Northrop, M. J. Curtis and C. E. Klingensmith.

A special Christmas musical service was presented at Knox United Church. The senior, intermediate and junior choirs sang Christmas anthems under the direction of Mrs. D. Jackman. Miss Phyllis Kidd was at the piano.

Excerpts from Dicken's Christmas Carol were read by Peter McCombe.

7,000 Children Attend Yule Parties

In his annual round of pre-Christmas visits, Santa Claus presented gifts to about 7,000 children of city factory employees.

Most of the parties were held Saturday, but one, that of the Westclox Veterans' Association, was held Thursday night. Largest attendance, as usual, was at the CGE party where Santa worked five shifts and presented gifts to about 4,000 children.

At the Westclox veterans party, about 85 children present saw movies, enjoyed a lunch and were presented with gifts.

Friday night, he visited the DeLaval Christmas party where there were about 270 kiddies, who received presents and bags of candy and oranges after seeing Christmas stories on the screen. Art Wells was master of ceremonies, and plant superintendent George A. Macdonald welcomed the children and parents. President C. L. Upper presented the gifts.

Saturday's chores kept Santa hopping, with about 5,700 children demanding attention. The CGE party, sponsored by the Social and Athletic Association, started at 9:30 a.m. and ended at 4 p.m. Hockey sticks, model aircraft, plastic dishes, and bags of nuts and candy were presented to the children.

Music Critic Augustus Bridle Dies Of Injuries

TORONTO (CP) — Augustus Bridle, 83, art, music and drama critic of the Toronto Daily Star for many years, died Sunday of injuries suffered in a traffic accident.

He suffered head and face bruises when he was knocked down by a truck Nov. 19 while crossing Bloor Street East and had been in hospital since. An autopsy will be held to determine cause of the death.

Widely known as a critic and author, Mr. Bridle had a unique skeletal style of writing, characterized by tight editing, brevity and omission of articles. He used words often invented by himself, to express the impression a production had made on him.

Mr. Bridle, born in Dorset, England in 1869, was educated in England and after he came to Canada attended public school at Dealtown, Ont. After graduating from Chatham Collegiate Institute, he went to the University of Toronto.

He taught school for a time and then became a newspaper writer. He was successively employed by the Stratford Herald, the Toronto News, the Edmonton Bulletin—the Herald now is the Beacon-Herald and the other papers no longer exist—and other publications. In 1923 he became a book reviewer and film and drama editor for the Star.

Until about six weeks ago, he contributed a regular weekly art and music column to the Star.

He long had been interested in choir work. He was choir leader at Blenheim, Ont., for several years, at Edmonton from 1900 to 1901 and at Stratford from 1901 to 1903.

Mr. Bridle presented the first Canadian stage production of carols at Massey Hall in 1922.

A series of 34 character sketches of Canadians prominent a generation ago entitled "Sons of Canada," was written by Mr. Bridle and published in 1917. A second work, "Masques of Ottawa," was printed in 1921. He was author of a novel, "Hansen," published in 1925.

Card Stock Lost

TORONTO (CP)—More than 500,000 Christmas, birthday and personal cards were destroyed Sunday night when fire swept the G.A. Montgomery company plant here. The blaze gutted the two-storey structure and also destroyed large quantities of card stock, gift wrapping paper and materials used for decorating the cards.

Fog Shrouds Parade

WINDSOR, Ont. (CP)—A Santa Claus parade here Saturday was more audible than visible as one of the worst fogs Windsor has ever had shrouded the city. Temperatures ranged from 35 to 38 degrees and humidity was about 99. Motorists had to use their lights throughout the day.

Get $12,634 Damages For Accident

KITCHENER (CP)—Six plaintiffs were awarded a total of $12,634 damages by Mr. Justice J. King Saturday in a Supreme Court hearing on an accident July 22, 1950, in which six persons were injured.

Negligence was apportioned two-thirds to Gordon Howling of New Dundee and one-third to Norbert Cole of Kitchener.

Damages awarded to three of the plaintiffs, Mr. and Mrs. Cole, and Mrs. Gordon Becker of Kitchener, total $9,937. The defendants in this action were Gordon Howling as driver and Manton Howling as owner of the car.

The other three plaintiffs, Calvin Holtzhauer of Roseville and Mrs. Joan Linn and Mrs. Elizabeth Schultz of Preston, were awarded a total of $2,697. The defendant was Norbert Cole.

Manton Howling, in a counter claim against Cole for damage to his car, was awarded $558. Gordon Howling was awarded $16 for damage to a suit.

Bush Pilot Reaches Safety

CHURCHILL, Man. (CP)—Bush pilot Gunnar Laurell, 28, formerly of Herrljunea, Sweden, flew his plane back to safety Saturday after being marooned for a week on the blizzard-swept sub-arctic tundra, 1,000 miles north of Winnipeg.

Laurell landed on a lake 45 miles northeast of Baker Lake Dec. 13 after overshooting the outpost in a mounting storm while hauling freight from a copper-nickel development at Ferguson Lake.

An RCAF search plane found him Friday, and fellow-pilot Gunnar Ingebrigtson flew in a supply of fuel Saturday to the desolate lake. Both then flew back to Baker Lake. An RCAF plane "flew cover" for the operation in case of trouble.

Laurell, a Swedish Air Force veteran, sat out the storm in an igloo which he built 50 feet behind his plane.

Fire Destroys House

OWEN SOUND (CP)—Fire early Sunday destroyed the home of Mr. and Mrs. Russell MacDonald on the East Bay Shore road. The MacDonalds and their three children escaped unhurt. Christmas presents they had bought were lost with all their other possessions.

Police Chief Dies

FORT ERIE (CP)—Andrew Griffin, 58, chief of police for the last 20 years, died Sunday night. He had been on the force for 25 years. His father, Richard Griffin, came here as the first provincial policeman in the district.

New Capital Will Boost U.K. Steel Production

By MICHAEL NEWMARCH

LONDON (AP) — Private enterprise is pouring £900,000,000 of new capital into Britain's nationalized steel industry to boost output from 12,750,000 to 20,000,000 tons a year.

The big modernization and expansion program for British steel plants was launched in 1946 when the steel mills were still privately owned. It will carry on by stages for another five years — by which time, if Prime Minister Churchill's plans mature, the industry will have been denationalized and sold back to its former owners.

The two-stage program first about completed its first stage this month, triumphantly hitting all its main targets.

The original aim of an output of 15,000,000 tons by 1952 was raised in 1948 to 16,000,000 tons.

Six of the last eight blast furnaces in the first stage of the program are already working. The other two will be blown in before Jan. 1.

BIG COST

The cost so far is £300,000,000, subscribed by loans from private banks, investment houses and the steel companies themselves before they were nationalized.

The success of the first stage of the program has enabled the industry to raise its sights again—and output in 1953 probably will be 17,250,000 tons.

Under the second stage of the plan — also to cost £300,000,000 — output will be pushed up to 20,000,000 tons in five years' time.

Some plants already have started on development schemes listed under the second stage of the plan, scheduled for completion around 1957.

BOOST OUTPUT

The main emphasis will be on increasing the capacity of the 100-odd blast furnaces which provide the iron for British steel-making.

Britain is seeking additional quantities of high - grade ore from Sweden and hopes to conclude satisfactory long - term contracts with Newfoundland. Work has already begun on 15 new ore-ships that will transport the additional Newfoundland iron ore across the Atlantic.

Embezzlements Increase, Baffle Bankers

By WILLIAM FERRIS

CHICAGO (AP)—A steady increase in losses suffered by banks through embezzlements has prompted formation of a banking association to combat such thefts.

More people are stealing more money from banks. One bank in every 20 in the United States suffered an embezzlement loss last year and this year the percentage is higher.

Bankers emphasize that depositors haven't lost any money from these thefts. But i's been pretty rugged for the banks' stock holders.

From 1934 through 1951, 105 banks were forced to close down because embezzlement losses exceeded the collectible insurance the banks carried. Depositors were protected by the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation. The banks' stock holders had no protection.

Banks have organized a league to combat the trend. It's known as the Bank Share-Owners Advisory League. It will try to cut down thefts by improvement of banking procedure and audit control, education of employees and better insurance protection.

Many of those who take money from banks have curious quirks. One teller operated on the theory that anything that fell on the floor of his cage was his.

Another teller took only money which belonged to the bank—not that of any of the depositors. He felt taking depositors' money would be stealing. One started taking 10 cents each week to buy a magazine. When the magazine raised its price, he upped his theft rate and eventually extended it to cover items other than magazines.

One high bank officer, in charge of his bank's insurance, eased his conscience by increasing the bank's insurance protection every time he put some of the bank's money into his own wallet.

People who steal from banks often can get away with their manipulations for a long time. The average period of concealment is between 10 and 11 years. Estimates of the undiscovered losses now sleeping in banks range from $10,000,000 to $25,000,000.-

Canadian rivers which flow into Hudson Bay drain an area of 1,500,000 square miles.

Upper and Lower Canada in 1851 each had five mills manufacturing paper.

Sunday School Presents Concert

CAMPBELLFORD (ENS)—The Campbellford Baptist Church was filled almost to capacity on Thursday when the annual Sunday school Christmas concert was presented. Sacred recordings were played as a prelude, and carol singing with the words projected on the wall opened the program.

G. I. Blair was in charge of the sound and projection equipment. Various recitations by the primary classes were delivered in excellent style. Musical talent was evident with piano solos, vocals, etc., being presented by Bonnie Blake, Janice Shaw, Alfred Ford, Peter Runions, Brian Runions and Gary Little.

The junior classes combined to form a gift scene and Nancy Rowe, Carolyn Campbell, Carolyn Young, Bob Staples and Norman Runions acted out the various parts.

The intermediate classes presented a playlet which paid tribute to some of the writers of Christmas carols. Taking part in the play were: Karen Rowe, Janice Shaw, Bonnie Blake, Brian Runions, Alex Staples, Garry Little, Gerry Blair, Alfred Ford and Michael Runions.

Mrs. H. S. Staples was the soloist and Mrs. Ed. White presided at the piano.

The Young Adults' Club contributed a short comedy, entitled "The Lamp Went Out," and later, during the singing of "Jingle Bells," Santa Claus came in and distributed gifts and bags of candy to all the children.

Korean Vets Say Conditions Not Good

OTTAWA (CP)—A total of 27 Korean veterans from the Ottawa district arrived home during the week-end and some of them described conditions in the war-torn peninsula as pretty bad.

Pte. Roger Gustafson, 22, of Eastview, an Ottawa suburb, said morale was low among the troops in Korea. The food was bad and it was difficult to get clothing—"even if your trousers were torn you had to fight to get a new pair."

Fairmount News

The Federation of Agriculture held its meeting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. R. Larmer, Blackstock, on Tuesday evening. Harold Lewis of Peterborough County was nominated agent for Cavan district. Mr. R. K. Earle and Mr. Robert Armstrong attended from this district.

The Scott's Corners hockey team held a practice in Lindsay Wednesday night with a large turnout.

Those from the district who attended Cavan School Christmas concert Thursday night were Mr. and Mrs. Will Seymour, Mr. and Mrs. R. K. Earle and Mr. and Mrs. Bill Carew.

Governor Burned

TAIPEH, Formosa (AP)—Governor K. C. Wu was painfully burned Saturday as he dedicated a new blast furnace at Sitze, near Taipeh. When Wu threw a kerosene-soaked rag into the furnace to start it in operation, a tongue of flame shot out. It singed his left eyebrow and the hair from the left side of his head and burned his hand.

Aerial Cameras Take Movies Of Brain, Heart

By ALTON L. BLAKESLEE

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Aerial cameras are taking double-feature X-ray movies for better diagnosis of some brain, heart, and other troubles.

The aerial cameras were adapted for the X-ray work at the Mallinckrodt institute of radiology of Washington University medical school. In effect, they give a third-dimensional view of the workings of internal organs, said Dr. William Seaman, associate professor of radiology.

WORK FAST

A whole series of pictures can be taken within a few seconds to trace a dye flowing through arteries of the brain, through chambers of the heart, or other organs.

The flow of the dye gives information about constrictions or other troubles of arteries or valves, including aneurysms or bulges in artery walls that may blow out like a weakened inner tube.

The double exposure X-rays also give a better view of the inner brain when air is pumped into the ventricles or cavities of the brain. This is a method used to diagnose brain tumors.

Viewed in sequence, the X-ray films give a veritable movie of what happens as air or dye is injected into the brain. It takes only a split second for injected dye to spread through the brain. The rapid - sequence pictures show what happened, and give two views.

Feathered Attraction

SOUTHAMPTON, England (CP) —Two jackdaws and a magpie have helped collect more than £180 for a children's hospital here. The birds are in cages at the main entrance of the hospital.

DISINTERESTED MODEL — A reluctant Chihuahua (left), who answers to the name of "Gorgeous George," just doesn't seem a bit interested in getting into the act. While the other four little dogs of the same breed pose in a basket like veteran models at the Chicago home of their owners, Mr. and Mrs. Norman Berogan, George seems to be thinking only of one thing—how to get out!

Canada Wants N.Y. Agency As Partner

WASHINGTON (AP) — Canada says a New Jersey firm seeking to become the U. S. partner in the St. Lawrence river power project "would be unacceptable to us."

David Mundell, senior counsel for the department of justice, Friday expressed Canada's view on an application by the Public Power and Water Corporation, Trenton, N. J.

Hugo A. Spalinski, president of Public Power and Water, had just completed two days of testimony at a federal power commission hearing on the hydro-electric power proposal. The firm's request for a federal licence rivals a similar bid made by the New York state power authority.

"The course of the testimony has convinced us," Mundell said, "that this corporation (Public Power and Water) would be unacceptable to us."

The hearing on both applications was adjourned to Feb. 2.

But the New York authority, which has said a delayed decision might mean a late start in construction, may move to reconvene at an earlier date.

Both New York and the Jersey firm seek to become the American partner in development of power from the International Rapids section of the river. The Ontario hydro-electric commission would represent Canada.

Team Of 60 German Scientists Turn Out Unique Line Of Goods

By IAN FRASER

COLOGNE, Germany (Reuters) —A team of 60 German scientists, doctors, mechanics and artists here are turning out a line of goods they claim to be unique—parts of the human body in all kinds and materials, including flesh and bones.

One of their proudest exhibits is a "glass man." His bones are of cast aluminum, his skin is of plexiglass and all his organs exactly reproduced in translucent plastic to life scale.

The organs from the brain down to the bladder light up from inside in logical sequence and the "glass man" himself describes the purpose of each in the resonant voice of a professional radio announcer.

The "glass man" contains 20 miles of colored wire which illustrates the place, size and function of each vein, artery nerve and lymphatic canal.

The "German Health Museum," in a Cologne suburb, has also made several copies of the "glass woman"—priced at $15,000—and a "glass dog." They also own a "glass giant," 12 feet tall

EXHIBITS TRANSPARENT

In one of the museum's laboratories, a group of scientists preserve in alcohol parts of the human body bequeathed to them. A process the museum developed enables the exhibits to be made completely transparent. At the same time the veins, arteries and other canals are pumped full of different-colored liquids so that they can be seen through the transparent flesh walls.

Fifty years ago, a group of German doctors founded the German hygiene museum in Dresden. The museum's task was an international one; they set themselves the job of teaching the human race to develop healthy habits.

In 42 years, up to 1944, when the closing phases of the war made continuation of their work impossible, the museum organized 1,500 exhibitions, 124 of them in foreign countries, visited by 34,000,000 persons.

STAFF MOVES

In 1948, when the Communist authorities made it clear that they wanted to mix politics with science, the bulk of the Dresden staff, led by Dr. Georg Seiring, head of the museum, moved to Cologne. There they found the German health museum.

Within two years they were going at full steam again. They organized travelling exhibitions all over Germany and in many foreign countries.

In 1952, they visited Belgium, France, Luxembourg, Holland and Denmark and next year, they plan to send exhibitions to South America and to Africa.

Heiress Prepares For Wedding

NASSAU, Bahamas (AP)—Nancy Oakes, heiress to the fabulous Oakes gold mine fortune, flew to Nassau Sunday to make final plans for her marriage Dec. 29 to the Baron Ernest Lyssard von Hoyningen Huene.

Nancy will inherit a full share of her father's estate on her 30th birthday, May 17, 1954. Her inheritance has been estimated at as high as $20,000,000.

Nancy's father, Sir Harry Oakes, was slain in Nassau July 7, 1943. Her husband, Alfred de Marigny, was tried and acquitted of the charge of murdering her father. Nancy defended de Marigny against the charge. She later divorced de Marigny.

Sir Harry was prominent in the Canadian gold mining industry.

The baron she will marry is the son of Baron and Baroness Herman von Houningen Huene of Oberammergau, Germany.

WEST GERMANY LARGER West Germany has an area of 94,000 square miles compared to 42,000 for the Soviet-dominated Republic of East Germany.

RECIPE for a Merry Christmas

from your DOMINION STORE

Take the crisp cold of a December night, add two generous parts of snow, stir in air so clear it tinkles.

Into a generous heart, mix the wonder of a little girl, the sparkle of a young boy's glance, the love of parents, and set gently before the chimney side.

Set the mixture to rise in the warmth of a dream of good will to men. It will be almost ready to serve when it bubbles with warmth and good feeling.

Bedeck with the light of a star set in the East, garnish with shining balls of gold, silver and red. Serve to the tune of an ancient carol in the middle of the family table.

This recipe is sufficient for all the men and women you will ever meet.

With best wishes for a Merry Christmas.

Dr. Jordan Says

Strong Family Tendency To Baldness

By EDWIN P. JORDAN, MD
(NEA)

"My hair if fast thinning," says Mr. W. "Is there a remedy or exercise to arrest the process? I am 52." How many of the rest of us have the same problem. But it is lucky that baldness is so much more common in men than in women. Just imagine the uproar if women tended to baldness as much as men.

There is a strong family tendency to baldness. In such families the hair line over the temples gradually recedes and the hair becomes thin at the crown. As time goes on the hairless area becomes larger and larger until the whole top of the head resembles an egg shell.

The so-called "cures" range all the way from "singeing the hair to keep the juice from running out" (and, incidentaly, the hair is not hollow), to costly instruments for "massaging" the scalp or producing some other marvelous effect on hair growth.

Although claims are made for many "hair restorers," there are too many failures from any form of treatment to justify the belief that there is a good prevention or cure.

But is is probably true that dandruff or poor circulation in the scalp will speed the loss of hair. Consequently, if any such condition is present, treatment of the dandruff and massage of the scalp aimed at improving the circulation may delay, though it probably will not stop, the gradual loss of hair.

One peculiar kind of baldness is called alopecia areata. In this the hair falls out completely in small to large roundish spots, or may involve total loss of hair of the scalp, eyebrows and eyelashes. This is probably a true disease of some kind, though just what causes it no one has yet discovered. The hair is often gone for several months and then, more often than not, grows back just as before.

HAIR NATURALLY RETURNS

There are other conditions which cause loss of hair. The hair frequently falls out after infectious diseases such as typhoid, scarlet fever, influenza or some toxic condition. After a while, however, the hair usually grows back in and may be heavier or even a slightly different shade. Treatment of this type of loss of hair is usually not necessary, since nature takes care of the situation.

By and large the claims of anyone that he has developed a remedy for the control or cure of baldness, or that he has inherited a formula for a remedy, or that he has accidentally discovered a remedy or method, should be viewed with the greatest skepticism.

Official Sees No Danger To Humans In Epidemic

EDMONTON (CP) — Alberta's director of communicable diseases said Saturday that the nature of the rabies epidemic among wild life and domesticated animals in all the province's northland is such that a widespread epidemic among humans is almost impossible.

But Dr. Norman Baster said individual cases are altogether likely in the sparsely-populated regions and residents there have been warned to take proper precautions.

Vote To Decertify

KITCHENER (CP)—Employees of the Beaver Furniture Company have voted 29 to 4 to have the International Woodworkers' Union (CIO-CCL) decertified as their bargaining agent, it was announced Sunday. The union had been certified as bargaining agent in May, 1951. Last September a vote was held which ended in a tie, but a second vote was ordered for last Friday.

Using Psychology In Purchase of Toys

Canadian Toy Industry Has $30 Million Output

By CLAYTON GRAY

Today scientific toy manufacture is responsible for better play at home. While nominally "playthings," toy manufacture is no longer a hit-and-miss affair. The Canadian toy industry, with $30,000,000 annual output, employs top designers and colour engineers. Psychologists and educationalists are also consulted.

Scientific planning is daily routine in over 300 firms across Canada. When a manufacturer sets out to create new toy designs he must ask himself: "How will the little six-year-old miss take to it?" He is alerted to the fact that playthings must be functional for each stage of a child's development. This point is stressed with the retailer, so that he too, can answer the question: "What toy is good for a toddler? He's one, and has just learned to walk."

While some parents still regard toys simply as child's playthings, psychologists and educationalists stress a more vital function. According to the Canadian Welfare Council, in its report on the play needs of children from ages one month to 10 years, toys have an important effect on a child's developing personality.

Psychologists point out that a child at play is hard at the business of growing—physically, emotionally, and artistically. Parents are urged to co-operate intelligently for they can greatly assist this process by providing the right toys for each stage of development.

To the proud father who thinks nothing of buying a $10 life-size panda bear for his infant son, the Council cautions that a two-year-old will probably be more impressed with a cigar box full of clothes pins; or maybe some tin lids and pots to bang.

While some age groups can get along on common home articles, manufactured toys are frequently necessary for training the youngest infant to the school-ager.

Toys play an important part in developing eye and finger muscle co-ordination; and in training the baby to concentrate. They also help to develop crawling and walking incentives, and in general, to develop intelligence and a sense of confidence that will be needed in later life. If parents keep in mind a few simple facts about general growth patterns, they can buy the right toy nine times out of ten.

At three months baby is just beginning to focus his eyes. A brightly coloured rattle is just the thing at this age. But at six months he goes in for exploring with his fingers and mouth. Now he will appreciate a can of brightly coloured clothes pins; some gay-coloured plastic, metal, or wood rings linked together. And you can't go wrong with a soft, washable doll, or rubber blocks with bells inside.

Remember it's not always the expensive toy that does the best job. Not having a mind for figures, baby will often take to the home-spun article, or an inexpensive bought toy.

From age one to two baby is on his feet. He needs toys that will help him develop his back, leg and arm muscles. Ask the saleslady, then, for either a pegboard with large pegs, a small wagon to pull, or a kiddie car (not too heavy). In 1952 designers came out with a new educational toy, "Pick and Pop." This is coloured red with two holes, bottom and side. When the bottom opening is placed over a ball, another pops out the side hole.

"Seven Way Pull," also introduced this year, consists of 12 wooden wheels so joined together that they can be stacked in a variety of ways—good for developing eye-hand co-ordination.

From two to three is the age for music, picture books and stories,, painting, push and pull toys, and maybe just cloth material for dressing up dolls. A baby at this age will listen for hours to catchy tunes like singing nursery rhymes. He will be very proud of his own, unbreakable record player. Little Joan will love a doll carriage. Water colours will help her to distinguish shapes and colours.

At three you know almost instinctively what to buy. For baby is entering the adult imitative stage. This is the age for miniature cars, dolls, telephones, unbreakable dishes, dresses, imitation brooms, carpet sweepers and washtubs. For outside use, the shallow awding pool is a good idea if supervision is possible. Equally popular is the sandbox. Imitation continues through age four.

Buying adult imitations will actually save Mom a lot of grief. Instead of an enthusiastic co-dishwasher, or colleague at the washing machine, Joan can play with washing her miniature dishes, try cooking in her small stove, or washing in her own miniature washing machine. It will make Mom's work 10 times easier.

At five you have before you a real little person. He is sure of himself, thinks clearly, and is precise in making decisions. Don't make the mistake of treating him as an inferior at this age. Buy him realistic toys; cut-out materials, clay and plasticine, a scooter or tricycle, work table, tools or wheelbarrow.

At school age—from six to eight—he has boundless energy, and a passion for learning new skills. He needs a bicycle, roller skates, skiis or ice skates, ping pong, croquet or pool sets. Little Joan will welcome a skipping rope, children's records, paints, crayons or modelling clay. This is also the age for learning simple table games such as dominoes or parchesi. From six to eight—"middle-aged child"—keep toys realistic, avoiding fantasy and make-believe. You won't go wrong with beginners' kits for making models, carpentry, printing, chemistry, carving, embroidery, weaving, and knitting, or gardening.

New styles in 1952 were strong in "career" toys. For boys there was a wide variety of new designs in bulldozers; rock drills for future highway engineers; small cars with workable tool kits, and a track-cleaning car for railroad maintenance. Other "career" toys included "Busy Bee Scientists," for future biologists. Fascinating hobby kits were strong in the direction of authentic reproductions of stage coaches, hansom cabs, prairie schooners, and antique automobiles.

The middle-ager will be happy with the electric train Dad has held off buying. New models are a treat. By copying real trains in operation, designers in 1952 provided streamlined, gleaming aluminum coaches with animated station. Press a switch and the gate opens. Passengers enter the cars. The gate shuts. The train starts on its journey. Steel passengers, running on a magnet, give the effect of real life.

This year's models include air chime whistles, illuminated pullman cars, and smoke puffing from stacks. The "miniature" train measures five feet, four and a half inches. There are realistic baggage and club cars, complete with window blinds and speeds are up to 120-MPH. Dad and junior can create their own sets, duplicating the station of the Laurentian summer home, the whistle stop where dad was brought up and the warning signals.

The important thing in buying toys, says psychologists and educationalists, is to know your child's age level of play, and to see toys his way.—(C.I.L. Oval.)

Hampering Charge

BERLIN (AP) — Sergie Gengin, Berlin representative of the Soviet control commission, sent a letter to Gen. Lemuel Mathewson, United States commandant in Berlin Sunday, protesting the "hampering of shipping" on Berlin's Teltow canal, the east zone news agency ADN reported Sunday night. Gengin charged American authorities had established a so-called "Tetlow Canal Company" which is unjustly collecting a fee from ships passing through the canal.

Stone School Stages Annual Yule Concert

GOLDSPRINGS (ENS)—A capacity crowd filled Stone School Thursday night when the pupils and teacher, Miss Grace Wilton, presented their Christmas concert. Mr. Marvin Minifie was chairman.

Elaine Minifie gave a monologue "Christmas acknowledgements." Two plays, "Santa's Helpers" and "Concert Rehearsal", were presented. Elmer Minifie sang a solo, "I saw Mommy kissing Santa Claus". A dialogue "Suspense" by Elaine Minifie and Marlene Turk, was followed by a drill and chorus "Christmas Roses."

Santa Clause came through the window and distributed gifts from the well-laden tree. After Santa had disappeared out the window again, the program closed with a bedtime poem by the juniors followed with a chorus, "Good Night Ladies" and the National Anthem. Mrs C. Timlin was pianist for the concert.

Woodvale Pupils Guests Of Centenary

ROSENEATH (ENS). — The pupils of Woodvale School (SS 1 and 25, Alnwick) were guests of the Centenary WA at their Christmas meeting held Thursday afternoon in Centenary Church. The president, Mr. Dawson Timlin, presided, with Mrs.Arnold Elder as organist for singing of Christmas carols.

The financial report showed $102.50 realized from quilts sold during the year. Mrs. Leo Timlin, good cheer convener, reported 45 cards sent during the year. Christmas boxes of good cheer have already been sent to the ill and the aged of the community.

A Christmas program was presented. The school pupils sang Christmas hymns and appropriate readings were given by Mrs. Silas Sherwin, Mrs. E. Woodruff, Mrs. Ernest Burrison, and Mrs. Reg. Timlin. A Christmas contest was won by Mrs. Reg. Timlin.

Helen Sandercock, one of the senior pupils, expressed appreciation to the WA on behalf of the pupils, for the invitation and the hospitality extended to them.

Shoemaker Jailed

MOSCOW (AP) — A Moscow shoemaker has been sentenced to five years in prison for making shoes at home from leather purchased without official approval, Soviet authorities disclosed Sunday.

North School Pupils Stage Christmas Fete

ROSENEATH (ENS)—A boys' ballet by eight senior boys of SS 2, Alnwick, was one of the outstanding numbers on the program at their Christmas concert held in the LOL hall. The teacher of this school is Miss Joan McNeely. Terry Hogg was chairman and Donald Pollock, music supervisor, was pianist.

Ray Macklin, a junior pupil, gave the welcome recitation, and the pupils of the school contributed several choruses. The Rev. A. R. Wheeler gave a humorous number, and there were four dialogues given. Recitations were given by Murray McCleary and Valda McCleary. The junior pupils presented "Santa's Elves"; Bill Brown and Jim Robins did a stunt; Patricia Hogg sang a solo; Dale Braithwaite and Patricia Hogg danced the Charleston; George McCleary performed an operation; Miss Barbara Pollock played an accordion solo and responded to an encore; Mr. Donald Pollock also responded to an encore with his vocal solo.

Identify Casualties

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States defence department today identified 62 Korean war casualties in a new list that reported 23 dead, 33 wounded, two missing and four injured.

Santa Claus Shells Out At Omemee

OMEMEE (ENS)—Santa Claus visited Omemee Saturday afternoon to greet the large crowd gathered on the street, and afterwards to hand out treats to about 500 children in Coronation Hall.

The affair, which began with a gay street parade and included entertainment for all in the hall, was sponsored by Omemee business and professional men. A Provincial Police car conveying the reeve preceded the procession which was led by the Havelock Scottish Pipe Band, followed by the Omemee Boy Scouts and Cubs. Children who were entered in the contest for best decorated bicycle or other small vehicle had their place in the procession.

A very interesting feature was Omemee's fire equipment from 1876 to the present, displayed by the fire brigade and labelled for the periods used.

First came a group of the junior volunteer fire brigade with pails on poles representing the bucket brigade of the years from 1876 to 1885; then a group hauling the old pump mounted on wheels which served from 1886 to 1925; then came the old fire truck and trailer pump, used from 1925 to 1949, and manned by the old volunteer fire brigade; and last the modern fire fighting equipment bearing the men of the present fire department.

In the hall the program was in charge of Reeve Harry Deyell, assisted by Bill Weir. While waiting for Santa's arrival, there was a period of carol singing. Herb Mullen and Henry Jackson, of Peterborough, entertained the packed house with violin and accordion music. Mr. Mullen also provided amusement with violin imitations and sleight of hand tricks. Vincent Fee, reeve of Emily, addressed the gathering.

The following children won prizes for decorated bicycles: First prize, Donald Hyland; second, Casson Morrison; third, Muriel Downey. Special prizes were awarded Gale Downey for his decorated baby carriage and little Robin Progue, who propelled herself in a little horse and wagon vehicle. Mrs. Charles Lytle and Mr. Melville Lethangue were the judges.

The prize for the oldest woman present went to Mrs. Poast who is 96, and Arthur Pogue, Sr., 77, took the prize for the oldest man present. - Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Robertson received the prize for the couple most recently married, and Mrs. Earl James, of Toronto, for the one who came the farthest. The youngest person present was nine-month-old Neil Hickson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Keith Hickson, and as Mr. and Mrs. Russell Rawlins' son Roy was only a few days older, they each received a prize.

Elect Mrs. George Fox Zion WA President

MARMORA (ENS)—Zion WA recently held its December meeting at the home of Mrs. T. J. Bateman in Marmora with a pot-luck dinner. The president, Mrs. F. Chambers, was in charge of the meeting.

Readings were taken by Mrs. Ed. Robinson and Mrs. William Coe, after which Christmas carols were sung by the members. Fifteen members answered the roll call. Two visitors were present.

At the completion of general business, the election of officers was carried out as follows: President, Mrs. George Fox; vice-president, Mrs. Gordon Moffatt; secretary-treasurer, Mrs. Garnet McCann.

A vote of thanks was extended the retiring president, Mrs. Ford Chambers, for her three years of faithful service as president.

The exchange of Christmas gifts followed. It was decided to hold the January meeting at the home of Mrs. Ed. Robinson.

Islamic Leader Condemns Communism

By L. S. CHAKALES

Sheikh Mohamed El Khedr Hussein, rector of Al Azhar University, Islam's religious institution, said in an interview Islam is the best system under which men can live freely.

The rector's pronouncement came at a time when the Cominform line showed strong indications of taking an anti-Israel position. This was viewed as a Communist move to win over a large portion of the Arab world which has bitterly damned Western support, particularly by the United States, of Israel and Zionism.

Other Moslem leaders have denounced communism. This was the first time it has been openly repudiated by a Moslem of Sheikh Mohamed's stature. As a rule, such pronouncements are regarded as dogma by the Moslem world.

The Moslem leader said Islam does not "oppose human nature in any of its basic characteristics except in case of deviation or wrong-doing. Even then Islam contends itself with reforming human nature without attempting to change it altogether."

"The principle of individual ownership is one of the qualities of human nature," the rector continued. "Islam recognizes and approves it within reasonable limits as is the case with Islam's attitude towards all other problems."

Islam also is aware of the differences between people in talent, in mental powers and the ability to make money for themselves and to benefit the community.

Claims that communism prevents exploitation are refuted by Sheikh Mohamed. By placing all production distribution under the control of a few men, he said, communism has created a handful of "omnipotent magnates whose lives are no less luxurious than those of the former Czars, while the majority of people lead a monotonous and helpless life."

"Communism has suppressed all spirit of competition, independence and self-reliance."

CARROT CREEK, Sas (CP)—A queer bird was found in this northern Saskatchewan district. It measures two feet in length, has a four-foot wingspread and a narrow, four-inch beak. Blue in color and weighing approximately eight pounds, the bird has webbed feet.

NEW WINGS FOR THE NAVY—The Navy's newest attack bomber, the A3D, top, is powered by two jet engines, carries a crew of three, and is designed to operate at between six and seven hundred miles per hour. Performance data are classified, but it is believed that no plane of comparable size can carry a bomb load as high or as fast as the A3D. Below, Vultee's Convair XF2Y-1, experimental jet seaplane, skims along on its hydro-ski step in water tests at San Diego, Calif. The Delta-winged craft is the first combat-type plane to be built in the United States that uses the hydro-ski for take-off and landing.

Poland Now Becoming Most Troublesome Satellite For Russians

By THOMAS HARRIS

STOCKHOLM, Sweden (Reuters)—Poland under the heel of Russian Marshal Rokossovski is becoming Stalin's most troublesome satellite.

Scorn, increasing hatred of Russia and open rebellion in some districts are reported facing him in his new job as vice - premier under Poland's new Soviet-modelled constitution.

Rokossovski is the real ruler of Poland, because in addition to being vice-premier, he is also defence minister and commander-in-chief of the armed forces.

Moreover, Poland's new constitution decrees co-operation with the Soviet Union as a fundamental principle — and Marshal Rokossovski was a Soviet citizen until 1949.

The Warsaw and provincial press reveals four types of resistance to the Communist regime:

1. Partisans are operating in the wooded or mountainous districts like Rzeszow in the south, Bialystok in the east and Lublin in the centre.

2. "Hit-and-run" men are liquidating Russian officials considered responsible for the death of Polish patriots. They hide in ambushes under bombed buildings and strike under cover of darkness.

3. Farmers are holding back their produce and feeding partisans clashing with the Communists.

4. The most subtle resisters are what the Communist press calls the "Bikini boys."

"Bikini boys" burlesque Communist propaganda against the United States. They dress up in zoot suits with red socks and loud ties like the Americans caricatured in Poland's Communist press.

They go to the theatres and crack jokes about the Communist movies. Others operate along the streets "spreading American gangster ideas among all they meet."

Partisans, hit-and-run men, farmers and the "Bikini boys" resent Marshal Rokossovski's increasing policy of colonization in Poland. Reports reaching here reveal that thousands of Russian officers policing Poland under him live like conquerors.

Poles from Legnica, in Silesia, where Marshal Rokossovski has his headquarters, report that of the town's present population of 100,000 about three - quarters are Russians who have requisitioned homes for their families.

Rokossovski and the Communist government are countering the rising wave of discontent by bribes, propaganda and force.

High Society Soon Welcomes Duchess Of Kent's Daughter

She is Alexandra Helen Elizabeth Olga Christabel, daughter of the Duchess of Kent and first cousin to the Queen and Princess Margaret.

Alex, as she is inevitably called, will be 16 on Christmas Day.

By the calculations of British society, at 16 it is high time for a young lady to emerge as a bright light. Alexandra already has begun to emerge.

She has been a cover girl. Picture Post, a fancy weekly magazine with a big circulation, featured the misty, blue-eyed, fair-haired girl on the cover in a color photograph late in November.

She has appeared in several U.S. fashion and society magazines as well as continental publications, but until the last three or four months she has attracted little notice outside higher London circles.

Her home is with her mother, the Duchess, and her two brothers at a southern England country home. Alexandra has developed into an English lady. She still rides and hunts and often indicates that she cares nothing for London and its society.

Alexandra was first mentioned as a forthcoming social leader and as a competitor for Princess Margaret two years ago in another London paper. The paper predicted she would run Margaret a good race.

Alexandra and Margaret, who is 22, are similar in many respects, both in appearance and temperament.

Both are pranksters, witty and extroverted. Each loves to mimic and dance. Both ride often and each is an amateur historian. Ballet is a favorite of both girls.

One of the main differences between them is that Alexandra is fairly tall while Margaret is short.

DOROTHY DIX

Refuses Plea Of Her Ailing Husband

DEAR MISS DIX: Eight years ago I married Ray, who had a curvature of the spine from polio. We have four children. Ray also helped raise my son who is now 20 and in the Navy, and a daughter of 13 who is still with us.

My husband's health has become increasingly bad, and he is not able to work at all now. I don't mind caring for him; he's no bother, but he has gotten it into his head that he is a burden and wants me to send him to a hospital. I refused. My son and daughter agree with me that I should keep Ray home, and the little children miss him terribly if he's away for a few hours. I am 35, my husband is 42. Am I right to insist on caring for him at home?

AN EXAMPLE FOR WHINING WOMEN

ANSWER: You certainly put to shame whining women who complain because they don't get enough attention from their husbands, have in-law trouble or resent any extra work inflicted on them. The care of your husabnd, whether well or ill, is so evidently a joy, rather than a burden to you, that I think you'd be lost without it. Proof again that for those we love unselfishly no effort can be too great.

Of course, you are right to keep Ray home, but I hope your daughter and even the small children, are made to realize that they must share in his care, too. There are lots of small jobs you can allot to them, and the spirit of selflessness that motivates you in your daily life should be passed on to your youngsters. There is no indication in your letter that you accept this charge with any thought of martyrdom. If you did, Ray would, of course, be better off anywhere but at home. Nothing is so disturbing to the sick as to be made conscious of the fact that things are being done for them from a sense of duty rather than of love.

You'll have little difficulty in persuading your husband to stay at home; there's no doubt but that he wants to be with you and the children, and he is trying to match your devotion by relieveing you of what he thinks to be a burden.

Your home may lack material things, but it certainly abounds with love and the true spirit of charity. God bless it!

DEAR MISS DIX: My mother has always said that if I couldn't bring my friends home I couldn't meet them outside. Well, I thought she meant it, but I had a few friends in the other evening and mother raised the roof. C. C.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: I hope your mother was sincere when she told you to bring the gang home, but perhaps you brought them in at an inopportune time and without warning! It's always best to prepare mothers for such things as unexpected company. Ask your mother just what her objections were, when you were only acting on her own suggestion.

DEAR MISS DIX: Do you think this suggestion is in keeping with the Christmas spirit? True, it will be hard to stretch budgets to cover Christmas, but I don't like this solution. Our family has always exchanged gifts, but someone proposed that this year we draw names with each member donating a gift tagged for the person whose name he draws, all gifts to cost the same amount of money.

To me this smacks of putting a price tag on Christmas. After all, it isn't the cost that counts; smaller gifts could be given, or, if no gift could be bought, a smile on Christmas morning would make the day lots brighter. PHIL

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: If you have a large family, the problem of individual gifts can be very acute. Perhaps it would be harder for some than for others. Therefore, the suggestion of drawing names does insure a surprise gift for each one in the family. I'm sure it was made with no attempt to detract from the spirit of Christmas, but rather to ad da note of gaiety. The smile on Christmas morning is a wonderful idea, and one all the family can enjoy. To insure that your smile will be a big one, join in with the rest of your family in whatever celebration plans are proposed.

DEAR MISS DIX: There are four of us: a brother, 44, and one, 37, both working steadily with fair incomes and no dependents except Mother with whom they live; my sister, married with two children. Mother has been dependent on us for over 20 years. At first, my sister supported my younger brother, Mother and me. Then she married, and my younger brother and I took over all expenses, then for a long period I contributed the largest share of family support.

While the boys were in the army Mother received an allotment which she saved for them instead of for herself, as was intended. When the boys returned, Mom kept house for them in rented apartments which were so miserable that my husband and I finally borrowed money from my elder brother (to be repaid with interest) to buy the house next door to us so I would be able to look in on Mother during the day, and take care of her cooking, etc. When Mom is ordered to have a complete rest, my sister takes her and keeps her in bed.

Recently Mother had an operation and my sister and I were rather surprised and shocked to learn that we were expected to share in doctor and hospital bills. We feel that since we are having trouble making ends meet for our own families, and the two unmarried brothers are financially able to take over the expense, they should do so. Due to a business failure, my husband and I live from payday to payday, and my sister's financial status is also hard with three children. CHRIS.

ANSWER: It would seem to me that since both you and your sister have done, and are doing, the physical work in connection with your mother's care, for which the boys otherwise would have to pay someone, you certainly should be given consideration in the financial angle of the problem. The brothers have no obligations other than their mother; even the expense of buying a home was taken over by you, so their living expenses are at a minimum. Furthermore, the hospital and medical bills, as outlined in your letter, are relatively small and should be no burden for two men with a steady income. Of course, these matters should be the subject of family discussion and planning.

DECIDE ON A SYSTEM

The four of you should get together, and work out a system which would provide for a share of either work or expense from each. Perhaps your brothers don't realize what their obligations are, or how you and your sister expect them to be met. Naturally, if you have never brought up the subject in group discussion, they don't know. Aside from medical expenses, your mother's care requires no considerable financial outlay, and since her sons do live in her home (provided by you) they are apparently having things quite easy. I doubt if the apparent thoughtlessness is intentional, and it will probably be quite easy to clear up if presented to them as a problem to be solved.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: While the sororities were having their rushes this year, I was away with my parents, so didn't get in one. I was very hurt about this but, since it wasn't anyone's fault, I'm beginning to get over it. However, my lifelong friend got a bid for a sorority and every night after school she stands in a pledge line while I wait right in back of her, as we walk home together. The members apparently don't like this and asked me to move. I feel they were being rude. Am I right? DIANE.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: You are acting very foolishly for a girl who wants to make the sorority. Antagonizing its members will make you a very unpopular young lady, when the opposite effect should be your goal. If you are waiting for your friend, get away from the pledge line entirely, and wait in another part of the school. Also, if she is requested to do something by a sorority sister, let her do it alone. In other words, and bluntly, don't push in where you aren't invited.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: Two of my friends are divorcees with children. They work on the second shift in a defense plant, so the only time they get to go out is late at night. The only men who ask them out are married (living with their wives). Since the girls are lonely, they accept these dates. Now, an enemy of these girls has threatened to report them to the juvenile authorities and the wives of their companions. I'm afraid neither the authorities nor the wives will understand. How can I help my friends? M. S.

ANSWER: If by "understanding" you mean condoning indiscreet behavior, I'm afraid few people except yourself would be so understanding. If you really want to help, set the young women straight on a few fundamental rules of good conduct.

About 125 juniors of the Peterborough Skating Club were on the ice at the Curling Club Sunday afternoon enjoying a gala Christmas party and games. Santa Claus came out and skated with them in a grand march and individually with the tinier ones and then gave out candy for everyone. Refreshments were served by the club entertainment committee and mothers and were convened by Mrs. C. G. Collins. In the evening, senior skaters had a coffee and Christmas cake party after skating.

The YWCA 20 Plus Club had one of their nicest Christmas parties Saturday evening. One hundred and twenty young people were present and each brought a toy to put under the Christmas tree during the party and to be given afterward to the Salvation Army for distribution in the city. The club had added to the Christmas decorations in the recreation room and the green room to make the occasion more festive. MC's were Miss Jean McIntyre and Don Endicott. The door prize winner was Paul Berube. A "mistletoe spot dance" was own by Bert Weiss and Nora Spoerrii, a "candy cane dance" by Mrs. T. Cook and L. Cameron, a "Christmas tree spot dance' by Anne Illingworth and Bert Carver, and an elimination dance by Joyce Bridcott and Harold Cathcart. Special guests for the evening were representatives of the Y board and staff, Mr. and Mrs. H. T. Rehill, Mr. and Mrs. Tom Cook, and Miss Lets Brownscombe and Miss Marion Foster. Mrs. Rehill and Mrs. Cook poured coffee and lunch was served by the club executive.

Custards, Jellies, Desserts

QUESTION: I made the frozen dessert you might have seen in magazine, it was lemon flavored but the crumb mixture in bottom was so strong with spice we could not eat it. Do you remember what I mean? Do you have a frozen lemon refrigerator dessert? Would you print it as soon as possible if you have.—Maudie.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: This is not like the one you are referring to, but I can vouch for its goodness. It may be made as much as 2 or 3 days ahead of when served.

FROZEN LEMON DESSERT

Three egg yolks, 3 egg whites, ½ cup sugar, juice and grated rind 1 large lemon, 1 cup heavy cream, whipped, 2-3 cup finely rolled graham wafers, or vanilla wafers (for best results roll fine, then sift). Combine egg yolks, sugar, lemon juice and rind in top of a double boiler. Cook over hot, but not boiling, water until slightly thickened, stirring constantly. Remove from heat and cool. Sprinkle half of the crumbs over bottom of freezing tray. Pour lemon mixture over them when it is cool. Sprinkle remaining crumbs on top. Freeze until firm. This amount will serve five.

(Cantonese Style)

Wash well 1 cup uncooked rice and drain thoroughly. Add 1¾ cups boiling water, ¾ teaspoon salt, 1 tablespoon butter, cover and bring to boiling point quickly. Reduce heat as much as possible and cook very slowly about 30 minutes. It should not be too soft but all water should be absorbed by rice. Turn off heat and let stand covered for 15 minutes. This gives 3 cups cooked rice.

Put ¼ cup peanut or corn oil in large heavy frying pan. When very hot add 1 slightly beaten egg and cook just 2 minutes. Remove from heat and cut up the egg. Add the cooked rice, 1 teaspoon salt, ¼ teaspoon pepper, ¼ cup finely chopped green pepper, about 1½ tablespoons soy sauce. Stir over rather high heat about 8 minutes Serve as an accompaniment to almost any Chinese meat dish.

H. of P. Residents Entertained By CWL Members

Christmas and old-time music sounded joyously through the House of Providence Sunday evening when the residents were entertained by the Catholic Women's League of Peterborough.

Thomas Drumm, with Frank Heath, Bert Shanque and Wilf. Sexsmith provided orchestral arrangement of a variety of old-time melodies and occasionally some of the older men and ladies contributed a step dance to this music.

Further old-time songs and instrumental music was supplied by Ross and Ed. Mumford. The piano acordion was skilfully played by Len Basciano and by Rose and Paul DeCarlo. Small Patricia Morgan tap danced and Mrs. F. Guilfoyle delighted with her piano numbers.

Christmas carols were beautifully sung by members of the choir of Sacred Heart Church, Mrs. M. Condon, Mrs. L. Martyn, Ann Laplante, Barbara O'Reilly, Frank Fitzgerald, Frank Heath, and Bert Shanque. Mr. Herbert Michel directed. Piano duets by Mr. Michel and Suzanne Marty were also enjoyed.

Clare Grady was an excellent master of ceremonies. Members of the four parish sub-divisions of the CWL served refreshments, and presented individual boxes of Christmas treats to the guests.

The 1951 census showed English was the mother tongue of 8,280,000 Canadians; French for 4,068,000.

Christmas Party South End Church

One hundred and forty children, members of the South End Presbyterian Sunday School were entertained at a delightful Christmas party held in Confederation School on Friday evening. Craw at ... piano, provided entertainment for the children until supper was served. Mrs. William Young and a large group of ladies from the congregation provided the meal, and then followed a visit from Santa Claus and the distribution of a gift to every child.

Readers' Question Column Conducted By Mary Moore

NOTE: The order of things is reversed this week because this is a special week. The day after Christmas look for a knock-out of a recipe for using leftover turkey. And on Saturday I will have a New Year's Eve buffet menu for you.

So—today and tomorrow this space is for readers' letters and my answers which usually take up all of Friday's and Saturday's allotment.

QUESTION: I would like your measurements and method for making coffee for about 25 people. —Phyllis B.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER:

COFFEE FOR 25

Two cups fine grind coffee, 4 quarts water. Tie the coffee in triple cheesecloth bag, leaving plenty of room for coffee to swell. Let stand in water several hours. Bring slowly to boiling point and boil 4 minutes. Remove the bag and keep coffee hot, but not boiling, for serving. Serves 25.

✧ ✧ ✧

QUESTION: Last year at a club Christmas dinner each place was marked with a little edible Christmas tree—an inverted ice cream cone—frosted and popcorn coated Have you the recipe for the icing used to make the popcorn adhere? Also, do you have recipe for a party type dessert using slices of jelly roll (used to line the mould) filled with gelatin custard and cherry and whipped cream garnish?—Ethel M. W.

ANSWER: You simply roll the cones in melted semi-sweet chocolate (melted over steaming water—not boiling) or in green-tinted melted fondant or in green-tinted butter icing. The popcorn will adhere to any of these when they are cold and set. Did you think of using silver dragees instead of popcorn for some of your cones?

For the green-tinted butter icing cream ¼ cup butter until very light, then slowly beat in 2 cups sifted icing sugar, adding 2 or 3 teaspoons cream as you beat, and a few drops of hot water to make it smooth enough to roll the cones in. Add green vegetable coloring to a shade that pleases you.

JELLY ROLL CHARLOTTE
(A Fine Christmas Dessert

One jelly roll, 2 tablespoons gelatin, ½ cup cold water, 2 cups evaporated milk diluted with ½ cup cold water, 4 eggs, yolks and whites separated, 1 cup sugar, 1 teaspoon vanilla, ½ cup whole maraschino cherries, cream for whipping. Buy or make a jelly roll with red-colored filling. Soak the gelatin in the cold water for 5 minutes. Scald the milk. Mix together the egg yolks and 2/3 cup of the sugar and beat well, then stir the hot milk into them, and return to top of double boiler and stir over boiling water until mixture will coat spoon. Remove from heat and stir in the soaked gelatin until dissolved. Cool. When it begins to thicken stir in remaining 1/3 cup sugar and the stiffly beaten egg whites carefully — sugar and egg whites being beaten together. Add vanilla. Add a few chopped maraschino cherries if you wish. Line sides and bottom of straight or slope-sided mold with slices of jelly roll. Pour in half of the custard mixture. Arrange a layer of jelly roll slices over it. Pour in remaining custard. Chill until firm. Turn out on silver tray or fancy large plate. Pipe whipped cream around top edge and make a border of whipped cream at bottom — using icing tube. Garnish centre and border with clusters of whole cherries—and if you wish, garnish these clusters with "leaves" of citron peel.

✧ ✧ ✧

QUESTION: Please advise method of frying pork and lamb chops? Should lid be on heavy frying pan? What temperature?—E. Morrow.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: If you have a broiler, heat it very hot and broil chops always. Both lamb and pork chops must be cooked through. My best method for pork chops is as follows:

BREADED BAKED PORK CHOPS

Have bread or cracker crumbs so fine you could sift them. Dip dry pork (or lamb) chops in them, then in beaten egg to which you have aded 1 tablespoon water, then in crumbs again. Place on baking dish. Sprinkle generously with salt, pepper, and paprika, and bake for 1 hour at 375 deg. Fahr. These are lovely served with baked sliced apple halves. It keeps the chops moist, but thoroughly cooks the fat and gives a delicious crisp brown crust.

Veteran Employee Dies In Oshawa

OSHAWA (CP) — An employee of the Bell Telephone Company for 54 years prior to retirement in 1933, Edwin Herbert Farrow, 87, died Sunday night.

During his years with the company's construction and contracts department, he was stationed at Hamilton, Stratford, Orillia, Kingston, Belleville and Toronto. He was born at Elora in the Guelph district. A son and daughter survive

Young Woman Doctor Found Shot To Death

BURNET, Tex. (AP) — An attractive young woman doctor was found shot to death early Sunday in her fashionable resort home on Lake Buchanan near here.

Sheriff Wallace Ridell said Dr. Blanche Uranie McCowan Jones, 33, was shot once with a .45-calibre pistol found near the body in the bathroom.

Officers said she was married Dec. 11 to Col. Paul Jones, a retired army officer. The couple had attended a party here until after midnight.

Will Take Leave

TOKYO (Reuters) — Tokyo's streetcar and bus workers will "take leave" without permission this week and cut services to half, their union announced today. News of this latest strike reached the populace just as it was welcoming a return to normal of gas and electricity supplies and train services, all cut severely by strikes in recent weeks. The transit workers want higher wages and a year-end bonus.

Battle Flag Drapes Casket

TORONTO (CP) — Funeral services were held today for Major John Lauder Pond, 39-year-old North Bay lawyer who died here Friday.

The funeral was held at 2 p.m. from St. Aidan's Anglican Church to Pine Hills cemetery. The casket was draped with the battle flag of the Queen's Own Rifles, the regiment with which he served in the Second World War.

Six brothers officers, all of whom were with Maj. Pond overseas, acted as pallbearers. There were six honorary pallbearers, including Magistrate Maitland Gould of North Bay, his partner in a law firm. A bugler escort sounded Last Post and Reveille at the graveside.

Born in Toronto, Maj. Pond practised here before the war. When he returned from overseas he practised in St. Catharines before moving to North Bay.

A veteran of D-Day, he was awarded the commander-in-chief's certificate for gallantry, the Order of Leopold of Belgium and the Belgian Croix de Guerre.

Bird Census To Be Recorded

Frank Pammett of the city clerk's office has been named key man by the Federation of Ontario Naturalists to supervise the taking of a census of the bird populations in the Peterborough area. The census will be taken on Boxing Day.

For years the census has been done by J. L. McKeever, CGE engineer, and his son Derek. These two kept up the work annually while interest in this fact of bird-watching lagged locally. Mr. McKeever, together with Dr. G. R. Langley, H. H. Graham, Morley Powell, Ken Strasser, Eric Whiteley, Mrs. Reg. Chandler and Mr. and Mrs. Dave Rymer will assist Mr. Pammett in orgqnizing and taking the census.

Figures obained are sent to Toronto and listed in the Canadian Naturalist. They are then sent on to the Audubon Society in New York along with all others from every corner of the continent. Society officials use these to determine the bird populations, to note any migration changes and concentrations of birds in unusual spots.

Others who will be taking part in the survey include Conservation Officer Alex Kay, Nick Nickels, Examiner outdoors editor; Pete McGillen, Toronto Telegram outdoors editor; Doug Vaisey and Cam Rowatt, who will represent Jack O'Neill, president of the Peterborough Fish and Game Protective Association. All those interested are invited to phone Mr. Pammett at the city hall, or at 6493 for details. The count will be taken within a 7½-mile radius of Peterborough, and census-takers should come equipped with field glasses, Peterson's Field Manual and note book.

Given Six Months For Car Stealing

HAMILTON (CP) —Two Welland men, Russel Boutilier, 32, and Lloyd Cline, 37, and Norman Beal of Nova Scotia were convicted today of taking a car without the owner's consent and were each sentenced to six months in jail.

Police testified before Magistrate John Robinson that the accused had asked for a push when the car in which they were riding stalled on a Hamilton street last week. The car had been reported stolen earlier in the evening.

3 Communist Planes Downed In Dogfights

SEOUL (AP) — United States Sabre jet pilots today blasted three Communist MiG-15s from North Korean skies in a series of furious air battles near the Yalu river, the Fifth Air Force reported.

One MiG was shot down in a twisting dogfight between two Sabres and two MiGs that raged from 41,000 feet down to 23,000. Two other Red jets were downed in a battle between six Sabres and eight MiGs.

Allied losses, if any, will be reported at the week-end.

B-29s and B-26s roared through clearing skies Sunday night in attacks against Communist supply and transport targets behind the lines.

Most Important Business Of '52 Council—Annexation

"The annexation of the Smith Township properties on the north border of the city is the most important business the council has put through this year," Mayor Weddell said today at the City Hall.

"We acquired practically 1,000 acres of North Monaghan between 1945 and 1948, and during that time and since then new buildings have spread over almost that entire area, with houses, schools, churches, and some stores. The new Kenner Collegiate Institute is a symbol of that expansion to the south in Claraday ward.

"In a few years we have built up virtually a good sized town on the available lands to the south.

"After that experience of taking in parts of North Monaghan by repeated annexations, the city council felt that in looking to Smith for our next development Peterborough should obtain sufficient acreage in one stroke for future growth.

ORDERLY DEVELOPMENT

"It is of interest to the citizens that 540 acres will be under the control and help of the Ontario Department of Planning and Development for the layout of streets and their improvement. This work will be done by architects and engineers of the Department. In that respect we are assured of orderly development. Five per cent of the land is to be marked out for parks. The Board of Education will naturally be interested in the move of the city to the north.

"The Smith area will be opened by degrees for housing and other occupation with the first stage of development being nearer the city."

Mayor Waddell said that details of the projected expansion in that direction will have to be worked out, and that the whole scheme had been dependent on the approval of the Ontario Municipal Board. His Worship expressed appreciation of the council and himself for the co-operation of the authorities of Smith Township.

EFFECTIVE JANUARY 1

At incorporation, Peterborough boundaries enclosed 2,826.7 acres. The village of Ashburnham was the first block to be added to that area.

In 1945, from North Monaghan —683.35 acres, and in 1946 an additional 85 acrees. Smith yielded 29 acres in 1947, and in 1948 another 290.6 acres were annexed from North Monaghan.

That brought the total area of the city to 3,973.65 acres at September 30, 1952.

The New Lear will open with the latest expansion into Smith broadening the city's property to 5,189.65 acres.

Since 1929, Peterborough has almost doubled its area, necessarily keeping pace with its growth in population.

Fire At Arena Quickly Doused

Damage of less than $100 was caused to the Civic Arena on Park St. early Sunday night when fire broke out in the cold air vent between the basement ceiling and ground floor.

A cigarette butt thrown down the chute is believed to have smouldered for hours and finally burst into flame. The constant passage of air kept it alive.

The chute travels from the intake, in the men's public room, through the visitors' dressing room on the basement level, to the furnace.

The smoke was discovered shortly after 6 p.m. and firemen used two handpumps to extinguish the small fire.

A section of the ceiling in the visitor's dressing room was torn out by the firemen to get at the source of the fire.

Brodie Twins Cling To Life

CHICAGO (AP) — The Brodie Siamese twins clung tenaciously today to the separate life doctors sought to give them last Wednesday, but an Illinois neuropsychiatric hospital spokesman would say only that "their remarkable stamina" is heartening.

The 15-month-old sons of Mr. and Mrs. Royt Brodie of Moline, Ill., born joined at the tops of their heads, were separated in a lengthy operation.

Roger, the weaker one, was still in a coma and the hospital said his condition was precarious. He was being fed intravenously.

Rodney, to whom doctors gave the single main drainage blood vein which the twins formerly shared, was still in critical condition. Rodney was given the sagittal sinus, a large blood vessel carrying blood from the brain back to the heart, both because he was more vigorous and believed more likely to survive, and because the veins' position favored him.

Rodney was less animated than last Saturday, however, when he parroted a nurse's question, "what is this?" He is able to take some nourishment in normal fashion.

Gore's Landing News

Rice Lake is still open, although it froze in a few places during a recent cold night. A motor boat was out dashing around the icy water, driven by George Harris. Roads have been icy in the village, but the main roads are clear and good travelling at present.

Another real estate deal was completed with the sale of "Terrace Hill," the house formerly owned by Miss May Waddingham of Peterborough. She sold the home to the late Mr. H. Hastings, whose parents lived there for a number of years and where Mr. Hastings died a year ago. The place has been sold to Toronto people who are taking possession April 1, 1953.

Attempted Robbery

TORONTO (CP) — Three men beat a couple who own a second-hand store in downtown Toronto in an attempt to rob them Sunday night. During the scuffle, Mrs. Litvak broke away, smashed a window of her home where the attack took place, and shouted for help. The thugs fled.

OBITUARIES

MRS. WILLIAM YOUNG

Mrs. William Young, the former Margaret Young, Douro, died Saturday at her residence following a lengthy illness.

Mrs. Young was born in Ennismore township, daughter of the late John Young and Mary Sullivan and has lived in this district all her life.

She was a member of Immaculate Conception Roman Catholic Church and the Catholic Women's League.

Besides her husband, she leaves two daughters, Rev. Sister Bernita, St. Joseph's Order, Toronto; Mrs. James Herron (Mary Angelica), Peterborough; three sons, John F., Ennismore; Dr. Robert J., Peterborough; and Clinton B., Douro; five sisters, Mrs. Elizabeth Cavanagh, Peterborough; Rev. The funeral will be held Tuesday from the home of her son, Dr. R. J. Young, 385 Stewart St., to Immaculate Conception Church for requiem mass at 9:30 a.m. Burial will be in St. Martin's cemetery, Ennismore.

JOHN GORDON WILEY

John Gordon Wiley, 63, 693 Park St. N., died in hospital Sunday following a lengthy illness.

Mr. Wiley was born in Adelaide, Australia, son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Thomas A. Wiley and has lived in Peterborough for the past 11 years. Formerly he lived in Tornto and Australia.

He was night leader in the cleaning department of the CGE until November of this year. He was a member of St. Paul's Presbyterian Church.

He leaves his wife, the former Marie Cassan; twin daughters, Louise and Lorranie, and two sons, Malcolm and Bruce, all at home.

The funeral will be held Wednesday at 3:30 p.m. from the Comstock funeral home. The Rev. C. G. Boyd of St. Paul's Presbyterian Church will conduct the service. Burial will be in Little Lake cemetery.

More than 150 children of Peterborough Canoe Co. employees attended their party held at the YMCA assembly room. The program, including films, treats, and gifts, lasted a little more than two hours.

Magician Ted Bradshaw provided entertainment for the party sponsored by the Quaker Oats Fellowship Association. With films and singing led by Stan Leggett, plus gifts and candy, the children had a full afternoon at the Queen Mary auditorium.

Western Clock employees' children were present in strength—307 of them—at the company cafeteria for a party sponsored by the company and the social and athletic committee.

Toys presented to them ranged from miniature construction sets to bows and arrows and cut-outs: Christmas cartoon films were shown.

St. John's school was the scene for the Christmas party of the Brinton-Peterborough Carpet Co. employees' club. About 120 children were there, and sleighs, dolls and bags of candy were the gifts presented. Magician Bob MacDougall provided entertainment.

Five hundred children and parents attended the Canada Packers Christmas party held Saturday morning at the Capitol theatre. Santa Claus distributed 364 stockings and gifts. Films were shown and the Foreman's Club band, dressed in comic suits, put on a stunt and led in carol singing. Miss B. Pomeroy was piano accompanist. Fred Innes, plant superintendent, and Alf Barber, union president, assisted Santa in distributing presents.

RCAF Does Best For 2 Wounded

OTTAWA (CP) — Christmas at home is as certain as the RCAF can make it for two wounded Korea veterans. Now it's up to the weather man.

A special plane is waiting at nearby Rockcliffe airport to carry home Pte. M. J. Barrette of Chatham, and Pte. L. J. Crawford of London, Ont. As soon as the weather clears in western Ontario, the men will be on their way to London — and home.

The two stretcher cases got as far as Trenton aboard a hospital plane Sunday. The plane was forced to land there because of bad flying conditions at Toronto. The men were brought back here.

The RCAF said the London airport reports clear weather but a flight can't be risked until an alternative airport in western Ontario also reports clear weather.

Charge Mayor Neglects Drive

TORONTO (CP) — Two United Church of Canada leaders today charged Mayor Allan Lamport with neglecting to lead the city's Christmas safe-driving campaign.

The Rev. J. R. Mutchmor, general secretary of social services and evangelism said the campaign had flagged.

The Rev. F. L. Brailey, chairman of the Toronto conference committee on evangelism and social service, said "reports reaching me indicate an apparent slowdown in the 'if you drink don't drive' program."

Mayor Lamport said the charges were "an insult to the people working so hard on this very campaign, particularly the Toronto police."

Acting Traffic Inspector Robert Kerr said "We're knocking them cold and that's the way it's going to be all through Christmas week."

Given 6 Months For Taking Car

MONTREAL (CP) — World newsprint demand and supply have come into approximate balance, the Newsprint Association of Canada said today.

In a booklet, Newsprint data: 1952, issued today, the association estimates total supply for 1952 will be within 10,000 tons of apparent requirements. The booklet was based on data covering more than 100 countries with a combined newsprint consumption exceeding 10,500,000 tons.

The report reviewed world newsprint consumption and production trends for the 1925-52 period, estimated the outlook for 1953 and discussed various factors affecting long - term trends up to 1975.

An increase of roughly 5,300,000 tons in world requirements was foreseen for the 1952-75 period, compared with an increase of 5,200,000 tons in the 1925-52 period.

Between 1925 and 1952, world newsprint production increased by around 5,200,000 tons in reaching its estimated 1952 level of 10,700,000 tons. The growth of the Canadian newsprint industry alone accounted for slightly more than 4,000,000 tons of the increase.

Think Early Christian Wrote Sign Found On Roman Wall

By PARTICK CROSSE

ROME (Reuters)—A young Italian medical student has unearthed what is claimed to be Christianity's oldest known inscription, a modest sign scratched on a Roman wall by a man or woman who probably knew both Saint Peter and Saint Paul.

Ezio Cannata, 22, a Roman medical student, in a new digging under the palace of the Flavian emperors, came upon the writing of a Christian who had survived the ferocious persecutions of Nero in which both Peter and Paul died. The unknown Christian was perhaps one of those mentioned by Paul in his letter to the Philippians.

Cannata has translated the inscription to read:

"Received the bread in the light; Christ received April 30 of the year 78."

If Cannata's reading is correct, the inscription was made by a man or woman living in the palace of the Caesars.

IN CAESAR'S TIMES

Saint Paul, writing from his prison in Rome to the Christian colony at Philippi, sent greetings from the Christians he and Saint Peter had converted in the empire's capital.

"All the saints salute you," he said, "chiefly they that are of Caesar's household."

Shortly afterwards he was butchered, presumably as were most of the Christians of the imperial palace.

The Roman historian Tacitus has left a description of this persecution, staged by Nero to convince his subjects that it was not he but the Christians who set fire to Rome.

Tacitus wrote: "Nero tried and punished with the most refined tortures those hated maled malefactors who the vulgar call Christians, after Christ who, during the reign of Tiberius, was crucified by Pontius Pilate. . .

PUBLIC KILLINGS

"They were killed amidst mockery. . .Nero lent his gardens for these spectacles. . .He watched, dressed as a charioteer or mixing unobserved with the crowd."

This occurred a little more than 12 years before the unknown writer commemorated having received holy communion.

It is more than 100 years older than the famous inscription found in 1882 in western Turkey. This, hitherto the oldest testimony of the eucharist, was the epitaph of the bishop of Gerapolis. Part of it read "and everywhere the faith guided me. . .(The church) takes and gives to eat to her friends every day, having an excellent wine, which is mixed with water together with the bread."

Weary Britons Hope For New Trouble—Shooting Deal

By EDWIN S. JOHNSON

LONDON (CP)—War-weary Britons look to 1953 for a new deal in trouble-shooting. They cling to hopes that the new year will bring a halt to recurring international crises and relief from mounting burdens of an uneasy, armed peace.

With the growing strength of the Western powers, Allied leaders said the defiant attitude of Soviet Russia has moderated. But they said it would be disastrous to place too optimistic a view on the improved situation as Europe had not yet reached a state of security.

The actual war potential of the Communist alignment still remains a closely-guarded secret. But the Russians alone are reported to have at least 175 well-trained and equipped divisions ready to strike. Another 60 divisions, of doubtful offensive value, military experts say, could be raised in satellite ccuntries. It is also said that the Reds could muster some 20,000 tanks and more than 25,000 planes for frontline duty.

GRADUAL BUILD-UP

Measured against this might, the barrier erected in Western Europe by the 14 countries comprising the North Atlantic Treaty Organization is acknowledged to be far from adequate.

The Western powers, despite increasing internal problems, have slowly built up a unified land force of some 26 divisions, backed by an expanding reserve and undisclosed power capable of speedy mobilization in an emergency.

The actual goal for the current year was set at 50 divisions, a program which was reviewed at the recent NATO meetings in Paris.

The Allied air force came close to its 1952 target of 4,000 planes. In this buildup Britain played a major role with Canada contributing the nucleus of her promised 12 fighter squadrons for service in continental Europe.

Work has also proceeded at top speed on a network of about 100 airfields, including the Canadian operational base at Gros Tenquin, near the Saarland frontier. Two more fields are to be laid down by Canada.

GREAT SEA POWER

Bolstered by the combined power of the British and United States navies the North Atlantic countries have an overwhelming advantage at sea.

In the general scheme of preparedness, all branches of the Allied forces engaged in local and largescale manoeuvres during the year. Canada's 27th infantry brigade, on duty in Germany for more than a year, Canadian naval units and RCAF airmen played a prominent part in these operations.

In the atomic field Britain exploded her first atom bomb at Monte Bello Island, off the northwest coast of Australia. United States scientists in the Pacific were reported to have set off the first-ever hydrogen blast. Other new and highly-secret weapons, guided missiles and faster-than-sound aircraft contributed to the growing strength of the West.

Old Document Donated

OTTAWA (CP)—Canada's public archives has acquired an ancient document—a fragment of early Canadian history—written by one of the men who helped make history.

The author was the Baron de Lahontan, a voluntary exile from France who spent 10 years in Canada from 1683 to 1693 and wrote several treatises on Canada—the New France of that day.

The document was donated to the archives by W. A. Mather, president of the Canadian Pacific Railway. It is related to several other manuscripts in the archives, written by Lahontan, which were donated 12 years ago by Lady Oakes, widow of the late Sir Harry Oakes.

One of the Oakes documents contains an outline to the British government of a plan to capture Quebec and Placentia. In it Lahontan referred to a previous memorandum explaining "with what ease the English can waste and ruin the trade of the French by the establishment of a fort on Lake Erie."

Thieves Smash Safe Get $7,875 Loot

MONTREAL (CP) — Thieves broke into the head office of Supreme Bread Limited in broad daylight Saturday, smashed a safe and fled with $7,875 in a company-owned jeep.

U.K. Climbers Hope To Reach Everest Peak

LONDON (AP)—Sixteen British climbers hope to reach the unconquered top of Mount Everest next year by better planning than ever has gone into a mountaineering exploit.

Two military men used to operational staff work have been given the job of masterminding Britain's 1953 assault on the world's highest mountain early next spring. They are going about the job with the same detailed care that the Allies put into operation Overlord before invading Europe in 1944.

Every man's place on the ground is being worked out in advance, every piece of equipment tested and re-tested, every move charted to big-scale maps.

Seven times since 1922 the world's toughest climbers have pitted themselves against the silent snows and howling winds of Everest. Seven times the grim mountain has hurled man back, killing several ranking climbers and Himalayan porters.

NOTHING USEFUL

Getting to the top of the empty mountain would serve no useful purpose. But the inanimate fury of the mountain's defences makes restless man more determined to reach the summit and live to tell the tale.

Mountain climbers, when asked why they want to scale it, are wont to reply: "Because it is there."

No one figures for sure just how high Everest is. The official Indian figure is 29,002 feet, but a Swiss party reported last July the mountain is growing and that their figure for its elevation now is 29,610 feet.

Last Quad Dies

ROME (Reuters)—The last of quadruplets—all boys—born Friday to a Rome car mechanic's wife died Sunday. The other three died Saturday. The mother, 33-year-old Fernanda Ferrante, is reported doing well. Fernanda and her husband, Gatano, 36, have two other children.

NEW APPOINTMENTS—The Republican Administration-elect is adding Marion B. Folsom (left) as Under-secretary of the Treasury, and W. Randolph Burgess (right) as Special Deputy to Secretary of Treasury on debt and monetary policies. Folsom is treasurer of Eastman Kodak Co.; Burgess is an executive of New York's National City Bank.

Choose Prayer Partner

The vice-president, Mrs. Stewart Hardy, and the Rev. G. H. Barke offered prayer. The 16 members present chose as a prayer partner one of the South African missionaries. Mrs. Russell Wells read two interesting letters from Carrie Hazzard telling of her visit to Bombay and Calcutta. Wilbert Jones gave a talk from the study book on South Arfica.

Clara Dewy presented a felto-gram study on "The Star." Beverley Bonter contributed a poem and Mrs. Ritchie Wells took a short reading, "How Far Is It To Bethlehem?"

Animals Blessed

SYDNEY, Australia (Reuters)—Nearly 100 cats, dogs, rabbits, chickens and other birds sat with their owners in St. Mark's Anglican Church here Sunday for the annual "Christmas blessing of household pets." The Rev. C. Oliver said animals were the first creatures to behold the infant Jesus and it was only right they should be included in man's homage at Christmas time.

Two Student Navigators Have Adventure Story Now

WINNIPEG (CP)—Two NATO student navigators who escaped injury in a crash landing in the backwoods of northwestern Ontario have special Christmas presents and adventure stories for the folks back home.

The two, Acting PO B. W. Clegg, RAF, Oldham, England, and Flight Cadet H. Ollivier, French Air Force, Paris, arrived back at No. 1 air navigation school Saturday in a rescue plane. They carried beaded mocassins and trinkets, bought from Indians who congregated with dog teams around their plane when it was forced down Friday by engine trouble on Deer lake, 232 miles northeast of here.

FO Roy G. Saunders of Brockville, Ont., pilot, said one of the expediter's two engines began to "run rough" during a training flight. His map showed a Hudson's Bay post at the lake, 10 miles away in the sparsely-settled bush.

He first brought the plane down in a precautionary landing to test the ice, took off and landed again. The wheel-equipped craft swerved sideways and stopped with its nose against the lake's bank. Damage was slight.

The men stayed the night with the Hudson's Bay post manager, Ian Cruickshank, until their radio report brought another plane to pick them up.

Not Music But Snores

SAN MATEO, Calif. (AP)—Radio listeners tuned in on a local rise and shine program Sunday morning and instead of brisk morning chatter got an earful of snores. They called up the sheriff, who sent a man to station KVSM. He woke up disc jockey Jerry Leeds, asleep beside the open microphone, and told him to rise and shine.

Don't let an ACCIDENT spoil your Holiday!

Christmas and The New Year again usher in a season of festivity and good fellowship.

As in the past it will also be marked by increased dangers — more traffic, more hours of darkness, slippery roads, and holiday haste and impatience.

I appeal to Ontario citizens to overcome these added hazards by greater care and common sense when walking or driving.

LONG DISTANCE is always "rushed" at Christmas. So many people want to greet absent friends and families that delays on many calls are simply unavoidable.

Calls reach their peak Christmas Eve and Christmas Day. Then, even though every switchboard is manned to capacity and every operator is working at top speed, delays will occur. And some calls to distant points like the far West, the Maritimes and south of the border may not get through at all.

That's why it's a good idea to call before the rush.

Please remember—that Long Distance calls will go through much faster before Christmas Eve and after Christmas Day. It always helps if you can give your Long Distance operator the out-of-town number you are calling.

6 Convicts Escape Through Tunnel; Scour Northwest

WALLA, WALLA, Wash. (AP)—Six tough, patient convicts who scooped out 12 tons of dirt in boring a 200-foot tunnel under the Washington state prison walls were hunted through the Pacific northwest today. Seven made the spectacular escape early Monday. One, Ralph Courser, 45, was captured in Portland, Ore., six hours later. The manhunt for the fugitives was one of the region's greatest. It centred in the Portland area, where police believed at least three other escapees headed with Courser in a car stolen from Walla Walla.

Courser was alone when he was spotted by Portland police, and wounded in the neck as he tried to flee on foot. He was tight-lipped at first, but later said he left all his companions in Walla Walla, 200 miles east of Portland.

DANGEROUS MEN

The six convicts still at large were described by prison officials as dangerous and "maximum security" prisoners.

The break astounded prison authorities who said the men must have worked for months digging out the dirt a cupful or handful at a time.

The tunnel, about 15 inches in diameter, began in an ash pit near the prison powerhouse and came out near a guards' tower on the north wall. The dirt was scattered each day with the ashes and carted away.

One of the escapees, Bob Palmer, has vowed he will never be taken alive.

Haven't Found Reason For Air Crash

MOSES LAKE, Wash. (AP)—As the death list in Saturday's C-124 crash here rose to 87 today, the air force announced that a preliminary inquiry had failed to disclose the cause of history's worst aviation disaster.

The air force announcement, made in Washington, also said the preliminary probe at the scene failed to show any reason why an order for grounding the big C-124 Globemaster transports should be issued.

There has been such a suggestion from at least one congressional critic of the series of recent military transport crashes in the Pacific northwest, Alaska and Korea.

LAST OF CREW DIES

The C-124 crashed during a predawn takeoff Saturday as a "Christmas special." Out of the 116 aboard, 104 were servicemen on their way home for holiday leaves. Some were just back from Korea.

Memorial services for the victims were scheduled here today.

The 87th man to die, and the only injured man to succumb since the day of the crash, was the only member of the 12-man crew who came out of the crash alive.

Lamb Appointed New Librarian

OTTAWA (CP)—The government has announced further steps toward establishment of a national library for Canada, which probably will be speeded because of fire damage to the collection of the Library of Parliament.

Prime Minister St. Laurent Monday announced the appointment of Dr. W. Kaye Lamb, 48, Dominion archivist, as national librarian, effective Jan. 1. Assistant to him, effective June 1 next, will be Dr. Raymond Tanghe, librarian of the University of Montreal.

A 14-member advisory council for the library has been appointed to assist Dr. Lamb, who already has drafted plans for the national institution. During the last four years, Dr. Lamb said, a lot of work has been done, including the cataloguing of about 2,500,000 books.

Appointed to the advisory council for four years are Isabel Cummings, Regina, former chief librarian in the federal agriculture departmental library; H. Newell, librarian of the Gosling Memorial Library, St. John's, Nfld.; and Canon Stanley Walker, president of the University of King's College, Halifax.

Lack Of Nurses Delays Hospital

PORT PERRY (CP) — Lack of nurses may delay the scheduled Jan. 7 opening of a new $131,000 hospital here.

"We've advertised and offered wages higher than paid by hospitals of a similar size (29 beds) but the response has been discouraging," said Frances Hinks, superintendent.

Designed to serve some 8,000 district residents, the building ws brought to this community about 15 miles north of Oshawa from Ajax, near Toronto. It was transported in 18 sections at a total cost of $400.

"We are starting to run this institution without the hard, fast and frequently unpleasant formality that is the policy of city hospitals," Miss Hinks said.

Barrage Of Fruit Greets Chaplin

Most of them cheered and applauded as Chaplin stepped from his car in front of the brilliantly-lighted theatre. But as he waved and smiled apples, oranges, broccli and cabbages flew out of the crowd.

Chaplin was struck several times in the body, but continued to smile and walked on into the theatre.

Report Head-on Train Crash

ALLENDALE (CP) — A head-on the Canadian National Railways was reported to divisional offices here shortly after noon today. A wrecking crew left immediately for the scene, 10 miles north of Washago and some 80 miles north of Toronto. No details were available.

First reports were that the trains involved were freights. There was no indication whether anyone was killed or injured.

Troop Concentration Pounded By Planes

SEOUL (AP)—Another Russian-built MiG jet fighter was shot down today as four Allied Sabre jets clashed briefly with eight of the Red planes.

The fight, at 45,000 feet, was the only one reported today. The kill was made by Lieut. John A. Inferrera, Watertown, Mass., who was flying his 98th mission. He now has downed two MiGs and damaged one.

Allied planes hit a troop concentration area in northwest Korea near Chaeryong. Other planes bombed the east airfield at the Red capital, Pyongyang. Pilots reported the Reds were trying to repair the strip.

Communist troop and supply centres near Pyongyang were hit Monday night by 12 B-29 Superforts. The B-29s also bombed a section of the main rail line running north to Manchuria.

Former King Farouk Will Lose Nationality

CAIRO (Reuters)—Former King Farouk will lose his Egyptian nationality under a new law against corruption, it was learned authoritatively Monday night.

He will be tried in absentia for "abuse of constitutional prerogatives" and "corruption of political life in Egypt."

The government law passed Sunday night indicted a number of unnamed officials for amassing illicit fortunes, misappropriation of funds and abuse of power.

An official spokesman said they would be tried by a special military court and no appeal would be allowed against its verdict.

Ground Crew Training As Infantry

Four RAF Officers Training Canadian Airmen

OTTAWA (CP)—The RCAF is turning its ground crews and clerks into a part-time infantry corps trained to defend air force bases from enemy attack.

The air force magazine, Roundel, said today "intensive training of RCAF personnel for every aspect of ground defence is now well advanced."

It disclosed that four RAF officers have been directing formation of a ground defence branch whose job it is to teach ground crews and clerks—but not airwomen—how to fight the way the infantry fights.

A brief editor's note introducing an article by Wing Cmdr. A. M. Blake, senior officer among the four Britons, says there is "at present" no intention of forming an RCAF regiment as such.

MAY HAVE COUNTER PART

However, in the article Wing Cmdr. Blake says there may soon appear in the RCAF either a counterpart of the RAF regiment or a security organization responsible for light anti-aircraft defence and the security and ground defence of RCAF units in Europe.

The RAF regiment is responsible for light anti-aircraft defence of British air bases.

The article says Canada is following the U.K. and U.S. in getting set to defend air bases with Air Force personnel. It says efforts were made to get the Canadian Army to take on the training job, but the Army hadn't the officers and non-commissioned officers available. So the four Britons were brought over.

"All personnel of the Air Force, except airwomen and personnel of the medical, dental and chaplain branches, are categorized as combatant personnel and are available to take part in active ground defence."

Instruction comes from the RAF regiment in England, from the school of chemical warfare at Camp Borden and the RCAF's ground defence school at Borden.

700 Orphans Given Party

HANNOVER, Germany (Reuters)—More than 700 German orphans are being entertained at Christmas parties given by the Canadian 27th infantry brigade this week.

Some individual units held their parties Sunday. Some were held Monday, and the rest are today.

Monday it was the 1st Canadian Highland battalion's turn to play host. Under the benevolent supervision of the unit's commander, Lt.-Col. H. A. Parker of Oakville, Ont., some 100 orphans were feted in the mess hall.

But in less time than it takes to say "Christmas," the small fry were munching goodies, admiring the big candle-lit Christmas tree or playing pick-a-back with the soldiers.

1 Dead, 14 Hurt As Bomb Tossed In Bar

NEW YORK (AP)—Three young servicemen—one of whom police said wanted to "show these Spics something"—discharged a phosphorus bomb in a crowded tavern early today. The action touched off events which brought death to one of them and injuries to 14 others.

Thirteen of the injured were in the tavern.

A few minutes later, and eight blocks away, police shot and fatally wounded one of the servicemen, identified as Marine Sgt. James Eugene McDermott 19. He died in a hospital.

During the chase and scuffle which led to the capture of McDermott and one of his companions, a patrolman allegedly was knifed by McDermott to bring the injured count to 14.

Only three of the 14 injured, including a federal narcotics agent and a second patrolman, both hurt in the blast, were kept at hospitals after treatment.

GREAT BIGOTRY

Police said bigotry detonated the violence in an upper west side Manhattan area partly inhabited by a large number of Puerto Ricans. Eight of those injured in the bar had Spanish names.

Officials said the three servicemen—a sailor in uniform and an airman and marine, both in civilian clothes—were drinking in the bar when one of the trio pulled out the

Guns Stolen At RCAF Base

LONDON, Ont. (CP) — Between six and eight revolvers, a sten gun and a quantity of ammunition have been stolen from RCAF station, Centralia, it was learned today.

Inspector Frank Scott, of the Mount Forest provincial police, said the guns and ammunition were reported missing from a stores house on the air force grounds sometime during the night last Sunday.

He said the thefts included nine revolvers, a quantity of ammunition for the pistols and the sten gun.

Provincial police and RCAF security police have been investigating the thefts since they were discovered. Police said the investigation is headed by provincial constables Elmer Zimmerman and Cecil Gibbons of Exeter.

Air force personnel refused to comment for "security reasons" but provincial police said the investigation is confined to the air base itself.

Premier Signals Opening Of Mine

MARMORA (Staff)—Twenty thousand tons of earth and rock was thrown skywards Monday afternoon as Premier Leslie Frost waved the red flag that signalled the official opening of the new Marmoraton Mine. Two-and-a-half tons of dynamite were ignited in a single blast and an ear-shattering roar shook the snow-covered countryside. A thick cloud of rock and dust appeared where a cliff had been.

Already more than 50 feet deep, the open pit will in time yield more than 20,000,000 tons of low grade iron ore, mine officials expect. But before the ore can be moved, a 20,000,000-ton limestone cap, 90 feet thick in places, will have to be removed.

Company officials expect that little ore will be removed before the middle of 1954, although 700,000 tons of overburden are being trucked out each month. The company will spend about $12,000,000 before taking out any ore.

Premier Frost, speaking to a small audience in Marmora's theatre, renewed a prediction he has made before other audiences with a great deal of enthusiasm.

He said the development at Marmora strengthened his prediction that much of Ontario's future in mining lay in the low-grade ore areas of the eastern part of the province.

Magnetometer surveys were taken by the Ontario government three years ago, and following the release of maps made from these survey flights, the Bethlehem Steel Corporation optioned several hundred acres around Marmora.

More recent surveys indicate three more ore bodies within 15 miles of the village, and, said the premier, Bethlehem Steel had indicated its interest in these properties.

Harold Rickaby, deputy minister of mines for Ontario, predicted that the future of Eastern Ontario

Boat Marooned 7 Hours On Bay

LITTLE CURRENT (CP) — A 28-year-old woman, expecting a bby, spent seven hours in a small boat on storm-tossed Georgian Bay Monday before she could be brought to hospital in this Manitoulin Island town for the birth.

Minutes after her arrival a seven pound child was born prematurely to Mrs. Arthur Noble of Killarney.

The motor on the boat stopped operating about two miles from here and the craft tossed about in sub-freezing weather. A neighbor on bord administered drugs to Mrs. Noble to keep the child from being born in the boat.

A 30-mile-an-hour wind splashed water over the gunwales and coated the deck with ice.

The first boat in which the party set out from Killarney, 23 miles from here, piled up on rocks. Mrs. Noble was carried to shore and a bigger vessel obtained for the journey.

Blackmailed Court Swede Jailed 8 Years

STOCKHOLM (Reuters)—Stockholm business man Kurt Haijby, 56, Monday was sentenced to eight years at hard labor for blackmailing officials in the court of Sweden's King Gustav V who died in 1950 at the age of 92.

Haijby was charged with blackmail after he alleged that court officials had him illegally committed to a mental home and imprisoned to hush up his association with the King.

A government investigation cleared the officials and said Haijby was sent to a mental hospital for sexual offences against two schoolboys. Haijby was tried behind closed doors in the most secret blackmail trial in Sweden's history.

Sweden's biggest evening newspaper, Expressen, made this comment on the case: "Haijby himself described the sums as damages he received for sufferings and injustices caused him as the result of an intimate connection with King Gustaf V."

Last Of Survivors Reach Safety After 30 Drowned

BEIRUT, Lebanon (CP)—The remaining passengers and crew were removed today from the French liner Champollion to end their 24-hour nightmare aboard the stricken vessel aground on a reef. The passengers and crew were taken off a few hours after 20 of those aboard the vessel jumped overboard and died in a desperate attempt to swim to shore. Fifty others who jumped over the boatside made it safely. Ten more deaths occurred when a lifeboat capsized.

The French liner is aground only 500 yards from shore with a wide split across her middle. Misinterpretation of shore beacons landed her there early Monday.

High seas handicapped efforts of small boats to take off those aboard but gradually the 108 passengers and 220 crew members—less these drowned—were brought to shore until the all clear signal was flashed from the Royal Navy cruiser Kenya which is standing by. A message from the cruiser said that the passengers were rescued "with great skill" in a heavy surf.

Three woman and a 10-year-old boy were among those succeeding in their attempt to swim to shore.

The sea was still as rough as it was yesterday when the liner went aground on its voyage from Marseille to Beirut. The gales had weakened, however.

HEADED FOR HARBOR

Skies today were partly cloudy. The first small craft able to nudge alongside the stricken liner and take off passengers was Beirut port's pilot ship. It loaded 15 passengers, mostly women and headed for Beirut harbor four miles away, it was reported by Reuters correspondent Kamel Mrowa.

About the same time, a small motor launch put out from the surf-pounded beach, successfully made the 500 yards to the grounded and split vessel, and brought back seven passengers. It then turned back for another load.

The rescued passengers were shivering and showed signs of shock. They were taken to hospitals.

Ten bodies were washed ashore when a lifeboat made a desperate attempt to reach shore but capsized. The survivors were saved by Lebanese Army champion swimmers, coastguard men and volunteers.

Two Canadians, a Roman Catholic priest and a woman, both Montrealers, are believed aboard the French vessel Champolion, breaking up in rough seas off the coast of Lebanon.

Cancel 68 Flights During Malton Fog

TORONTO (CP) — Malton airport stirred back to life early today, nearly two days after a thick fog closed in and grounded all aircraft.

The fog cleared in the early hours, and at 7:40 a.m. the first westbound flight in more than 40 hours took off for Winnipeg.

Trans-Canada Air lines, which cancelled 68 flights during the period, began laying on extra aircraft to handle the heavy holiday flow, in addition to 1,000 passengers delayed here.

U. S.-bound passengers on American Airlines were transported to Buffalo in limousines. The airline restored normal schedules today.

New Immigration Act In U.S. Becomes Law

WASHINGTON (AP) — The new United States immigration act, which has plowed a rough sea since its launching three years ago, becomes law at midnight tonight amid signs of fresh storms ahead in the new Congress.

Known as the McCarran-Walter General Immigration Act, it was passed over President Truman's veto and roundly attacked by President-elect Eisenhower. Its sponsors are Senator Pat McCarran (Dem. Nev.) and Francis E. Walter (Dem. Pa.).

When Congress started working on it in 1949 the legislation was aimed at simplifying the laws which say how foreigners may enter the United States for a visit or to live. The ensuing controversy has turned up some pretty complex angles.

Attorney-General James P. McGranery has said the law is full of "ambiguities and defects." McGranery, who supervises the immigration and naturalization service, forecast serious problems of administration and enforcement.

PROTEST PROVISIONS

McGranery and other administration spokesmen already have urged rewriting the law, as have Truman and Eisenhower and leaders of many church and professional groups. Some foreign countries are protesting some provisions.

Particularly assailed has been the section which retains the present system of immigration quotas, based on the national origins of the U. S. population in 1920.

The immigration service last week published a 136,000-word revision of its regulations, making them conform to the new law. But its lawyers said some interpretations will be tested in lawsuits.

While keeping the national origins quota system, the new law

Japanese End 5-Day Strike

TOKYO (CP) — About 14,000 Japanese civilian employees at British Commonwealth bases throughout Japan ended their five-day strike today when commonwealth authorities granted their demands for a wage increase and year-end bonus.

The workers will receive a 20-per-cent increase in pay and an end-of-year bonus equal to about 26 days' pay.

A union spokesman said that Lt.-Gen. William Bridgeford, the Commonwealth forces commander, talked throughout the night with Setsuo Yamada, union chairman, to get the strike settled.

The strike turned Canadian and other Commonwealth troops into house-maids, cooks, sweepers, laborers and boilermen — all jobs usually done by the Japanese.

Plane Hits Transport Killing 13 In Korea

There was only one survivor—the pilot of the transport plane.

The C-47, preparing to take off, was manned by four members of the Royal Hellenic Air Force. It was a U.S.-Air Force plane.

The transport, with eight patients aboard, had just picked up the ninth at the air strip when the crash occurred.

It was the fourth serious plane accident in Korea since Oct. 16. A C-46 transport carried 25 men to death on that date. On Nov. 14 a C-54 smashed into a hillside near Seoul, killing 44. Eleven men were killed and seven rescued from the east coast crash of a C-46 next day.

Keep It Informal

Queen At Sandringham For Traditional Christmas

By JAMES NORTHCOTT

SANDRINGHAM, Eng. (Reuters)—The Queen arrived here Monday with her children for the traditional Royal Christmas gathering in the rambling, red-brick house on their country estate.

For the benefit of young Prince Charles and Princess Anne it will be a cheerful, informal family affair, away from the strict etiquette of official duties.

But there will be a sad note as it is recalled that last year King George VI was still with them.

The young prince will be encouraged to enjoy himself opening presents, playing games. For soon it will be time to begin his training for his future role.

And from then on, even at Christmas time, he will never quite be able to forget that he is the future king.

The family presents, laid out around a Christmas tree in the oak-panelled hall, will be handed around after breakfast on Christmas.

In the afternon the Queen gives the traditional Royal Christmas speech from her study at Sandringham, broadcasting to the Commonwealth. The broadcast, scheduled for 3 p.m., London time, will be heard in Canada at 10 a.m. EST.

When the children are in bed the grown-ups will have dinner and sing around the piano, usually played by Princess Margaret.

Holds Yule Party Early

Now Extra Mad At Law May Delay Jail Sentence

COVENTRY, England (AP) — Derek Pickering, the man of principle on paying parking fines, was extra mad at the law today—he may not get into jail for Christmas.

Pickering prefers prison to paying a fine of £2 for parking his car without lights overnight in front of his home on a dead-end street. Today is the deadline for coughing up or going to the pokey for two weeks.

So Pickering prepared himself to spend Christmas in prison. He called in 25 of his pals and threw an ale and pork pie party Monday night. Then he polished up his belt-driven 1912 motorcyclye and announced he was ready to drive to Birmingham and knock on the prison gates this morning.

But prison authorities said they were unable to "promise that committal will be issued befor Christmas Day." A. N. Murdoch, chief clerk to the Coventry magistrates, explained that one just can't go knocking on prison gates demanding entry. The proper procedure, he said, was to surrender to the authorities, who would handle the entrance into the jail.

"My wife, who supports me to the end, fixed her Christmas shopping," he declared. "It's all settled as far as I am concerned. And now it seems they are going to mess it all up by not letting me in when I want to go."

Pickering insists the £2 fine is outrageous. He claims he should have received a police warning—and that's all. He'd been parking there for 13 years and nobody complained before.

Avalanche Kills 23 In Austria

Busload of Skiers Mostly Britons Hurled Into Stream

BREGENZ, Austria (AP) — An avalanche roaring down Austria's Arlberg Pass Monday night smashed a busload of Christmas holiday skiers into an Alpine stream and killed 23 of the 31 passengers. Most of them were Britons and police said 13 of the dead were women.

The bus was crossing a bridge over the Patuer-Robel gulley when the terrific air pressure generated by the snowslide hurled the big vehicle into the stream 18 feet below and partly buried it under a mass of snow and rock, police said.

The skiers had just arrived at Langen in Western Austria aboard an express train, and were headed for the fashionable winter resort villages of Zuers, Lech and others in the area. Police said they believed most of the skiers were members of a British travel group.

RESCUE WORK ON

Rescue workers rushed to the scene and removed the dead to the Church of St. Theresia in Langen. The injured—four of them in serious condition—were taken to hospitals in Langen and St. Anton.

The upper part of the Arlberg Pass in the Alps has been closed to motor traffic for some time because of the danger of avalanches. But the area where the bus tragedy occurred has been open for transporting skiers to the picturesque mountain villages.

The accident occurred shortly before 7 p.m. The bus was regularly scheduled over a route travelled yearly by thousands of winter sports enthusiasts.

Many on board were young couples and there were some children. One report said a father lost three children as the bus toppled off the bridge.

LUNG INJURY

Those who died showed signs of lung injury caused by the air pressure, police said.

The bus driver escaped injury. He made his way to Langen, where he called police and rescue squads. They found the vehicle lying on its side, partly covered by piles of snow and rocks.

Austria's chancellor, Dr. Leopold Figl, expressed his sympathy and requested the civil governor of Vorarlberg province to give every possible aid to those involved in this year's biggest Alpine disaster.

Capture Seguin In B.C. Town

WILLIAMS LAKE, B.C. (CP)—RCMP Inspector H. J. Spanton said Monday Henry Seguin probably will be returned to Ontario to face a murder charge.

However, RCMP headquarters at Victoria added that it will be up to Attorney-General Robert Bonner to decide whether Seguin is tried here for attempted murder or in Ontario for murder.

Seguin is recovering from a gunshot wound in the chest after he was hunted down and felled by an RCMP posse last week.

His capture and the attempted murder charge followed the wounding of Leonard Hillier, manager of the Bank of Commerce branch in this Caribou district town 350 miles north of Vancouver.

RCMP said Seguin is wanted on a charge of murder in the Aug. 16 slaying of taxi owner Leonard Hurd of Maxville, Ont.

His arrest came after he shot it out with three RCMP officers. Earlier he was alleged to have shot Hillier in the hip while trying to rob the bank.

Court Dismisses Driving Charge

A charge of careless driving against Frank Andrews of Norwood was dismissed today when Magistrate W. R. Philp found insufficient evidence to convict, but evidence of negligence by both parties involved in the accident.

Mr. Andrews was charged after an accident Nov. 27 in which his car and an auto driven by Mrs. Norman Lean, Trent River, collided on the Norwood-Hastings road at dusk.

Mrs. Lean, who was driving with her daughter, admitted she had been driving without lights, but insisted that Mr. Andrews' car was over the centre line of the road. Mr. Andrews said he had been on his own side, and that Mrs. Lean had been over the centre line.

After the accident, the front of the Andrews car was about two feet over the centre line on the wrong side, and the Lean car was on its own side of the road.

Magistrate Philp implied that a civil suit would answer the purpose, and he felt that both drivers should have been charged instead of merely one. T. J. Carley, QC, acted for the defence and Alexander Fleming for the crown.

Some of the other features:

The quota system, dating to 1924 and admitting 155,000 aliens for permanent residence each year, also adds a priority setup. This gives first call on half of each country's quota each month to persons with special skills needed by the United States.

The ban on admissions of Communists and other subversives is made more specific. But there is no prohibition against Nazis, Fascists, Falangists and similar persons who otherwise meet admission requirements.

A master index of all border crossings, reported at 100,000,000 last year counting "repeats," will be kept in Washington.

Aliens convicted of two or more offences, other than political, involving as much as five-year sentences, will be excluded.

Farm Income Shows Drop For 9 Months

OTTAWA (CP) — Cash income received by Canadian farmers totalled $1,840,000,000 in the first nine months of 1952, the bureau of statistics reported today.

This is a decline of more than $35,000,000 from $1,876,000,000 in the same period last year, the bureau said.

The cash comes from the sale of farm products and from payments made by the Canadian wheat board under Western grain pool marketing arrangements.

The two-per-cent drop resulted mostly from a sharp decline in cash from livestock sales and lower wheat board payments. Part of this decline was offset by boosts in Western grain sales.

HIT BY F-M

The livestock industry was hit by foot-and-mouth disease in south Saskatchewan which resulted in closing of the United States market for Canadian livestock and meats. The market will be opened next March 1.

Cash income from grains, seeds and hay during January - September rose to $615,155,000 from $509,696,000 in the similar 1951 period. Wheat board participation and adjustment payments on Western grains were off steeply to $64,600,000 from $184,100,000.

Lower livestock prices, together with smaller marketings of all classes of livestock except hogs, reduced the cash income from livestock and poultry to $560,830,000 from $740,222,000.

Twins' Condition Still Unchanged

CHICAGO (AP) — The condition of the Brodie twins appeared unchanged today from the last four days — Roger still "very precarious," and Rodney "critical."

The 15-month-old boys, the first survivors of a head-to-head surgical separation, remained in oxygen tents in the University of Illinois neuropsychiatric institute.

Roger has been in a coma since the 12-hour and 40-minute operation last Wednesday. Rodney regained consciousness Thursday.

Two off-duty policemen in the vicinity at the time chased the trio to 96th and Broadway, where the marine and airman were caught. The sailor escaped.

Police said this is what happened:

Three patrolmen, on their way home from work, passed by the tavern and noticed the airman hailing a taxi. The officers suspected a holdup and followed the airman, identified as Mark Sutter, 19, into the bar.

WATCHED FROM DISTANCE

Sutter joined his two companions while the patrolmen watched from a distance. The officers said they saw McDermott pull the bomb from his clothes and heard him say:

"I'll show these Spics something."

With that, he pulled the pin from the grenade—used by the armed forces as either an incendiary or flare—and sent it rolling like a ball of fire toward the bar.

The three servicemen then fled and jumped in the taxi.

One of the off-duty policemen, John Dahill, 25, was burned; but the other two—Vincent Beckels, 28, and John Hurson — followed in Beckel's automobile which was parked nearby.

FORCED TO CURB

Beckels and Hurson caught the cab and forced it to the curb. The sailor, later identified as Patrick Shanahan, fled. Sutter surrendered. But McDermott pulled out a hunting knife and slashed Beckels' right hand.

The injured patrolman fell to the street as he managed to fire a shot. The bullet struck McDermott in the head. The two patrolmen had fired three other shots during the chase.

The explosion of the bomb blew all the tavern's windows out and ignited two tavern booths. Most of those injured suffered cuts and burns. The blast rocked the area and sent scores of persons in night clothes into the street from neighboring apartment buildings.

route to the Holy Land for Christmas celebrations, and Mrs. Romeo Boucher, wife of Dr. Romeo Boucher, medical director of St. Luc Hospital here.

Three British planes made unsuccessful attempts to fly over the ship and drop a cable to connect the broken vessel with the shore.

THOUSANDS WATCH

The beach was filled with thousands of spectators who watched the rescue of passengers from the pounding surf by members of the fire brigade from Beirut's international airport.

Most of the other passengers who chose to stay aboard, scrambled desperately for footholds on the stern portion of the 12,546-ton liner as she lay cracked in two on the treacherous reefs.

An RAF plane criss-crossed over the grounded vessel dropping rubber boats on its decks as daybreak brought a resumption of still-unsuccessful rescue operations—closed down Monday night because of darkness.

Port authorities in Haifa reported that the Israeli tug Tzorea radioed that it was standing by the ill-fated liner but was unable to aid in any way because of the continued heavy weather.

Bright sunlight shone on the scene today. The thousands of horrified watchers on the beach could see the battered wreckage heaving and twisting under the massive waves, and hear the pitiful cries of those who trusted themselves to the sea.

A heavy boat with 12 experienced seamen put out from shore at 5:30 a. m., towing a line towards the ship. It inched through the waves, now rising, now dropping Then, only 50 yards from the stricken ship, it overturned, tossing its crew into the water. All managed to struggle back to shore.

BEGAN TO JUMP

At 6 a. m. the passengers started to jump into the oil-covered water.

They had seen that wreckage coming from the ship was being carried to the beach about a mile away. So an estimated 70 of them, their faces black with oil, let themselves drift with the current, the waves tossing them wildly.

Rescue officials saw their plan and cleared that section of the beach to receive them. Firemen volunteers waded knee-deep, waiting for them with ropes. Doctors and nurses set up first-aid posts.

Soon it appeared that the current was pushing this tragic cavalcade toward a mass of rocks usually visible but now covered by water.

The rescuers concentrated on this point, waiting.

It was a horrible scene Some of the swimmers disappeared under the waves.

Soon bodies were seen bobbing inertly on the waves. These were the first to reach shore.

The first body, that of a young woman, was a mutilated mass covered in blood and oil. Four others were soon thrown ashore

FIRST SURVIVORS

By 7:30 the first survivors arrived. Soon afterwards they were swarming over the rocks in dozens. Rescuers threw ropes to pull them clear, but some were too weak to hold on and were thrown back into the sea.

After an hour's desperate struggle 50 were rescued alive. This, with the 20 who reached shore safely Monday, brought the total of survivors to 70.

Until the RAF tried to drop rescue equipment, the only other aid was a French Dakota bomber which tried to drop provisions by parachute. Shallow water prevents ships from approaching close.

Seaman Joy Cile, a survivor, told correspondent Mrowa that the sea had got into the ship's fresh water tanks and that food had been lost when she broke in two.

Some were killed or injured when she cracked, he said.

The passengers were mostly French.

FIERCE GALE

A fierce gale blew the liner, a 25 - year - old veteran of French shipping, on to the reef Monday as she battled toward Beirut. The fierce seas and surf broke her back and sent a wide crack down her amidships section, apparently splitting her apart.

The continuing fury of the storm so far had foiled attempts by air and sea rescuers of at least five countries to begin removal of the threatened hundreds on the ship. The stricken ship was without power and could communicate only by somaphore of blinker light.

McDonald To Be Steel Union Head

PITTSBURGH (AP) — David J. McDonald was assured today of election as the permanent president of the CIO United Steelworkers, succeeding the late Philip Murray.

McDonald, who served as secretary-treasurer of the union during Murray's 12-year tenure, has been acting president since Murray's death Nov. 9.

The USW international office reported that McDonald was nominated for the presidency without opposition. That makes his election in the Feb. 10 referendum a certainty.

Firemen Stand Idle As Steel Plant Burns

BERLIN (Reuters) — West Berlin fire brigades stood idle today on the border of the Soviet zone and watched a steel products factory burn down.

"We are not allowed to cross the border unless the East German authorities call us for assistance," firemen said.

The fire broke out this morning in the Berlin suburb of Staaken, divided by the city boundary into part British sector and part Soviet zone.

Eyewitnesses said the factory burned down, but no casualties were reported. East German policemen put a tight cordon aroumd the site.

Pinay Resigns In Crisis Over Budget

By GODFREY ANDERSON

PARIS (AP)—President Vincent Auriol today began trying to patch up France's creaking government, but it looked as if the country would have another cabinet crisis for Christmas.

Premier Rene Pinay, after nine uneasy months in office, resigned this morning in a dramatic announcement from the National Assembly floor. He acted after the Roman Catholic Mouvement Republicain Populaire, part of his coalition majority in the assembly, refused to back him in the first of three confidence votes on 1953 budget proposals.

PARIS (Reuters) — President Vincent Auriol officially accepted the resignation of Prime Minister Antoine Pinay, handed in earlier today after 10 months in office at the head of a coalition government.

Although he declared after a a.m. interview with the President that his mind was firmly set on resignation, Pinay admitted Auriol had not yet agreed to accept his ministers' portfolios.

"But my decision is taken," he told reporters. "It is not possible to carry such heavy charges and responsibilities without a solid majority."

WILL TRY PERSUASION

Auriol, an old hand at such crises, was expected to try in conferences with political leaders to persuade Pinay to carry on until the country has a balanced budget. The President also may seek to mend the government's broken majority by asking that MRP leaders to put aside party politics in the national interest.

If Pinay stands by his resignation decision, it will mean the end of the 17th government to hold office since the country was liberated from Nazi occupation in 1944.

It means the end, too, to the "Pinay experiment," which aimed at protecting the purchasing power of the franc by fighting devaluation while rolling back prices wherever possible.

It was a new Pinay attempt to give France a balanced budget for next year which finally broke the government's ranks. He had posed confidence motions on three financial proposals but even before the first could be voted, the MRP decided to abstain.

Christmas Concert Held At Roseneath

ROSENEATH (ENS)—A large audience filled the LOL Hall, Roseneath, on Friday evening when the annual Christmas concert of Roseneath school was held. The teachers of this school are: Mrs. Ronald Grant, as principal, and Mrs. Louis King, teacher of the junior room.

Melvyn Harvie, a senior pupil, was chairman and Mrs. Louis King, pianist. A rose rope drill was one of the outstanding numbers on the program by seven girls, with Donna McGrath as leader. Carman Down presented her with a large basket of roses. A parasol drill by the junior room drew rounds of applause, and they responded to an encore, as did a vocal duet by Teddy Broadworth and Carman Down. Other numbers on the program were: Recitations, choruses, two plays, a fashion parade by the girls, a diagram by three boys, a shadowgraph by Fred Duff, Jim Woodruff and Lorna Green.

Milan-Venice Train Derailed; 5 Killed

VERONA, Italy (Reuters) — At least five persons were believed killed today when a Milan-Venice train was derailed near here.

The train was filled with Christmas holiday travellers. One car was smashed to splinters and fire broke out in the wreckage.

Rescue crews were digging into smouldering wreckage for 10 more feared dead. Many were injured.

The train leaped the tracks when the wheels of a second class passenger coach missed an improvised switch. The accident occurred at Santa Lucia, outside Verona.

Magic With Public Gone Fakir Dies Almost Unknown

By WADE JONES

PARIS (NEA) — For the last ten years the fakir Birman had lived in Paris, almost unknown and almost forgotten, manufacturing women's corsets.

But back in the 30's, black-bearded and turbanned, he reigned richly here in a "palace" with Oriental furnishings, many mirrors, shaded lights, and a pool full of baby alligators.

In the palace he sat on a throne of oak and dispensed advice for a price on l'amour and le money to thousands, including many Americans. And when he went out he drove a Mercedes-Benz.

He died violently the other day and many of those who once flocked to him believe the change between the then and the now, between the life of the turbanned fakir and that of the corset maker, helped kill him.

The fakir was born as Charles Fossez 52 years ago in the provincial town of St. Etienne. At 32, he decened on Paris and set up shop as a costumed fakir, of which his version was a sort of combined fortune teller and love-lorn editor.

At first he dealt almost exclusively with personal problems of his clients, handing out secrets for happiness, particularly on affairs of the heart.

When the national lottery was instituted in France in 1934, the fakir Birman entered into a new and vastly more remunerative phase. People began flocking to him for advice on the numbers.

"My mail grew all of a sudden," he once said. "Overnight my clients were more numerous. Only they spoke no more to me of dying of love, but of indigestion from lottery tickets that didn't win."

Entertainers like Maurice Chevalier sang songs about him. His picture was used to sell lottery tickets. He was on the radio, conducted a newspaper column, and appeared on movie screens and at the Tour de France, a bicycle race which is a French national event.

By 1939, the fakir's fortune-telling factory employed 20 secretaries, 65 typists, and he had consoled and scanned the future for 502,062 clients (his own precise figure) at 50 francs a head, or about $1.25.

But in that same year the fakir predicted himself into trouble. The husband of one of his clients sued him and in the resultant court case, the fakir's bubble burst. Or as the French put it, "His cabinet fell."

The fakir Birman made a few theatre appearances after that but his magic with the public was gone. In 1942 he set up the corset making shop with his wife, herself an established woman in the business.

They lived in a handsome apartment, with their workshop in the same building. But the fakir was never the same thereafter. He began to be troubled with nightmares and the fear he was losing his mind.

He tried to commit suicide several times and he was watched closely. But the other night he escaped from his wife, went into an adjoining room and hanged himself from a door with an electric cord.

In the moment of his own greatest need, the man who had given hope to so many could give to himself none.

Too Much Altitude

WASHINGTON (CP) — J. Rives Childs quit his job as United States ambassador to Ethiopia because, he said, he had been subjected to abnormal living conditions including high altitude. Monday the 59-year-old Childs told President Truman in a letter of resignation that he and his wife suffered from the "excessive altitude" in the African country.

Safety Campaign In Sask. Wins Praise

OTTAWA (CP)—The bureau of statistics which usually confines itself to bald statements of fact indulged in some editorializing in a report on motor vehicle accidents, which in 1951 killed more than 46 persons and injured 1,053 every week.

The report praised an intensive safety campaign in Saskatchewan which in 1951 resulted in fewer traffic fatalities than in 1950—the only province to lower fatalities. It also noted that Quebec, with the highest accident rate in Canada, has embarked on compulsory testing of drivers.

Using such phrases as "the lethal force of the modern automobile," the report said that "such safety devices as vehicle testing stations, well-engineered and constructed highways, thorough driver tests, driver education, sensible and adequate traffic laws and strict enforcement are not up to modern standards in many parts of Canada.

SHOWING EFFECTS

"The lack of these measures is showing its effect in the accident reports which flood our daily newspapers, especially after a holiday week-end. Despite repeated editorials and other warnings in the daily press many drivers insist on overtaxing their own driving ability or on underestimating the conditions of car, road or weather which may bring about accidents."

In 1951, motor vehicle accidents totalled 199,69. These resulted in death to 2,686 persons, personal injury to about 39,000, and property damage totalling $35,366,171.

The death rate in Ontario per 10,000 registered vehicles was 8.22 against 7.70 in 1950.

Finds 2 Men Dead From Asphyxiation

VANCOUVER (CP) — A landlord knocked at the door of a roominghouse here Monday night to tell two of his tenants Christmas parcels for them had arrived in the mail.

When he got no answer, and smelled gas, he forced the door and found both men dead from asphyxiation.

Police said one burner of a two-plate gas stove was still burning and it is presumed coffee boiled over on the other extinguishing it.

Names of the men were withheld. Their deaths brought to 68 the number of persons who have died in similar cases here this year.

Jailed Two Years For Stealing Car

CALGARY (CP) — Paul Desmond Mannion of Eastwood, Ont., has been sentenced to two years in Prince Albert penitentiary for car theft. He pleaded guilty to the charge Monday.

Mannion, who has a long record of convictions for fraud, illegal wearing of uniforms and decorations, false pretences and escaping custody, told the court he had pleaded guilty for "certain reasons" but that he would appeal.

He rented a car in Calgary, drove to Edmonton and sold it there to a used car dealer, evidence showed.

NAMED IN BRINKS ROBBERY — Mrs. Mary Hooley (left) and her brother Joseph (Specs) O'Keefe, have been named by the FBI in conection with the million-dollar Brinks robbery of 1950. O'Keefe, with a 20-year police record, was found when the FBI traced $60,000 of the loot. His sister is believed to have kept the money in her home before transferring it to O'Keefe.

BRINK OF DISCOVERY—This is the Stoughton, Mass., home of Joseph (Specs) O'Keefe where authorities believe $60,000 of the 1950 Brinks robbery was hidden. The FBI, identifying O'Keefe as a "participant" in the holdup, did not disclose whether the money had been found.

Russian Woman Jailed 18 Years

BELGRADE (AP) — A Yugoslav court sentenced Ljuba Basic, attractive Russian woman, to 18 years in prison today on charges of spying for the Soviet Union.

The 31-year-old woman was convicted largely on the testimony of her husband, a Russian-trained former Yugoslav flier who is serving a prison term himself as a Cominform collaborator.

Jovan Basic, the husband, testified in a deposition from prison, along with other witnesses, that Ljuba worked for Russia's dreaded NKVD secret police in close cooperation with the Soviet embassy here even before the Cominform denounced the Tito government in 1948.

The woman contended that her only contact with Russians in Belgrade came through two Soviet correspondents she met at the Russian House of Culture. She said she became attracted to them "because they had such wonderful eyes."

Phones With Tongue After Tied By Thugs

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — A cafe owner, his hands and feet bound, summoned aid by dialing a telephone with his tongue after an attractive brunette and her male companion robbed him of $4,000.

Giobatta Perrazo, 49, was closing his cafe when a tall woman asked to use the phone last night.

Then, Perrazo told police, an armed, masked man entered, struck him and bound him.

He said the woman reappeared and held the pistol as the man rifled a cash box.

Perrazo struggled to the phone, knocked the receiver from the hook, dialed operator with his tongue and shouted for help. The operator notified police.

Expect Inquiry Into Korean War Atrocities

WASHINGTON (AP) — Representative Daniel Flood (Dem. Pa.) said today there is "no doubt whatsoever" that the incoming 83rd Congress will approve an investigation of alleged Communist atrocities in Korea.

Flood, a member of a special House of Representatives committee which has been investigating the Katyn forest massacre of the Second World War, said a bill authorizing such an inquiry probably will be introduced soon after the new Congress convenes Jan. 3.

Flood's statement followed the final report of the Katyn committee which found a "striking similarity" between the massacre of 15,000 Polish officers early in the Second World War and the reported Communist atrocities against UN troops in Korea.

Flood called the mass murders in the Katyn forest near Smolensk, Russia some time after 1940 a "blueprint" for Communist plans to liquidate their enemies on a wholesale scale.

URGES INVESTIGATION

The committee recommended that the next Congress undertake such an investigation, stating in its report:

"Communist tactics being used in Korea are identical to those followed at Katyn."

There is no indication, however, that the committee has evidence of new mistreatment of UN troops or of incidents not reported a year or more ago in the Korean conflict.

The UN command then put the number of atrocities in Korea at about 8,000.

The committee's report, coming after more than a year's inquiry into the Katyn forest murders, laid the guilt on Russia and recommended that the Soviet Union be arraigned before the international world court by the general assembly of the United Nations.

But there appeared to be no way in which the Katyn massacre could be brought before the world court. Russia has never accepted the jurisdiction of the court in a case concerning her. Without such acceptance, she could not be brought in as a defendant.

New Government Formed By Ben-Gurion

JERUSALEM (Reuters)—Prime Minister David Ben-Gurion Monday announced formation of a new three-party coalition government which will give him the biggest majority in the history of the Israeli Parliament.

Allied under his leadership are the country's two strongest parties—his own moderate Labor party (Mapai) and the free enterprise General Zionist party. Third party in the coalition is the smaller Progressive group.

Among them, the three parties control 77 votes in the 120-seat house. This gives Ben-Gurion a majority of 17.

SMALL MAJORITY

Since September, when the two extreme religious parties withdrew their support because the government refused to exempt female religious workers from compulsory military service, he had been forced to get along with a majority of only two.

In forming his new government, he managed to line up the Zionist party with his Labor party by promising to implement a more liberal economic policy, aimed at stabilizing currency and prices.

Report Cabinet Sticking Close To Ottawa

OTTAWA (CP)—Whether it's a sign of the political times or not, only nine of Prime Minister St. Laurent's 21-member cabinet will be absent from the capital during the Christmas holiday.

And like the prime minister himself, most of them won't be far away. Mr. and Mrs. St Laurent plan to spend Christmas at their home in Quebec City.

All the opposition leaders are staying in Ottawa. M. J. Coldwell, CCF leader, and Solon Low, Social Credit chief, plan no holiday trips at all. But George Drew, Progressive Conservative leader, and his family may visit Guelph after Dec. 25.

LEAVES FOR HOLIDAY

Postmaster General Cote will holiday at his home at St. Johns, Que., State Secretary Bradley in Newfoundland, Veterans Minister Lapointe in Quebec City.

Health Minister Martin, just back from New York where he led Canada's United Nations delegation, has gone to Windsor, Ont., but will be back in Ottawa for Christmas.

Revenue Minister McCann will go home to Renfrew.

An International Festival For Canada

The Governor General, the Rt. Hon. Vincent Massey, addressed the Ottawa Canadian Club recently and said some kindly and perceptive things about the capital city which deserve to be heard everywhere in this country. The three paragraphs which follow seem to us to be of particular interest:

"May I return to my original view, presented with all the diffidence of a newcomer, that Ottawa is not a synthetic capital, but the most Canadian of cities, and that the transformation of Bytown on the Ottawa river to Ottawa, the capital of Canada, is entirely typical of Canada's habit of discovering in meeting Canadian problems that the unexpected solution is the right one.

"But Ottawa's own character and history are revealed today in all her delightful and harmonious incongruities; nineteenth century Gothic elbowing seventeenth century French on a rugged outcropping of the Canadian Shield; a major defence work translated into the charming motif of public parks and pleasure gardens; and above all, in the river, the logs of the Ottawa Valley, the very symbol of all that is primitive, still passing and glancing as they pass at the windows of the Supreme Court of Canada and at the dome of that venerable sanctuary of learning, the Library of Parliament.

"How can anyone think of Ottawa as a prefabricated, a synthetic capital? In its past history and in its present situation, it is a part of the very stuff of our history—the essence of our national life."

* * *

Mr. Massey also suggested that Ottawa might be the scene of an international festival of the arts; such a project may appear surprising and difficult, but in Canada's history, the Governor General reminds us "unimaginable things have been done."

* * *

The accommodation of an international arts festival in Ottawa certainly qualifies for consideration as an unimaginable thing. That city has no theatre and no concert hall; we cannot claim an extensive acquaintance with its lesser halls and meeting-places, but we wonder where the international artists would be seen and heard. There is the Little Theatre, which seats a small audience, and there is the makeshift National Gallery, where a few pictures might be seen; we know of no accommodation for ballet, for opera, for large theatrical productions, for concerts, for chamber music or for pageants. A festival director of great imagination and ingenuity would probably find places which would be used for some of these purposes, but we doubt if a whole festival of the first rank could be housed in makeshifts.

* * *

There is the objection, also, that Ottawa in summer is a hot and uncomfortable place. It might be said, too, that Ottawa is off the beaten track, but that is not a serious objection; people will go anywhere if they are offered the best music, plays and exhibitions when they arrive. Ottawa is a city of pleasing atmosphere and appearance, but its shops are hardly of the kind to draw audiences of international experience.

* * *

We believe in miracles and we believe in Canada. At an immense cost in blood, tears and sweat (not to mention money) an international festival of the arts could be launched in Ottawa. If it were unquestionably first-rate it would draw very large crowds, and it would provide Canadian artists with standards by which to judge their own work. Canada undoubtedly needs something of the sort, and if Ottawa has the initiative to create such a festival we shall glory in its courage and pray for its success.

How Are You, Joe?

Since the war and Russia's fall from Western grace, a popular pastime of this season has been to guess whether or not Josef Stalin is tottering on the brink of the grave. His birthday is December 21st. He was 73 on Sunday. During the year there were estimates of the few times he has been seen in public. There are rumours that he has been spending his time, as if it were the evening of life, at a health resort in Georgia, his native state. There are reports, even, that a double has been posing as Stalin on public platforms, while the real man is secreted in a grave somewhere. Now, a full tally is made: the old man still has a jaunty stride.

Western anxiety about Stalin's health at this season is no doubt very Christian solicitude. We may be bitter about the old man, angry with him, enraged by his country's policies, during eleven months in the year, but come December and the chime of Peace on Earth, Good Will to Men, the West shows its kind face—else why this concern for his health? Is Stalin's birthday not appropriately near that of the Prince of Peace? Is Stalin not the apostle of peace? Does Russia not distribute a Stalin Peace Prize, on the great man's birthday—this year split up among the Canadian Dr. James Endicott, the American Paul Robeson and others? Is not all Canada flattered that Dr. Endicott should have received a slice of the award?

Yes, of course; this intense pre-Christmas interest in Stalin's soundness of body (and mind) comes from no wish to push the man over the brink into eternity, but to hope he will live to continue his noble work on behalf of peace. Anyway, it would not do to wish the old man in his grave; an uncharitable, unkind hope at Christmas, and who knows but that immortality as well as eternity may await him beyond the shades?

Waltzing To Ontario Cheese

A big man came into our office yesterday and proclaimed with the voice of Stentor: "We've got ten million pounds of cheese." We looked behind his broad back for the ten million pounds, but what he had there was a brief case. He presented his brief without opening the case.

The "we" of the cheese turned out to be we the people—of Ontario. There are ten million pounds of cheese in storage in this province, with no takers for them. The visitor from Toronto, an elder in a big church there, is making it his personal business to "move the cheese."

The movement is taking various forms, and we judge that Mr. A. H. Wilford, our visitor, is one of the best and fastest movers; a one-man pro-motion.

A reason for the surplus of cheese is that Britain is buying none this year. Another is that Ontario people do not eat as much cheese as, say, the British used to. Since the British export market is beyond Mr. Wilford's personal capacity to move, he is concentrating his efforts on getting Ontario people to eat more of their home-made product. We are forced to admit that cheese is good for people, and the eating of it here is good for Ontario cheese. Increasingly, the domestic Canadian market for food and manufactured products is becoming the largest and best—because there are more people to consume it. To cultivate the domestic market is therefore sensible.

We pointed out to our visitor (as we have done several times in these columns) that if the kind of cheese Ontario shipped to Britain in past years had been as good and attractive as Swiss, Danish, Dutch or British cheeses, and as carefully marketed, the people of Britain would have demanded that imports of cheese from Canada be continued. The U.K. has not stopped importing Canadian No. 1 wheat. In the past, Ontario shipped to the U.K. yellow rubber, stamped Ontario cheese. No wonder there was no British outcry when the import was stopped.

We also pointed out that while well-cured Canadian cheddar is as good as any country produces, Ontario makes and markets a lot of completely undistinguishable cheese. People with discerning palates—even Ontario people—want good cheese when they eat it. If the buying of Canadian cheese is a hit-or-miss business, they will prefer to trust in a tested, uniformly good product like Swiss Gruyere or Danish blue.

Our visitor said we could take it from him that the bad days of Ontario cheese are in the past. True, processed cheeses are being packaged and sold in large quantities on a mass basis (with specialized labels) but for other palates, well-aged, packaged and tested Ontario cheese is now available, and in interesting varieties. The old-fashioned big cylindrical cheeses weighing 90 pounds are disappearing. These are not being "processed," but instead, cut up into two, five and ten pound cheeses, and thus stored for ripening. So, fine, mature Ontario cheese is now reaching the market, with all its best qualities preserved, but improved because it is available in manageable household sizes as a cheese in itself. Our visitor assured us that tens of thousands of pounds of Ontario cheese are now being handled thus. This is good news for cheese-lovers. It is the sort of treatment which will create a new and bigger market for our cheese, right in this Province.

Mr. Wilford is not content merely with spreading the gospel that Ontario cheese has improved; he is going to waltz it into Ontario homes. We can quote him on this, he said. Junior Farmers' clubs throughout the province, representing 10,500 junior farmers, have espoused cheese. Dances are being held, with free entry by tokens got when a pound of Ontario cheese is bought in a store. The whole Province is to ring the praise of Ontario's ten million pounds of surplus cheese, and dance to it, it seems.

We doubt very much that we ourself shall be dancing on cheese, or to its music, but our visitor left happily when we informed him that only three weeks ago we had sent to friends in England one of the five-pound good, mature Ontario cheeses of which he talked so glowingly. And we've got one for our Christmas side-board.

Motorists often remark that a long car journey seems to take less gasoline than a few trips around town. Perhaps they forget to reckon the miles they drive looking for a place to park.

The Tragedy In Indo-China

By RAWLE KNOX

(Ed. Note: Mr. Knox has just visited Indo-China).

IF Indo-China yields, the Far East falls. Though the battles may be bloodier in Korea, the strategic importance of that peninsula is small compared to that of this encircling mass of land from which Japan in 1941-42 advanced almost painlessly up to the Indian frontier. In the Communists' war of inspiration and infiltration the conquest of Indo-China would mean at least as much to them as it did to Japan. In this critical hour the French are creating more Communists in Indo-China than they can kill, and their policy is tacitly supported by the United States and Britain.

The situation is very different from that on the two other big Asian battlefronts—Korea and Malaya. In Korea the United Nations are containing plain Communist military aggression, recognized as such in origin by so unswerving a neutral as Mr. Nehru; none can doubt the moral validity of resistance. In Malaya a handful of Communists, without the backing of the populace, are disrupting the progress of the entire country; while many Malayans would like to see the British go, more would wish them to defeat Communism first. Indo-China fits neither of these patterns.

WHAT began in 1946 as a colonial campaign, with France smarting from the humiliations of a disastrous world war and determined at least to assert herself in Indo-China, has gained in the eyes of the outside world through a fortuitious march of events the status of a crusade for freedom. To the Vietnamese in whose name the battle is being fought it has no such sanction. A high Vietnam Government official summed up the common sentiment: "If the only choice is between the French and the Communists, it will have to be the Communists."

✧ ✧ ✧

MANY, many Frenchmen in Indo-China, especially in the Army, realize the false position in which France now finds herself being enthusiastically sustained by the United States and Britain. These men repeatedly ask that United Nations troops should join them in the Indo-China field in order to shake off the ugly colonial appearance of this war. There is small chance of such aid arriving. For this the least important reason is Peking's warning to Delhi that an extension of United Nations action in Indo-China would definitely bring an active Chinese intervention. There are two far more solid obstacles. The first is the desire of French high policy-making officials to keep Indo-China as a restrictedly French preserve—not, perhaps, as a colony, but as an export market for French ideas and products. The second is the awareness of the United States Administration that Congress would not permit the use of American troops on another Asian front at this time. Thus, the United States and Britain, highly conscious of the extent to which French Union forces in Indo-China are aiding their own struggle in Korea and Malaya, applaud France uncritically, ever fearful that the touchy Assembly in Paris will suddenly decide to call home its men.

✧ ✧ ✧

THE MATERIAL support of the United States has been prodigious. Non-military economic aid (including work on harbours and airfields) is being given to Indo-China at the rate of more than $100 million a year, while military aid runs to over $300 million a year, or about two and a half times the total Vietnam Government defence expenditure. Vietnamese themselves are neither capable nor particularly willing to pay for this protracted war. A reduction of the Defence Tax, which now ranges according to income from $2.50 to $125 per head per annum, is now under discussion. Only 35 per cent of Vietnam Government expenditure is paid for by Vietnamese; the rest is provided by France, who also in 1952 poured over half her 839 milliard franc Defence Budget into the Indo-China war.

IN SUCH circumstances the independence of Vietnam is a mockery, and it is not surprising that the 1949 accord with France is drafted in terms more suitable to a hire purchase agreement than to an international treaty. The French are supreme realists, and the best of the French administrators I have met in Indo-China do not believe that a "Third Force" or Vietnamese democracy can be created against Communism because they cannot see the stamina and experience in Vietnam to make democracy work. In this view, frankly, they are encouraged by the behaviour of many Vietnamese politicians, who have not the background of struggle and service of, for instance, the Indian Congress Party, which they so much admire.

Having written off the Vietnamese as a democratic prospect, the French proceeded with the next best thing: the creation of a Vietnamese Army, now some 50,000 strong, to replace French forces in the field. But it is an army without spirit, despite its many brave defensive actions. In a tour of the South Tonkin Delta I asked over a dozen Vietnamese Army officers individually and in different places whether, if the French should withdraw troops, they would rather continue to fight or try to negotiate with Ho Chi-minh. In ever instance the answer was immediate and similar: "Negotiate."

THE MOST serious criticism of the French, and also of the somewhat apathetic Bao Dai, is the failure to show up Ho Chi-minh as a villain. Everywhere in Tonkin you will hear him described as a Nationalist first, Communist second. One of his ex-secretaries shrewdly quoted to me a Ho Chi-minh comment on French Communists: "They are very useful to me now, but if they ever came to power I'd have to fight them, for they would be Frenchmen first."

Far too many Vietnamese sincerely believe that it is possible to negotiate successfully with Viet-Minh. ("In France the Communists are the largest party, but the Government remains democratic. Why not in Vietnam?") In the light of post-war experience with the Communists and Ho Chi-minh's now deep indebtedness to Peking, this can only be nonsense. But the only way to prove it so is to allow the Vietnam Government to try to negotiate with Ho Chi-minh and experience the same desperation as the United Nations at Panmunjom.

ONLY Vietnamese disillusion will dispel the bright halo around Ho Chi-minh's head And there can be no disillusion while the Vietnamese are forbidden to listen to the Viet-Minh radio and thrive on rumours of Ho Chi-minh's victories. But before this there is much to be done. There is the need of a National Assembly in which the uncensored voice of Vietnam can be heard and where Vietnamese of the north and the south can begin to create the unity which is now lacking.

There is the need to strengthen, rather than weaken, the ties between Vietnam, Laos and Cambodia, so that the three States can meet the Viet-Minh with common ideas. There is the need for France to realize that though she has now nominally conceded to Vietnam as much as Ho Chi-minh demanded in 1946, she is marching several paces behind history which, since then, has seen the complete independence of India, Pakistan, Burma, and Indonesia. From here it is perfectly clear that the French objective, with the inevitable if embarrassed American and British support, is to hold defensive lines in Tonkin against the hopelessly anticipated advent of World War Three. This is the kind of aim which leads us directly to World War Three. For behind those lines all hope of peace and freedom is withering away.

"Sir, It's Something About Peace, Good Will To All Men"

Letter To The Editor

DEEDS SO SHINE, FOR A NAME'S SAKE

Sir: All because The Examiner persists to place a bracket around the "Mrs." when I sign my articles Mrs. Joseph Hamilton, which, to me, takes away from me the right to claim the article, but with a bracket around the "Mrs," for reasons unknown to me, the credit in their bracket method gives the credit to Joseph, who never has any part in my articles at any time. Therefore, I, from here on, shall sign Maud to do away with a bracket around the Mrs. I do not need to be lassoed with a bracket.

It is against the law to publish an article such as that headed: "Answers Mrs. Hamilton" in the Examiner Dec. 12 while a trial is still pending on the subject "Cedar Branches Stolen" is involved. That publication is not the voice of the people but another method used to help win the case by the opponent and lawyers reaping the money and publicity such as it may be. One, who cannot sign his name is not worthy of any answer, if it were legal.

Let your deeds so shine before men, that they may see your good works and glorify your name for the credit due.

May 1934, I gave up my U.S. citizenship and became that day, a Canadian by heart thought and deeds. When I married a Canadian by birth, little did I know, that I was giving up my freedom to worship, freedom of speech, freedom of the press to a great degree, freedom of fear, because for 18 yr., 9 mo. we have had no protection by police on our farm and now, I have learned, that, even the laws do not give me any right. (all because they claim it just when a woman's name is not on a deed) in a law case for protection, the police have told me many times they cannot come to investigate when I call because the name is not on the deeds. They hesitated to go ahead with the "Cedar Trial Against Ken McClure" because my husband had not done that which I had. I was the only witness in another case of theft from our place and that time they refused to let me testify but had my husband testify although he was in bed all the time I was witnessing the theft. Isn't that refusal to give protection on a most flimsy excuse? Isn't such a law of restrictions so stale like many other laws, that it stinks with age and outlived its use?

It has been stated and said, "Oh she is ignorant, she is crazy, she is a thief and many other such statements. Have you had that said about you, who too was as innocent of such accusations as any many be? Well, this is the results of such in others, when an immigrant enters this country to be that, which a good citizen is expected to be by law yet circumstances over which he has no power forces the immigrant toot his own horn when others neglect or forget.

In 1939, I could have blazened the tops of newspapers with red headlines of abortions, killing of babies, pregnant mothers, all because of ignorance of doctors, lack of usage of laws etc. but instead, I began to try to do all the good I could to make my deeds so shine that they would see my good works even though, I had been asked and demanded by a so-called minister of this county to stay away from all his churches or wish that I had, even though I had attended only 3 church services in his 4 churches. Nobody can deny that Joseph Hamilton and I have been forced to worship by our radio ever since, I went and offered my services to the church in any way that I was capable and able. Now lest you forget . . . I want to again thank all who in different ways helped me to get the Stony Lake highway improved to the pot hole stage same as Buckhorn, I could not see devils in the dark, so I worked for 3 years to get the hydro and in 1939 it was completed for Stony Lake after I mentioned others to do the canvassing. My husband said, "They just put the Hydro in to get rid of you pestering them at the Peterborough office".

You may not know, but although I can make anything from a man's pants to a woman's coat or hat, I was not in the list for war work. Like Hepburn, I tried to produce war money by raising onions from 60 pounds of sets. All but 1 bushel were stolen. I got rid of a Post Office in one place had 2 other ones opened by my efforts. I changed mail routes by my efforts. To outdo business houses in Peterborough where they refused to try to sell Peterborough county and city by selling Examiner instead of handling so many papers from other cities, I persuaded my husband to go to a show while I went to every cigar, drug and news store then to all the hotels and gave those managers a lecture in selling Peterborough instead of Ottawa etc. Then they got the devil from me. I hope they have not forgotten it. Next day, I went and asked questions, gave the Examiner the devil and told them how to sell the papers and Peterborough by installing the so-called Tin Boxes right in front of those places mentioned. Do you try now to sell your own county and city by buying a paper?

I could not bear to see old cemeteries and the graves of the dead ancestors who fought in many ways to give to this generation the foundation on which we now stand. I worked by articles and speeches at the County Council meetings to get a national or county method or organization whereby graves of the dead would have perpetual care. Finally I went into our old cemetery where the dead ancestors of this county were being lowered by masses of locust roots and trees 20 feet high. I cut and cleared briars, locusts etc. from 18 graves none of whom I ever knew or related to but I appreciated that which they had done for me. Have you forgotten how those dead trees lay piled in the highway bank for over 1 year? I at least had them off the graves, so sacred.

You may not know it but some do know that we have no children to cheer or bring joy to our fireside on Xmas day or any other day. We and many others know why children are not around a fireside but to do deeds for good. Others have helped me to supply warmth, cheer, food and clothing for those burned out or not able to help themselves. Thanks for all who have and are now helping me in that way.

We do not expect a happy Xmas in a way but we are glad that in a humble way, we like many of you are helping others to have a happy Xmas. Can you not recall the story of the Little Match Girl? Look it up. I cannot forget the old man shoved off the farm he owned and out in the strange world, into court because he could not pay for a restaurant meal because he had no money in his pocket but hundreds or thousands in the bank. The court sends him off to Kingston Pen. for 60 days when for reasons known to many, some organization should have done their bit toward saving a soul before it is lost. Where is there the soul so dead, who to himself has never said, "Have I done that which God would have had me do for this Xmas and humanity"?

MRS. JOSEPH (Maud) HAMILTON

Bible Message

(From the Authorized Version)

And Jesus went out, and departed from the temple: and his disciples came to him for to shew him the buildings of the temple. And Jesus said unto them, See ye not all these things? verily I say unto you. There shall not be left here one stone upon another, that shall not be thrown down.

And as he sat upon the mount of Olives, the disciples came unto him privately, saying, Tell us, when shall these things be? and what shall be the sign of thy coming, and of the end of the world? And Jesus answered and said uno them, Take heed that no man deceive you. For many shall come in my name, saying, I am Christ; and shall deceive many . . .

And because iniquity shall abound, the love of many shall wax cold. But he that shall endure unto the end, the same shall be saved. (Matt. 24: 1-5, 12, 13.)

But the day of the Lord will come as a thief in the night; in the which the heavens shall pass away with a great noise, and the elements shall melt with fervent heat, the earth also and the works that are therein shall be burned up . . . Nevertheless we, according to his promise, look for new heavens and a new earth, wherein dwelleth righteousness. (II Pet. 3: 10, 13.)

The tramp had been on the go all day, and although hating the idea, he agreed to do some work in return for a meal. The farmer led him to a large mound of potatoes. "All you have to do," he said, "is to put the large potatoes on one side and the little ones on the other."

The tramp settled down to the job. Half an hour later he knocked at the farmer's door. "I'm sorry, guv'nor," he said. "I can't do that job. It's too hard."

"What!" cried the farmer. "Why, it's child's play. You have only to take hold of a potato and put it on one side or the other."

"That's what kills me,' moaned the tramp. "Every time I have to make a decision."

Swiss Attempt At Everest Said Doomed

LONDON (AP) — Eric Shipton, veteran British Himalaya mountain climber, said Monday night a recent Swiss attempt to scale unconquered Mount Everest was foredoomed to failure but another Swiss team missed a wonderful opportunity last spring to reach the 29,002-foot summit.

The Swiss mountaineers returned to Katmandu, capital of the Himalayan kingdom of Nepal Dec. 18 after reaching a reported height of 26,574 feet on their second attempt. Members of the expedition themselves have not announced the exact height they attained, however.

On the spring attempt, one member of the expedition was said to have climbed to within 900 feet of the towering, windswept peak.

Speaking to the Royal Geographical Society, Shipton said the Swiss retreated from their first try "a good two weeks early and by doing this, they missed a most wonderful opportunity — perhaps one of the best opportunities one has had to climb Mount Everest."

WEATHER AN ENEMY

The British climber — who himself once reached 28,000 feet on Mount Everest — said the second Swiss attempt was doomed to failure because of the weather. Unconfirmmed reports reaching India when the Swiss gave up that time said the team was defeated by 30-degree-below-zero cold and raging winds, which hurled stones around like baseballs.

Venturing what he called "friendly criticism" of the Swiss group, Shipton said that in the spring the team succeeded in establishing camp at 27,500 feet, "but for some strange reason they did not take sleeping bags or primus stoves and spent the night at this altitude without them."

"That in itself," he said, "would have killed most men. Then they struggled up to over 28,000 feet and the second party got up to the south col (a part of the mountain) but no further."

SENSIBLE DECISION

Shipton said that their decision to retreat was one that any reasonble mountaineer would have reached, however, since the end-of-May weather showed signs of breaking. This usually means the onset of the monsoons—tropical storms.

"Anyone caught on the south col after the first breaking of the monsoon might easily find himself in a desperately dangerous position," the British climber added.

Discussing the forthcoming British attempt, Shipton said, "the chances of climbing Mount Everest depend very much on the chances of a late or early monsoon."

Galloway's Presents Concert

BETHANY (ENS)—The pupils of Galloway's School, under the supervision of their teacher, Mrs. Laura Rowan, presented their annual Christmas concert to a very appreciative audience in the schoolhouse Friday evening.

The opening numbers were given by all the pupils in unison. Lloyd Armstrong recited "Telephoning Santa"; Donald Armstrong "My Stocking"; Carolyn Fallis "My Christmas Tree," and Kenneth Preston "Applesauce."

A dialogue, "Darling Mrs. McCuthy," was acted by Ross Neale, Kenneth Preston, Muriel Neale, Dianne Porter, Carolyn Fallis and Lloyd Armstrong. Kenneth Preston gave a monologue, "Jimmy Gets Ready for School." Brenda Rowan and Ross Neale sang "Sunbonnet Sally."

The pupils all joined in singing four Christmas carols. A dialogue, "Picnic Luck," was given by Lloyd Armstrong, Carolyn Fallis, Donald Armstrong and Dianne Porter. "A Boy's Song" was given by Rose Neals, Lloyd Armstrong, Kenneth Preston and Donald Armstrong. A dialogue, "Mother's Helpers," was given by Ross, Muriel and Helen Neals. Harry Preston sang a solo.

All the pupils joined in singing "Here Comes Santa Claus" and Dianne Porter gave a "Good Night" recitation. Tickets had been sold earlier on a box of groceries, which was won by Garnet Armstrong, with little Heather Sisson drawing the winning ticket for him. Mrs. Herb Neals was pianist for the evening. Harry Preston acted as chairman, thanking Mrs. Neals for her assistance and Mrs. Rowan and her pupils for the excellent entertainment. The proceeds of the tickets amounted to $33.65 and will be used to provide further equipment for the school.

Dartford School Holds Christmas Concert

DARTFORD (ENS)—Christmas in Killarney was the outstanding number at S.S. No. 5, Percy (Dartford school) on Thursday evening when their annual Christmas concert was held. Dressed in typical Irish costume, Alvia Wigmore, Clarice Honey, Ray Ward and Charles Honey sang this number and danced a jig. The teacher at this school is Mrs. Raymond Richardson. The chairman was Earl Nelson, a trustee and the pianists were Misses Marie Campbell, Ida Honey and Betty Young.

Three plays were presented and recitations were given by Charles Honey, Marion Ellis, Joseph Smith and Ray Ward.

Soviet Embassy Contacts Latvians

BRISTOL, England (AP)—Latvians living here are reported to have been receiving letters from the Soviet embassy in London telling them it is their duty to return to the Russian "fatherland." The small Baltic republic of Latvia was taken over by the Russians in 1940.

The Rev. R. Muziks, pastor of the 50-strong Latvian colony here, said a letter he received promised free passage home and free medical attention. Muziks said 14 of his compatriots had returned home. Other Latvians in Bristol asserted, however, that no one had taken up the Soviet offer.

Latvian and Esthonian refugees working in the north England wool centre of Bradford reported last October that two Russians from the Soviet embassy in London had been around quizzing them. The refugees said the men praised conditions in the two former Baltic countries and asked why they did not return home.

Canadian Shipping Will Meet Challenge

MONTREAL (CP) — T. R. McLagen, president of Canada Steamship Lines, said Monday night that a challenge for lake trade by British and foreign ship owners when the St. Lawrence seaway is completed, will be met vigorously by Canadian shipping firms.

He told a meeting of the company's Quarter-Century Club "there is no use grumbling about this state of affairs. . .the thing to do is to get ready for it."

"Fortunately for us, the seaway will take some time to build. During that time we must get our costs down to compete with the low-paid British and foreign seamen."

Moment of Glory

SEOUL (CP) — Three weeks ago Cpl. James A. Murray of Muskogee Okla., seemed too awed to say much while he munched pork chops and sauerkraut with President-elect Eisenhower. Murray was one of three men from the ranks who dined with the general on a snow-sprinkled Korean hillside. Today the U. S. Army announced the death of Murray in a recent patrol action.

Armored Vest Stops 10 Bullets

SEOUL (AP) — The army today said a soldier's armored vest fended off 10 Communist automatic rifle bullets and a closely-exploding Red grenade.

The soldier, Pte. Tom Miles, Decatur, Ill., was helping a wounded buddy during a recent action when a Red infantryman ran up and began firing at Miles.

"The impact of 10 slugs across his chest at close range knocked Miles down, but they didn't penetrate his armored vest," the army said.

Miles was still on the ground when a hand grenade exploded just a few feet away. He "recovered himself" and killed his Red assailant with a burst from his carbine, the army added.

Principal Leaves

APSLEY (ENS)—The schools are all closed for the holiday season. The pupils enjoyed the regular Christmas party Thursday.

Pupils gathered Friday to say good-bye to Mr. and Mrs. Roy McWhinney, who have resigned and are leaving the village. Mr. McWhinney has been principal of Central School since Sept., 1951, and Mrs. McWhinney was in grade I and II. As a token of their esteem the pupils presented to them a coffee table and electric table lamp.

Havelock Churches Celebrate Christmas

HAVELOCK (ENS). — Candle light services in Knox Presbyterian Church and Havelock United Church attracted large congregations Sunday evening.

A choral service in Knox Church by the combined senior and junior choirs presented the Christmas message, and was under the direction of Mrs. L. Burtt. The service was conducted by the Rev. R. B. Duncanson, who read the Christmas story from St. Matthew's Gospel.

A pantomime was presented by Carol Rutherford, Marilyn Jack and Carolyn Anderson. A quartette comprising Miss Shirley Seabrooke, Miss Dorothy Graham, Mr. A. Rennie, Mr. N. Rosebush sang "Holy Night."

"Christmas and Song" was the subject of the sermon delivered by the Rev. R. G. Newman at the candlelight service in Havelock United Church. The choral part of the service was under the direction of Mr. Donald Pollock, with junior and senior choirs taking part. Sharon and Wallace Brown of Trent River played a piano duet. Ruth Brooks was the soloist. The junior choir sang two anthems. At the morning service Mr. Newman spoke on the subject "The Road to Bethlehem," when two Christmas anthems were rendered by the senior choir.

Following the evening service at the United Church, a group of the young people sang carols at the homes of the sick and shut-ins of the village.

"If Jesus Had Not Come" was the subject of a message delivered on Sunday evening by Pastor L. Bigelow at the Havelock Baptist Mission. "If Jesus had not come" was a terrible thought to those who believe, Mr. Bigelow said, for there would be no remedy for the curse of sin, no escape from judgment and no names written in the Lamb's Book of Life.

Wilhelm And Roberts Chalk Up National League Pitching Honors

NEW YORK (AP)—Hoyt Wilhelm, New York Giants' freshman relief hurler, and Philadelphia's Robin Roberts captured most of the National League pitching honors, according to official statistics released today.

Wilhelm becomes the first rookie in NL history to lead both in earned runs and won-and-lost percentage the same year.

Associated Press compilations released last October also listed Wilhelm on top with 2.43 and Hacker the runner-up with 2.58.

The Giants' righthander won 15 games and lost three for a league-leading .833 percentage. Roberts, who finished third in the earned run race at 2.59, won the most games, 28, the first time a National Leaguer had come up with that many victories since Dizzy Dean of St. Louis chalked up 28 triumphs in 1935.

SETS PACE

The hard-working Philadelphia hurler also set the pace in most games started, 37, most complete games, 30, and most innings pitched, 330.

Behind Roberts in the earned-run derby came Bob Rush of Chicago and Carl Erskine and Billy Loes of Brooklyn, each with 2.70, and Karl Drews of Philadelphia, 2.71.

Joe Black, the league's rookie of the year, had a 2.03 earned-run mark but the Brooklyn moundsman hurled 142 innings, 12 short of the minimum.

Curt Simmonds of Philadelphia and Cincinnati's Ken Raffensberger recorded the most shutouts, six apiece. Boston's Warren Spahn, for the fourth straight year, was high in strikeouts with 183.

Havelock And Marines Win Juvenile Games In Minor Association

Outboard Marines edged the Aces 3-2, as Havelock downed Shamrocks 7-2 in Peterborough Minor Hockey Association juvenile fixtures last night at Civic Arena. In midget play, Otonabee Wolves bested Shamrocks 6-2, while the Aces blanked Norwood 11-0. The bantam Shamrocks rolled high, wide and handsome to down Trojans by a 10-1 count, while Swartz bantams captured a 7-1 decision against the Aces in the other game. A fair-sized crowd saw a lot of action, including some rough play, in the six tilts. Referees used were Al Menzies, Bill Flint, Ed Woodcock and Bill Post.

TIED AT FIRST

Marines and Aces were tied 2-2 in the first period but McGrath scored the winning marker for Outboards in the second stanza. Kearns and Cupoli were the marksmen for them in the initial inning, as Allen tallied from Strickland for the Aces, and Wasson got their other goal. The winners drew nine of the 13 penalties handed out.

Havelock led Shamrocks in the other juvenile game 2-1 in the first period on goals by Stevenson and Lang, with Cullen counting for Shamrocks. Stevenson added two more and Lang one in the second, both players having a big night. Lang and Stevenson again tallied in the third, Cullen notching the last goal for the losers. Shamrocks drew eight penalties and Havelock five.

FIRST LINE STARS

The midget Wolves' first line shone throughout in their win over Shamrocks, and Wingett was strong in goal. Wilson scored two and B. Heron and Garvey one each in the first period, as Garvey had two assists and Wilson and J. Heron one each. Brown and Farr tallied in the second for the other side, but B. Heron and Garvey wrapped it up in the third with neat markers for the Otonabee team. Gord MacInnes suffered a cut lip in a rather rough fray. The losers got seven penalties to four for the winners.

Aces proved too good for Norwood in the other midget melee. Forestell, Rusaw and Godfrey hit the mesh in the first period. They added four next time out on goals by Heffernan, Kane, Godfrey and Murphy. In the third, Floyd, Kane, Heffernan and Nash parked the puck in the cage. It was a clean and fairly speedy struggle.

BANTAMS GOOD

Swartz bantams turned in a neat effort to beat Aces. Hendy potted a pair in the initial chukker; Dinsdale and McIlwaine counted next heat; and Casey, Hamilton and Haig scored in the third. Ridley got the lone goal for Aces in the second period of a clean fray, but one penalty a side being handed out.

The bantam Shamrocks rolled in a hurry to rack up a big count against Trojans. Seidel got the only one for the losers in the second. Goals in the first period were by Johnston, Mahoney, Crough, Daley, Lonsberry, Darling and Baker. In the second, Darling and Lonsberry counted a pair each, Daley, Stewart and Coombs adding singles. Darling finished off a fine night with three in the third, and Stewart added a pair in a good showing. Shamrocks drew all four penalties.

Twist Leading The Juniors With 17 Points

Speedy Bill Twist leads the local OHA Junior B Oddfellows in scoring after playing 11 league games to date with a total of 17 points, approximately a point and a half a game. He scored four goals and proved a fine playmaker in assisting on 13 markers for the second-place IOOF squad so far. Three players were tied for second highest scoring honors on the local club with 14 points each, Clare Ferguson, Red Robinson, and Gord Coyle. The scoring list:

Argyle Grattan Horse Of Year

TILLSONBURG (CP) — Argyle Grattan, four-year-old Steinway Grattan gelding owned by Dunc Campbell and son of Ailsa Craig, Ont., has been selected Canadian harness horse of the year in a reader poll conducted by the Canadian Sportsman, America's oldest turf journal.

Argyle received nearly double the votes of any other Canadian-owned standard-bred. The gelding, who did all his racing on Ontario tracks last season, won 39 of 48 starts, was second once, third four times, fourth once and fifth three times. His present record is 2:07 for the mile.

Among top contenders for horse-of-the-year honors was Johnnie G., the three-year-old Callie G colt owned by Jacob and Brown of Clinton which was voted Ontario horse of the year. His best time for the mile is 2:07.

Jack Dempsey, fully aware of Negro Joe Louis' ability with his fists, announced 15 years ago today that he would conduct a "white hope" tournament among Canadian and United States boxers. Minor Insurance

Al Watkins, local member of the Ontario Minor Hockey Association, warns PMHA managers that insurance certificates must be turned in at once if the players are to receive protection in case of injury. These certificates are to be sent immediately to Mr. Watkins at 563 Arndon Ave., Peterborough.

Only one certificate has been forwarded from this city to the OMHA, and the Ontario body will decline to pay out insurance for accidents in the future if the forms are not in the hands of the association.

Sullivan Sets Scoring Pace

NEW YORK (CP) — Hershey Bears are in third place in the American Hockey League, but three of their forwards are on top of the league scoring race.

NEW YORK (AP)—The world champion New York Yankees and Boston Red Sox have passed the $50,000 mark in an effort to outbid each other for Bill Greason highly-touted Negro pitcher with Oklahoma City.

The Yankees and Red Sox are two of the dozen major league teams that have no Negro players on their squads.

Curling News

Six mixed rinks from the Bobcaygeon Curling Club motored down last evening for a friendly game. There was nothing at stake. They played two 5-end games, and when you consider that they have had no ice as yet in Bobcaygeon, the visitors made a fine showing.

We didn't bother about scores—the main thing was that the Bobcaygeon curlers came down to have a game on artificial ice, and the local club was only too glad to have them.

At the conclusion of the games, lunch was served in the club parlors.

Cartier, Langlois Battle To Draw

BROOKLYN (AP)—Walter Cartier of New York and Pierre Langlois of France battled to a bloody 10-round draw Monday night at the Eastern Parkway Arena in a bout advertised as an elimination for Sugar Ray Robinson's vacated middleweight crown. The favored Cartier weighed 161, Langlois 159½.

Judge Jack O'Sullivan scored five rounds for Cartier, three for Langlois and two even while the other judge, Harold Barnes had the rounds even at 5-5 and Langlois ahead 9-8 on points. The referee, George Walsh, gave each fighter five rounds and also scored the points even, 6-6.

The two middleweights finished the battle in a toe-to-toe slugfest with blood streaming from both of their faces.

Mercurys Whip Tabbies 6-1 Snapping At Indians' Heels

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Owen Sound Mercurys are snapping at the heels of Stratford Indians, pace-setters of the Ontario Hockey Association Senior A race.

The Mercurys defeated the winless Hamilton Tigers 6-1 Monday night to move within one point of Stratford. The Tabbies are without a point after 24 starts.

The Owen Sound attack was led by Roy Leckie who notched three goals. Doug Gillespie, Ray McCallum and Joe McArthur each scored one. Hugo Bolzon scored Hamilton's marker.

Fighting broke out in the penalty box during the second period between Murray Dunette and McArthur, who had been sent off for slashing. Police were called to hold back players and fans. Both players were given misconduct penalties.

In addition to the two misconducts, 15 minor penalties were dished out.

Sudbury Wolves, leaders in the Northern Ontario Hockey Association Southern Group Senior A League, took the lead in the opening period in their exhibition game with Pembroke Lumber Kings of the Eastern Canada League and remained in front to win 10-6.

SPORTS SHOW WINDOW

By CEC. PERDUE, Sports Editor

The CAHA recently announced that Canada would not be represented this winter in the world hockey tournament in Europe. Couldn't get enough good players off for the period required, and couldn't afford it, anyway. Those were the main reasons. Jack Gatecliff of St. Catharines criticizes the CAHA plenty, saying they have lots of moolah — a derogatory sort of way of referring to money — and surely could get 15 puckists willing and able to make such a trip. That could be, but we don't believe just any 15 available should be sent to represent our country in international play. If we can't send a first-class team, let's not send any.

* * * * * *

International sports have taken on a rather political flavor in recent years, as the last Olympic Games showed. Our best sport on an international basis is hockey, so we should strive to keep high our hockey standard when playing against teams from other nations. Canada has always dominated in hockey competition everywhere, but some other countries are improving plenty lately and it would be a blow to our national pride if some rather inferior Soviet squad should defeat a Canadian team made up of so-so players, when far better pucksters remained at home in Canada. The Reds would make quite a fuss about the victory of Communists over "the capitalists," eh?

* * * * * *

OMHA Welcome Mat

In OMHA playdown games, managers of home teams are asked by the provincial body to do certain things for the sake of sportsmanship, good feelings and common sense. Such as full protection for the visiting officials and players; clean, warm dressing rooms to be provided; welcome the club upon arrival; aid if a visiting player is hurt; provide refreshments if a club is from a long distance or at least offer to arrange restaurant facilities; make sure all officials—like refs, timers, scorer, etc.—are on hand and capable. In fact, there's quite a list of suggestions for the home club to make things better for the visitors, apart from the actual competition itself. It is an idealistic approach, and we're all for it.

* * * * * *

If we may, we'd like to suggest one practical change with which most manager will agree. Let the OMHA provide neutral referees for all playdown games. By neutral, we mean experienced and impartial refs from a point about halfway between the towns playing off. Sure, it'll cost more money, but it will eliminate a lot of protests and hard feelings. It is grand to be an idealist but it is safer to be practical, and many refs (even without realizing it) tend to lean a trifle toward the home club. The OMHA setup is strictly for boys, and it's too bad to see youngsters become embittered so early at certain officials who aren't as impartial as they should be. This does happen each playoff season.

Twisting Along Trail

Oddfellows' junior scoring list to date shows Bill Twist heading the pack with 17 points in 11 games, and 13 came on assists. That's nice going. The second-place IOOF-ers have three chaps tied behind Bill with 14 points apiece, Clare Ferguson, Red Robinson and Gord Coyle. In third position are Paul Doris and Bob Gardner with 11 points each. In just six tilts, Roger Smith has nine points. Leading goal-getter is Robinson with nine in the eight frays he has played, Ferguson having eight markers in 10 tussles. The team is doing okay so far in a good grouping. Next game for the Links is here Jan. 2 against Cobourg Jays.

* * * * * *

OHA senior "B" playoff setup in this area calls for the top two teams in each section of our group to playoff, survivors then meeting for group honors. Kingston, Belleville and Petes are in the eastern section, with Orillia, Stouffville and Oshawa in the western part. That means the Petes must finish ahead of either the Glens or the Goodyears to make playoffs, since one club in each section will be eliminated by the time the schedule ends. It would appear that the Petes' best chance would be to hurdle Belleville, but it means that they have to win a goodly share of games 'gainst the other clubs, too, in both sections. We imagine they'll really get rolling after the first of the year.

BILTS DROP DURSTON

GUELPH (CP)—Jack Durston, who joined Guelph Biltmores two weeks ago as defenceman, has been released by the club, coach Alf Pike announced Monday.

Durston said he "didn't get a chance" to prove himself with the team. Pike described the statement as "nonsense."

"Anybody who saw our recent games will know better. . . I played him regularly in every game," he said.

Durston was offered to Kitchener and Montreal Royals for nothing, Pike said, but they said they weren't interested.

When both clubs failed to reach agreement, Durston appealed to the Ontario Hockey Association and later to the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association, but he was ordered to report back to the Biltmores.

COUNTRY COZ SOLD

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Country Coz, a Kentucky Derby hopeful, was sold Monday for a reported $40,000 by Miami lawyer Dan Chappell and left later in the day by train for California. The promising two-year-old race horse was purchased by the Silver Creek Ranch of Tuscarora, Nev., and has been nominated for the $100,000 Santa Anita Derby and Hialeah's $100,000 Flamingo Stakes.

BROWNS SIGN HUNTER

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Rookie Bill Hunter, who owner Bill Veeck hopes will be his regular shortstop next year, signed with St. Louis Browns Monday for a reported $10,000. Hunter had been a member of Brooklyn Dodgers' organization and came to the Browns this year for $100,000 cash and three players—outfielder Ray Coleman, pitcher Bob Mahoney and shortstop Stan Rojek.

WANTS NEW LINESMEN

CLEVELAND (AP)—Jim Hendy, general manager of Cleveland Barons, suggested Monday that outside linesmen be brought in for American Hockey League games at Hershey, Syracuse and Pittsburgh. He said there had been complaints from all parts of the circuit. Hendy said nobody blamed the locally-hired linesmen in those cities but that they were inexperienced. He added the officials were not accused of favoring home teams.

BASKETBALL COACH DIES

MEAFORD (CP)—William Donald Butchart, 47, basketball coach whose high school teams won many provincial and district championships, died in Toronto Saturday night. He taught high school here for 17 years. Surviving are his mother, his widow and two daughters.

AT THE LEFT. Bernie Geoffrion who shared goal-getting honors with Beliveau, who was on lend-lease to Canadiens for three games from Quebec Aces, poses in happy fashion with the latter in the Canadien dressing room. Beliveau holds the puck with which he connected for his third goal. It will be a treasured possession for him from here on.

JEAN BELIVEAU is shown scoring his third goal which completed his "Hockey Hat Trick" against Chuck Rayner. He stepped around Buller and Reise in adroit fashion. This was his final goal of the night. He was on lend-lease to the Canadiens and scored five goals in three games.

Beliveau Running Santa Close Second

By W. R. WHEATLEY

MONTREAL (CP)—Jean Beliveau is running Santa Claus a close second as the most talked of man in Montreal today. He is just as elusive, too, as the whiskered old fellow.

If Montreal Canadiens aren't aren't making a renewed effort to get the 21-year-old whiz-bang for a centre-ice job, there's no such thing as holly and jingle bells or even business acumen.

Beliveau arrived in Montreal by air Monday from Boston, where he completed his three-game lend-lease stretch with Canadiens. During that whirl the sharpshooting youngster from Quebec Aces became the sensation of the National Hockey League by scoring five goals.

But his name was heard everywhere—on streets, in stores and street cars.

Beliveau himself the other day shrugged off questions with "I'm under contract to Quebec." General Manager Frank Selke of the Canadiens said the only arrangement with the Aces was the lend-lease stipulation.

President Jack Latter of the Aces said there's no chance of a Beliveau trade this season. Latter thinks it would be unfair to Quebec fans to let big Jean go now. The youngster's advisers in Quebec are reported to feel the same way.

It is estimated Beliveau is making at least $15,000 this season by staying with the so-called amateur team. Unofficial figures have placed his salary at $7,000, plus $5,000 kicked in by the coliseum and $3,000 paid him by a dairy for publicity reasons.

Canadiens are reported unofficially to have offered him $53,000 for three years—$20,000 for signing and successive annual salaries of $10,000, $11,000 and $12,000.

THE Calvert SPORTS COLUMN

by Elmer Ferguson

I was travelling not long ago with a National Hockey League team, and the boys, on their way back home after a hard game, were having breakfast in the diner.

One player had ordered a full double cut of ham, which is quite a lot of ham, a few poached eggs, and coffee, this being preceded by orange juice and cereal, and the other boys were twitting him on what they seemed to think was a prodigious appetite.

They should have seen the late Harry Mummery tuck in the provender. That was something to talk about. Harry was a big fellow, weighing about 265 pounds when in condition, a great chunk of man, who played for the Quebec Bulldogs when they were Stanley Cup winners, later with Canadiens and Hamilton.

When he reported to Canadiens his first season with that club, he brought along his meal tabs from the diner, en route. The club in those days paid for such meals. He handed the bulky packet over to the late George Kennedy, who then owned the Montreal club, for inspection. George went through the list carefully, then cocked a rather quizzical eye at Mummery and enquired: "Do you keep cats?"

"Why no," said the surprised Mummery. "I don't own a cat."

"Then" thundered Kennedy, "who drank all this cream?"

"Why, I did" answered Mummery. "I always drink a pint of cream after each meal. It's an antidote for ulcers. Besides, I like cream."

I was walking from the old Westmount rink with Mummery after a game one night. "Would you like a steak?" he asked. "It would be only a light snack for two" he added apologetically, "for the steak weighs only five pounds."

I asked him where he could get such a steak. "At my boarding-house" said Harry. "I buy it in the afternoon. After the game, I take it to the basement, wash off the coal shovel, cook the steak in the furnace and wash it down with a pint of cream."

Not wishing to deprive a hard-working and hungry athlete of his victuals, I declined the invitation. Not long ago, Frank Boucher of Rangers told me that on a trip west, they had met Harry Mummery at a railroad station. He was a railway engineer. "Come up to the locomotive" he invited Boucher, "and I'll cook you the finest steak you ever ate over the coals, on a shovel. It's a 5-pounder, but I have two of them, so we can both eat."

Harry Mummery was the one-man power play in his day. He could skate with more speed than you expected of such a giant. When he got the puck, he would wheel off down the ice, brushing aside all checkers with his great bulk. When he got about 30 feet out, he would throw a cannonading shot at the goaler. If it went in the net, well and good. But he kept right on going goalwards in his own powerful fashion, and if the puck bounced out, Mummery would be right on it, and slam another block-busting shot. He scored quite a number of goals that way. And also he knocked many a set of goal-nets right out of their foundations in the process, as he crashed through.

Five Goals In Three Games Puts Beliveau Ahead Of 35 NHL Scorers

MONTREAL (CP)—At least 35 players in the National Hockey League likely have heard all they care to of Jean Beliveau for a while. Those are the players who all season have failed to put together enough goals and assists to equal the five points big Jean scored in his three games with Montreal Canadiens. Actually, he scored his five goals in two of the three games he played on loan from Quebec Aces of the Quebec Senior Hockey League.

Notwithstanding the flurry of publicity over "le gros Bill," however, Gordie Howe of Detroit Red Wings continued to lead the NHL individual scoring race. His 17 goals and 18 assists gave him a total of 35 points.

The NHL's official statistics, out today, show little Wally Hergesheimer of New York Rangers still clinging grimly to second place with 33 points. Maurice (Rocket) Richard of Canadiens is third. His 20 assists top the league. His 11 goals give him 31 points.

Behind them came veteran Ted Kennedy of Toronto Maple Leafs with 29, and then, a solid reason why Detroit leads the league standings, Ted Lindsay, 28, Metro Prystai, 26, and Alex Delvecchio, 25, of the Red Wings.

Red Kelly of the Wings was still the highest-scoring defenceman with 22 points.

The Red Wings, with 39 points, were in front by four points in the team statistical race, Canadiens were second by a point over the slipping Chicago Black Hawks and two points over Boston Bruins. Leafs were another two points behind. The hapless Rangers brought up the rear with 18 points.

Terry Sawchuk of the Red Wings took a firmer grip on the goalies' average as best goals-against netminder. He had a brilliant 1.97 average. Gerry McNeil of Canadiens, giving up 11 goals in three games, fell back to 2.16. Jim Henry of the Bruins was third with 2.39.

Toronto Leafs were still the league's bad boys, with a total of 443 minutes served in the penalty box.

Player Trade Talks Hot Betwen Sox

Lane telephoned the White Sox front office to this effect Monday from a Florida vacation spot.

There has been speculation that veteran Vern Stephens, Red Sox shortstop and third baseman, might be involved. However, the White Sox have not confirmed this.

Lane said only:

"If it happens, the trade will be one player for another or two for two—all name players."

Connie Mack Observes His 90th Birthday

FORT MYERS, Fla. (AP)—Connie Mack, the grand old man of baseball, celebrated his 90th birthday Monday and passed along this tip for old age—don't worry.

"There's not a worry in the world worth worrying about," he said. "That helped me live longer than anything else I know."

The retired Philadelphia Athletics chieftain celebrated his birthday Monday instead of Dec. 23 as in years past. Birth records show he was born about midnight Dec. 22.

Canada Reaps Biggest Grain Crop In History In 1952

By A. B. GARRETT
Canadian Press Staff Writer

WINNIPEG (CP) — Canada reaped the biggest grain crop in history in 1952 aided by a record balmy performance by capricious Western weather.

From an early spring to a late fall, the weather gave what grain men called a miraculous season to produce 1,300,000,000 bushels of all grains. The yield, on the heels of big crops in 1950 and 1951, caused headaches in storage, transportation and marketing. But it meant happy days for most farmers with bulging wallets and full granaries.

NEARLY TWO BILLIONS

The bureau of statistics, basing estimates only on initial payments, figured the value of all Canada's grain crop this year at $1,940,000,000.

Of that amount, farmers' immediate returns varied in relation to the amount they could deliver to congested elevators. For wheat, they collected an initial payment of $1.40 a bushel, on the basis of grain in store at the Lakehead. The remainder would come in subsequent payments from the Canadian wheat board. On last year's crop the final figure ranged up to $1.83½ a bushel.

During the fall, farmers also collected more than $158,000,000 in final payments on last year's crop.

The money meant added farm comforts and conveniences, new gadgets and machinery, more pleasure. Farm purchases pumped new life into Western business.

Transport controller Roy Milner estimated that farmers would deliver nearly 1,000,000,000 bushels of grain before July 31, 1953. Movement to market would depend on sales, capacity of terminals and availability of Great Lakes shipping.

DEMAND EXCELLENT

George McIvor, chairman of the Canadian wheat board, said demand was "excellent" for wheat, oats and barley.

Only dark side in the grain picture was a fall drought. Late rains needed to provide subsoil moisture for next year's crop failed to come in most parts of the West. Agricultural officials looked hopefully for early and ample spring rains to fill the gap.

The year also started grimly.

More than 285,000,000 bushels of the previous year's crop lay buried in snow-covered fields. Elevators, terminals and farm storage were clogged with hard-to-handle and hard-to-sell damp grain.

Driers were inadequate to handle it. Some men shipped to Duluth for drying; farmers imported mechanical driers from the U.S.; overseas, domestic and U.S. customers accepted millions of bushels of tough grain. By May 1, the problem was beaten.

FINE SPRING

Meanwhile on the Prairies spring came early. Three weeks of clear skies and drying winds enabled farmers to garner the unharvested remainder of the previous crop in good condition. The warm weather also sent the new season off to a running start.

Hail storms were scattered; few fields were damaged by early frost; grasshoppers and other pests were few, although there was a late appearance of rusty grain beetles in some stored grain. Wet weather was followed by plant-rotting rust in southwestern Manitoba and southeastern Saskatchewan but damage was small.

The pay-off came in a near-perfect fall which permitted theechfect fall which permitted the mechanized farm army to strip the grain fields in record time. The yield was dry and about 65 per cent rated top grades—No. 1 and No. 2 northern.

STORAGE PROBLEM

Next big problem was where to put all the grain.

At July 31, there was still 300,000,000 bushels of old crop clogging commercial channels. Deliveries were restricted by a quota system. The grain soon filled farm storage and overflowed into old machine sheds, hog barns, curling rinks and, in Saskatchewan, a couple of RCAF hangars.

An estimated 328,000,000 bushels was heaped in conical piles to remain in the fields through the winter.

Transport authorities, grappling with the job of moving the grain to market, got two unexpected assists. A steel strike in the U.S. released lake ore boats for early fall grain movement, helping to relieve Western congestion. A late freeze-up permitted a longer shipping season.

85-FOOT FALL FATAL

GATINEAU MILLS, Que. (CP)—Gerard Belanger, 24, was fatally injured Monday when he fell 85 feet from a scaffolding at the Canadian International Paper Company plant in this town, about five miles west of Ottawa.

Fingerprints Trip Seguin Half Continent Away

CORNWALL (CP)—Fingerprints tripped up Henry Seguin half a continent away from the police who held a warrant for his arrest on a murder charge

Seguin, wanted in the Aug. 16 slaying of Leonard Hurd, Maxville, Ont., business man, was identified Monday by Inspector William H. Lougheed as the gun-toting bandit wounded in a blaze of revolver shots near Williams Lake, B.C. last Tuesday.

Inspector Lougheed, head of the criminal investigation department of the provincial police, said at Toronto that Seguin was wounded in a battle with the RCMP near Williams Lake after a holdup of a branch of the Canadian Bank of Commerce there.

He said Seguin was taken to hospital and charged with attempted murder of bank manager Leonard Hillier and with armed robbery.

ENDS LONG SEARCH

Identification of Seguin ended a four-month search by Ontario police, touched off by the brutal rifle killing of Hurd, 41-year-old Maxville garage and taxi owner.

Hurd's body, with three .22 bullet holes in the head and two in the chest, was discovered in one of his own taxis about a mile outside Maxville, 20 miles north of Cornwall. A small club bag was found in the back seat and in it was Seguin's army discharge certificate. After issuance of the warrant provincial police circulated Seguin's fingerprints across the country.

Police said Hurd had been robbed of between $1,000 and $1,700. He was known to carry large sums of money on his person. He was believed lured to the death scene by a motorist pleading by telephone he was out of gas.

Police said then that Seguin was seen in Maxville the night of the killing and later near the spot where Hurd's body was found. Inspector Robert Wannell, who had charge of the intensive hunt for Seguin in this district and near Ottawa, will go to Williams Lake to question Seguin. Inspector Lougheed said future disposition of the case was "a matter of a conference with the police there."

Seguin's arrest came a little more than a month after his car was found abandoned in Quebec about 75 miles northeast of Cornwall.

Seguin, travelling under various aliases in B.C., was charged there under the name of Henry James Redford.

Rare Disease Attacks Children

MANCHESTER, Ia. (AP)—With two of their three children near death from a rare and mysterious ailment tentatively diagnosed as "pelizeous-merzbacher," Mr. and Mrs. Grant Faust are praying this Christmas season that their third may be spared.

Both were healthy, normal children until they reached the age of three. Then the strange affliction, also known as diffusive leucoencephalopathy, began its progressive destruction of their brain cells. Both now are helpless invalids.

Doctors at the Mayo clinic in Rochester, Minn., decided their children's symptoms were like those of "pelizeous-merzbacher." The disease has a tendency to attack members of the same family.

There is no known treatment or cure.

Canadian Troops To Get Turkey

OTTAWA (CP)—Canadian troops in Korea will get their Christmas turkeys out of the same supply line as U.S. troops, the Army said Monday.

A spokesman was commenting on a dispatch that said Christmas turkeys for the Commonwealth division will be leftovers from the Thanksgiving celebration by U.S. troops.

He said this should not be misconstrued as meaning that if there were no leftovers there won't be any turkey for the Canadians.

"Our men have always had turkey for Christmas," he said. "They have for the past two years and they will this year."

The 25th brigade is tied so completely with the U.S. supply line that any time the U.S. troops get turkey so do the Canadians—automatically.

Rescue Crew Of 37 Off Vessel On Reef

HONOLULU (AP)—The 37-man crew of the freighter Quartette was removed Monday from the storm-battered vessel, hard aground on a treacherous reef 90 miles east of Midway.

Subsiding seas permitted the transfer, balked once before in the storm and early morning darkness, to the nearby Frontenac Victory and a U.S. Navy patrol craft.

Capt. C. Catsambis of the Quartette feared the 7,198-ton Liberty ship, which ran aground Sunday, might crack up in the crashing seas. Catsambis and three of his crew remained at the scene aboard the patrol boat pending arrival of the salvage tug Ono from Honolulu.

Place Christmas Tree By Sick Child's Bed

MONTREAL (CP)—A Christmas tree has been placed beside Lise Dagenais' bed—just in case the nine-year-old child awakens in time to see it.

Lise today entered her 72nd day of unconsciousness from injuries suffered in a highway accident near Ste. Anne des Plaines, Que. Physician no longer fear for her life, but they doubt she ever again will be normal.

She has shown signs of regaining consciousness and her parents are hoping she may revive before Christmas.

Urges Hearts Prepared For Christmas Too

TORONTO (CP) — Canadians should not neglect to prepare their hearts in the rush of decorating streets and homes for Christmas, Lieutenant - Governor Breithaupt said Monday.

"We must not only wrap parcels, we must wrap our hearts in God," he told the Canadian Club. "While we sing our carols we must not forget the carols that the angels sang or the great message that makes it possible for us to have the spirit of Christmas not just for a day but for all the year."

Jailed Five Years For Bank Robbery

LONDON, Ont. (CP) — Alfred Bahr, 28-year-old immigrant from Germany, was sentenced Monday to five years in Kingston penitentiary for robbing the main branch of the Royal Bank here of $7,407 Nov. 28.

"I would like to apologize to everybody," said Bahr after the sentence in City Court. "I must have been insane to think about taking the money."

Selwyn WI Holds Meeting

SELWYN (ENS). — The December meeting of the WI was held in the hall on Wednesday evening and took the form of a Christmas party. Mrs. George McIlmoyl, vice-president, was in the chair.

A report of the meeting of the Cancer Society held in Peterborough recently was given by the secretary, Mrs. Reg. Bell.

It was decided to give Mrs. William Elliott the authority to get the information on the Tweedsmuir history book and to get one started as soon as possible.

Mrs. Evans Blewett was convener for the meeting and she opened by reading a Christmas poem, and Christmas carols were sung, with Mrs. Daisy Fitzgerald at the piano. Two films were shown, "The Royal Tour" and "The Santa Claus Parade." The projector was operated by Mrs. Jean McIlmoyl and Allan McConkey.

Miss Pauline Fitzgerald was presented with a gift by Mrs. George McIlmoyl, on behalf of the Institute for her help in the musical part of the program at various meetings.

A very interesting reading was given by Mrs. William Elliott, which told of Christmas in foreign lands and which pleased the children immensely.

Mrs. Blewett and Mrs. McIlmoyl then unloaded the tree, first distributing the bags of candy to each child in the community and then the exchange of gifts by the Institute members. Trays of candy were passed to everyone. A large crowd was in attendance.

Flying Horses

AUSTRALIAN thoroughbreds can now fly to race meets in what must be a new high in horsey luxury. A transport plane has been fitted up with aluminum boxes upholstered in red leather, as private suites for six fortunate equine passengers.

Could be that the boxes are made from Canadian aluminum, which is shipped all over the free world. This huge export market has helped make possible Canada's king-size aluminum industry, and the growth of more than a thousand independent Canadian manufacturing companies which turn this low-priced, versatile metal to thousands of uses. REMOVE WOOD PARTICLE

Five-year-old Brenda Dunford of Lakefield was admitted to the Civic Hospital late Monday afternoon. She had a tiny particle of wood in her right eye and it was removed at the hospital.

CUT IN ROUGHHOUSE

Gordon MacInnes, 15, a defenceman with the Shamrocks, stopped a fist with his mouth in a roughhouse session during the midget hockey game at Civic Arena on Monday night. He received a cut on the upper and lower lips, requiring five stitches to close and he was treated at Civic Hospital. The mixup occurred during a scheduled game with the Otonabee Wolves.

TAKES A TUMBLE

Gilmore Wagar, 18 months, of 273 Park Street North, is learning the hard way that it doesn't pay to climb to unaccustomed heights. In Gilmore's case the heights happen to be a chair. While his mother was talking to a tradesman at the door on Monday young Gilmore scrambled up on to a kitchen chair, but he came a cropper, falling and splitting his lip. He was given out-patient treatment at Civic Hospital. Today, nothing daunted, he is still trying to conquer the chair.

DINNER WINNER

Winner of the Soroptomist "Christmas dinner for eight" is Miss Gladys Green, of 526 Water St., who is an employee in the Robert Fair store where the dinner has been displayed for the past week with Soroptomists making the store front their location for ticket selling. Miss Green's ticket was drawn last night by Mrs. Hugh Waddell on the stage of the Paramount Theatre. Second prize, a beautifully iced Christmas cake, went to Mr. D. Hanbidge, Wolfe St., and third prize, a table mat, was won by Miss Rose Doyle, of 136 Perry St.

Odds Against Us

Odds are against a white Christmas this year, the weatherman glumly predicts. He sees for tonight and Wednesday the following nasty mixture: "Snow, mixed with rain or freezing rain." That, he says, should be true over most of the province, and he holds out no hope for cooler weather with snow. In fact, he says that what snow there is may disappear by Wednesday.

1,050 Lights On Main Streets Win Approval

Peterborough Utilities Commission and the retail merchants' section of the Chamber of Commerce may take a bow on the festive colored lights in the business centre of the city. They are a joint gift to the community for the period of Christmastide, and have been unanimously approved by the public.

Following its custom of contributing to the spirit of Christmas, the Utilities Commission has strung 1,050 lights in the centre of the city and also in the business section of Ashburnham on Hunter Street east.

There are 24 strings on George Street, 25 on Hunter, 7 on Simcoe, and 14 on Charlotte Street.

These 70 strings, each requiring 120 feet of wire, represent a total of 8,400 feet, with 15 lights on each string. They are 25-watt bulbs. Elaborating the decorative appearance of the business district, the retail merchants provided evergreen trees at 92 of the electric lamp posts, each with 15 colored lights, for a total of 1,380.

Downtown Peterborough was never so effectively lighted at Christmas time, and the first fall of snow during the week-end accentuated their gay colors. Add the Utilities' 1,050 lamps to the merchants' 1,380, and the total is 2,430.

Burns Prove Fatal To Father Of Six

TORONTO (CP) — Burns proved fatal last night to a suburban Lakeview father of six who Monday toppled into a pit containing 18 inches of boiling water.

Charles McCann, 42, was siphoning the water from the pit at the New Toronto Fabrikoid plant of Canadian Industries Limited when he apparently lost his balance.

McGinness To Build New Factory

Site Not Definite For Plant; Bakery Due In 1953

Two industrial prospects for 1953 are the Canada Bread Company modern bakery to be built in Ashburnham, and also across the river, a factory to be built by H. B. McGinness Ltd., 255 McDonnel Street.

President of the company, H. B. McGinness, confirmed today reports of plans for a manufacturing plant, construction of which will be begun early in the spring.

"We are negotiating for a property on which to locate, but we haven't yet reached the point of settlement of details that warrants an announcement," Mr. McGinness said. "However, we are hoping to make a definite statement probably within two weeks."

TRAILERS

The McGinness company has developed a business in the production of trailer homes that has doubled its output since last July. Orders on the company's books, apart from promising prospects for the New Year, will keep the plant busy at least to the middle of 1953. Expectations are in substantial volume, but Mr. McGinness commented that he did not wish to mention that outlook at the present.

H. B. McGinness Ltd. has grown up in Peterborough from a comparatively small undertaking under the industrial abilities and promotional energies of its management.

Cars Collide On Icy Roads

Two car accidents on rural roads Monday caused less than $200 property damage and no injuries.

Shortly before 2 p.m. two cars collided on the Miller Creek bridge, three miles north of Lakefield on the old Buckhorn Rd.

William Blewett of Strickland St., Lakefield was driving his 1940 model car over thee bridge when a car skidded into him, driven by John Kembar, 18, of Concession 11, Smith township. Kembar, who had a 1950-model car, saw that Blewett was on the bridge and he applied his brakes. The veehicle skidded on the snow-covered road and a collision resulted.

The Kembar car received $50 damage, the Blewett car $40.

OPP Constable Gordon Grey investigated.

A slippery road surface is blamed for another accident at night on the Crowley Line in Otonabee township, three miles south of Peterborough.

Lennel H. Prouty, 32, of 383 Dobbin Ave., was driving south in his car and, at the top of a hill, he collided with a northbound car, driven by Williliam Clancy, 33, of 460 Sherbrooke St. Both vehicles skidded and the Clancy car hit the left rear fender of Prouty's, causing total damage of $75.

OPP Wallace Mohns investigated.

CAROLS AT HOSPITALS

The Coventry Singers sang carols at the Civic Hospital, St. Joseph's Hospital and the House of Refuge Monday evening, and also wassailed outside the homes of two adherents of the group.

NO CHILBLAINS for the 106 members of the staff in the Examiner and CHEX. That was the guarantee provided by this mobile Board of Works steam engine that has heated the Examiner building since Sunday when the plant boiler was damaged.

Mobile Boiler Substitutes For Crippled Furnaces

Right now the Examiner and Radio Station CHEX are enjoying the advantages of a handy machine provided by the Board of Works. It is a mobile steam boiler supplying the building with heat. Early Sunday the steam boiler in the Examiner basement was the victim of a defective heating control unit. By the time firemen arrived, warned by the triggering off of the automatic sprinkler system, the boiler was nearly red hot and was shooting out sparks.

In short: it was damaged and the building was without heat.

Monday morning the 81 Examiner employees and the 25 employees of CHEX turned up for work and found the premises up to normal room temperatures. True, there was a smell of soft coal smoke in the air, but you can't have everything.

Began Sunday Night

The steam filtering into the radiators was coming from the mobile steam boiler that was pressed into service Sunday night. It had taken only an hour and a half after it was parked in the laneway outside the building to work up a steam pressure of 60 pounds per square inch.

If the boiler mishap had occurred during one of the bad subzero spells in the winter the plant might have had to close down but for the auxiliary unit.

Other plants in the city, faced with a similar emergency, have been able to get the Board of Works boiler until their own steam unit was repaired.

"It isn't often used in the winter," said John McKibben, superintendent, "but when it's needed it certainly does come in handy."

OLD THRESHER BOILER

The auxiliary unit is a slightly remodelled threshing machine boiler. It dates from the days when the power plant turning the threshing machine belt was a steam engine, not a gasoline-fed tractor.

"I doubt if anybody knows how old it is," said Mr. McKibben.

The machine is seldom used in winter; though it's handy to have around, as Mr. McKibben says. In summer it heats the oil for the oil mix going into the manufacture of asphalt.

During the cold weather months there is no laying of roads. Some "patching" is kept around, however, and the boiler then comes into use.

Sometimes, when an extra cold spell comes, catch basins and storm drains freeze. Then the old machine is trundled out of the Board of Works yard and put to work thawing out the frozen drains with jets of high-pressure steam.

Again, conduits of the Bell Telephone Co. sometimes become frozen and the boiler is called on again to save the day.

Gordon Newall, who is operating the mobile boiler while repairs go on in the Examiner building, said it burns about 200 pounds of soft egg coal an hour. The cost of operating is $5 an hour.

"Understand you're going to test your own boiler tonight," said Mr. Newall, ordinarily a trucker with Warren Paving. "It would be nice to have Christmas off."

And so say we, Mr. Newall.

Supreme Court Rules Cox Legacy Invalid

A Herbert Cox legacy for the benefit of the employees of Canada Life Assurance Co. has been declared invalid by the Supreme Court of Canada. Mr. Cox was born in Peterborough, son of Senator George A. Cox. A clause in his will left $500,000 to establish a charitable foundation, and his wife provided an additional $200,000. Total value of the two Cox estates was $1,800,000.

The Supreme Court directed the master of the Ontario Court of Appeals to determine who should receive the two bequests that would have been available for the charitable foundation.

In the Supreme Court of Ontario Mr. Justice D. C. Wells rules that the bequest was valid for the relief of poverty. In identical wills Mr. and Mrs. Cox ordered the income from their fund to be paid in perpetuity for the benefit of employees and former employees of Canada Life and their dependents.

The Ontario Court of Appeals reversed the decision of Mr. Justice Wells. Employees of Canada Life, supported by the company, then appealed to the Supreme Court of Canada. Its decision announced from Ottawa declaring the fund clause invalid, meant in effect that its monies were not disposed of, and ordered the master of the Ontario Court of Appeals to determine and report on who were entitled to receive the money from the Cox estate.

Flying Wounded To Their Homes

MONTREAL (CP) — An RCAF North Star took off from Dorval airport today on a flight that will span the continent twice in 48 hours so 17 wounded soldiers can spend Christmas at home.

The four-engined aircraft from No. 426 Thunderbird squadron is scheduled to touch down at Tacoma Wash., after dark tonight. By midnight, it will be refuelled and ready to take off with eight stretcher cases and nine sitting wounded—all veterans of the 25th Canadian infantry brigade in Korea.

The plane is expected to drop the last of the veterans at Halifax Wednesday night. It will make stops at Edmonton, Winnipeg, London, Toronto, Kingston, Ottawa, Montreal, Saint John, N. B., and Halifax.

The trip is the last of a series of flights that included flying supplies and Christmas cheer to some of the defence department's most northern and remote spots.

Two Men Remanded Preliminary Hearing

SAULT STE. MARIE, Ont. (CP) Two men charged with the October 1948 murder of John Hargis at Amyot were remanded to Dec. 31 today for preliminary hearing.

Crown Attorney Ian Munro said he wants 21 persons from various parts of Canada to appear, and he is having trouble rounding them up.

Charged with the gun-slaying are Glen Nevers, 34, formerly of Saint John, N. B., and George Groulx, 27, of the Sudbury district.

Police said Hargis, 68, a retired railroad engineer, was shot and his cabin burned to conceal the crime.

Furnace Gas Knocks Out Woman In Home

Escaping coal gas knocked out Mrs. Shirley Quemby, 32, of 523 Bolivar Street, for about five minutes early today. Firemen used a resuscitator on her for 28 minutes and she was taken to hospital for observation on the instructions of Dr. T. E. Currier.

Mrs. Quemby took her two-year-old daughter Cathy to the front door about 10:15 a.m. so the little girl could play with a neighbor's child. As the fresh air struck her Mrs. Quemby felt ill, and she asked 14-year-old Donna Rooke to tell her mother, Mrs. Alvin Rooke, who lives across the road at 526 Bolivar Street.

"When I got to the house Mrs. Quemby had passed out on the floor," said Mrs. Rooke. "I knew it was coal gas so I dragged her to the hallway where she could get some fresh air.

Her husband, Alfred Quemby, is a linotype operator at the Examiner. He was called from work by Mrs. Rooke who reported the accident to him.

"I knew I felt ill," Mrs. Quemby said later, "so I told Donna to get her mother. "I meant to lie down on the couch, but I guess I never made it."

Freed Of Murder Charge Evidence Not Sufficient To Send Knott To Trial

Young Indian Discharged At Preliminary; Wesley Taylor Stabbed To Death On Curve Lake Reserve Month Ago

Gale Knott, 21-year-old Curve Lake Indian charged with the murder of Wesley Taylor, 26, was freed today. The crown's evidence was too slender to support committal to a higher court on such a serious charge, said Magistrate W. R. Philp in dismissing the charge. Knott, slender and good-looking, had been almost poker-faced through the preliminary hearing. He smiled slightly and his eyes looked wet shortly after Magistrate Philp discharged him.

He was charged after Taylor was found more dead than alive behind the home of Mrs. Susie Knott on the Curve Lake reserve the night of November 21. John Taylor, the dead man's brother, told the court of finding his brother with a wound in his chest.

The Crown entered a fishing knife as an exhibit and obtained evidence that Knott had a similar knife in his possession the afternoon before Taylor's death.

Dr. C. B. Waite, district provincial pathologist, testified, after seeing the knife, that he thought a broader and more curved blade—like that on a hunting knife—had made the wound he found in Taylor's chest.

OPP Corporal Jack Munro told court of a statement Knott had made at OPP headquarters in Peterborough. The statement had been partly oral and partly written; the oral part was taken, the officer said, before Knott received a warning that he would be charged.

TAKEN TO DOCTOR

Other witnesses told of Taylor's body being taken to Lakefield to the office of Dr. Lloyd Bailey, who pronounced the man dead. They had told of seeing Knott and Taylor together about three hours before the stabbing is believed to have taken place.

Both men had been drinking, but had seemed in good spirits, and the last witness to see them together said they were singing as they walked down the main road on the reserve.

Magistrate Philp today cited several judgments in which this general rule applied: That the Crown must prove the accused might probably be guilty, or that a judge and jury, on hearing the evidence, could possibly decide that the accused was guilty.

The evidence against Knott was "so slender" that Magistrate Philp said he could not commit him.

Pay More Money To Workers Than Last Year

A survey taken by the Chamber of Commerce shows that 14 of the 15 Peterborough industries with more than 100 employees paid out $14,741 more in wages during the first two weeks of December than in the same period in 1951.

The total wages paid by these industries in this two-week period this year was $146,987.

The survey was taken when rumors reached the chamber office that there had been a considerable number of lay-offs in city industries, and as a result the amount of money in circulation was down.

Selwyn Children Present School Concert

SELWYN (ENS)—A Christmas concert under the direction of Miss Theresa Irwin, the teacher, was held in SS No. 9 on Tuesday evening, with a packed house which thoroughly enjoyed every number.

Irvin Tully was the master of ceremonies for the evening and piano accompaniment for the musical numbers was supplied by Mrs. Daisy Fitzgerald.

A folk dance by eight boys and girls and accompanied on the violin and guitar by Gerald Windover and Andrew Irwin, drew hearty applause, as did two other selections by Messrs. Windover and Irwin.

Misses Betty and Shirley Raddon played "Silent Night" on the violin and guitar with their sister Mary accompanying them on the piano. Solos were sung by Beryl Rosborough, "Star of the East," and Garry Fitzgerald, "Happy as a Christmas Tree." A star drill by the senior girls and a pantomime by Shirley Raddon, "In the Garden," were well received.

The tiny tots, each carrying their lettered card, came on stage, recited their verse, and when all were placed their cards spelt "Merry Christmas."

After two years he went to Nelson, B.C., but returned to Napanee, where he later became a partner and for many years sole proprietor. He retired from active business duties about five years ago.

He is survived by his widow and two children, Mrs. Douglas Ostrander of London, Ont., and John W. Huston of Toronto, and two brothers, Alexander Huston of Otonabee and Bert T. Huston of Toronto.

Playhouse Role Gives Actress Biggest Break

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—A summer ago, Vivian Vance was appearing in "Voice of the Turtle" at the La Jolla, Calif., playhouse. Little did she realize that she was trying out for what might be a lifetime job.

In the audience one night were Lucille Ball and Desi Arnaz. They were looking for players to appear in a TV show they were planning, "I Love Lucy." They chose her to play Lucy's neighbor, Ethel.

The sequel to the story is TV history. "I Love Lucy" climbed to the top of the audience ratings and stayed there. A recent survey estimated the show had 42,000,000 viewers.

"If I had realized that night at La Jolla that I would be trying out for a part in the No. 1 TV show," said Miss Vance, "I would have been too nervous to go on the stage."

AMAZING CHANGE

"I Love Lucy" has done amazing things for Vivian. Previously, she has been typed to play hard, brassy dames.

She now is lining up a couple of pictures, because the shooting of "Lucy" series is recessed until after the Arnaz baby arrives. One of the roles she was up for was a witchy character such as she had always played. But the casting man said: "I don't know whether she can do the part; she's too sweet!"

The citizens of Albuquerque, N.M., her home town, were responsible for Vivian's career. She made a hit in a play and the town raised money to send her to New York.

She managed to land in hits like "Music in the Air," "Red, Hot and Blue" and "Skylark." Then came night clubs, more shows, Hollywood and "Lucy."

Spiritual Convictions Needed—Eisenhower

NEW YORK (AP)—President-elect Eisenhower said Monday if the United States is to be strong "we must be strong first in our spiritual convictions."

"And those convictions must be those that appeal to men," he added, as he discussed American-Soviet frictions in an address to the Freedoms Foundation.

"If we are going to win this fight, we are going to have to go back to the fundamentals. If we can be strong enough to sell ourselves this idea at home, we can win this ideological war."

Marriage On Rocks

LOS ANGELES (AP)—The six-year marriage of Anne Baxter and John Hodiak is on the rocks, the couple announced Monday. "We feel heartsick and defeated that in spite of all our hopes and efforts at understanding, basic incompatibilities have made our life together impossible," they said in a joint statement. Miss Baxter's lawyer plans to file a divorce suit, the statement said.

HOLIDAY DELICACY—Suckling pigs are becoming an increasingly popular dish for the holiday season, say Toronto butchers. It is a European dish introduced by new Canadians. Five-year-old Meredith Clarke helps to hold a 15-pound suckling pig—which sells for about $12—in her father's store.

Murder Weapon Found In River

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP)—A .38 calibre revolver recovered by divers from the Buffalo river was tentatively identified by police Monday as the death weapon in the holdup-slaying of a Buffalo jeweler Dec. 9.

William T. Fitzgibbons, chief of detectives, said the gun appeared to be the one that fired the shot that killed Donald F. Hurd Ballistics tests are to be made on the pistol today.

Three Canadians have been arrested in connection with the holdup and Hurd's death.

Two of those are in custody in Hamilton, awaiting extradition proceedings. They are Maurice O'Dell, 27, and Walter F. Griffin, 26, both of Hamilton.

Police in 13 states and Ontario are seeking Ralph J. Grubisich, 28, of Windsor, Ont., the third man.

Canadians Built Barricades 75 Yards From Communist Outposts

By BILL BOSS
Canadian Press Staff Writer

IN KOREA (CP) — Canadian infantrymen have built barbed-wire barricades within 75 yards of Chinese Communist outpost positions.

Probably the most daring piece of defensive field work yet carried out here was accomplished by the newly-arrived 3rd battalion Princess Patricia's Canadian Light infantry.

It was a job to be done by men who wouldn't think too much about the accompanying hazards—tailor-made for fresh troops.

The Patricias were holding a position that has taken almost as much punishment as Little Gibraltar. It is a curved ridge known as "The Hook."

It has been defended by United States marines, the Black Watch regiment and by Canadians. The Hook is about 150 feet high, but so shaped that the enemy can observe it both fore and aft.

Regularly shelled and mortared, it takes persistent work to keep its defences in order.

WANTED MINEFIELDS

Lt. Col. Herb Wood of Toronto, Patricias commander, decided there should be minefields and barbed-wire barricades ahead of it. Any there before had been

He assigned Lieut. Herb Pitts of Castlegar, B.C., to supervise the job. Pitts took his men down to the battalion's rear echelon and drilled them for four days in wiring techniques. Sgt. Maj. Winslow of Cultus Lake, B.C., was loaned by 23rd field squadron, RCE to teach them.

"Our teams were organized as blitzkrieg wiring crews," said Pitts. "We were to go out under our own artillery and mortar and we also had a supplementary noise program arranged to divert the enemy's attention.

"We were allotted 1,000 artillery rounds, available on demand, each of the two nights."

Standard engineer procedure calls for well-trained teams to build 100 yards of triple concertina fence by day in 30 minutes.

By the time Pitts considered his men ready, one crew could string 100 yards in 31 minutes—at night. The other two could do it in 33 minutes. Each team comprised 10 men and a corporal.

The area wired off the first night was 400 yards from the Chinese. The night was cold and moonlit.

Said Pitts: "The ground was frozen solid to a depth of one inch, and it was a bit of a problem to screw the pickets in quietly. But the men did it."

No sooner were they at work than there was an explosion and Cpl. A. Mullin of Montreal was killed. Pte. J. Batsch of Swift Current, Sask., was wounded and died before he could be carried into the lines for treatment.

With presence of mind, Pitts, knowing they were in an old minefield, said: "That was a mortar. Keep at it. We've got to finish the fence."

"Later I told them it was a mine," he said. "They weren't shocked. They accepted the fact that we had to take the risk to get the job done."

Having familiarized themselves with the "real thing," they were ready for their second assignment—a toughie. It was just below a hill on which the Chinese were known to keep an outpost.

The hill extended two fingers toward the Canadian position and the job was to barricade just below the fingers. There was snow, the ground was frozen and it was cold.

"It was just like wiring in the back end of a bath-tub," said Pitts.

The group was not bothered. It is assumed the Chinese either didn't man their outpost that night, or else were shivering within.

By the time they'd finished the Patricias had barbed-wire barricades right close to the enemy's positions, and had built behind them the nucleus of others, which could be extended in either direction later on.

It's the 'KNOW HOW' that Counts!

HANDBALL: THE STRAIGHT-ARM UNDERHAND STROKE

2 To strike ball, arm swings through from the shoulder. Stroke is parallel to body. Left foot steps forward as ball is hit and knees are bent depending on what height the ball is played.

3 Full weight is on left leg for the follow-through. Arm and right shoulder achieve follow-through by moving in the direction which ball has taken. This stroke is very effective for low placement shots.

Yes, it's "know-how" that counts in handball as in every sport—"know-how" that sets one performer above another. Learn the correct form — the "know-how" — then practise until you have mastered it and you'll get more fun and enjoyment out of your sports and game.

WITH THE BOY SCOUTS

By G. E. GROOMBRIDGE

Paper salvage collection will be definitely held by the Boy Scouts in a city-wide drive on Thursday, January 8. And this is an appeal to every citizen not to throw those Christmas wrappings in the garbage, but put them all in cardboard containers and hold for collection. Thrown in the garbage the paper is burnt and of no use to anyone. Saved for the scouts, it will be used over again in the manufacture of paper, and at the same time you are giving the cubs and scouts a chance to save some money toward their camping or other scout activities.

ST. JOHN'S

The spirit of Christmas invaded St. John's parish hall on Friday last as the Mothers' Auxiliary prepared a grand banquet for he unit. The pack and troop met in the upper hall where games were conducted under the leadership of Akela and Scouter. The dinner tables were gaily decorated in the group colors. One of the mothers had made some snowball candies and three Santa Claus figures in white snowball fashion. Crackers at every plate, and soon every member was adorned with paper hats. Turkey, ham and all the trimmings that go with such a meal was soon on the table, with special dishes for those observing a day of fast. At the head table were Group Chaplain John Purser, Akela Stan Purser, Scouter Fred Ford, ASM Lorne Bolton, ACM Don Searles and Scouter Pete Dominik. Before leaving the festive board, the following presentations were made, many of the aforementioned officers taking part. Collectors' badges to Bob Wagster, Tommy Lewis, Don Sherk; homecraft badge to Blain Calhoun; toymaker to Leslie Crump; first-year service stars were given Bob Dawson, George Boucher, Wallace Davidson, Bruce Cotton, David Irwin, Grant Menzies, Don Sherk, Bob Barber, Tommy Lewis, Henry Langley, Leslie Crump, Ken. McLaren, Brian Dunford, Bob Robertson; two-year stars, Gary Hamilton, Ken Collins, Bob Wagster, David Gunn, Jamie Welsh; three-year star, Bob Cumpsty. Then followed the singing of carols, a game, a Christmas story by the Skipper and gifts from the tree, under the master of ceremonies of Bob Kingston. Mrs. Baker, president of the Mothers' Auxiliary, presented David Gunn, sixer of the Green Six, with the honor pennant. The mothers working and serving were Mesdames R. Irwin, A. Barber, Burford, A. Parker, G. Dunford, F. Ford, L. Welsh, B. Boucher, R. Davidson, N. Gedge, Young, B. Calhoun, D. Sherk, Lockington, B. Baker. The ladies presented a small gift to every leader in token of their appreciation of the work with the boys.

ST. LUKE'S

Peanuts, chocolate bars and fruit filled the pockets of the cubs as they left the last meeting of this year at which the theme of the evening was games and songs, with the Cub and Scout Auxiliary on hand to supply sandwiches, cookies and drink.

SACRED HEART

The troop and pack joined hands in seasonal celebrations in the group headquarters, with Akela Patton and Scouter Morris heading in the games. Scouter Pete Dominik operated the camera to run off three films of interest. Then came a series of skits by both cubs and scouts, with a small kitten taking the leading role in one short pantomime. Mrs. Meagher, president of the Ladies' Auxiliary, was on hand, assisted by Mesdames A. Thompson, B. Bailey and E. Garvey, to serve refreshments. Carol singing intermingled with the activities of the evening.

ST. PAUL'S

Franklyn Montgomery led the opening grand howl just before the boys took their places around the festive board at which Akela McLeod carried on as master of ceremonies. Chairman John Anderson of the group committee asked the blessing. Mrs. Philp, president of the Mother's Auxiliary accompanied the sing-song at the piano. The Red Six put on a short play called "Our Flag". Michael and Peter Philp entertained the gathering with a duet, "Silent Night" played on piano and trumpet. The Green Six's contribution was a skit "Vindow Viper." A recitation to "Our Mothers" was given by Franklyn Montgomery. Akela James McLeod added his support with music on the harmonica. Other items were "Ice Rescue" by the Grey Six, a poem by Terry Spencley; clarinet and trumpet duet by Barry LeRoy and Michael Philp; riddles by the White Six. During the proceedings Peter Philp received his First Star. Then came the long awaited time for the boys in the exchange of gifts. Akela McLeod announced that the next Pack meeting would be held on Friday, January 9, at which time he would present the Pack with a shield.

Just a reminder that the Cub-Scout-Guide-Brownie Uniform Exchange is scheduled for January. If you have any parts of the Scout movement uniform for trade, to donate, or for sale, watch this column for the date in January.

KIBBLEWHITE ROVER SCOUTS

There's good news tonight for the Squires of the Crew. Yes sir, their number has been increased. Ex-Tom Payton has become Squire Tom Payton. Seriously enough, we wish Tom lots of luck during the months to come. We are honored that Tom has decided to join our Crew, especialy since he lives in Lakefield and has to motor in every night.

Saturday, January 3 is a date that everyone in the Crew should make careful note of. On this date, the Crew is going to hold a party in the Den. Stags are strictly forbidden. Every member must bring along a lady friend.

There will be a meeting tonight.

Monday, January 5, the Crew will be going up to the Anson House to sing some of the old songs. In the past the Crew has gone up to Anson House every year at Christmas to sing carols, but this year we were unable to set a date that was convenient to both the Crew and Anson House. So, we have decided that the folks might appreciate a few of the sings that they used to know. Oh yes, don't forget, full uniform for the Anson House. Yes that means shorts too.

SC PREMIERS MEEET—The heads of Canada's two Social Credit provincial governments, meeting for the first time, discuss problems of their respective provinces. Premier E. C. Manning (left), of Alberta, and Premier W. A. C. Bennett, of British Columbia, agreed on the "desirability" of pushing both provincial boundaries northward by some 350 miles. They also decided to make a joint submission to Ottawa urging construction of a 227-mile rail line between the B.C. owned Pacific Great Eastern and the Northern Alberta Railways. This would give the Peace River region, straddling the north of both provinces, a direct outlet to the Pacific coast.

Christmas Dance Held In Bethany

BETHANY (ENS)—The annual Christmas Dance sponsored by the Loyal Orange Lodge members was held in the Bethany Town Hall on Saturday evening and attracted a large crowd. The Hall was gaily decorated for the occasion in Christmas colors and novelty hats, horns and ribbons for the dancers added to the merriment. Ruth Wilson's band provided the music. Prizes for lucky spot dances went to Mr. and Mrs. Charles Crowe of Fraserville; Maurice Whiteside, Bethany, and Miss Josephine Smith of Pontypool. Tickets on turkeys and chickens had been sold previously and the lucky winners were Joe Piper, Bowmanville; A. Young, W. McBride, Miss Bessie Smith, B. Whaley, all of Peterborough; Angus McDonald, Toronto; Mrs. Ernest Youngman and Mrs. L. Milliby of Bethany.

Another pleasant feature of the evening was the presentation of Christmas gifts to Thomas Staples and Mr. and Mrs. Roy Ferren from the Bethany Girls Softball Club.

Miss Marie Carr, captain of the team, spoke briefly expressing the sincere appreciation of the girls to Mr. Ferren for his management of the team, to Mr. Staples as coach and to Mrs. Ferren, who had been their scorekeeper for several seasons.

Little Dianne Mulligan, the team's mascot presented the gifts; leather billfolds to each of the gentlemen and a rhinestone necklace to Mrs. Ferren. Each of the recipients thanked the girls for their gifts and wished them another successful season in 1953.

Rush Point Pupils Stage Annual Concert

RUSH POINT (ENS)—The White Church at Rush Point was filled Friday evening when the Sunday School and the pupils of the Rush Point public school combined to present a Christmas concert, the proceeds amounting to $75.80.

Della Petherick gave the recitation of welcome. There were seven short plays on the program, four from the Sunday School and three from Rush Point. Recitations were given by Evelyn Wrightly, Betty Menzies, Shirley Parker, Douglas McArthur, Susan Milligan, Garney Davidson. A Korean version of "The Night Before Christmas" was given by Kenneth McArthur; a vocal trio was sung by the Misses Dorothy, Betty and Roberta Cooke to guitar accompaniment by Miss Marie Newton. A pantomime was presented by the girls of the Sunday School. A vocal trio was sung by Joan McGowan, Iris Toms and Marina Pollock. Choruses were sung by both schools together with Christmas carols with the audience joining in the latter.

Makes Christmas Happier For Children Of Convicts

By MIRIAN ROGERS (NEA)

OKLAHOMA CITY, Okla. — (NEA) — Dan Vinson runs a Christmas shopping service for the strangest clientele in the world—murderers, thieves and dope peddlers—and because of them he pays the freight on a million gifts each year.

The Oklahoma City contractor ships carloads of toys and clothing to the children of convicts in both North and South America. Beginning in December, one freight car after another rolls out of the Oklahoma City train yards, bulging with gifts for the "forgotten" children of men who broke society's laws and were locked up.

Vinson provides the freight cars, supervises the gigantic job of making the toys and often pays personal visits to penitentiary death houses so that murderer who wont be around at Christmas time can get in his order.

He turns Oklahoma City inside out, looking for scrap metal that can be turned into toy airplanes, automobiles and other mechanical gadgets. He solicits gifts of clothing, discarded dolls, has-been tricycles and othe dilapidated toys that are headed for the scrap heap.

From his toy stockpile, Vinson gets enough playthings to fill the Christmas orders that pour in from nearly every penitentiary in the Western hemisphere. Last year he sent a million presents to the children of convicted felons. This Christmas Vinson expects to surpass that mark.

Making Christmas happier for such youngsters is a crusade to Vinson. He's a bit gruff about the fate of the unlucky offspring of America's criminal population.

"These kids don't deserve to be cheated out of Christmas," he tells everyone. "They have committed no crime."

Any prisoner in the Western hemisphere can get on the mailing list by writing Vinson in Oklahoma City. Some of America's most vicious criminals have done so. Men who are serving life sentences for murder, bank robbery, sex crimes, selling dope and other crimes clamor for Vinson's unique personal shopping service.

Vinson always has plenty of help with his Yuletide shopping. Hundreds of Oklahoma City residents join in. Volunteer workers from civic clubs, Boy Scouts, business firms and housewives work long hours repairing old toys and making new ones. Vinson himself puts in 18 to 20 hours daily in the last hectic days.

Nearly all the presents are made from material donated by businessmen and private citizens. Vinson never solicits money. When all the scrap material is gathered up, the volunteer helpers convert it into dolls, airplanes, cut-out books, trinkets, scarves and hundreds of other items.

The genial 65-year-old Vinson is a natural in his role. He was once an "underprivileged" child himself. Until he developed an asphalt concrete for roads, Vinson went broke two or three times. Now his contracting and royalties earn him an excellent income. Vinson puts several thousand dollars into his program each year, spreading his name and fame afar.

November and December are fantastically busy months for Vinson. His family almost never sees him. Employees at his company nearly forget what the man looks like because he spends the last two months directing the program. Running the biggest one-man Christmas delivery service in the world is a full-time job.

In the morning, the Rev. W. H. Tonge chose as the subject for his address, "Going Home for Christmas?" and special music by the choir included two anthems, Miss Bette Milage taking the solo part in one. Mrs. T. E. Rath was at the organ for both services.

Hundreds Of Children Greet Lakefield Santa

LAKEFIELD (ENS) — Santa Claus was the man of the hour on Saturday afternoon when he arrived in Lakefield, and was welcomed by hundreds of children and just about as many adults. Riding in a decorated float, he was part of a parade which formed at the Lakefield Hotel and drove down Queen Street to the Post Office, where he was officially welcomed by Donald Hendren, president of the Lakefield Chamber of Commerce. All arrangements for Santa's visit were made by the retail committee of the chamber, with Archie Stewart as chairman and Ralph Beavis, Perce Archer, W. D. Sheppard and Phillip Perley as his committee.

Heading the parade was Police Chief L. G. Foster, followed by members of the board of directors in cars, and a fire truck from the Lakefield fire department. Santa was accompanied by two clowns and was piped up main street by piper U. E. Waterman.

After being assured by Mr. Hendren that only good boys and girls were there to welcome him, Santa, with the aid of Chamber of Commerce directors, distributed 500 bags of candy and nuts to the children, and promised that he would be back in the village again on Wednesday night.

Favor Cautious Debt Reduction In U.S. In Good Times Only

By FORBES RHUDE
Canadian Press Business Editor

A formula for repayment of the huge national debt of the United States has been suggested by a group of American economists.

The debt now is $267,000,000,000 and its repayment would, at best, be a long-drawn-out process.

The formula-making group consists of university, business and labor economists who make up a special committee of the Twentieth Century Club, a non-profit-making foundation for economic research.

In effect, the economists suggest that the debt be whittled down when times are good, but that nothing drastic be done about it when times are less favorable.

TAX INCREASE

They suggest among other things an automatic 10-per-cent increase in the income tax rate when employment is high, as a source for debt-reduction funds.

They feel, however, that when employment is falling off and prices are skidding, taxes should be cut.

The committee holds that the huge debt, if properly managed, need not be feared, and says it can be managed in such a way as to maintain high employment and stable prices. It cautions against "heroic debt reduction" which might bring a too-sudden drop in prices—or deflation.

The committee's findings have brought forth some contrary opinions.

The Wall Street Journal, for instance, warns that there is "danger in this idea that somehow debt is a boon." It adds: "In acquiring the present debt we have destroyed half the value of the people's money, robbed the people of their savings, and multiplied the burden of taxes already beyond the dreams of the most avaricious tyrant."

EXPRESS WORRY

Other sources express worry over the private debt of business, agriculture and industry in the United States, which now is higher than the federal debt.

Sam Dawson of The Associated Press, reviewing the matter, reports:

"The monthly review of the National Association of Credit Men warns business men and individuals to take a cautious policy towards taking on further obligations. . . .

"The Association now sees deflation as likely in the future and warns that debts incurred now in cheap dollars probably will have to be paid in the future in dollars of higher purchasing power, giving the lender a break over the borrower."

Canada, which has had a debt-reduction policy since the war, had a net debt at March 31 last of $11,077,600,000, a reduction of $2,343,800,000 from the peak of $13,421,400,000 reached March 31, 1946.

LAKEFIELD (ENS). — A special meeting of the Lakefield Public School Board was held to consider applications for the position vacant on the staff due to the resignation of Mrs. Althea Wilcox. The chairman, Albert G. Buchanan was in the chair, and all the members but one present.

Only one application, that of Mrs. Marjorie Hobden, was received. Mrs. Hobden also made a personal application, and on motion of trustees Mrs. Harold Wilford and the Rev. W. B. Walker, she will be engaged at the rate of $2,100 per annum to start January 1, 1953. This rate to be increased by $100 per annum, on confirmation of permanent first-class standing.

Mrs. Ellen O'Donnell will be paid an allowance of $50 for extra duties during the month of December.

Mr. Elliott of Pierce & Pierce, surveyors of Peterborough, and William C. Grant addressed the board regarding the property owned by the board and in the process of being surveyed. Several details were explained by Mr. Elliott and decisions given concerning same.

William F. Whetung was appointed representative from the Lakefield Public School Board to the Lakefield District High School Board for the year 1953.

Appreciation of the services rendered by chairman A. G. Buchanan, who retires this year, was voiced by Mr. Walker, and was endorsed by all members present.

Tells of Christmas In China

Mr. J. W. Johnston spoke at the Free Methodist Church Sunday evening on the subject "Christmas in China," emphasizing that China being a heathen country does not celebrate Christmas except as the light of the Gospel is brought to the people by missionaries. He related his experiences of four Christmases spent in China, 1926 to 1930. In the candlelight carol sing after the service, Mrs. K. Bauder rendered a solo "O Holy Night" and Mr. Sam Church sang "Star of the East." Several short Christmas readings put emphasis on the true meaning of Christmas. The Rev. K. Bauder was presented with a Christmas purse from the congregation and Mrs. G. Robinson received a gift in recognition of her faithful service as pianist.

The Free Methodist Sunday School Christmas service was held in the church last Thursday evening with superintendent Mr. Stan Church in charge of the program. The film, "The Royal Tour" was shown and Christmas carols sung. Three numbers in group singing were by Mrs. G. Robinson's beginners class, Mrs. G. Bullieds primary class, and Mrs. K. Bauder's girls' class. Solos were sung by Gail Ferguson and Sharon Jarvis. Awards for perfect attendance were presented to David and Weldon Johnston. Other awards for attendance went to June and Clarence Clark, Kenneth Collins and Sylvia Church. Wayne Collins read the scripture lesson. All the children of the Sunday school were presented with gifts and treats from their teachers and the superintendent was remembered with a gift from the pupils. White gifts were brought to this service for Christmas baskets to the needy.

Hospital Staff Christmas Party

Rollicking fun and a remarkable spirit of good comradeship characterized the Christmas party Monday evening for the entire staff of St. Joseph's Hospital, which was held in the auditorium of the nurses' residence. While all the numbers of a variety show were enthusiastically received, eligible for high places in the hit parade were the piano selections by Miss Serri Paeraid, the song and dance of Mr. A. Lalonde, the Christmas skit entitled "That's nothing" by the food service department, and the square dance by the probationers and X-ray technicians. During the pause for refreshments, individual gifts from the Sisters of the Hospital were informally distributed. Square dancing under the direction of Mr. A. Lalonde with Misses Brooks and Whitmore at the piano concluded the evening's entertainment. The draw on a Christmas doll was made and Miss Helen Elson of Ida is the winner.

Queen's Dec. 25 Broadcast Feminine Achievement.

By MURIEL NARRAWAY

LONDON (CP)—When the Queen makes the first broadcast of her reign in a Christmas Day message across the world, it will be one more feminine achievement in an age where women have won increasing recognition.

As the first Queen in British history to broadcast on Christmas Day —a tradition started by her grandfather George V—Elizabeth as woman, mother and Queen will deliver a message of special significance to her own sex everywhere.

With a predominant petticoat influence adding appeal to many royal events, women in Britain also take close personal interest in next year's Coronation. Scarcely a day passes without Princess Margaret, Queen Mother Elizabeth or the Duchess of Kent adding to royal news of feminine interest.

TOURED MALAYA

In November, the Duchess of Kent was acclaimed for her tour of such Far East trouble spots as Malaya. And as the year drew to a close, increasing attention was devoted to Princess Alexandra, daughter of the Duchess of Kent who will be 16 on Christmas Day. Said to inherit her mother's sense of dress, Alexandra will add to the fashion interest of many coming court occasions.

Meanwhile, the Queen showed during 1952 that she also can command fashion interest. Early in December at a dinner for Commonwealth prime ministers she wore a white lace crinoline, its three-tier embroidered skirt ending in scalloped edging. This had the same simple, commanding elegance that made her stand out at this year's royal film performance. Then she wore a tailored gown of slipper satin, with black back, white front, halter neckline and deep revers.

On the food front, it was a fairly encouraging year for women. Tea is off the ration for the first time since rationing started in January, 1940, and it is expected eggs will soon return to the free market.

CONTROL ENDED

The ending of government control on the price and quality of furniture, announced in December, added to a feeling of greater freedom. Similar relaxation was made in the clothing and textile scheme last March and clothing prices now are more competitive.

Among the notable social events of the year was the Aug. 14 wedding of Anthony Eden, Britain's foreign secretary. His bride was 32-year-old Clarissa Churchill, niece of the prime minister.

A ceremony with all the trimmings—top hats, Rolls Royces, film stars, minks and gardenias—was the Oct. 23 wedding of Scotland's Lord Ogilvie to American millionairess Virginia Ryan. It was attended by Princess Margaret and Queen Mother Elidabeth.

NO. 1 BACHELOR GIRL

One of the favorite pastimes of women readers—picking a beau for Princess Margaret—lost some of its excitement during the year.

Lord Ogilvie was struck off. Another young man frequently mentioned as a contender, the Earl of Dalkeith, announced his engagement in August. He is to marry Jane McNeill, a former model.

Margaret remains Britain's No. 1 bachelor girl. Since her father's death Princess Margaret has spent much of her time with her mother. Her night club and theatre outings have been few and give no indication of coming favorites.

Morrison-Hogle

The wedding took place Saturday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Hogle of Campbellford of their daughter Shirley Elaine to Thomas Hartley Morrison, son of Mrs. Thomas Morrison and the late Mr. Morrison of Norwood.

The Rev. A. E. Toombs performed the ceremony in a setting of flowers and ferns and the wedding music was played by the bride's mother.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was gowned in blue lace over taffeta, semi-formal length, and wore a lace jacket and a Dutch bonnet of the lace with a band of dusky pink roses to match her corsage. Mrs. Gordon Curle was her sister's attendant and she wore a rose dress with black accessories, her hat being trimmed with yellow roses to match her corsage. The groom's attendant was his brother Norman Morrison.

For the occasion the bride's mother wore a navy crepe dress and had a corsage of roses. The groom's mother was also in navy and had a red velvet hat and a red rose corsage.

Friends of the bride serving at the reception were Miss Jane Hogle and Miss Marion Hubble of Campbellford and Miss Phyllis Oitment of Toronto.

Leaving on a wedding trip to Toronto and points in the United States, the bride wore a blue gabardine suit with black accessories under a purple velvet coat and hat.

Bryan-MacDonald

The Rev. V. E. R. Zufelt of Omemee officiated Saturday in the wedding of Ruby Card MacDonald to Arthur Carl Bryan at the bride's home. She was given in marriage by her father, Mr. Robert MacDonald, and the couple's attendants were Mr. and Mrs. William Howden. Mrs. Clifford Hall played wedding music.

The bride wore a gown in royal blue and a waist length veil, and her corsage was of pink camellias. Mrs. Howden was dressed in rust shade and wore a corsage of white gardenias.

About 40 guests attended the wedding and were served lunch by Mrs. Morris McGee, Mrs. Francis Gilmour, Mrs. Ray Nelson, Mrs. Ivan Henry, and Mrs. Audrey Gilmour, relatives of the bride and groom.

The couple left afterward on a motor trip to Toronto and Niagara Falls and points west, the bride travelling in a navy suit and matching accessories. They will live on a farm near Mount Pleasant.

Mrs. Doug. Davis New President Ladies' Curling

What's Right?

When you have guests in your home they admire a new possession that you purchased at a bargain.

WRONG: Say that it was a bargain or you couldn't have afforded it.

RIGHT: Realize that such remarks are damaging to your husband's self-respect, and so don't talk "poor mouth".

Home and School Association News

LAKEFIELD

LAKEFIELD —(ENS)—Principals and staffs of Lakefield public and high schools were entertained at tea on Thursday afternoon by the president and executive members of the Lakefield Home and School Association.

Principal J. E. Stephens of the Lakefield district high school and Principal E. G. Sloan of the public school both spoke briefly and thanked the members for their hospitality. Mr. Stephens also extended his appreciation for the donation of $10 made to the school for field day prizes by the association.

Albert G. Buchanan, chairman of the public school board, who is retiring this year, thanked the ladies for the splendid co-operation at all times and especially congratulated them on their success in obtaining accident and medical insurance for the pupils of the public school. He stated that the Board had wanted to have this insurance but it had not been possible for them to make arrangements necessary and that he was very glad that the Home and School had been able to put it through.

Tea arrangements were in charge of Mrs. A. W. Newson and Mrs. E. Johnson, Mrs. W. C. Grant and Mrs. G. Kennedy assisted in serving.

Scouts, Guides Christmas Party

LAKEFIELD (ENS). — Skipper Ken Jakins was master of ceremonies on Friday evening when the Lakefield Brownies, Guides, Sea Scouts, and Cubs held a Christmas party and concert in the Memorial Hall. The platform was colorful with the flags of the organizations, each accompanied by two color bearers, and the program opened with the singing of "O Canada."

The Guides delighted the audience with a gay square dance. Those taking part were Iola Peters, Karen Walker, Carol Hopkins, Isobel Coons, Athabelle Hendren, Anne Witherstone, Gloria Bolton and Patty Jakins.

A skit explaining what Brownies are was enacted by members of the First Brownie Pack, and the Second Pack sang two carols in part, "While Shepherds Watched" and "Silent Night." The Guides also sang a group of carols. A Christmas story was read by Brenda Hollingshead.

Melville Kingdon, president of the men's group committee, spoke briefly and welcomed those attending.

Christmas carols were then sung by all, with Nancy Doubt and Betty Jane Rath leading and Jeanette Staples at the piano, following which movies were shown by Skipper Jakins. Calendars were sold by Mrs. C. Serson and Mr. Kingdon.

Rotarians Hold Christmas Ladies' Night.

About 225 Rotarians and their wives attended the annual Christmas ladies' night held at the Empress Hotel Monday. A buffet dinner was served at tables for eight, and during the dinner St. Andrew's United Church junior boys' choir, directed by Mrs. John McColl, sang Christmas carols in a candlelight procession.

A toast to the ladies was given by Dr. Donald Aitken, chairman of the entertainment and master of ceremonies for the evening. Dr. Agnes K. Moffatt responded.

The Rotary-Anns were presented with Christmas favors — Rotary playing cards.

A Rotarian barbershop quartet of Harry Northrop, Charles Allen, D. T. Diplock and Ward Smith, sang and led in carol singing, accompanied by Mrs. Diplock. Harry Northrop and Charles Allen also favored with piano duo numbers. The Silverton trio from Toronto entertained with violin, vocal and piano accordion numbers.

Door prizes were drawn by S. J. Black, past president. Winners were Mrs. Edward Craig, Mrs. G. F. Rishor, Mrs. E. H. Whelpley, Mrs. Edward Spurway, Mrs. Arnold Mathews, Mrs. Jack Jobe, Mrs. J. A. Dewart, Mrs. Robert Abbott, Mrs. Frank Patterson and Mrs. L. W. Thompson.

Max Comstock moved a vote of thanks to the entertainment committee.

DOROTHY DIX

Change From Home Does Mom Good

DEAR MISS DIX: Should a housewife have a night out? I've been married eleven years and have three children. My neighbor and I enjoy going to the movies one night a week. My husband thinks I should either stay home or go with him and the children. I do like to go with him, but I don't feel I'm asking too much by wanting a night out with my friend. My husband goes bowling one night a week, and occasionally goes to the movies with my friend's husband.

My mother-in-law agrees with me, and we'd all like your opinion.

ANXIOUS.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: Your husband enjoys his bowling night, so should be able to see the justice of your desire for an evening with a friend of your own. However, don't put his objections down as orneriness; most husbands—especially good ones—simply don't like to be alone. Even though they spend the evening reading, watching television, or dozing, they like to know that the lady of the house is at home. A wise wife realizes that a contented husband is not likely to wander; but at the same time she also knows that a tired mother needs an occasional reprieve from household duties. Every woman should have friends of her own sex and age. No matter how devoted she is to husband and children, the companionship of another woman provides the needed balance to her daily life. Getting away for a weekly movie date is good for mom and it's good for her family, too. A relaxed evening means a rested mother the next day, and a fresh topic of conversation added to the common round of subjects.

FATHER'S OPPORTUNITY

An evening alone with the children is good for Dad, too. Often he can come closer to them than at any other time. Perhaps your youngsters are already in bed by the time you leave. If they aren't, father can take over the job of tucking them in on your night out and, if he approaches the task with the proper spirit, he can establish a very special bond between himself and his offspring.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: The man I love is in the army—and engaged to someone else. I'm sure he doesn't love her, but just wanted someone to write to him. I think it would be better for all concerned if they broke up and he came back to me. Have you any suggestions as to how I can go about it?

A. J.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: Aren't you taking rather a lot for granted? You don't mention that the man ever was in love with you and, even if he had been, it's possible he had an honest change of heart. Better leave things as they are, and look around for another boy; if your soldier is destined for you, he'll realize it without prompting from you.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: As a result of family trouble, I find myself living almost in the past. I have a fine husband and children, but my thoughts never seem to be with them; instead, I keep thinking of things over and done with.

IN DISTRESS.

ANSWER: Your first need, and an urgent one, is for good medical care. That may clear up the entire situation, and if further treatment is deemed necessary by your doctor, he'll recommend it. You are a young woman and there's no need for you to feel hopeless about the condition.

Readers' Question Column Conducted By Mary Moore

QUESTION: Please give a recipe for shredded cabbage and paper thin carrots, cold and with a vinegar flavor . . . it was served with fish.—F. M. M.

ANSWER: The slaw to which you refer is shredded on a special slaw shredder, one of which you may purchase in large hardware stores.

OLD-FASHIONED CABBAGE AND CARROT SLAW

Three cups cabbage shredded in hair-like shreds, 1 cup finely shredded carrots. Mix together with 1 tablespoon sugar, 1 teaspoon grated onion, 1 tablespoon vinegar, 6 tablespoons cream and 1 tablespoon boiled salad dressing to which you have added an extra ½ teaspoon dry mustard.

Another dressing for slaw is ¼ cup each sour cream and vinegar, 3 tablespoons sugar, 1 teaspoon salt and ⅛ or ¼ teaspoon dry mustard. I hope one of these is like the one you tasted in the restaurant.

QUESTION: While in New York recently we had a piece of cheese cake which was delicious. This cake was not made with a base of graham wafers or a form of pie crust; it had a cake base, a very light spongy cake and it seemed to me the cottage cheese filling was in between 2 layers of cake, but all cooked together. Did you ever taste it or hear of it? Would you be good enough to publish the recipe in your column as we read it always.—M.D.

ANSWER: I'm so glad you said "all cooked together." That reminded me of a recipe I had in my files and sure enough I think it is what you want. Some of the filling separates away from the mixture and becomes a spongy top and bottom.

SPONGE CHEESE CAKE

One-half cup melted butter, 2 cups zwelback crumbs, ½ cup powdered sugar, 1 teaspoon cinnamon, 4 eggs, ¾ cup granulated sugar, ¼ cup lemon juice, rind of ½ lemon grated, ½ teaspoon each salt and vanilla, 1 cup cream, 2 cups mashed white cream cheese, ¼ cup flour. Combine butter, 1 cup crumbs, sugar and cinnamon. Blend thoroughly. Separate eggs. Combine yolks, granulated sugar and ½ cup water. Cook these stirring constantly in double boiler until mixture coats spoon. Stir in lemon rind and juice, salt and vanilla. Beat egg whites slightly and stir into cream. Blend cheese thoroughly with the flour and blend into cream mixture. Combine liquid mixtures. Stir in crumb mixture. Turn into greased baking dish, and sprinkle remaining crumbs over top (if desired). Bake in slow oven of 275 degrees Fahr. for 1 hour. Leave cake in oven 45 minutes after cooking is finished — if stove is electric leave door half open during 45 minutes heat is turned off.

QUESTION: You helped me before with pickles—now will you help me again? How to roast and stuff a half turkey? We have a large bird and a small family, so I would like to roast half of the bird at Christmas and the other half at New Year's.—Mrs. Rex M.

ANSWER: Hello again. I am glad you asked for this.

ROAST HALF STUFFED TURKEY

Singe and wash and clean turkey half. But skewer the skin on the breast to meat near the centre to prevent it shrinking away and exposing breast meat. Brush all skin with unsalted fat. Tie leg above joint securely to tail. Place an aluminum foil, cavity side down, in open pan. Cover with cloth moistened with dripping. Roast at 300 degrees Fahr. If weight of half bird is 8 or 10 lbs. it requires from 3 to 3½ hours. Roast it half of that time, then lift it from the foil, place stuffing on the foil in mould the shape of the cavity. Replace bird, over stuffing. Finish baking at 300 degrees Fahr. When transferring to hot platter, lift it with eggturners, foil and all, to support dressing. Tuck edges of foil that show under. Leaving the stuffing on the foil facilitates serving.

Be very careful to protect your second half of turkey in moisture-proof wrappings, as it will dry out if not carefully wrapped and stored at about 38 degrees Fahr.

I remember the pickle recipe, and hope you liked it.

6—In Memoriam

ADAMS-JOHNSON—In memory of J. Adams who passed away Nov. 22, 1944, father to Elsa Johnson and L. Johnson who passed away Dec. 22, 1944, father to Frank Johnson.
—Ever remembered Frank, Elsa and children.

CAMPBELL—In memory of L. G. Campbell, 65602, who was killed in action at Ortona, December 23rd, 1943.
—Remembered by a friend.

ELMHIRST—In loving memory of a dear husband and father, William H. Elmhirst, who passed away Dec. 23rd, 1950.
Memory drifts to scenes long past,
Time rolls on, but memories last;
Sunshine passes, shadows fall,
Love's remembrance outlasts all.
—Lovingly remembered by his wife and family.

FREEMAN—In memory of Mrs. Jack Freeman, who passed away on Dec. 21st, 1950.
A token of love and remembrance
Of one we shall never forget,
Her memory to us is a treasure,
Her loss a lifetime regret.
—Always remembered by Mr. and Mrs. Murtagh MacPherson, Three Rivers, Que.

JAMIESON—In loving memory of W. J. Jamieson, who passed away December 23rd, 1949.
"Gone but not forgotten."
—Fondly remembered by his wife and family.

TOPLIS—In loving memory of S. E. Toplis, who passed away December 23, 1943.
Gone, dear father, gone to rest,
Away from sorrow, care and pain;
May you rest in peace, dear father,
Until we meet again.
—Ever remembered by daughter Betty.

WEBDALE—In loving memory of a dear wife and mother, Mrs. Fred Webdale, who passed away one year ago today.
We are sad within our memory,
Lonely are our hearts today:
For the one we loved so dearly
Has forever been called away.
We think of her in silence,
No eye can see us weep;
But many silent tears are shed
When others are asleep.
—Ever remembered by husband and family.

WYNNE—In loving memory of our mother, Mary Maude Wynne, who passed away Dec. 16, 1950.
Her weary hours in days of pain,
Her troubled nights are past,
In our aching hearts we know
She has found sweet rest at last.
—Ever remembered by her sons, Harold, Fred, daughters-in-law, Barbara and Marney and daughter Gladys.

U.K. Show Folk Prepare Season's Pantos

By GLENNE CURRIE

LONDON (Reuters)—At 100 British theatres, comics, chorus girls, acrobats and miscellaneous "show folk" are busy rehearsing pantomimes, those strange British perennials which flourish each Christmas season.

During Christmas school vacations, "pantos" are a must for every family with children under 12. Nursery-tale characters, "principal boys," slapstick, "transformation scenes," topical songs and unconnected light musical numbers provide something special for the youngsters and their elders.

Pantomime openings coincide almost exactly with the last day of school before the Christmas holiday. They close as late as possible, usually when schools reopen.

For the adults' benefit, the hero (the "principal boy") is always played by a leggy girl in tights, and the hero's widowed mother (the "dame") always is a raucous male comic.

These switches in sex took place in Victorian days, when the present-day pantomime emerged from burlesques of the straight-faced "harlequinades" descended from the 16th and 17th century Italian Comedia Dell' Arte.

But there is little in today's pantomime to recall the harlequinade, whose amorous adventures have been transformed into a romanticized love story suitable for children. The only difference between the hero and heroine is the amount of leg they show. The hero, in "her" tights, shows more.

RECALLS CLOWNS

"Buttons," the comic pageboy in Cinderella, who helps "Cinders" get her man although he is in love with her himself, is a standard part of the pantomimes. He is a direct descendant of the clowns, whose shaved-heads and white-painted faces convulsed Roman audiences more than 2,000 years ago.

All the familiar fairy tales are used though some are scarcely recognizable.

Babes in the Wood, for instance, always includes Robin Hood and his merry men; Red Riding Hood always has a two-legged "demon king" with magical powers; Aladdin always is assisted by "widow Twankey," his "dame" mother.

CCL Supports Quebec Unions

OTTAWA (CP) — The Canadian Congress of Labor today expressed support for striking members of the Canadian and Catholic Confederation of Labor at Louiseville, Que.

A statement issued by A. R. Mosher, CCL president, said:

"The Canadian Congress of Labor stands solidly behind the members of the CCCL in their strike at Louiseville, Que. The tactics which have been used against the Louiseville strikers are indicative of conditions which many of our own members have experienced and are still facing in the province of Quebec. . . ."

Evacuate 76 Families In Bronx Blaze

NEW YORK (AP) — A fire in the Bronx swept through a series of buildings and forced the evacuation of 76 families before it was brought under control early today.

Some 250 firemen, five of whom were injured, battled the flames for more than three hours.

The fire of undetermined cause started about midnight in the basement of a paint and hardware store.

20 Seamen Cling To Wrecked Ship

The 2,915 - ton vessel is holed and wallowing in heavy seas. Ten of the crew and one woman — 61-year-old Mrs. Olga Gustavsson, wife of the chief engineer — were taken off last night after they leaped from the deck to a lifeboat below.

Lifeboats are standing by. The Margareta, inbound from Alexandria, Egypt, ran aground Monday on the rocky islet of Ailsa Craig.

Fierce Fog

LONDON (CP)—Ambulance service was among the worst affected during London's recent spell of fog. Twice attendants had to act as midwives when the thick blanket made driving impossible. Some vehicles were two or three hours on a journey normally taking 15 minutes.

The Real Christmas Spirit

Say Steps Taken Prevent Uprising

WASHINGTON (AP) — The state department said Monday that appropriate steps have been taken to prevent a prisoner-of-war uprising like the one at Koje island, which the International Red Cross committee has criticized.

The department made public its five - month - old correspondence on the subject, used by the Communists as propaganda.

The Red Cross committee report on the Koje island riot of last April said the killing of Communist captives then appeared to have violated the 1949 Geneva Convention. One article of the pact calls for advance warning before lethal weapons are used against unruly prisoners.

The Reds have used this report, made public Dec. 15 in Geneva, and the disorders at Pongam island prison Dec. 14 as vehicles for attacks on the United States.

The Russians tried during the weekend at the United Nations in New York to push through a vote of censure against the U.S. for the deaths of 87 prisoners at Pongam. The Russian resolution was defeated by a vote of 45 to 5.

Threat Against Life Not Worrying PM

WELLINGTON, N.Z. (Reuters)—Prime Minister Sidney Holland said today he isn't worried about a threat made on his life while he was in Auckland Monday, on the way home from the Commonwealth economic conference in London.

He said it might have been "a hoaxer, a crank or a practical joker or some other misguided person" who telephoned the Auckland police.

The police inferred from the message that he might be attacked nd gave him a strong police guard.

U.S. Evangelist Talks At Front

Allied artillery fire punctuated Graham's talk in an amphitheatre less than three miles from where some of the men stood outpost watch last night.

Their attention focused on Graham's boyish face as he told them, "We know it is lonely out there, we know it is dangerous out there.

"But you need not walk alone tonight. Will those who want him at their side, who want to accept Christ now, this very moment, stand?"

A tall Negro sergeant stood. At the other end of a row of sandbags a white major rose, doffed his cap, and bowed his head. A dozen more came to their feet. Then still more, until fully a third of the 750 were on their feet.

"Thank you," he said softly. "Thank you."

KENILWORTH, England (CP)—Turkey breeder Maj. John Hibbert put an unusual guard over this year's Christmas stock. Three pedigreed Jersey bulls were spaced at intervals around his farm. The major also has a wide selection of booby traps.

Award TCA Contract To Niagara Firm

TORONTO (CP) — Trans-Canada Air Lines said today a contract to build the largest commercial hangar in Canada at TCA's Malton airport has been awarded to B. Perini and Sons Canada Limited at Niagara Falls.

Construction of the single-span hangar, 817 feet wide and 200 feet deep, will start early next month. Cost of th project, to be completed next November, was not disclosed.

Say Huge Waves Batter Freighter Far From Port

VANCOUVER (CP)—The hazardous path being followed by the crippled freighter Maplecove was blocked again today by mountainous seas and it appeared the vessel wasn't going to fight back to Vancouver under her own power.

The Maplecove, which has been bucking toward safety in starts and stops, radioed she was unable to used her patched-up rudder because of the fierce weather. The asked a salvage tug to buck the storm and make all pissible speed to her side.

The 10,000-ton freighter's lonely battle started Thursday more than 1,000 miles off the British Columbia coast. Several times, in the short intervals between the series of storms bombarding the Pacific, she made 10 to 12 knots following makeshift repairs on the rudder.

The distance still separating the Maplecove and the ocean tug Island Sovereign is estimated at 275 miles. If rough weather continues, and indications are that it will, the powerful tug will take the Maplecove in tow. Otherwise, the tug's duties will be simply those of an escort ship.

Owners of the Island Sovereign, Island Tug and Barge Ltd., said the craft was 'edging' toward the freighter against savage seas after dropping previous plans for following a parallel course to a rendezvous point.

The Maplecove, a Canadian Pacific Steamships vessl, is rturncific Steamship vessel, is returning from her second run to the Orher skipper is Capt. R. A. Leicester of Burnaby, B. C.

Monday, the weather ship St. Catharines, 65 miles from the Maplecove, reported winds of 60 miles an hour and "very rough"

Ask Death Penalty For 2 German Doctors

METZ, France (Reuters) — The prosecutor today asked the death sentence for two German doctors, Eugene Haagen and Otto Bickenbach, on trial here for wartime medical experiments on "human guinea pigs."

The prosecution claims that experiments at the former Struhof concentration camp in eastern France cost the lives of more than 90 Jews and gypsies.

One of the charges against Bickenbach is that he poisoned prisoners to find a medical protection against poison gas. Haagen is accused of using prisoners to discover a new vaccine for typhus.

Union Rejects New Ultimatum

VANCOUVER (CP) — An operators' ultimatum that their "final" price offer be accepted or there will be no herring fishing in British Columbia this year was rejected Monday night by the fishermen's union.

The United Fishermen and Allied Workers Union (TLC) in rejecting the offer only hours after it was put forward, announced it will continue to press for arbitration in the dispute.

The dispute over prices to be paid fishermen has kept the herring fleet in port since mid-October normal start of the season which usually runs to March.

Operators, who have rejected suggestions of arbitration had given the fishermen until Dec. 30 to give their answer to the final offer of $5.50 a ton, about $1 less than its previous offer. Fishermen want last year's price, $8.60 a ton.

A Christmas Story

Journey For Three

BY ANNE BARRETT

Someone switched off the light and opened the window; moonlight spilled round the edges of the curtains and into the darkened room. The figure in the bed tossed and then humped up the pillow, turned over again and drew her nose under the blankets as the cold air reached it. She breathed three times deeply and then was asleep.

Someone tiptoed round the door again to have a look and beckoned to another, who came in with an armful of parcels to put down. Between them they wheeled something large and heavy in through the door and went away. There was silence for a moment, then the three who had been watching inside the room dropped softly down to the floor.

Peter, the black boy, came first, then Monkey, then Andrew. They stood in a row in the moonlight and looked up at the bed.

Peter, the youngest, had rolling boot-button eyes and a crescent-shaped grin that curved up into his hair; whenever he moved his loose limbs jigged to and fro as though he were dancing.

Monkey was old, so old that he couldn't even remember when he had come to the house. He was small and very wizened and his thin legs were cased in tartan trousers; as though he had found his long life very surprising his eyebrows had risen into two high arches, wrinkling his forehead up above them.

Andrew was a honey-coloured bear. He had held his arms out so often in greeting that one of them had stiffened and now he could no longer bring it down.

It was Monkey who spoke first. He looked at the heap of parcels and then at the object that stood by the door. He shook his head.

"A bicycle," he said, "just as I feared. That parcel with the sharp edges is a camera. Our day is done".

They looked at each other sadly and nodded their heads.

"But she has given us presents," said Peter. He never cared to look on the sad side of life.

Monkey glanced at him in pity. "What did she give us last year?" he asked.

"Embroidered dressing gowns with our own initials!" said Andrew.

"And the year before?"

"Shoes in our own sizes!" said Peter proudly and tapped with his own on the floor.

PETER OPENS HIS PARCEL

"Then open your parcel and look," said Monkey, and he waited whilst Peter unwrapped the tissue paper.

"A star off the Christmas Tree! One of the decorations that were left over! Just as I thought. We were forgotten until the last moment and it was all she could find." Sadly Monkey and Andrew unwrapped their own stars and held them limply by their tinsel strings.

Monkey looked at Andrew. "This is the moment," he said. "Do we go or stay?"

"I think we should go,' he said gruffly. "Remember Ebbin."

They nodded. Ebbin had been the Brother's bear, lord of the nursery when they had first arrived. One could still see him lying about sometimes, when nobody could think where to put him away. But it was kinder not to look. There was nothing you could say to him now.

"It wouldn't be gay to be Ebbin," said Peter, dancing nervously.

"It would not be comfortable to be Ebbin," said Monkey grimly.

"It must be sad for the Brother when he sees old Ebbin," said Andrew, and he looked up again at his mistress's sleeping head.

"Are we ready then?" asked Monkey, Andrew swallowed hard, and with great difficulty Peter stood still for a moment on the tips of his toes, leaning forward over the bed.

"I wish," he began lightly, for a toy may have one wish in the whole course of its lifetime, and one wish only, "I wish that she may be happy!" and he fell back on his heels and started tap-dancing again.

Monkey searched through his store of wisdom. "I wish that she may forget us," he said.

As she tossed again in the moonlight and murmured something in her sleep, the first two stole out of the door. For a moment the finger tips of her outflung hand rested lightly on Andrew's head, then, as she turned and drew it in again, he followed the others outside.

OUT ON THE STREET

They trailed after Monkey across the slippery hall and mounted each other's shoulders to unlock the front door. They lowered themselves backwards down the front steps and at last they were out in the street.

"I used to turn somersaults over these rails!" cried Peter, and lingered to turn just one more.

"No looking backwards!" said Monkey firmly. "The question is, where shall we go?"

"Where the lights are!" cried Peter.

"To a hospital?" suggested Andrew.

"We must get right away first," he said, "or, sure as bedtime, the postman or milkman will find us and bring us back," and he started resolutely down the street.

OVERCOME AT LAST

The glow grew brighter as they drew towards it; at last they turned a corner and then stood gaping at what they saw.

They had come to an open place with a winged statue in the middle, and all around them the cliff-like walls of the buildings were shimmering and sparkling and running with lights, advertising everything under the sun in orange and purple and green and gold. Nothing stayed the same for a minute; the colors vanished and changed and raced up to the sky, drawing fountains that glittered and bubbling glasses of wine. Names were written, winked and then vanished away; as Monkey and Peter and Andrew stared up at them their faces turned from green to lilac, and from lilac to pink.

For a moment Peter was still with amazement, gazing up at a sea-green notice which said "SALLY DAY!" and then blinked and came on again. "SALLY DAY! SALLY DAY! SALLY DAY!" Suddenly, like a catherine wheel himself, he was off, leaping and singing and bounding in the air, all the colors of the lights reflecting in the blacks of his button eyes. He was too excited to notice when the crowd in front of the other two suddenly parted, leaving a free passage to the theatre outside which they were standing.

"Sally Day, the dancer!" cried a voice, and the name rustled over the crowd like the wind over grass. "The show's over, she's coming out!" and at that moment she appeared. Her gold hair was as bright as the shimmering fountain and her green eyes sparkled with a hundred reflections. Peter, who had given one last, tremendous leap, missed his footing and fell flat on the pavement in front of her, his star still clutched in his hand.

"Oh, look!" She turned to her escort. "Someone must have thrown him to me! A Christmas present! Oh, isn't he sweet!" and she pressed her fingers to her lips and blew kisses to the crowd as she stopped to pick him up. "He'll be my mascot, I know he'll bring me luck! I'll keep him foreyer and take him with me wherever I go!" and holding him by the arm she pirouetted a few steps with him past where Andrew and Monkey were standing to the door of her car.

The crowd roared with delight and as Peter was borne away dancing in triumph the other two saw him wave to them and saw something fly out of his hand and fall at their feet. It was his star, and as the crowd moved away again after their favorite, Andrew picked it up and held it with his own.

"Seems quiet without him," he said, "I can hear singing from the end of that street where the buses are going. Shall we go down there too? I don't think people would stand and sing on a night like this if there wasn't a fire."

Andrew nodded. They might be singing about his star. A bus drew up beside them and they jumped up onto the step.

"Upstairs only!" They climbed up among the mounting feet and sat down gasping, too breahless for a moment to do anything but listen. Just in front of them a couple with a small girl were talking to their neighbor.

"Been taking her to see the lights?"

They nodded.

"Your only one?"

The father snorted and the mother laughed out loud. "One of five! There's her and the twins, a boy of three and a baby girl."

flowed on like a river in the moonlight. Delighted with the noise that his shoes made on the stone, Peter danced on ahead of the others, his shadow jigging up and down on the lamp-posts.

"Dancing and lights!" he cried, but the others went more slowly, not wanting to miss any chance. Monkey climbed up to look in through a nursery window, but the bed was surrounded by proud-looking toys who put out their tongues at him; Andrew pushed his nose under the doorway of a humbler house, but only to draw it out again quickly as the dog inside snapped at what he thought was a rat. They passed the lighted windows of a shop, but it was long since closing time; with a shudder they passed by a junk stall full of broken toys marked down to five cents each.

At last they grew tired, and because Peter was the only one who seemed to know where he was going, Andrew and Monkey gave up their exploring and followed him. Still dancing and singing he was making his way towards the reddish glow that shone in the sky, and after a while it began to seem to the others that perhaps they might find what they were looking for there too. Old Monkey only wanted warmth from the frosty night now, and where there were lights, he thought, there might well be a fire.

For a long time now he had wondered about Christmas; it was his birthday and he thought he ought to know. He wondered why people gave each other presents and hung shiny things all over the house; why there was that pleasant, peculiar feeling in the air. He knew that it had something to do with a star for there were pictures of it on all their Christmas cards and they sang about it in their Christmas songs. He wanted to find that star, and suddenly, as he walked down the dark streets, it seemed to him that this was his chance. Such a light in the sky might well come from a star.

The couple in front were talking again. "Oh, how cold it is! How I long to get back beside our big fire!" said the wife. "What a pity we couldn't find a monkey for young Tom, as he wanted, they don't seem to make them any more."

Monkey started, looked out of the window for a moment as he made up his mind, and then firmly turned round.

"You come too," he whispered to Andrew. "Just imagine a house with five children! They could hardly grow out of us there."

Andrew shook his head. He was a one-person beap and the thought of five children held no charms for him. Besides, he was after his star.

"Goodbye, old friend," he said hurriedly, and climbing down carefully he lowered himself into the shopping basket. It was only just in time for at the next stop his new family got off.

ALONE ON TOP OF BUS

"All change!" He crept down among the feet again and stood on the pavement to think. While Monkey had been making up his mind they had gone past the singing place; in the distance Andrew could still hear the faint sound of the carols. "Star of Wonder! Star of Light!" So they were still singing about it. He must go back and find out.

But Andrew was small and the night was large, there was nobody about to follow now, and, as he wandered in what he thought was the right direction, a prowling cat sprang out from the shadows and chased him far out of his way. The sound of the singing grew fainter; at last Andrew could hear it no longer and sank down on a doorstep, quite lost.

A cold wind blew round the corner and shivered the tips of his fur, his short legs ached and his pads were sore. For a moment, his heart ached too; he thought of the nursery, the pile of parcels, the bicycle by the door.

What fun she would have riding

it! A little spark lit in his heart at the thought, then glowed warmer as he remembered Monkey and Peter and their luck. Thinking of his friends and with new courage, he got to his feet, and looked down the deserted street.

There was no mistaking it, it shone brighter than any he had ever seen, resting on the topmost branches of a giant Christmas Tree. He ran and stumbled up the dark hill towards it. The tree stood at the top of some steps in the doorway of a building, and Andrew could see the dark shape of a great dome rising behind the star. With great difficulty, for each step was as tall as himself, he climbed to the top and stood beneath the tree.

The wind that had ruffled his fur shook a fragrance of pine woods down from its needles and set the great star and all the little lights beneath it trembling. A powdering of silver dust fell like snow from the air. Andrew looked up at the large tree and its green, feathery arms seemed to curve down over him in protection. Suddenly he felt very tired. Still trailing his small stars behind him he crept in among the comforting branches and lay down. The tree swayed slightly above him and then the deep bells rang out from the dome. It was Christmas Day, but Andrew was asleep.

When the midnight service was over and the people had gone away, two were still left on the steps by the tree.

"I am so very sorry," said the man, "but all the toys were distributed earlier. If only you had come before . . ."

"I was working," said the woman, who seemed to be very poor, and her eyes searched the tree. "Now I've nothing to give him at all."

The man looked at her sadly and then down at the ground.

"Look," he said, "some of the little stars seem to have fallen from the tree, even these would be better than nothing," and he bent to pick them up. "We had such a lovely lot of toys too, this year," he went on, "painted carts and shops; the most beautiful things."

The woman shook her head. "I didn't want none of them smart toys," she said, "not for him. Only something for Christmas that'd teach him to love. Ain't that what it's for? Set his heart on a bear, poor little chap; there's a lot of love in bears. Still, it's good for you to get them stars," and she held out her hand to receive them.

As the sexton tried to pick them up he gave an exclamation. "They seem to be caught on something inside," he said, and pulled a little harder.

The branches of the Christmas Tree parted. Still holding the stars in one hand and with the other one raised in greeting, Andrew stepped out.

Cobourg Council Passes $145,180

COBOURG (ENS)—The town council held its final meeting Monday night to wind up the affairs of the municipality for the current year. Primarily a meeting to clean up any odds and ends that were still lying about, the council disposed of some big expenditures. Committee accounts totalled $145,180.80 with the finance committee totalling $129,215.40. Reason for the large sum passed by the finance committee was the fact that it included $53,000 to the East End Public School construction job and the counties rate of $39,000.

A lettr from the secretary of the Edmonton Eskimos addressed to former westerner J. E. Coyle of Cobourg thanked him for relaying the invitation of the town to practice here before they went on to Toronto for the Grey Cup finals, but pointed out that previous arrangements had been made which made it impossible to accept.

Dr. Jordan Says

Operation Is Best Treatment For Cataracts On The Eyes

Although cataracts have been discussed in this column on several occasions, this eye condition becomes a matter of extreme importance to many thousands every year. It is almost undoubtedly becoming more and more common.

Mrs. G., for example, says. "I have bilateral cataracts, and am 69 years old, my vision is 20/60, and there seems to be no change that can be made in glasses that will help. Do you think I should be operated on?"

Now it is not possible to decide without knowing all the facts, just when a cataract should be operated on, but the subject can be discussed in general terms. First, what is it?

A cataract involves that portion of the eye which serves as a lens. The lens is normally clear but becomes clouded in cataract and this produces a blurring of vision. Perhaps it can be explained best by comparing it with the lens of a camers. If a camera lens is not clean a picture taken with it will be blurred and "fuzzy".

How much fuzziness there is depends on the amount of cloudiness in the lens. If only part of the lens is involved, part of what is seen may be clear and part hazy. If the whole lens is clouded, then all objects will be blurred.

A beginning cataract in which the clouding is slight is called "incipient". When the process of clouding has been completed it is called "ripe," or mature. Unfortunately medical treatments — that is drugs that have so far been discovered— have not proved of value in dissolving material which clouds the lens, nor can they restore normal vision. Glasses, of course, also cannot remedy the situation.

VISION RESTORED

Operation is the best treatment for cataract. When the cataract is mature, it can be removed and full vision restored in uncomplicated cases. Surgery of the eye has been so much improved that it is sometimes possible to remove the lens with a cataract in it at early stages of development.

There is no reason to believe that eyestrain leads to the development of cataract, though, of course, eyestrain should be avoided for other reasons. Heredity, and particularly increasing age, seem to have more to do with most cases of cataract than anything else.

OTTAWA (CP)—The federal cabinet, in a burst of Christmas spirit, Monday, approved h a l f-holidays Dec. 24 and Dec. 31 for the 130,000 federal civil servants across Canada. Previously it had been announced that civil servants would be off on the afternoon of Dec. 24 but not New Year's Eve

Marmora's New Rink Reports Good Year

Grants included $1,500 from the province, $500 each from Marmora Village and Marmora and Lake Township Councils, and $500 from Marmora branch, No. 237, Canadian Legion.

Instead of giving a cash donation to the rink this year, Marmora Agricultural Society did considerable work on the grounds and buildings, besides erecting a fine fence along the front of the grounds to add considerably to its appearance. The cost of the work done by this society in the past year is estimated at more than $1,000.

The statement shows operating receipts to be insufficient to cover full operating costs, and so support is needed from other sources. Prospects are bright for a good hockey team this season. A few practices have been secured on the Belleville rink.

1952 Sees Frank Talk On Both Sides Of Border

By JOHN TRACY

NEW YORK (CP)—Relations between Canada and the United States in 1952 proceeded smoothly, as between any two good neighbors, but there was considerable frank talk on both sides of the border.

Frustated in a joint effort to build the St. Lawrence Seaway, the two countries went ahead with plans to develop its giant power phase. There was co-operation in defence with Canada granting rights to U.S. military forces for use of certain Canadian bases.

An agreement was signed designed to facilitate placing of more and bigger U.S. arms orders in Canada. Canada got together with Britain during the year to ease the Americans' supply pinch by diverting to the U.S.. Canadian aluminum bound for Britain.

Canada revised some of her laws to help the U.S. block shipments of strategic materials to Communist countries. The two countries signed a pact to permit prosecution of Canadians selling fraudulent securities in the U.S.

GREATER EFFORT

But there was some stock-taking by statesmen on either side of the international line. In the U.S., two senators criticized Canada for not making a greater effort in Korea. Senator Richard B. Russell, a Georgia Democrat, and Senator Paul Douglas, a party colleague from Illinois, said Canada should send more troops to Korea.

Russell said he does not think Canada's contribution, "on the basis of wealth and population," is as great as that of the U.S.

An Associated Press survey of opinion in Washington indicated that officials there consider Canada can make a bigger effort without strain.

The only reply from the Canadian side was Defence Minister Brooke Claxton's remark: "We think we are pulling our weight."

On the other side, Canada's external affairs minister, L.B. Pearson, made a frank speech in New York last March in which he told Americans that Canadians are not bluffing about their intentions to go ahead with the seaway despite U.S. reluctance to make it a joint effort.

He had a short reply for an American magazine which expressed amazement that another country should make such plans without prospect of U.S. help. The minister said the editor "should know we are developing our country without financial aid from any other government."

CLOSER RELATIONS

Late in the year, the government leader in the Canadian Senate, Wishart Robertson, forecast a move to encourage closer relations among members of the two countries' national legislatures. He said he planned, as a private individual, to seek occasional exchange visits for members of Parliament and Congress.

An incident earlier in the year indicated some need for greater understanding. Timothy Sheehan, a Republican congressman from Illinois, proposed that the U.S. consider paying Britain's debts in return for the right to annex Canada.

Sheehan's proposal was not taken too seriously in Canada. But Pearson remarked in a Halifax speech that such "ignorance" as the American displayed about relations between Canada and Britain is "always a shaky foundation for mutual respect and understanding."

The U.S. election in November which turned out the Democratic regime after 20 years in power was not expected to affect relations between the two countries. Canadians consider President-designate Eisenhower a friend. Ottawa officials said they saw no reason why close international co-operation could not continue with a U.S. Republican government.

Six-Month Sentence

GUELPH (CP)—Charles Shultis, 32, charged in the death of an 11-year-old boy who was knocked from his bicycle by an automobile, Monday was sentenced to six months for failing to remain at the scene of an accident. Shultis was arrested after Jan Sloot was killed Dec. 6. He was also convicted of dangerous driving and fined $11 and costs or an additional six months.

HANDS ACROSS THE BORDER—This is the group of Canadian girls who went to a United States Air Force dance at Burlington, Vt., to provide companionship for soldiers stationed there. They travelled with a chaperone provided by the Negro Community Centre of Montreal in a bus provided by the USAF. They returned to their homes after the dance.

105 Sailors Given Leave

Pearson Predicts UN Will Bring Peace To Korea

By NORMAN ALTSTEDTER
Canadian Press Staff Writer

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (CP)—Assembly President L. B. Pearson of Canada predicted Monday the United Nations will succeed in bringing peace to Korea.

Canada's external affairs minister said in a statement following the recess of the assembly that the session's efforts on the Korean problem, although rejected by the Communists, have not been in vain.

Pearson flew to Ottawa soon after the assembly adjourned.

The next UN step in Korea was expected to be the big issue when the session resumes Feb. 24.

Pearson said in his 1,000-word statement as assembly president that the assembly's Korean peace plan represents "a major achievement in the history of the seventh session."

"To bring the fighting in Korea to an end and to move forward into the positive phases of reconstruction and peaceful settlement still . . . the great challenge which faces the United Nations

"I have no doubt that, through our organization, we shall persist—and we shall succeed—in our joint effort to achieve this objective, which remains our only objective."

EISENHOWER HAS NEW KOREAN PLAN

Seek Signs Of Life As 5 Missing In Train Debris

SOUTHWOOD (CP)—Rescue crews hunted for signs of life today in the twisted wreckage of two freight trains after a head-on collision that left five men missing and believed dead. Four others were injured and two escaped unhurt. The Canadian National Railways trains crashed shortly after noon Tuesday amid a Christmas card landscape of snow, rocks, lakes and trees at Hydro Glen in the Muskoka district about 100 miles north of Toronto and 15 miles north of Washago.

One witness said the two diesel engines from one train and the steam locomotive from another sank in a marsh near the right-of-way in the lonely stretch of wilderness pierced by the lines of steel. Smashed freight cars, piled high in the air in a fantastic tangle of wood and metal, burst into flame.

About 100 men worked today to clear the tracks.

LOST RACE

George Harvey, veteran telegraph operator at Torrance, lost a desperate 12-mile race to prevent the collision after he realized a message ordering the diesel to pull into a siding until the other passed had not been delivered. A culvert washout kept him from driving his automobile to Southwood station, eight miles away, in time to give the warning.

A spokesman said a complete investigation is under way.

The missing men are: F. A. Bumstead of Long Branch, Ont., engineer of the northbound freight; Y. B. Lane of Capreol, Ont., head-end brakeman of the northbound freight; F. Hall of Barrie, Ont., engineer of the diesel; M. L. Pender of Toronto, fireman; A. J. H. Prevost of Long Branch, head-end brakeman of the southbound train.

Railway officials said Tuesday night the main line to Parry Sound and the West might be blocked for as long as 48 hours. All transcontinental trains, as well as local trains were rerouted.

The crash occurred near Ragged Rapids, three miles south of here and 100 miles north of Toronto. A steam locomotive plowed into two diesel locomotives, piling up engines and boxcars into a smoldering, twisted heap, in some places as high as 20 or 30 feet.

Half the cars of both trains, about 50 altogether, were smashed and debris was scattered along the tracks. Residents half a mile away at Hydro Glen, 15 miles northwest of Washago, heard the crash.

CNR officials said the northbound freight pulling 45 cars, nearly all empty, left Washago at 11.40 a. m. while a train with two diesel engines and 62 freight cars, all but one of them loaded, passed through Torrance about 12.05 p. m., heading south. They crashed at 12.31 p. m.

One man, believed to be the fireman on the northbound freight, jumped clear before the impact and suffered an arm injury.

Quebec Strike Settlement Talks Collapse

QUEBEC (CP)—Talks called by Labor Minister Barrette to discuss a formula aimed at settlement of the turbulent Louiseville, Que., textile strike broke off Tuesday after the Canadian Catholic Confederation of Labor rejected a counter-proposal submitted by Associated Textiles. Mr. Barrette said the CCCL had accepted the settlement formula he proposed with a few minor changes but the company refused to accept it and offered a counter-proposal instead.

The mediation talks were called last Wednesday after Premier Duplessis and Bishop Georges Pelletier of Three Rivers conferred on the strike situation. Last Sunday, at a mass meeting of some 200 representatives, the CCCL decided to call a general province-wide strike of its 90,000 members if the talks with the labor minister failed. The strike, over wages and working conditions, began last March.

Following breakdown of negotiations, Gerard Picard, president of the CCCL, said the labor organization will wait until Mr. Barrette reports to Premier Duplessis and Bishop Pelletier before deciding if a strike should be called.

In a later statement the CCCL said that if the strikers are without "any recourse, the committee formed by last week's plenary session will meet immediately to decide further action."

The union believed that the return to work of strikers should be assured as soon as possible and the government should take necessary steps to settle the dispute.

Chinese Fail Puncture Line

SEOUL (AP) — Chinese Communists struck through bitter Christmas Eve cold in a fierce attempt to puncture the Allied line in western Korea. Allied artillery almost destroyed the first wave of Reds, the Eighth Army reported, and UN soldiers turned back the others in hand-to-hand fighting.

Over North Korea Allied Sabre jets battled an estimated 60 Russian-made MiG jets. The U. S. Fifth Air Force called it "a clawing free-for-all." Sabre pilots probably destroyed two MiGs and damaged nine, the Air Force said

The Eighth Army said a Chinese battalion of about 750 men attacked Allied trenches and bunkers on frozen T-Bone hill, west of Chorwon. The battalion was supported by about 2,600 rounds of artillery—an intense barrage for a small area.

Red troops reached outposts of the hill between 2 a. m. and 3 a. m. but Allied soldiers, braced by reinforcements and thunderous artillery barrage of their own, held fast, an Eighth Army staff officer said.

Queen's Broadcast Three Minutes Late

LONDON (AP) — Queen Elizabeth's Christmas radio address, her first as sovereign, will begin tomorrow three minutes later than usual — at 3:03 p.m. (10:03 a.m. EST). It will be the first delay since the royal broadcasts started 20 years ago.

The Queen approved the change so that more than 1,000 overseas radio stations, which will carry the address, can pick up the broadcast.

Death Toll 27 In Shipwreck, May Go Higher

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP)—Lebanon's director of 'internal security said today that 27 persons were known to have died in the wreck of the French liner Champollion and about 100 were injured in reaching the shore from the reef-grounded, split-in-two ship.

Skillful Levantine boatmen brought the last of the 328 passengers and crew through still-raging surf and jagged reefs Tuesday, about 40 hours after the liner was blown on a reef early Monday and split amidships some 500 yards offshore.

The latest estimate of the dead was only tentative, and it was feared the casualty toll would rise. Some of the passengers jumped overboard—how many exactly was not known—and though 30 or so persons swam to shore, thousands of watchers crowded there saw a number of people battered to death on the rocks just out of reach.

Fifteen of the injured were Lebanese, the security director, Col. Nureddin Rafahi, said.

Officials last night said 16 bodies had been recovered. Observers on the beach estimated 30 were killed —10 from the overturned lifeboat and 20 of the swimmers.

An informed source Tuesday night said that of the 16 bodies then recovered, 14 were crew members.

30 Scholars Deny Charge

WASHINGTON (AP)—Vehement denials have come from several persons among the 30 scholars and officials of leading U. S. educational foundations named by Louis Budenz Tuesday as members of the Communist party.

Budenz is the former managing editor of the Daily Worker, Communist paper published in New York city, who publicly renounced communism in 1945 and now is on the staff of Fordham University.

"A professional liar," he was called by one of the men he accused. "Absolutely and unqualifiedl false," another said of his testimony, given before a House of Representatives committee which is trying to determine whether the funds of tax-free foundations are being used for subversive activities.

Budenz ticked off 30 persons —some of them well-known—as being Communist party members before he quit in 1945.

Thousands Of Faithful Making Pilgrimage To Bethlehem Services

BETHLEHEM (AP)—By the thousands, the faithful came to Bethlehem today and once more, as it was on the first Christmas nearly 2,000 years ago, there was no room at the inns. Arab and Israeli border guards relaxed their frontier regulations to let the pilgrims approach the holy places of Christianity. The thousands of visitors filled every room and every bed in the hotels, hostels and pensions of the Arab section of Jerusalem, Bethlehem, Jericho and Ramallah.

At 8 . m. today the Mandelbaum Gate into the Israeli part of Jerusalem opened to admit 1,200 Arab Christians who live in Israel. They had special permission to visit relatives on the Arab side of the frontier dividing the Holy City and to attend Christmas services tonight. They must be back in Israel by Christmas night.

FOREIGN PILGRIMS

Hundreds of foreign pilgrims also came through Israel and the Mandelbaum Gate. They will not be allowed to return home through the Jewish state, however.

Like the three wise men of long ago, the pilgrims today pressed toward Bethlehem. Tonight a brightly - gleaming star atop the Church of the Nativity will lead them—as another star led the magi —to the birthplace of the holy child.

Christmas Eve was a day of ceremony and worship, climaxing tonight in the midnight services marking the birth of Christ.

Guided Missiles To Be Unveiled

LONDON (Reuters)—Britain is expected to unveil new remote-controlled weapons—rockets, pilotless planes and guided missiles—next year.

Newspaper reports here and in Australia say the new weapons will be tested at the Woomera rocket range in Western Australia early in the new year.

A government spokesman said: "For security reasons we cannot discuss the nature of the weapons now being tested.

"But there may be some surprises in the new year."

Production of guided weapons will be boosted in 1952.

Main reason for increasing production of guided weapons is believed to be lower cost of production compared with that for fighter or bomber planes. Britain's recent cuts in defence spending convinced defence planners that remote-controlled weapons are their best bet.

Continue Battle In Alps With Avalanches

Twenty-nine have died since last Saturday as the great snow pack in the Alps loosed avalanches.

The slide — 2,500-feet high and almost a mile wide at its base — was set in motion by torrential rains in the Apennines. Three days ago it forced the villagers to move out of their 48 houses. It is bearing down on them at a speed of 20 inches an hour. They can only watch.

TOLL REACHES 24

In Arlberg, Austria, a 19-year-old English boy died today, bringing to 24 the death toll in Monday's avalanche disaster.

The boy, John Gard, was paralyzed after tons of snow and rock thundered onto a bus in which he was riding with 34 other vacationers and swept it 60 feet below into an icy mountain river.

The 23 other dead — most of them holiday skiiers — were buried today in the cemetery of the village of Langen.

Six other young pasesngers who were pulled out of the icy water by Austrian rescue workers were still in the hospital today.

Among the dead were British, New Zealand, Dutch, French, German and Belgian young people.

Decide To Try Seguin In B.C.

VICTORIA (CP) — Attorney-General Robert Bonner Tuesday directed that Henry Seguin face trial for attempted murder in British Columbia.

Seguin, alias Beaudry, also is wanted on a charge of murder in the Aug. 18 slaying of Leonard Hurd at Maxville, Ont.

He was captured last week by an RCMP posse near Williams Lake after a gun battle. A bullet which pierced his lung and liver was removed in hospital here. His capture followed an attempt to rob a branch of the Canadian Bank of Commerce Dec. 15 at Williams Lake. Bank manager Leonard Hillier was wounded at the time.

No date for his preliminary hearing has been set owing to his condition. Police said he is recovering, but still is not out of danger.

Christmas Day

Christmas, the Mass of Christ in the Church which bears His name is the festival of the nativity, nineteen hundred years ago, of Jesus Christ.

For many years after this great event—the birth of Christ was celebrated at the same time as His baptism on January 6th. From 440 A.D., however, December 25th, the actual recorded date of the Nativity was observed as a feast—or, as in the case of Puritan England, as a fast. By the middle of the 17th Century the holyday or "holiday" was almost universally observed as a day of rejoicing and feasting.

In countries of Teutonic origin the giving of presents on Christmas Day became the custom, thus following the example set by the Wise Men and the Shepherds bringing their gifts to the Child. This custom is not generally followed throughout the rest of the world.

Hoping Pressure To Force Soviet Armistice

NEW YORK (AP)—The New York Times reports today the Eisenhower administration has a new strategic plan for the Korean war and believes it "will exert so much pressure on the Communist forces that the Soviet Union will agree to an armistice." The Times says in a story by Thomas J. Hamilton, that the new plan was worked out by the high command in the new administration of President-elect Eisenhower. Hamilton writes that "for obvious reasons no details can be made public, but the basic premises on which the plan has been formulated are:

"The Kremlin will have to be convinced by deeds and words that under the new administration the United States will not pull out of Korea and that neither will it give way on the issue of the repatriation of prisoners of war.

GREATER PRESSURE

"The new plans will permit greatly increased pressure to be applied without involving a prohibitive cost to the forces defending South Korea.

"The new plans will not involve any considerable risk of converting the war into a general Asian war.

"There will be a considerable increase in the participation of South Korean forces, but no great increase in the number of United Nations forces is visualized."

Hamilton says the sources who made the information available "were silent on the question of the contribution to the new plans" by Gen. MacArthur.

MacArthur, ousted Far East commander, talked with Eisenhower last week about the Korean war and world peace problems.

The two met after Eisenhower returned from Korea and after MacArthur said he was confident there is "a clear and definite solution" to the Korean war.

"In any event," Hamilton writes, "The details of the new plans remain to be formulated by the state and defence departments after the inauguration on Jan. 20.

"As soon as this has been done, representatives of the nations most directly involved — which would of course include the 15 others with forces in Korea — will be informed, and a final decision will be reached after their views are submitted."

The story says a non-American source at the UN said he had been given to understand that the Eisenhower administration would ask some of these 15 countries "to make relatively small increases in the size of their contingents" in order to build up self-contained units and reduce supply and tactical problems.

Work Hard To Form French Government

PARIS (Reuters). — One by one past premiers and top politicians trouped to President Auriol's office today to see about forming a new government for France, leaderless since Premier Antoine Pinay's resignation on Tuesday.

The first was Rene Pleven, defence minister in the outgoing cabinet and a former premier. Pleven, a leftist Radical, said afterwards he told the president that some form of constitutional reform was needed to avoid the recurring crises. Pinay's government was the 18th to fall since the end of the war.

Edgar Faure, who was Radical-Socialist premier of a short-lived cabinet before Pinay took over last March, was the next to be received by the president. He was followed by former Premier Rene Mayer, Radical, and Jules Moch, a prominent Socialist leader.

Auriol's last interview this morning was with Andre Diethelm, leader of the parliamentary group of the Rassemblement du Peuple Francais.

Canadians Have Green Yuletide For This Year

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

There will be more green and red than white in Canada's colorful Christmas celebrations this year.

With just the last ornaments to be hung and the last presents to be wrapped, many of the more populated areas of the country report unusually high temperatures and a scarcity of snow.

In Eastern Canada rain and fog disrupted airline schedules, causing many to face the prospect of spending Christmas away from home.

In most areas the spirits of merchants are soaring with the temperatures. Brightly decked stores from Vancouver to Halifax report record sales as the open weather brings out droves of shoppers. Christmas decorations are in abundance, not only on business premises but at some private homes where evergreen trees sport strings of colored lights.

SNOW IN INTERIOR

British Columbia reported snow in the interior, but green weather around Vancouver and Victoria where thousands of loggers pour into the cities from Vancouver Island and upcoast camps.

No snow is in sight in the Edmonton area and little is left that had already fallen. Celebrations are to be quiet, confined mainly to church groups, private parties and special christmas services.

Northern Saskatchewan reported no snow falling and warmer-than-usual temperatures which boosted sales by bringing country folk into town. Regina has a full bloom of colored lights and decorations with no last-minute shopping rush. The outlook is for mild weather. A wry

Malton Planes Still Grounded

TORONTO (CP)—For the third straight day of heavy Christmas traffic Malton airport was closed by fog and rain Tuesday.

Officials of Trans-Canada Air Lines said Tuesday night a close watch was being kept on conditions but no improvement was yet seen and operations were expected to be suspended again today.

Two flights from Western Canada were sent to Buffalo, N.Y. Passengers were transported to Toronto by bus.

Dorval airport at Montreal also closed Tuesday because of freezing rain. Conditions at Winnipeg were described as "not good."

Railways are battling overflow travel expected to reach its peak today. Both Canadian National Railways and Canadian Pacific Railway are running one or two extra sections on almost every major train.

The Examiner will not publish a paper Christmas Day. Extra comics and special Christmas features will appear in today's issue. Publication will be resumed Friday.

Charges State Of Fear Permeates UN Secretariat

OTTAWA (CP)—A Canadian observer at the United Nations charged Tuesday that a state of fear in the UN secretariat, induced by United States elements, is undermining one of the two pillars of the world organization.

Alistair Stewart, CCF member of the Commons for Winnipeg North, said in an interview that the UN staff as a whole is being terrified by the U.S. hunt for "un-American" activities.

The federal bureau of investigation is all over the UN, he said, and known loyal workers are afraid to talk on the telephone—sometimes even in their rooms—because of fear that their telephones or walls are tapped.

Mr. Stewart, just back from the adjourned UN general assembly session, said the state of "fright" among the 3,500-member secretariat is a serious problem involving the future of the United Nations.

"The UN," he said, "rests on the twin pillars of the integrity and loyalty of its secretariat and the loyalty of the member nations."

PLAN NEW MOVE

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senator Alexander Wiley (Rep.Wis.) said today a new move "is in the works to fire subversives from the (U.S.) staff at United Nations."

Wiley, a delegate to the UN general assembly, made the disclosure after a telephone talk with chairman Robert Ramspeck of the U.S. civil service commission who, he said, will have big part in touching off the house cleaning.

Eighteen U. S. citizens have been dismissed from UN jobs on the ground they were security risks, following a report by a federal grand jury in New York alleging widespread U. S. Communist infiltration of the UN staff. Wiley contends others are still on the payrolls of the UN secretariat.

Help Came Through

Pitiful Cries Of Children Hard For Wreck Victims

By L. S. CHAKALES

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP)—"The people on the beach, we saw them. We understood they were trying to help us. But no help came."

But help did come, said the wife of the Canadian doctor who survived the ordeal of the Champollion. She is Mrs. Aimee Romeo Boucher, wife of Doctor Boucher of St. Luc Hospital, Montreal.

Rev. Lucien Dulong of the Clercs of St. Viateur, Montreal, "kept our courage up with prayers," she said. "At the same time pitiful cries of children could be heard. They were confused, hungry and thirsty."

A bare 500 yards separated the ship from the safety of the beach, but it was 500 yards of turbulent sea lashing against hidden shoal. Several persons were battered to death on this shoal.

Mrs. Boucher was one of the last to leave the ship in the rescue launch. "I went down on a rope ladder and it was wonderful to see the courage of the Lebanese seamen who saved us."

"There was no food except for the children," she recounted. "Two members of the crew went down to get oranges but it was impossible. There was no water. But the helicopter managed to make a direct hit with a bag of ice cubes which was what we needed because we were thirsty."

Passengers were jittery, she said, but there was little panic.

Merry Christmas

Pope Criticizes Capitalism For Job Undone

ROME (AP)—Pope Pius addressed his 14th annual Christmas plea for peace today to the world's "poor and oppressed" and criticized communism for its attack on the Christian faith and capitalism because it has not done enough to improve man's economic lot.

Replying to the Christmas greetings of the College of Cardinals, the Roman Catholic Pontiff's message to the Christian world was broadcast (at 5 a.m. EST) in Italian over the Vatican radio. The radio planned to repeat the speech at 45-minute intervals in translations into 23 other languages.

The modern world, said the Pope, faces two grave difficulties—a difficulty of economics and a difficulty of conscience.

The difficulty of conscience, he said, is caused by a condemnation of the Christian faith, which has led to the torture of men. This was interpreted as a clear reference to communism and the persecution of the church in the countries communism has conquered.

Turning to economists, the Pontiff said much has been done to try solve the world's unemployment problem, but more must be done. These were his recommendations:

REDUCE LUXURIES

Superfluous luxury expenditures should be reduced. Capitalists should put their money into use to aid suffering people rather than holding it in dead deposits. Where private enterprise is inadequate, governments should intervene with public works.

He expressed hope that he would see a reduction in what he described as the disproportionate levels of life between rich and poor individuals and rich and poor countries.

But the Pontiff added the hope that this would not be brought about by mere mechanization, for "society is not a machine;" even in the economic field it is not a machine.

VOICES CRITICISM

Voicing criticism of economic organizations on both "this side and that side" of the ocean—apparently the communist and non-communist worlds as well—the Pope said industrialism has brought benefits to the people, but it now tends towards an impersonal development of man that tyrannizes the human spirit.

"The technicians of production and organization cannot by themselves create a world without misery," he asserted.

He spoke out also against two present-day "deformations." The first — apparently communism—was "cold, theoretical articles and rigid formulas." The other was the liberation of the "impulses of men and people."

"Salvation," said the Pontiff, "cannot be born from chaos." But "it is superstitious to think of employing rigid formulas" to build a world.

The Pope directed the world to look towards "the sun of hope" of the Christian Christmas. But he clearly indicated his sorrow at the oppression rife in the world.

English Teacher Runs Amuck Slays Family

SAN JOSE, Calif. (AP)—Archie Connett, 31-year-old high school English teacher, ran amuck in his estranged wife's home Tuesday, bashed his three small children to death against the floor, stabbed his wife and then cut his own throat, the Santa Clara county sheriff's office reported.

The children were found in pools of blood amid scattered toys and Christmas decorations. Connett, who had locked himself in a bathroom, was found on the floor, blood gushing from his throat.

Connett, described by his principal as "one of our best teachers," was near death at Santa Clara County Hospital.

His wife, Wyona, 28, told officers she fled from her home after Connett stabbed her twice with a paring knife. She said she tried vainly to stop him from harming their two little sons and daughter.

Ottawa Decides To Renew Egg Support

OTTAWA (CP)—The federal government has decided to renew its egg price-support program for 1953, the agriculture department announced Tuesday. But the price won't be changed.

Support will continue at the wholesale price of 38 cents a dozen for grade A large at storage points, plus carrying charges, the department said.

There has been some agitation by poultrymen in recent months for a higher price.

HOG SUPPORT CUT

At the same time, the department reiterated that the hog support price will be reduced to 23 cents a pound on Jan 1—down from the current level of 26 cents.

Hog producers appealed unsuccessfully for continuance of the current price until the United States market is reopened March 1 next.

Pattern of the egg price-support program for 1953 will be on the same basis as 1952, the department said. It will buy up all surplus eggs in storage at the end of the year at the support price plus carrying charges.

Only a few thousand cases of eggs were found surplus in the current year, an official said.

TORONTO FRUIT

TORONTO (CP) — Wholesale fruit and vegetable price changes quoted here today were: cabbage $1.00; lettuce, imp., two dozen 3.50; spinach 1.25; squash 1.00.

WINNIPEG GRAIN

WINNIPEG (CP)—Prices moved narrowly but generally displayed a firm tone in dull trade Tuesday on the Winnipeg Grain Exchange. Oats was the only grain where prices closed lower.

Flax moved on processor buying and light offerings, but demand in other grains was limited. Domestic interests picked up oats and barley in small way. Rye attracted light American buying. Prices for the top grades of Class 2 and IWA wheat advanced one-quarter cent.

Roman Catholic patriarch Alberto Gori was to lead the procession to Bethlehem. Attended by four mounted constables, his party included the consular corps and United Nations officials from both sides of the frontier that has split the Holy City since the Palestine war of 1948.

The official party from the Israeli side of the frontier travelled the traditional road from Jerusalem. Normally held by Israel and closed to the Arabs, the road was opened especially for the procession.

BIRTHPLACE OF CHRIST

The route lay past the tomb of Rachel to the Church of the Nativity, which marks what Christians believe is the birthplace of Christ. Representatives of the Orthodox and Armenian churches were on hand to welcome the patriarch at the church entrance. Inside the church are chapels for Orthodox, Armenian and Latin worship.

The climax of the ceremony will be the traditional midnight mass, beginning in the Latin chapel of St. Catherine and concluding in the grotto of the Nativity, where tradition says Mary and Joseph finally found shelter and where the baby was born.

The Protestant service was arranged in a similarly hallowed spot—on the terraced slopes outside Bethlehem where the angels announced the birth to the shepherds watching their flocks by night. During this service, a typical shepherd's meal of coarse bread and meat was planned.

Steel Market Optimism High

NEW YORK (AP) — The Iron Age, metalworking trade weekly, says today most major steel producers will pay double - time wages to keep coke ovens, blast furnaces, open hearths and principal rolling mills operating through Christmas.

This effort to keep production at high levels despite the holidays is spurred by renewed pressure from steel customers, the publication says.

"A new wave of buying enthusiasm has lifted the steel market near the boiling point. There is little doubt that business optimism is higher than it has been for several months."

With a prospect of more freedom from controls, the Iron Age adds, "manufacturers of consumer durables are training their big production guns on the lusty consumer market. The outlook is for more production, more competition, and eventually saturation. Production speed is an important factor in the race for this market."

Steelmaking operations this week are placed by the Iron Age at 103 per cent of rated capacity.

Atlantic Provided Food For Sailor 64-Day Crossing

BRIDGETOWN, Barbados, B-W-I (Reuters) — Alain-Louis Bombard, 27-year-old French scientist who set out on a lone Atlantic crossing 64 days ago to prove man can survive on food provided by the ocean, reached the Barbados Tuesday. His trip on the open Atlantic began when he left the Canary Islands Oct. 20 on the 3,000-mile voyage.

Bombard began his voyage from Nice France, May 23, travelling in a 15-foot rubber dinghy equipped with two paddles, a six-foot mast and a sail. He left Las Palmas in the Canaries Oct. 20.

Bombard went aboard the ship to send wireless messages and then returned to his raft to complete his journey.

Backbone of Bombard's diet was plankton—minute plants floating in the ocean. He caught them with a sieve trailing behind his tiny raft. He also ate raw fish and some birds.

Bombard's theory is that human beings can take up to one pint of sea water a day without ill effects. Fish and plankton contain fresh water and these sources of supply together should prevent death at sea by hunger and thirst, he contended.

Bombard's raft, named the Heretique, sailed through the western end of the Mediterranean to Tangier, then along the coast of northwest Africa to Las Palmas.

Forced Landing For Airmen

LONDON, Ont. (CP)—An RCAF Expediter carrying two western Ontario airmen home for Christmas made a forced landing at nearby Crumlin airport just after dark Tuesday despite dangerous fog when it developed trouble in the pilot's control column.

The pilot, Flt.-Lt. Doug Scott, Russell, Ont., was making a pass at the field and had just decided to go on to Toronto because of poor visibility when sparks and smoke began pouring from the control column.

He decided to land and picked up instrument landing signals at 700 feet altitude and landed by instruments.

Passengers were AC2 Ken Walters, Stratford, AC1 Bob Giles, Windsor, Ont., and AC1 Roy Newman, Pembroke.

Expect Legislature To Open Feb. 9 Or 12

TORONTO (CP)—The spring session of the Ontario legislature likely will open Feb. 9 or 12, Queen's Park officials said Tuesday.

Sessions usually open on a Thursday and Feb. 12 is the favored date, but there have been Monday openings.

Among matters to be discussed by members are the report on amalgamation of the greater Toronto area, which the Ontario municipal board will release early next year, the report of the provincial committee on lake levels, the new Companies Act and changes in child adoption legislation.

May Use Eucalyptus Trees World-Wide Reforestation

By ANNE ANDERSSON

MELBOURNE (Reuters)—Eucalyptus trees, a major part of the Australian scene, may soon be covering forest areas in many countries needing an all-purpose timber for economic development.

Forestry experts from 24 countries, financed by the United Nations' food and agricultural organization, have recently covered thousands of miles in Australia's six states, seeing most of the 600-odd species of eucalyptus.

They made a classroom study of the eucalyptus and have seen what can be done in laboratories and factories with by-products.

The decision to make the visit was made at the FAO conference in Rome and is part of FAO's expanded technical assistance programs for under-developed countries. The conference agreed that the Australian eucalyptus was "a genus of special world-wide importance in reforestation programs."

TO DECIDE SPECIES

From the knowledge gained, forestry experts will decide which species is most suited to their countries' needs and climate.

The eucalyptus is almost exclusively native to Australia, except for a few varities in the Philippines, Java, Timor, New Guinea, New Zealand and New Ireland.

The experts also visited the Australian newsprint mills at Boyer in Tasmania where eucalyptus fibres are used extensively for making newsprint for Australian newspapers.

The experts want Australian eucalyptus for railway ties, furniture, building, paper pulp, poles, industrial oils, perfumes, rayon, plywood, hardwood, mining, heating, cooking and a dozen other uses.

The eucalyptus was not known to the outside world until botanist Joseph Banks, in the expedition of Captain Cook, brought seeds back to England in 1770. Its commercial value since has been established in many countries and its all-purpose utility prompted the FAO study.

Charley's Aunt Still Plays After 60 Years

By NORMAN CRIBBENS

LONDON (Reuters)—Sixty years ago Sunday, Dec. 21, the curtain rose on the first London performance of the now world-famous farce, "Charley's Aunt."

On that occasion the curtain fell prematurely: when the comedian made his first-act appearance in aunty's black satin, bonnet and mittens, a stagehand in the wings laughed so hard he fell against a lever and rang down the curtain.

Echoes of the stagehand's laughter will be heard in 20 theatres throughout Britain this Christmas with the staging of diamond jubilee performances of "Charley's Aunt." And early next year London's west end will have a special Coronation production.

The first night performance of "Charley's Aunt" in 1892 took only 12 shillings (then $3) at the box office. But the dividends in laughter took it to London's Royalty Theatre for a run of 1,466 performances. It has since been translated into 24 languages.

HOLD COPYRIGHT

Author Walter Brandon Thomas' children now hold the copyright and insist that all productions must conform to the original script. Thus, aunty still wears her original wig, black lace bonnet, and dress of stiff black satin.

There have been five film versions of the play.

After the birth of the Queen's son, Prince Charles, Princess Margaret, the Queen's sister, said: "From now on I shall be known as Charley's aunt."

Five New York theatres have offered to stage a new play by American-born poet-dramatist T. S. Eliot because London's booming theatre industry has no room for it.

New York's interest in "The Confidential Clerk" is due to the fact that Eliot's last play, "The Cocktail Party," first produced in 1949, beat all popularity records for a verse-play. Almost 1,000,000 persons saw it during its United States tour.

Attack On Religion Warning By Fisher

LONDON (Reuters) — The annual Christmas message of Dr. Geoffrey Fisher, archbishop of Canterbury and head of the Anglican Church, today warned of a "concerted attack on the Christian religion such as has never been made before."

The attack, threatened by totalitarian forces who wish to "eliminate religion and replace it by a universal materialism," also jeopardizes the "principles of life and morality" enshrined in Christianity, he wrote in his diocesan magazine.

He called for a "true home defence force to safeguard the wells of truth and charity and to resist evil without becoming infected by it."

Much of the primate's message was devoted to a plea for Christian goodwill in solving "the terrifying problem of race relations" in Africa.

Fourth Of Crew Refused Landing Permit

NEW YORK (AP) — The arrival today of the French liner Liberte, with one-fourth of her crew facing possible shore leave refusals, provided the first direct application of the new U. S. Immigration Act only hours after it went into effect.

The Liberte, the world's fourth largest liner, is the first major trans-Atlantic vessel to arrive here since the new immigration statute became law at 12:01 a.m. today. The arrival involves a provision of the law aimed at Communists, espionage agents and criminals.

Some 266 of the Liberte's crew of 974 must remain aboard during the three days the vessel will be here unless they can meet security requirements of the law after the vessel docks, the justice department said Tuesday. Only three other crew members were reported automatically inadmissible under the law.

INSPECTOR ABOARD

A U. S. immigration inspector was aboard the Liberte during her last roundtrip to screen the vessel's crew in advance of her arrival. The justice department's statement Tuesday was based on a radio-telephone talk with the inspector when the Liberte was about 400 miles from New York.

The Liberte development pointed up the sharp tightening of rules for immigration and naturalization under the new law.

The law requires close screening of crew members of foreign ships as to their political affiliations, any criminal records and other matters.

Quints Home For Christmas

CORBEIL (CP) — The five 18-year-old daughters of Oliva Dionne have come home for a family Christmas.

Annette, Cecile, Emilie, Marie and Yvonne arrived here Friday from Nicolet, Que., where they have been attending a girls' college. They will return to school Jan. 7.

No special celebration has been planned at the big buff-colored Dionne residence in this northern Ontario centre close to North Bay. After morning mass, gifts will be exchanged. Christmas dinner will be served at night with only members of the family present.

Mr. Dionne said in an interview that, now his daughters are "young ladies," he is finding it more difficult to choose suitable gifts for them. He didn't divulge what he has bought them this year.

Churches Throw Open Doors For Christmas Eve Ceremonies

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Christians turned from the cares and sorrows of a troubled, strife-wracked world today to begin the happy yet solemn ceremonies commemorating the birth of Him who preached the gifts of peace and love to all mankind.

As the last-minute rush for presents and festive goodies died away, millions of faithful lifted their hearts in Christmas Eve prayers of thanks and hope, and their voices in carols of joy

Churches through Christendom threw open their doors to welcome all to traditional Christmas Eve ceremonies. In Bethlehem, a special Roman Catholic midnight mass beginning in the chapel of St. Catherine will end in the grotto of the Nativity, on the spot designated by his followers as the birthplace of Christ nearly 2,000 years ago.

At the same time a Protestant service will be held on nearby terraced slopes that mark the traditional spot where angels announced the birth of Christ to shepherds watching their flocks by night.

HUNDREDS OF PILGRIMS

Hundreds of pilgrims have arrived in the Holy Land to worship at the shrines connected with the birth of Christ. As in past Christmas times, the heavy border guards between Jordan and Israel —still technically at war—will step aside to permit passage to the holy places.

Pope Pius, in his 14th annual Christmas broadcast, again pleaded for peace and for help to the world's "poor and oppressed."

Chiefs of state and rulers prepared special messages. The Queen will broadcast hers—her first as Britain's reigning monarch—to the Commonwealth at 10:03 a.m. EST tomorrow.

As North Americans at home rushed their last preparations for the season, their thoughts went out to the thousands of fighting men spending Christmas in troubled spots around the world.

All these, how[illegible] will have their celebrations, [illegible]here will be packages from home and special Christmas dinners.

CHRISTMAS MESSAGE

In a Christmas message to his Eighth Army troops in Korea, Gen. James Van Fleet said the Christmas star "still burns to lead us in our pursuit of peace on earth and goodwill towards men."

Van Fleet's words were echoed by his commander, Gen. Mark W. Clark, whose message to the United Nations' troops said the faith expressed in the Christmas spirit "will bring us to our goal."

"Although the world has passed through many dark and critical times these last 2,000 years, it is man's belief, however dark the hour may seem, that eventually the light of fellowship will show the way of peace on earth." Clark said.

Not too much is known about Christmas plans in Communist countries. In Russia, Christmas is celebrated on the West's Jan. 7 because the Russians use a different calendar.

In Russian-led, but still Roman Catholic, Poland the Communists evidently are trying to discourage traditional Christmas celebrations. The authorities are sponsoring, as a counter-attraction, New Year's Day festivities with lighted trees.

Pearson, Ike Newsiest Individuals

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

For the third year in a row L.B. Pearson was the newsiest Canadian figure on the pages of his country's newspapers.

The breezy diplomat, best-known as Mike Pearson, is the current president of the United Nations general assembly. He held first place easily in the yearly Canadian Press poll. Gangster Edwin Alonzo Boyd was second.

Governor-General Massey, Prime Minister St. Laurent, Premier Joseph Smallwood, Ottawa's Mayor Charlotte Whitton, and Maurice Richard were other Canadians who won votes.

In the world scene, Queen Elizabeth finished second to the president-elect. Others were Farouk of Egypt, President Truman, Capt. Kurt Carlsen, Mossadegh of Iran, Malan of South Africa, Naguib of Egypt and Winston Churchill.

Freighter Crawls Toward Port

VANCOUVER (CP) — The wounded Canadian freighter Maplecove crawled slowly but steadily toward port today, but one of the vessels sent to aid her was forced to take shelter from a savage Pacific storm.

The tug Island Sovereign out of Vancouver, beaten back in her own wake by mighty seas and a driving gale, sought shelter in the lee of an island off the west coast of Vancouver Island.

The 10,000-ton Maplecove, carrying a crew of 62, has covered half the 1,200 miles from the point where she broke down last Thursday with a damaged rudder. She has been able to make 13 knots in quiet seas with a patched-up steering gear.

In his latest report just before midnight Tuesday, Capt. R. A. Leicester of the Canadian Pacific Steamships vessel radioed that his ship had covered 100 miles that day and was then 600 miles off Victoria.

DOLLS DETAINED

LONDON (AP) — Neither the Queen nor Prime Minister Churchill expected them, so two dolls—attired in Japanese costumes—were detained at London airport today. The dolls came by British Overseas Airways Comet airliner and were the gift of the Japanese Students Union to the monarch and her prime minister. Customs explained someone had to pay the duty on the gifts.

NATO Nations Standardize Medical Equipment, Schools

PARIS (AP)—The 14 North Atlantic Treaty Organization countries have set out on an ambitious program of standardizing their medical equipment and training.

Looking toward the possibility of another world war, their aim is to make the military medical supplies of each country alike. Thus, a British stretcher would fit in a United States ambulance and a Turkish needle would fit on a French syringe. They don't now.

The same would be done in training techniques. The Danish elbow lift method of resuscitation, for example, would be taught all military medical officers, nurses and corpsmen of all 14 countries. It is rated the best method and has been widely adopted in the United States.

No target has been set for complete standardization. In fact, Capt. Cecil Coggins of the U.S. Navy said in an interview that it would be a gradual process taking two to three years.

The important thing is that the military medical chiefs of 11 of the 14 countries already have agreed, in principle, on the plan.

At a recent meeting at Supreme Headquarters Allied Powers in Europe here, the medical men agreed to appoint three committees to work out the details.

"Agreeing on what equipment and which techniques are the best will not be a difficult job," said Capt. Coggins, assistant to Brig.-Gen. William J. Kennard, chief of S.H.A.P.E.'s medical action.

"There isn't a nation which hasn't some method of treatment superior to all the others," he pointed out. "The best technicians from each country will be working on these committees. They're medical men and won't let nationalistic pride interfere in their selections."

Coggins said procurement wasn't a problem, either.

"The big problem is economics. It would be economically unsound for the military medical divisions of each nation to suddenly junk their present equipment.

"That's why we will move slowly."

Treat Prisoners With Courtesy Is Advice Of Policewoman

HALIFAX (CP)—Halifax's only policewoman says a powderpuff is far more deadly than a revolver.

Mrs. Lillian Rafuse has been a member of the morality squad since 1940.

"When other girls hoped to grow up to be teachers and nurses, I always dreamed of becoming a policewoman," she says. "I think it is the most wonderful job in the world because I meet all kinds and types of people."

NEVER USED FORCE

Mrs. Rafuse looks after women who have been jailed for drunkenness, brawling, shoplifting and other indictable offences. She also escorts women taken to other cities for trial.

"I have never had to use force to bring them in," she says. "I treat them as if they were guests in my own living room, and they always respond to the method. After all, violators of the law are not animals but human beings just as anyone else."

If the need ever arose, however, Mrs. Rafuse would have little trouble. A tall, strong woman in her 40s, she has a revolver marksmanship average of 94 out of 100. She averages 87 with her left hand.

While on a business trip to Savannah, Ga., she asked a state patrolman why he was loaded down with so much ammunition.

"He then asked me if I could shoot. I told him my average and that I had been instructed by the Royal Canadian Mounted Police.

TIP-TOP TUITION

"The patrolman whistled and said 'M'am, if you-all were taught to shoot by the RCMP then you-all shore can shoot.'"

"To make escort work less obvious I always tell the girl to take my arm," said Mrs. Rafuse. "In that way if they should let go to run away, I would know it before they had gone a step."

Mrs. Rafuse, one of four policewomen in the Atlantic provinces, has two hobbies: crocheting and growing African violets.

Duplessis Opposed To Newsprint Boost

QUEBEC (CP)—Premier Duplessis said Tuesday night his government is opposed to an increase in the price of newsprint to Quebec newspapers and will "if necessary" set up newsprint controls to enforce its policy.

Mr. Duplessis said he has called a conference of Quebec's 17 newsprint manufacturers for Dec. 30. Quebec companies make 51 per cent of Canada's newsprint.

Newsprint price now is $112 a ton to Canadian customers but Quebec province newspapers get a $3 rebate as a result of negotiations Mr. Duplessis conducted last December with the newsprint companies.

Co-Pilot Telephones Greetings To Manager

COBOURG (ENS)—Just slightly over a year ago, a U.S. airliner made a safe landing in a farmer's pasture just east of here, after being lost off course in a blinding snowstorm. The 46 passengers were not even shaken up.

This week, Gordon Fielding, proprietor of the Baltimore Hotel where co-pilot Ed O'Leary stayed until the ship was readied some some weeks later for the take-off, received a phone call from O'Leary extending him the season's greetings.

The Christmas Story

And it came to pass in those days, that there went out a decree from Caesar Augustus, that all the world should be taxed . . . And all went to be taxed, every one into his own city.

And Joseph also went up from Galilee, out of the city of Nazareth into Judaea, unto the city of David which is called Bethlehem (because he was of the house and lineage of David), to be taxed with Mary his espoused wife, being great with child. And so it was that, while they were there, the days were accomplished that she should be delivered, and she brought forth her firstborn son; and wrapped him in swaddling clothes, and laid him in a manger; because there was no room for them in the inn.

And there were in the same country shepherds abiding in the field, keeping watch over their flock by night. And, lo, the angel of the Lord came upon them, and the glory of the Lord shone round about them; and they were sore afraid.

And the angel said unto them, Fear not; for behold, I bring you good tidings of great joy, which shall be to all people. For unto you is born this day in the city of David a Saviour, which is Christ the Lord. And this shall be a sign unto you; ye shall find the babe wrapped in swaddling clothes, lying in a manger.

And suddenly there was with the angel a multitude of the heavenly host praising God, and saying, Glory to God in the highest, and on earth peace, goodwill toward men.

And it came to pass, as the angels were gone away from them into heaven, the shepherds said one to another, Let us now go even unto Bethlehem, and see this thing which is come to pass, which the Lord hath made known unto us.

* * *

And they came with haste, and found Mary, and Joseph, and the babe lying in a manger. And when they had seen it, they made known abroad the saying which was told them concerning this child. And all they that heard it wondered at those things which were told them by the shepherds. But Mary kept all these things, and pondered them in her heart. And the shepherds returned, glorifying and praising God for all the things that they had heard and seen, as it was told unto them.

SAINT LUKE

* * *

Now when Jesus was born in Bethlehem of Judea in the days of Herod the king, behold, there came wise men from the east to Jerusalem, saying, Where is he that is born King of the Jews? For we have seen his star in the east, and are come to worship him.

* * *

When Herod the king heard these things, he was troubled, and all Jerusalem with him. And when he had gathered all the chief priests and scribes of the people together, he demanded of them where Christ should be born.

And they said unto him, In Bethlehem of Judaea: for thus it is written by the prophet:

And thou, Bethlehem, in the land of Juda,
Art not the least among the princes of Juda:
For out of thee shall come a Governor,
That shall rule my people Israel.

Then Herod, when he had privily called the wise men, inquired of them diligently what time the star appeared. And he sent them to Bethlehem, and said, Go and search diligently for the young child; and when ye have found him, bring me word again, that I may come and worship him also.

When they had heard the king, they departed; and, lo, the star, which they saw in the east, went before them, till it came and stood over where the young child was. When they saw the star, they rejoiced with exceeding great joy. And when they were come into the house, they saw the young child with Mary his mother, and fell down, and worshipped him: and when they had opened their treasures, they presented unto him gifts; gold, and frankincense, and myrrh. And being warned of God in a dream that they should not return to Herod, they departed into their own country another way.

The Economics Of Christmas

Some protest has been evoked by an article about Christmas which appeared in Maclean's Magazine, written by an economist named Mr. Fred Bodsworth. His argument was that Christmas makes us spend money which we cannot afford, and rocks Canada's economic boat. We were not as alarmed by this article as some people were; Maclean's Magazine, rather late in life and with some awkwardness, has gone in for mildly exciting material of this kind; there are still many people who can be stirred by an attack on Christmas, bless their simple hearts! For our part, we think that Christmas can hold its own against all such comers.

What surprises us is the number of newspaper writers who have rushed to the defence of Christmas, and to the confutation of Mr. Bodsworth. Bush-league Bellocs and Canadian Chestertons are more common than we would have supposed. They proclaim their sentimental adherence to the Great Festival; they broadcast their pleasure in the company of Little Children; they are so full of lovingkindness and neighbourly spirit that they appear to slop over in print. They almost convince us that Christmas is in some danger from Mr. Bodsworth. (They are the same people who, two or three years ago, rushed to save Santa Claus from Dr. Brock Chisholm.)

To offset the influence of both Mr. Bodsworth and those who want to correct him, we have to remind ourself that the modern conception of Christmas is little more than a century old. Our ancestors in the eighteenth century kept Christmas with decent reserve; in the seventeenth century Christmas was taken quite calmly, when the Puritans would permit it to be taken at all. And for a thousand years before that Christmas was accepted as a time of feasting and good-fellowship, but not as the orgy of sentimentality which it has become within the last eight generations.

We are very fond of Christmas, but we think that the whole season should be taken as a wise man takes Christmas Cake—in sufficient quantity to satisfy a healthy appetite, but not so greedily as to create nausea. The Christmas-haters and the Christmas gluttons equally cause us to feel a slight uneasiness in the stomach. As for the economics of Christmas, we feel that this is one season of the year, surely, when a man may do as he likes with his money? One should be free of Organized Prudence at Christmas.

Befana

In Italy on the eve of Epiphany (January 6th) there is exhibited in shops where articles for children are sold, and by children, a figure called "Befana". The figure is generally that of an old woman. It symbolizes the ancient woman of Palestine who would not leave her household chores to view the Three Kings of the Orient who were passing by, bearing their rich gifts to the infant Christ-child. The old woman said she would see them on their return. But unknown to Befana, the Three Kings returned in a different direction. In folk lore she is supposed still to be waiting for them.

The influence of Befana goes out to little children. They hang out their stocking before the hearth on the eve of Epiphany—in Italian, Epiphany is called Befania (it has the same Greek root). The little Italian children go to bed early that evening, and wait to hear the cry "Ecco la Bafana!" — and lo! Befana has come with presents, if the children have been good.

Canadian children's Befana comes this evening, down the chimney to fill stockings and bear gifts, as Santa Claus comes to many nations on Christmas eve. He is in many guises, and may appear, according to national custom or legend, at different dates. The giving of presents to children at this season is in imitation of the first gifts to the infant Jesus, but is not only a Christian practice. Everybody likes to give to children, for the childish joy in receiving is a happiness to the adult givers. In the last month of the Jewish calendar at the Festival and Dedication of Lights, children are rewarded and gifts exchanged.

"Freely ye have received; freely give". The Biblical injunction, which the Wise Men followed, for they asked nothing of the Christ-child, is hedged by earthly, fallible people giving to children who can at times be naughty (unlike, we must presume, the Child of Bethlehem). "If you are good, Santa might bring you . . .". "Now, stop yelling, or Santa will not like you". The threat is seldom carried out, but the condition—that the gifts are a reward for good behaviour—is as tenacious as the legend of Befana. The Italian children find their stockings full of presents awarded for good conduct during the last twelve months. But the reward for bad behaviour is a stocking-ful of ashes.

Befana may have no difficulty in finding ashes in Italian hearths, but Santa Claus may be hard put for them in modern electrified Canadian homes. If some fathers feel about six o'clock tomorrow evening that really they have had more than they can take of childish joy and bang, let them sit down to a big fat cigar and create enough ash themselves. By then the dear little shriekers and squabblers will have regained bed and the goodness of Christmas eve, and father his composure.

Vienna Knows About Christmas

By ANGELA CROOME

THE AUSTRIANS as a whole and the Viennese in particular understand about Christmas. Perhaps they should: they have the climate, about half their country is timbered with Christmas trees, and they have a flair for celebrating festivals in the church. As for that essential part of Christmas, eating, the Viennese claim that no one knows more about this art than they do. It is hardly delicate certainly to enquire how much whipped cream (or pastries) the average Viennese may consume in an average week.

✧ ✧ ✧

THE SHOPS of Vienna are open late and very tempting they look too—especially after dark. Everything seems to be there, brilliantly lit and well displayed. The food shops are especially attractive; their windows are filled right to the panes and almost to their tops—with a profusion of cooked meats, cheeses, wines and liqueurs, biscuits, chocolates, breads, many kinds of sausages, pate, bowls of cream-cheese flavoured with paprika, caviar, dried and smoked and pickled fish, a variety of salads in thick mayonnaise, and jars of a dozen sorts of pickle.

✧ ✧ ✧

BUT AFTER A BIT it begins to appear that the people are outside the shops on the pavement, looking, rather than inside, buying. Still, all the children are clutching balloons; they must have been bought somewhere . . .

BY TONIGHT every shop, house and church will have its tree: you can see them rolling in along the main streets from the country heaped up on lorries, or on wagons ploddingly drawn by scraggy horses or magnificent oxen. The trimmings for the trees are already prepared and most of them are beautifully done, and as gay and as colourful as you please, for this is an Austrian forte. No cup of coffee but has its tray and no tray but has its crisp little d'oyley in this country which sometimes seems all wrapping and presentation . . .

. . . And Occupation, one must add. Though superficially, the Occupation (by British, Americans, French, Russians) impinges little upon these Christmas preparations in the capital. The present garrisons for this city—drawn for and quartered in the last days of the war—are small. Small compared with the civilian population of the city, (1,731,000); and small compared with the troop reserves held back in the main zones of occupation.

✧ ✧ ✧

CERTAINLY AT THE OPERA—and December is the height of the State Opera season, that most essential Viennese institution—the notices 'No Smoking', 'Mind the Step', 'To the Buffet" appear in four languages. (German, English-or-American, French, Russian.) Only an occasional foreign uniform is to be seen in the auditorium, however, and then it is more often British or American than anything else.

RUSSIAN SOLDIERS in Vienna, save for those on duty, are almost entirely confined to barracks, at present. It is consequently difficult for them to be much seen or much nuisance. Things have been different: they may be again.

Yet prod ever so little beneath the surface and the unease due to the proximity of such incalculable neighbours is there. This unease can take no account of seasons: it is hitched to the wry charade, now seven years old, of the monthly changing of the guard between the occupation forces and change of chairman between the High Commissioners. Autumn and spring, summer and winter, round and round they go—as if acting out the experiment of the sorcerer's apprentice who knew the spell for starting things but not the one for stopping them again.

✧ ✧ ✧

YET THERE IS ONE group of people in the city who are unlikely to be much troubled by the subterranean rumblings, who may not even hear them. Vienna boasts quite a considerable population of elderly English ladies, some widows, more of them retired governesses, who live on small pensions and refuse so stoutly to end their days at home that they could not reasonably be described as 'decayed gentlewomen'.

✧ ✧ ✧

AT THIS TIME of the year some of the other members of the English community in Vienna try to arrange some small Christmas festivities for these old ladies. There is generally an afternoon party at the Legation for them, and, a few days ago, each got a gift package of a quarter of a lb. of tea.

✧ ✧ ✧

ALMOST ALL of them live 'in a very small way' indeed. Even so, their pensions go further in schillings than they would in shillings. The rent of a single room without heating (and in which as subtenants they are not permitted to cook) costs extremely little in Vienna. Moreover, for the equivalent of ninepence it is possible to have some sweet or pastry in one of the innumerable cafes—in appearance more resembling the lounge of a big railway hotel, or a club that has seen better days, than anything else—and this solitary order sanctions the possession of peace and quiet, warmth and light, a comfortable chair and all the newspapers for about half the day. The papers read, it is time to move on to the next cafe; and, for a change—or an economy—there are the British —the American—the French—the Russian—and the Hungarian reading rooms (where they can do exactly the same without investment of any kind). The last pastry ordered and the final paper read brings them to bed-time without the need to linger in those unheated, cheerless rooms.

✧ ✧ ✧

A MONOTONOUS LIFE? Surely, but with considerably more amenities—and eclat—than a similar regimen pursued at Bournemouth or Bath; especially from such a vantage point as a residential hotel at three or four guineas a week. For one thing, the regular meals that punctuate the pastries will be, almost anywhere in Vienna, excellent and accompanied by wine. For another, many of these women, as governesses in important families (that is fluent linguists and cultivated women) were—and indeed still are among a small circle of Viennese of similar vintage—people of some consequence accustomed to mixing with diplomats, writers and visitors from all over Europe. Though retired, they still refuse to be content with anything but a lively backwater. One of them indeed, at eighty, tried Hove (adjoining Brighton, English South-coast resort) for a short time but was soon back in Vienna. She was too 'continental' for her relations, and they too 'English' for her. Moreover, England had changed rather much since her last visit: she remembered it well before the First World War.

✧ ✧ ✧

SO SHE IS BACK in her tiny room in the Thirteenth District, pursuing in her independent way a course of sturdy cosmopolitanism. An occasional English conversation lesson still comes her way: and there is the party at the Legation and a quarter of a pound of tea to cheer her Christmas. At eighty your mental ease may be less threatened by the Reds just beyond the Canal. (The Danube Canal divides the greater part of the Russian zone of Vienna from the rest of the city; it has therefore come to be thought of in some ways as if it were a frontier,) than by symptoms of social evolution across the Channel . . .

Verse From Our Readers

CHRISTMAS—THEN AND NOW

Over the hills of Juda
The crowds of people come,
With hopes and yearnings for freedom,
Each to his native home.
Soldiers of Rome keep order,
Foreigners taxes take,
This is an occupied country,
Where quislings trouble make.

Men of religion lord it
Over God's heritage;
Voice of the prophet unheeded,
Misread the sacred page.
To such a world came Jesus,
With manger for a bed,
The Child of a humble maiden,
To Him some hearts are led.

Sung by the heavenly angels,
Hope of a world forlorn;
Author and bringer of freedom,
Herald of sin-free morn—
The curse of Mars is on us,
What horrors stalk abroad;
The world needs the light from Bethl'em,
Grant us that light, O Lord.

THE BELLS OF CHRISTMAS

Ring out, O Merry Christmas Bells,
Across this mighty land!
In every heart and soul ring out
Your saga rich and grand.
Ring out once more, in sweet accord,
This glorious Day of Christ the Lord,
O'er every sea and strand.

Let Peace on earth, Goodwill to men
So bless the world this day,
That all the pangs of history
In Him are swept away.
May Christmas trees and Christmas lights
Bring happy days and peaceful nights
Forever, Lord, we pray!

Lift up your hearts ye nations all,
And know 'mid earth's rude grind,
That Bethlehem's Great Promise true
Was made for all mankind.
Let carols then delight the earth
And heaven resound with joy and mirth—
Let joy be unconfined!

Could I but ask one boon divine,
Mankind to serve and bless,
Some mystic rite all hearts to bind
In lasting happiness—
I'd ask that Yuletide's sweet refrain
Eternal in each soul might reign,
And none be comfortless.

Letter To The Editor

PREJUDICE RELEASED AGAINST RELIGION?

Sir: There has been considerable indignation expressed lately over the unfortunate incident of the young woman of Barrie who discontinued taking insulin, in the belief that God would heal her; it would appear upon the surface of things, assuming that the reports relative to the episode were correct in all details, that somebody did have their wires crossed; since the writer of this article is not in possession of first-hand information concerning any of the persons involved, he has no inclination to either vindicate or censure the faith healer or anyone else whose influence had a bearing upon this event. If the young woman had been the victim of undue pressure, in taking the course she did, it is indeed edeplorable, and the offender should be exposed, but if not there seems little grounds for all the spirited expressions of censure and disapproval aimed at this man.

What seems amusing to many of us is this: religious-minded leaders, including both laity and clergy, as well as municipal leaders have sent up a cry to heaven because one unfortunate incident has occurred in the religious realm; some of us are wondering how much righteous indignation has been aroused in these same good men over a liquor traffic that causes hundreds of deaths in motor accidents and drunken brawls annually. Did we not see in the Peterborough Examiner some time ago, the account of a brawl following "a few drinks" in which one man was so beaten up that he died? Did any individual or group of people become aroused enough about that incident to consider advocating a ban on the sale of intoxicating beverages? We failed to see anything of that nature; but when one or two misfortunes occur in the religious field (and we do not minimize this loss of precious life) many are so indignant as to desire steps to be taken to put a ban on faith healers. How inconsistent we mortals are!

It seems to some of us that any clear-thinking person could see in many of these outbursts of indignation, a release of pent-up prejudice, that was only suppressed until a seemingly justifiable reason for blowing up appeared: it is very easy for those of us who "Have a form of godliness, but deny the power thereof" (II Tim. 3:5), to pounce on somebody who is being used of God to minister to the needs of mankind, if and when he should make a single error, (we are not assuming that this healer did, or did not). And now lest some reader's mind is jumping ahead to conclude that the writer of this article adheres to the same religious sect as the faith healer referred to, let us disabuse your mind, for such is not the case.

As regards healing, we would like to say here that in the process of raising a family of four children, we have much cause for gratitude to the time-honoured and God-blessed benefactor of the human race—the medical doctor; also we have experienced on several occasions, the definite supernatural touch of God upon our bodies, often in critical situations.

We believe that undoubtedly there are many fake healers abroad who bring reproach upon the cause of God by their fanatical ideas on the one hand and the love of personal gain on the other, but let us beware (the writer included) the subtle poison of religious prejudice lest we try to atone for our lack of faith and for our spiritual poverty by unduly censuring another worker in God's vineyard — and remember if we must explode, let's be consitent and drop our missiles on the greatest offender first.

Unconsidered Trifles

Two friends met after many years. "Did you hear about Bill?" asked one, referring to an old acquaintance.

"He dropped dead outside a public-house."

"Going in or coming out?"

"Going in."

"What bad luck."

Without a second's hesitation the boy answered: "Louis XV, sir."

Councillor, Ex-Wrestler Settle Grudge In Holyhead Boxing Ring

HOLYHEAD, Wales (CP)—It took 12 minutes of unorthodox battling for a 40-year-old town councillor and a former wrestler, eight years his junior, to settle a grudge they had been nursing 18 months.

The principals, councillor William Pierce, one-time Scotland yard official and John Griffiths, known to the wrestling fraternity as the "Black Panther," decided to settle an issue of honor in a boxing ring set up in Holyhead town hall.

The grudge had been smouldering ever since the two men quarrelled when Griffiths sought admission to a social club operated by Pierce. William emerged from that clash with a black eye and a challenge to fight it out in the ring followed.

Seconds were named and arrangements finally made for a bout of six two-minute rounds.

Word of the duel flashed around the community and the 500 seats in the hall were sold out overnight. More than 100 people crowded into the standing space that was left. Hundreds more were turned away.

The crowd greeted both men with resounding cheers. Then for six uproarious rounds the two tore into each other, one boxing, the other wrestling.

Neither was seriously hurt and when the referee finally gave the decision on points to Pierce, the gladiators walked out of the ring smiling broadly, arms around each other's shoulder.

Said the Panther: "Most of the mischief was caused by gossiping. All now is forgotten and forgiven."

Variety Of Souvenirs Approved For Coronation

LONDON (CP)—A varied selection of souvenirs to commemorate the Coronation next year has already been approved by the Council of Industrial Design, entrusted with the assignment. Of 330 articles submitted, 75 have been accepted and some 40 approved provisionally.

Among the articles officially confirmed is a prototype design of a plaster bust of the Queen, by sculptor G.H. Paulin, designer of one of the Coronation medals. Commemorative glass goblets, showing the Royal Cypher, have also been accepted as well as a small brass table bell, with the royal insignia. There is also a profusion of ashtrays, brooches, teaspoons, mugs and such novelties as a loving-cup and a horse's nose-strap.

"STANDARD QUITE HIGH"

"On the whole, the standard of design is rather better than we expected," said a spokesman for the Council. "The articles submitted are not very original, but the quality is good and the designs pleasant."

A number of souvenir ideas were rejected because of discrepancies in reproduction of the Royal insignia, but manufacturers will be allowed to re-submit revised designs. Reproduction of actual pieces of the regalia, such as the Imperial Crown, St. Edward's Crown, the orbs, sceptre or swords of state, are forbidden.

NO DOUBLE CROWN

Manufacturers have also been informed that if photographs of the Queen and the Duke of Edinburgh are used together on souvenirs, they should not be shown surmounted by a crown, or with the date of the Coronation, as only the Queen is being crowned.

Although there is no law against early sale of Coronation souvenirs, once they have been approved, manufacturers have been urged not to display the articles in shops for the Christmas trade, but to wait until January 1, start of the Coronation Year.

Jazzed-Up Version Of Play Brings Uproar

LOWESTOFT, England (AP)—A jazzed-up version of the tragedy of Julius Caesar rocked this small east coast town today—Brutus killed Caesar with a tommy - gun in a school dramatization of Shakespeare's famous play.

The town's education committee demanded an immediate inquiry with Miss J. M. Mann, a town official, asserting that mothers are concerned about tommy - guns in youngsters' hands at this time of year (Christmas, she meant).

"Our idea was to produce this great play in modern setting. We adhered strictly to its theme that violence does not pay. After all, the daggers used in the original form can be every bit as offensive as tommy-guns."

Sees Opportunities In Canada To Become Citizen

NEW YORK (CP)—Canadians in recent years have heard much about their young men coming to the United States to seek their fortunes, but John O. Maberry, Oklahoma oil man, is reversing the process. He is becoming a Canadian citizen.

Maberry, 45-year-old president of Canadian Pipeline Producers Ltd., says Western Canada offers the greatest opportunity of a "new frontier" for American youth in nearly a century.

The oil executive, who is especially enthusiastic about the Peace River district, told a press conference that young Americans should follow his example and go to Canada.

GO NORTH YOUNG MAN

Maberry, an oil-company executive since his graduation in law from Dallas' Southern Methodist University, was engaged in oil exploration in the western U.S. some years ago when the thought struck him that Canada offered a far greater potential for the petroleum industry.

"I predict that each of the western provinces and the Northwest Territories will come forth with ultimate reserves far vaster than those known today," he said. "The result will be a spreading to all parts of the West of a greater measure of the direct and indirect benefits of oil wealth now going in lions shares to Albertans."

Steals Mink Coat

LONDON (AP) — A young man strolled into a Mayfair furrier's shop Tuesday, swept a £500 mink coat into his arms and dashed out the front door. As a startled employee ran to the door shouting "Stop! Stop!" the mink - lifter jumped aboard his getaway vehicle — a bicycle — and pedalled madly out of sight into the traffic. The coat belonged to a sister of the Duchess of Sunderland.

True Morse Named For Agriculture Post

NEW YORK (AP) — President-elect Eisenhower today chose True D. Morse of St. Louis, Mo.—a Republican who was a Democrat 20 years ago—for the job of undersecretary of agriculture in the new administration.

Morse, 56-year-old board chairman of a farm management service and editor of a farm publication, will serve as top aide to Ezra Taft Benson, secretary of agriculture-designate.

The nomination of Morse and others Eisenhower has named to key posts will go to the Senate for confirmation after the general takes office Jan. 20.

Eisenhower's press secretary, James C. Hagerty, said Benson recommended Morse — who was born on a farm — for the job as undersecretary. It pays $17,500 a year.

Cobourg Employees Ask 27-Cent Increase

COBOURG (ENS) — Representatives of the Cobourg Utilities employees met with the Commission Tuesday night to go over the wage increase demands of the union. Fails To Signal Turn, May Charge Driver

A charge of failing to signal a left hand turn may be laid against Felix Fevreau, 220 Barnardo St., after an accident on Charlotte St. at Margaret Ave. Tuesday.

Fevreau, driving west on Charlotte, started to make a U-turn at Margaret Ave. A car driven by Fred Brown, RR 3, Millbrook, struck Fevreau's car, doing slight damage. Fevreau admitted he did not signal. Constable Ed. Niziol investigated.

Truck, Car Crash

A truck driven by John C. O'Neil, 197 Brock St., collided Tuesday afternoon at Aylmer and Simcoe Sts. with a car driven by Hugh F. Newnham, RR 4. Damage was not heavy. Both drivers said their visibility was blocked by a car turning north on Aylmer from Simcoe.

Betsy Rawls Sets Pace As Money-Winner

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—In her first full year as a professional, brown-haired Betsy Rawls set the money-winning pace for U.S. women golfers by capturing $14,505 in purses along the 1952 tournament trail.

The final official standings released Tuesday by Fred Corcoran, ladies' PGE tournament director, disclosed that the 24-year-old Miss Rawls, from Austin, Tex., led her nearest rival, Betty Jameson, by almost $2,000.

Miss Rawls won seven tournaments and tied for first in another. Her best purse was the $5,000 first prize for the championship of the 144-hole Weathervane cross country tournament.

FAMOUS WIN

Her most highly-publicized victory was a 2 to 1 decision over Max McCready, former British amateur champion and Walker Cup star, while touring England with the U.S. women's Weathervane team.

Miss Jameson, who plays out of San Antonio, Tex., won $12,660, including the $5,000 "world's championship" in Chicago.

Finishing third with $10,083 was Louise Suggs, Carrollton, Ga., who won the U.S. women's open championship with an all-time record 284 at the Bala Golf Club in Philadelphia. Miss Suggs was second to Miss Rawls in tournament victories with six.

Patty Berg, St. Andrews, Ill., won $7,588 for fourth place.

Don't Approve Of Bowl Games

This was reported Tuesday in a study of post-season competition, undertaken by the extra-events committee of the National Collegiate Athletic Association.

The survey showed that a strong majority of educational and athletic administrators, as well as the athletes and student leaders, approve of "properly controlled and administered" post-season athletic events—with the college presidents taking exception on the football bowl games.

The presidents were asked to report their institutional policy and 31 per cent of the 156 responding college presidents approved bowl games while 53 per cent reported disapproval.

Among the presidents whose teams have participated in such bowls, however, 45.6 per cent approved such competition and 35 per cent disapproved.

Head coaches of all sports voted 63.4 per cent in favor of bowl games with 26.9 per cent opposed. Athletic directors were 57.2 per cent in favor and 39.3 per cent opposed.

TORONTO (CP)—Movies of horse races in Ontario will be available five minutes after each race during the 1953 season, S. Tupper Bigelow, chairman of the Ontario racing commission, announced Tuesday.

A new picture-taking system, costing $30,000 for the season, will be initiated to replace the slower process involved in getting quick decisions on disqualifications and other track rulings in 1952.

This year the movies were not available for examination by stewards until noon of the day after the race.

BRUINS' LAYCOE BACK

BOSTON (CP)—Assured that Hal Laycoe will be able to skate in their next game, Boston Bruins Tuesday returned Norm Corcoran to their Hershey farm in the American Hockey League.

Corcoran was recalled by the Bruins on an emergency basis and played last Sunday against Montreal Canadiens.

PROTEST NIGHT GAMES

PITTSBURGH — (AP) — Ralph Kiner, player representative of the National League, said Tuesday a protest may be handed to commissioner Ford Frick because of Pittsburgh Pirates' spring exhibition schedule which calls for 26 night games. The Pirates' exhibition schedule calls for 34 games—26 of them at night. Major league players have been protesting the number of exhibition night games for several years.

NOT READY FOR MOORE

LONDON (AP)—Briton's Randy Turpin is in no hurry to meet the newly crowned light heavyweight champion, Archie Moore. Manager George Middleton said Tuesday he and Turpin had read about various American interests wanting to promote a Moore-Turpin title fight. "As far as we are concerned a lightweight bout is out—for some time."

Chandler May Get League Directorship

NEW YORK (AP)—There is a chance that A. B. (Happy) Chandler may get back into organized baseball—as managing director of San Francisco of the Pacific Coast League.

Negotiations between Paul Fagan, owner of the Seals, and the former baseball commissioner have been resumed after having been broken off two weeks ago.

At the time, Fagan had offered Chandler $25,000 a year to take charge of the Seals, with Fagan retaining ownership. Chandler was willing to accept the post, but asked for a five-year contract instead of the two-year pact offered by Fagan. Happy argued it would require that much time to rebuild the club.

Employees will still use the cars on official business as they pay minimum monthly instalments of $50 toward the interest-free purchase price. They also will collect mileage allowances.

SPORTS SHOW WINDOW

By CEC. PERDUE, Sports Editor

Merry Christmas, folks. It is time again to send out this sincere greeting and wish to all our city and district athletes, officials, sports' fans and readers of this column. It is true that there is peace on earth and goodwill toward man everywhere, except in Korea, Russia, Germany, India, Arabia, Argentine, etc. and etc.—but let's not be bitter. There is peace and goodwill here, for which we are thankful. Our thanks, too, to the many friends who sent cards this Christmas from near and far. It's nice to be remembered. So, have a happy holiday, and think twice before going for that second drumstick on the morrow.

* * * * * *

Peterborough people apparently ate well in the good old days, also. Better probably than we do today. We ran across an old menu the other day of a citizens' complimentary banquet given at the Oriental Hotel for the 1906 intermediate OHA champions. The team then consisted of: W. E. Wasson, Rolly Glover, Bill Crowley, Fred Whitcroft, Harry Morgan, Chris Graham, W. H. Cavanah with Mel Moore the only substitute allowed at that time. Trainer was Bill Breen. It was seven-man hockey played on natural ice. The team played just 12 games in cleaning up its group and winning out in provincial playdowns. The puck seasons were pretty short then, eh?

* * * * * *

Golly, Gosh and Tch, Tch

This was the dinner these hardy souls sat down to: New York counts, consomme chicken, queen olives, celery, fillet of Ontario salmon de homard, pommes ala hockey, edge bone of beef aux Montipensor, boiled potatoes, green peas, crustade of fruit au cognac, championship punch, roast spring turkey stuffed, cranberry sauce, mashed potatoes, sweet corn, steamed sponge pudding with brandy sauce, banana cream and apple pie, strawberry jelly and whipped cream, Neapolitan ice cream, assorted cakes, fruit, nuts, raisins, crackers, cheese and cafe noir. That's all. No blinkin' wonder they drank black coffee. Probably indulged in a bromo as well ere burping their way homeward!

* * * * * *

After that meal, we need some exercise, so let's go skating with Ted Reeve. Says he: "In the days when ice was plentiful, a team might have several two-hour workouts a week indoors or outdoors. Now a bantam or peewee outfit using the full quota of players will get into a 40-minute match, straight time, and, with three lines of forwards operating, Willie at right wing could conceivably in his 13-minute share of that 40 minutes (less stoppages) handle the puck about 10 times. Out west they have plenty of frozen water and well-organized leagues, and some coaches would like to see more shinny with 40 or so aside. It is a problem."

* * * * * *

Artificial Ice The Answer

Yes, that made for better stickhandling, but don't forget this point—the kids today in cities with artificial ice have a much longer hockey season. Local lads have been playing in the PMHA for a month of more now, and even the kids in school hockey have been at is for a couple of weeks. Yet there hasn't been any ice at all in surrounding centres which depend upon natural ice. Their season won't commence till early in January and will wind up a month sooner, at least, than hockey in Peterborough. If winters continue to become milder in this part of the province, it'll soon be not worth while building costly village rinks unless artificial ice is installed. This is just our personal opinon, but who wants a schedule of only 12 games to go right through to an Ontario title like that local 1906 club had?

* * * * * *

George (Red) Sullivan continues to dominate the American Hockey League in scoring, being out in front by himself now with 36 points. Leads the setup in assists, also, with 31 points, and has served but 16 minutes in 27 games. His former Boston buddy, Lorne Ferguson, is also with Hershey so far this season and is second in scoring to Red with 33 points. Another Hershey chap, Dunc Fisher, is third and he leads in goals scored with 20 out of his 32 points. Ike Hildebrand of Cleveland is tied for next spot with 31. Ike served but eight minutes in penalties to date in 26 contests. Don Ashbee has started play with Syracuse.

Giesebrecht Dies, Several Sons Hockey Stars

PEMBROKE (CP) — Eugene (Charlie) Giesebrecht, a native of Germany who fathered enough hockey stars to ice a crack family team, died in hospital here Tuesday after a long illness.

He sent one son to the National Hockey League and one of his daughters married another NHL star. Giesebrecht, father of six sons—all good hockey players—and six daughters, came to Canada at an early age and had lived in the nearby village of Petawawa for 44 years.

He ran a prosperous grocery business.

OUTSTANDING PLAYERS

His sons were among the many outstanding hockey players turned out by the Ottawa valley. They include Roy, once with Detroit Red Wings; Bert, now with Shawinigan Falls Cataracts in the Quebec Senior League; Jack, with Ottawa Senators in the same league; Fred, Bruce and Dick.

Then two of his six daughters married notable pucksters, too, and became Mrs. Cully Simon and Mrs. Thain Simon. Cully Simon was once a star defenceman with Chicago Black Hawks.

The Giesebrechts themselves, with the Simons in the fold, could ice a formidable team all by themselves and occasionally, for exhibition purposes, they did. There have been Giesebrechts with Pembroke Lumber Kings for years.

DeSpirito Returns To Saddle Once More

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Tony DeSpirito, the leading jockey in the U.S. with 370 winners this year, returns to the saddle today, still confident he can break the American riding record of 388 in one year.

DeSpirito served a 10-day suspension for a riding infraction, which left him only eight racing days to bring home 19 winners and shatter the mark set by Walter Miller in 1906 and tied by Joe Culmone and Willie Shoemaker in 1950.

DeSpirito plans to ride in Havana, Cuba, Christmas Day and again on Sunday to fire at the record on every available day. He will ride on all the other days at Tropical Park in Miami.

Betsy Rawls Sets Pace As Money-Winner

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—In her first full year as a professional, brown-haired Betsy Rawls set the money-winning pace for U.S. women golfers by capturing $14,505 in purses along the 1952 tournament trail.

The final official standings released Tuesday by Fred Corcoran, ladies' PGE tournament director, disclosed that the 24-year-old Miss Rawls, from Austin, Tex., led her nearest rival, Betty Jameson, by almost $2,000.

Miss Rawls won seven tournaments and tied for first in another. Her best purse was the $5,000 first prize for the championship of the 144-hole Weathervane cross country tournament.

FAMOUS WIN

Her most highly-publicized victory was a 2 to 1 decision over Max McCready, former British amateur champion and Walker Cup star, while touring England with the U.S. women's Weathervane team.

Miss Jameson, who plays out of San Antonio, Tex., won $12,660, including the $5,000 "world's championship" in Chicago.

Finishing third with $10,083 was Louise Suggs, Carrollton, Ga., who won the U.S. women's open championship with an all-time record 284 at the Bala Golf Club in Philadelphia. Miss Suggs was second to Miss Rawls in tournament victories with six.

Patty Berg, St. Andrews, Ill., won $7,588 for fourth place.

Don't Approve Of Bowl Games

This was reported Tuesday in a study of post-season competition, undertaken by the extra-events committee of the National Collegiate Athletic Association.

The survey showed that a strong majority of educational and athletic administrators, as well as the athletes and student leaders, approve of "properly controlled and administered" post-season athletic events—with the college presidents taking exception on the football bowl games.

The presidents were asked to report their institutional policy and 31 per cent of the 156 responding college presidents approved bowl games while 53 per cent reported disapproval.

Among the presidents whose teams have participated in such bowls, however, 45.6 per cent approved such competition and 35 per cent disapproved.

Head coaches of all sports voted 63.4 per cent in favor of bowl games with 26.9 per cent opposed. Athletic directors were 57.2 per cent in favor and 39.3 per cent opposed.

Bowling League Runs Off Its Turkey Roll

The men's City Bowling League held its annual turkey roll this week, with I. Hanes having high single of 356 and H. Frost leading in triples with 895. Blind scores for turkeys went to F. Caccavella and D. Abraham. Cigarette winners: E. Reynolds, J. Playford, A Mattucci, G. Gilespie, V. Ferguson, J. Murray Sr., B. Goodson, H. Davis, P. Bartley and E. Hickey.

McGillis led teams on the night with 3560 and a single of 1246 to take six points over IUE-CIO, as Sunocos took six from Monumental. The 4-2 wins were taken by Empress over Royal York, Madill & Post against their rivals, and Payne's over Shockey's. They bowl again next Monday.

TO SPEED RACE FILMS

TORONTO (CP)—Movies of horse races in Ontario will be available five minutes after each race during the 1953 season, S. Tupper Bigelow, chairman of the Ontario racing commission, announced Tuesday.

A new picture-taking system, costing $30,000 for the season, will be initiated to replace the slower process involved in getting quick decisions on disqualifications and other track rulings in 1952.

This year the movies were not available for examination by stewards until noon of the day after the race.

2 Injury-Ridden Teams Meet In Toronto For Christmas Eve Game

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Montreal and Toronto, the National Hockey League's injury-ridden teams, clash tonight in the only Christmas Eve game. Both clubs, antagonists of old, badly need a win—Montreal to grasp a firmer hold on second place and Toronto, now in fifth spot, to start a climb up the ladder. A Maple Leaf victory would send Boston and Toronto into a tie for fourth spot, six points behind the front-running Detroit Red Wings. The Canadiens arrived in Toronto Tuesday minus several regulars. Elmer Lach, Dickie Moore and Billy Reay are missing from the forward ranks and Dollard St. Laurent is absent from the active defence roster.

Reay, who suffered a fractured cheek bone in Boston Sunday night was operated on in Montreal Monday night and will be out for three or four weeks.

As a reinforcement, the Canadiens called up Gerry Desaulniers of Montreal Royals of the Quebec Senior League. He has scored nine goals and 16 assists for 25 points so far this season. He was up for three games on a lend-lease arrangement last season.

CALL UP TWO

Toronto has called up two players, has two definitely out and another pair whose effectiveness will be impaired if they play

Eric Nesterenko, up from Toronto Marlboros, a Leaf farm in the Ontario Hockey Association Junior A series, and Phil Maloney, up from Pittsburgh of the American Hockey League, will help fill the breach.

Toronto is short the services of veteran centre Max Bentley, out with a back ailment, and George Armstrong, out for two or three weeks with a twisted knee. Sid Smith will be nursing a slightly sprained ankle and Howie Meeker a twisted knee.

CHRISTMAS NIGHT

Christmas night tail-end New York is at Boston and third-place Chicago at Detroit.

New York will be putting one of hockey's most prepossessing records on the line Christmas night. In 20 Christmas games, the Rangers have won 16, lost three and tied one.

There was one stretch from 1930 through 1949 when they played without defeat. The unbeaten streak was broken in Detroit in 1950. Detroit also won last year's game with New York in Detroit 2-1. This year it will be the third Christmas night game between Boston and New York. The Rangers won in 1935 and 1938.

Boxing Judge May Retire

NEW YORK (AP)—Joe Agnello, veteran boxing judge who had his score card changed by the commission in the controversial Billy Graham-Joey Giardello fight Friday, is thinking of retiring from the game.

"If I can't call them as I see them, what's the good of it?" said Agnello, 63-year-old former boxer and a ring judge for more than 25 years.

Agnello's card of the televised fight was changed by chairman Bob Christenberry and commissioner Dr. C. B. Powell of the state athletic commission after he had voted 6-4 in rounds for Giardello. That gave the Philadelphian a split decision victory in the Garden main event. After studying the cards of the three officials, the two commissioners changed two rounds on Agnello's card, making his final score 5-5 in rounds and 7-6 in points for Graham. That gave Graham the verdict.

Almond Vacates Featherweight Title

VANCOUVER (CP)—Frankie Almond has officially vacated the Canadian featherweight boxing title.

Almond said his "reluctant" decision to retire was reached because he could "not serve three masters. . . the boxing game. . . my home and my business career."

The 25-year-old Vancouver boy has held the Canadian featherweight crown since 1950 when he scored a sensational knockout over Toronto's Lou Alter.

King George's Death Top '52 Story

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Death of King George VI was the world news story of 1952 with greatest impact for Canadians.

Presidents were elected, wars were fought, here and there a ruler fell, a train was wrecked spectacularly or an atom bomb exploded. All made sweeping headlines. But the story of the year was that of the death Feb. 6 of the courageous unassuming figure who typified the Commonwealth's emotional unity under the crown.

The King's death was listed by every daily newspaper telegraph editor who voted in a Canadian Press poll which asked them to name the six top world news breaks and the six outstanding stories in the Canadian scene.

They were nearly unanimous also in listing Gen. Eisenhower's election among their six top world breaks. In third place was Capt. Kurt Carlsen's long effort last January to save the battered freighter Flying Enterprise.

TOP CANADIAN STORY

Top Canadian story was the Boyd gang—a crime yarn that began in March with the killing of Toronto detective Edmund Tong, continued through two jail-breaks, recapture and trial, and culminated in a double hanging and a life sentence for gang leader Edwin Boyd. The developing story growing out of discovery early in the year of foot-and-mouth disease in Saskatchewan cattle took second place.

World news: 1, the King's death; 2, Eisenhower's election; 3, the Flying Enterprise; 4, Farouk's ouster from Egypt; 5, Koje prison camp riots; 6, Harrow train wreck.

Canadian news: 1, the Boyd gang; 2, foot-and-mouth outbreak; 3, Massey appointment as governor-general; 4, rise of the Canadian dollar; 5, Social Credit win in B.C.; 6, PC upset of N.B. Liberals.

Farouk's abdication followed a military coup in Egypt in July. The Koje riots saw 76 Red prisoners killed in June, with a Canadian aftermath when Ottawa protested at sending Canadian troops to guard the compound. The Harrow wreck took 111 lives in the London suburb Oct. 8.

On the Canadian scene, appointment Jan. 24 of a Canadian as governor-general caught the imagination of editors, as did the spectacular rise of the dollar which hit par with the U.S. dollar March 6 for the first time in 14 years.

High up among choices listed by late voters—several had already mailed in their choices—was tabling of the Currie report on the Army Works Services Dec. 15.

Official Collapses, Dies On Way To Job

OTTAWA (CP)—Gordon Grant Macdonald, 62, who came to Ottawa in 1941 to do special wartime work for the government's department of mines and stayed on, died suddenly Tuesday. He collapsed en route to work.

He was the son of the Rev. James A. Macdonald, managing editor of the Toronto Globe from 1902 to 1916 and an influential figure in the political life of his day.

Born in Toronto, Mr. Macdonald was a graduate of the University of Toronto. After his wartime work here he stayed on with the metallurgy division of the mines branch.

Dry For First Time Many Office Parties

TORONTO (CP)—Many office parties of this Christmas season are "dry" for the first time in years, traffic inspector Robert Kerr said Tuesday.

"There wasn't a drop of liquor at a big one sponsored by a car manufacturing company Monday," said the inspector, directing a campaign against drinking drivers. "The management clamped down."

To our many friends we extend our heartiest wishes for all the joys and blessings of this,
the happiest season of the year.

PEACE ON EARTH

There's so much more than expensive gifts and festive parties to make a Christmas merry! More than anything, it is the warmth and cheer of neighbors and friends who join in wishing you the hearty, sincere greetings of the Season.

It is the spirit of brotherhood expressed by the Day itself . . . the hopes and aspirations of mankind for peace on earth, unto all men good will -- to which we would like to add our best wishes for a very Merry Christmas!

Real Life Story Big Headache To Producers

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — In my book, the bravest kind of movie maker is the one who attempts to film somebody's real-life story.

Everybody gets into the act, including the family, friends and business associates of the person being portrayed. Some demand payment for the use of their names. Some threaten suit if their names aren't used. Some want the facts juggled.

Then the picture is finally completed. The producer is bombarded by critics for making a watered-down or corned-up version of the person's life. And law suits for defamation of character or invasion of privy start popping up all over.

"The legal clearances are indeed a headache," he sighed. "even if you use fictitious names for certain characters, you have to be careful. If the character is unmistakably someone in real life, the person may have grounds for suit.

MATERIAL SOURCE

"We also have to be careful about source material. Our picture is primarily based on Miss Moore's autobiography, 'You're Only Young Twice.' If we use any other material, we must be careful that it appears in at least two sources. If we take it from one source, the person who wrote it might be able to sue."

Blanke produced the biographies of Emile Zola, Louis Pasteur and Benito Juarez back in the 1930s. He remarked that he even had troubles with those 19th century figures.

"There are always descendants of people involved in those stories and they can bring trouble," he said.

Blanke said that the Grace Moore film will stick as closely to the singer's life as possible. It will be concerned mostly with her early days.

The story has also been tailored to the talents of Kathryn Grayson, who is playing Miss Moore.

Adjourn Hearing For One Week

WINDSOR, Ont. (CP)—Preliminary hearing of a charge of attempted murder was adjourned Tuesday for one week after a Detroit man told of having six shots fired at him as he huddled behind the wheel of his car.

Edgar Frendo, 36, wounded in the arm, neck and face, returned to hospital after the hearing for surgery.

Frendo described going to a Lake Erie beach with Grant Farnol, 21, of Windsor. He said Farnol robbed him of $14 at gun point, then demanded more. Frendo said he returned to the car, supposedly for more money, but locked himself in. He said Farnol fired twice from one side and four times from the other.

Frendo added that then he fled from the car and hid.

Lumber Mill Burned

VANCOUVER (CP)—Fire Tuesday night destroyed a three-storey lumber mill in suburban North Vancouver. Officials of the L and K Lumber Company estimated damage at between $150,000 and $200,000. The Vancouver fireboat raced across the harbor to help fight the fire.

Why are Catholics certain theirs is the "only" religion? Why are they forbidden to read or see certain books, plays, movies? How does the Church explain its stand on divorce? Why does it oppose artificial birth control?

Report Seasonal Unemployment Moving In Across Dominion

OTTAWA (CP) — Seasonal unemployment was moving in on Canada by late November but more people were working than a year earlier, a government statement said today.

Out of a civilian labor force of 5,290,000, there were 114,000 out of jobs and looking for work at Nov. 22, according to a joint statement by the Dominion bureau of statistics and the labor department. A total of 5,047,000 worked full or part time during the week.

For the week ended Nov. 3, 1951, 4,991,000 worked some time, while 100,000 were fully out of work.

The joint release was the first of a monthly series to be issued by the two departments. These will replace the periodic employment surveys of the labor department, the figures in which were based on applications for jobs with national employment service.

The DBS statistics are reached on a sampling basis and are regarded by government officials as a more accurate gauge of actual employment and unemployment.

On the basis of new figures, there were 179,355 persons looking for jobs at Nov. 20. This compared with 147,614 at Oct. 23 and 192,918 a year earlier.

In addition to those without jobs and seeking work at Nov. 22, the DBS estimated there were another 129,000 who had jobs but did not work at them because of bad weather, temporary lay-offs, illness or other reasons. The comparative figure for Nov. 3, 1951, was 119,000.

Of the 5,047,000 who worked during the 1952 week, the DBS said, 4,680,000 worked a full week—defined as 35 hours or more—and 367,000 worked part of the week.

"Generally," the two departments said jointly, "employment levels in December continued to exceed those of a year ago.

"The lessening of activity in industries affected by weather conditions, however, caused the usual reductions from the seasonally peak levels of September and October.

Construction work declined, though it was higher than last year. Work picked up in the forest industries, and trade and service businesses took on more workers for the Christmas rush.

By regions, here are the National Employment Service figures on job applications at Nov. 20, with the Oct. 23 totals bracketed:

Atlantic, 23,574 (17,947); Quebec, 55,740 (44,285); Ontario, 50,278 (45,518); Prairie, 22,289 (16,557); British Columbia, 27,474 (23,307).

Non-Fiction Books Restored To Spot On Shelf

It was hardly a "battle of the books" at the Public Library, but, whatever the circumstances, it was noticed recently that the non-fiction line has been restored to its customary position on the display table.

Temporarily, they had been shuffled to a secondary position on the abbreviated shelves of what appeared to be a movable bookcase. The top row was no more than waist high, and the bottom row was only a few inches off the floor. To scan the titles in all but the upper row, the non-fiction reader had to bend double, a position recommended in slimming if it were still a concern of those interested in what was offering in the heavier literature.

Some of the staff were almost expecting, it was said, that the odd customer might take to standing on his head, maybe hers, in reaching down to visibility from the ankles.

TRANSFERRED

However, all is well again in the relationship between the classes of books, and it is further noted that the excess of fiction has been transferred to the arrangement of shelving which should be mentioned to Santa Claus as material for his wooden toys. Customers should be permitted to recommend to the Public Library Board that it should run in an item: one extra display table, in making up its budget for 1953.

As a blurb for the non-fiction array which might possibly attract a more numerous clentele if the titles and their promise were more generally perused, are these samples you may find in that line: King George V, His Life and Reign by Harold Nicolson. So Long to Learn by John Masefield; Rose and Crown (Sean O'Casey). On Dreams by Sigmund Freud. Bernard Spilsbury, His Life and Cases.

A reading by Diane Broughton on the subject "Queen Victoria" and a duet by Joyce Wiggins and Peggy O'Shaughnessy were given. Santa Claus distributed many gifts and bags of candies assisted by Mrs. Reg. Blatherwick.

Man Without Language New Problem For Santa

By W. R. WHEATLEY

LONGUEUIL, Que. (CP)—Last-minute poser for Santa Claus before he takes off: what to do about old Mike Spiteri, the man without a language.

Mike was born on the British island of Malta. He hasn't spoken his native tongue for so long he has practically forgotten it. His English is passable if you have a sharp ear. His French, in this predominantly French-speaking town, is negligible except for the cuss words.

To complicate things for old Mike, he can neither read nor write. He doesn't even know how old he is. He thinks he is eligible for the old-age pension, but long ago lost all papers that might assure him of it. He was hauled into hospital few months ago for a heart ailment and the doctors figured Mike is on the pensionable side of 65. How far, they wouldn't even guess.

Mike got out of the hospital as fast as he could and went right back to his odd jobs as a handy man.

REJECTED SCHOOL

As a youngster in Malta he refused to go to school. He preferred to hang out with the British soldiers in their barracks. He did odd jobs even then. In the First World War Mike "worked with the soldiers" at the Dardanelles.

Some time during the war he came to Canada. Odd jobs kept him going and he used to head for western Canada regularly at harvest time. He worked here and there also in western Ontario, particularly in Brantford, Chatham and Windsor.

He drifted into Quebec province and has lived for years in Longueuil, across the St. Lawrence river from Montreal. The Bob Watt family got old Mike out of his shack and he still lives with them.

Mike says his correct name is Manuel Spiteri, but he can't spell it. He can't even describe his native tongue but insists he can understand bits of Syrian when he hears it spoken.

So, Santa Claus, if you have an extra language or two in your big pack, don't forget old Mike.

Union Turns Down Christmas Concert

OTTAWA (CP)—The post office department's Christmas choir won't give its traditional Christmas radio broadcast in Ottawa because of a ruling by the American Federation of Musicians.

For the last three years, the choir has presented a tape recorded program of Christmas music over Ottawa station CFRA. This year Walter Murdock of Toronto, Canadian head of the AFM, ruled that the program can't be heard from tape recordings.

The station offered the choir time for a "live" broadcast but the offer was turned down because the only time available is during working hours of the post office employees.

Captain Agrees To Abandon Ship

GLASGOW (Reuters)—The captain of the grounded Finnish freighter Margareta finally agreed to abandon ship early today as mountainous wind - swept seas threatened to batter his 2,915-ton ship to pieces.

Lifeboats from nearby Campbeltown took off the last 20 crew members and a 14-man salvage party, which boarded the freighter Tuesday. The Margareta is aground on a rocky islet in the mouth of the Firth of Clyde.

The Margareta hit the islet Monday as she steamed into the firth from Alexandria, Egypt. Ten of the crew and one woman, the wife of the chief engineer, were taken off by lifeboats Monday night.

Waiter Charged

WINDSOR, Ont. (CP)—A Windsor waiter was charged with manslaughter Tuesday in the death of a man whom he forcibly ejected from a downtown beverage room. Harry Arthur O'Neill, 26, faced the charge after David Paquette, 40, of Windsor, died Sunday of a brain haemorrhage. Police said he was injured Saturday but returned home unaided.

Pet Deer Plays Role Of Rudolph

This is the second year that Rudolph, whose real name is Pee Wee, has gone to Clappison's Cut to take part in a Santa Claus display.

Rudolph wandered out of an Indian reserve near here 18 months ago when he was two days old. He was nursed on a baby's bottle by Diane DesGroseilliers, nine-year-old daughter of hotelman Larry DesGroseilliers. The deer now weighs 80 pounds and lives with three others in a pen behind the hotel.

Winnipeg Ballet Dancer Gets Role In Kelly Film

By MURIEL NARRAWAY

LONDON (CP) — Dark-haired Paddy Stone, Winnipeg ballet dancer, looks forward to a Christmas of relaxation before leaving for Canada and the United States.

The 29-year-old dancer who made his stage debut with the Winnipeg Ballet has been working in the film "Invitation to the Dance," a modern ballet film without dialogue. The star and director of this unusual film, which depends entirely on dance routine, music and singing, is Hollywood's Gene Kelly.

Presenting four separate stories in ballet, the film gives a wide series of dance routines. In one sequence depending on old-time popular songs, Stone dances to such melodies as "Just One of Those Things." His dance partner in this number is the flaxen-haired British star, Belita, better known as a figure skater. In "St. Louis Blues" Stone is teamed with Beryl Kaye.

SIGNED BY KELLY

Stone's film chance came when Kelly saw him in a Paris cabaret number he danced with Beryl Kaye and Irving Davies. It's called "Three's Company." Kelly liked the act and all three ended up in "Invitation to the Dance."

Appropriately, the three are sticking together. In January, they dance the same number in London's Savoy hotel. After that comes an April booking at New York's Waldorf-Astoria.

"Between times I'll be in Canada in February," said Stone. He's looking forward to seeing his mother at their home in Winnipeg.

After New York, Stone is not sure of the next move. He'd like to stay for experience in the United States—if a good opportunity arises. But he's been offered a part in the film version of New York's stage success, "Brigadoon" — the next film Kelly will direct in London.

Stone first came to Britain in 1946 and spent 18 months in the London stage production of "Brigadoon," playing the jealous suitor Harry. Prior to that he played the male lead in "Annie Get Your Gun," a part he had already acted in New York.

Britain To Pay 2nd Instalment

LONDON (AP) — Britain announced Tuesday she will pay the second annual instalments on the 1946 Canadian and United States loans in full and right on time.

A second annual payment on the wartime U.S. lend-lease account also will be made Dec. 3 on schedule, the treasury said. All together, the payments total $176,680,000.

Britain last year made the first of 50 annual payments on the huge debts totalling $5,650,000,000. Under terms of the repayment scheme, Britain is entitled to waive payments in any year if she finds her financial situation too difficult.

As yet, however, Britain has not applied for any waiver.

The Dec. 31 payment on the 1946 Canadian loan consists of $1,250,000,000—interest, $23,420,000: principal, $14,290,000.

Expansion Program 23% Of Production

MONTREAL (CP) — Canada's capital expansion program in 1952 took up almost 23 per cent of the country's total avaialble production and a rising volume of new construction under way points to a further increase next year, the Bank of Montreal said Tuesday in a year-end business review.

The review said 1952 "on the whole has been a good year," although the record still is incomplete. The gross value of Canada's national production may well have increased by seven or eight per cent in value due, about equally, to higher domestic prices and a greater volume of output.

". . . The lifting of restrictions on steel for non-essential construction and the termination of deferred depreciation at the end of this month should release a good many capital expansion plans that have been postponed for the past two years," the bank added.

Young Barrymore Weds

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—John Barrymore, Jr., 20, and actress Cara Williams, 24, were wed in Las Vegas, Nev., Monday night. It was young Barrymore's first marriage and the second for his bride, who is divorced from jockey Alan Gray. She has a six-year-old daughter by Gray.

Gift For Cripples

TORONTO (CP)—The Ontario Society for Crippled Children has received a gift of $5,452.34 from the Ontario employees of Imperial Oil Limited, it was announced Tuesday. The money will be used to build a cottage at the society's Blue Mountain camp near Collingwood.

Upheld On Recount

HAMILTON (CP)—Judge William F. Schwenger Tuesday declared Ald. Kenneth B. Crockett re-elected as Ward Eight alderman following a two-day recount which gave him a 20-vote margin over Melville H. Coleman, thus doubling the 10-vote advantage which Ald. Crockett was given on the official count Dec. 3.

Ailing Man Robbed

ST. THOMAS (CP)—Roy Jones, a paralytic, was bound, gagged and robbed here early Tuesday. He was attacked by two men in a hotel as he descended cellar stairs to tend a furnace. The robbers rifled Jones' pockets and stole $150 worth of cigarettes from the taproom.

LONDON (CP)—Bluebloods of the British turf romped home with top laurels in the United Kingdom's 1952 sports parade.

Collectively, the thoroughbreds gained a comparatively easy triumph in an otherwise lack-lustre year of competition. It was a photo-finish, however, for individual honors.

The final verdict went to one of the greatest horses to show in years, the Aga Khan's three-year-old Tulyar, winner of seven successive races this season, including the Derby, the King George VI Stakes and the St. Leger

FORTUNE IN PURSES

In purses, the wonder colt has already amassed a fortune of nearly $250,000 for its wealthy owner, establishing an all-time record for a British-bred runner. The figure also surpasses by some $60,000 the mark set by Isinglass in 1893 and barring misfortune, Tulyar still has a long racing career before him.

Nudging Tulyar for top place came the team of three jumpers, Foxhunter, Nizefella and Aherlow, winners of the Grand Prix des Nations at Helsinki last summer. Their victory gave Britain her only Olympic Games gold medal, to add to a long list of prizes won in international competitions, including Toronto and New York.

In boxing, dusky Randolph Turpin still held the limelight. After his short-lived reign as world's middleweight champion ended in the return bout with Sugar Ray Robinson late in 1951, Turpin returned home from America to win the British light-heavyweight title with an 11th-round technical knockout over Don Cockell.

Early in March the British and Empire heavyweight titles also changed hands when the Welshman, Johnny Williams, gained a close decision over defending champion Jack Gardiner.

WALKER CUP TO U.S.

America's amateur golfers once again walked off with a convincing victory in the annual Walker Cup matches, while the British amateur title went to 26-year-old Harvie Ward of Tarboro, N.C.

South Africa's wizard shotsmith, Bobby Locke, took the open crown and later went on to annex the French open title.

British women, however, made amends by defeating the United States team in the Curtis Cup matches, for their first victory in the history of the competition. A Glasgow lass, Moira Paterson, also brought the women's amateur championship to Scotland for the first time in 14 years.

Canadians also figured prominently in the year's sports picture. An all-star team of Canadians, chosen from clubs in the English National League, won the Winston Churchill hockey trophy by defeating Olympic champions Edmonton Mercurys 6-4 in the final.

Several Canadian fighters toured the United Kingdom circuit and a representative team of Canadian lawn bowlers mixed sport with a round of festivities in an extended goodwill tour of the country.

In one of the biggest upsets of the year, Oxford University beat Cambridge by a margin of five feet over a blizzard-swept course on the Thames in the annual Varsity boat race. In the winning shell, rowing No. 3 oar, was Christopher Milling of St. John's, Nfld

OUT OF RUNNING

Indian Hemp, purchased last summer by Max Bell, Calgary newspaper publisher, was an also-ran and later was shipped to the United States to campaign under Bell's colors.

Previously Toronto stock broker Charles Burns acquired an interest in the steeplechaser Tantivy and entered him in the Grand National. Tantivy was running fourth when he came a cropper at the seventh fence on the first trip around the Aintree course. The race was won by the Irish-bred Teal at odds of 100-7.

LOTS OF FISH

NO "HORSING AROUND" FOR LYNN—Lynn Marie Gofourth, of Parsons, Kan., is through with horses of any color, or kind. The four-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gofourth has had two bad breaks while "horsing around." She broke her right leg in the spring of 1951 while playing horse with a very gentle steed—her uncle. When "horsey" fell, so did Lynn. Recently her pony ran away with Lynn, throwing her and breaking her left leg. No more horses for Lynn—Santa brought her a record player this year.

One Man Wounded On Casualty List

OTTAWA (CP)—A Korean casualty list Tuesday showed one man wounded in action—Cpl. Roch DesJardins of Quebec—wounded for the second time. The last list was issued Dec. 18.

Total casualties so far suffered by Canadian troops in Korea are 1,264, including 237 dead, 913 wounded, 28 missing, 85 injured and one captured.

In addition the navy has reported three dead and three injured in action, and the RCAF has reported one missing.

Artillery, RCR's Adding New Chapter To History

IN KOREA (CP) — Another chapter was added recently to the close association between the Royal Canadian Regiment and the Royal Canadian Horse Artillery's "Able" battery.

The two outfits say they've fought together ever since they were first formed in the days of the Riel rebellion. The RCR says that every action it has fought throughout its history—the Boer war and both world wars — has been supported by "Able" battery, now commanded by Maj. Gerry Keeler of Winnipeg.

When Lt.-Col. Peter Bingham of Petawawa brought his 1st battalion of the RCR to Korea last April he drew the ties closer still by inviting the gunners to wear the RCR's cipher and crown on their guns and vehicles.

For months in the RCR command post, from which he directs his guns, Keeler has pressed Bingham to spend a day with the battery.

During a recent quiet spell Bingham accepted, set a day and it became the deadline for what battery officers describe as the most intense application of spit and polish in its history.

Knowing they were to be inspected by the C.O. of a regiment famed for its "shining bright" brass, the gunners had everything tiddly for the event. Even thumb tacks on the map boards were polished.

While big guns roared in the background, Bingham inspected the battery. He inspected every man, fore and aft, then complimented them on the parade.

After going through the gun positions he fired the battery at a target described as "enemy movement."

The association between the infantry and the battery is strengthened by an exchange policy between them.

Almost every man in the battery has had a 24-hour period with the infantry in the line. Gunners relieve the infantry, who spend the same period in the gun positions.

Chinese Reds Kept 2 Nuns Prisoners In Small Attic

VANCOUVER (CP)—Two Roman Catholic missionary nuns told Tuesday how they were virtual prisoners of Chinese Communists for two years in a small attic.

Sister Marie Angela said the Communists forced them to keep to the attic, not permitting them to see or speak to a single friend for two years.

Sister Marie Angela was in charge of a school and hospital at Lishui, Chekiang, 300 miles inland from Shanghai.

DESTROYED IN HOURS

In a calm voice, she described how she saw the missionary work she had spent 18 years building crumple around her inside a few hours.

The Communists closed the school and the hospital, though they kept a clinic operating there.

"The only people we spoke to during the two years were Communist officials from whom we tried for the whole period to get permission to come home," she said. "There was no entertainment of any kind and radio was not permitted."

Virginia's Famous Letter....

to the New York Sun on Sept. 21, 1897, and that paper's equally famous letter to Virginia, reproduced here, have been printed in 20 foreign languages during the past 40 years. Virginia is now Mrs. Edward M. Douglas of New York City. The Sun's letter was written by the late Francis Pharcellus Church, although the fact was not disclosed until 1906.

Dear Editor:

I am eight years old. Some of my little friends say there is no Santa Claus. Papa says "if you see it in the Sun it's so." Please tell me the truth; is there a Santa Claus?

VIRGINIA O'HANLON.

Virginia, your little friends are wrong. They have been affected by the scepticism of a sceptical age. They do not believe except they see. They think that nothing can be which is not comprehensible by their minds. All minds, Virginia, whether they be men's or children's are little. In this great universe of ours man is a mere insect, an ant, in his intellect, as compared with the boundless world about him, as measured by the intelligence capable of grasping the whole of truth and knowledge.

Yes, Virginia, there is a Santa Claus. He exists as certainly as love and generosity and devotion exist, and you know that they abound and give to our life its brightest beauty and joy. Alas! How dreary would be the world if there were no Santa Claus. It would be as dreary as if there were no Virginias. There would be no child-like faith then; no poetry, no romance, to make tolerable this existence. We would have no enjoyment, except in sense and sight. The external light with which childhood fills the world would be extinguished.

Not believe in Santa Claus? You might as well not believe in fairies! You might get your papa to hire men to watch in all the chimneys on Christmas eve to catch Santa Claus, but even if they did not see Santa Claus coming down, what would that prove? Nobody sees Santa Claus, but that is no sign that there is no Santa Claus. The most real things in the world are those that neither children nor men can see. Did you ever see fairies dancing on the lawn? Of course not, but that's no proof that they are not there. Nobody can conceive or imagine all the wonders there are unseen and unseenable in the world.

You may tear apart the baby's rattle and see what makes the noise inside, but there is a veil covering the unseen world which not the strongest man, nor even the united strength of all the strongest men that ever lived, could tear apart. Only faith, fancy, poetry, love, romance, can push aside the curtain and view and picture the supernal beauty and glory beyond. Is it all real? Ah, Virginia, in all this world there is nothing else real and abiding.

No Santa Claus! Thank God he lives, and he lives forever! A thousand years from now, Virginia, nay, ten times ten thousand years from now, he will continue to make glad the heart of childhood.

Injured Truck Driver Leaps From Burning Cab After Car, Transport Crash

Beer-Laden Transport Plunges Into Ditch, Hospital Officials Report Drivers' Injuries Not Very Serious

Two men are in Civic Hospital with injuries received Tuesday night when a Smith Transport tractor-trailer and a car crashed together on Highway 7, four miles east of Peterborough. The transport driver, Clifton Moncrief, 33, of 83 Pickering St., Toronto, though injured, leaped through the driver's door onto the highway before his vehicle plunged into a 15-foot ditch. A gas tank had caught fire and Moncrief took his chance on jumping rather than be pinned in the burning cab.

Moncrief is in hospital with back injuries, cuts and bruises.

The driver of the car, William Franklin, 28, of RR 2, Madoc, received an injured left hand, a badly-cut chin and body bruises. He was temporarily trapped in the car.

OPP Constable John Cawood of Peterborough HQ, is still investigating the cause of the accident.

On Right Side

An unexplained feature is that the vehicles, though travelling in the opposite direction, were both damaged on the right side.

The transport was carrying a load of beer from Toronto to Oshawa and was travelling east along a straight section of the highway when it came into collision with the westbound car, about 9.15 p.m.

A last-second effort to avoid the accident was apparently made by Moncrief who swerved the tractor-trailer to the left. The right side of the car was almost completely torn off and the front was smashed back to the level of the front-seat cushions.

The right front of the transport was also damaged and the impact set the gasoline tank in it on fire. Anticipating an explosion Moncrief leaped through the open driver's door and landed, injured and stunned, by the side of the highway.

The big transport rolled on over the south shoulder of the highway and plunged into a 15-foot ditch, some 300 feet east of where the wrecked car was left by the side of the highway. Wreckage was removed by a towtruck from the Kawartha Garage.

Passing motorists and truck drivers used fire extinguishers to play on the flames in the cab of the transport but it was gutted. Fire did not get into the trailer section.

Moncrief was taken to Civic by Russell Carr of Maude St., who was travelling along the highway at the time. Franklin was removed by ambulance.

At press time the contents of the transport were being examined to check on the damage.

Skids Off Road Car Clips Posts

An off-duty RCAF officer escaped injury Tuesday night when his car skidded off the Warsaw Road, east of the city, plowed through the south ditch and clipped off a couple of fence posts.

The freak feature of the accident was when a chunk of the bracer from the fence was hurled through the air, and shattered a north window in the Curtis Bros. office building.

Fergus Condon, 36, who is stationed at Edgar, was the driver of the car. About 7:30 p.m. he skidded on the road, three miles east of Peterborough, and went into the south ditch. The out-of-control car smashed through the wire fence surrounding the office building of the Curtis Bros. brickyard, clipped off two fence posts, and shattered the wooden four-by-four bracer that links the two posts.

A chunk flew through the window into the office. Apart from breaking the window and making a mess inside there was no damage to the building. Both front fenders and the front left door of the car were damaged to the exent of about $300.

MAIN STREET TOPICS

GIVE IT THE ONCE-OVER

Before store owners and employees shut up downtown stores for the Christmas holiday they should make a final inspection to ensure that there is no needless fire hazard, Acting Fire Chief Stewart Foster said today. Remove all loose paper; make sure no paper is near the furnace in the basement. Shut off all Christmas tree lights in the store. And check to see that the butt of that last cigarette is definitely out.

SHOOTS WOLF

Oswald E. Murphy of Bobcaygeon brought a wolf pelt into the office of the county clerk and treasurer Tuesday for payment. It was shot in Galway township on Dec. 17. Other wolves shot this month were by Alex Knott of Curve Lake and James Thibadeau of Havelock. Altogether nine wolves have been shot or trapped in the county during the last two months and the $25 claimed.

One Seat Empty As Store Holds Christmas Dinner

By HARRY THEOBALD

Missing from the annual staff dinner at Neill's Shoe Store Tuesday was the late Piotre (Peter) Maziarczyk, of the shoe repair department, who died Sunday, Dec. 14 and was buried on the following Tuesday at St. Peter's Cemetery. Peter came to the Neill store two and a half years ago, one of the legion of Displaced Persons of Central Europe living out their lives in foreign countries.

When the German armies of Hitler overran Poland, the Maziarczyk family was one of the host of unfortunate people rounded up like cattle and transported to Germany as enforced laborers.

Peter and his wife and two children were allotted to a German farm where he worked for a pittance for the most of five and a half years. They were snatched from their home overnight, and were permitted to take with them only the few possessions they could carry. Peter's experience during those war years can be left to the imagination. The common man's happiness in life virtually ended for him when the Germans, backed by their Russian agreement, invaded Poland.

John Hajnik, manager of the repair department at Neill's today, briefly supplied some of the details of the family's immigration to Canada. First to arrive in Peterborough was a daughter for whom employment had been secured in a private home. Then a son followed, and between them they arranged with C. G. Collins, president of Neill's, to find Peter a place of work at the Peterborough store.

NERVOUS WRECK

"He was most kindly treated by Mr. Collins and the staff," Mr. Hajink said today. "Peter was almost a nervous wreck after he came to us. His arms shook so, that he could not operate a machine. So, he was given work that was to be finished by the rest of us. He told me he had been a shoemaker in Poland, and that at one time he had been in business with a partner who took advantage of him.

The family was reunited here, and were very happy in their Canadian home, and grateful to everybody for helping them to make a new start in life. Peter was 63. The family consisted of Peter, his wife, and three children."

The Examiner learned from Clare G. Collins, president and general manager of R. Neill Ltd., chairman of the staff dinner, that the eldest daughter of the Maziarczyk family, Marie, had come to Peterborough under the sponsorship of Mr. and Mrs. G. Douglas Carlisle, 715 Weller Street.

"Theirs was a tragic experience as I pieced it together," Mr. Carlisle told the Examiner today, rather reluctantly discussing his personal interest in these homeless Poles. "It is difficult for any of us to appreciate what they suffered and came through. Peter, the father, was captured by the Russians in the First World War, and sent to Siberia. He managed to survive the hardships of that exile, and he told me once that there were not much more than five years between the two wars which he could call his own.

"Then, shortly after the outbreak of the Second War, the family was swooped up by the Germans, and never saw their home again. Near the end of the war they found themselves in the no-man's land between the lines of the Allies and the remnants of Hitler's forces, in danger of many shells that fell around them. In their next change of fortune, they were among the millions of Displaced Persons, without home or country to return to, living in camps and barracks."

BROTHER'S ARRIVAL

Eventually, the eldest daughter in her late 'teens, arrived in Peterborough. Naturally the fate of her parents and brother and sister continued to be a deep concern to her, and it was arranged for the brother to come to Canada. He was employed by A. Cecil Wolff of the Albion Knitting Company, and is still there. One evening when the Carlisle family was about to sit down to dinner, the door bell rang. Peter's daughter answered it, and when at length she returned to the dining-room Mr. Carlisle knew by the expression of her eyes that something had happened.

"It's my brother," she said.

"That's how he came to us," Mr. Carlisle recalled. "It had been a protracted journey for him, about a month altogether. He had had no change of any part of his clothing."

While the family resumed dinner, the boy was left to himself in the bathroom. He came downstairs nearly an hour later in a complete change of clothing.

"You would hardly have recognized him," Mr. Carlisle smilingly remarked.

RENTED A HOUSE

Weeks went on, and the boy started to work at the Albion plant. There were discussions about bringing out the parents and the other daughter. Finally that was settled.

"They are fine young people. They looked around a great deal, and finally found a suitable house

Outbound Christmas Mail Tops '51 Rush By 39,400

There were 39,400 more cards and letters mailed in Peterborough during the Christmas mail rush this year than in 1951. The post office reports that all Christmas mail has been cleaned up. During the 12 days from Dec. 12 to Dec. 23, 1,049,000 letters and cards were mailed. This total does not include meter postage or mail too large to go through cancelling machines and that had to be stamped by hand.

The biggest day for outgoing mail was Dec. 16 with a 162,270 total as compared to the high of 179,300 on December 17, 1951.

The low day for both years was December 23. This year the total was 12,000 and in 1951, 3,900.

Incoming parcels have been rerouted to the armouries. They will be delivered all day today by truck.

The Winner

One of the top brass of a large industry in town is knee-deep in Christmas poultry. To start it off, he won a goose in an office draw. On the advice of a friend, he ordered a turkey from an Omemee farmer. But later his friend said he thought the farmer was going to let him down. So he bought one. Then the Omemee farmer brought in the turkey he had promised. The executive then offered the extra turkey in a raffle —and drew the winning ticket himself. On top of that some friends sent some partridge, and wild ducks to him for Christmas.

Carol Singers Give Concert For Queen

SANDRINGHAM, England (AP) Carol singers were chorusing merrily outside Sandringham House—the royal lodge—Tuesday night when a tall, handsome man stepped out into the cold air.

"Wouldn't you like to come in?" asked the Duke of Edinburgh. "It must be cold outside."

The 20 villagers from nearby Dersingham accepted and continued their caroling in the drawing room, led by plant nurseryman Leslie Tuck on his fiddle.

CHRISTMAS PRESENT

A Christmas present was bought this year at the Peterborough Public Library. Librarian William Graff reported that a woman bought a year's subscription to the library for a friend. The friend doesn't qualify for free membership in regard to residence in the city and a year's subscription for non-residents of the city costs $2.00.

960 Enter City With Annexation

Peterborough's population will jump by about 960 people when the 1,256 acres in Smith township are annexed.

Wm. Telford, township assessor, reported that figure Tuesday, and further estimated that there are 220 families who go to make up that total.

Most of the 960, he said, are people who work in the city only a few of the properties to be annexed are farms. Mr. Telford said the assessment on the area to be taken in will be roughly $400,000.

The Municipal Board approved the annexation Monday after the matter had been proposed by the city, then appealed by a group of Smith township ratepayers who contended the city had suitable property for housing development within its boundaries.

Little On Homes To Show Christmas Spirit

A man and his family came to Peterborough from Vancouver more than a year ago. When Christmas time rolled around they put up a wooden tableau picturing Santa Claus and his reindeer. At night it was illuminated with a flood light.

Hundreds of people came from all over the city to look at it. They took buses up Armour Rd. just to see it.

The owner was amazed because, by Vancouver standards, his housetop display was a modest one.

This fall many people phoned him to ask if they could copy his pattern and he gladly offered it to them.

About three weeks before Christmas he was called back to Vancouver by his company. And that was the end of the house top displays.

A survey of the city showed that there wasn't one housetop display in Peterborough. However, in Lakefield Harry Rath, son of Mr. and Mrs. T. E. Rath, Bridge St., put up a similar display of Santa and his reindeer.

Outside decorations on trees and verandahs in the city are scarce as well. Some in various parts of the city make colorful show, but they are few and far between.

No part of the city is any better or any worse than another. People who take a drive at night to see a bright Christmas show will be disappointed.

Highways Clear

Sidewalks in the city are slippery and the roads are slushy and wet but there is no ice on the roads. Motor traffic is proceeding at a normal pace.

An indication of icy highways is the number of cars that are reported skidded off into the ditch. Overnight the OPP had a record of none.

A Little Preparation Can Smooth A Christmas Day

By JIM ENGLISH

Bits of advice for the little woman around the house form a festive stuffing these damp Yule days in newspapers and magazines.

These pearls of household wisdom are concerned with the making of turkey stuffing out of sawdust, cranberry sauce from doves' eggs, and scores of gaudier recipes and hints are scattered with delicacy and feeling across every woman's page in the country.

It's time the men had a few things to do around Christmas besides haul ashes and remove garbage. A man's touch is needed in this happy season. Come to think of it, my Uncle Grover will be putting his version of the man's touch on me for five or so. Fat chance.

With the man of the house in mind, I conceived the idea of Helpful Hints for Ham-Handed Husbands. The suggestion to put it on the man's page (the sports page) was met with an "I'll sports you!" and an extra snap of the whip from the boss.

LIST OF HINTS

Notwithstanding, and without any other form of provocation, I've cooked up a few honeys of hints for husbands. Boys, you'll just love them!

No. 1: Your wife may cringe when the Christmas tree is hauled in. And well she might, for those firs, supposedly evergreen, moult like a lovesick porcupine, and with about the same effect.

Here's a dandy little trick that will save you many hours on the wrong end of a broom. Just fill your bathtub with a good grade of spar varnish and dip the Christmas tree in it. Make sure every needle is covered, even if you have to splash it around a bit. They'll never fall off, as you'll find when you try to scrape them off your arms.

There's another way of doing this—and one your wife will appreciate just as much—spray the tree with varnish from a spray gun, using the living room wall as a backstop for the spray. If you live, you'll find you can use the tree over and over again.

No. 2: Does your wife curse the day man invented Christmas wrapping paper? Sure she does. But, for that hopeless time after the presents are all undone and you are too, there's a way out. Take the meat grinder from the kitchen and shove the paper through that. You can pick up the mincings with a vacuum cleaner. While you're at it, hire a strong man to turn the crank and throw yourself in after the wrappings.

DISHWASHING

No. 3: Dishwashing after Christmas dinner can be a pretty terrible job, and it's one your wife hates. Personally, I'm never conscious to observe how much she dislikes it, but I hear it's not a popular task. There's an easier way to finish off those dishes, just as there is an easier way for every unpleasant Christmas chore. Buy your son a hammer for Christmas if he is young, strong and reasonably energetic, then turn him loose among the crockery. Your wife will say she'll never wash Christmas dinner dishes again. Guess who will, although you'll have a nasty time of it with your arm bent that way.

No. 4: Those Christmas Eve parties are hard on the little woman, the home, and the glassware. But any clever husband can find a way to whip this problem. Just read this: This year, have your usual thrash the night before the morning after. Lace your punch liberally with horse radish and horse liniment; your guests will say they've never tasted anything like it.

You may have a few inconsequental damage suits, but I guarantee you'll never have another Christmas Eve party.

No. 5: It's quite a strain on Christmas morning, so people say to have two or three children explode into the room flailing you over the head with their stockings full of gifts and feet.

Here is a clever way to escape these tortures. Set the alarm for an hour before the children usually get up and run into their room and open all their stocking presents and start playing with them. Tell the kiddies you're just changing place with them for one day. They won't mind, so don't you take offence if they wallop you for being bad.

DECORATING

No. 6: Now, for the problem of decorating in the proper festive manner, there are several courses open. The last is the front door, but don't take it unless you have to. One trick that is sure to arouse a good deal of lively comment from your wife is to mix up a large batch of plaster of paris and create artificial snowdrifts in the living room. You'll be surprised at the awed look on your wife's face and a little envious of some of her spriteller opinions.

If you want to be realistic about it, leave the front door open all night and shovel in your own drifts. This is the best way to make your wife remember you're still around, although you may wish she hadn't.

The third method for realistic decoration of your room is to take several colored rolls of cellulose tape and festoon the house with the stuff. This tape will stick readily to wallpaper and also, if draped low enough, will impede your wife's progress as she runs through the house Christmas morning, merrily brandishing a hatchet.

There they are, all six of them. I hope I've made it a happier Christmas for all of you. God bless us every one, us husbands.

Couple Killed In Collision, Four Injured

OTTAWA (CP)—An Eastview husband and wife were killed late Tuesday night and four other persons, including a baby, were injured when their car collided head-on with a heavy trailer truck on a snow-covered highway near Bells Corners, seven miles west of Ottawa.

Dead are Gerard Marier, 30, and his wife, Anita, 30.

Seriously injured are Mrs. Albert Cousineau, 60, Windsor, Ont., Marier's mother-in-law; Mary Laura Cousineau, 32, Orleans, Ont., a niece, and Aileen Marier, 34, Alexandria, Ont., a sister of the dead man.

QUEBEC (CP)—Premier Duplessis announced Tuesday the Quebec hydro-electric commission has purchased the world's most powerful and largest dredge to push ahead electric power development at Beauharnois on the St. Lawrence river. Mr. Duplessis said the dredge cost the commission $3,033,796.

Bell Telephone Shareholders Now Pass 100,000 Mark

By FORBES RHUDE

More than 98,000 of these people —or about 98 per cent—live in Canada, and they hold nearly 90 per cent of the company's 9,600,000 shares.

The fact that the number of Bell shareholders has passed the 100,000-mark, was announced today, and it means there are four times as many shareholders as there were only seven years ago.

Bell thus illustrates, in striking fashion, the process by which ownership of large companies is passing into the hands of a steadily increasing number of people, and the extent to which Canadians are buying into their own country.

The approximate 10 per cent of Bell shares held outside Canada includes the less than eight per cent held by American Telephone and Telegraph Company.

To the question: "What kind of people are Bell shareholders?" Bell replies:

"The simplest answer is 'all kinds.' Four times a year the company's regular quarterly dividend cheques are mailed to people in cities and towns, villages and hamlets across Canada. Dividends have been paid every year without fail for 72 successive years."

Bell shares have traded this year (on the Toronto stock exchange) between a low of $34.25 and a high of $39.37½, with Tuesday's closing price $38.

The current dividend is $2 a share a year which, if one bought the stock at its current price on stock exchanges, gives a return of nearly 5 1-3 per cent. A dividend equivalent to today's $2 a share has been paid since 1891, except for the depression years 1932-37.

There are shareholders in every province, but most of them are in Ontario and Quebec, where the company operates, and a member of one family out of every 20 is a shareholder. One out of every three of its 30,000 employees is a shareholder.

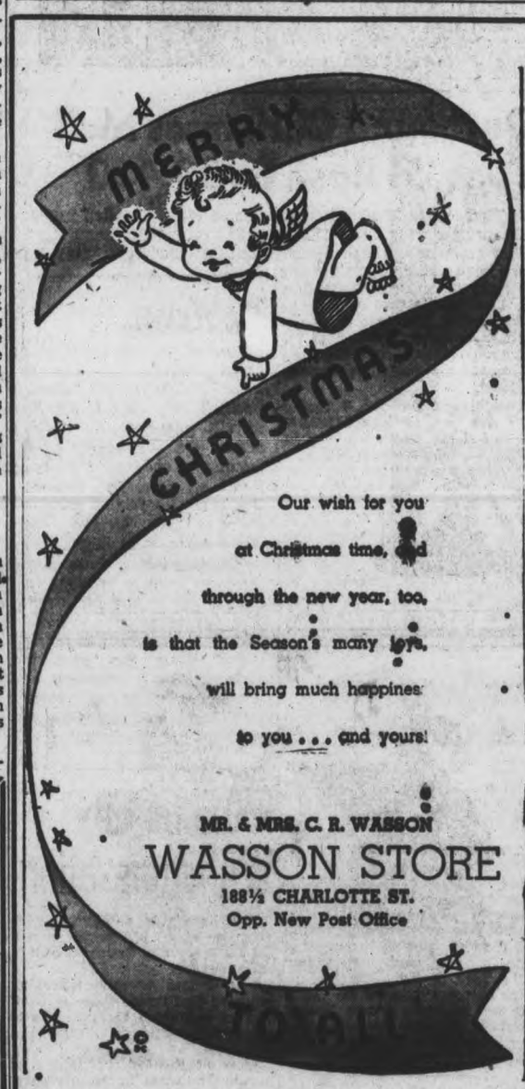
Bethany Choir Stages Christmas Cantata

BETHANY (ENS). — St. Paul's choir, assisted by several members of the United Church choir, presented a Christmas cantata, "The Holy Advent," in St. Paul's Anglican Church on Monday evening. James Gay, the organist and choir leader, trained the singers and accompanied them.

The Rev. T. S. Gault led in prayer. The choir continued with "Break forth into joy" featuring a women's chorus. The second number, "Harps of gold are ringing" also featured the ladies' chorus group. In the third movement, "Hark, a thrilling voice is sounding," the soprano solo was sung by Miss Laura Morton. Mr. Gault read the story of the Nativity as found in Luke's Gospel. In the sixth number "Bethlehem," the baritone solo was sung by Noel Woods. Mrs. H. Rayson sang a contralto solo.. The final chorus was "Unto us a Child is born." The recessional hymn was sung by the entire group, and the final number by Mr. Gay at the organ was Corelli's Postlude Partorale.

19 Miners Killed

OAXACA, Mex. (AP)—A bus ran backward down a mountain road Tuesday and then plunged into a canyon, killing 19 miners. Fifteen more riding on top were thrown into trees below the road and were injured. The bus had stopped on the narrow mountain road to let a tank truck go by. Its wheels were chocked with stones. When the stones were removed the bus ran away in reverse.



Our wish for you at Christmas time, and through the new year, too, is that the Season's many joys will bring much happiness to you . . . and yours!

It's the 'KNOW HOW' that Counts!

1 Body stands erect for this stroke. Power and control depend mainly on the snap of the wrist. Full stroke is a circular movement, beginning with "cocked" arm at top of swing as illustrated.

2 Ball is hit at a height ranging between the knee and hip. On stroke, forearm passes close to body. Wrist snap and short left step forward give ball speed and hop. This stroke needs much practice for good control.

3 Circular movement of stroke is completed as follow-through brings arm across in front of the waist. Proper body positioning and control of arm movement is essential in this stroke.

Yes, it's "know-how" that counts in handball as in every sport — "know-how" that sets one performer above another. Learn the correct form — the "know-how" — then practise until you have mastered it and you'll get more fun and enjoyment out of your sports and games.

Decide On Federation

SALISBURY (Reuters)—A referendum next April will enable Southern Rhodesians to decide whether to federate with Northern Rhodesia and Nyasaland, it was disclosed today. The draft of a bill to provide for the poll on final proposals for the African federation within the Commonwealth was published in today's government gazette.

Christmas Just Another Day To Men In Lines, Get One Free Bottle Of Beer

By BILL BOSS

IN KOREA (CP)—Santa Claus has a free bottle of beer for each United Nations soldier in the front line in my area this year. And that's about all.

For soldiers manning the outposts and main United Nations defence, it will be business as usual Thursday.

As everywhere else in Korea that applies roughly to one man in three in my area. Others, "the men behind the men with the guns," enjoy the tented amenities of the rear areas, 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. Working days and community life. They're the Royal Canadian Service Corps, the Royal Canadian Engineers and others who exist to keep the front-line soldiers fighting.

JUST ANOTHER DAY

But to the front-line soldier in Korea—and one likes to think of him as typical—Christmas will be just another day.

Like the shepherds 2,000 years ago, he will watch throughout the night. In his special winter clothing he won't mind unduly the 20-above-zero cold. The moon will gleam on the patches of snow in no man's land and perhaps will silhouette Chinese Communists trying a patrol into UN territory.

At daybreak he will break off his watch, leaving only the watchful outposts on guard, and go to sleep in his bunker until noon.

His meal will be ordinary rations because his unit is saving its Christmas fare until he leaves the line—if only for eight hours—and he can have a bang-up treat. For most it will be the usual meal cooked in company kitchens and carried into the hills in thermos boxes.

And as a Christmas concession there will be that free bottle of beer.

He will lie around in the afternoon, probably write home then doze a little more, check and oil his weapons and prepare, as on any other day, for nightfall and the incessant watch.

SOUNDS BLEAK

It sounds bleak.

The three or four soldiers sharing each bunker have pooled Christmas cards and strung them from timbers. They have improvised paper bells and decorations from gift wrappings and hung them inside. Most company command posts, on the reverse slopes of positions and hence concealed from the enemy, have Christmas trees.

And approaches to some front-line battalion headquarters are lined with evergreen boughs stuck into the ground—anything to suggest Christmas.

One newly-arrived unit will not observe the day at all. It will celebrate New Year's instead. Other troops able to celebrate Christmas will make that possible.

French-speaking troops I know will send 20 men of each company to rear headquarters for the traditional Christmas meal. Others either have already had their meal in similar parades since Monday or they will before the week-end.

One pseudo manifestation of the Christmas spirit has been studiously ignored. It is the Communists' almost diabolically clever Christmas sentiments for peace among men.

LEAVING CARDS

Nightly, their patrols have been leaving bundles of Christmas cards in no man's land. One collection was retrieved by local troops for information purposes. Otherwise, the commander ordered the troops to "show complete contempt by leaving them to rot."

When the Communists posted signs reading: "Go home. We want peace," the commander had the troops retrieve them and planted them on UN positions facing the enemy. He said: "They seem more applicable to them than to us."

But the Communists' Christmas propaganda is more clever even than last year. It is better devised, better printed or better paper. Their cards show an old English stage coach laden with gifts and burdened with passengers and inside is the message: "Peace is a blessing."

Their special leaflets are drawn exclusively from letters alleged to have been written by dead soldiers or prisoners of war and include one letter to the editor of the New York Herald Tribune.

MOST TELLING ITEM

The most telling item is a 1953 diary every page of which carries a quotation from Milton, or Byron, or Shakespeare, or Lincoln or Jefferson or the Bible.

The diary quotes Gen. Omar Bradley, United States chief of staff, as saying: "The Korean war was one of the costliest and bloodiest wars the United States ever pursued. But it is a war in the wrong place at the wrong time with the wrong enemy."

It quotes Lt.-Gen. Albert Wedemeyer of the United States as saying: "The Korean war is a bottomless pit with no foreseeable victory for the United Nations."

One colonel in my area, after selecting certain items for intelligence purposes, packed the rest in a sack labelled in large letters, "garbage," and placed it at the foot of the Communists' own signs now taunting them from these positions.

Christmas will be a busy day for the padres who will conduct as many services as possible, as many as nine or 10 for some

In the rear areas there will even be night carol and communion services.

Put Quarantine On Prairie Provinces

OTTAWA (CP — A quarantine aimed at halting the spread of rabies in northern Canada has been extended some 250 miles into the Prairie provinces from the southern edge of the Northwest Territories.

The agriculture department said Tuesday that as of Dec. 20 all movement of dogs from areas of the three Prairie provinces north of 55th parallel has been banned.

A growing wild-life population in the Territories, where rabies has existed among wolves and foxes for at least six years, has sent animals foraging farther south for food.

Some domestic dogs, bitten by the rabid animals, have been infected and officials have destroyed them with poison. An agriculture department official said he has also heard of some persons being bitten by rabid animals, but there have been no reports of deaths.

The quarantine area includes nearly half of the three provinces. Most of it is wilderness, only sparsely settled.

Court Dismisses Morals Charge

A morals charge against Leonard Newnham, 51-year-old Dummer township farmer was dismissed Tuesday in county criminal court by Judge John de N. Kennedy. The alleged offence involved a 13-year-old girl.

Judge Kennedy ruled that the testimony of two infants, both unsworn, did not warrant a conviction if there was no corroboratory evidence.

J. C. N. Currelly was counsel for Newnham.

'Get Tough' With Juveniles Believed Paying Off

KIDLINGTON, England (CP)—The "get tough" method of treating juvenile offenders is reported paying dividends at an experimental detention centre opened in this Oxfordshire district last August.

A dozen lads, first to complete the institution's 10-weeks course of short, sharp shock treatments, told the warden as they left that they had hated every moment of their stay. One remarked he would much rather have spent two years in any approved corrective school than two weeks in the new detention home.

That precisely was the reaction hoped for by those responsible for launching the new centre. It was planned for young delinquents, between the ages of 14 and 17, who have not yet definitely developed an anti-social attitute, but are in urgent need of discipline.

The centre was built before the war to serve as a workhouse. In its new role the emphasis is still on work.

From 6:15 a.m., when the boys are aroused, until lights out at 9:15 p.m., there is no relaxing of the spartan routine. Even the games and physical training exercises are devoid of a good-time atmosphere. Prompt obedience is the keynote.

There are three 15-minute periods daily when the boys are allowed to mix, but always under close supervision. For the rest of the day they are assigned work and silent study, physical training or supplementary chores. Every 28 days permission is granted for visits from relatives, also under supervision. The boys may write home once a week, but are not allowed to receive parcels from outside.

Extra fatigues are imposed for minor offences. For insolence, gross insubordination and other breaches of discipline, offenders are liable to segregation, remission of normal time for good behavior and possible extension of their corrective term. Corporal punishment, however, is never administered.

THE SHARP BARK of a puppy will be heard Christmas morning under many Christmas trees in the Peterborough area. This year dog kennels and pet shops in the district report a large number of requests for puppies. Who could refuse a little boy or girl a little chihuahua like the one climbing through the Christmas wreath (at top) or the Boston bull puppy (lower) listening for a ring from the Christmas bells? Mrs. Pearl McNutt, on Division St., who owns the puppies, has had innumerable calls for pets this season.—(Examiner Staff Photos).

Helping Customer Costly Business

LONDON, Ont. (CP)—A woman post office employee here laid down an envelope containing $890 to help a woman burdened with Christmas parcels. The customer was having trouble stamping envelopes.

Post office officials said they believed the customer gathered up the envelope in error and when she discovered what had happened was afraid to acknowledge the mistake.

But there's a partial silver lining. Fellow-workers collected some $500 to reduce to $390 the amount the employee must make up.

THE FIRST and the most anticipated dance of the Christmas season in Peterborough was PCVS "At Home" which took place Tuesday evening at the Club Aragon with more than 400 students and ex-students of the school attending. Caught by the camera during the dance were Miss Betty Wilkinson (left), the chairman of the At Home committee, Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Gordon who attended as patron and patroness, and Miss Lorraine Derry (right), the president of the Student's Council.—(Examiner Staff Photo)

Traditional as Christmas is the Peterborough Collegiate Vocational School "At Home" — an event that has been in the mind of every student and ex-student of the school for 42 years now. For most of those years the dance was held in the school but the scene recently has been the Club Aragon where Tuesday evening the walls bulged with 225 dancing couples.

The "At Home" is now the only big dance in the city that continues the custom of a printed dance program for guests, and it is only by presenting an invitation issued by the At Home committee at the school that an admission ticket can be purchased.

This year an Art Committee, headed by Miss Shirley Frost, prepared a large mural and other paintings and sketches as outstanding wall decorations for the dance. The mural was placed on the west end wall of the ballroom and depicted various aspects of school life and Christmas scenes. Others on the committee were Miss Kay Canning, Eric Jackson, Ron Wilson and Don Hillis.

Chairman of the At Home committee was Miss Betty Wilkinson and she was assisted in the work by Misses Isabel Anderson, Shirley Webb, Marion Crawford and Dave Fanning. The teacher supervisor was Mr. R. H. David.

On hand to receive the dance guests were Principal Mr. C. S. Browne and Mrs. Browne. Also receiving were Mr. W. B. Gordon, chairman of the Board of Education, and Mrs. Gordon, Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Derry and their daughter, Miss Lorraine Derry, who is president of the Students' Council, and Miss Betty Wilkinson.

DOROTHY DIX

Daughter Too Many Beaux So Thinks Her Mother

DEAR MISS DIX: My problem concerns my oldest daughter. She is 21, pretty, has a good character and code of morals. All her friends are very fine. She is popular with boys and girls, is always free to bring friends home and knows they will be well treated. We have a reputation among her boy friends for being very strict about places we permit her to go, hours of home-coming, etc., but I have often told her our strictness has brought her more dates than anything else. Any boy who has dated her since high school days has always come back and keeps coming.

Now for the crux of the matter Several of her boy friends are in service. From the incoming mail and gifts I am afraid each thinks she is "his girl." I have told her if she has no real interest in these boys to let them know as I don't want hurt feelings either before or after they come back. Don't you think she is old enough to stop dating those boys whom she knows are not matrimonial material for her?

ANSWER—You seem to have a double concern—one for the boys who will be hurt when they realize your daughter does not entertain serious intentions toward them, and one for the girl whom you feel should cease indiscriminate dating and get down to the business of choosing a husband.

It is most probable, since these boys all know her quite well, that each realizes he hasn't exclusive rights to her dating. They seem to accept her quite naturally as a pal, and, if they are willing to continue along that line, it's good for all concerned. The boys who are going overseas know they have at least one girl who will keep them supplied with home-town news. If the girl has any principles at all—and with the fine upbringing she has had there can scarcely be any question on that score—she'll be careful to avoid leading any one of the boys to believe her interest in him is other than friendly.

DELAY IS NOT UNUSUAL

The second aspect of your problem will be solved with the first. They are intertwined and will eventually resolve themselves together. No age can be set on emotional maturity, and until a girl reaches the condition, rather than the age, she isn't old enough to settle down to one boy. While most of today's lassies do have their affections signed, sealed and delivered by 21, it is by no means unusual to find one who delays the process.

Until your daughter finds the "one and only," it is much better for her to go along as she is. Don't fuss about the situation, and don't let her know you are worried over it. Keep a careful eye on her male companions, and try to weed out these you consider less desirable. Perhaps she'll select a mate from one of the current croo of swains, but more likely it will be someone new. Do emphasize the fact that all service men on her corresponding list should know exactly what the situation is at all times.

DEAR MISS DIX: I am very fond of a nice boy who lives on the other side of town. I don't see him often, and when I do it seems all he talks about are the cute girls in his neighborhood.

LEE

ANSWER: It's barely possible that the boy is actually hard up for conversational topics and simply lacks the wisdom to realize that the one he does select is objectional to you—as it would be to any other girl.

When he calls, be prepared with some choice gambits yourself to push around when he mentions his cute neighbors. A few amusing anecdotes about school chums, particularly those he knows, a discussion of sports, movies, or something else of interest to him, will fill the bill nicely

DEAR MISS DIX: Where can a single girl of 32 find a husband? I am told that Alaska has the greatest percentage of men to women but the prospect of going there seems forbidding. Are there any more desirable localities?

M. J.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: The West is still man's territory, girl, and consequently good huntin' ground for a lady intent on matrimony. If you'd like to give the land a try, why not spend a vacation on a guest ranch? That, at least, will give you some indication of available possibilities.

MARY MOORE SAYS:

Important Last Thoughts

Miraculously on Christmas morning when I wake up and peek into the living-room everything is in beautiful and peaceful order. The tree is shining and seems to twinkle and beckon us to "hurry, hurry—see what I have for you." The piles of parcels wrapped so gaily are all there.

How did it happen? Did I manage it again?

It can't be. For every year I know "this time I won't make it" before the Christmas deadline. But Santa's little elves in my house are overgrown now. Instead of pulling my covers off before the crack of dawn on Christmas morning so that we can all see what Santa brought they push me off to bed on Christmas eve, so that they can surprise me on Christmas morning.

Have your young people taken over like that? Isn't it fun?

This is the day that Barbs family drive in from the country to have Christmas Eve lunch with us and to open our gifts to one another. After that all that leisurely old me has to do is to keep a hair appointment. It is wonderful to be a lady of leisure for even a few hours.

The chameleon has nothing on me for adapting his colors to his location. For there are some readers who query me about using cooking wine or brandy, etc. and ask why I give them so rarely. On the other hand there are readers who write distressing letters if I give the barest mention of any alcoholic ingredients in their cooking.

The recipe I am featuring today may be made with either almond flavoring or rum to give it a potent tang and will please everybody.

It is a fruit sauce for ice cream. Do you remember the old-time tutti-fruitti? This is a modern and fresh tasting version of that, and is a posh recipe, for epicures. Ideal, too, for those who do not want or cannot have plum pudding or mince pie for dessert.

TUTTI-FRUITTI SAUCE

Two 20-oz. cans of apricots, ¾ cup sugar, juice of 1 orange (or juice of half orange and other half finely chopped with skin left on—use sunkist oranges), juice of half lemon, grated rind of 1 orange and half lemon, ½ cup chopped maraschino cherries, 2/3 cup blanched almonds, 1 tablespoon almond flavoring or 2 or 3 tbs. rum. (To this may be added a can of crushed pineapple if you want to increase the quantity.) Drain apricats well. Reduce juice by boiling it with the sugar until it makes a good syrup—reduced by about half. If you used the diced orange add it when the boiling down begins. If you use orange juice only add it when sauce is reduced with the lemon juice. When syrup is ready cut up the apricots and add to juice; add cherries and almonds. Finally add flavoring and keep in jar in refrigerator. This keeps for weeks. If pineapple is added add the pineapple juice to the apricot juice and boil them down together and add the drained pineapple when you add the chopped apricots. The fruit should never be cooked in the syrup as it spoils the fresh flavor.

Did you include dill in your grocery buying? If so do you remember how attractive they look when stuffed with cheese?

STUFFED DILL SLICES

Carefully remove the core, as you would core an apple, from the entire length of dills. Fill the centre with soft orange cream cheese. Chill. When ready to serve slice these in ½-inch slices, and include them on your relish tray.

For Christmas breakfast why don't you serve Eggs Benedict? You know how to do it don't you? You split and toast English muffins (or use toasted rounds of bread). Fry circular pieces of ham (you can use cooked ham) and place these over the toasted muffin halves. Arrange on each a perfectly poached egg and baptize it with the smoothest hot Hollandaise sauce you can make. Um-m.

Wouldn't it be wonderful if we woke up on Christmas morning to the pure white quiet of newly fallen snow?

Goodbye friends. I hope you are not too tired. Merry Christmas again—a peaceful happy Christmas, full of glad tidings.

6—In Memoriam

MORROW—In loving memory of a dear husband and father, who passed away Dec. 24, 1948.
Calm and peaceful he is sleeping,
Sweetest rest that follows pain;
We who loved him sadly miss him,
But trust in God to meet again.
—Ever remembered by his wife and daughter, Maxine.

OSBORNE—In loving memory of a dear husband, Thomas Osborne, Lindsay, who passed away Dec. 25, 1951.
Beside your grave I often stand
With heart both crushed and sore
But in the gloom the sweet words come
Not lost, but gone before
God knows how much I miss you
He counts the tears I shed
And whispers he only sleeps
Your loved one is not dead.
So I'll be brave, dear Tommy
And pray to God each day
And when he calls me home to you
Your smile will guide the way.
—Lovingly remembered by his wife, Verna.

WHITTINGTON—In loving memory of Sgt. J. H. Whittington who was killed in action in Italy, Dec. 24, 1943.
His memory is as dear today,
As in the hour he passed away.
—Remembered by father, mother, sisters and brother.

7—Card of Thanks

Mr. Gordon Northey and Family wish to extend their sincere appreciation to the attending doctors, nurses of Civic Hospital, the Rev. W. H. Carol Service At Warkworth

WARKWORTH (ENS). — The Christmas carol service which was held Sunday evening in St. Paul's United Church was largely attended. Twin Christmas trees decorated with tinsel trimming and colored lights and centred with a lighted nativity set on the Communion table, added a Christmas touch to the service.

Mrs. Douglas Knight, church organist and choir leader, with Miss Ina Bowen, pianist, played preliminary Christmas music, changing to the processional hymn as the choir slowly filed in through the length of the church to their places, singing "O Come, All Ye Faithful." The Rev. A. L. Sisco announced the Christmas hymns and led in the responsive reading of the 8th Psalm. The choir sang three Christmas anthems, "The Story of Christmas," "In the Stillness of the Night," and "Shine, O Wonderful Star," with solo parts by Mrs. Keith Thain, Mrs. Howard Wilson; and the male voice chorus singing "Silent Night."

Mr. Sisco gave the Scripture reading from Isaiah 9, 1-7. Mrs. Norma McCleary and Mrs. Edna Thompson sang the duet "Christmas," and Miss Eleanor Calder rendered the solo, "The Gift." A ladies' quartette composed of Ruth Wilson, Eleanor Calder, Edna Thompson, and Lillian Thain sang "Christmas Lullaby." After the offering which was in aid of the choir, the Christmas carols "Good Christian Men" and "O Little Town of Bethlehem" were sung in unison by choir and congregation, and the Rev Mr. Sisco read the Christmas story from the second chapter of Matthew. A men's chorus composed of Howard Mitchell, Edward Thompson, Glen Hancock, Wallace Baker, Bruce Birney, Donald Platt, Douglas Knight, and Ronnie Isaac sang "Star of the East," "Angels Came Carolling," "O'er Bethlehem's Hills," and "Gloria in Excelsis" were sung with parts taken by W. B. Baker, Mrs. Don. Thompson, Douglas Knight, and Eleanor Calder, and the men's chorus singing "Noel."

The lovely Christmas service came to a close with the carol, "Silent Night" by congregation and choir.

and decorated it themselves. You should have seen the way they went at it. The parents came in the spring of 1950. Peter was physically fit. He had to be as a condition of his coming to this country. Marie, the eldest daughter, showed Mr. Collins at Neill's, a pair of shoes he had made, and that was his recommendation. It was after that, perhaps as reaction to all he had seen and suffered, he had become very nervous for a time."

Briefly that was the progress of the re-union of the Maziarczyk family here in Peterborough, victims of a world war, who finally found increasing help first as DPs, the collective symbol of legions of hapless people. International agency set their faces toward Canada, and kind hearts here helped them to make a new beginning in a land that was strange to them, but free and hospitable.

"It was almost embarrassing the way they tried to do something for us," Mr. Carlisle said. "Peter used to come up and work around the garden, and they were very attached to us."

THE FATHER'S ILLNESS

He fell ill about a month ago. Dr. Bob Young was called. A room was available at Civic Hospital. There was no stinting of medical attention. During the weeks of Peter's sickness, Dr. Charles M. Scott, Dr. T. E. Currier, and Dr. L. J. Calvert were also called. As Peter grew worse, Rev. James F. McGuire, rector of St. Peter's Cathedral, was notified. Finally, because the patient could speak only broken English, a Polish interpreter was asked to come to Peterborough. Mass was celebrated in Peter's room.

These details of care and sympathy are mentioned now because they are of the essence of the way of life in Peterborough and in this Canada. Hardly three years ago, Peter Maziarczyk had been reduced in identity to little more than the convenient initials "DP" and only the western world cared in its organizational intervention whether he lived or died.

But, Peterborough reached out friendly arms and took him and his family into the community. He found employment, he was with his own again, and when he became ill, there were the resources of Civic Hospital at his need. No bed was empty at St. Joseph's.

Understandably, Douglas Carlisle preferred to be unmentioned in this story, as indeed he had been. Only, the Christmas dinner for the staff at Neill's turned back its pages, so heart-warming, sketchy as they are, a glowing instance of humanity here in the community of Peterborough.

"We don't know the fears and the anxieties and even the terror, Peter had endured," Mr. Carlisle said. "One of my impressions is that they were a devoutly religious family."

Briefly, that is the story within the news report of the Neill's Store dinner, except that Marie Maziarczyk, now living in Brantford, because she felt that she had stayed long enough with Mr. and Mrs. Carlisle, will spend part of her Christmas holidays with them. And so, to return to the big store and its festivity after this diversion that tingles with the inner and immemorial spirit of Christmas.

Peter Maziarczyk was the man who wasn't there at the Neill staff dinner Tuesday, the first of which took place some 60 years ago when the late Mrs. Robert Neill cooked the turkey and other Christmas dinner food, and brought it down to the store by horse and cutter. Peter was one of the dinner company last year.

The hostess Tuesday was Mrs. Vincent M. Eastwood, who was assisted by Mrs. Collins, and among those present were Mr. R. J. Kidd, retired manager, who is virtually regarded still as one of the staff, and actually of the company.

TWO SITTINGS

Two sittings were arranged for the staff of 45 employees and several guests, and the store spirit was just as bright as ever through the long years of the Neill business. But, there was the memory of the recent passing of Peter Maziarczyk, an unfortunate Pole whose life was partly redeemed here by a happy change in his fate that brought Peter and his family of Peterborough.

A recent immigrant, Peter became by contrast a personal symbol of the place and opportunity Canada has been providing for so many of Hitler's victims, and also a figure of the tyranny that has fallen upon ancient Poland.

Norwod CGIT Hold Special Service

NORWOOD (ENS) — The candle-light service of the CGIT was held in the Norwood United Church Sunday. The Rev. H. K. Wright gave a short talk.

Mrs. Donald Audas led the service with Sandra Flett, the president, as first reader. Gail Baker, secretary, was second reader; Ann LaBrash lit the second candle, Carley Brown the third.

Ann Sinclair, Lois Scott, Nancy Flett, Margaret Duncanson, Shirley Millett, Carley Brown, Berta Allen took up the collection.

Patsy Bongard, Catherine Hudson and Eleanor Kavanagh were ushers. The CGIT circled the darkened church, each holding a candle to complete this simple but beautiful service.

Goitre Enlargement Of Thyroid Gland

By EDWIN P. JORDAN, M.D.
Written for NEA Service.

Several people have asked questions concerning goitre, and some concerning thyroid. Perhaps there is a little confusion about this. A goitre is any enlargement of the thyroid gland and this important structure exerts a great influence on health.

The thyroid gland lies in the front of the neck, sometimes extending down a little way under the breastplate, when it is commonly called inward goitre, if enlarged. It is a gland of internal secretion because it manufactures a hormone which is poured directly into the blood.

An enlargement of the thyroid gland, or goitre, can produce any one of several different symptoms. The enlargement may be general and the entire gland involved. This is called a diffuse goitre. The gland may be irregularly enlarged in the form of growths or nodules and this is called a nodular goitre. In such cases, the gland feels rough and irregular. It can be enlarged likewise by cysts and other conditions.

Even when enlarged the thyroid gland may continue to function fairly satisfactorily. But sometimes the secretion becomes excessive or abnormal and causes toxic symptoms. Stated in another way, one can have a simple nodular goitre, a simple diffuse enlargement, a toxic nodular goitre or a toxic diffuse goitre.

The treatment of a goitre depends on many factors which have to be analyzed in each case individually. Sometimes it is treated simply by watching the condition rather than by any active measures.

A toxic goitre, either of the nodular type or the diffuse type, generally requires some definite treatment. Until recently the best treatment was almost always an operation, that is, removal of a considerable portion of the diseased thyroid tissue. This was a highly successful procedure and is still frequently advisable and done with success.

EXPERT MUST GIVE THEM

In recent years other methods of treatment have been found which are effective, at least in some cases. These methods include a drug of one of the uracil group or the drinking of a fluid containing iodine which has been made radioactive.

Needless to say, all these treatments must be given by an expert and the selection of which one to use can only be decided after careful study of each individual case.

Goitre is still an important medical disorder, but it is less common than in the past, probably because of the widespread use of iodized salt, which has been shown to prevent the development of many goitres.

2 Nazi Doctors Jailed For Life

METZ, France (Reuters)—A military court here Tuesday night sentenced two German doctors, Eugene Haagen and Otto Bickenbach, to hard labor for life for wartime medical experiments on concentration camp victims.

The prosecutor had asked for the death sentence, claiming that the experiments had cost the lives of more than 90 Jews and gypsies.

The court sentenced two of those doctors being tried in absentia to death. The third was acquitted. The name of another German doctor, Helmuth Graege, who also was accused of taking part in the experiments, was removed from the list of the accused 24 hours ago when it was officially reported that he had died.

Bickenbach and Haagen admitted they used doomed Jewish and gypsy prisoners at the notorious Struthof concentration camp near here as guinea pigs to find means of combatting the effects of poison gas and typhus.

BRANTFORD (CP)—A Brantford housewife bought a Christmas tree this year and got stung—by a bee. The stinging came when she and her husband were decorating. A bee, outraged at being disturbed, flew from the branches and stung the woman on the arm.

THE SHAPE OF NATO — Gen. Matthew B. Ridway (right), Supreme Commander of SHAPE, chats with U.S. Secretary of State Dean Acheson at a party for the 14-nation delegates of NATO in Paris. The party, following top-level conferences, was given by French President Vincent Auriol to bid a "sentimental farewell" to Acheson who will give up his post to the Eisenhower administration.

Strike First Canadian Coin Of New Elizabethan Age

"Lovely!" he exclaimed, as he picked up the shiny one-cent piece bearing the graceful profile design of the Queen.

"It's yours," said W. C. Ronson, 66-year-old master of the mint, who presented the coin to the finance minister and replaced it in the mint coinage box from one out of his own pocket.

By turning a lever in one of the mint's stamping machines, Mr. Abbott set the stage for a tremendous outflow of new Canadian coins, in pennies, nickels, dimes, quarters, half dollars and silver dollars.

From now until early next month the mint's presses will be rolling, using big quantities of bronze, steel and silver to stamp out probably about 2,000,000 coins for shipment across the country.

But that will be only the first issue. By the time the year is out, the mint estimates that it will be printing more than 100,000,000 of the new coins—the country's normal annual consumption of coins.

41 Squadron Air Force Set In RCAF Expansion Program

OTTAWA (CP)—Canada's emphasis on air power is pointed up in the 1952 growth and activity of the RCAF as a modern, jet-equipped air arm with operations already stretching from the Far East to the continent of Europe.

Under the $5,000,000,000 three-year defence program, RCAF expansion is faster than any other service. It now is well on the way, with new squadrons coming into being, new training stations opened, strength being built up and a radar network being established.

There have been some hitches. For instance deliveries of some of the jets have been behind schedule. The RCAF got its first Canadian-designed and Canadian-built all-weather fighter, the CF100, behind schedule this year and has yet to form its first CF100 squadron.

But more and more of its other first-line operational plane—the F86 Sabre jet—are being delivered, along with the T33 jet trainer. The Sabres and the CF100s are being built in Canada, and T33 also will be produced in this country later.

BIG PROGRAM

The RCAF plan calls for a 41-squadron Air Force, including reserves and the 12 fighter squadrons Canada is committed to base in Europe for the North Atlantic Treaty defence force by the spring of 1954. Three are already there and three others are based in England.

The Air Force now has about 30 squadrons all told.

The personnel target is 50,000. In 1952 strength grew from 29,500 to an estimated 38,500, including 3,000 women now being recruited into the regular force. Some of them will go overseas.

The RCAF still has its No. 426 squadron on the Korean airlift. In its two years the squadron has logged more than 25,000 flying hours, carried 5,000,000 pounds of freight from the Pacific coast to Tokyo and back and moved 10,000 passengers, many of them wounded from Korea.

Canadian fighter pilots are getting operational experience with United States Air Force units in Korea. By the end of this year 13 RCAF pilots had seen service there for six months each. Flying Sabres, they have been credited with a total of eight kills of enemy planes in aerial combat.

ATLANTIC HOPS

Perhaps the RCAF's most spectacular job of the year was its mass flight of jets across the Atlantic for the first time. One squadron for the North Luffenham base in England flew over without mishap early in the year. Later three more Sabre squadrons flew over to be based at Gros Tenquin, France, near Metz—the first RCAF planes based on the continent since 1945.

The Gros Tenquin base is the first of four on the continent which will form Canada's 12-squadron air division NATO contribution. Construction work now is under way at two other bases and negotiations are proceeding in connection with a fourth site.

Continental headquarters now is at Paris but will later move to Metz under Air Vice Marshal Hugh L. Campbell, Salisbury, N.B., who will command the air division.

These operations in England and on the continent resulted in a flow of air force men overseas almost reminiscent of wartime. Some 2,500 RCAF personnel now are overseas and other drafts continue to go.

At home the Air Force announced formation of four new regular force squadrons during the year. Three were Sabre squadrons and the other was a Lancaster-equipped Maritime squadron. A fifth Sabre squadron was set to come into being early in January.

Training continued to increase, including that of airmen from Britain, Norway, Denmark, Belgium, France, Italy and Holland. Canada is training these aircrew as part of her NATO aid.

Maritime squadrons were kept busy during the year. They took part in a number of NATO exercises at home and overseas, flew ice reconnaissance in the northland and escorted naval supply missions to arctic weather stations.

The search and rescue air arm carried out many life-saving duties during the year. The arm now includes "para pets"—nurses trained as parachutists to jump to bring aid wherever needed.

Air and ground personnel were in England taking familiarization training, readying themselves for delivery of two jet Comet aircraft. These aircraft will be delivered next year and the Canadian crews will fly them to Canada where they will be used for training purposes.

The air force will get a new chief early in 1953. Air Vice Marshal Roy Slemon, who now heads training command at Trenton, will succeed Air Marshal W. A. Curtis as chief of the air staff when Curtis retires at the end of January.

Eisenhower Asks Stalin For "Concrete Proposals"

China Blockade, ROK Training Seen In Ike's Plan

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

WASHINGTON (AP)—Plans of the Eisenhower administration for dealing with the Korean war appear likely to aim at putting new pressures on the Chinese Communists while easing the battle burden of United States forces. To this end, the belief here is that, as a minimum, President-elect Eisenhower and his secretary of state to-be, John Foster Dulles, will promptly call for: 1. A United Nations economic blockade of Red China. 2. Maximum speedup in the training of South Korean forces and their assignment to front-line positions.

How far beyond these minimum actions the new president and his advisers may be willing to go remains to be seen, because despite his trip to Korea, his unprecedented mid-Pacific conferences with prospective aides and his meeting with Gen. MacArthur in New York, Eisenhower so far has not tipped his hand.

UNCERTAIN FACTOR

A new factor of uncertain weight was injected into the knotty situation yesterday with publication by the New York Times of a reply from Prime Minister Stalin to four questions posed by the Times.

Stalin said Russia is interested in ending the Korean war, and that he would co-operate in any new diplomatic approach toward a truce. However, the question remained: How much of a price would he pay for peace?

A mere public endorsement of peace in Korea is not noticeably different from the past Russian position, which—at least for propaganda purposes—has been in favor of a truce. The new statement, however, raised the question whether Stalin may have been convinced by now that the Communists have nothing more to gain in Korea.

Commonwealth Force For Good Queen Tells U.K.

SANDRINGHAM, Eng. (Reuters)—The Queen Thursday told Britons the world over that the Commonwealth is "a force which, I believe, can be of immeasurable benefit to humanity."

In a Christmas Day broadcast from her country home at Sandringham, the Queen called "for tolerance and understanding among the nations" and for use of the "tremendous forces of science and learning for the betterment of man's lot upon this earth."

She asked the Commonwealth's 600,000,000 inhabitants to pray "that God may give me wisdom and strength and that I may faithfully serve Him and you all the days of my life."

Her message was beamed to all parts of the world.

FIRST MESSAGE

It was her first Christmas message, continuing a tradition started by her grandfather, Georve V, 20 years ago, and continued by her father, George VI.

The 26-year-old Queen spoke from the study at Sandringham. She sat in the same chair and at the same desk used by her father and grandfather.

The broadcast was heard from the nearby drawing room by other members of the royal family.

The Queen's message was preceded by an hour-long program in which persons in a dozen parts of the Commonwealth sent Christmas greetings to the world.

Her voice pitched slightly lower than usual, the Queen said: "I hope that your children are enjoying themselves as much as mine are on a day which is especially the children's festival."

She said at Christmas, thoughts always were full of homes and families.

"But we belong, you and I, to a far larger family. . .the British Commonwealth and Empire, that immense union of nations, with their homes set in all the four corners of the earth.

Air Action Light In Korean War

SEOUL (AP) — U. S. Sabre jets brushed with Communist MiGs in clear, cold skies over North Korea today while ground action continued light.

The Fifth Air Force said 12 Sabres skirmished with 14 Russian-built MiG jets, but made no damage claims.

Christmas Day a large MiG formation turned back to its Manchurian sanctuary without firing a shot in the deepest Communist jet penetration of the war.

The air force didn't say how close the Red planes got to the battleline. The MiGs sped northward to safety as soon as the challenging Sabres were airborne.

A Sabre jet was credited with destruction of a MiG high over North Korea Thursday without firing a shot. The MiG went into a spin and crashed while attempting an evasive manoeuvre.

The air force said twin-engine B-26 bombers destroyed 130 Communist trucks — the biggest bag in a week.

Ground action was limited to minor Communist jabs and patrol activity as the temperature dipped to two degrees above zero.

See N.Y. Bus Strike Affecting 3,500,000

NEW YORK (AP) — New York city's transit fact - finding committee reported today a strike "seems probable" New Year's Day on eight privately - owned bus lines serving 3,500,000 passengers daily.

The CIO Transport Workers Union is demanding a 40-hour week without reduction in take - home pay for the lines' approximately 8,000 employees. They work now from 44 to 48 hours. Hourly pay rates vary from $1.66 to $1.73.

The companies contend they cannot meet the union demands unless the present 10 - cent fare is increased to 15 cents. Mayor Vincent Impellitteri has opposed a fare increase.

Impellitteri appeared optimistic that a settlement could be reached as he arrived at city hall for a round of conferences with the committee and the city board of estimate on the transit issue.

Reject Request For Punishment

BERLIN (AP) — A West Berlin policeman was shot to death in the French sector of the city on Christmas Day. The French said three Russian soldiers were responsible and demanded their punishment. The Russians refused, saying the shooting stemmed from an attempt by West Berlin police to kidnap three Soviet border guards.

Herbert Bauer, 28, was killed. The French commandant in Berlin, Gen. Pierre Carolet, said Bauer was slain by three Russian soldiers who invaded the French sector and also molested three West Berlin citizens who were returning from a neighborhood party that followed midnight church services.

In a note last night to Sergei Dengin, the Soviet commandant, Carolet declared:

"I demand that you take proper action against the Soviet soldiers responsible and I demand that your government make suitable compensation to the widow of the murdered West policeman."

Today Dengin rejected the French protest as invalid and said:

"A group of West Berlin policemen engaged in an armed foray against Soviet military personnel on the Soviet side of the border. First 15, and later 40 West Berlin policemen, tried to pull a Soviet military patrol into the area of the French sector. During this attempt to kidnap the Soviet military personnel, the West Berlin police opened intensive fire."

Dengin charged the incident was "clearly prepared in advance." He added "I protest decisively against this criminal provocation and categorically demand punishment for the guilty."

Dulles Gives Statement For General

Vows U.S. Would Lend Sympathetic Ear To Serious Peace Bid

WASHINGTON (AP)— The incoming Eisenhower administration today challenged Russia's premier Stalin to put forth "concrete proposals" on promoting peace and promised they would be "seriously and sympathetically received."

A statement taking that position was issued by John Foster Dulles, who will be the new administration's secretary of state, after Dulles had talked with President-elect Eisenhower by telephone this morning. Eisenhower is in New York.

The statement was the first reaction of the new administration to replies given by Stalin to four questions presented to him by the New York Times.

Stalin expressed willingness to meet Eisenhower in response to one question and he also said Russia was interested in ending the Korean War.

STATEMENT TEXT

Dulles made this statement:

"I have read with interest the published account of Mr. Stalin's views. If these mean that Mr. Stalin has concrete proposals to make to the new administration after it takes office, he can rest assured that they will be seriously and sympathetically received.

"Diplomatic or United Nations channels of communication are always available for such purposes and for exchanges of views designed to find ways to promote peace and international good will."

The normal diplomatic channels for contact between Washington and Moscow are the Soviet Embassy here and the American Embassy there. At the United Nations Russian and American delegations hve a constant opportunity of quick and informal contact.

In administration circles the feeling seemed to be that Stalin had offered little if anything new in a reply to four questions submitted to him by the New York Times. The Times published his response Thursday.

Stalin said that "aggressive actions" taken in the West's cold war policy against Russia are the main causes of world tension and said:

Report "No Change" In Twins' Condition

CHICAGO (AP) — No change was reported today in the condition of the Brodie Siamese twins.

The 15-month-old boys have been in critical condition since they were separated in an operation Dec. 17. The twins were born joined at the heads.

Roger Lee has not regained consciousness since the operation and his condition has been described as very precarious. His brother, Rodney Dee, has been given the better chance to live. However, his condition is critical.

Mr. and Mrs. Royt Brodie, of Moline, Ill., parents of the twins, spent Christmas Day at their bedsides. They have four other children, all normal.

One Man In 18 UN Patrols Killed On Christmas Eve

By BILL BOSS
Canadian apress Staff Writer

IN KOREA (CP)—Eighteen patrols of United Nations troops in one sector of the Korean battle front stalked no man's land on ambushes and reconnaissance Wednesday night. All but one of the soldiers returned to celebrate Christmas Day.

One patrol laid in ambush from the last light until an hour before midnight Christmas Eve. As they returned to their lines three mortar bombs fell, scattering the troops and sending them to the ground for protection.

Back in their lines the troops discovered one of the members of the patrol was missing. Two returned to where the bombs had fallen and discovered the body of the missing soldier, his skull cracked by a shell fragment which pierced his helmet.

It was business as usual in Korea despite Christmas.

One four-man patrol played hide and seek in the pitch dark of a moonless night with two Chinese Communist platoons which tried to entice it into a trap and followed it right back into the UN lines.

"At one point we were within 20 feet of them," said the corporal in charge of the patrol. "Their hole smelled of garlick and fish."

The patrol returned with valuable information, locating four enemy observation posts, reported movement of tanks or self-propelled guns and pin-pointed enemy outposts.

Christmas Day was cold and the battle front and rear areas were green in the absence of snow.

A UN brigadier-general visited every forward company of his command, greeting troops in English and French.

Padres held church services in the rear areas for troops able to attend and battalion headquarters continued to serve Christmas dinner for representative troops sent down from the front.

HOW ABOUT A CHECK-UP, DOC?—Suffering bumps and breaks during a collision early today at the corner of Charlotte and Reid Sts., this car scraped along two store fronts and finally stopped at a sub-office of the Medical Centre. Floyd Beatty, 21, of 116 Hilliard St., and Miss Shirley Marshall, 19, of New Romaine St., suffered minor injuries and were taken to the Civic Hospital by Nesbitt's ambulance. Miss Marshall was treated for a bruised knee and shock and then discharged, but Mr. Beatty, who suffered from shock, bruises and cuts, was kept in for observation. The car suffered enough and will receive treatment later by a mechanic, not a doctor.—(Examiner Staff Photo)

Airliner Crash Near Tehran Leaves 23 Dead

TEHRAN, Iran (AP) — An Iranian Airways plane crashed in a dense fog on Christmas Night a few miles from Tehran airport, killing 23 persons including four Americans. Only two passengers survived.

The plane, inbound from Isfahan, 210 miles south of Tehran, circled for a landing. It bounced several hundred yards in an open field, then broke apart. There was a small fire that burned out quickly. Investigators believe the pilot miscalculated the altitude in attempting a blind landing.

The dead Americans: Miss Cecile Ann Demoisy, 29, nurse, from Ogden, Utah; Sgt. Thomas Rispoli of the U. S. military mission, of Atlanta, Ga.; Mr. Blakemore, 38, Great Neck, Long Island, N. Y., a teacher making a study of the Middle East; Mrs. Blakemore, 37, wife of the teacher.

ALL CREW KILLED

All the other passengers in the C-47 were Iranians. All members of the crew were killed.

The survivors were Adil Young, 70, and an engineer named Khazaie. Both suffered minor injuries. Two others died after being taken to hospital.

The crash area was about five miles south of Tehran airport. The pilot had avoided dangerous mountains north of Tehran but crashed after turning south.

Dec. 23, 1951, an Egyptian airliner smashed into the mountains north of Tehran and killed 21. That was the worst previous plane wreck in Iran's history. Thursday night's crash was only the second with fatalities in Iranian Airways' six years of operation.

Ship Limps Into Port After Collision At Sea

NEW Orleans (AP) — A freighter limped up the Mississippi river today after colliding with another freighter in the Gulf of Mexico.

Two tugs were sent to assist the S. S. Bacchus, a Dutch-owned ship, up the river to New Orleans for repairs.

The Bacchus and the S. S. Holberg, Norwegian-owned, crashed yesterday about three miles from the mouth of the river in a heavy fog.

A gaping hole was ripped in the Bacchus hull, steering apparatus was damaged and the ship took 30 feet of water in one hold.

Fire Levels Apartment In Montreal Suburbs

MONTREAL (CP) — Fire, driven by three explosions, raced through an apartment house in suburban Lachine today and forced five families to the street.

Also destroyed in the blaze that took firemen four hours to control was the furniture store of Paul-Emile Durocher. Reason for the explosions was not immediately clear.

Claim "Front" Cached Loot From Million Dollar Robbery

BOSTON (AP)—Unconfirmed reports said today the $1,219,000 loot from the Brink's robbery of Jan. 17, 1950, may have been placed in safe deposit boxes in various banks by a respectable Boston man acting as a "front" for the robbers. The Federal Bureau of Investigation refuses to comment on the report of how the loot was hidden after the daring early-evening robbery but three Boston papers report today a lawyer was chosen by the gang to secrete the cash.

The reports said the gang's plan called for the lawyer to hire some 40 safe deposit boxes in banks through the country.

The newspapers also said the lawyer's identity has been known to investigators for some time and added he is expected to be brought in for questioning in a few days.

TRACE $236,500

The reports continued that the FBI has traced $236,500 of the Brink's cash to some of the vaults and that about $30,000 of the loot was used to buy government bonds.

Another unconfirmed report said three men died before they could be questioned by the FBI in connection with the Brink's case. Two of the men were slain and the third died of a heart attack while in hiding.

The report said the men who were to have been questioned were:

Carleton M. O'Brien, Rhode Island diner owner who was slain May 17; George R. Killeen, South Boston gangster, shot to death outside an all-night restaurant a half mile from Brink's headquarters, and Louis Uva, Boston bookie who died while hiding out at the home of relatives in Lynn to avoid questioning in Killeen's death.

NO FBI COMMENT

Meanwhile, Police Chief Dean Meredith of Towanda, Pa., said early today that a suspect in the Brink's robbery offered him a bribe for his release from a gun-carrying charge six months after the fabulous Boston robbery.

The police chief named Joseph (Specs) O'Keefe, 41-year-old Boston gunman, listed in FBI affidavits as a possible participant in the stick-up.

$250,000 Fire

NORTH TONAWANDA, N. Y. (CP) — A 19-hour fire swept the Bennett Lumber Company Wednesday night and early Christmas Day, causing $250,000 damage. Lumber and several buildings in the lumber yard were destroyed.

Charity Cures Doomed Man, 20

SEATTLE (AP) — A 20-year-old man who had been doomed to die within five years because of a malformed heart cherished today the greatest Christmas gift of all—that of a normal life.

An unnamed Seattle surgeon and the Sisters of Charity of Providence were the donors.

A brother, a year younger, will undergo the same corrective surgery in the near future, through the generosity of the surgeon and the sisters.

Six weeks ago Frank Gunderson walked into the surgeon's office. In his pocket was his life savings of $140. The surgeon explained that repairing a heart artery which failed to close normally at birth was costly. . .far more than $140.

But the Providence sisters agreed to donate the needed care at hospital. The surgeon said there would be no charge for the operation.

Dec. 13, Frank Gunderson's abnormal artery was cut and the two ends were sewn shut in a delicate piece of surgery. The malformation is known technically as patent ductust arteriosus.

Alfred Gunderson, 19, has the same affliction. Their mother and another brother died of heart conditions. The father is crippled with arthritis.

Toronto Woman Faces 156 Charges Of Fraud

TORONTO (CP) — Police said today a woman they arrested in a department store Wednesday faces 156 charges of false pretences, involving more than $1,000 over a three-year period.

Patricia Ambrose, 22, was picked up when she bought $10 worth of articles. Police said she used a different name and credit card number each time.

Diplomats Claim Stalin Ready To Aid In Truce

MOSCOW (AP)—Prime Minister Stalin's statement that he favors diplomatic conversations on Korea is regarded here as a preliminary offer to use his good offices in arriving at a Korean settlement. Western diplomats in Moscow suggested Thursday that a new Western approach—based on the prime minister's replies to questions by the New York Times—now is a possibility that must be seriously considered. They said the next move probably would depend on U.S. President-elect Eisenhower's attitude on the question.

Several factors were mentioned as indicating that the Stalin statement on Korea might rate serious consideration:

1. The truce talks in Korea — now long deadlocked — were a direct result of a Soviet government declaration that it would help bring about a Korean settlement. No other official offer has been made since that one — in June, 1951.

2. Stalin's influence and authority in Communist China and North Korea as well as in the Soviet Union.

3. In another instance, intervention by Stalin in the explosive situation created by the Berlin blockade helped produce a settlement.

SEE POSSIBILITIES

Western diplomats working within the Soviet Union also saw interesting possibilities in the Stalin statement that he would welcome U.S. - Russian talks leading to a possible meeting between himself and President-elect Eisenhower.

The Westerners pointed out, however, that this Stalin declaration failed to represent anything new. Also, many questions, including where such a meeting might be held, would have to be settled before it could ever take place.

On previous occasions, the Soviet Prime Minister has indicated his willingness to join the heads of the United States and Britain in direct talks. But it always has been stressed that Stalin's health prevented him from taking any long journeys, such as to the U. S.

Traffic Resumes At Crash Scene

SOUTHWOOD, Ont. (CP) — Traffic was resumed today on the Canadian National Railways Bala subdivision, a link between Toronto and Western Canada that had been halted since Tuesday after a head-on collision of two freight trains in which five men were killed.

Scores of men using huge cranes on flatcars worked day and night through the Christmas holiday period hunting for the bodies of five railway men in the debris of 50 boxcars and locomotives.

The bodies of four men have been recovered, and three have been identified. They are Engineer F. A. Bumstead of Long Branch a Toronto suburb; A. J. Prevost, also of Long Branch; and M. L. Pender, of Toronto. A fourth body is thought to be that of Frank Hall of Barrie.

CNR officials said a locomotive still rests partly submerged in water beside the crash scene near Hydro Glen 100 miles north of Toronto. The body of Y. B. Lane of Capreol, Ont., is thought to be inside.

The line on which the crash occurred is one of two main lines from Toronto to western Canada. For 92 hours all traffic was routed along another line, through North Bay.

CNR officials attributed the wreck to non-delivery of a message, ordering the engineer of a southbound freight to pull into a siding to let a northbound train pass.

Adenauer Urges Strong Man For W. Germany

BONN, Germany (AP)—West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer has urgently appealed to President-elect Eisenhower to appoint a "strong man" as new United States high commissioner to Germany as soon as possible, Allied sources reported today.

They said he asked that the job be given to a forceful figure who could give a much-needed boost to lagging plans for German rearmament and West European unification.

Adenauer's request is regarded as actually a distress signal. He needs to get ratification of West Germany's treaties of alliance with the West. And he thinks France and other partners of the six-country European Army project need jogging from the United States to get on with the job.

DIRECT REQUEST

The chancellor is reported to have sent a direct request to Eisenhower, and an appeal indirectly through two men who have served as U.S. high commissioners—John J. McCloy and Walter L. Donnelly. Donnelly retires as high commissioner Dec. 31.

As Adenauer sees it, Eisenhower holds the key to the solution of the European Army and alliance treaty problems—slowed down by parliamentary delays and intra-European bickering.

Time is critical for Adenauer. This protaganist of West German rearmament and integration with the West will be 77 Jan. 5. He will be embarking on a critical year of his political life when his whole program may succeed or fail. He faces major political battles, including a national election campaign.

He still must fight for final parliamentary approval of the pacts he negotiated with the West—the peace contract with Britain, the U.S., and France and the European-Army pact under which West Germany would raise 500,000 soldiers for common defence against Communist aggression.

Accidents Kill 30 On Christmas Day

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Canada's Christmas festivities were marred by 30 accidental deaths.

A Canadian Press survey today showed 27 persons killed in heavy holiday traffic. Most sections of the country received little or no snow, but many roads in Ontario and Quebec were slush-covered.

Ontario counted nine deaths, eight of them on the highways, Quebec eight, British Columbia six, Alberta five and Newfoundland and Nova Scotia one each.

A Quebec boy was drowned when he plunged through ice on the St. Lawrence river near Quebec City, an Ontario woman was fatally injured when she fell down a flight of stairs in her London home and one British Columbia resident was burned to death.

Imprisoned By Reds

Tried For 'Orphanage Murder' Nuns Freed

HONG KONG (AP) — The last two of five Canadian nuns tried by the Chinese Communists in the widely propagandized "orphanage murder case" in Canton entered Hong Kong tonight after nearly two years in prison.

They are Sister Saint Alphonse du Redempteur (Antoinette Couvrette), 28, Joliette, Que., and sister Marie Germaine Gravel, 43, Three Rivers, Que. They said they were expelled unexpectedly after serving only part of five-year sentences for "the murder of 2,116 orphans."

They were met at the border by Sister Germaine Tanguay, Canadian citizen who was born in Nashua, N. H. She and Sisters Imelda Laperriere, Pont Rouge, Que., and Elizabeth Lamire, La Baie du Febvre, Que., shared the ordeal with Sisters Couvrette and Gravel, but were expelled in February. Sisters Laperriere and Lemire left for Canada several weeks ago.

The two arrivals said the Communists gave no reason for expelling them. At 4:30 p. m. yesterday, they said, guards entered their cells and told them they were being pardoned and "banished forever."

The case of the five nuns drew world attention Dec. 12, 1951, when they were stoned, spat upon and reviled in a four-hour public trial which was broadcast over the Canton radio.

The Reds jailed the nuns March 19, 1951. They were among the first orphanage workers to be charged with the murder of inmates—an accusation which became routine.

Orphanages in China had become dumping grounds for unwanted babies — mostly girls. Because of abject poverty and lack of hygiene at birth, the prevalence of tetanus and congenital diseases, and exposure, most babies were dead or dying when dumped at the orphanges.

Sister Couvrette's first question here was: "Are my parents still living?" Told by Father Paul Duchesne that they are (in Joliette), she said: "Oh, thank God."

Sister Gravel, who is only 4 feet 6 inches tall, is still weak in contrast to her companion.

"It's wonderful to be in this free place," she said.

12 Mountaineers Selected For Expedition

LONDON (CP)—Twelve experienced mountaineers have been selected as members of the British expedition which next year will seek to scale the peak of hitherto unconquered Mount Everest, highest mountain in the world

Under the leadership of 42-year-old Col. John Hunt, an active army officer, the party will leave for India sometime in February. After about three weeks of climbing in the lesser Himalayan ranges to acclimatize themselves, the expedition members hope to establish their Everest base camp before the end of April.

Col. Hunt and three of his colleagues have already spent considerable time in the Swiss Alps testing special equipment at varying altitudes.

When the party finally sets out on its attempt to reach Everest's peak, towering some 29,140 feet above sea level, the plan is to follow the route discovered by Britain's Eric Shipton on his 1951 reconnaissance.

This is the same course followed by two Swiss Everest expeditions this year, the last of which had to be abandoned because of extreme cold and treacherous winds when the climbers were almost within reach of the top.

Blame Human Factor For Worst Air Crash

WASHINGTON (AP)—The U. S. Air Force has concluded that history's worst air disaster—the crash of a C-124 transport last Saturday at Moses Lake, Wash., with 87 dead—resulted from failure to unlock control mechanisms before the takeoff.

A report from a top-level investigating board Wednesday said the giant ship apparently took to the air with both the rudder which controls lateral turns, and the elevator which governs the up-and-down angle of flight, fixed in neutral position.

Such a condition would have prevented the pilot from taking the normal angle of climb after the wheels quit the runway, or pulling air current or other force forced it down.

The plane, loaded with hitchhiking servicemen headed home for Christmas, s m a s h e d into the ground just off the runway.

There was no effort in the report to say who failed to release the control surfaces. Every member of the 10-man crew is dead.

WOULD MEET IKE

1. He regards "favorably" the idea of a meeting with Eisenhower; (2) war between the U.S. and the Soviet is not inevitable; (3) Russia is "interested in ending the war in Korea" and (4) the sources of world contention lie "everywhere and in everything wherever the aggressive actions" of the cold war find expression.

Stalin has on several occasions responded to written questions posed by newspaper men and almost invariably he has expressed a belief that U.S.-Russian war is not inevitable and a willingness to meet with the U.S. president.

Nor did there appear to be much hope, from the Western viewpoint, in Stalin's expressed willingness to co-operate in any new diplomatic gestures looking toward peace in Korea.

MOST INTERESTING

This reply, it is true, created the most interest in Washington, but some skepticism was expressed as to whether the Russian leader was sincerely interested in a new approach to the peace problem, or whether this was more of the same Kremlin propaganda.

As far as the Truman administration is concerned something more than Stalin's words—some concrete evidence of hope for a truce—would be needed to create any real interest.

As for the idea of a Stalin-Eisenhower meeting, Washington wants more information on Eisenhower's attitude and whether Stalin would be willing to take any affirmative action to bring about such a meeting.

SEE 3-WAY TALKS

It was clear, from London dispatches, that Britain would want to sit in on any such talks. Thus, presumably, there might be conferences between Stalin, Eisenhower and Prime Minister Churchill reminiscent of the Big Three meetings of the Second World War.

Eisenhower, during his successful campaign for the presidency, pledged that he would go anywhere if it would promote peace.

Stalin has expressed a willingness to meet with President Truman but nothing ever came of it. Truman has taken the position that it is Stalin's turn to come to the United States, and the Russian premier has never said he would do that.

On the promising side there was the fact—admittedly a small one—that Stalin had acted with unusual promptness in responding to the queries put to him by James Reston, Washington correspondent of the Times. Reston submitted the questions Dec. 18 and the premier's replies were received at the Soviet embassy here Wednesday night.

PravdaHarpsOnTheme Of West's Imperialism

LONDON (AP) — Despite Stalin's stated willingness for talks with President-elect Eisenhower to ease world tensions, the Moscow newspaper Pravda harped away today on its favorite theme—charges that the West is preparing a third world war.

Just a day after Moscow radio gave the top spot in its news broadcasts to the Soviet Prime Minister's answers to newspaper questions, the radio quoted Pravda as saying in a lead editorial:

"The imperialists are seeking a way out of the sharpening contradictions of the capitalistic system on the path of preparing and unleashing a new world war."

The Red Chinese too got a full account. The statement was broadcast on the home news bulletins of Peiping radio.

TORONTO (CP) — Police jailed 26 motorists on charges of driving with ability impaired over the Christmas holiday. Officials said the figure is almost three times the number jailed on the same charge Christmas Eve and Dec. 25 last year.

Court Injunction Bars 11 Women From Visit To Convicted Murderess In Georgia Prison

REIDSVILLE, Ga. (AP) — A court injunction stopped 11 women from paying a Christmas visit to a convicted Negro murderess in the Georgia state prison.

State highway patrolmen served the injunction forbidding the women to go within a mile of the Tatnall prison Thursday.

A spokesman for the six Negro and five white women said they resented being stopped by "vicious hoodlums and klansmen."

The spokesman, Mrs. Mabel Thompson, said the group only intended to bring "a bit of Christmas greeting" to Mrs. Rose Lee Ingram, serving a life term for the 1947 murder of John Stratford, a white tenant farmer.

The defence contended Mrs. Ingram killed Stratford in self-defence when he threatened her and her children. The prosecution said the killing followed an argument over the woman's mule grazing on Stratford's field.

Before Thursday's proposed visit Governor Herman Talmadge had indicated an exchange of correspondence with William L. Patterson, executive secretary of the Civil Rights Congress, New York, that the visitors would not be welcome.

Mr. Douglas, who has lived here for a year and is employed by a publishing house, said he was denied entry at two separate border-crossing points. He said the only reason given by U.S. immigration officers was irregular passport documents. Mr. Douglas said his papers were in order.

He had planned to travel to Rhode Island.

Your pets, too, can make pictures that stop one short, infinite patience and a certain amount of camera technique are required. Giving Your Dog A Place In Family Snapshot Album

By ANNETTE JEWETT
NEA Staff Writer.

NEW YORK (NEA)—Let your dog have his rightful place in the family snapshot album. All his tricks, even the naughty ones, and his characteristic expressions will give you great pleasure for years when you glance back through your album.

You may want a few formal portraits of your dog as well as the candids. To get these you will need the same patience and techniques as are used in making children's formal portraits.

When the dog gets into position, as he may do without any prompting, or when he is lured there by someone assisting you, get his expression at its most characteristic phase.

If it's worth the price of film to you to get a good portrait of your dog, it is certainly worth it to take an entire morning or afternoon and hold off shooting until you reach the right moment. Unless you are very lucky, it will take this much time before you can feel you have your portrait.

Don't let your dog know you're going to take his picture. He may shy away from the whole idea or attack the camera as a toy. It's better to go on behaving as if nothing special were going to happen even though you are set up and have your camera ready.

Have a table or bench set up for your pet so you can "shoot" from the dog's eye level or from below. If the pet is a puppy, you may want to have some object in the picture—perhaps a shoe he has chewed— to make his size clear.

Outdoors the sky makes the best background. Indoors you may have to hang up a sheet or blanket to shut off obtrusive objects. The color should be a foil for his coat— light-colored dogs against dark backgrounds and dark dogs against pale backgrounds.

For outdoor work you will need bright sunshine — though not at high noon—plus a reflector, which can be a white wall or a sheet hung up on the shadow side of your subject. Indoors your reflector can be a light-colored room wall.

If your dog likes to sit on the window sill, you might catch him as his head is turned one side to the light while someone holds up a sheet to give illumination to the darker side of the face.

If his favorite spot is beside an open fire, let the fire act as one of your lights and us a flood lamp on the other side. It will probably make him sit up and take notice.

A white sidewalk makes a good reflector, as does snow. Being so near the dog's face, they reflect light upon it.

As for camera setting, this is of course determined by the light available. A speed of about 1/50 second—about that of most box-type cameras—will work. A 1/100 setting or faster is preferable.

It doesnt matter' if the dog isn't centered well. This is easily remedied in the process of cropping and enlarging.

Sharpness of detail depends on good focusing and proper choice of lens opening. Some cameras have depth scales built right in, or you can consult tables to find the proper distance to stand from your dog.

For good candid pictures, try following your dog around some bright sunny day and catch him unawares with your camera as he gets into naturally appealing situations with other animals and members of the family. If you have your own camera handy often, you will soon have a continuity sequence for a doggy snapshot of him.

Martin, Lewis Tops In Box Office Take

The story is the same in both Canada and the United States, shown in the annual poll of movie exhibitors by the trade magazine Motion Picture Herald.

Police Expert Dies, Worked On Oakes Case

HOMESTEAD, Fla. (AP) — James O. Barker, who as a police identification expert was called by the Duke of Windsor to assist with the Oakes murder case in 1943, was shot to death today by his son, James O. Barker, Jr.

John Tyler, chief of the county criminal bureau of investigation, said young Barker admitted the shooting.

There has been family feuding between the father and son for some time, said Tyler. Young Barker gave his father a beating some months ago, and both the elder and younger Barker were involved in divorce actions.

Barker, as captain in charge of the Miami police identification bureau, flew to Nassau in 1943 in response to a summons from the Duke of Windsor to investigate the Oakes murder.

Barker testified that he found a fingerprint of Alfred de Marigny, son-in-law of Sir Harry Oakes, on a screen beside the bed of the slain man.

Defence experts tore the testimony apart, and Barker was tried by the International Association for Identification on charges of falsifying fingerprint evidence. The charge later was dropped.

Mixup Causes Cop To Wound 2 In N.J.

PASSAIC, N.J. (AP) — John McManus, 10, of Philadelphia, was hunting for a Christmas toy in his parents' parked car Christmas Day when an off-duty policeman stopped to see what was going on.

The boy, frightened, ran inside his uncle's house where his parents were visiting. The grown-ups rushed back outside with the boy and scuffled with the policeman, Harold Fitzpatrick, who was not in uniform.

Police said Fitzpatrick drew his revolver, and fired three times, wounding the boy's mother, Mrs. Albert Ferber, and uncle, Newton Paine. Fitzpatrick's head was cut and bruised.

Yugoslavia Cuts Arms Spending

BELGRADE, Yugoslavia (AP) — The Yugoslav government disclosed today it is cutting its planned military spending next year by 10 per cent.

The announcement added, however, that the cut will not affect Yugoslavia's ability and readiness to resist aggression.

Defence minister Ivan Gosniak said the economy in the $600,000,000 1953 military budget was made possible by a reduction of the training period for military reserve from three to two years, by demobilization of the home guard which was formed to operate against internal enemies, and by unexpected surplus from the 1952 budget.

Gosniak termed it a "peace" government's confidence that Yugoslavia has less to fear next year from the possibility of a Cominform invasion.

The Afghan which the children had knit was drawn for and Mrs. D. Wagar was the winner.

Santa arrived and distributed the many gifts which were in the large tree.

Hold Book Week In Canada

TORONTO (CP)—A Canadian book week to popularize Canadian writings and increase the regular reading public will be held March 14-21.

Sponsored by the Canadian Authors Association, the observance is planned to inform the public of Canadian literary works of standing, while being amusing, interesting or instructive.

The CAA said that while the size of the reading public has grown in recent years, there have been offsetting factors such as radio and television and spectator sports. Mass education may have increased the reading public, it noted, but it also has been followed by a flood of "printed matter" that could not be called literature.

Therefore the week is planned to publicize the works of Canadian authors and to draw public attention to some of their problems.

Luxemburg Heir To Wed Belgian

Prince Jean, 32, heir to the Duchy of Luxemburg, was officially engaged to the Princess, 25, Nov. 7.

It's the 'KNOW HOW' that Counts!

HANDBALL: OVERHAND STROKES AND THE SERVE

Bent-Arm Overhand Stroke: Bend arm at a right angle, cock hand behind ear. Face front wall in walking position. Ball is hit at slightly above shoulder level, with left foot stepping forward. Control and speed comes from straightening arm and snapping wrist.

Full-Arm Overhand Stroke: Arm is fully extended here and ball is hit at full arm's length over the head and slightly back of the player. Body bends back at the waist and weight starts from the right leg. Left leg steps forward in direction of shot.

The Serve: Face side wall. Rest weight evenly on both legs. Body bends well forward. Ball is held in left hand and dropped from about knee height. Keep head turned slightly to rear — this allows server to observe opponent's actions.

Yes, it's "know-how" that counts in handball as in every sport — "know-how" that sets one performer above another. Learn the correct form — the "know-how" — then practise until you have mastered it and you'll get more fun and enjoyment out of your sports and game.

PERPETUAL MOTION? — Although physicists have demonstrated that the theory of perpetual motion is fallacious, Charles Spurlock, of Merced, Calif., has faith in his perpetual motion device. Spurlock says he constructed an "Ezekiel wheel," powered by "faith," according to information in chapters 1-12 of the Bible's Book of Ezekiel. The device, 38 feet high, consists of two wheels 24 feet in diameter, joined by connecting rods, and weighing 3½ tons apece. Sixteen weights weighing 94 pounds each actuate the machine. The inventor claims that when the machine is put in operation, it will develop 32,000 horsepower. At top, Spurlock, left, and assistants adjust the machine. Below is a view of the wheel's housing.

We Want No Military Police

It is fashionable to make fun of the Senate, but now and then we think it worth while to call attention to some of the good work which the Senate does. It is the Senate's job to consider carefully and in the smallest detail all the bills which are sent to it from the Commons—bills which the Commons considers fit to become the law of the land. It is astonishing how many bills the Commons sends to the Senate which are ill-drawn, ill-considered and foolish in matters of detail; if there were no Senate to check them, presumably these careless bills would become law. Not long before Christmas the Senate sharply checked a bill which would have equipped Canada with a police force under military direction.

* * *

The bill which would have brought about this extremely unwelcome and dangerous change was one of the proposed amendments to the Criminal Code. It would have made the R.C.M.P. a part of the armed forces of Canada, on a footing with the Army, Navy and Air Force. Under a government with democratic aims and a reasonable concern for freedom this would not greatly change the character of the R.C.M.P., but under a tyrannous or frightened government it could turn the Mounties into such a force as the German Storm Troopers — a standing army, lightly disguised as a police force. The Senate committee voted down this proposal, 13 to 4, and is to be commended for doing so.

* * *

Let it be noticed also, that this amendment, which was the work of a Liberal government, was attacked by a Liberal Senator, the Hon. Arthur Roebuck, and defeated by a committee composed in great part of Liberal Senators. The strict party divisions which exist in the Commons are not particularly binding in the Senate, and the predominance of Liberals in the Senate is not so directly dangerous to good government as is sometimes suggested. Liberalism, as it appears in the Senate, is more likely to be liberalism of the type in which all lovers of freedom have a share.

Ask Us Another

The London Observer, for which we have such a high respect that we engage its foreign correspondents and essayists to send us their reports for use in the Examiner, last Sunday had a "General Knowledge Quiz", specially prepared to tickle the minds of Christmas holiday-ers. We also like questions and answers, within limits; our own Alpha attends to that department. So we inspected the special Questions and Answers article in the Observer with indulgent interest.

Perhaps some of our readers can fly with greatest of ease through this? We began ambitiously to put down the answers: Where are these currencies in use: (a) Balboa ;(b) Bolivar; (c) Colon; (d) Cruzeiro; (e) Gourde; (f) Guarani; (g) Lempiras; (h) Quetzal; (i) Sol; (j) Sucre? Ah! that's an easy list. The Balboa is used in Barberry; the Bolivar in Bolivia; the Colon in Intestinia (a state off the Stomach Islands, next to the Christian Gut, southern Pacific ocean); the Cruzeiro is used in Santa Cruz; the Gourde in Pumpkin; the Guarani in Guano; the Lempiras in Lampreys; the Quetzal in U-Kallit-Quits; the Sol in the Moon, and Sucre in Saccharine. Judge of our dismay to find, when we consulted the answers below, that every one of our answers was wrong—even Bolivia.

We approached the next series of questions with less confidence: What are the English forms of: (a) Baile Atha Cliath (our guess: that old bat Aunt Clotilda); (b) Chung-Hua Jen-Min (chug along, old boy, we'll skip that one); (c) Gdansk (Grrr); (d) Klaipeda; (e) Al Moghreb-Ul-Aqsa; (f) Porto; (g) Vierwaldstattersee.

We lost confidence in the knowledgeable questioner, and began to believe in our own answers as much as in his when we encountered the first item of the next series of questions: In what Empire cities or towns are these airports: (a) Chateau Laurier. This airport named Chateau Laurier, the answers inform us, is in Ottawa. How awfully wrong you are, old boy. Everybody knows that the Chateau Laurier is an airport which Mr. Currie discovered in Camp Petawawa.

We only scanned the rest of the questions, after that faux pas. We puffed with pride that we could set down Lord Peter Wimsey as the occupant of 110a, Piccadilly, and that the fictional lady "whose rich attire crept rustling to her knees" was Madeline in Keats, and that it was Tilburina (Sheridan) who came in stark mad in white satin. We had forgotten, however, that "Sometimes the little boy who calls me father brings me an invitation from his mother" was the first line of Barrie's Little White Bird.

To retain whatever good-will we have of our readers, perhaps we should put down the given answers to the questions in the first two paragraphs. Here they are: I. (a) Panama, (b) Venezuela, (c) Costa Rica and Salvador, (d) Brazil, (e) Haiti, (f) Paraguay, (g) Honduras, (h) Guatemala, (i) Peru, (j) Ecuador. II. (a) Dublin, (b) People's Republic of China, (c) Danzig, (d) Memel, (e) Morocco, (f) Oporto, (g) Lake Lucerne.

Why Not Hanging?

Since the hanging of Suchan and Jackson the sob-sisters of the Toronto press have suggested, with varying degrees of force, that capital punishment should be abolished in this country. As far as the evening papers of Toronto are concerned, this is a way of having their cake and eating it, for they made plenty of fuss and published plenty of pictures, to enlarge the hanging in the minds of their readers. Their protestations of fine feeling have a hollow ring. The suggestion of the Toronto Star that the hanging caused mental anguish to the other inmates of the Don Jail does not impress us, either; people who are especially suceptible to mental anguish can avoid a good deal of it by keeping out of jail. The whole attack on capital punishment, so far as it has gone, is sentimental and unimpressive.

There is a good case to be made against capital punishment, on ethical grounds, but the Toronto press does not care to make it or is unacquainted with it—or finds that sentiment pays better than reason.

There is a case to be made for capital punishment, as well, and we wonder why it is not more often stated. In Western countries the death penalty is carried out in several ways—by the axe (Germany) the mechanical chopper (France) the rope (Britain) and the electric chair (parts of the U.S.). We are informed that in all these methods save the last death is instantaneous. It is a terrible thing to put a fellow creature to death, but it is also a terrible thing to do murder, and that was what Suchan and Jackson had done. As the Ottawa Journal rightly says, there was little thought of Detective Tong in all this welter of sentimentality and Tong was certainly, by the judgement of this world, a man worth a score of Jacksons and Suchans. Violence begets violence, which is bad; when violence merely begets a sentimental maundering about murderers, we think that is worse. If we are to discuss the death penalty, let us discuss it on moral grounds, and not merely as a means of showing what fine feelings we profess.

Christmas And The News

Our issue of the Examiner today is not a thick one, and the news in it is chiefly of a fortuitous kind. This is not because we are not eager to find news; it is because so many of the people who make news are busy with domestic concerns. Statesmen, artists, philosophers, social lights, criminals and all those others about whom we customarily write are at home this week, and we hope that they are happily and innocently engaged.

Statesmen, artists, philosophers and social lights may be innocently engaged, we hear you say, but can a criminal enjoy Christmas? Well, why not?

> When the enterprising burglar's not > a-burgling,
> When the cut-throat isn't occupied in > crime,
> He loves to hear the little brook
> a-gurgling
> And listen to the merry village chime.

Thus writes the poet. No man is thoroughly bad all day, every day in the year. And if a rascal is going to relapse into comfortable virtue, he will probably do so on Boxing Day.

One Million Hours Without Accidents

The Canadian General Electric plant in Peterborough, the city's largest, this week has established a record of one million work hours without an accident. It is a record to boast of. How wonderful and happy would the city's Christmas be if, municipally, we could get through one million hours without a traffic accident. Reckoning on 40,000 people in town over Christmas, and a twelve-hour active day of celebration, a million hours free of accidents would take us safely through Christmas and Boxing Day.

NOTES AND COMMENT

Canadians do more telephone talking, per head, than any other people on earth, and too much of it begins "Bet you can't guess who this is!"

An economist complains that during the Christmas season Canadians spend a million dollars on perfume, which throws some light on why it is so hard to persuade a nice girl to marry an economist.

In a recent game a football player jumped out of his pants, reaching for a high pass. Our favourite player, however, remains that remarkable athlete who was reported to have "run around his own end".

Tito And The Vatican

By RICHARD LOWENTHAL
(who was recently in Yugoslavia)

YUGOSLAVIA'S DECISION to sever diplomatic relations with the Vatican and to ask for the withdrawal of the acting Apostolic Nuncio, Mgr. Oddi, has been widely interpreted abroad as proof that Marshal Tito's attitude to the Catholic Church does not differ from that taken by the Soviet Union and her satellite States. Yugoslavia's foreign policy, it is said, has broken away from the Stalinist fold; her internal regime and philosophy are still those of the Communist one-Party State, which makes a life and death struggle with the Church inevitable.

There is less truth in this view than one might think at first sight. In the course of the past few years, some of the conflicts between the Yugoslav Government and the Catholic hierarchy have certainly been caused by the inevitable clash between Catholic religion and Communist philosophy—particularly by their rivalry where the education of the young is concerned. But other and even more acute conflicts have been and are caused not by the similarities between Titoist and Stalin Communism, but by the differences in the Vatican's tactics towards both: the Vatican has persistently refused concessions to Tito which it has long granted to some of the satellite regimes, although Tito's demands have in fact been more moderate.

* * *

THE POPE'S decision to confer the dignity of a Cardinal on Mgr. Stepinac is the occasion, but not the cause, of the breach. The real conflicts have been in three fields—the education of the young, the recognition of Yugoslavia's frontiers and the development of the associations of priests loyal to the Yugoslav regime. It is instructive to compare the development of all three issues with the events in the East European satellite countries.

The analogy is closest in the case of education. Since the separation of Church and State in Yugoslavia, religious instruction is no longer part of the school curriculum, but is given by the priest outside the school. In law, parents are free to send or not to send their children to receive such instruction, as they please. In practice, there have been waves of Communist propaganda and pressure aimed at preventing Catholic parents, particularly in the villages, from making use of that right. The last big wave of that kind started early in 1951, which peasant opposition to the regime was strong for economic reasons and tended to find expression in religious demonstrations: the regime reacted with an anti-church campaign. The Bishops replied, as they would have in any other country, by calling on the faithful to have the courage to stand up for their faith and to send their children to the priests whatever the pressure. The Church was united on this issue, and it won. As the economic roots of peasant mass opposition disappeared with the reform of economic policy and the improved economic situation, the Government and the Party gradually understood that this type of anti-Church campaign only served to keep opposition alive and pressure against religious instruction abated correspondingly in 1952. By the time of the Communist Party congress last month, the leaders found it necessary to remind the rank-and-file that the new policy of toleration towards religion did not apply to Party members.

* * *

THE PICTURE is very different on the issue of Yugoslavia's frontiers with Italy. The Yugoslav authorities complain unceasingly that the Vatican is supporting Italian irredentism, both in the coastal province of Slovenia—the area adjoining Gorizia—as well as in the Croat part of Istria. It is a fact that although the frontier has been drawn by the Italian peace treaty, the Vatican has appointed only an apostolic administrator and no Bishop to the diocese of Novagorizia, thus making its view that the separation from Italian Gorizia is only provinsional. It is also a fact that Croat priests in Istria, who during the Italian occupation were ordered to abandon their traditional old Slav ritual and returned to it after the war, were told by Mgr. Oddi himself that such changes in ritual must not be made without direct permission from the Vatican. As for the Yugoslav-occupied Zone B of the Free Territory of Trieste, it is under the ecclesiastical jurisdiction of Bishop Santin of Trieste, who is a life-long supporter of Italian national claims.

It is instructive to compare this with the attitude of the Polish hierarchy to the former German territories east of the Oder and Neisse Rivers. Here, too, the Vatican has not appointed new Bishops pending the conclusion of a peace treaty. But it has permitted the Polish hierarchy to appoint new cathedral chapters and vicars-general for the whole area by agreement with the Polish Government, and even to conclude—in the spring of 1950—an agreement with that government, based on a declaration of loyalty and of support for the maintenance of the Western frontiers of post-war Poland. A declaration of this type would have been amply sufficient in Yugoslavia — but there, despite hints from the Government side, no such step was ever authorised by the Vatican or taken by the Croat and Slovene bishops. It is characteristic that the new Polish Cardinal, Archbishop Wyszinsky, is the author of that 1950 declaration, while the new Yugoslav Cardinal is the man whom the Yugoslav Government only recently amnestied after sentencing him on a charge of wartime collaboration with the occupying power.

* * *

FAILING A DECLARATION of loyalty from the Catholic hierarchy, Marshal Tito's Government has chosen the way of fostering "priests' leagues" which are meant to combine the tasks of a professional association with a declaration of loyalty to the Government. In Slovenia, half the priests have joined the "Cyril and Methodius Association"* in Bosnia, the majority of the priests are now members of the Dobri Pastir (Good Shepherd) League. The Leagues have not attacked the hierarchy, nor do they aim at a separation from Rome; their members are good Catholics who recognise the spiritual authority of their superiors. Nor are they asked by the Government—and that is where the difference between the new Yugoslav Communism and the Stalinist model comes in—to turn the Churches into propaganda halls and call on the people to participate in elections or to do their duty in a production campaign. All the Government wants is an assurance that they will loyally accept the permanence of the regime and its frontiers.

It is the recent attacks of the hierarchy on these priests' associations which must be considered the real root of the present conflict. Most of the Bishops had always considered membership of the priests' associations as "inexpedient", but had never banned it; the associations actually asked the Bishops to accept their statutes and negotiated on details for some time. Then, at the end of September, a Bishops' conference held at Zagreb decided to declare the founding and joining of such associations as impermissible and not merely inexpedient. The Government believes that this was done under instruction from the Vatican. Since then, the priests' associations have carried on, and their membership seems still to be increasing. But it is likely that the Yugoslav Government had been considering the breach with the Vatican ever since then.

* * *

IN SOME OF THE EASTERN European satellite States the regimes are making increasing attempts, despite the concessions made by the hierarchy, to intervene directly in the organisation of the Church, to appoint Church dignitaries and to promote a formal separation from Rome. In Poland, despite the agreement mentioned before, several Bishops have just been arrested for encouraging a parents' vote in favour of religious instruction. There is no indication so far that Marshal Tito's regime intends any similar interference with the internal organisation of the Church. All the charges made in connection with the present breach with the Vatican refer to alleged Vatican interference with political issues, such as the frontiers of Yugoslavia and the question of the priests' associations.

The truth seems to be that the Vatican, knowing Yugoslavia's dependence on Western aid, is attempting to put a stiffer pressure on Marshal Tito's regime than it would dare to put on any of the the Moscow satellites. But for the same reason it is unlikely that Tito's reaction, even after the breach, will go as far as that of the Eastern European regimes.

Letters To The Editor

WHAT WAS THE TONG'S CHRISTMAS?

Sir: In answer to One Citizen about the Jackson and Suchan case, I would like to ask the party if it so happened it was one his family that was shot by the above two, would he still feel the same? If it were not for the law and our laws of hanging there would be many more Jacksons and Suchans, to take the joy out of life. They, to my judgement, got just what they deserved. As I am sure Mrs. Tong and family will not have the Christmas they would have if Mr. Tong were still alive. So our dear reader had better think again and should know that our police have a duty to perform if a lot more of us want to have a Merry Christmas. And if he or she is such a fool as they expressed in your paper why do they buy it? Nobody is twisting their arm.

ANOTHER READER

TWO FOR ONE

Sir: I read the article in your paper about Suchan and Jackson. Both of them were hanged. How is it that two lives were taken for one? Also left them hanging for an hour after they were dead.

How is it that Evelyn Dick and several others got off? Was it because of her looks or money?

If it had of been some immigrants instead of Suchan and Jackson, they probably would have gotten off.

I read some time ago about an immigrant breaking in a store and stealing money when he already had a few thousand in the bank, and he got off. I know of a Canadian that was put in jail for stealing a chicken. Was it because he was a real Canadian. If there soon isn't a change of system in the Canadian laws there will be several more like Suchan and Jackson.

DEFENDS CAROL SINGERS

Sir: In regard to your letter of December 16, "Carol Singing a Mockery of Religion." We would like to inform "Disgusted Citizen" that the carolers who sang on the past two weeks, were under excellent supervision by a man with a high degree of music. The costumes worn by them were just representations of the dress of earlier times.

Our collegiate is not trying to produce fine quality singers but merely training them to enjoy good music. If our singing is a mockery, why is it that the choir was asked to give a recital of Christmas and sacred music at a church last Sunday?

Sir, can you think of a better way to explain the true reason for Christmas? We believe this one way of praising God, even as the shepherds did in Luke 2:20.

We appreciate your letter because it is the only way you or the public have of expressing their opinions about our group. We would be grateful for more letters from our listeners.

Your respectfully,
DAVID G. ANDREWS,
THEO. G. COLLINS.

At Least Three Children

(United Nations World)

The Archbishop of Canterbury, who has six sons, recently urged members of the British Mothers Union to have more children. His argument: "A family must have at least three children to be of public use. The single child makes all decisions alone. Two children, when they quarrel, are evenly split. But if there are three children, they can vote and arrive at a majority decision. After all, the family is supposed to be the basic unit of democracy . . . "

Bible Message

(From the Authorized Version)

Thus saith God the Lord, he that created the heavens, and stretched them out; he that spread forth the earth, and that which cometh out of it; he that giveth breath unto the people upon it, and spirit to them that walk therein . . . I am the Lord; that is my name: and my glory will I not give to another, neither my praise to graven images. Behold, the former things are come to pass, and new things do I declare: before they spring forth I tell you of them. (Isa. 42: 5, 8, 9.)

* * *

Ye are my witnesses, saith the Lord, and my servant whom I have chosen: that ye may know and believe me, and understand that I am he: before me there was no God formed, neither shall there be after me. I, even I, am the Lord; and beside me there is no saviour. I have declared, and have saved, and I have shewed, when there was no strange god among you: therefore ye are my witnesses, saith the Lord, that I am God. (Isa. 43: 10-12.)

The two commercial travellers were discussing the careless manner in which trunks and suitcases were handled by some railway companies.

"I had a very cute idea for preventing that once," said one of them, smiling reminiscently. "I labelled each of my bags 'With Care—China'."

"And did that have any effect?"

"Well, I don't know; you see, they shipped the whole darn lot to Hong Kong."

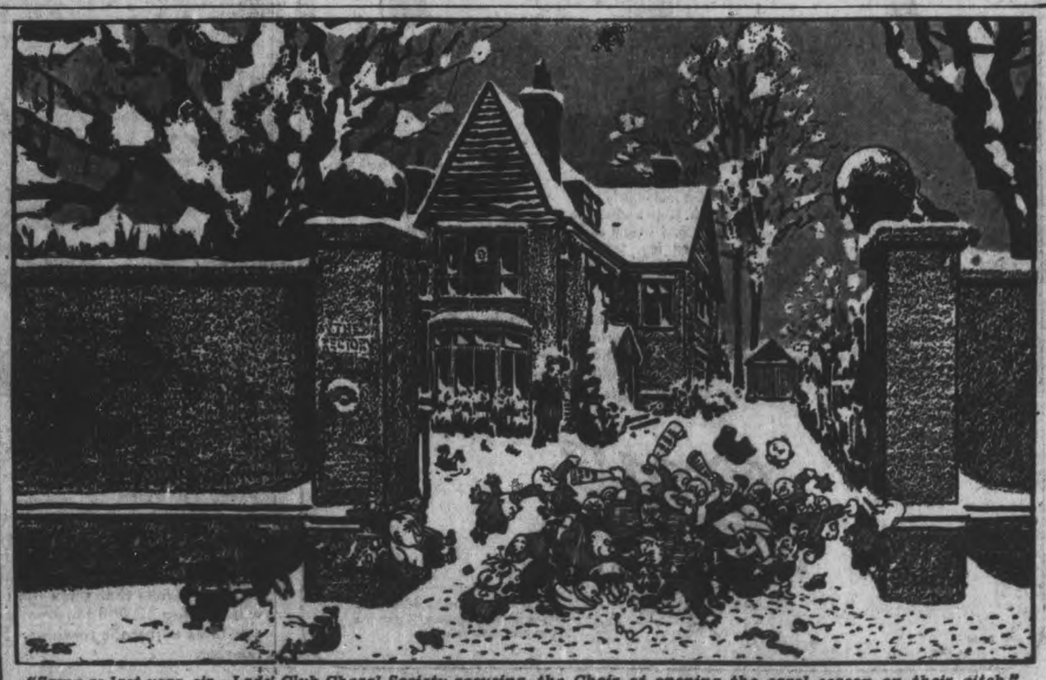
Toward Atomic Benefits

(Brantford Expositor)

Announcement by Rt. Hon. C. D. Howe that the Government of Canada is preparing for commercial use of atomic energy in this country within the next five years is stimulating. The expectation is that atomic energy will be providing power in much the same way and for the same purposes as electricity.

This opens up great and probably revolutionary possibilities. It may even lead, in the more distant future, to the supplanting of hydro-electric, steam and other power resources and systems. It is not likely, of course, that the present large and rapidly expanding hydro-electric plant in Canada, and Ontario and Quebec in particular, will be scrapped over night! Even so a trend is indicated. Great and helpful changes are envisaged. Indeed the potential value and application of atomic power in the commercial and domestic fields seem almost limitless. It may, provided no global war engulfs and mutilates humanity, bring into existence a brave new world in which mankind can enjoy advantages undreamed of except in the most fertile and optimistic imaginations.

It is most gratifying to find Canadian scientists—and Canadian statemen—alert to what can be done and prepared to take a lead in doing it.



"Same as last year, sir—Lads' Club Choral Society accusing the Choir of opening the carol season on their pitch."

ELIZABETHAN COIN—Finance Minister Abbott strikes the first Canadian coin bearing the profile of Queen Elizabeth. He was presented with the one-cent coin by W. C. Ronson, master of the mint. The new coins will be in all chartered banks ready for distribution early in January. The workman with Mr. Abbott is Bernard Seguin, of Ottawa.

Traffic Takes Toll In U.S. Christmas

CHICAGO (AP) — Traffic accidents took a heavy death toll in the United States during the Christmas holiday. An all-time high for a four-day holiday period was indicated if the current trend continues.

The traffic toll mounted steadily through Christmas Eve and Christmas Day and passed the 200-mark early today. The record high traffic fatalities for a four-day Christmas holiday numbered 555 in 1936.

Since 6 p. m. Wednesday, the violent death toll included 225 in automobile accidents; 20 in fires—none resulting from Christmas trees—and 29 in mishaps of miscellaneous nature. The record accidental death toll during the extended Christmas holiday was 789 last year. The traffic total was 535.

Entertain Troops

IN KOREA (CP)—A Vancouver singer and accordion team entertained Canadian troops in Korea on Christmas Day. Loraine Richards and Nels C. Karleen sang and played for the troops in gun battery positions and in rear echelons not far from the front lines. They made at least eight scheduled appearances between swift jeep rides and received rousing receptions everywhere.

Faith In Future Reaffirmed By Messages At Christmas

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Christendom's faith in a brighter future and in the triumph of goodwill was reaffirmed yesterday in Christmas messages by world leaders and in prayers of people everywhere.

Even on the cold, snowed-in battlefields of Korea, the burden of war was lightened a bit by recollection of the promise the day holds for mankind.

Queen Elizabeth II, broadcasting her first Christmas message, added her prayers for brotherhood. She urged the people of the Commonwealth to "work for tolerance and understanding among the nations and to use the tremendous forces of science and learning for the betterment of man's lot upon this earth."

The 26-year-old sovereign added: "Above all, we must keep alive that courageous spirit of adventure that is the finest quality of youth; and by youth I do not just mean those who are young in years, I mean, too, all those who are young in heart. . ."

The Queen spoke from the royal county estate of Sandringham, where the royal family spent a quiet Christmas.

Queen Juliana of the Netherlands broadcast similar greetings to her subjects and expressed confidence that peace would prevail if everyone realized the futility of war.

The gaiety that made Christmas a truly merry holiday in many parts of the world was lacking along the bleak Korean front and in the dismal marshlands of Indo-China, where French union troops and Communist-led Vietminh rebels were locked in battle.

The French reported success in mopping up rebel units about 70 miles southeast of Hanoi in north Indo-China. At least 375 Vietminh were killed and 500 captured in a three-day operation, the French army said, but heavy fighting was still going on Thursday night.

A temporary understanding between Jews and Arabs in the divided Holy Land eased the way for pilgrims flocking to Bethlehem and Jerusalem to worship at the hallower place where Christ was born. Hundreds of persons came from abroad for the special services.

In Communist - controlled East Germany, the people were told by a Red Army newspaper that Russia had given them the biggest Christmas gift of all — Joseph Stalin.

In Korea the mutter of cannon died completely on the Sniper Ridge sector. Communist loudspekers on that stretch of the central front announced firing would cease until noon "in observance of your Christmas."

Another division in the central sector found toys, candies, dolls and "Merry Christmas" banners out in front of their lines, placed there in the dark by Reds.

On the western part of the front, astonished Allied watchers saw a decorated Christmas tree in front of their positions with crudely-written signs wishing them a merry Christmas.

Communist loudspeakers, which earlier this week were boasting the Reds would be in Seoul by Christmas day, played carols.

Newfoundland Challenging Attention Of The World; Plan Big Real Estate Deal

St. John's, Nfld. (CP) — Joe Smallwood predicted 15 years ago that Newfoundland would "blossom forth as a mining country whose importance will challenge the attention of the world."

Although not then in a position to help fate, his prophecy, made in his authoritative "Book of Newfoundland," is certainly nearing reality.

The other day the energetic premier returned from London, declaring Newfoundland is on the threshold of a development project—"the biggest real estate deal on this continent in the present century."

Now, as head of his government, he can help his prophecies come true. He announced he has the international banking house of N. M. Rothschild and Sons to help him.

TIMBER AND MINES

Mr. Smallwood represented the province at recent London talks. With him were Labor Minister Charles H. Ballam and Dr. Alfred A. Valdmanis, director-general of economic development. He said field parties will begin exploration of Newfoundland and Labrador as soon as the Rothschild agreement is ratified.

Until then details of the agreement will not be made public. They are believed, however, to centre about timber and mining development. Unlike other development schemes the Newfoundland and Labrador Corporation—the government's economic arm—had nothing to do with this plan.

Mr. Smallwood, 52, on Dec. 24, visualizes Newfoundland becoming a great industrial centre, with mining—particularly the production of iron ore—replacing fishing as the province's chief industry.

Since confederation with Canada in 1949, this has happened:

Newfoundland's biggest bonanza —Labrador iron—has been brought closer to development. The multi-million-dollar Labrador - Quebec iron ore development program—already under way—is expected some day to move 10,000,000 tons of ore annually out of the Ungava and central Labrador regions to steel plants in Canada and the United States.

A $3,000,000 cement plant and a gypsum plant have been erected on the West coast, a birch processing plant near St. John's, and a large tannery in Carbonear, on the Avalon Peninsula. A $5,000,000 machine and tool plant is under costruction near St. John's.

Five British companies began probing for minerals this year and four have started work. At least two other companies are interested in Labrador's fabulous timber potentialities.

John Fox, youthful Boston financier, has had drilling crews searching for oil on the island's West Coast for two years. He says he is hopeful.

PLENTY OF POWER

Power for future industries, says Premier Smallwood, is no problem. The Hamilton river, which swirls into Goose Bay in Labrador, has a potential of 10,000,000 horsepower. Coal lies underground in untold tons.

The Newfoundland government, which before confederation derived more than half its revenues from customs tariffs, now looks forward to prosperity without them. It exports large quantities of newsprint and iron ore. The Bowaters pulp and paper mill at Corner Brook is the world's biggest. Another large mill, owned by the Anglo - Newfoundland Development Company, is at Grand Falls.

Iron ore, mined at Bell Island, is exported to Sydney, where it is smelted by the Dominion Steel and Coal Corporation.

Truman Pardons Two Politicians

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Truman has granted a full pardon to Andrew J. May, former Kentucky member of Congress who served nine months in prison on his conviction of accepting bribes for influence in awarding of munitions contracts.

The action, returning citizenship rights to May, was disclosed Thursday by the justice department. May headed the House of Representatives military affairs committee for many years. He is a Democrat.

Truman also signed a Christmas pardon for J. Parnell Thomas, former Republican house member from New Jersey who once was chairman of the un-American activities committee. Thomas served a prison term for padding his government office payroll.

196 Days On Flagpole

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP)—William L. (Happy) Howard, 34, Thursday climbed down from a flagpole-sitting record of 196 days. Howard, a carnival performer, said the old flagpole-sitting record was 152 days set in San Francisco last year by Emma Leach of Eugene. Ore.

$500 Bond For Secret On White House Tub

WASHINGTON (AP) — Herman Perlman's secret, which won him a $500 U. S. bond when he disclosed it on a television network, is engraved in the White House —and on a bath tub.

But it may be that even President Truman, whose tub it is, didn't know about it until Perlman told the story Thursday night on the CBS-TV program, "I've got a Secret."

Perlman, who owns a glass-carving business, was hired to carve designs on the glass panels of five bath tubs when the White House was renovated.

He worked out appropriate designs.

Then, on the back side of a panel of the President's tub, where it can't be seen because the panel is sealed against a wall, he carved the special message which Perlman says he "just thought up." It reads:

When your house is gone,
And all's a wreck,
Will you pass the hat
Or accept our check?

What is a Catholic?

Why are Catholics certain theirs is the "only" religion? Why are they forbidden to read or see certain books, plays, movies? How does the Church explain its stand on divorce? Why does it oppose artificial birth control?

In January Reader's Digest, John Cogley, a noted Catholic layman, answers the most frequently asked questions about his faith. He corrects false ideas about Catholicism (Catholics don't believe the Pope can do no wrong, don't think only Catholics go to heaven); and explains often-misinterpreted concepts such as the Mass, purgatory, confession.

Marciano Named Fighter Of '52 By Ring Paper

NEW YORK (AP)—Rocky Marciano of Brockton, Mass., world heavyweight champion, was named Ring Magazine's "Fighter of the Year" in 1952 and unbeaten Chuck Davey of East Lansing, Mich., a welter contender, was voted the "Ring Progress Trophy" today as Nat Fleischer, editor of the Ring Magazine, issued his annual ratings.

Fleischer warned that television was rapidly making boxing "just another puppet show" as he estimated boxing's radio-TV receipts amount to $4,800,000 and actual gate receipts dipped to approximately $4,600,000 in 1952. In 1951 boxing receipts were $5,100,000 with another $2,000,000 from radio and TV.

According to Fleischer's statistics, a total of 17 boxing fatalities were registered in the world. Ten of the 17 were amateurs and only one of the seven deaths of ring professionals occurred in the United States.

JERSEY JOE SECOND

In the heavyweight division behind Marciano, the 1952 rankings listed Jersey Joe Walcott of Camden, N.J., as first in line, followed by another former champ, Ezzard Charles. Rex Layne of Lewiston, Utah, was No. 3 and Roland La Starza of New York No. 4.

Fleischer still listed Sugar Ray Robinson as middleweight champ despite his retirement. Randy Turpin of England was listed No. 1 contender with Carl (Bobo) Olson of Honolulu, Charles Humez of France and Ernie Durando of Bayonne, N.J., following in that order. He suggested a tournament in which Turpin would meet Humez and Olson would fight Durando with the two winners battling for the crown.

Archie Moore of San Diego, Cal., was recognized as new lightheavyweight king, and Joey Maxim, former champ, as the No. 1 contender. Harold Johnson of Philadelphia was No. 2.

KID RULES WELTERS

Kid Gavilan of Havana, who was runner-up to Marciano in the "Fighter - of - the - Year" competition was the undisputed welter ruler. Bobby Dykes of San Antonio, Tex., was promoted to No. 1 contender after Johnny Bratton's upset loss to Tiger Jones. Davey was ranked fifth.

Sandy Saddler of New York, the only champ who did not defend his title during 1952, retained his position among the feathers because he was in the army. Ray Famechon of France was No. 1 with Tom Collins of Boston moving up to No. 2 after his knockout win over Willie Pep.

Jimmy Carruthers of Australia, new bantam champion after his win over Vic Toweel, was cited for one of the big upsets of the year. Jake Tuli of Africa's Gold Coast also was given special mention for his advance from the novice class to win the British Empire flyweight title in his 10th pro fight.

College All-Stars Tie After Aerial Duel

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—The most thrilling battle in the five-year history of the North South college all-star football game ended in a 21-21 deadlock Thursday night after a tense aerial duel starring Maryland's All-America Jack Scarbath and Purdue's Dale Samuels.

Scarbath saved the cause of the South when, with just 20 seconds to go, he uncorked a long pass to Missouri's halfback Jim Hook in a scoring play that covered 64 yards.

Just 38 seconds before that, a yelling record-sized crowd of 42,866 saw the great passing combination that won Purdue a share of the Big Ten football championship—Samuels to Bernard Flowers—click for a touchdown that shot the North into a 21-14 lead.

Sedgman-McGregor Aussie Doubles Team

ADELAIDE (AP)—The Australians probably will pit their strongest team of Frank Sedgman and Ken McGregor against the Americans in the Davis Cup challenge round beginning Monday.

Earlier it was thought that the Aussies might use Mervyn Rose with Sedgman in the singles and save McGregor for the doubles as they did in their successful defence of the cup a year ago.

It now appears that rose has "had it." In an obvious test match with three Australian selectors watching, Rose dropped the first set to McGregor 5-7 then suddenly quit the court when trailing 1-3 in the second set.

Hah, the tumult and the fuss is oe'r till we take junk back to exchange at the store! Ah, well, it's better to give than to receive, anyway, someone once said. We give stuff and we get stuff—and sometimes it's the same blink-blank stuff we get this year that we gave two Christmases ago. Not good, but it averages out. The canny merchants take a day off after Christmas to give folks that much longer to maybe change their minds about exchanging stuff—but the cannier giftees are there just the same next day demanding a $1.98 towel for that $1.49 vase. A lot of ducking, parrying and sidestepping on both sides. Yes, it's Boxing Day even if a day late.

* * * * * *

Speaking of boxing, we get a kick out of the ring rhubarb arising from the recent scrap between Graham and Giardello across the line. The scrap was ruled a 10-round decision for Giardello, but one Bob Christenberry (a tasty monicker around Christmas, huh)? up and over-ruled the decision and gave the verdict to Graham. This Christenberry character is chairman of the N.Y. Boxing Commish, and his action right after the bout was applauded by the fans. However, there are threats on all sides of lawsuits and whatnot since he over-ruled the voting of the two appointed ring judges and the ref. The latter, a 63-year-old former boxer, said sadly: "If I can't call them as I see them, what's the good of it?"

* * * * * *

The Tin-Eared Industry

A rhubarb is nothing new in the cauliflower patch in which prizefighter pugs bloom. We did a bit of amateur boxing, we covered plenty of fight cards, and we've seen a lot of pro scraps. The manly art of self defence, as the Marquis of Queensbury dubbed it, has down through the years become the sour science, as the late Damon Runyon referred to ring warfare around New York. It isn't the fault of the fine young fighters coming up, nor even that of the scramble-brained veterans who retire to become ring seconds, promoters, timers or referees. No, the smooth gamblers—with their gangsters available when needed—have pretty nearly ruined this sport. The said gamblers never stood in there with gloves on in their lives and took an even chance of a beating. No wonder some odd decisions are given.

* * * * * *

Personally, we're sorry to see the mitt game declining, as it seems to be doing. That's certainly true of Peterborough, and most of Ontario, not to mention fields further away. Well we know that lots of our readers think this is all to the good, fighting being such a nasty business or sport—whichever you wish to call it. Yet, it can be a good manly sport with plenty of skill and conditioning needed. And fighting is so much a part of the human picture that we'll always have wars. You say that lacrosse or hockey or football are better? Sure, but you fans are right up on your feet at these games when two players start slugging it out in a real fist fight, aren't you?

* * * * * *

Time To Start Rolling

No hockey here the rest of this week, but OHA senior "B" action returns to Civic Arena on Monday night. It'll be Orillia vs. the Petes, with just a point separating these squads in the group standing. The schedule is about half over now and both of these clubs must start climbing consistently from here in if they hope to make playoff spots. Yes, you wouldnt think so many games had been played—it being such a mild winter so far—but Petes' first game was Oct. 31 and here it is coming up to the end of December. Schedule winds up Feb. 21, with group semi-finals following immediately. No time left for fooling around in this keen loop race.

Junior Oddfellows are idle till Jan. 2, a week from today, when Cobourg Jays strut their stuff here. Of the junior setup, Mike Rodden of Kingston remarks: "Past performances indicate that Belleville, Peterborough and Kingston will not be displaced from the first division, but prospects are not too bright that the Lindsay Warriors will cross the finish line ahead of the Oshawa entry. Belleville Hawks, stressing attack, are called to retain first place all the way. The Vics boast the best defence in the series and could fare well during the 1953 drive." Hm, isn't Lindsay crowding the Vics pretty closely now—and aren't the second-place Oddfellows doing pretty well just back of Belleville?

Dealing 'Em Off Ye Cuff

Walt Smillie says the six PMHA games next week will be run off on New Year's night, commencing at five....Lindsay juniors earlier in the week edged Oshawa 3-2 in Bowmanville....While the Lindsay intermediates downed Port Hope 7-4 for the loop lead....We noted a heading in the Lindsay Post saying: "200 Goals, 200 Stitches Lindsay's Record"; however, it wasn't referring to a Scugog squad but to Ted Lindsay of Detroit Wings....Jean Marc Beliveau says he's glad to be back with Quebec Aces, which might indicate he has no intention of stepping up to the NHL....Milt Schmidt is still a great centre with Boston Bruins, though 33 years old and in his 13th NHL season....He spent three years in the army overseas....Several local chaps went to Hamilton to see Arn Dugan perform the last time Brantford played there....No pro wrestling here next week, and no word yet on any basketball activity....Miss Margo Norris at 25 is the only woman president of a National League club—Detroit Wings—and also the youngest prexy in the circuit....Time to start exchanging gifts again, but this time with the stores.

IT WAS A GREAT FIGHT, MOM—Looking like they'd been in a street fight, Johnny Strzykalski, left, and Frankie Albert in San Francisco's St. Mary's Hospital tell each other about their operations. Strzykalski had his nose broken eight times. His 49er team-mate had his remodelled after 17 years in football. Both have retired.

LISTS GIARDELLO WINNER

NEW YORK (AP)—The 1953 Ring Record Book will list Joey Giardello official winner of the controversial bout with Billy Graham, Editor Nat Fleischer said Thursday.

In so doing, Fleischer disagreed with the action of Robert Christenberry, chairman of the New York state athletic commission. Christenberry changed the card of judge Joe Agnello to reverse an original decision which favored Giardello.

Fleischer said the unusual incident will be covered by an explanatory note.

The Brantford team announced Wednesday night that Tommy Gorman, manager of the Ottawa club, has agreed to release Fraser. He may play with Brantford against Kitchener-Waterloo Dutchmen tonight.

SAY CANUCK HIT REF

DENVER (AP)—Frank Devitt, president of the Rocky Mountain Hockey Officials' Association, said Thursday a protest is being prepared over the conduct of Johnny McKenne.l, University of Michigan player, in a game Tuesday night. McKennell, 22, is a senior from Toronto.

Rev. Arthur Pierpont of Colorado Springs, president of the regional hockey officials, said referee Mike Yalich reported McKennell "struck him three times" in protesting a decision about a goal which gave Denver University a 5-4 victory over the Wolverines.

ARMY OKAYS NECCIAI

PITTSBURGH (AP)—Mixed in with his Christmas cards is a notice from his selective service board that rookie pitcher Ron Necciai of Pittsburgh Pirates is "acceptable for military service."

At his home in nearby Monongahela, Necciai said he has no idea when he may be called for army duty.

The 20-year-old righthander who was a strikeout sensation in the minors before being called up by the Bucs late last season has been troubled by stomach ulcers. He also suffered a punctured ear drum while swimming last summer.

TRAINER AIDED COMEBACK

Easter said it was Freddy Rogers, a one-time handler for heavyweight contender Johnny Risko, who cured him of two bad knees last summer. Luke says a linament made by Rogers was used.

Luke was in such poor shape last June that his batting average dropped to .209 and the Tribe had to send him down to Indianapolis for a spell. After his return he finished the season with .263.

CARDS SIGN SIX MORE

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Six more members of St. Louis Cardinals have signed their 1953 contracts, the club announced Thursday.

The latest to sign were pitchers Eddie Yuhas and Stu Miller, outfielder Larry Miggins, third-baseman Ray Jablonski and pitchers Dick Bokelmann and Bobby Tiefenauer.

This brings the total number of satisfied Cardinals to 17.

Jablonski, the "Rookie of the Year" in the International League during 1952, is considered as one of the top candidates for the Cardinals' third-base job.

Musial Titled Top NL Slugger

NEW YORK (AP)—Stan Musial had another title under his belt today with the release of the final set of official National League statistics for 1952.

The St. Louis Cardinals' stalwart compiled the highest slugging percentage for the sixth straight year. His average last season, .538, was somewhat under par for the outfielder-first baseman who holds the NL slugging record of .579.

Hank Sauer of Chicago Cubs was second with a .531 average followed by Ted Kluszewski of Cincinnati, .509, Ralph Kiner of Pittsburgh and Brooklyn's Gil Hodges, .500 each, Duke Snider, Brooklyn .495 and Sid Gordon, Boston, .483.

Kiner, for the second straight year, received the most bases on balls, 110.

Rookie Eddie Mathews of the Boston Braves struck out the most times, 115.

Bears Move Up On 3-2 Victory

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

The Hershey Bears Christmas night dislodged the Pittsburgh Hornets from second place in the American Hockey League, thanks to a bullet-shot by coach Murray Henderson which gave the Bears a 3-2 edge.

In the only other AHL game played, the sixth-place Providence Reds struck for three goals in the final period to score a 3-1 victory over the cellar-dwelling Buffalo Bisons.

At Hershey, Henderson let his tie-breaking shot go from the blue line. The Hornets had taken the lead in the opening frame when Bill Marshall scored.

Andy Branigan tied it for the Bears in the second and put them ahead in the third, only to have Lorne Ferguson's goal tie it again for the Hornets.

At Providence, after a scoreless first period, Murdo McKay took a pass from defenceman Ross Lowe and scored from close in to give the Bisona 1-0 lead.

Pete Kapusta opened the Reds' winning drive at 5:36 of the finale and then Jean-Paul Denis struck for two in less than four minutes to clinch it for Providence

Rangers Dump Bruins 2-1 To Extend String Of Christmas Day Victories

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Santa Claus is a regular Christmas-night travelling companion of the New York Rangers. The Broadway Blues, currently in the cellar of the National Hockey League, added to the lustre of a unique Christmas record Thursday night as they dropped Boston Bruins 2-1 in Beantown.

The Rangers' Christmas night record now stands at 17 wins, one tie and three defeats in the last 22 years.

Detroit Red Wings, with Ralph Almas substituting for injured goalie Terry Sawchuk, received a Christmas package containing two goals from forward Gordie Howe in the third period of a game with Chicago Black Hawks. Howe's effort gave Detroit a 3-3 tie and boosted their league lead to five points, the most held by any team this season. It was the fifth tie in a row for Detroit at home.

Sawchuk, injured in practice Wednesday, will be lost to the Wings for several games.

Physicians said a small bone, on the inside of the right instep, was broken. The foot was placed in a cast.

Eagle-eye Al Rollins picked handfuls of rubber out of the air in the second and third periods trying to save Chicago's 3-1 lead. The single point moved the Black Hawks into a second-place tie with Montreal Canadiens.

SECOND SHUTOUT

Harry Lumley, the man who replaced Rollins in the Toronto goal, earned his second shutout in 34 games this season as he frustrated Montreal Canadiens with a brilliant display of netminding in Toronto Christmas Eve. The 2-0 win came on Leaf goals in the third period after Lumley's single-handed battle.

Joe Klukay put Boston one up in the first period but Ed Slowinski tied it up in the second with his second goal of the season. Paul Ronty scored the winner for the Rangers midway through the last period. The loss may be costly for the Bruins as defenceman Hal Laycoe, who missed the last eight games, re-injured his ankle on the Ronty scoring play and had to retire.

Ted Lindsay scored the other Detroit goal and earned assists on both Howe counters. Bill Mosienko not[illegible] two for Chicago in the first per[illegible] and Clarence (Rags) Raglan [illegible]led the other in the second.

In Toronto Gordie Hannigan and left-winger Harry Watson were goal-getters as the Maple Leafs gave 12,474 home-town fans a Christmas thrill. The win over their old enemies from Montreal moved the Leafs into a fourth-place tie with Boston Bruins.

There are no NHL games tonight but Saturday Detroit is at Montreal and Boston comes to Toronto.

The session ended at dawn as the assembly voted down a proposal by Russia's Andrei Gromyko condemning the United States for brutal treatment of Red prisoners of war.

Martin-Lewis Team Hits Top Of Ladder

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — After six years together, the mad team of Dean Martin and Jerry Lewis has hit the top of the entertainment ladder. They were chosen the No. 1 box office winners in the annual poll of theatre men by the Motion Picture Herald.

The young zanies replaced John Wayne, winner last year but No. 3 in 1952. Another veteran of westerns, Gary Cooper, slipped into second spot.

Following them, in order are: Bing Crosby, Bob Hope, James Stewart, Doris Day, Gregory Peck, Susan Hayward, Randolph Scott.

The Martin and Lewis triumph is a spectacular climax to two flashy careers. Three years ago the two were unknown to the general public, although making big money in night clubs. Producer Hal Wallis broke them in with supporting roles in a couple of "My Friend Irma" pictures. But the first indication of their worth came when they did an independent film, "At War With the Army." It was made for a paltry $355,000 and grossed a fantastic $4,000,000.

GIVE REASONS

Among reasons given by oldtimers here for the pair's success:

1. Jerry Lewis is an amazingly inventive genius of comedy. Born and bred in show business, his timing is instinctive and flawless.

2. Dean Martin is a rarity in comedy teams — he also has a romantic appeal. He looks like an Italian Cary Grant and sings psuedo-Crosby.

3. Both are young. The advent of television brought a realization that most of the established comedians are middle - aged men. TV (which played a prime role in the Martin and Lewis story) demanded more youth.

Their own explanation of their success:

"I think it boils down to one thing, people want to laugh," said Jerry, the skinny, crew - cut member of the team.

Martin's answer: "People want to laugh. And I'm working with the funniestman in the world — Jerry Lewis."

"Man On The Ferry" Hopes Vainly To Leave

HONG KONG (AP) — Michael Patrick O'Brien, the man on the ferry, made a couple of Christmas wishes but Santa couldn't pull them out of the bag.

Over a glass of brandy in the darkened salon of the ferry Lee Hong he wished:

1. That he could get off the ferry, which plies between Hong Kong and the Portuguese colony of Macau. (But he can't, because he has no passport and no country to claim him. He says he is an American but the United States says he is a Hungarian.)

O'Brien, who has been living aboard the ferry for the past three months, told his troubles to a couple of correspondents who called on him Christmas Eve.

O'Brien said he once served a hitch in the United States Army. How come he doesn't have papers to prove it?

Well, he said, pouring himself another brandy, how was he able to see 40 years ahead when he would need them to help him get off the Macau-Hong Kong ferry?

Unhappy Father Of Triplets Admits Triangle

NEW YORK (CP)—Benjamin De Stefano, 31-year-old longshoreman, became the father of triplets Tuesday but he's not happy about it.

He admitted gloomily Wednesday that the mother of the triplets is not his wife. His legal spouse has seven other children fathered by De Stefano. And to make the whole tale more amazing, the mother of the triplets has seven more children fathered by the longshoreman. That's a grand total of 17 kids with two mothers and the same father.

"Trouble, trouble, trouble," De Stefano muttered sadly in the kitchen of his $20-a-month cold-water flat in Brooklyn. With him was his legal wife, Philomena, who said she is determined not to give De Stefano up to the other woman, who calls herself Carmella De Stefano.

"She knew he was married two weeks after she met him," said Philomena. "I'm married to him and she isn't. I'll never give him up."

De Stefano said he began fathering two families soon after he met Carmella at a dance in 1944.

The squat, beefy man, five-foot-five, said he doesn't know what to do.

Even without the mental distress, De Stefano's labor on the docks is uncertain, bringing in only $50 to $55 a week.

"I'm worried that people will say I ruined that girl's life," he said, referring to Carmella. "That's the last thing in the world I want to do."

Crushed By Car Mich. Man Dies

ALVINSTON (CP)—A Michigan man who was thrown from his car in an intersection crash south of here Thursday was killed when his vehicle hurtled into a five-foot ditch on top of him.

Police said Stewart McCabe, 40, of Centre Line, Mich., died of a crushed chest, apparently inflicted by the wheels of his own car.

Six others, including McCabe's daughter, Elaine, 10, were injured in the two-car collision 4½ miles south of here.

Injured in the second car were its driver, Alphonse Silvester, 30, of R.R. 1 Inwood, bruises and shock; his wife, June, shock; Joseph, six, ankle cuts; Patricia, seven, right knee injury and Brenda, five, forehead cuts. Patricia Silvester and the McCabe child were admitted to hospital. The others were released after treatment.

Bailed In Slaying, Dancer Still Working

DALLAS (AP)—A shapely night club dancer out on a $5,000 bail in a recent Dallas slaying will open a week's engagement at a night club here tonight.

Billie Shannae, 23, charged with murder in the fatal shooting of Alfred Rosenfield Jr., 38, describes herself as an exotic dancer.

Also charged in the fatal shooting is Roscoe Ails, 54, a night club comedian.

Rosenfield's bullet-riddled body was found last Sunday morning in Ails' apartment. Ails has said he shot Rosenfield in self-defence.

Miss Shonnae was arrested the next afternoon in Oklahoma. A neighbor of Ails' told police she saw a brunette woman leave Ails' apartment after hearing shots.

Ottawa Offers "No Comment"

QUEBEC (CP) — Prime Minister St. Laurent Thursday night said he had heard of Stalin's offer to meet President-elect Eisenhower of the United States but had no specific comment to make immediately.

He said he hoped that the heads of states understood that humanity needed their goodwill to put an end to world tension before true world peace could be realized.

At Ottawa, Canada's United Nations officials withheld comment pending further study of the answers given by Stalin to a series of questions about world conditions submitted to him by the New York Times.

Both Health Minister Martin, who has been heading Canada's delegation to the United Nations since External Affairs Minister Pearson took over the presidency of the UN, and Mr. Pearson, declined comment.

Mr. Pearson said he might possibly have something to say after studying the questions and answers.

Japan Jails Reds

TOKYO (AP) — The Tokyo District Court today sentenced seven Japanese Communists, convicted of spying on United States forces during the Allied occupation, to one year in prison each but it stayed execution of the sentence for two years.

Pays Fines For 15

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (AP)—An unknown Santa Claus handed out gifts of freedom to 15 prisoners who didn't have enough money to pay small fines here Wednesday night. The stranger paid fines totalling $138 at the Fairfield and Southside jail. He didn't wait to receive the thanks of the men he set free.

CPR Studies Boost For Train Employees

MONTREAL (CP)—A spokesman for the Canadian Pacific Railway Company said Thursday night it will be a few days before the line's dining, buffet and cafe car employees and railroad trainmen learn if they are to receive a pay increase.

The labor department Wednesday announced that a conciliation board had recommended an increase of seven cents an hour plus seven per cent.

The spokesmen said company authorities would have to study the report and their decision could not be expected for a few days.

FROSTIE THE SNOWMAN exists in the Peterborough district in song and paintings only for the Christmas holidays. Instead of building Frostie out-of-doors children have to be content with playing with toys inside. In several homes about the city, parents have painted or made snowmen out of cardboard, decorating windows and front porches. This Frostie (above) decorates a window in Ashburnham; he's inside looking out rather than outside looking in.—(Examiner Staff Photo)

Several Drivers Ask OPP For Help After Drinking

The appeal of OPP Inspector J. A. Stringer to the motoring public was a success. There were no serious accidents on district highways over the Christmas holiday. Earlier this week Inspector Stringer asked motorists on district highways who had taken a few drinks and didn't feel capable of driving to call the provincial police. The OPP would then see that they got home safe and sound.

Better this precaution than run the risk of serious accidents, reasoned Inspector Stringer.

SEVERAL CALLED

Several under - the - weather motorists availed themselves of the Inspector's offer and provincial constables saw that they got home safely.

An indication of the co-operation between the police and motorists is the fact that several people came to headquarters on Charlotte St. and volunteered the use of their cars if the OPP became swamped with requests for this Yuletide offer. However the OPP were able to handle the job without calling on the volunteers.

"We certainly appreciate their co-operation," said Sgt. Stanley Palmateer today. "We had a few minor accidents, that's all.'

One local firm, the Outboard Marine and Manufacturing Co., informed their employees of the OPP offer by broadcasting it over the loudspeaker system.

Oshawa To Wreck City Buildings

Oshawa is likely to follow the example of Peterborough in its method of disposing of their old municipal buildings—convert them into parking lots.

Tenders have been called for the demolition of Oshawa city hall. Deadline for bids is Jan. 15. Meanwhile the lot adjoining the building is being used as an experiment. It accomomdates 40 cars, and the city hall site will provide for 18 more, a total of 58. So far the income has been paying an attendan't wage, without metering.

Bids for the old city hall building disappointed the council and it is likely that the parking lot will be the outcome. It is on Richmond St., two blocks from the main corner of King and Simcoe streets.

Automobiles and trucks present a common problem to the municipalities of the United States and Canada. In New York, the Citizens Traffic Safety Board, organized five months ago, is deep in the study of traffic conditions to determine "the best program for the common good". They are engaged on a broad plan, including a "real housecleaning" of parking abuses.

A minor clause of a dozen proposes adoption of a school crossing protection program by adult women, either paid or volunteers, to release policemen for duty in critical traffic areas.

F. Gordon Cooke Stores Clerk

Well-known to downtown shoppers during his years at Payne's drug store on George St., Francis Gordon Cooke, 139 Princess St., died Christmas day in hospital after a short illness.

Born in Havelock, the son of Clarence Cooke and Mary Johnston, Mr. Cooke lived in Port Hope and Harwood for a time, then moved to Peterborough. He has resided in Peterborough for 35 years, working at the drug store and recently as a stores clerk with the DeLaval Company.

He was a member of St. James' United Church and Corinthian Lodge, AF and AM.

Mr. Cooke is survived by his parents and his wife, the former Olive M. Rightmyer.

The Rev. H. D. McCormack, St. James' Church, will officiate Saturday at the funeral service at 2 p.m. in the Belleghem Funeral Home on Hunter St. Burial will be in Little Lake Cemetery.

Car Skids, Hits Post Driver Injured

Harold Frost, 38, of 220½ Brock St., is in Civic Hospital with a broken collarbone, the result of a car accident Christmas Eve on Highway 7.

Shortly before midnight Frost skidded on the highway, two miles west of Norwood. His car clipped off two guard rail posts on a curve on the south side of the highway.

The vehicle received about $200 damage.

OPP Constable John Gray investigated.

The new general foreman of the switchgear department at CGE is Peter Hutton, and employee of 30 years service. He succeeds E. G. Hardie who recently retired. Formerly he was foreman in charge of wiring and assembly.

CHRISTMAS TREES

Anyone who is interested can probably buy a Christmas tree pretty cheap today. There were quite a large number left over in lots throughout the city and they will soon have to be disposed of. They probably won't keep until next year very well.

TURKEY BEHIND BARS

Being behind bars for Christmas didn't prevent about 20 men in the county jail from having a Christmas dinner. A 30-pound turkey was roasted in the jail kitchen Christmas Eve and the prisoners ate heartily, taking advantage of the one-meal change from normal jail rations.

FEW ON BUSES

Bus lines were repeating today their holiday service which does not get under way until 10 a.m. At that hour and probably noon, half the town appeared to be still in bed and hadn't the least interest in whether the buses were running. Bus barn opinion suggested that Christmas Day business hardly paid the staff wages.

FIRE UPSTAIRS

A cigarette ash is believed to have started a fire that caused $100 damage at the home of George Masters, 461 Braidwood Avenue. The blaze started shortly after 3:30 a.m. Christmas morning among some cardboard boxes in an upstairs room. The ceiling was scorched. Mr. Masters threw water on the fire and extinguished it before firemen arrived.

VACANT AND SILENT

It takes Boxing Day to refresh the fact that main street without its people is just another highway. Say what you will of the crowds, and no one is suggesting anything against them, they are the life of the community, and in such a vacancy of the main street at 9:15 this morning the silence was almost ponderous. And their absence invites repetition of the observation of Bernard Shaw: "One year of Rome is like another, except that I grow older whilst the crowd in the Appian way is always the same age."

Hold Wolf Hunt In Dummer Twp.

Huntsmen will meet Saturday morning at the CNR freight sheds on Aylmer St. to take part in the annual wolf hunt organized by the Peterborough Fish and Game Protective Association.

Norm Bradley, huntmaster, is taking a trip to Dummer township later today to pick out the best area for the hunt. The exact location will be kept secret until the hunt is on.

If conditions are right the Fish and Game officials hope to have at least 100 triggermen on the job.

Shotguns only will be used. No slugs allowed.

The hunters will meet at the freight sheds at 8 a.m. They should bring their own lunch and a cup; coffee will be served at noon.

A trained dog would be a help too. The offer stands that the owner of a dog that manages to flush out the wolf gets half the $25 bounty.

Transportation will be provided and the hunters will leave at 8:20 a.m.

THE WEATHERMAN so far this winter has been playing ball with the construction companies. In previous winters snow and cold weather slowed outside construction, but this year the balmy temperatures and the scarcity of snow have enabled companies to maintain a summer production. Armour school in Ashburnham is well under way (top photo) under direction of contractor Charles Huffman. Workmen took advantage of the mild weather today to work on the Monastery of the Precious Blood on High St.—(Examiner Staff Photos)

2,833 Phone Out Of Town For Christmas

Christmas phone calls by Peterborough people calling their families and friends outside the city numbered about the same as last. This year's total was 2,833.

The calls didn't pile up at any one particular time, but were scattered throughout the day. But 30 operators were on duty at a time to handle the traffic.

Most unusual feature of the day was the number of incoming calls in which people asked for the phone numbers of their relatives and friends in Peterborough. There were 1,578 of these.

Operators were kept busy answering 301 calls in which people dialled non-existent numbers and had to be set straight.

Phone calls overseas, which are channelled through Montreal, are booked up until January 6.

Car Hits Tree Driver Injured

Paul Mongraw, 20, 129 James St., was seriously injured Thursday night when the car he was driving went out of control on Lansdowne St., and crashed into a tree.

Mongraw was travelling west and the accident occurred just west of the Locks Bridge.

He was taken by ambulance to St. Joseph's Hospital. He is said to be suffering from an injured pelvis and hospital authorities said today he is also complaining of an injury to his spine.

The force of the impact wrecked the front of the car. Mongraw was found lying on the ground, having been thrown out the front door when the car struck the tree.

Constables Harold Andrew and Ed. Patterson investigated.

Head Unemployment Office Wm. Mellis Dies Suddenly

Stricken suddenly by a heart seizure, William H. G. Mellis, manager of the Peterborough District Unemployment Insurance office died at his home, 303 Boswell Ave., Wednesday evening. A native of St. Johns, Nfld., Mr. Mellis first came to Peterborough in 1905. Until 1914, he was employed with the CGE here.

Mr. Mellis then moved to Quebec City where he became foreman of the gun division of the Ross Rifle Co.

Later, he was employed in Toronto for a few years before returning to Peterborough to rejoin the CGE where he remained until 1935.

CAMPAIGN MANAGER

A Liberal in politics, Mr. Mellis took an active part in the 1935 federal election as campaign manager for Senator J. J. Duffus when he was elected to the House of Commons.

Mr. Mellis supervised the installation of the rip rapping around Little Lake and the construction of the Crescent St. wharf.

In the latter years of the depression, Mr. Mellis was appointed manager of what was then the Peterborough office of the National Employment Service. The staff consisted of himself and a stenographer.

WORK EXPANDED

Since then, the staff has expanded considerably, with the merging of the old employment service in the Unemployment Insurance Commission in 1941. As manager of the district office, Mr. Mellis was in charge when the office was located in the Barrie Building and in its present location in the Cherney Building.

Mr. Mellis was a member of the Masonic craft and also a member of the Peterborough Oddfellows lodge and the Canadian Order of Foresters, Peterborough Court No. 29.

He is survived by his wife, the former Venie M. L. Logan, and one sister, Miss Frances Mellis, of Vancouver, B.C.

Funeral services will be held from the Comstock funeral home at 1.30 p.m. Saturday. The Rev. Henry Cotton, of St. Andrew's United Church, will officiate.

Burial will be in Little Lake cemetery.

CNR Cost Seen Beyond Revenue

MONTREAL (CP) — President Donald Gordon of Canadian National Railways said today that costs are expected again to outstrip revenues of Canada's railways when 1952 financial results become known.

In a year-end review, he said the surge of Canadian business expansion during the last five or six years has brought an increase in freight tonnage hauled over Canadian lines. But, while gross revenues have reached record peaks, net revenues have declined steadily bcause of high costs

This was evident in 1952 and promised to be "just as marked" in 1953. Financial results for 1952 would not be known for some time but it was apparent "this trend is continuing."

Mr. Gordon's review dealt with CNR operations during the year.

MASONIC FESTIVAL

Peterborough's three Masonic lodges will celebrate the Festival of St. John the Evangelist at the new Masonic Temple on Saturday night. The annual dinner is scheduled to take place immediately following the joint installation ceremony for the 1953 officers of Corinthian and Peterborough Lodges. The installation ceremony starts at five o'clock.

People Kind To Youngsters Without Homes

Peterborough's community spirit of Christmas reached with warmth and generosity into the two homes that are maintained for children.

At the Children's Home on Princess St., which is maintained by the Children's Aid Society, there was a festive dinner featured by roast turkey and plum pudding and all the trimmings, following the distribution of presents earlier in the morning.

"People were most generous," said Mrs. Gerald MacMillan, whose husband, the head of the house acted in the role of Santa Claus when the presents were being handed out from the Christmas tree. The youngsters, ten boys and girls, had recovered their appetites for supper which included Christmas cake and ice cream.

A similar story of bounty and brightness and remembrance was reported from St. Vincent's Orphanage.

INVITED OUT

"Most of our children left us early in the day," the Sister in charge related. "They were invited to homes where there were children of their same age, and some people wished to have young people to share the spirit of Christmas with them. Actually, we had more invitations than there were children.

"Several went with a father who leaves them in our charge. He wanted them with him for Christmas. Some of our children were invited to homes until Monday, and we know they will have a happy time.

"Five of our older girls remained with us for dinner, but they also had homes to go to for the rest of the day. We had a lot of Christmas presents around the tree for them. People are very kind and thoughtful. We see that spirit every Christmas, and it is a beautiful sentiment."

CITY HALL LIGHTS

The two extra Christmas trees at the main entrance of the City Hall have enhanced the attractiveness of Peterboroug'h municipal building. The lights and the larger tree on the lawn, and the Union Jack above the portico, deserve a note of appreciation. Some night, maybe, the flood lights will be filtered through orange or amber colors to give a flush of warmth to the exterior.

Two Men Hit By Cars, Left On Road

Both Legs of One Broken, Police Seek Cars

Two Peterborough men were victims Christmas Eve of hit-and-run drivers. One is in hospital with two broken legs and possible head injuries; the other has head lacerations, and was released from hospital Christmas Day.

In hospital is Henry Corbin, 956 Western Avenue, who was struck as he returned from a grocery store with a carton of soft drinks.

Sent home after a night in hospital was Glen P. Heath, 513 Romaine Street, hit as he crossed Park Street.

William Eastabrook, 899 Western Avenue, heard a crash outside his home, about 8:15 Christmas Eve. He went to the window and saw a car stop, then drive away, leaving a man lying on the street. The car was too far away for him to read the licence number.

Mr. Eastabrook telephoned the police and a city-wide search started after he described the car to Constable Jack Wilson. Constable Wilson, who also investigated the second hit-and-run accident, telephoned Nisbett's ambulance, which took Corbin to Civic Hospital.

Corbin is an employee of the laundry at the hospital. His condition was described as fair on Christmas Day.

MAY HAVE BEEN DRUNK

Police believe the driver of the car which hit Corbin may have been drunk.

Glen Heath, a grocery clerk, was walking west on the north side of Romaine Street, going toward his home when the accident occurred. He walked across Park Street and had almost reached the northwest corner when he was struck.

An eye-witness described the car as a 1941 to 1947 Oldsmobile. The car kept going.

Heath was knocked unconscious and it was feared at first he had suffered a fractured skull. In the emergency room at Civic Hospital it was found he had several bad cuts and a large lump on his head. He was taken to hospital by Nisbett's ambulance. Constable Wilson also investigated this accident.

Police Ask Help To Locate Cars

Deputy Police Chief John Naples today asked citizens to report any knowledge they may have of the two cars involved in two hit-and-run accidents in the city Christmas Eve. One car is described as a 1951 green Mercury that probably has the right front fender and headlight damaged. The other is believed to be an Oldsmobile, from 1941 to 1947. Some part of the front of this car will be damaged, too. Any citizen having information is requested to report it to the police station.

The Day After

A History Of Boxing Day You've Never Read Before

By JIM ENGLISH

Yes, this is Boxing Day. Not a time for heavy thought, action, or meals, it is a day when stomachs shrink back to normal, and heads return to the good old size that fitted your hat on Christmas Eve.

Turkey is still stuck to your ribs with a glue composed of cranberry sauce, gravy, mashed potatoes, peas, mince pie, plum pudding, coffee, Christmas nuts, fruits and candy, and it seems fixed there for all eternity.

Your stomach, if you ate a proper Christmas dinner, was bulged beyond management. You suffered from that form of indigestion romantically called heartburn, and you wondered . . . .

Your eyes still have a glazed look, with the same sheen as the glistening sauce that covered yesterday's plum pudding, and you are now just able to turn them right and left.

WHY BOXING DAY

If there is any spare space for thought in your aching head, possibly you will wonder why Boxing Day is called that. Cast your mind back to a day when eating on a grander scale, when your ancestors were only a few generations away from skipping about gaily in new suits of woad.

That was the day of the supercolossal Christmas, the gargantuan dinner, and the titanic bellyache. Forks were a hindrance and knives served to cut your meat and your dinner partner's hands away from your plate and your wine glass.

Those were the days when few hosts were of an inventive turn of mind, and knew how to dispose of their guests. It was a time when the day after Christmas was merely "the day after Christmas", and not Boxing Day. Dinner guests were, after a three-hour sojourn at the festive board, not fit to walk, let alone be seen.

The host, obviously, did not want to be saddled with a castle full of dozing, bilious, half-inebriated guests. He hardly knew what to do until the inventor of Boxing Day devised his unique plan.

What did this ingenious host do? Let us look back for a while to mediaeval days, when the name of Sir Eggfroth Portcullis was one of the stalwart followers of his king.

LEFT OUR GUESTS

Sir Eggfroth, later Saint Eggfroth, and sometimes known as Eggnog for another invention, had a problem. There were no less than 83 dinner guests scattered about his stone mansion in varying degrees of sobriety and consciousness.

"Mind over matter," he said, and hied himself to his study to consider the question of disposal. It was a problem that made his garbage disposal seem like child's play.

In his drafty study, he sat and stared at the cold stone walls, and thought of the guests. Digestion was a more difficult task than thinking was at that point and he dozed off. After several hours of drowsing he awoke, his mind fresh and an idea in it.

He called his serfs, villains and knaves to him and told them of his plan to dispose of Christmas guests. They cheered him to the echo. The echo, by the way, was a large and empty cupboard in the kitchen kept by an old witch known as Mother Hupboard (rhymes with cupboard).

After bringing him back to the great hall from the kitchen, they set about their task. Old packing cases, wine barrels and egg crates were called into use.

ROUND-UP

To bring the guests to the main hall, squads of servants were detailed to the upper floors, one to the main floor and a third to the wine cellar. All had orders to collect Christmas guests conscious or unconscious, and bring them to the great hall where the crates, barrels and cases stood in long rows.

The first patrol yielded 77 of the 83 missing guests, and the missing half-dozen were found sleeping it off in the stables.

With primitive hammers, crude nails, and a thousand cruder protests from the guests, who were then half awake, they packed each one into a crate or a barrel of some sort. Addresses were scrawled on each box with lampblack and the serfs were sent forth, two to a box, to deliver the guests to their homes.

As Christmas in Sir Eggfroth's part of England is a damp affair, a number of the guests, serfs and packing boxes were washed down turbulent rivers, which may account for the many legends in mediaeval history of sea serpents far inland.

Eventually the idea took hold throughout all of Sir Eggfroth's part of the British Isles, and in time swept England and the continent. The day after Christmas, which was reserved for this task, became reverently known as Boxing Day.

Sir Eggfroth was held up as one of the contemporary heroes and later sainted for his deed.

This legend, unfortunately, is not well known.

THE THINGS that are happening to cotton are nothing short of miraculous. Each new season brings fresh fabric treatments that put cotton in places it's never been seen before.

Lately, it has joined forces with chiffon and wool to produce an evening fashion (left) of great beauty. In satin pique the dress is embroidered with pearls and beads around the bodice and is belted with a swath of bright orange wool. The chiffon scarf, floating free in the breeze, is edged in the same bright-colored wool.

Seersucker, once the lowliest of cottons, has acquired real chic. It has come out of the ranks of utility clothes and has moved up into the foremost ranks of fashion.

Here we see a star-spangled seersucker (right) turned sleek and beautifully simple. This is a cotton that looks nearly tailored at first glance, but that is actually a marvel of fashion understatement.

Far from being confined to summer wear, cotton is a year-around fabric now, suitable for many occasions and climates.

Late Hours And Rich Foods Tax Holiday-Time Beauty

Have the quickened pace, the parties, the last-minute shopping, the heavier holiday foods come sneaking up on you? Is all you want for Christmas just a chance to stay in bed and get feeling rested and bright-eyed again?

Perhaps a few "Why Don't You" hints will help you sail through this busy season, looking as pretty and feeling as bubbly as a dream girl. Christmas is a joyous time—match it with your happiest, best-looking face!

Why don't you make it a rule at parties to forego the creamy, rich canapes and umpteen kinds of Christmas cakes? If good manners say you must take one—do just that. Just one.

Why don't you put a shimmering lighter and brighter halo on your head this year, with a new hair cosmetic that isn't a bleach, but lightens and brightens a little more with each application.

Why don't you try to get at least 20 minutes' rest before going out on an evening? Not just stretched out on the bed, but stretched out with your feet up at a 45 degree angle, in the famous beauty angle. All the difference in the way you look when you get up from this feet-up pick-up.

Why don't you make it a rule to rub hand lotion on after your bath—not only on your hands, but on your legs, heel backs and elbows? Winds are cold and chapped skin isn't party skin.

Why don't you—if you find your eyes looking out from dark circles—smooth on first a lighter-tone creme base. Finish with your regular shade. It minimizes the tired look remarkably.

Why don't you see how a creamy new penetrating cleanser in a "squeeze-me" plastic bottle cleans your skin cleaner than ever before? It seems to float away the tired make-up and grime that gives you that "old look."

Why don't you treat your skin each night to the most superb cream of all — to lubricate and prevent the fine lines that heated houses, cold winds and tenseness create? It's formulated of rich oils that sink into your skin immediately—won't leave you looking like a grease spot for bed.

Why don't you dunk your tired feet in a deliciously warm foot-bath into which you've tossed your favorite bath salts—or a handful of kitchen salt? Then give yourself a pedicure, finishing off with a bright, long-lasting application of Chinese Red laquer.

Why don't you carry with you, wherever you go, the new cream-enriched face powder compact that actually is a flatter-face? Makes your skin look like luscious velvet.

Why don't you "set" the make-up on your neck, so your dress necklines won't get smudged, by spraying your skin with cologne? Pick a gem-like scent with plenty of sparkle.

Many 'New Looks' Seen In Nylons

New nylon fabrics now being produced by Canadian mills offer a much wider range of weaves and finishes than ever before. Besides appearing with many "new looks", nylon is being woven with other fibres to create unique and interesting effects. In addition, everything from filmy marquisette to deep pile velvet will be seen in a whole new range of colors.

Like the variety of fabrics being made available, the number of uses being found for nylon by manufacturers of clothing is increasing steadily. In lingerie, nylon adds beauty, easy-to-care-for qualities; in skiwear, durability and lightweight.

Canadian women will be wearing many evening and cocktail dresses of nylon marquisette and novelty sheers this winter. Practically all Canadian mills are creating new sheers and the variety is endless. There are sheers woven with checked or striped effects in plain or contrasting colors, some flecked and other woven with glittering "Lurex" threads as well as many printed designs.

The popular "puckered" or seersucker type of nylon fabric will be available in designs ranging from large to minute puckers, suitable for dresses, blouses, housecoats, pyjamas and sport shirts.

Surface interest is a definite trend in nylon this season. Good examples are embossed twills, new blouse and dress crepes and the recently developed sculptured taffetas. The latter combines colored patterns raised in relief effect against black printed backgrounds. Manufacturers say this fabric will be widely used for next summer's coats and suits. Nubby effects are also seen in nylon shantungs and linen type fabrics.

A heavier weight nylon tricot for blouses and dresses has been developed by weaving with what the mills call a "reverse stitch" process. This tricot has a firmer quality and the weave makes it less inclined to stretch than other knitted type fabrics. Manufacturers predict it will be popular for dresses.

THIS IS THE SEASON when every woman simply must look her very best. This perfect example shows a snowy-white organdie blouse which offers a startling contrast to the rich smoothness of the black velveteen skirt. Waist interest is provided by the patent leather cinch. The final touch of beauty is the gift of perfume—the gift all women cherish. For a sophisticated woman in search of originality, choose a tangy fragrance reminiscent of tobacco and old leather.

Fashion Flashes

There's nothing quite so entrancing for evening wear as filmy white lace chiffon or net. White lace hand-embroidered in gold over accordion-pleated white silk net is the formula for a beautiful evening dress. The lace forms a graduated peplum, short in front, trailing the floor in back. The basque bodice is of the lace, with off-shoulder wing sleeves over the net pleating.

Pre-Party Preparation Way To Look Best In New Gown

How to look your best in your new holiday evening gown means following 10 simple rules of pre-party preparation, according to New York designer Cecil Chapman. Here they are:

—Start pampering yourself at least an hour before time to get dressed. Begin, not with a shower, but with a long hot tub. Add bath salts or a few drops of perfume.

2—Make sure of perfect grooming. This means toenails, eyebrows and a makeup foundation as well as the obvious coiffure, manicure and makeup.

3—Even if you have to be late for the party, give yourself 15 minutes' absolute rest behind a closed door and in a dark room before beginning to dress.

4—Don't overdo the underwear beneath a big evening dress. A boned bodice requires no brassiere and a bouffant skirt looks just as attractive over a light panty girdle.

5—Make up your face, arms and shoulders and arrange your hair before putting on your dress. Then step into it.

6—Don't fail to have pale evening stockings with an evening dress. Dark reinforced toes peeping out beneath the hem can ruin the whole effect.

7—Never let your vanity persuade you to wear too-tight shoes to a party. Better wear your old comfortable dancing slippers. Your feet don't show much but your wrinkles of pain will look horrible.

8—Don't wear dinky jewelry. If you don't have impressive looking evening jewelry, whether real or false, wear none at all, just fresh flowers.

9—Under a bouffant skirt wear a crinoline petticoat. They are inexpensive and can be made at home if you like. They are essential for the new romantic evening skirts.

10—Be sure you have those important feminine touches, a pretty handkerchief and evening bag. If you don't have the latter, tie your compact, lipstick, comb and handkerchief up in a gay chiffon hanky or scarf.

DOROTHY DIX

Can Short Acquaintance Really Mean You're In Love?

DEAR MISS DIX: I've known a boy for two months, and he has been called back into service. He says he loves me and wants to marry me. My parents liked him until I told them how we felt, now they are furious. We are willing to wait until June, but no longer. I am 17, he is 24. We are too much in love to wait until he comes out of service. K. T.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: You can try talking yourself into believing this is true love, but the overwhelming chances that it's merely infatuation. On so short an acquaintance, love seldom develops. Your feeling can be put down to the emotional stress of your friend's call to service. A uniform does something to a girl that transcends all sense and sensibility. Waiting until June will probably cool your ardor.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: I am very interested in a girl of 18. Even though her behavior is above reproach, her parents will seldom let her go out with boys. I have thought of asking them to accompany us to a show sometime, so they can see the sort of entertainment we like. M. S.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: When parents take this unreasonable attitude toward a girl of 18, they are actually reflecting on their own methods of child rearing. A parent who has done a good and responsible job of bringing up children should be able to trust them by the time they've reached 18. In order to allay your own doubts, it would be a good idea to talk to the parents, ask them what their objections to you are, and perhaps you can come to an understanding of just what privileges their daughter may enjoy. Push this idea of taking them out with you sometime; maybe a little entertainment is what they need.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: I am in love with a fine man who has fallen in love with a married woman. All I want to do now is hurt him. How can I do it? J. D.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: Why waste time on vindictiveness! It's a futile and harmful emotion that will wind up harming you much more than your faithless sweetheart. Use this energy in finding another beau.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: Seven years ago I married a widow of 32, fourteen years my junior. In the past year she has left me twice. The first time she came back after ten weeks, now she has been gone three weeks and I don't know where she is living. She has a good job, but is in bad health. Before she left she said she wouldn't return until I promised to adopt the illegitimate child of a friend of hers. I don't feel like taking on this responsibility. E. E.

✧ ✧ ✧

WIFE LACK STAMINA

ANSWER: Your wife certainly seems to lack the physical and mental stamina to undertake the care of a child; this, coupled with your own understanding disinclination to the idea, would make it a highly undesirable project. Part of your wife's present trouble may be worry over the friend. Why not get in touch with your wife and suggest that proper adoption authorities be approached to take care of the child. I think if her mind is put at rest about the baby she'll get over the idea of adopting it herself.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: I have been married nine years, during which my husband worked three. We have now been separated since July. My six-year-old daughter has become a different child since her father left. She has gained weight, has a good color, and a much better disposition.

My problem is that I don't have the money for a divorce, and my husband keeps calling me at work. I'm afraid of him, and if he doesn't stop bothering me I'll have to give up my job. M. W.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: Your husband isn't likely to keep away on your say-so; therefore it will be necessary for someone to warn him not to bother you. The personnel department at your place of employment may be able to help you. I would also suggest that you consult your clergyman, whose authority may be respected by your husband. Either of these two agencies will direct you to legal help, which you need in establishing your status as soon as possible.

New York Radio Praises Program Staged By CBC

NEW YORK (CP)—A Canadian Broadcasting Corporation program broadcast over a New York station drew a rave review from Jack Gould, New York Times radio columnist.

The program was "A Word In Your Ear," part of a series entitled "The Ways of Mankind" broadcast over the New York city-owned station WNYC under sponsorship of the National Association of Educational Broadcasters.

The CBC program, a transcription, was a study of the function of language, which, Gould says, "on paper may look like a rather forbidding invitation to lively listening."

WITTY AND URBANE

"But as written by Lister Sinclair and produced by Andrew Allan, two stalwarts of the CBC in Toronto, the presentation was as witty and urbane a show as has come on the radio airways in many a day," writes Gould.

"What's more, it was informative and educational. A little more radio like this and it will be television's turn to start worrying."

Grey Cloth Exports Increase

MANCHESTER, Eng. (CP)—The Lancashire textile trade reports an unexpected increase in exports of grey cloth, particularly to Canada.

In August only 29,000 square yards of grey cloth were sent to Canada. In September the total mounted to 1,678,000 square yards and in October to 4,007,000 square yards. The October figure represented more than one-half the total of grey cloth exports to all countries.

In the 10 months ended Oct. 31, shipments to Canada totalled 7,580,000 square yards compared with 1,685,000 square yards in the same period the previous year.

Grey cloth is used for bandaging, quilt lining, upholstery and packaging food.

What's Right?

You receive an invitation to a party with two or more hostesses and you know only one of them.

WRONG: Feel that since it will obviously be a large party it doesn't matter whether or not you answer the invitation.

RIGHT: Send your reply to the hostess you know, unless the invitation requests that replies be sent to another of the hostesses.

MARY MOORE SAYS:

Leftover Turkey For Day After Christmas

How are you feeling after the big day? Have you much turkey left over?

The crowd that would prefer to attack the leftover cold turkey in the refrigerator are after my own heart. It is "the last for which the first was made" as it were.

Some close friends of ours whom I had invited for a pre-Christmas supper, grinned and asked if they could take a rain check on that invitation so that there might be a chance of them having curried turkey from the leftovers a week later.

I was surprised but happy because they had liked the meal that they had had at our house last Christmas season well enough to remember it and ask for it again.

Just as you may believe that smoking turkey is gilding it, you may think that currying turkey is overdoing the flavor business. But try it friends—the advice comes from one who tries never to lead you astray.

EMEM'S CURRIED TURKEY (Serves 6)—You will need 2½ to 3 cups coasely cut up turkey, well-packed in cup. Heat through in top of double boiler in Genuine Curry Sause: Melt 3 tablespoons butter or turkey fat and saute in it gently 1 tablespoon grated onion 2 minutes. Do not brown. Add 1 tablespoon rice flour or cornstarch, 1 tablespoon (or more) curry powder, ¼ teaspoon salt, 2¾ cups milk and turkey gravy mixed (do not use all giblet gravy or this makes it too rich). Stir until thick. Variations of this sauce include substituting some of the milk and gravy with 1 cup cocoanut milk —which means you have to find 2 fresh cocoanuts somewhere; OR add 1 teaspoon each currant jelly and scraped green ginger. The curry addicts will go for these last 3 suggestions, because they've sailed the seven seas no doubt. Serve the curried turkey in a ring of fluffy boiled rice: Wash 2 cups long grain or brown rice in sieve under running water for 2 minutes. Put in flat-bottomed kettle that has a tight-fitting cover, with exactly 3½ cups boiling water, 1¼ teaspons salt and 3 tablespoons butter. Bring to boiling quickly, turn off heat, but do not lift lid; in 5 minutes turn heat on as low as possible and let cook for ½ hour in all, when all water will be absorbed and rice will be tender and each flake separate. Some sticks to bottom but soon soaks off.

TURKEY PIE

To make this at its best use English pastry (see below) rolled ½ inch thick. You can see by that that if you are on a diet you had better avoid this and go munch on an apple. Amount of turkey varies—to serve six cut up enough turkey pieces rather coursely and place in a deep baking dish, at centre of which is an inverted cup. Add 2 cups small potato cubes, ½ cup each ¼-inch carrot dice and finely chopped celery, 1 cup peas, 1 cup drained canned limas. Peas should be cooked if added. One medium sized onion may be added, but must be chopped ever so finely. Cover with at least 3 cups gravy-sauce: This may be made by adding 1 cup rich turkey gravy to 2 cups thin white sauce (2 tablespoons flour, 2 tablespoons butter, 2 cups milk) or it may be some vegetable broth and milk, just thickened enough to give it a little body. Salt and pepper this generously and add 2 tablespoons finely chopped parsley, and if on hand add ½ to 1 teaspoon monosodium glutamate. Pour this piping hot over the turkey and vegetables in baking dish. Cover with

ENGLISH PASTRY

Two cups unsifted pastry flour, 2 teaspoons baking powder, 1 teaspoon salt, ¾ to 1 cup best quality shortening, ½ cup hot water, 2 teaspoons lemon juice, 1 egg yolk. Sift together dry ingredients, cut in ½ of the shortening. Dissolve the remainder in the hot water, and stir in lemon juice and beaten yolk. Add slowly to flour mixture, mixing well, then kneading dough for 3 minutes. Roll out to fit top of baking dish, sealing edges by moistening with water. Bake pie at 425 degrees Fahr. for 10 minutes, then reduce heat, and bake for 40 minutes at 375 degrees Fahr. or until golden brown and gravy is bubbling through gashes.

Police Told Youth Shot, Abducted By Girls

LEWISTON, Me. (AP) - Police today investigated the story of a young man that he was abducted by four girls who forced him to be intimate with them and that one shot him before they released him yesterday.

A .22-calibre bullet was removed from the thigh of Donald L. Snow, 20, of Freeport.

Police said "may there isn't much to the kidnapping story but the fact remains that he was shot and that's what we're trying to find out about."

Savings Taken, Girls Stranded

WINDSOR, Ont. (CP) — Two Canadian service girls, on leave in Detroit, had to settle for doughnuts and coffee at the USO centre for their Christmas dinner. Margaret MacFadland, 21, and Bernice Knoll, 18, of the Royal Canadian Air Force at Clinton came to Detroit Monday to spend their holiday. At the Detroit USO centre they met a young man dressed in a Canadian army uniform who gave his name as David Davidson and helped them find a hotel room.

He dropped in to see them Wednesday to help them prepare to "see the town" and said they might have trouble with their Canadian currency. They gave him their entire savings, $35, and he left to have it exchanged at a nearby bank. He didn't return and the girls were left stranded in a strange city without a cent.

The hotel manager gave the girls free rooms for the remainder of their visit.

Asian-Arab Bloc Greets Stalin's Peace Offer

CAIRO (AP) — The Asian-Arab bloc welcomes Prime Minister Stalin's expression of willingness to meet President-elect Eisenhower in an effort to ease current world tension.

This view was expressed today by several representatives of the bloc, consisting of the Arab states, India, Indonesia, Pakistan, Iran and Ethiopia.

The Asian-Arab bloc concluded its first session in Cairo last Tuesday.

Ex-Red Wings Scout Hired By N.Y. Rangers

NEW YORK (CP) — Carson Cooper, former Detroit Red Wings scout, has been hired by New York Rangers to keep an eye out for hockey talent in eastern Ontario.

Cooper, who once played for the Red Wings in the National Hockey League, quit his Detroit scouting job just before the beginning of this season because of ill health.

But the few months of rest have left him feeling well enough to take on the job for the Rangers.

Cooper's territory will include the Quebec Senior League and he will also scout players in the Ontario Hockey Association.

Mrs. Daniel Costello

Funeral service for Mrs. Daniel Costello, Otonabee Township, RR 11, Peterborough, who died Monday in hospital, was held Wednesday from the Lane Funeral Home to St. Peter's Cathedral for requiem mass at 9 a.m., said by the Rev. J. G. Weiss.

Graveside prayers were said by the Rev. L. M. Dubbery.

Pallbearers were Bernard Sullivan, Fred Crough, George Fallis, Frank Scollard and Leslie Burton.

Prisoners Given Turkey Dinner

COBOURG —(ENS)—Motorists observed the drinkless driving slogan over the holiday. There was the usual amount of overindulgence on the part of some people but they were not found in that condition behind the wheel. Provincial police reported that only a few minor accidents occurred and they were quite pleased with traffic conditions.

The eleven "guests" at the counties jail were treated to a turkey dinner Thursday with all the trimmings. Up at the Counties Home for the Aged, the old folks partook of a typical Christmas dinner. During the few days before Christmas, the Kinsmen, Kiwanis and Lions Clubs staged Christmas tree entertainments for children and there was also the usual array of church and club Christmas events.

Backwoods Battle Ends With 1 Dead, 1 Hurt

BATESVILLE, Ark. (AP) — One man was killed and a second seriously wounded in a blazing backwoods gun battle 14 miles south of here Christmas Day.

Police said Joe Beel, about 45, was killed and his brother Frank Beel, about 41, was shot through the right arm as they attempted to prevent two other men from crossing their property on Hutchinson mountain.

No charges were filed.

Australian Freighter Aground Off Tasmania

SYDNEY, Australia (AP)—The Australian coastal freighter Merino, carrying a valuable collection of French modern art, went aground Christmas Day on the east coast of Tasmania. Tugs today failed to refloat the 549-ton vessel.

The weather was moderate and the crew of 20 was in no immediate danger. The paintings, insured for $230,550, were being taken from Sydney to Hobart, Tasmania, for public exhibition.

Lamed Freighter Wins Fight With Elements

VANCOUVER (CP) — A crippled Canadian Freighter and a big coastal salvage ship today won a battle against the elements—but not in time to give the crew members Christmas Dy ashore.

The freighter, the Canadian Pacific steamships' Maple Cove, under tow of the tug Island Sovereign, reached Race Rocks, at Victoria, at 9 a. m., today. She had been battered by giant seas in three storms since last Thursday when a damaged rudder left the ship out of control.

The island tug and barge salvage vessel took the freighter in tow late yesterday while she was still about 100 miles offshore.

Athletic Commissioner Stricken In Son's Home

TORONTO (CP) — A. W. (Fred) Steel, 59, Ontario Athletic commissioner since 1949, died suddenly Christmas night while visiting a son at Bowmanville.

Mr. Steel, former sports writer with the old Toronto Globe, was secretary of the commission for years and succeeded Syl Apps, former Toronto Maple Leaf hockey star, as commissioner three years ago.

In 1948 he was appointed president of the Canadian Boxing Federation, a position he held for two years.

Mr. Steel s survived by his widow, one son, Allan, and three grandchildren.

Film Producer Hurt In Pickering Home

PICKERING, Ont. (CP)—Arthur Gottlieg, 52, millionaire film producer and husband of former Ziegfeld Follies beauty Gladys Glad, was seriously injured last night when he fell down the stairs at his home.

Mr. Gottlieg suffered head injuries. Doctors at Oshawa hospital reported his condition improved today.

West Europeans Believe Danger Of Real War Less

By RICHARD O'REGAN

VIENNA (AP)—Western Europe looked toward the new year and the East today with a general conviction that the Russians will hesitate in March in 1953 but will keep the cold war hot.

Many European statesmen, led by Winston Churchill, believe the danger of a shooting war has receded although the Kremlin still seeks Communist domination of all Europe. Against this, military men fear a recent speed-up in Russian and satellite military power.

Europe now looks to President-elect Dwight D. Eisenhower to provide new drive, inspiration and leadership in its troubled efforts to forge a unified defence community.

Statesmen and soldiers alike agree that, whatever else the year brings, it will see no let-up in Russia's needling, probing and bullying.

DANGER NOT PASSED

Western intelligence agrees the danger has by no means passed. Soviet military manpower and supplies are fast being increased behind the Elbe river. There are an estimated 189 Russian and satellite divisions in European Russia and her East Europen puppets.

The aim of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization was 96 divisions and 9,000 aircraft by 1954. But that goal became only a dream in mid-December when NATO cut its 1953 program because of confidence among politicians, combined with public pressure to cut expenses.

In this Russian-encircled easternmost European outpost of the Western world, some topflight intelligence men appraise the cold war outlook for 1953 as follows:

RUSSIA IN CONTROL

Russia, rather than the West, controls the situation. It can take the initiative and make the West jump. What Russia will do may depend upon developments within the Western alliance.

The West's unity primarily is based on French-German relations and the planned contribution of 12 German divisions to the European Army. If this plan fails, the Atlantic Pact countries will have to scramble to put together a new defensive alliance. Russia will have gined an important victory without war.

She will gain, too, if the West's peace contract with Germany is not ratified, if the Schuman coal-steel pool plan fails, if France and Germany can't solve their differences over the rich Saar basin or if general unrest continues in North Africa.

REDS' TWO CHOICES

But if the peace and European defence community treaties are approved, if Europe's economic recovery is speeded, if the situation in North Africa is nailed down, then, these intelligence men say, Russia has two choices for 1953:

First, the Kremlin can set back its timetable for Communist domination of Europe but keep the cold war brewing. (This is the expectation of British intelligence which is reported to believe the cold war will last until 1957.)

Alternatively, Joseph Stalin may consider that, in view of growing Western strength, it is time to take a calculated risk of war by a series of tough moves to strengthen Soviet positions in Europe. One such move may be a new blockade of West Berlin.

Reinstated U.S. Jockey Has Chance For Record

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Plucky Tony DeSpirito was to fly to Miami from Havana today for seven more races in an effort to better the record of 388 wins in a year.

DeSpirito won three races Christmas Day in Havana to tally his 376th and will fly back to the Cuban capital for additional races Sunday, when the Florida track is idle. He needs 12 more wins to equal the record set by Walter Miller in 1906 and matched by Joe Culmone and Willie Shoemaker in 1950.

His 376 wins to date put him ahead of Culmone and Shoemaker who had 373 and 371 at this stage in 1950.

DeSpirito returned to the saddle on his 18th birthday Christmas Eve after a 10-day suspension and won three races at Tropical Park.

He can equal the record if he averages only two wins a day on each of the six days remaining in the year.

Brief Soccer Play Leaves Schedule Same

LONDON (Reuters)—Spring-like weather on Christmas Day helped to produce some surprising results in the small soccer program played Thursday.

The second half of several games produced a rush of goals Tottenham Hotspur netted six after the interval for a 7-1 win over Middlesbrough, while Arsenal won a thrilling battle over Bolton Wanderers after leading by 2-1 at halftime.

Carlisle gained the biggest win in their history when they pierced the Scunthorpe net eight times in a Division III (Northern) tilt.

League positions did not materially change but Grimsby, by taking a point from a drawn home game with Chesterfield, resumed the leadership in the northern section of Division III.

Kirkland Lake Blue Devils were voted the outstanding team of the year in Canadian sport for 1940, 12 years ago today. A Canadian Press year-end poll gave them the honor for winning the Allan Cup and the Canadian senior amateur hockey championship.

"I weighed 295 lbs. until my doctor showed me how to reduce without starving. I lost 160 lbs. on tasty, satisfying (really) meals. Now I'm a trim size 14." Eight Let Out Of Jail For Christmas

Eight men who spent Christmas Eve in the city jail were let out Thursday morning and were ordered to appear in police court Saturday morning.

Drinking drivers accounted for half of the arrests.

Carl Pollock, 31, 775 Margaret Street, Oshawa; William Graham, 41, RR 8, Peterborough; Samuel Stinson, 26, 403 London Street; and Kenneth Hosker, 28, RR 8, Peterborough, were arrested after being involved in accidents. They all face charges of driving while their ability was impaired by alcohol.

Liquor was also involved in three of the other four arrests.

George Todd, 41, of Lakefield, and Thomas McQuarrie, 61, 720 Elcome Crescent were picked up and charged with being drunk.

Percy Mace, 34, 246 Westcott Street, was arrested following a disturbance in a hotel.

HIT PARKED CAR

Pollock was arrested following an accident on Rogers Street. He was driving north on Rogers Street, and struck the left front fender of a truck parked on the west side of Rogers Street, just north of Hunter Street.

He told the police the reason for the accident was that a southbound car forced him into the truck.

William Graham was arrested and charged with driving while his ability was impaired after the car he was driving on Haggart Street was involved in a collision with two other cars.

Samuel Stinson told police his car stalled on Parkhill Road. He said he had another motorist push him south on Park Street. As he turned east on London Street, Stinson's car struck the rear of a parked car. Both cars were damaged and Stinson was taken to the police station and later charged with driving while his ability was impaired.

Police report Hosker was driving south on Monaghan Road. Two cars ahead had stopped for the Lansdowne Street intersection, and the Hosker vehicle is said to have struck the rear of the one car, sending it crashing into the rear of the one ahead. All three vehicles were damaged extensively.

Lost Wallet Convicts Man

COBOURG, — (ENS) — Santa Claus just wasn't around on Dec. 24 as far as John McIntyre of Hamilton was concerned. McIntyre's trial on a breaking-and-entering charge was completed on that date, Magistrate R. B. Baxter finding him guilty and remanding him until Dec. 29.

Last week evidence was taken in connection with the charge that McIntyre had broken into a local oil company depot where a futile attempt was made to break into the safe. Police found near the oil company's premises a wallet with identification papers belonging to McIntyre. It contained no money.

Edith Frewing of Toronto, girl friend of McIntyre, said in his behalf that on November 29, the day before the break-in, the accused gave her his wallet and its contents of $200 for safekeeping. On her way home she lost the wallet but next day notified the Union Station lost-and-found department and a Toronto radio station of her loss. The case was adjourned in order to permit a check on her story.

On Wednesday Constable E. Butler testified that he had checked with the Union Station and the radio station and learned that neither had any record of a report of the lost wallet.

Magistrate Baxter commented that the only thing which connected the accused with the offense was the finding of the wallet at the scene and he concluded that if it had been "planted" it would have been found in the building and not outside at a spot where it could easily have escaped notice. It looked as if it had fallen accidently out of a person's pocket in a possible stumble over a nearby ladder which was lying on the ground, and in his opinion McIntyre was the man who had been there.

N.Y. Times Sceptical Of Stalin's Statement

NEW YORK (AP) — The New York Times says today in an editorial that Stalin's statement on world tensions should be viewed with skepticism.

Commenting on the Soviet premier's reply to questions submitted by The Times' diplomatic correspondent, James Reston, The Times says:

"Unfortunately, at first sight, and viewing Mr. Stalin's words in the light of the Soviet record, there is little reason to hope that they represent anything more than just another psychological warfare manoeuvre in the phony Soviet 'peace offensive' and another attempt to deceive the world.

"The Soviet record shows that whenever the Soviets have committed some particularly outrageous deed or were preparing for a new one Stalin invariably assumed his jovial 'Uncle Joe' role and issued some soothing pronouncement, either publicly or in diplomatic conference, to reconcile the world to Soviet faits accomplis and to avert any 'interference' with them.

"He fooled two American presidents that way and he may be hoping to fool a third. . ."

Trailer Separates From Truck Cab Clips Two Poles

CAMPBELLFORD — (ENS) — Boxing Day was just another day's work for telephone linemen replacing two poles on Bridge St. west, near the westerly limits of the town in the vicinity of Edgewater Park.

The poles were clipped off near their base Christmas night by a Unicume Storage Co. tractor truck of Brandon, Man., driven by Leslie J. McBoyle, 26, of Brandon.

The big tractor, separated from its truck, missed a sharp turn and careened against the poles. Telephone service was not disrupted. Damage to the tractor was slight. Constable D. M. Metcalfe, investigating, did not lay a charge.

Another minor acident occured Christmas night just south of Norwood on Highway No. 45. Claude Waldron, 53, of Norwood, driving north on the road from Hastings, broke through a fence, on a skid from the road. His car's grill and lights were damaged to the amount of about $100.

Provincial Constable George Rose of Campbellford investigated.

No Simple Solution Found To Remedy Backaches

By EDWIN P. JORDAN, MD (NEA)

Many discouraged and desperated people write to this column asking what can be done for their backaches. Would that I had a simple solution. Those who have severe and long-continued backaches deserve the sympathy of all of us, but there is no simple formula or cure to recommend.

Backaches can and do come from a large variety of causes. An injury, perhaps long forgotten, may have caused a strain, dislocation, fracture, bruise or rupture of the disk or cartilage which separates the bones of the spine and in this manner lead to backache.

Bad posture can account for pain in the back. One leg shorter than the other, flat feet and too-soft beds belong in this group.

Sometimes backache is the result of malformation which was present at birth but which was not severe enough to produce symptoms or pain for many years. Diseases of the spine, including all the various forms of arthritis, tuberculosis and osteomelitis, can produce backache. Tumors in or near the back may be responsible.

Many diseases outside of the spine itself can cause pain or distress in the back. Acute infections, either local or general, may be at fault. Diseases of the male or female genital organs can cause difficulty. Stones or abscesses in or near the kidney can also lead to back pain. Enough said.

X-RAYS USUALLY NEEDED

t until the cause has been discovered the proper treatment cannot be used. Physical examination and examination of the nerves is necessary. X-ray films of the spine are usually essential.

Massage, heat, exercises, support by means of corsets or braces, and rest are all part of the treatment for many kinds of backache. If the trouble is in the joint an operation may be necessary to fuse the bone. If there is a ruptured disk between the spinal bones or a tumor, surgery may be the only way to bring relief. If one could, it would be better to choose some other ailment.

Expect Large Staff Decrease In Bonn's U.S. Establishment

BONN, Germany (AP) — The Republican economy axe is believed certain to fall on what is projected as the largest United States diplomatic establishment in the world.

Cuts of 25 to 50 per cent in the American and German staffs of the state department in Germany are being widely forecast among U. S. officials here.

Before the Republican election victory, state department officials had worked out plans to employ about 1,000 Americans and 5,000 Germans in West Germany during the year starting July 1, 1953.

This proposed state department setup in Germany would dwarf the big American diplomatic establishments in Britain and France, which have about 500 employees each.

The high commission now has 1,213 Americans and 6,200 Germans on the payroll. About 50 per cent of the Americans are political appointees who could be fired outright. The others are career people.

In addition, the mutual security agency has 164 American and German employees.

"We are bracing for a cut up to 50 per cent when the Republicans take over," said one responsible U. S. official.

Prices Of Seed Barley And Oats Proposed

Swing to the purchase of treated seed from cleaning plants was emphasized at a recent meeting of the seed marketing and publicity committee of the Ontario Crop Improvement Association. Seed prices they recommended included: oats—commercial No. 1 $1.50 a bus.; registered No. 1 grade $1.75.

Barley—comercial No. 1. $2.25; certified No. 1 grade $2.60 per bus.; registered No. 1 grade $2.75.

"These prices are from 10 to 20c a bushel less for oats than at the same time last year, and are based on retail sales at local shipping points for treated seed, with bags included."

Committee members reported supplies of good seed are scarce, particularly in some sections of the Province, and that there is continued appreciation of Ontario grown seed in the U.S.A., as shown by keen demands for export.

In connection with seeds of grasses and clovers, supplies are more plentiful and prices are likely to be lower than a year ago. The Committee, therefore, recommended that farmers should do well to take advantage of this situation, to seed down more land to suitable mixtures, in keeping with good conservation practices, and the trend toward grassland farming by way of improved silage, hay and pasture.

On the question of seed grain, the crops branch of the Ontario Department of Agriculture said in a bulletin this week:

"In addition to eliminating one more exacting job on the already busy farm, the purchase of seed from seed cleaning plants will go a long way in combatting he loss from smut and other seed-borne diseases.

In step with modern farming practices most seed plants in the Province are now fully equipped to treat seed. As a result farmers, and other seed buyers, may now purchase their seed supplies fully cleaned, treated, bagged and clearly marked as to variety and grade."

"Considering all these advantages there is a distinct trend for many farmers to regard their local seed cleaning plant as their seed centre, and reserve their supplies early, all ready for their seed drills, thus utilizing their own supplies for feed purposes."

Cancer-Doomed Mother Awaits Birth Of Child

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Doomed by the incurable lymphatic ailment, Hodkins' disease, a mother of three children was to undergo a caesarian section today for her fourth—an operation which doctors said will shorten the tenuous thread of her own life.

"But if I can have my baby I'll die happy," said attractive Mrs. Jean Garrett, 27-year-old housewife.

"Death is the least of my worries now."

Doctors said growth of her child-to-come has drained Mrs. Garrett's resistance to the cancerous blood condition.

She smiled bravely last night as she bid her children good night. Before she and her husband started for hospital she told a few friends "this was the best Christmas ever."

She had determined long ago that this, perhaps her last, Christmas, would be a day of gaiety, with her husband and her sons, aged 7, 3 and 18 months. Doctors told her when she became pregnant that she could prolong her life by giving up the child.

"Why, I feel that a baby has as much right to live as anyone else," she said in making her decision.

Kills Wife, Injures Kin

SOMERSET, Pa. (AP)—Police said an auto driven by Oscar Housel, 48, killed his wife and seriously injured his son-in-law and daughter Thursday as they stood along the highway near their home. Mrs. Annie Housel, 48, was killed instantly. John King, 28, the son-in-law, was critically injured. His leg was amputated. King's wife, Betty, 23, is in critical condition. Police said Housel rounded a curve and plowed into the three.

Synthetic 'Foster Mother' Used In Raising Of Small Piglets

CHISLEHURST, Eng. (CP)—John Percy, 33-year-old Chislehurst farmer, has proved to his own satisfaction at least that most little piggies can be fooled most of the time.

In fact, farmer Percy has invented a contraption—a synthetic "foster-mother"—he hopes ultimately will help raise enough piglets to take ham and bacon off Britain's ration list.

The idea came to Percy three years ago after he had lost 60 of his total stock of 200 pigs as the result of a cold, wet winter. His plan was to design an artificial mother machine from metal, cover it with foam rubber in the shape of a sow and complete the illusion with tape-recorder grunt.

But just as a preliminary experiment the farmer put some warm milk in the partially-completed container, adjusted a series of nozzles on the under side of the tank and placed it out in his yard. He then released 14 two-day old piglets to see what would happen.

The hungry little squealers made a bee-line for foster-mammie, stampeded for the nearest nozzle and were whomping it up in no time as fast as they could swallow the milk.

The invention is undergoing further tests and improvements at an experimental station in Buckinghamshire. It will be mass-produced for pig-breeders in Britain and in due course for sale in Europe and North America.

Elephant Prodigy Dies Blow To Rome's Tots

ROME (AP)W— Remo, two-year-old elephant prodigy born in Rome zoo, died of colic on Christmas Eve.

The news came as a blow to tens of thousands of the children of Rome who had been fascinated by the awkward little elephant's love of spaghetti and delight at playing with a huge ball.

Remo was the second-born of the zoo's huge lovers, Romeo and Juliet. His elder sister, Roma, is four. Juliet, only elephant ever to give birth to two babies in captivity, is expecting her third any day now.

Zoo attendants said she seemed aware of little Remo's sudden illness. She is in a separate maternity pen awaiting the birth, and was not allowed to see him. But for 24 hours before he died she trumpeted and paced her cage in evident anxiety.

FrenchAskPunishment Of Russian Soldiers

BERLIN (AP)' — The French commandant in Berlin last night demanded that Soviet officials punish three Russian soldiers who, he charged, invaded the French sector, shot to death a West Berlin policeman and molested three West Berlin citizens.

In a harsh note to Soviet chief Sergei Dengin France's Gen. Pierre Carolet said that a mere apology for the Christmas-morning incident would not be sufficient atonement.

"I demand that you take proper action against the Soviet soldiers responsible and I demand that your government make suitable compensation to the widow of the murdered West policeman," he wrote.

Let's Go At Christmas After Diet For Flight

FORT WORTH, Tex. (AP)—Like millions of others, Guy Cherry sat down to a big Christmas dinner Thursday and let himself go.

Probably nobody enjoyed the turkey and trimmings as much as Cherry, a disk jockey.

Cherry, who goes by the nickname "Texas Tiny," forgot the diet that won him permission to board an airplane for the first time and fly here to see a cousin.

He's comparatively skinny now—just a 369-pound shadow of his pre-diet 642-pound self.

Cherry wasn't worried today about a problem that may arise a dozen meals from now. He's just hoping the airlines will let him return to the west coast by plane.

Colorful Jimmy O'Brien Remains Shamrock In Garden Of Fleurs-de-lis

By W. R. WHEATLEY
Canadian Press Staff Writer

QUEBEC (CP) — Silver-haired Jimmy O'Brien is one of those unique personalities of old Quebec, a shamrock in a garden of fleurs-de-lis.

A fabulous family man and a telegrapher in the long-gone days of the roving, happy-go-lucky dot-and-dash craftsmen, Jimmy O'Brien is as Irish as his name. His wife is as French as this storied city itself.

Forty years ago they met, fell in love, married and began to raise a family before either could speak the other's language. Their 11 children grew up in a bilingual household where the healthy hilarity of little hell-raisers was tempered by great love and understanding.

The O'Brien kids scuffed through 75 pairs of shoes a year, living-room carpets were worn bare in a matter of weeks, the baker struggled into the house with 14 loaves of bread three times a week. And Pop was making $35 a week.

RETIRES AT 65

Jimmy O'Brien had graduated from messenger and commercial company telegrapher into the elite, post-graduate class of press-wire telegraphers. He was one of the first operators to work for the Canadian Press. When he retired at 65 a few weeks ago he quit a career that embraced Morse telegraphy, news reporting and the modern-day teletype operation.

He could whip out dots and dashes with the best; he could "put it down" from the fastest senders. He could match that rollicking old-time crew yarn for yarn—by then in French or English—with the Irish brogue he can't shake and wouldn't want to, a brogue as hick as soupe aux pois Canadienne. And, it is whispered, he could out-guzzle his cronies, let them come singly or in relays.

"Them were the days when people p'inted to us on the streets and said: 'That feller is an operator.' Nobody used any such fancy damn word as 'telegrapher.'"

FAMOUS OLD-TIMERS

Jimmy hobnobbed with such old-timers as Steamboat Lachevrotiere who screamed and cursed if someone bedevilled him with "toot toot" on the wire; Larry Burns, who deserted his native Quebec for Toronto; Benny Lee, Garden Andrews, Johnny Alexander, "Okay-DV" Davenport and Old Man Hayden, always called just that, who was a press telegrapher for years in Montreal.

Jimmy was working beside Lachevrotiere the time big old Steamboat messed up a railway car report. The sender zipped through the coded designation "MRS Car Wabash." Steamboat put it down "Mrs. Carwasher."

Jimmy O'Brien, baptized James Joseph, was born in 1887 in Quebec, birthplace of his parents who were children of Irish immigrants. The O'Brien home was on Champlain street, a string of ancient Irish, English and Scots homes in the midst of everything French-Canadian.

It was a rugged childhood for young Jimmy. The Irish kids fought with the others and among themselves. Jimmy's parish priest had to admonish them: "Now, when ye get out of mass let them Protestant kids be. If 10 o'clock is their church time, that's their business."

MESSENGER AT 14

Jimmy was only 14 when he became a telegraph messenger with the CPR. He learned telegraphy, became a relief operator in the city's branch offices and finally a regular member of the staff at $23 a month. Overtime rate was 13 cents an hour.

Small increases came, but not fast enough for Jimmy. He switched to the Great North Western Telegraph Company and soon was making the almost unprecedented salary of $82.50 a month.

That was affluence itself for handsome, debonair young Jimmy with the sparkling blue eyes. Then he met Maria Laperriere, a pretty, dark-haired girl, three years younger.

The two stared moonstruck at each other and fell heels over head in love. The language barrier was only incidental. Maria struggled to write cards to Jimmy in the language she couldn't speak. The young swain sweated out replies in French.

They were married in 1912. Two years later Jimmy began working with the Canadian Press Association, forerunner of The Canadian Press of today. The O'Brien family was already started.

Twelve youngsters in all came along, nine girls and three boys. One girl, a twin, died in infancy.

LIVELY MENAGE

The ever-increasing O'Brien family became a lively concern. Some of the youngsters spoke English first, others French, often depending on whether Pop was working days or nights. But all quickly became bilingual.

When the family moved to all-French Beauport on Quebec's outskirts, the O'Brien children were, to the neighborhood, "les enfants qui sont differents des autres."

They were different from the other kids, all right, and often they had to fight for their very name. "O'Brien" was something that brought hoots and jeers and small flying fists.

Seven of the 11 O'Briens are married now but the happy family life hasn't slowed. The boys are husky and handsome, the girls graceful, poised and downright good-looking, with coal-black hair and dark, shining eyes. Four unmarried daughters are working and live with Mamma and Pop in a comfortable flat on Quebec's Lockwell street.

IN ON BIG STORIES

Jimmy regales visitors and family with stories of incidents that became a part of his life. They were also a part of the news of Quebec and of the world.

He handled stories on the 1914 sinking of the Empress of Ireland in the Gulf of St. Lawrence. He had a scoop when the Quebec bridge collapsed in 1916. He helped movie actress Ann Harding switch booking to an earlier ship when she was trying in 1937 to elude her divorced husband and sail with her child.

In 1934 Jimmy tied up a telephone circuit north of Quebec for hours and had an exclusive interview with a Polish balloonist, believed lost, who won a great international race.

KEPT TAB ON CHURCHILL

During the 1944 Churchill-Roosevelt conferences in Quebec, Jimmy was the first newspaper man to learn that the British prime minister had sneaked off for a bit of fishing. Another time, when President Roosevelt met Lord Tweedsmuir, then governor-general, Jimmy had the job of organizing press facilities. He was assigned a gleaming limousine and a liveried chauffeur.

"There was quite a stir on my street when the car picked me up or drove me home."

Once he kept Prime Minister St. Laurent—then a Quebec lawyer—40 minutes on the telephone at supper time for an explanation of a difficult point of law.

During the last war Jimmy went aboard a government cutter to witness the seizure of an Italian ship. The weather was stormy and the harbor water rough. Jimmy had to leap from the cutter to a rope ladder dangling down the side of the Italian vessel.

"There I was, a-swinging like the pendulum on a grandfather's clock."

And there was the time Jimmy thought he had lost his glasses during a shipboard interview with the late Mackenzie King.

The prime minister of Canada got down on hands and knees and joined Jimmy in crawling about the cabin. Mr. King found the case, but no glasses. Hurrying back to the office, Jimmy thrust his hand in his coat pocket—and there they were.

OLD-TIME OPERATOR—Jimmy O'Brien is one of Canada's old-time telegraph operators who graduated from messenger and commercial company telegrapher into the elite, post-graduate class of press-wire telegraphers. He was one of the first operators to work for The Canadian Press. As Irish as his name, 40 years ago he met and married a French-Canadian girl and raised a family of 11 children and 17 grandchildren in Quebec city.

Hunting Season In Alberta No Accidents

By GRAHAM TROTTER
Canadian Press Staff Writer

EDMONTON (CP) — Alberta and Saskatchewan have closed the books on one of their biggest hunting seasons. A highlight of the Alberta season was that there were no hunting fatalities for the first time in years.

Although complete figures are not yet available, Alberta reports more game hunting licences, except for non-resident big-game hunters, were sold than in any other year. Sale of licences to resident hunters alone will top the 40,000 mark. Only four years ago the total was 27,000.

In Saskatchewan, it is estimated there were about 50,000 resident and non-resident bird hunters and between 25,000 and 35,000 big-game hunters.

The over-all take in Alberta may be down because of the mild fall and early winter which produced little or no snow. This made birds and animals harder to hunt. Saskatchewan hunters reported the same difficulty.

Biggest worry of Alberta game officials at the moment is the unusually large number of ducks still in the province because of this mild weather. If they stay too long many of the ducks may be too thin to make the long annual migration to the southern states for the winter.

Ideal breeding conditions resulting from heavy spring and summer rains helped swell Alberta's duck population. Brood counts—young hatched in the province—increased 80 per cent over last year.

FUR SEASON OPENS

Fur trapping is getting into full swing. Close to 3,500 trappers are following a network of traplines covering approximately 150,000 square miles in Saskatchewan's northland. Alberta has an estimated 3,000 trappers, who last year trapped more than 2,000,000 wild animals valued at $1,765,000.

There is lots of fur to trap in both provinces. Prices are reported unattractive in Alberta although in Saskatchewan they are expected to hold up fairly well, with initial prices slightly above average.

A big muskrat salvage operation is in progress in Saskatchewan, aimed at harvesting a surplus supply which may die in frozen shallow waters unless harvested now.

Driver of the other car involved in the head-on crash, one and a half miles west of here, was Carl Alan Churcher, 17, of Tillsonburg. He is in satisfactory condition in hospital here suffering jaw injuries.

Police said charges will be laid against Churcher.

Mr. Overbaugh's mother, Mrs. Oscar Overbaugh, Simcoe, collapsed this morning with a heart attack.

Expansion Of World Trade Aim Of Commonwealth Strengthening Silver Area

By ALAN HARVEY
Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON (CP)—Britain and the sterling countries of the Commonwealth enter the new year committed to a broad new program of economic development designed ultimately to put the pound sterling on equal terms with the dollar.

In one of the major developments of 1952, premiers and finance ministers from nine countries including Canada gathered in London early in December for what was described as the most determined effort yet made to strengthen the financial position of the sterling area. After a two-week meeting, the conference issued a 2,500-word communique which included these pronouncements:

1. The Commonwealth countries agreed on a "plan" to create conditions for expanding world trade. Although the nature of the plan was not specified, the significant point was that the countries had agreed on expansion rather than further restrictionism.

CO-OPERATION SOUGHT

2 Efforts would be made to seek co-operation of other trading areas. This implied the belief that dollar-sterling balance must be sought in concert with the two other major trading groups, the United States and Western Europe. Plans for a world economic conference were mooted at the Commonwealth talks but late in December it was said such a gathering is unlikely to be held.

3. Commonwealth countries agreed to follow economic policies designed to curb inflation. This appeared to be in line with repeated Canadian appeals for sterling area countries to live within their means. Finance Minister Douglas Abbott, one of the leading Canadian delegates, was understood to have felt that the conference came closer to a realistic appreciation of the Canadian viewpoint than any similar post-war meeting.

4. Plans were outlined for an intensified drive for development within the sterling area, particularly in under-developed countries, to save dollars and increase dollar earning. Independently of the conference, a Commonwealth finance corporation was set up in London's financial district, with limited capital and borrowing powers, to investigate development projects.

Chairman of the committee organizing the corporation, closely supported by the Bank of England and leading London financial interests, is 81-year-old Sir Edward Peacock, a Toronto parson's son and native of Glengarry, Ont., who became one of the most powerful financial figures in London after quitting his teacher's job in Toronto just after the turn of the century.

CANADIANS OPTIMISTIC

The communique was in general terms, not easily summarized. But members of the Canadian delegation, headed by Prime Minister St. Laurent, were apparently united in their belief that the conference seemed to mark a new initiative in Commonwealth financial affairs.

That is to say, the Canadian ministers and officials felt that in stressing sterling "self-help," progressive removal of trade restrictions and a desire to create the conditions for multilateral trade, the Commonwealth was supporting the right aims and principles.

In general, the Canadian thesis was that the sterling countries had decided to turn their backs on the tempting idea of a closed sterling area, protected by quotas and controls, and had thus escaped the danger of splitting the free world into hostile dollar and sterling blocs.

The December conference was the second major Commonwealth financial meeting during the year. In January, Britain called the "crisis" conference at which she and her sterling area partners applied severe import restrictions to try to halt a drain on the area's gold and dollar reserves.

TRADE DECLINED

By these restrictions and related measures, the sterling countries sought to be in balance with the rest of the world by the end of 1952. This was achieved before the date set, but the dollars that flowed into the Bank of England were obtained on a shrinking volume of trade. Even then, the gold and dollar reserves at year's end totalled only some $1,900,000,000.

For Britain, it was financially an uneven and confusing year. It opened with the dollar reserves draining away swiftly in an atmosphere of crisis. Then the import restrictions decided on at the january conference of finance ministers began to take effect, and by midsummer the run on the sterling area kitty had stopped.

But there were some less encouraging signs. Industrial production dropped for the first time in the post-war years. There were pockets of unemployment in some industries, caused by the import cuts.

As the year ended the main problem remained—how to correct the strain on the sterling area caused by the financial pre-eminence of the United States.

4 Children Die In Flames, Mother Away From Home

Churchill To See Eisenhower Early In January

LONDON (CP)—Prime Minister Churchill will sail for New York New Year's Eve to talk over global problems informally with President-elect Eisenhower, pay his respects to President Truman in Washington and fly to Jamaica for a two-week holiday. The announcement of the 78-year-old prime minister's trip on the liner Queen Mary was made today by his office at 10 Downing St. The Cunard Steamship Co. Ltd., said the huge ship would sail at noon Dec. 31 and was expected to arrive in New York about Jan. 5.

In New York, Eisenhower said: "I have heard that my old friend was coming and I am delighted to meet him."

Diplomatic informants said during his three days in New York, Churchill will discuss with the next U.S. President the Korean war, Anglo-American trade and financial co-operation and defence problems in West Europe and Southeast Asia.

It is likely, also, that the two leaders will talk over the possibility of a meeting with Prime Minister Stalin.

MOVES FAST

The announcement of Churchill's trip came less than 48 hours after Stalin stated he looked favorably on the idea of direct talks with Eisenhower aimed at easing world tensions.

Churchill has said he favored top-level talks with the Russians—with Britain taking part.

Eisenhower has not disclosed his personal reaction but his aides said he feels wary of being hoodwinked by the Russians at any conference with Stalin.

Informed London sources predicted Churchill would pay a second visit—an official one, this time—to the United States after the Jan. 20 inauguration of the new President. On that trip, the prime minister likely will take along other officials, including Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden and R. A. Butler, chancellor of the exchequer. Details might be worked out in the coming Eisenhower-Churchill chats.

STAY WITH BARUCH

Churchill's wife, their daughter Mary and her husband, Christopher Soames, a Conservative member of Parliament, will accompany him on the Queen Mary. They will stay in New York with the British leader's old friend, Bernard Baruch.

Washington officials said reception arrangements there had not yet been worked out so it could not be said whether Churchill would stay at the White House.

Senator Estes Kefauver (Dem. Tenn.) told reporters he hoped Congress would invite Churchill to address a joint session. "His trips always help to heal wounds and improve relations between our countries," Kefauver said.

The official British announcement today stressed the Caribbean part of the Churchill tour. It said:

"The prime minister is leaving by the Queen Mary on Dec. 31 to

Huge Meteorite To Be Put In Museum

BELLEVILLE (CP)—A 125-pound meteorite which fell on a southeastern Ontario farm 67 years ago will soon be on display at the Abbey Dawn museum near Kingston.

Few residents of the Frankford district in Murray township remember the August evening in 1879 when the astral object roared out of the sky and buried itself in the hillside on the farm of George W. Arnott.

Mr. Arnott's son, George Jr., still remembers the sudden roar like a clap of thunder when the meteorite plunged into the earth only 30 rods from the farm buildings

"Father and mother were at the barn milking and I had been left alone in the house," he recalled. "There was a thunder storm approaching and the meteorite fell just before the storm arrived."

GREAT CURIOSITY

His father dug it up next day and it was a great curiosity for a few years, before it was forgotten in the Arnott barnyard.

"People came for miles to see it," Mr. Arnott said. He recalled two men from Cobourg who drove some 30 miles by horse and buggy for a long examination.

Most meteorites which reach the earth's surface weigh only a few pounds. Their rapid flight through the stratosphere creates incandescent heat and they generally burn out.

The Arnott meteorite is believed composed of iron, nickel and other elements in varying quantities. It is gunmetal in color and has the fused crust characteristic of such objects. It is heavily pitted and shot through with a maroon-colored substance thought to be a form of iron. But 67 years of exposure to the elements haven't put any rust on it.

Christmas Bonus Frightens Czech

TORONTO — A native of Czechoslovakia recently arrived in Canada found it hard to believe that the firm he began to work for a few weeks ago would give him a Christmas bonus.

The employer, who runs a steel warehouse, said Thursday night that the day before Christmas he went to his immigrant employee, working in the yard loading steel, and handed him a $25 bonus. "For Christmas," he said.

The man said "Thank you," and began to leave.

"Where are you going?" asked his employer.

The man, who spoke little English, said: "I am fired?"

It took some time to make him understand the bonus was a gift, not his dismissal pay. The man brushed tears out of his eyes and said it was the first time he had ever heard of a Christmas bonus.

Pointing to his feet, he said: "See those? In Czechoslovakia I worked four months for my board and those shoes."

10 People Killed On Rubber Estate

SINGAPORE (Reuters) — Ten persons were killed on a rubber estate in Johore, Malaya, Friday when a band of 30 Communist terrorists ambushed an armored car.

It was the first heavy blow struck by the Communists in the last three months.

The dead included five Malay constables, two Malay women, a Malay child and the Indian driver of the car. Another Malay constable died of wounds.

Dowager Queen Ill Hold Little Hope

COPENHAGEN (AP) — Denmark's Dowager Queen Alexandrine, who underwent a major operation 11 days ago, is fighting for her life with little hope of survival.

The 73-year-old Queen—widow of King Christian X and mother of the present monarch, King Frederik IX—has been in a coma for about 24 hours. Doctors said privately she has only "a terribly small chance, if any" to pull through.

Some Confusion Over Prisoners

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP) — There was a little confusion regarding the whereabouts of Lonnie Cooper Friday. Police hunted the Negro escapee from the state mental hospital while he cooled his heels in the county jail.

Cooper, charged with murder in the death last May of Charles Frank Bowman, a nightwatchman, escaped from the hospital Nov. 19. He showed up back there Dec. 14 and two attendants recognized him but decided he was too intoxicated to be readmitted.

The attendants called the county sheriff's office to pick up the fugitive, but when no officers arrived took Cooper to the jail, where he was locked up.

Friday he was still listed as an escapee from the hospital, however and police sought him widely.

Explained police Lieut. Alan Templeton: "Nobody ever called us with this information."

Neighbors See Blaze Too Late

Village Near Ottawa Has Little For Fire Protection

DESCHENES, Que. (CP) — Police and fire authorities sought today to establish the cause of a sudden fire in which four children burned to death during the absence of their mother.

Dead in the Friday night blaze are the four children of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Glandon—Suzanne, 10, Claude, 8, George, 7 and Jacques 4.

Another child, Richard Glandon, 9, escaped a similar fate because he was staying at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Johnson, friends of the family, where the Glandon children had spent Christmas.

The father of the dead children is with the 25th brigade in Korea.

ARRIVED TOO LATE

Mrs. Glandon was at first believed to have also perished in the blaze. But she was absent when the fire broke out. She later came home to find police and firemen removing the bodies of her children from the ruins.

The mother collapsed and was taken to a hospital in Hull.

The fire shocked this little Quebec village five miles west of Ottawa. A number of citizens, including Mr. Johnston, complained of lack of adequate fire protection.

"We have absolutely no fire protection in this village," he said.

COULDN'T HELP

The fire was first noticed by Felix Huot and Joseph Rolland. They ran to the house, but it was already a mass of flames. Mr. Huot attempted to get into the house, but was driven back by the flames.

"I saw the form of one of the children in the living room but I could not reach him," he said.

Deschenes has a local volunteer fire brigade, but Mr. Johnston said it is not adequate.

Fire departments in nearby Hull and Aylmer, Que., did not hear of the fire until it was almost over.

Call Churchill Visit Reconnaissance Move

LONDON (AP) — British newspapers today viewed Winston Churchill's coming visit to the United States as the prime minister's "personal reconnaissance" to feel out President-elect Eisenhower's attitude toward world problems.

The announcement came too late for editorial comment by London morning newspapers, except the Liberal News Chronicle which tersely welcomed the trip. Reports by political correspondents, however, were given top play.

The Conservative Daily Telegraph said Churchill's trip will "in no way substitute for a formal visit of a British delegation headed by Churchill and planned for the end of February or early March."

The London Financial Times' correspondent said the trip was decided upon because a preliminary exchange of views on the new administration's basic policies could not be delayed until Eisenhower was fully settled in the White House. The paper said:

"A delay of some six weeks might, in existing circumstances, be detrimental to efficient pursuit of NATO defence plans.

"It would also hold up progress of various plans decided upon at the Commonwealth economic conference in London aimed at liberalization of trade and exchanges which are subject to co-operation by the United States."

De Gaullist Working Hard To Form New Government

PARIS (AP) —Premier-designate Jacques Soustelle worked feverishly today to round up enough supporters to form a new government around Gen. Charles de Gaulle's right-wing Rassemblement du Peuple Francais.

But the tough, ambitious young De Gaullist gave up hope of giving President Vincent Auriol a definite yes-or-no answer by tonight. He said he would announce his decision Sunday.

Although he was reported to have won cautious support from a few independents, Soustelle already has frightened away some of the big party leaders by his pledge to scrap the European Army proposal, demand important revisions in NATO and change the constitution to give the president more power and weaken that of the assembly. The latter point is one De Gaulle has been fighting for for years.

Political observers had given Soustelle but slim chance of success in forming a strong enough coalition to replace that of Antoine Pinay, whose resignation Monday threw the government into another of its chronic crises

To overcome the bitter opposition of France's two biggest parties—the leftist Socialists and the Communists—Soustelle must win over the middle-of-the-road Radical Socialists, Popular Republicans, Christian Democrats and a number of independent groups.

Some of these have indicated they would go along with Soustelle if he modifies his ideas about trimming the powers of the assembly. The possibility that De Gaulle — who they think may have dictatorial ideas — might use Soustelle as a bridge to walk into power gives them nightmares.

Falling Out Of Bandits Solved Robbery

BOSTON (AP) — Three Boston newspapers said today they learned a falling out among the Brink's bandits made Joseph J. (Specs) O'Keefe the "goat" and enabled federal investigators to gather enough evidence to charge him as a participant in the $1,219,000 robbery Jan. 17, 1950.

The Post, Herald and Record said the split among the gang was indicated by federal officials Friday night as the contents of a signed statement by O'Keefe became public.

The statement was reported to have been made shortly after the arrest of O'Keefe and Stanley Gusciora on gun-carrying charges in Pennsylvania.

O'Keefe intimated in the letter that the federal bureau of investigation knew his every move and that he was lured into taking the trip through Pennsylvania which resulted in his arrest.

MAY CALL GAGNON

Another Boston newspaper, the Globe, said the grand jury investigating the robbery may call Alfred Gagnon, 41-year-old convict of Cranton, R.I., state prison, who has claimed to be one of the planners of the holdup.

Last May Gagnon told Attorney-Generl William E. Powers of Rhode Island and Attorney-General Francis E. Kelly of Massachusetts that he and Carlton M. O'Brien planned the Brink's crime.

Less than 72 hours later — early on the morning of May 17 — O'Brien was ambushed and slain in front of his home. His killer has not been apprehended.

Gagnon's story generally was discounted by police.

Punched In Face By Russians

BERLIN (Reuters)—A United States Army lieutenant held prisoner by the Russians for 32 days said Friday after his release that he had been punched in the face twice in tussles with his Soviet guards.

Lieut. Joseph Horace Sincore, 25, of Homestead, Fla., showed reporters a scar on his nose and said:

"That's where a Russian sergeant hit me after I pushed him away. We started scrapping and another Russian fired his machinegun at the ceiling to stop us."

But Sincore did not complain of consistent ill treatment during his stay in Soviet army barracks and prisons after being arrested Nov. 24 by East German police while walking near the border of East and West Berlin. He said he "quarrelled" with his guards and "put out a left" at them during both punching incidents.

Redfaced Firemen Have To Ask Help

HARVEYSBURG, O. (AP)—Redfaced volunteer firemen here swallowed their pride Friday night and called in neighboring Waynesville volunteers for help. The fire house was on fire.

The hose on Harveysburg's pumper also was blazing, so the firemen couldn't do anything except pray for the fast arrival of the Waynesville department.

The Waynesville department gallantly raced the six miles and had the fire under control in about a hit houra.

Pulls Gun Once Too Often Grandma Robber Captured

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Grandma, who pulled a toy gun on a bank teller once too often, revealed herself Friday as a one-time daughter of wealth, educated at the best schools, polished by travel in Europe.

But, she said, her father lost his $20,000,000 fortune in Wall Street in the crash of 1929, and she turned to robbery when arthritis crippled her hands. She insisted it was a Robin Hood sort of career—she gave her money to others.

Her father, said grandma, was a New York and Philadelphia financier, the late Robert M. Catts, who made his vast stake in real estate and construction financing.

But reports from the east indicated that her description of his operations may have been somewhat overdrawn.

PLEA DELAYED

Charged in three counts of bank robbery, Mrs. Ethel Arata, 52, told commissioner Howard V. Calverly in Federal Court that she wished to plead guilty and did not want a lawyer. But he ordered her plea delayed until Jan. 9 to give a grand jury a chance to look into her case.

She was captured Christmas Eve by the manager of a bank in nearby Arcadia, moments after she failed to bluff a woman teller with a toy pistol. Later, to police, she admitted she held up branches here of the California Bank on Oct. 17 and the Citizens National Bank Nov. 26, getting a total of $1,469.

Three Drowned In Car Plunge

TRAIL, B.C. (CP)—Three teenagers were drowned Thursday night when trapped in the cab of a truck which plunged from a ferry into the Columbia river at Castlegar, B.C., about 20 miles north of Trail. Three others were rescued.

Dead are:

Paul Davidoff, 17, of Pincher Creek, Alta., said by police to have been driver of the truck.

Olga Soukoroff, 16, of Thrums, B.C.

Bonnie Loff, 18, of Glade, B.C.

Rescued were Bernard Loff, 16, of Glade; George Kabatoff, 16, of Thrums, and Mary Abrossimoff, 15, also of Thrums.

Police said the truck apparently ran down the ferry ramp out of control, shot across the ferry and broke through the guard chain, plunging into 35 feet of water.

Immigration Official Explains Delay

BUFFALO, N. Y. (AP) — An immigration official said Friday Archibald Lewis Douglas was barred from immediate entry into the United States because of doubt whether he intends to live in the country permanently.

Douglas, 58, son of the late Norman Douglas, British author and satirist, said in Toronto he tried Tuesday and Wednesday to enter the U. S. to visit his wife and three children in Rhode Island, only to be told his papers were not in order.

Arthur J. Karnuth, U. S. district immigration and naturalization service director, said the holidays delayed convening a special three-man board that ordinarily considers such cases.

Karnuth said if Douglas should reach him today he would arrange to expedite the case.

Allied Raiders Make Sortie

SEOUL (AP) — Allied raiders pushed through a freezing snow on the western front today and killed or wounded an estimated 53 Chinese Communists.

The Eighth Army said the Allied unit engaged the Reds in a 40-minute clash near the truce-site city of Panmunjom in near-zero temperatures.

A brief fight erupted nearby when a Chinese unit of unknown size stabbed unsuccessfully at Allied positions.

The Eighth Army said a Chinese platoon attacked on the eastern front south of Anchor hill and defending troops killed or wounded 13 Reds.

Sends Out SOS To Save Ship

SYDNEY, Australia (AP) — The captain of the Australian coastal freighter Merino, aground off Tasmania, appealed today for additional tugs to save his craft and a cargo of priceless French paintings.

Heavy seas pounded the 549-ton vessel, which grounded on a sandbar in fog Christmas morning. It was en route from Sydney to Hobart, Tasmania, with the most valuable collection of contemporary French paintings ever brought to Australia. Many of the paintings were lent by the Paris Museum of Modern Art. Others are the property of artists themselves. They are insured for the equivalent of $230,550.

Ratify Decision

BELGRADE (AP)—Yugoslavia's Parliament today unanimously ratified the decision by Premier Tito's Communist government to break off diplomatic relations with the Vatican because of a church-state dispute.

Fear U.S. Holiday Deaths Headed For Yuletide Record

CHICAGO (AP) — The United States traffic death toll raced along at a reckless pace today and appeared headed for a four-day Christmas holiday record.

Deaths on U. S. highways, at a little past the halfway mark in the extended holiday week-end, reached 336. Nearly 100 other persons lost their lives in various types of accidents, including 43 in fires.

The national safety council, expressing concern at the high accident rate, urged motorists to use "common sense, courtesy and a practical application of the Christmas spirit." It warned of the "biggest, ugliest traffic death toll ever piled up on any holiday in the history of our country."

The record slaughter on the highways was during the four-day Christmas holiday of 1936 when 555 persons were killed in motor accidents. Last year's Christmas holiday recorded the country's highest accidental death toll — a staggering 789 — including 535 traffic.

The council had estimated 590 deaths in traffic accidents for this year's four-day holiday — from 6 p. m. Wednesday to midnight Sunday.

The council said indications are that the estimate now appears conservative unless there is a sharp falling off in deaths today and Sunday.

Police and safety officials said reports indicated most of the U. S. highways are generally clear of snow and ice.

Major factors for the current high accident toll, they said, included driving under the influence of alcohol, deceptive driving conditions and lack of common sense and courtesy.

Eisenhower Wary Of Conference With Russ Leaders

NEW YORK (AP)—Aides of President-elect Eisenhower say he is dedicated to the achievement of durable world peace with honor but is wary of being hoodwinked by the Russians at any conference with Prime Minister Stalin. That is the way the aides sum up the general's position on Stalin's stated interest in ending the Korean war and his indicated willingness to confer with Eisenhower in a move to ease world tension. Eisenhower will insist that the new administration know in advance just what Stalin has in mind before thinking seriously about any face-to-face conference with the Soviet leader. He is understood to feel there must be some convincing demonstration of good faith on the part of Russia as a forerunner of any meeting.

There appears to be no great optimism at the Eisenhower headquarters that such conditions would be met.

However, the latest Stalin move is not being taken lightly by Eisenhower or his aides. They realize that in the eyes of the world, Stalin in effect has said: "Let's get together and talk peace."

Whether propaganda or not, it put the new administration on the spot. The reply of John Foster Dulles, secretary of state-designate, challenged the Russians to prove they aren't bluffing.

Dulles called on Stalin to set forth any concrete proposals he has.

"He can rest assured they will be seriously and sympathetically received," Dulles said in Washington Friday after a telephone conference with Eisenhower in New York.

Dulles suggested that Stalin outline specific peace proposals to the new administration after Eisenhower takes office Jan. 20

The Soviet prime minister's latest overture was made in reply to questions submitted by the New York Times' diplomatic correspondent, James Reston.

In his statement, Dulles also suggested that any Russian proposals be submitted to the Eisenhower administration through the usual diplomatic channels or through the United Nations

The President-elect almost certainly will talk over the matter with Winston Churchill when the British prime minister arrives in New York Jan. 4 for informal conferences with the general Churchill's forthcoming visit was announced in London Friday night.

Vienna Ready To Play Host To Conference

VIENNA (AP) — Austrian Chancellor Dr. Leopold Figl will invite U.S. President - elect Eisenhower and Russia's Prime Minister Stalin to meet in Vienna if the two ever should agree to confer, a top government source disclosed today.

Stalin said this week he would be in favor of U.S.-Russian talks, "looking toward the possibility" of the two leaders getting together. he U.S. secretary of state-designate, John Foster Dulles, Friday asked for "concrete" Soviet proposals before any face-to-face talks.

The Austrian government source said Figl feels Vienna would be the best city in the world for the two representatives of East and West to meet. Vienna is the only capital in the world where East and West still get along in relative friendship. It is occupied by the troops of the Big Four powers, who share equally, and without great difference, the military police administration of the city.

Battered Ship Reaches Port Safely

VANCOUVER (CP)—The fighting freighter Maplecove rested in calm, sheltered waters today, almost within shouting distance of her home berth.

At slack tide the 10,000-ton freighter is scheduled to be towed to the CPR dock here by the tug Island Sovereign, ending more than a week of suspense for crew members' families.

The Maplecove, battered by storms and her rudder almost useless, drew into English Bay here Friday night, but the Pacific hurled a spiteful last-minute blow at the gallant ship.

AVOID RISK

Officials of Canadian Pacific Steamships said they were unwilling to risk bringing the vessel into the inner harbor on a tricky tide. So the Maplecove stopped two miles short of home and waited for the tide to turn.

The 62 crew members were unable to go ashore in another vessel. Because the Maplecove is inbound from the Orient she is under precautionary quarantine. She won't be cleared and the crew allowed to leave until a doctor has inspected the ship.

A series of storms bombarded the Maplecove almost without letup from the time she damaged her rudder a week ago Thursday 1,260 miles out in the Pacific. Makeshift repairs allowed her to travel at reduced speeds at times but only when the weather was calm. Seldom did the elements give her a respite.

The Maplecove was taken under tow Christmas Day by the Sovereign. Coast guard cutters and the Canadian weather ship St. Catharines also went to the aid of the vessel, originally scheduled to arrive here Dec. 22.

67 Fatalities In Canada Over Holiday

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

A fire in Nova Scotia, another near Ottawa and a level-crossing accident in Quebec province claimed 13 of the 67 lives lost in Canada during Christmas holiday period.

A Danish immigrant and three members of his family were burned to death when a fire destroyed their home at Charleston, N. S., early Saturday. The victims were Mr. and Mrs. Villy Mark Hanson, their three-year-old daughter, Mary Ann, and a three-months-old son.

Among the 20 fatalities in Quebec province were Jean-Paul Giraud, 30, his wife, 29, his brother, Jean-Maire, 22, his sister Solange, 17, and his son, Girard, 4, all killed when their car was struck by a train at a level crossing at St. Perpetue, 75 miles east of Montreal, Christmas night.

Mrs. Florence Glandon's four small children, ranging in ages from 3½ to 10 years, were burned to death Friday night when a fire raced through their tiny home at Deschenes, near Ottawa.

TRAFFIC ACCIDENTS

More than half of Canada's accidental deaths in the three-day period were the result of traffic accidents.

Ontario had 12 dead, eight in traffic; Alberta had 11, 10 in traffic; British Columbia 13, four in traffic, and New Brunswick four, three in traffic. Nova Scotia, Newfoundland and Saskatchewan each had one traffic death.

Three youths were drowned in British Columbia when their truck plunged into a river; a Quebec woman fell beneath a train, one Ontario man and another in Quebec were asphyxiated, a New Brunswick man was struck and killed by pieces of an exploding emery wheel. Girl, 15, Raped Near Lindsay; 2 Men Arrested

Two Lindsay district men have been taken into custody and are being questioned by the OPP in connection with the rape of a 15-year-old Lindsay girl Christmas night.

The alleged offence was reported to have occurred on the Little Britain road, a mile and a half south of Lindsay.

Being questioned by the OPP are two men, identified as Frenchy Demolan, 27, a Lindsay railway worker, and Gerry Strahn, 17, who lives on the eastern outskirts of the town.

A third man is being sought by police.

The story, as reconstructed by police, is that the 15-year-old girl was in a car with a 17-year-old boyfriend, parked on a sideroad near the highway. The time was about 11:30 o'clock Christmas night.

Three men are said to have driven by in a car and apparently observed the couple in the parked car. They stopped their car, walked back and accosted the two 'teen-agers.

Two of the men are said to have held the youth and threatened him while the third raped the girl. This was repeated three times.

No report has been made on the condition of the girl.

Lindsay OPP have been working on the case steadily since it was reported, OPP Constable George Mountsteven in charge of the investigation. He is being assisted by OPP Cpl. Fred Rawlings of Peterborough.

District Inspector J. A. Stringer made a special trip to Lindsay on Friday to check on the progress of the investigation.

See Duplessis, Bishop Holding Parley

QUEBEC (CP)—Premier Duplessis and Bishop Georges-Leon Pelletier of Three Rivers will probably confer soon in an effort to settle a bitter industrial conflict that may lead to a general strike of Quebec's Catholic unions.

Talks conducted at the request of the premier and the bishop by Labor Minister Barrette failed last week to find a solution to the dispute which began March 10 last when 800 workers of Associated Textiles Company of Canada Limited, at Louiseville, went on strike.

The meetings were organized after violence erupted in the small town Dec. 11. Provincial police clashed with strikers and 25 were arrested after reading of the Riot Act.

WAIT FOR NEW YEAR

While the talks were on, the Canadian Catholic Confederation of Labor, with which the Louiseville Textiles Syndicate is affiliated, threatened to call a general strike of its members if the talks failed. Gerard Picard, president, said it was unlikely the action would be called before the new year.

Since the talks were sponsored by Mr. Duplessis and Bishop Pelletier, the CCCL feels there is still hope of a solution from the higher level.

The major disagreement between the union and company—the rehiring of the 460 persons still on strike—has prevented peace from returning to the troubled town of Louiseville.

Discover Whooping Crane Now Closer To Extinction

An aerial census of the last living members of this tribe, America's tallest birds, at their winter home in the Aransas national wildlife refuge on the coast of Texas tallied just 22 of them—one less than last year. To this total add two for the pair of captive birds at the Audubon Park zoo in New Orleans. There is the possibility also that a few individuals were overlooked.

Reporting the census, by the U.S. fish and wildlife service, president John H. Baker of the National Audubon Society said:

"Each year it becomes increasingly apparent that illegal hunting is a factor in reducing the numbers of the whooping crane and increasing the threat of their extinction."

At least two of the great birds were slain this year by hunters on the migration routes from northern Canada to Texas. One, picked up in Saskatchewan, died en route by plane to Texas. The other was killed in Kansas.

Arena Busy With Skating, Hockey Games

Skating at Civic Arena New Year's Eve stops at 10:30 o'clock instead of continuing to midnight and the incoming of 1953.

Walter Smillie, manager, remarked today: "Some smart Alecs arrived after 10:30 last year, and spoiled things for everybody. So, we're not taking a chance on a repetition of that experience."

Skating will be free to the members of the CGE Social and Athletic Club, and restricted to them and their families from 1 to 5 p.m. Sunday Dec. 28 and Jan. 4.

More skaters were out Christmas Day than a year ago, and Boxing Day, afternoon and night, drew a large attendance.

The new Church League for minors got underway this morning from 8 a.m. to 1 p.m., and this afternoon there was public skating until 5 p.m. when the figure skaters moved in until 7 p.m. Tonight's time is for adults again, chiefly the young folks.

Other schedule details include:

Monday night: Hockey, Sr. B., with Orillia as visitors.

Tuesday: Public skating 2 to 4 p.m. and 9 to 10.30, figure skating 6 to 9 p.m.

The New Year's Eve skating has already been mentioned.

New Year's Day: Afternoon for the public, followed by minor hockey, six games, from 5 to 11 p.m.

Friday, Jan. 2: Skating in the afternoon and at 8:30 p.m. hockey, Cobourg vs. IOOF.

Saturday, Jan. 3 Regular schedule; Church League minors 8 a.m. to 1 p.m.; afternoon, public skating to 5 o'clock; figure skating to 7; and public skating for the rest of the evening.

Firm Founder Dies

ST. THOMAS (CP)—Samuel Graham, 82, founder of the Graham Oil Company, died Friday. Born in Collingwood, he practised the trade of a merchant tailor in the West, from Vancouver to Winnipeg.

Teachers Study Workshop Plan

TORONTO (CP)—The executive of the Ontario Public School Men Teachers' Federation meeting here Monday will hear a plan to set up a workshop dealing in school organization and administration.

The plan, suggested by the teacher education and certification committee and to be presented by chairman W. G. Loney of Kitchener, is proposed for a workshop course to be held for 15 days in August at Queen's University, Kingston, McMaster University, Hamilton or the University of Western Ontario, London.

The course would provide for members anxious for promotion or for those who feel the need of improving their professional standing.

Former Cartoonist George Shields Dies

TORONTO (CP) — George S. Shields, 80, former cartoonist with the Toronto Telegram, died Christmas Day.

Mr. Shields, born in Toronto, joined the Telegram staff in 1886 as a printers' devil and retired as cartoonist in 1948. His work was also published in the New York World and the Winnipeg Tribune.

He served on the Toronto city council and in 1926 was elected to the Ontario legislature to represent Woodbine. He remained in the legislature until 1934.

Lunenburg Home Of N.S. Fishing Fleet Lures Tourists Today Instead Of Pirates

Lunenburg, Nova Scotia, home of the famous Bluenose, is a town built on hills, hills that look almost straight up and down. After a day, the visitor acquires the agility of a mountain goat. When you start to climb one hill, you always end up climbing two.

The town is long and narrow and built in tiers overlooking a large sheet of water called the Front Harbor. Here are seen all the big wharves and it is where the large fishing boats put in. However hard times have fallen on the fishing fleet since markets have been lost. Where there used to be 64 boats in the Lunenburg fleet, now only 14 are active. These boats are strange to "Upper Canadian" eyes, but very picturesque.

SOUTH SHORE BEAUTY

It is a wonderful trip by car or bus from Halifax to Lunenburg—about three hours travel. The road follows beside the ocean most of the way. It is one continuous curve with hundreds of coves and inlets—making a pirates' haven in the old days. Between Chester and Lunenburg, perhaps 25-30 miles, there are 375 islands.

The best time to visit Lunenburg is in June or September, before or after the influx of tourists. You can appreciate the quaint beauty of the town and have a better chance to get acquainted with the people there, and they are well worth knowing. At that time costs are apt to be lower too.

There are several small lodges or tourist places to stay at. One of the nicest is Boscawen Manor, about six hills up from the Front Harbor. It has a magnificent view over the harbor and is filled with treasures brought home by many sea captains from their jaunts around the world. The Manor is named after Admiral Boscawen. None of the places have more than about 20 rooms. Boscawen is also noted for its good food. Other places include: Bluenose Lodge, Hillside Hotel and Sunset Cottage.

GERMAN PIONEERS

Lunenburg with a population about 3,000 is the home of the greatest deep sea fishing fleet in America. Between 1751 and 1753, 200 families from Lunenburg, Hanover in Germany and a number of Swiss founded the town, giving it the name of their old home. In and around Lunenburg are numerous relics of an historic and exciting past.

All kinds of fascinating trips can be taken from Lunenburg. If possible, have your own car so that you can spend as long as you want. If not, I found a delightful guide in a town resident, Howard Knickle. Tremendously proud of his part of the country, he does a wonderful job of presenting the fishing people and their town at their best.

A popular haunt of tourists and artists alike is Blue Rocks, five miles distant. The usual quiet cove which forms a natural harbor for small fishing boats is prefaced by huge sections of slate-like rocks, tossed up out of the ocean. In certain lights they are a decided blue, hence the name. On a sunny day, it is delightful to sit on the rocks and enjoy the view of the coast and watch the sapphire-colored sea break at your feet. At one end of the village is Greek Point, dotted with picturesque lobster shacks. This is where many artists try their skill.

VISIT THE OVENS

Another delightful spot about 10 miles distant and on the opposite shore are large caverns worn into the sides of the rocky cliffs by the action of the salt water. These are called The Ovens. The park is on the site of on oldtime gold rush and contains many old pits and tunnels. There are huge tunnels under rock walls facing the ocean. When a heavy sea is running, the noise of the water pounding in sounds like gunfire in Lunenburg. Part of The Ovens, (which is on private farm property) was the spot where Samuel Cunard first got his fortune to start his great enterprise. There is a small museum on the grounds and also some cabins. It is a fascinating sight to watch the waves breaking around the jagged edges of the tunnels and cliffs as you walk along the top.

It is possible for those with cars to visit Nova Scotia in two weeks. There is also excellent rail and bus service. Lunenburg is one of the Dominion's beauty spots along the South Shore (actually on the east coast). Its fascination clings with a visitor and I have a date to return there soon.

Jail Bare, Dinner Off

GODERICH (CP)—There was no Christmas dinner at the Huron county jail. Reason—no prisoners.

Bright Confusion Around Tree Coined A Word

The man of the house in the midst of all the charming confusion of Christmas, much of it underfoot in the living room, might imagine himself as one of those family fellows in similar situations of festive domesticity long ago that inspired the word extricate.

At least it is an idea to toy with in detached moments of whimsy in which he looks upon the agreeable scene around him in his home, preferably Christmas night under the spell of the lights and flowers and gay wrappings of gifts arranged on and around the brightly decorated tree. In that mood, he should also catch the note of humor in the word, and see himself as one of those who had a hand, and foot, in its coining.

Extricate derives from the Latin verb extricare, meaning to disentangle, as the dictionary tells us. It is made of the prefix "ex" meaning "out of", and the noun "tricae", the interesting root associating the head of a house on Rubidge St., for instance, with his fancied counterpart in antiquity.

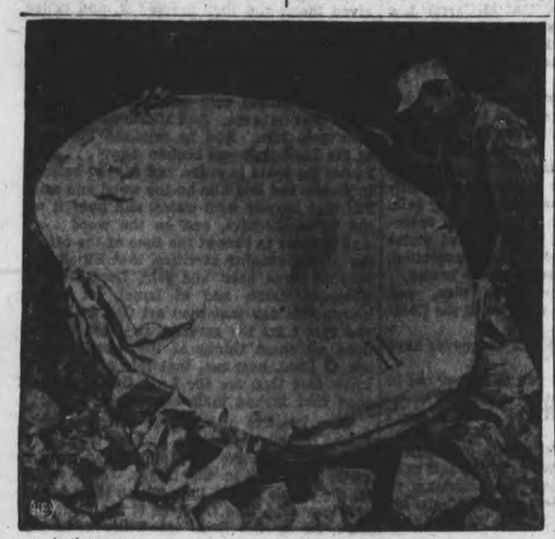
"Tricae" was the Latin plural for trifles, toys, trumpery (and the odd trumpet or small boy's bugle), to quote the dictionary again, gifts around the Christmas tree Thursday, which, getting underfoot, become 'impediments' or hindrances. Father stepped warily among and around them, as did so many another father all the way back through the years.

What if that ancient parent was celebrating the solar festival in Decembers before Christ! There were "tricae" then as now, and they demanded circumspection of the head of the house in moving about his living room lest he stubbed his sandal and his big toe on junior's toy chariot. Or it could have been some other form of mishap from which he had to extricate himself (from the trumpery, the collective thought under his breath for the collection of toys).

Hence, the word extricate originated, let us say, in some festive living room long past. The first humor of it remains but the English genius for language lifted it out of that scene and gradually gave it the general meaning it denotes today.

For instance, if we have overspent on "tricae," which conceivably might include the new car out in the garage, we might have to extricate ourselves from our impedment of credit with the banker. And, that's no fun, signifying that we have stripped the original word of its humor. (H.T.)

CAPTURED BY RCMP — Henry Seguin, 27, wanted by police of two provinces, has been captured after a gun battle with the RCMP near Williams Lake, B.C. Seguin alias Beaudry, wounded in the capture, was arrested following an alleged attempt to rob a branch of the Canadian Bank of Commerce December 15 at Williams Lake, during which bank manager Leonard Hillier was wounded. He also faces a charge of murder in the August 18 slaying of Leonard Hurd at Maxville, Ontario.



FLYING SAUCER GROUNDED—A ripped and torn cardboard object containing miscellaneous wiring and broken light bulbs is examined by Ralph Young, employee of a West Orange, N.J., quarry where the disc came to earth. Although it resembled the popular conception of a flying saucer, the cone-shaped "space machine" turned out to be a dance hall decoration. It was at first thought to have been dropped from an airplane.

Immigration By Invitation

The United States will in future govern its immigration by the McCarran Act, a document which is remarkable for two reasons. First, it requires 250 pages of small print to define and explain the Act. Now it is sometimes necessary for a law to be complex and detailed, but good lawyers and good lawmakers try to keep the law as simple as it can be, and still provide justice for all. A single act governing immigration which fills a book is bound to create confusion, for only a very few people will be able to master it in all its details, and a great number of officials are necessarily engaged in immigration work; everybody entering the U.S.A. will meet at least one such official, and the chances are very strongly against his being an expert on the McCarran Act. We can foresee a great deal of embarrassment—to use a friendly word—as a result of it.

* * *

The second reason why the McCarran Act astonishes us is that it will virtually close to immigration the country which has, in modern times, derived most benefit from a free and simple immigration policy, and which has for several generations been the Promised Land of Europeans who wanted to better themselves. Under the McCarran Act just about anyone who wants to go to the U.S.A. to settle must be sponsored by relatives or a future employer; there must also be, in many cases, proof that similar talent or labour is not already available in the U.S.A. Consider what a nuisance this is going to be to a university which wants to import a distinguished philosopher; is there a philosopher in the U.S.A. who is just as good? Who is to answer that question? And in the labour field, we recall the case of a few Basque shepherds who were recently brought to the U.S. because a sheep-rancher wanted them to instruct his employees in certain skills which the Basques possessed and the Americans did not; there was a good deal of questioning as to whether European methods of sheep care were really needed in the U.S.A.

* * *

During the recent presidential campaign both candidates promised to alter the McCarran Act if they came into power. We shall watch what Mr. Eisenhower does with interest.

Meanwhile, let Canada beware of copying this act. The U.S.A. became great during a period of very free immigration. That policy created some nuisances, but its total effect was very good. We need people, and if the U.S. does not want them, we have plenty of room for them.

Competition For The Library

"We therefore recommend that a National Library be established without delay". This is one of the important recommendations of the Massey Commission, 1951. In the same Report, but in Part I, and without the weight of an official recommendation, there appears this paragraph, in the section dealing with architecture:

"Two important suggestions were made to us. First, all important buildings should be designed in open competition. Such a procedure would help to avoid the mediocrity which so easily besets government architecture and would provide at once an example to private enterprise and a stimulus to the architectural consciousness of the public. It would have the added advantage of encouraging the able young architects who too often must spend his early years executing the plans of others. We were reminded that in a number of European countries all administrative and public buildings are now designed by architects selected through open competition. This tradition is indeed well established; St. Peter's in Rome, the Houses of Parliament in London, and many famous buildings in France, Belgium and Scandinavia have been built under the supervision of architects selected by competition. Measures of that kind, if applied to Canada, would, we were told, help to raise the standards of our architecture and would contribute at the same time to the development of a healthy sense of rivalry in the profession".

In view of the recommendation and this statement, we note with concern a report than an architect may be named, without competition, to draft the plans for Canada's new national library. An appropriation for the library is expected to be passed during the present session of Parliament.

Does the report that a Toronto architect may be appointed to design the building mean that it is to be a cut-and-dried affair, the architect selected by the Minister of Public Works or somebody else in the Cabinet? Will no other architect have a chance to submit designs? Will there be no competition?

The Royal Commissioners did not actually recommend that competitions be held for important public buildings; they made no general recommendations about specific methods of any kind. However, the recommendation is implicit. Why in this important matter of a National Library, one of the first recommendations to be adopted, is the Government apparently discarding the Commission's suggestion—and the suggestion of prominent architects submitting briefs to the Commission—by appointing an architect without holding a prior competition?

It may be argued that the best design does not necessarily result from competition; indeed, St. Peter's in Rome and the House of Parliament in London may be architectural prizes, but not prizes of architecture. But in appointing an architect without competition—if that is the Government's plan—the reason should at least be argued.

The Government and all governments in Canada bear a special responsibility in the field of architecture. Not only should they lead the way but as in other fields, in architecture they are the way. The Federal Government alone has been responsible for 25 per cent. of all building in Canada since the war. In his special study "Architecture in Canada" prepared for the Massey Commission, Professor Eric Arthur wrote that "Societies in other ages never saw so great a patron of architecture or so powerful a client". In view of the role it has as the chief client of architects in the country and the creator, by its commissions, of modern Canadian architecture, the Government should not slough off the Massey Commission's suggestion of a competition, and pick an architect out of a hat for a building which should be both a national library and a national monument of Canadian culture.

The Government as patron of architecture should not use its position to dispose plums of patronage by whim or prejudice. An open competition should be held. The architect who is now mentioned as the Government's choice should be able to stand up to such a competition, and indeed, should welcome the chance to prove his mettle.

Two Accidents Every Five Minutes

A survey made by the Federal Government shows that 548 motor accidents occur in Canada every day of the year; two every five minutes. The rate has been increasing year by year. There is undoubtedly a statistical relation between the number of accidents and the number of cars on the highways. The mounting accident rate may be due to the increasing number of cars in Canada, and not—as some interested persons at this time of year claim—to poorer driving ability. We cannot believe that today's drivers, brought up with a steering wheel in their hands, are less skilful than their parents of forty years ago when car driving ability was acquired later in life. Today's cars are more powerful of course and therefore inherently more dangerous.

The number of accidents does show that however much motorists have improved during the last forty years, that improvement has not kept pace with the increasing speed and number of cars. Seven persons die on Canadian roads every 24 hours, and 150 others suffer injuries which are, in some cases, crippling. It is figures like these, and the high fatality rate over holidays such as Christmas and New Year's day, which should give Canadian drivers pause and make them more cautious. The Ottawa report states that most of the accidents "would have been avoidable with the exercise of rational driving habits."

Princely Shop Clerk

We like this Christmas shopping story, a true one. It happened in New York.

In a certain famous Fifth Avenue store, the floor walkers all wear red carnations in their lapels. Into this store, to do a little shopping, walked Prince Bernhard of the Netherlands, also wearing a red carnation. Having made his purchase, he waited for it to be wrapped up. To his surprise, the young lady behind the counter asked him for his name and "department." Slightly bewildered, but his customary good-natured and courteous self, the Prince gave his name and his Netherlands address. The girl then called the store's credit desk, said that one of the store's floor walkers, a guy called Bernhard Prince, was buying things, and was it okay to give him the usual employees' discount?

The clerks looked up Bernhard Prince on the pay-roll, could not find him and started inquiries. This resulted in the head of the store, a famous American citizen, going down to the store from his office "to look this Prince guy over." The drama ended amid laughter and happiness—except that His Royal Highness did not, after all, get his discount.

NOTES AND COMMENT

A Massachusetts couple named Klink have changed their name to O'Rourke. Personally we should have chosen the more euphonious Klank.

The Windsor Star predicts that the Parliamentary Tories will overwork the Currie Report scandal until they kill its political usefulness. We could make a mild joke about "flogging a dead horse" but in deference to the season of goodwill we shall refrain.

The Journal of Samuel Marchbanks

SUNDAY: Attended an eggnog party this evening at which one of the guests was a High School principal, whom everybody treated as if he were no better than themselves. As the eggnog worked its velvet magic upon me I found myself resenting this, on his behalf. When I was but a lad, filled with that superstitious veneration for education which is the bane of the Celtic races, I regarded a High School principal as a being only a little lower than the angels, crammed to the neck with Latin and pregnant with dates; I still retain something of this attitude. I read recently that in the eighteenth century a High School principal was address as Rector Magnificus, or simply "Your Magnificence", by people who knew no Latin; I do not see why this title should not be revived by the Department of Education. Tonight, when I saw a mere business man slap His Magnificence on the back, I turned away, heartsick, and drowned my sorrow stickily in eggnog.

✧ ✧ ✧

MONDAY: Made the final calculations in my Christmas Card Ledger today and discovered that I had sent cards to 14 people who have not sent a card to me, whereas 11 people to whom I have not sent cards have greeted me with 10 cent, 15 cent and in one case 25 cent enthusiasm. Thus I have a slight balance of Satisfaction over Embarrassment, which is about as near Nirvana as I can expect. Four people have sent me two cards, which means that their book-keeping is faulty, or else they desire to propitiate me in a spectacular manner. I closed the Ledger with a sigh, reflecting that for another year this form of Organized Goodwill is at an end. I like Christmas cards pretty well; I enjoy getting them and I like sending them, but I moan under the burden of keeping a yearly list, and getting my cards early, and mailing them in time to please the Postal Department. To my mind, there is a lack of spontaneity in the business of checking one's list of Cards Sent against one's list of Cards Received, and malignantly crossing out those who have failed to come across. But it is done, now, and I went to an eggnog party, secure in the belief that I had Done What Was Right.

✧ ✧ ✧

TUESDAY: To my bank today, and was delighted and touched to find that a large Christmas Tree had been erected on its marble floor. Through the years I have watched, with tremulous interest, the humanizing of banks. There was a time when banks were strictly Old Testament in their religion; not an eye for an eye, and a tooth for a tooth, but an eye for a hair and your right leg for a small loan, was their doctrine. But they have progressed. They are not really in the New Testament yet, but they are working slowly through the Apocrypha. So when I saw a Christmas Tree, sympol of immortality, hope and gift-giving in my bank, my eyes filled, and I tottered toward it with the overflowing hope of a little child. Gifts for the depositors! The thought flashed through my mind like fire from Heaven. A fin, a sawbuck, maybe a century, a pony or even a grand for everybody with a Savings Account! But just then I felt a sudden stunning shock, and oblivion enwrapped me . . . When I came to the Assistant Manager was bending over me with a glass of water. "It's all right Mr. Marchbanks," said he, "you just touched the electric fence we have around out tree; mustn't touch, you know." I stumbled away to an eggnog party, reflecting that I am ahead of my time.

✧ ✧ ✧

WEDNESDAY: Finished my Christmas shopping. True, I finished it three weeks ago, but it is a job which I find requires finishing more than once. At the end of November I fought, bit and clawed my way through the shops, battling with savage women and bitten in the leg by cannibal children, and gathered enough assorted rubbish to fill, as I thought, my Christmas needs. But in the light of Christmas Week it has proved to be too little; my bosom is inflated, almost to bursting, with Brotherly Love and eggnog, and today I sallied forth to shop again. The shops were almost empty, and although the clerks were a little vague and tended to hiccup when asked questions, I achieved my wishes in a short time and hurried home to decorate my tree. Preparatory to this task I nogged a couple of dozen eggs, and when visitors dropped in I was able to offer them a drink of the plushy, caressing fluid which does so much to take the bitterness out of Christmas . . . . I have made my own angel for the top of the Christmas tree. As a delineator of the female form I tend to express myself in unmistakeable terms: I like even an angel to look as if she had some fun in her. In consequence my angel looked a little Diana of the Ephesians, what with eggnog and one thing and another.

✧ ✧ ✧

THURSDAY: Christmas Day, which I passed at home, for the Great Marchbanks Christmas Reunion and Settling of Old Scores is not taking place this year. So after the exchange of gifts had taken place, and the shrieks of the smaller Marchbankses had been brought under control, and a breakfast of sausages with pancakes and maple syrup, porridge, toast and five kinds of jam, fruit and shortbread had been consumed, I disposed myself upon a sofa, still in my pyjamas, and read books, smoked cigars and drank eggnog until evening, working up a vast appetite for Christmas dinner. Afterward felt disposed for square-dancing, but as nobody shared my mood I danced a few figures alone, to the gramophone, and achieved the extraordinary feat of doing an allemande-left all by myself, which meant going in two directions at once. Do not recall going to bed.

✧ ✧ ✧

FRIDAY: Boxing Day. Awoke feeling somewhat oppressed in spirit. Must have been the cigars. Large bruises on left hip, and a wrenched back. Cannot think how this happened, but suspect I must have turned over rather sharply in my sleep. Gazing in mirror first thing in the morning, find that I am a funny yellowish shade, and my eyeballs are a deeper, almost orange colour. Can this be eggnog? I was always told that milk and eggs were good for one. How these dairy people trifle with me! Not much appetite and can only manage one kind of jam for breakfast. Horrid neighbour comes in and tells me that my Income Tax is being paid to a horse in Ottawa, or Petawawa, or one of those remote wa-wa places. This horse, it appears, is a member of the armed forces. I tell him haughtily that nothing is too good for our brave troops, and that for anything he knows my horse may be ordered to Korea tomorrow. Got rid of him at last and find that if I lie down very carefully I can avoid spilling my brains out of my ears, and fall into a troubled sleep, in which I dream of a horse wearing a Brigadier's cap, endorsing my personal cheque for a hundred million. Had a date for an eggnog party tonight, but felt too austere to go.

✧ ✧ ✧

SATURDAY: Received a letter this morning from a wretch who is obviously suffering from a bad case of Stenographer Fever. This disease, which is well known in business circles but unaccountably ignored by medical science, is a condition in which a man dictates letters to impress his stenographer, rather than the true recipient of his message. His letter becomes rhetorical and hectoring in tone. He tends to call his correspondent by name several times, thus;- "Now, Mr. Marchbanks, as you are no doubt well aware, it is not my custom to mince words with such a man as you, Mr. Marchbanks, seem to be . . ." —generally I deal with such letters by replying in this strain:- "Samuel Marchbanks has received your note. His answer is No" . . . No man, we are told, is a hero to his valet, but the world of business abounds with men who wish to be heroes to their stenographers and to this end they soar and bombinate, keeping an appreciative eye on the Captive Audience on the other side of the desk . . . Being much recovered I went to an eggnog party this evening and helped to make the mixture, stabbing a man with an egg-beater who suggested that Eggo Ready-Mix was just as good as the true bounty of the hen.

"FEVVINSAKE, BROTHER, DON'T LAY DOWN"!

The Sentimental Trial Of S. Claus

(By J. R. WALKER in the Calgary Herald)

CLERK OF COURT: In this court of international justice, the defendant, S. Claus, address unknown, is hereby charged with conspiring to unsettle the state of world affairs, of performing subversive acts, of inciting revolution and disturbing the peace. How does the defendant plead?

S. Claus: Not guilty.

Judge: Have you no counsel, or are you conducting your own defence?

S. Claus: I stand alone.

Prosecuting Attorney Sovietski: Comrade Claus, what is your occupation?

S. Claus: I, uh, I don't know. Of course I do run a toy factory.

Sovietski: You're a capitalist then?

S. Claus: Well, no. You see I'm really a worker. That is I love to work with my hands and to give things to children and to bring their wishes true . . .

Sovietski: You mean you exploit their acquisite instincts. Now answer me this. Do you or do you not approve the slogan: "Peace on earth, good will towards men?"

S. Claus: I most heartily do approve, but, of course, it . . .

Sovietski: Just answer the questions. Are you a peace-loving man?

S. Claus: Yes. I might even be called a sort of pacifist, I suppose.

Sovietski: Ah, then you're not in favour of war if the peace-loving nations are involved?

S. Claus: I don't believe in wars. I believe in good will towards all men, regardless of race, creed or colour.

Sovietski: You don't realize then the necessity of hate towards war-mongers, pacifists and the like? You have been preaching a subversive, anti-social doctrine then?

S. Claus: No, I mean yes, I mean . . . oh, dear, I don't know what.

Sovietski: Come, come, ex-Comrade Claus, plain, unrehearsed answers, please. Now, are your activities not designed to undermine the omnipotence of Stalin and the system of state charity?

S. Claus: I suppose so.

Sovietski: That is all, thank you.

Assistant Prosecutor Godblessamerica: Mr. Claus, are you an American citizen?

S. Claus: No, thank the dear Lord.

Godblessamerica: Have you ever been refused admittance to the U.S.A.?

S. Claus: I understood that McCarran law is being invoked against me this year.

Godblessamerica: Is it not true that the justice department found you had subversive leanings?

S. Claus: Well, the agents who boarded my sleigh at Buffalo did say I had been accused of defaming the system. They charged that I had protested the commercialization of Christmas, the vulgarization of Christmas carols, and the unctuous eulogizing of humility. This sort of talk was designed, they said, to destroy confidence in business and therefore in the constitution of the United States of America. It was an act of revolution, though that hadn't occurred to me before.

Godblessamerica: Obviously, then, you must be or have been a member of the Communist Party?

S. Claus. No. I am not now and never have been a member.

Godblessamerica: But you do favour red in your attire, do you not?

S. Claus: Why yes, it's so cheerful, don't you think?

Godblessamerica: That is all, you honor. It is not necessary for me to sum up this case. This man is so obviously un-American, so patently a subversive element and admits his guilt so freely, that I'd just be wasting your time.

Sovietski: In addition, your honor, may I say that this turncoat is a peace-monger and a deviationist and I demand instant liquidation. This case is unopened and firmly shut. After all, he confessed, didn't he?

S. Claus. I wish to bring in one witness for the defence.

(The witness is brought forward, a little child, who shrieks with joy and runs to hug S. Claus. The defendant asks no questions, but turns to the judge and says: That's my case, your honor.)

Judge: Case against you is dismissed.

Godblessamerica: It's unconstitutional.

Sovietski: It's undemocratic!

Judge: But it's still possible, thank Heaven. Court is adjourned.

Bible Message

(From the Authorized Version)

And Elijah came unto all the people, and said, How long halt ye between two opinions? if the Lord be God, follow him: but if Baal, then follow him. And the people answered him not a word. Then said Elijah unto the people, I, even I only, remain a prophet of the Lord; but Baal's prophets are four hundred and fifty men. Let them therefore give us two bullocks; and let them choose one bullock for themselves, and cut it in pieces, and lay it on wood, and put no fire under; and I will dress the other bullock, and lay it on wood, and put no fire under: and call ye on the name of your gods, and I will call on the name of the Lord: and the God that answereth by fire, let him be God. And all the people answered and said, It is well spoken . . .

And they took the bullock which was given them, and they dressed it, and called on the name of Baal from morning even until noon, saying, O Baal, hear us. But there was no voice, nor any that answered. And they leaped upon the altar which was made . . . And Elijah said unto all the people, Come near unto me. And all the people came near unto him. And he repaired the altar of the Lord that was broken down . . . And he put the wood in order, and cut the bullock in pieces, and laid him on the wood and said, Fill four barrels with water, and pour it on the burnt sacrifice, and on the wood . . . And it came to pass at the time of the offering of the evening sacrifice, that Elijah the prophet came near, and said, Lord God of Abraham, Isaac, and of Israel, let it be known this day that thou art God in Israel, and that I am thy servant, and that I have done all these things at thy word. Hear me, O Lord, hear me, that this people may know that thou are the Lord God, and that thou hast turned their heart back again.

Then the fire of the Lord fell, and consumed the burnt sacrifice, and the wood, and the stones, and the dust, and licked up the water that was in the trench. And when all the people saw it, they fell on their faces: and they said, The Lord, he is the God; the Lord, he is the God. (I Kings 18:21-24, 26,30,33,36-39.)

Letter To The Editor

EXAMINER HEARTLESS

Sir: Having read your article about Suchan and Jackson, which I think was in very poor taste, I couldn't help but wonder what the writer used for a heart.

Don't you think their relatives and friends suffered enough without having such thinks printed?

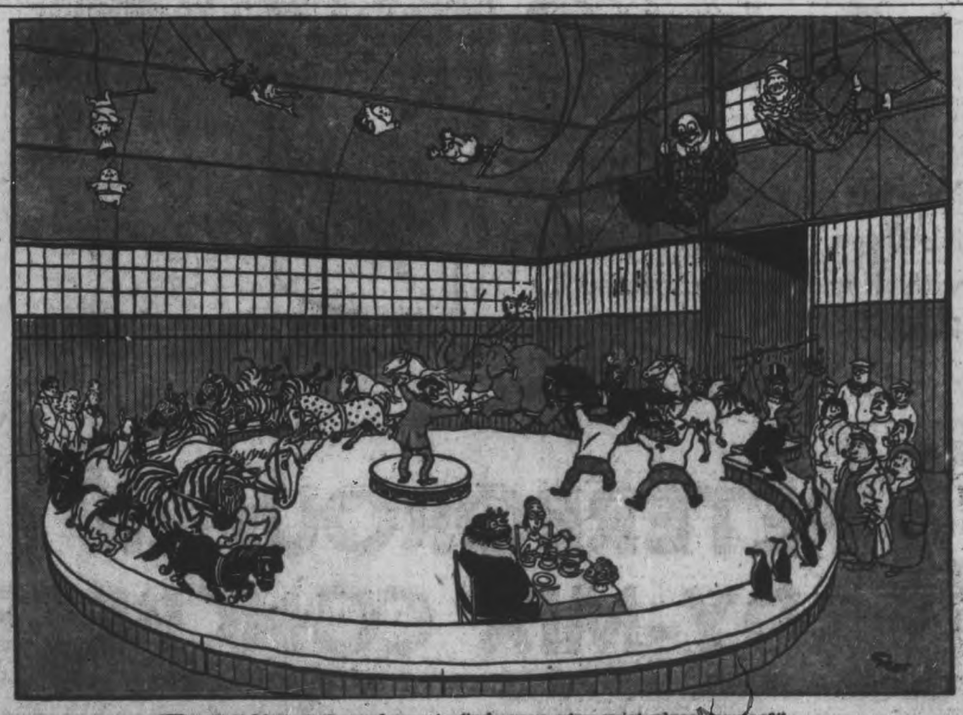
How do we know what went on inside those men's hearts and minds?

I wonder how brave the writer would be if he were in the death cell knowing the clock was ticking away the minutes of his life, until some one would haul him out of his cell to walk the last mile. Maybe through some twist of fate the writer will have the pleasure of being able to answer these questions.

Then who would be pleading for mercy?

ANOTHER READER

(Ed. Note: The number of people hanged for murder, or even tried for murder, is small, but if we come to the fate suggested by this reader we shall inform her of our emotions. Meanwhile, we suggest some thought for the late Detective Tong, and his family.)



"Wasn't it kind of those clowns to find us a nice quiet place for tea?"

A·F·I·E·L·D with NICK NICKELS

A spirit-dampening friend of mine declared that Christmas was a busted flush. He is a good guy, really, and a fond parent talking momentarily as a frustrated parent. Most of us middle-agers reach that conclusion in the wee sma' hours of the Great Day but after we have reduced the monstrous turkey to a mere cadaver the time comes to size up the whole situation with more rational minds. I would forecast that the future of Christmas is bright because it is in the cards that clutter the family living room.

♠ ♠ ♠ ♠

Pre-Holiday Technique

When greeting cards started to avalanche into home and office from near and far an insane fear reared its ugly head. I realized that many more cards were being received than we had mailed out. The only cure for this phobia that I know of is to beat 'em to the punch.

Everyone I met for a week before Christmas I thanked for their handsome cards. This gesture caused momentary eyebrow-raising followed by a quick smile as one faker passed the buck to another. But the little white lie made us both feel good.

♠ ♠ ♠ ♠

Card Index

In the offspring card exchange I found designs of snow men, overflowing stockings, cherub carollers, puppies, fawns and Santa Clauses by the score. Each scrawling ink-spattered signature said simply, "Ruth", "Mary Jane", "Tom", "Bill". This I call the tongue-in-the-cheek school.

At the high-school level the young sophisticates exchanged crested school cards—dozens of them alike—with printed signatures as cold as Scrooge's heart. This, apparently, is the smart thing to do.

Then there are those dear old friends who pen their yearly stint on all the card folds in writing so cramped and terrible that we are still at a loss to know what they were trying to tell us. We decipher snatches that inform us 'it is 40 below here tonight', (Fort St. James, B.C.); 'wish you were here', (Punta Gorda, Fla.); 'we are spending a very quiet day because Crompton, as you know, has had the crud for the past ten weeks' (who in blazes is Crompton?).

Why brewing and distilling companies send me their lavish cards and calendars escapes me. I'm a buttermilk man, myself, and nary a card from my dairy.

Outdoor equipment manufacturers send picture reminders of leaping trout and bounding deer. They seem to vie with each other on the size of their cards. One is so huge that we have set it up in the bedroom for a dressing screen.

By popular family vote the Canadian artists' picture reproductions are among the best looking of the lot. Many of the scenes remind of us places we have lived in and will never forget; the main street in Trois Pistoles; autumn in the Nipigon country; straggling fish houses at Gimli on Lake Winnipeg. A striking photo of Peterborough's own Little Lake reminds us of beauty right at our own front door.

My contemporaries were very kind and I liked their cards, one and all, especially the one from Bill Collins of the Review. He clipped a snippet from one of my recent columns about Sunday skating on the Marsh and pasted it to the identical scene that I had in mind.

Religious motif cards came from older people who know, and believe in, the true meaning of Christmas. I fear this type of card was in minority . . .

♠ ♠ ♠ ♠

All joking aside, the thoughts from the senders of all our greeting cards were what really mattered. We were being thought about by others. We only hear from many of these people once a year but we look forward to their massage.

As we sing the last bar of Auld Lang Syne and mentally watch the Diapered Moppet unlock the shining gates of the New Year a verse of Horatio Nelson Power's seems appropriate:

A flower unblown, a book unread;
A tree with fruit unharvested;
A path untrod; a house whose rooms
Lack yet the heart's divine perfumes;
A landscape whose wide border lies
In silent shade 'neath silent skies;
A wondrous fountain yet unsealed;
A casket with its gifts concealed—
This is the Year that for you waits
Beyond to-morrow's mystic gates.

Your Garden:

Caring For House Plants

By HENRY PREE (NEA)

Anyone can grow a few iron-clad house plants such as the Chinese evergreen, the jade-plant of the sansevieria but for some reason the flowering holiday plants are difficult to maintain.

It is the opinion of this old gardener that these gift plants be enjoyed while they bloom and then be discarded as one does a bouquet of cut flowers. However, if you wish to keep them, here are some pointers on their care.

Poinsettia, the common Christmas plant, should not be allowed to dry out too much while blooming. It requires a warm, humid temperature. If there is not enough humidity in the room you will have to spray the leaves with tepid water daily. Be careful not to wet the blossoms. A warm, sunny window is the best place for your poinsettia.

Keep it away from drafts. Any sudden chill will allow the leaves to fall. When it has finished blooming cut it back. Allow about six inches on the stem. Place it in a cool cellar window and give only enough water to keep the roots alive. Keep it dormant until spring, then repot and set outside. By careful handling you may have a nice plant the second year.

Azaleas do not need to be babied as much as the poinsettia. They grow best in an east or south window. Moderate watering is best. It will thrive in a room from 50 to 60 degrees. If your house is hot and dry you will need to spray the leaves daily to keep them on. The soil needs to be kept acid.

If the leaves start to turn yellow-green, dissolve a little alum in the water which is used for watering. When it stops blossoming it must be kept watered. The buds for next year's blooms are formed as soon as it completes its blossoming period. Keep the plant growing by continuing to feed and water it.

The Jerusalem cherry likes a cool temperature. It also requires high humidity and plenty of sunshine. Any smoke or gas in the room will cause the leaves to fall. Daily spraying of the leaves with cool water will help to hold them on. This plant is subject to the mealy bug and white fly, so watch for them.

Gardenia is a plant that usually is received while still in the bud. You must have patience as the buds open very slowly. The gardenia likes a warm humid atmosphere. Avoid any drafts or a temperature drop of more than 10 degrees.

It likes frequent watering but not in excess. Too much water will cause the buds to drop and the roots to rot. Use tepid water and remove any excess from the saucer. Do not add any extra water until the soil is quite dry.

Spraying of the leaves every two or three days helps to keep them from falling. After the blooming period let it rest until spring and then place in the garden. Keep it in a sunny, sheltered place.

In the fall it should be kept in a warm place in the house until the buds are set. Do not place it in the direct sunlight until after this period. When the buds are set give it plenty of sunlight and water.

Give your gift plants a little personal care and you will have weeks of enjoyment from them. By caring for them during their dormant period they can sometimes be held over for another year.

Poinsettias need careful handling, should be placed near a warm, sunny window while blooming.

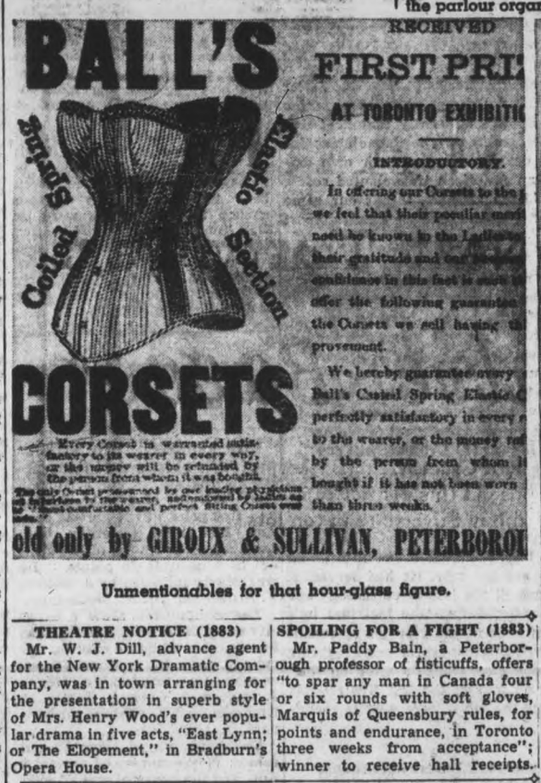
Our News of 70 Years Ago

Who remembers what life was like at the New Year in Peterborough 70 years ago? According to municipal statistics taken this year there are more than 2,000 citizens over 70 years of age. And many of these people will recall the old and perhaps better times with nostalgia. We brash atomic agers can only turn to the yellowing pages of the Peterborough Examiner of 1883. We find the newspapers of that amusing and, as today, interesting for their advertisements as for their news and views. Reprinted herewith are excerpts from The Examiner of 1883, through which we may cast a glance back as we look forward to the New Year of 1953. The clippings from the old files include advertisements, district news, town news, editorials. One refers to the mayoral candidacy of George A. Cox, whom the Examiner supported. Mr. Cox was later to leave Peterborough for Toronto where he became one of Canada's most important financiers and a multi-millionaire. There were no comics in those days, but each issue carried a serial story—in December, 1883, it was "Naught But Death Divorces or Lady Audrey's Sacrifice."



Unmentionables for that hour-glass figure.

THEATRE NOTICE (1883)

Mr. W. J. Dill, advance agent for the New York Dramatic Company, was in town arranging for the presentation in superb style of Mrs. Henry Wood's ever popular drama in five acts, "East Lynn; or The Elopement," in Bradburn's Opera House.

SPOILING FOR A FIGHT (1883)

Mr. Paddy Bain, a Peterborough professor of fisticuffs, offers "to spar any man in Canada four or six rounds with soft gloves, Marquis of Queensbury rules, for points and endurance, in Toronto three weeks from acceptance"; winner to receive hall receipts.

An oak bedroom suite, high and mighty.

PETERBOROUGH MARKETS (1883)

Geese are selling at 50 to 70 cents; turkeys 60 cents to $1; Chickens 40 to 50 cents; fresh butter 19 to 22 cents; eggs scarce with 25 cents asked and in some cases obtained. Dressed hogs $5.50 to $6. Beef $4.50 to $6.; mutton 6 to 8 cents; Potatoes 75 cents per bag.

A RATTLING RUNAWAY (1883)

On Saturday at noon Mr. William Tucker of Douro seated on top of a load of grain was driving across the railway tracks to Green's Storehouse. The horses took fright at an engine and, making a sudden plunge, threw Mr. Tucker off the load and he was struck on the thigh by the right wheel and the reins jerked from his grasp; the team started west on a wild gallop and by the time they had reached Dubidge St., had gained a great speed They turned the corner to go south, striking a big boulder, which was hurled into the middle of the street. The wagon was completely overturned and the grain bags were strewn about like leaves in the wind. The horses were pluckily caught at Mr. D. Sullivan's grocery by Master Dick Young Not a single bag was broken nor any part of the wagon or harness and the horses were without a scratch. Mr. Tucker received a severe bruise on his left thigh and was covered with mud but fortunately no bones were broken

NAUGHT BUT DEATH DIVORCES or, LADY AUDREY'S SACRIFICE (1883)

They were silent for some minutes, the rector waiting in sorrowful dismay for his daughter to speak. Audrey trying to collect her strength;

"I am in sore distress," she repeated, "Oh, father, my marriage was no marriage—the man I loved is not my husband."

"My darling child, you tremble like a leaf. Sit down, Audrey, and tell me all."

"It was no marriage, papa, although he thinks it was. He is not my husband; he has a wife living from whom he has been divorced."

The rector's face flushed angrily.

"A wife living, yet he dared to marry you, Audrey! The man is a villain!" (To Be Continued.)

THE FIRST TRAIN

Friday last was a very important epoch in the history of the flourishing village of Norwood when the "first train" with pomp and splendour arrived within its precincts and when a demonstration, worthy of the interesting event was accorded to the long looked-for and welcome "Iron Horse". All in this village will remember when the people of our neighbouring village, rejoicing over the fact that they had "euchered" this place out of railway privileges that since we have had every reason to rejoice, had given us the go-by, turned out en masse with the village magnate at their head, fully and officially robed, to honor the arrival of the first train; but, lo! the train came not. Such, was not the case, however, on Friday last. The Ontario and Quebec railway train duly arrived in our village as announced, heavily, freighted, gloriously.

THE MAYORALTY (Editorial, 1883)

The incumbency of the important office of mayor of a town like Peterborough involves many special qualifications Mr. George A. Cox, one of the candidates for the mayoralty, possesses those qualifications fully (if not more fully) than any man in town, few will deny, except those deluded by false cries and prejudices by baseless appeals, and a factious misrepresentation of the true relation of Mr. Cox to the town. For twenty-six years Mr. Cox has been a citizen of Peterborough and while he has had phenomenal success in business enterprises, he has not selfishly kept all the benefits to himself but the town has continuously been the better of his business operations What money he has made, whether here or elsewhere, he has invested chiefly in a permanant form in Peterborough, thus identifying himself with the interests of the town, with this result, that today anything that tends to benefit the town must necessarily benefit himself, and vice versa; whatever injures the town injures him. It is to his personal interest to have the taxation as low as possible. Having property in town representing $300,000 it will cost [illegible] addition [illegible] one mill to the rate of taxation means an addition of $300 to his taxes. It is to his interest to make Peterborough a cheap place to live in—anything, in fact, to attract population. Of all Peterborough's wealthy and prominent citizens, it is difficult to name one who has worked harder or more successfully for the promotion of its interests, and for croakers and self-seeking wirepullers to say that if elected mayor, he would take one step to undo to the work of over quarter of a century's energetic enterprises on behalf of the town, would be the rankest nonsense.

FABULOUS FINDINGS

Pan

Once in a while I have wondered casually if Tin Pan Alley bears any allusion to the god Pan. But surely not, though some forms of modern music may well be said to produce Panic, a term passed down from the ancient times when Pan roamed the woods and fields.

Pan was god of the outdoors, a heathenish type who loved the chase, the dance with nymphs and music.

It is told of how he invented the syrinx or shepherd's pipe which produced sweet music.

He one day chased a charming nymph named Syrinx through the fields and to a river bank. He was about to seize her in the brush by the river when the water nymphs caused her to disappear, and Pan clutched only a tuft of reeds. As he breathed a sigh of disappointment the air sounded through the reeds as a plaintive melody.

The god was charmed with the novelty and sweetness of the music. He took some of the reeds and, placing them together of unequal lengths, side by side, made an instrument he named the syrinx. Its sweet music shortly filled the land.

But it is said of how, much later, when the heavenly host told the shepherds of Bethlehem of the birth of Christ, a deep groan, heard through all the isles of Greece, told that the great Pan was dead, and that all the royalty of Olympus was dethroned, and the several deities were sent wandering in cold and darkness.

Be that as it may, perhaps some time someone along Tin Pan Alley will produce at least a few sweet notes of music.

Guelph Bilts On Skids, Whipped 5-2

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Guelph Biltmores are definitely on the skids.

Last year's Memorial Cup champions have only managed one win in their last 13 games. The dismal string stretches back to Nov. 28.

The Bilts started the season in fine shape but the parent New York Rangers were stricken with injuries and snapped up three of the Biltmore's veteran stars, Harry Howell, Dean Prentice and Andy Bathgate.

The Hatters maintained their winning pace for several games but the manpower shortage began to tell and in spite of the desperate scouting efforts of Coach Alf Pike the Bilts are skidding.

DOWNED BY SPITS

Windsor Spitfires were victorious visitors to Guelph Friday night as they downed the home-towners 5-2 in a scheduled Ontario Hockey Association Junior A game. The Cinderella Spits climbed into seventh place with the win as they continue to work their way farther out of the cellar where they started the season.

Ted Reid, Bob Brown, Larry Hillman, Mark Marcotte and Elmer Skov scored for Windsor. Billy McCreary and Jim Connelly accounted for Guelph goals.

Trabert Boosts U.S. Hopes For Davis Cup

ADELAIDE, Australia (AP)—U.S. hopes of recapturing the Davis Cup got a big lift today when Tony Trabert, the power-stroking sailor on leave, zipped through one of his most impressive workouts.

Trabert, whose tennis got rusty during navy duty, will team with Vic Seixas, the U. S. captain, against Australia's Frank Sedgman and Ken McGregor in the challenge round, opening Monday.

Aussie officials have virtually agreed to give McGregor the nod over left-handed Mervyn Rose, who lost his two singles to the Americans last year. This means the Davis Cup final battle will be strictly a four-man affair.

The Americans have young Ham Richardson and Straight Clark for reserve use, but neither is expected to see action.

DETERMINE LINE-UP

The draw is scheduled tomorrow at 11 a.m. (8:30 p.m. EST). It will determine the line-up for the first two singles duels. The order is reversed in the final two singles Wednesday.

The doubles will be played Tuesday and the Sedgman-McGregor tandem is heavily favored, although Seixas and Trabert teamed well in the inter-zone matches.

Trabert was stroking better today than any time since he reached this continent on brief leave. He was murdering the ball on his service, and putting away strong winners both from the back court and at the net.

Seixas, who has beaten Sedgman the last two times they've met, now is highly confident of an American victory and he doesn't mind saying so. He also is hitting the ball well.

De Spirito Fails To Get Winner

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Tony DeSpirito, leading United States jockey, failed to get a winner in eight tries Friday at Tropical Park, dimming his chances of breaking the record of 388 in a year.

DeSpirito had 376 going into Friday's program, but the best he could do with eight mounts was second on First Grandson in the fifth race. He was third in two races and out of the money in five others.

He still has five days to go, but must bring in 12 winners to tie the record set by Walter Miller in 1906 and tied by Joe Culmone and Willie Shoemkera in 1950.

Syracuse Clips Cleveland 5-1

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Scoring four goals in the second period, three of them within two minutes, Syracuse Warriors walloped Cleveland's league-leading Barons 5-1 Friday night in an American Hockey League game.

Syracuse, fourth in the seven-team league, now is only six points behind first-place Cleveland.

Vic Lynn notched the first Cleveland goal at 9:27 of the second period. Then Dutch Delmonte of Cleveland was penalized for elbowing and Arman Lemieux and Sam Casanato tallied a pair for the Warriors, 57 seconds apart. Bronco Horvath got two more before the period ended.

3 Rinks Undefeated In Guelph Bonspiel

GUELPH (CP)—Three rinks remained undefeated Friday night as play entered the third round in the one-day bonspiel at Guelph Curling Club.

Rev. H. Vaughan of Brantford, R. Caldwell of Fergus and J. Hobden of Wingham each had two wins and were setting the third-round pace.

The Caldwell rink scored a major upset with a 7-6 win over Carl Asmussen of Kitchener, winner of last year's trophy. Asmussen rallied in the second round to defeat S. Lane of Guelph 10-8. There are 24 rinks, including eight from Guelph, in the event.

SPORTS SHOW WINDOW

By CEC. PERDUE, Sports Editor

Coach George Trafton of Winnipeg Blue Bombers, who used to coach football at USA colleges, thinks the Canadian game is away ahead of the grid play offered to Americans. Says the latter game is too slow with time-outs, and fans don't see enough of the ball. George told Dink Carroll in Montreal recently that he didn't favor increasing the number of American imports to Canadian senior clubs, but felt the Canucks should develop more of their own material. It is refreshing to hear that an American transplanted coach, who certainly should know the gridiron answers, thinks our game is terrific. There's nothing at all wrong with it, and we should import no more USA rules, either.

Orillia Pontiacs are a big, rugged bunch of senior "B" puckists, but they had no business beating the Petes here last clash betwixt these clubs. Orillia haven't been too impressive to date in the keen group race, yet they have the odd hot night, like when they smeared the cocky Kingston crew recently. However, we don't think they'll trip up the Petes in the Monday p.m. tangle here as the schedule resumes after the Christmas layoff. They won't find our present sets of defencemen opening wide the portals to let rival forwards in on Ray Harding. No, indeed, the rugged Orillians will run into rugged opposition this time, we're quite sure.

Just 165 Hard Pounds

For a medium-sized guy (he scales but 165) Ted Lindsay of Detroit Wings is about as rugged as they come. He backs up from no one in the NHL where big players are the rule. He had served at least 100 minutes in penalties in each of the last three seasons and his average is high so far this semester, despite the fact that he's now team captain. Ted has plenty of hem-stitching on his epidermis from many a hot hockey fight. Yet he is a great scorer and a fighting player who inspires his mates to one championship after another. The same chap has made left-wing on four of the last five all-star teams and he's always right up among the top scorers, despite spending so much time in the sin bin.

We're not advocating rough play, and Ted is really rough. He nearly ruined tough Bill Eninicki one brawling joust in Olympia Stadium. And he'll scrap on foreign ice just as quickly as at home. No, we're just advocating plenty of hustle and no fraternizing with opponents during games. No one wearing a different sweater can be a friend of Lindsay's. Sid Abel worked on Lindsay's line for eight years in Detroit. Last fall the Wings played an exhibition tour with Chicago Hawks, where Abel is now coach. In a free-for-all—during an exhibition, mind you!—Abel tried to act as peacemaker, but Ted brushed him angrily aside and snarled: "You're not one of us now, and don't you forget it!" Yes, Lindsay is a chippy character.

TVL-ers Set To Tee Off

Six teams wil go in the district Trent Valley Hockey League, Lakefield, Norwood, Havelock, Hastings, Campbellford and Marmora. The other section of the loop is down in the Belleville area and is of no particular interest up this way until playoff time in late February or early March. The six district clubs hope to start off Monday next with Campbellford at Hastings, Havelock at Norwood, and Lakefield at Marmora. Also a game next night with Hastings in Lakefield. That's provided there is ice, and the arena folk concerned in these villages are set to throw flood upon flood as long as the weather tightens up. Schedule is in tonight, and it runs till February 13, followed by playoffs. Quite a few Peterborough players perform in the TVL.

Fred Steel, of Toronto, the Ontario athletics commissioner, died Christmas Day while visiting his son, Dr. Allan Steel, in Bowmanville. A former member of the AAU of C and the OBA, he was keenly interested in provincial amateur sports, helped get the athletic training camp set up at Lake Couchiching and drew up rule books on track and field sports. Also controlled boxing and wrestling in Ontario, issuing licences for their shows. We met him first years ago when Bill Kay of this city and the late Bob Elliott of Delora were on the OBA executive, and the last time we talked to Fred was at the baseball convention held here four years ago. A fine chap.

Mercurys Take Over Top Spot, Whip Chatham

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Dogged determination and a break in the schedule have given Owen Sound Mercurys first place in the Ontario Hockey Association Senior A race.

The Mercurys were snapping at the heels of Stratford Indians for over a month. Last week they had two games in a row with the lowly Hamilton Tigers and picked up four points. Meanwhile Stratford dropped a close one to Sarnia 4-3.

Friday night the Mercurys downed Chatham Maroons 9-2 for their third victory in a row and gained a one-point lead over Stratford.

Brantford Redmen took a stranglehold on fourth place by shutting out Kitchener - Waterloo Dutchmen 3-0. It was Jim Shirley's first goose egg of the season in the Brantford goal.

In the Northern Ontario Hockey Association Senior A southern group Sudbury Wolves proclaimed their right to first place by thumping Sault Ste. Marie (Mich.) Indians 10-1.

Three goals in the first period gave Brantford the win. Don Oberholtzer scored two and Bill Simpel's blue line shot accounted for the other. Jim Shirley handled 40 shots to earn his shutout

Sudbury's landslide win gave them a four-point edge on Sault Ste. Marie (Ont.) Greyhounds in the NOHA. Tatter McClellan scored three times, Johnny Mestan notched two and others were by Nick Tomiuk, Marty Burton, Red Barrett, Roly McLenahan and Mauno Kauppi. Johnny Lumley scored on a breakaway rush early in the second period to rob Andy Andersen of his shutout.

Ross Williamson, with his brother Harry as vice-skip, F. Spencley playing second, and J. Morton lead, won the Examiner Trophy and first prize in the curling bonspiel held here yesterday, with three wins and a total of 35 points out of a possible 36 points. He was closely followed by J. Dutton, V. Brown and Dr. M. McCartney.

The competition drew a capacity entry of 28 rinks. As the rinks had to be of schedule calibre, this gave many of the new and younger members a chance. We refer to J. Morton, J. Gow, J. Collitt, D. Dummitt, and F. Jopling, all winners.

Each rink played three 10-end games. Play commenced around 9 a.m., and the bonspiel was all over before midnight.

Fred Stenson and his committee attended to all details.

THE WINNERS:

First, and Examiner Trophy, and each a silver-plated humidor, donated by Peterborough Examiner—J. Morton, F. Spencley, H. Williamson, R. Williamson, skip.

Second—Each a woollen sport shirt—J. Gow, G. Forsberg, G. Unsworth, J. Dutton, skip.

Third—Each a G.E. electric clock—J. Collitt, D. Woodbury, R. Collins, V. Brown, skip.

Yankee Job Appeared Too Big For Irv Noren

By HARRY GRAYSON
NEA Sports Editor

NEW YORK (NEA)—Irv Noren is going to start batting drills with Yankee recruits in Glendale, Calif., as early as Feb. 1.

The outfielder obtained from the Senators is going through another course of sprouts at Lake Wales, Fla., before reporting with the main body in St. Petersburg.

Gil McDougald's pre-St. Petersburg instruction is to be limited to the two weeks at Lake Wales.

Casey Stengel wants Noren, a left-hand batter, to pull the ball toward the rather friendly right field Stadium stand. Too many of his putouts went to left and centre field to suit the manager of the world champions.

Noren's transfer from the second division Nationals to the Yankees resulting in his average dropping from .279 to .237 and his runs-batted-in from 86 in 129 games to 23 in 105.

This gives you a rough idea of how fortunate the New York Americans were when Mickey Mantle developed as a centre fielder. They gave up Jackie Jensen, another outfielder in Archie Wilson and Spec Shea for centre field insurance in the form of the Noren they considered established. It turned out to be a whale of a deal for Clark Griffith and the entire American League.

YANKEE JOB APPEARED TOO BIG FOR NOREN

From the outset, it was apparent that the Yankee job, the pressure of having to prevail, was too much for Noren. He appeared frightened, seemed happy only when he was in the dugout. He even misjudged balls in centre field. Pressing, he became so entangled at the plate that he couldn't take a good cut, had no follow through. His average dipped to .220.

"Noren has to move away from the plate," says Stengel. "The way he batted last season, I was afraid he would break an ankle.

"When he joined us, I suggested that he change his stance, but he was afraid a change would hurt him. Now he is convinced I knew what I was talking about."

Noren perhaps got wise to himself toward the finish last trip, for he was of considerable help at the plate the last three weeks.

The Yankee brass is hopeful that he is on the right track, for many an athlete has been utterly unable to live up to a second-division reputation with a first-division club.

HORNSBY WOULD LET McDOUGALD ALONE

Let's just see what alls this young McDougald the front office and the pilot are so concerned about. As a freshman, the third baseman with the unorthodox stance led the Bombers in batting with .306, driving in 63 runs in 131 games. Last season, while his average fell off to .263, he was 11th in the circuit in runs-batted-in with 78, or 15 more than he accounted for in 1951, when all hands were so delighted with his performance. The Indians' Al Rosen topped the AL in runs-batted-in with 105, or only 27 more than McDougald.

Professor Hornsby, who had McDougald in Beaumont, says he would let this highly intelligent lad alone.

Casey Stengel might be wise to take Rogers Hornsby's word for it.

2 Speed Records Set At Miami

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP)—Two world speed boat records were set Friday as the Orange Bowl regatta got under way with time trials over a mile course on the inland waterway.

Mrs. Ruby J. Scull, a Ventnor, N.J., housewife and mother of two children, boosted her own record for 48-cubic-inch inboard runabouts by nearly two miles an hour.

She established a mark of 62.302 miles an hour. She set the old record of 60.708 miles an hour Aug. 3 at Cambridge, Md.

Tommy Hagood, Orlando, Fla., held the B stock outboard hydroplane mark for several minutes after his F-26 was clocked at 55.804 miles an hour.

Then the honor was wrested from him by Wally Wakem, Palm Beach Fla., who scudded over the measured mile in both directions for an average speed of 55.945.

The former stock hydro record was 53.321.

Three NHL Clubs Call Up Reinforcements As Wounded List Grows

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

The National Hockey League has called up the reserves this weekend. With dressing rooms where the air is heavy with liniment and the benches are cluttered with wounded veterans, Detroit Red Wings, Toronto Maple Leafs and Boston Bruins have called for reinforcements. Detroit and Toronto will have two rookies in their line-ups and Boston one. Coach Bill Cook of New York Rangers, who won their first road game of the season on Thursday night by downing Boston 2-1, said: "The rest of the league is coming back to us. They are feeling the injuries we felt during the early part of the season."

Extensive injuries forced the Rangers to lift centre Andy Bathgate, forward Dean Prentice and defenceman Harry Howell from Guelph Biltmores of the Ontario Hockey Association junior A series early in the season.

For their games in Toronto tonight and in Detroit Sunday Boston Bruins have called up right-winger Dunc Fisher from Hershey Bears of the American Hockey League. Fisher, a 20-goal man for Hershey this year, will play with Dave Creighton and Jack McIntyre while Jerry Toppazzini will drop back on defence to replace Hal Laycoe.

LEAF REPLACEMENTS

Toronto Maple Leafs brought Phil Maloney and Eric Nesterenko up for their Christmas Eve game with Montreal Canadiens. Both performed well in the 2-0 Leaf victory.

Maloney, up from Pittsburgh Hornets of the AHL, played an outstanding game at centre Wednesday night. Nesterenko, who earned a reputation with Toronto Marlboros of the OHA Junior A loop, will again be at right wing of the Leafs Saturday night. The Toronto club is idle Sunday.

Detroit Red Wings, who travel to Montreal for a Saturday game and then entertain Boston Sunday, will have Marcel Bonin, a 21-year-old right winger, in their line-up. It is Bonin's first try at the big time, but he is leading scorer for St. Louis Flyers of the AHL this season. Bonin will be replaced in St. Louis by Lou Jankowski, Detroit utility forward.

Terry Sawchuk, youthful Red Wing goal-tending wizard, is still out with a fractured instep. He was replaced by Ralph (Red) Almas until last Thursday, but another sub, Glen Hall, will take over Saturday. Chicago Black Hawks play in New York Sunday for the only other week-end game.

2 Horses Share Honors At Dufferin

TORONTO (CP)—Barbara Bedale, owned by J. Smith of Ottaw, and driven by Wilmer Hillock, and Frisco Meredith, owned by John R. Reid of Ailsa Craig, Ont., and handled by Joe Hodgins, shared honors in the junior free-for-all when harness racing resumed at Dufferin Park Friday. They each won a heat.

Dauntless Bomber, owned by J. Smith of Ottawa and driven by Hillock, won both heats of the fifth and secondary feature, an AA trot.

Ted Williams Vice-President Of Tackle Firm

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Capt. Ted Williams, Marine jet pilot who was the highest paid baseball player in history, Friday became the vice-president of a fishing tackle distributing company.

Ted, slugging outfielder for Boston Red Sox, stopped by to set up the business venture before heading for California and, he believes, on to Korea. He leaves Miami Jan. 1.

The left-handed hitter who signed for a reputed $125,000 with the Red Sox in 1950 thought it would be good to have a sideline to fall back on.

"I feel right now that when I get out of the service probably next September I'll be back in baseball," he said here. "I'd like to play some more.

"But I'm getting near the age where major league baseball players begin to go downhill," added the 34-year-old slugger. "That's one of the reasons I decided to make an investment in the Southern Tackle Distributors in Miami."

Wise Men And Shepherds

By WILLIAM E. GILROY, DD

The Christmas story in Matthew's Gospel says that "there came wise men from the east to Jerusalem," saying that they had seen the Babe of Bethlehem's star in the east and had come to worship Him.

The Christmas story in Luke's Gospel tells of the shepherds in the fields (Luke 2: 8-18) to whom an angel appearing announced the birth of "a Saviour, which is Christ the Lord," with an accompanying host, "praising God and saying: Glory to God in the highest, and on earth peace, goodwill toward men" (King James Version).

Who were "the wise men from the east" and what was the star they saw? About this there has been much speculation and explanation, but little positive knowledge. Literalists who feel it necessary to support Scripture with external proof, have made much of conjunctions of the bright planets Jupiter and Saturn in BC 6.

More interesting evidence is voluminous, but not easy to summarize, regarding the Magi, or "wise men." The Magian religion, with deeply associated elements of astrology and the interpretation of dreams (see Matthew 2: 12) had great vogue in the east, especially in Persia.

It should not be forgotten that while some Jews returned from the Exile in Babylon to rebuild Jerusalem, and restore Israel in the homeland, many Jews remained in Babylon.

There does not seem to be any indication that the wise men from the east were Jews but the vigor and religion of the Jewish power in Babylon and in Persia probably had considedrable influence on the Magis. There was a prophecy of Balaam, recorded in Numbers 24: 17, that there shall come forth a star out of Jacob."

To those deeply versed in astrology a star of unusual beauty might well have signified a new, great birth, and have been a guiding star. But, for us, the wisdom of the wise men was best exemplified in the worshipful homage they gave to the new-born babe.

So, I would end by a Christmas
That, as anew we go to Bethlehem,
May light attend us, as it guided them,
That we may have the vision undefiled
To see a Saviour in a new-born child;
The faith that, in a lowly manger stall,
Can find God's presence, and can hear His call,
Where Saint and King were yesterday unknown,
To raise today an altar and a throne.

MILLBROOK PEE-WEES

Two Pee-Wee teams from Millbrook took over the ice at Civic Arena Friday from 9:30 to 11 a.m. for workouts and practice game. The home rink hasn't had frost enough to make ice.

Turkey Aplenty On Market, Prices Holding

Fowl were plentiful but buyers scarce on the weekly indoor market. Prices were reasonable and were expected to remain firm throughout the day.

Turkey prices were varied. Turkey hens, the quite small variety, sold as low as 45 cents a pound, while the larger hens were higher, 50 cents and 55 cents a pound. Toms went between 45 cents and 50 cents a pound, but were fairly generally at the lower price.

Chickens and hens were the most popular fowl. They varied between 40 cents and 50 cents a pound and sold fairly briskly considering the number of buyers in the market hall.

Geese were hardly moving despite low prices; this slow trend has been noticeable since two weeks before Christmas. Today most farmers were offering geese at 45 cents a pound, a few after an hour lowered prices to 42 cents and 40 cents.

Eggs were offered at varied prices also. The most popular prices were: 35 cents for small, 40 cents for mediums, 45 cents for large and 50 cents for extra large. The higher prices were 50 cents for large and 55 cents for extras.

Odds and ends were: horse radish, 25 cents and 50 cents a bottle; candy, $1 and 75 cents a box, five pieces for 10 cents; plaques and pictures (hand-painted), 50 cents each or two for 95 cents; figurines 35 cents or two for 65 cents; small hens and roosters, 15 cents each or two for 25 cents.

Majority Of People In Debt If Incomes Under $,3000

Unless you are earning more than $3,000 per year, you probably owe money. People in Peterborough earning between $2,000 and $3,000 annually have been able to balance their budgets fairly well until the last few months. Now, however, the picture is changing and people in this income range who never owed money before are now in debt and finding it easier to pile up more bills than to meet payments on what they already owe.

It's easier today to get credit than ever before. In fact, it's so easy that you are liable to find yourself snowed under with bills, before you realize just how far you are in debt.

"Why make yourself do without until you have the cash? Just take it home. See how you like it and pay for it on our easy time payment plan. Only $5 down and $2 weekly . . ."

Details vary, but the results are the same.

"People who never borrowed money before, or owed back bills, owe them now," explains W. P. Kinlin, manager of Credit Associates, a firm which acts as collecting agents and furnishes credit reports.

TWO MAIN REASONS

Mr. Kinlin suggests the high cost of living and easy credit as the main reasons for the increase in the number of people who owe money.

Anyone earning under $2,000 has likely been in constant financial difficulties for some time now, Mr. Kinlin points out, but it is only this year that there has been a tremendous increase in the number of people earning more than $2,000 who are finding it difficult to live within their incomes.

With single men and women, clothes is the big item that sends budgets into the red. With married couples, it's a combination of clothes, cost of living, medical bills, and of course the big items that are easy to buy on time, appliances and the latest — television.

There is no doubt about it, Mr. Kinlin says, that many people in Peterborough are "getting over their head."

Cost of living is not the only reason, according to Mr. Kinlin. "Temptations being offered to people to buy beyond their means" are largely to blame, he believes.

Sell first, then worry about getting the money, is the way many retailers are operating today he points out.

"A great percentage of credit sales do not go through the finance companies. Merchants are not using the facilities of credit reporting."

LITTLE CHECKING

This means that practically anyone who is not known all over town as an outright deadbeat of long standing can buy merchandise on credit. No attempt is made to determine how much the prospective purchaser already owes. Or if he is accustomed to paying his debts, or if he is able to buy such an article, taking into consideration what he is earning.

Appliances are the big credit items. The fact that bills are already piled up often fails to prevent a young married couple from adding more debts by buying new electrical gimmicks to make housekeeping and cooking easier.

As the amount of money owed in the community as a whole continues to increase, collecting agents are finding it harder to collect payments, when people fail to keep them up. It's not the large payments such as monthly instalments on houses and cars that they fail to meet; it's the smaller accounts they overlook because they think they can get away with them.

OLD DEBTS

Mr. Kinlin points out that few Peterborough residents have accepted the idea of paying off back debts by monthly instalments the same as they pay off the balance on recently purchased articles. They tend to neglect to pay medical and doctor bills they incurred two or three years ago and continue to take on more debts in the grand old American tradition of a dollar down and a dollar a week till the undertaker catches up.

Lifting of credit restrictions last May really took the lid off and sales, particularly credit sales took a sharp jump and have continued on a fairly high level ever since.

How does Peterborough compare with other cities of about the same size?

Mr. Kinlin thinks the amount of money owed in the city is "high" compared with some others.

In any city, Mr. Kinlin says there are about five per cent who are deadbeats. The remaining 95 per cent are usually pretty good credit risks, in that they try their best to meet their obligations. Of the 95 per cent who are good potential risks, he estimated 70 per cent owe money today.

Robert Trotter Completes Forestry Courses

Conservation officer Robert Trotter of Apsley has returned to his home operating base in the village.

For the past several months he had been attending the Ontario Forest Rangers' School at Dorset taking three broad forestry courses which lasted for three months each. He was a member of a class of 20 who fully completed the courses.

Some of the studies included sylviculture, field telephone and camp construction, intense study of fish and wildlife, drafting, surveying and timber cruising. There were also courses on law enforcement, Indian treaties, trapline management, plantlife, pollution and so forth.

It is the aim of the Department of Lands and Forests to put all possible personnel through similar courses which will eventually produce one of the best schooled staffs in the knowledge of the outdoors. It also means, Mr. Trotter said, that when vacancies occur for advancement there will be well-trained men to fill them.

He will continue with his regular work at Apsley from now on. Mr. Trotter was very pleased with this opportunity to acquire more knowledge and says that he got a lot out of the courses that will help him in his duties.

Accident Victim Recovering In Hospital

Injured Friday night when struck by a car on McDonnel St., Arthur O'Halloran, 46, 319 McDonnel St., is recovering in St. Joseph's Hospital from a dislocated shoulder. His condition is said to be satisfactory today.

Police report O'Halloran was thrown through the air and landed on the pavement after he was struck by a car driven by Ronald King, 16, 412 Dublin St.

King was travelling east on McDonnel St.

The accident occurred at 6:15 Friday evening. Constable Harold Andrew investigated.

Omemee Woman Wins $1,052 Quiz

OMEMEE—Winner of $1,052 in a radio quiz program on Friday night, Miss Patricia Harris, Omemee, said today she "didn't think there was much chance" for her.

The reason: In January she had been called by the same program —Treasure Trail — and couldn't answer the jackpot question.

At that time the question was worth $362. Friday night, with more than $1,000 at stake, she had all her neighbors at her home to help her if she couldn't think of the answer herself.

"But I knew it," she said.

In September last year, Miss Harris won $485 in a song-naming contest. But she doesn't think her luck has run out yet.

"I'm going to buy a ticket on a car," she said. "It would be nice to have a car." What will she do with the money she has? Miss Harris, who runs a print shop, said she didn't know yet.

Best Work Ever Says Postmaster

"Work at the Post Office this Christmas season was handled better than any former rush season. We are very pleased about it all," said Postmaster Harold E. White today.

Of the 104 extra helpers hired for the extra rush the last 20 men were laid off on Thursday, having completed the last delivery details. All parcels were delivered from the Armouries pool by Wednesday evening, and Mr. White commented that this year all parcels were more plainly addressed and there was a minimum of poor parcel-tying.

Overseas parcels got away to a good early start, he said, and thought it was reasonable to assume that the bulk of them reached their destinations before Christmas.

There were also fewer insufficiently addressed cards this year. Mr. White attributes the general efficiency of usual chaotic rush to a better-educated public that were well advised by departmental publicity.

Cars Slip On Ice On Highway 7, Woman Injured

A slippery stretch of highway caused an accident west of Norwood early today in which two cars received $800 damage and one of the drivers, an Arndon woman, received minor injuries.

Miss Elora Hayes, 37, driving an eastbound car, was treated by Dr. Herbert Young for a sprained ankle, a cut over one eye, and other facial cuts and bruises.

The accident was a mile and a half west of Norwood on Highway 7 and occurred at 4.30 a.m.

Harold Burnside, 27, of RR 3, Madoc, was driving west along the highway when he struck an icy patch of hard-packed snow. His vehicle skidded across the highway and crashed into the left front of Miss Hayes' oncoming car.

About $400 damage was caused to each of the cars.

Burnside was only shaken up, but Miss Hayes required medical treatment.

OPP Constable James Healey and Jack Ricard investigated.

Given Away In July, Persian Cat Returns

MARMORA (ENS)—Apparently it takes months to efface the memory of its original home from a cat as illustrated in a happening of the month. Fluffy, a grey Persian cat, was given by its owner, Mrs. Charles Campion, to some friends at Petherick's Corners last Dominion Day with a fond farewell being taken of it by her two daughters, Arlene and Joyce. Two other cats in the meantime have been receiving the attention. Recently there came to the Campion home a badly battered feline with a gash over one eye which immediately made itself at home and was recognized as the former pet of the family.

The welcome it received was even joined in by the other two cats and the pet dog. "We are not going to part with it any more," said the two girls in unison. Fluffy is a five-year-old.

WINTER'S HERE

It's always a few degrees warmer along the lakefront the amateur weather prophets insist, but they were wrong today. It was five below at Trenton on the shores of the Bay of Quinte, but the night low here was seven above the zero mark at 9 a.m. At White River, the mercury dropped to a bone-chilling 24 below, but at Dawson City away out north in the Yukon, it was only one below.

689 Birds Seen In Survey Around City

A survey of birds Friday in areas about the city uncovered a total of 689 birds and some surprises in one of the most complete checks made in this district.

Armed with field glasses and Peterson's Field Manual, 15 bird watchers under Frank Pammett covered six chosen areas and noted their findings.

Two of the surprises were a great blue heron spotted along the river and five goldfinches struggling along behind their cousins who have gone south.

Two big flocks of redpolls, visitors from the north, were seen in the Chemong park area and it was estimated that they totalled over 360.

OUT IN MORNING

The census takers, out four hours in the morning, were split into groups of fours to cover the areas. The plots covered were the Chemong Park area, Lily Lake- Jackson Park area, the Otonabee river from Little Lake to Nassau; the Nassau-Warsaw road triangle; Burnham's woods on Highway 7 east of the city, north to the Rifle Range, and the area around Stewart Hall in Otonabee township.

Group leaders were Harry Graham, Larry McKeever, Jim Johnston, Ken Strasser, Morley Powell and Frank Pammett. On hand was Dr. William Gunn, executive director of the Ontario Federation of Naturalists.

Group leaders can choose how they cover an area as long as they do it thoroughly.

Seventeen species were recorded: 1 great blue heron, 1 sparrow-hawk, 1 ruffed-leg hawk, 8 ruffed grouse, 4 herring gulls, 3 downie woodpeckers, 1 hairy woodpecker, 4 blue jays, 81 chickadees, 1 white breasted nuthatch, 3 brown creepers, 9 golden crown kinglets, 38 starlings, 123 house sparrows, 360 redpolls (finches), 5 goldfinches, 8 slate colored juncos, and 37 tree sparrows.

The totals are sent to the Federation of Naturalists in Toronto, who gather their reports from other centres and send them along to the National Audubon Society in New York for complete compilation which give a pattern from the Arctic to Mexico and from coast to coast.

Ex-Mental Patient Charged With Slaying

NEW YORK (AP) — A former mental patient has been charged with the sex slaying two weeks ago of a 63-year-old charwoman.

After Mrs. Sarah O'Malley was beaten to death Dec. 12 in the hallway of her midtown apartment house, two boys told of a stoop-shouldered man in the area at the time of the slaying.

Friday a stoop-shouldered man identified as John Wallenberg, 62, was arrested in the vicinity of the crime while allegedly molesting a woman.

Police said Wallenberg admitted slaying Mrs. O'Malley. He as booked on a homicide charge.

2 Red PoWs Found Hanged On Christmas

SEOUL, Kore (Reuters) a— Two Communist prisoners of war were found hanged Christmas Eve and a third was shot dead by a Korean Army guard Christmas Day, the United Nations prisoner-of-war command said today.

One prisoner, found hanging in the Cheju Island prison camp, was thought to have committed suicide. UN authorities said preliminary investigations in the case of a second prisoner found hanged at Pusan Camp indicated murder.

The third Communist prisoner was shot at Koje Island camp when he refused to halt on being challenged twice in his own language.

Hit By Car, In Critical Condition

Police Still Seek Hit-Run Driver In Christmas Crash

"Why doesn't Daddy come home to put up the Christmas tree?"

It was Christmas Eve, and Edward Corbin 4, and his brother Gerard 3, wanted to know why their father was staying away so long.

He had been struck by a hit-run motorist and left lying injured on Western Ave.

Christmas Day was far from merry for the Corbins. Mrs. Corbin and Mr. Corbin's mother and father did their best to try and explain to Edward and Gerard that their father had been hurt and was in hospital. Five-month-old Patrick, the Corbin's youngest child was too young to know what it was all about, but to the other two youngsters, not having their Daddy for Christmas was really tough.

CRITICAL

Today, Civic Hospital described Mr. Corbin's condition as critical. He has both legs broken and also received undetermined head injuries.

Police are following up all leads and investigating every tip to try and find the car which knocked Mr. Corbin down, as he was returning from a grocery store with a carton of soft drinks.

He had just left home for a few minutes to get the pop and the family was waiting for him to put up the Christmas tree. But of course, they waited in vain, because the driver who struck Mr. Corbin as he was walking on the path off the street and left him lying injured where he landed, had spoiled their Christmas.

Police believe the driver may have been drinking and panicked when he realized he had hit someone.

The car stopped, because William Eastabrook, 899 Western Ave., heard a crash outside his home about 8:15 p.m. He went to the window and saw a car stop, then drive off. Mr. Eastabrook saw the man lying on the street, but it was too far away for him to get the licence number. Mr. Eastabrook phoned police, an ambulance was called and the city-wide search for the car was on.

BELIEVED DAMAGED

Police have interviewed witnesses who reported seeing a car in the vicinity going at a high rate of speed about the time of the accident, but they have been unable to obtain a detailed description of the vehicle. It is believed that the car must have been damaged somewhere around the front end, or perhaps the hood may be dented.

All garages have been contacted and asked to report to police if any car having even slight damage to the front is brought in for repairs. Police are also hoping that someone who either saw the accident at close range or believe they may have seen the car will be able to give them some information that may lead to the arrest of the driver.

Failing this, there is still the possibility that the guilty driver may find it difficult to live with himself. If the driver who hit Mr. Corbin and left him lying injured along the roadside still has a conscience, he may decide to give himself up and relieve his mind of the constant reminder that it was his fault three small children and a young wife were deprived of a father and husband on Christmas Day and that now the family has no one to bring home a pay check until Mr. Corbin recovers and is able to return to work.

Industrial Supplement Pictures Growing City

A copy of the business supplement published by The Examiner Wednesday, Dec. 9, 1891, has returned to its source in only creased condition after long and interrupted travel.

To quote F. W. Whitehead of Bloomfield, Prince Edward county: "The enclosed paper was sent to my grandfather, James C. Burfield in England 61 years ago. It was sent to him by his brother who at that time was living in your city. I understand that there are still descendants living there, but I have never met them.

"My grandfather died 32 years ago. My uncle in England was recently going through some of his father's belongings, and finding this paper sent it to me with instruction that I send it on to you, if such a paper was still being published. An inquiry to my friend, Lindly Calnan of The Picton Gazette, revealed the fact that though the name was changed, you were still in circulation.

"If you publish any part of this letter I should like a copy to send back to my uncle. His address, if any one is interested: 4 Garden Terrace, The Groves, York, England."

The only change in The Examiner's masthead since then is the omission of the word "weekly." In 1891 it was a daily with a special Thursday edition that went to county subscribers.

TREES GROWN OLD

The Examiner's supplement of 1861 provides a background of many contrasts with the appearance of Peterborough today. Its many illustrations include some that have changed only in their animate surroundings, such as the trees along the front of St. John's Anglican Church, and their neighbors in Victoria park, particularly those bordering the long path from Water St. to the entrance of the Peterborough county building. The elms have grown to adulthood, and have taken on age.

The entrance to Little Lake Cemetery is unfenced, but the chapel is visible through a screen of trees. Looking up the slope from what is now the Crescent St. gate, the altered appearance is largely in the concrete walk and row of shrubbery. Evidence of the ground to the south of the roadway and in the chapel precincts beyond indicates the mortality which time imposes.

A broad photograph taken from the town clock shows its shorter companion over the Bradburn building, with its Opera House on the third floor. It was built by Thomas Bradburn, one of the town's most enterprising citizens in those nineties.

THE C.P.R. HOTEL

That rooftop vista presents the name of the C.P.R. Hotel spelt out in large letters under the windows of the top floor. The premises today are occupied by the King George Hotel. Possibly the proprietor of the C.P.R. was Mrs. Bowman, mother of the late William Bowman. At any rate the name was retained under her ownership when a later Bowman occupied the building on the east side of George St., immediately north of the C.P.R. Most of the ground floor houses the Howard Outram wholesale confectionery business.

Almost forgotten industries on opposite sides of the river at Auburn are the Blythe lumber and grist and flour mills on the west side, and beyond is the four-storey stone factory of the Auburn Woollen mills.

The woollen mills were built in 1862-3 by Paton and Moir and were acquired by James Kendry, R. M. Dennistoun, John Carnegie and others.

The Blythe flour mills were apparently destroyed by fire and were rebuilt in 1865, and operated by John Carnegie, Jr.

The Peterborough Packing House of which George Matthews was the owner is only a fraction in size and capacity of its eventual successor, Canada Packers. The original, 100 ft. by 52 ft., was built in 1882, enlarged several times, and was included in the Matthews-Blackwell Co. merger, preceding Canada Packers Limited.

Conspicuous in some of these old photographs are the wooden sidewalks on George St., and its

Workshop Started For Children

SYDNEY, Australia (CP)—It's an old problem—what to do with the children on Saturday mornings.

Two clergymen in a Tasmania parish helped parents to find the answer. Canon I. J. R. Macdonald and Rev. John Collings, aided by their wives, started a workshop for neighboring children and nearly 100 youngsters attend every Saturday morning.

In one corner of the parish hall of the Anglican church is a stamp club run by an enthusiastic stamp collector of the parish. In another part of the hall is the singing class. In another corner is an art class. The beginners are doing charcoal drawings; the more experienced work with water colors. Outside, the physical culture classes are in full swing, and so the tennis class. Plans for drama, carpentry and sewing classes are under way.

Most of the youngsters are those who already go to the church's Sunday school, and most are from 10 to 14. Each Saturday opens with a prayer.

Pair Mark Diamond Jubilee 50 Years In Same Apartment

Mr. and Mrs. William L. Sharpe of 412 George Street are in Toronto today, guests at the home of their daughter as they celebrate their diamond jubilee. In the company of family and friends they will mark the passing of 60 years of marriage.

For 50 years the Sharpes have lived in their apartment overlooking George Street. And during that half century they have been keen observers of the changes in Peterborough generally, and specifically the comings and goings of businesses in the Hunter to Brock Street block of George Street.

"There certainly have been changes," reminisced Mr. Sharpe. "Lechs, the furriers, are the only ones that are still in business in this block."

Tuesday night a group of friends and neighbors dropped in for a short visit with the Sharpes. W. Alvin Graham, a friend since 1918, presented them with a billfold of money on behalf of the wellwishers.

And that wasn't all. The PCVS Carolers came to the Sharpe apartment and brightened th evening with a few Christmas numbers.

Mr. Sharpe, who will be 82 next February 5, is not yet retired. He sells and services oil burners for a Quebec company. Of Belfast stock, he thrives on work and sees no reason for dropping out of commercial life and retiring to the armchair and carpet slipper stage.

His parents were the former John Sharpe and Mary Anne Harrison. The family moved from Fenelon Falls to Peterborough when Mr. Sharpe was still a young boy. This is his home city and he is proud of it.

"You can't beat Peterborough for a place to live," he says, "and I've seen quite a few other cities and towns."

Mrs. Sharpe is the former Millie Lyle of Brantford. Her family also moved to Peterborough when she was very young. Charles Lyle, her father, was killed while working with the Dominion Bridge Company.

Mr. and Mrs. Sharpe had a family of five—a daughter and four sons, three of the latter now living.

Today as they celebrate their diamond jubilee they are at the home of their daughter, Mrs. W. G. Batley (Edna) of 140 Latimer Street, Toronto. A son Allan Charles is dead; another son Donald William lives in Los Angeles; and their two other sons Ormond and William are both employed at the Western Clock Company.

"We haven't done anything special," says Mrs. Sharpe. "True, we've lived in this apartment for a long time—about 50 years. One thing is certain: We've made some fine friends in Peterborough, and it's nice to be remembered by them."

SUNNY THOUGHT FOR WINTER DAYS—Joyce Johnson didn't do anything special—didn't win a trophy, isn't "Miss Something-or-Other." She's just a pretty girl, relaxing in the sun at a Las Vegas, Nev., resort hotel. That seemed reason enough for the photographer to take a picture with which to cheer the folks who are chattering through another rough northern winter.

Firemen's Annual Ball Sell-Out Success Friday Night

A sellout crowd at the Firemen's Ball Friday evening lighted the eyes of firemen who have been working for their annual social project in past weeks against the heavy opposition of Christmas shopping. The firemen are anxious to make this event a success as the proceeds go into the local Fire Fighters' Association treasury and have been available to buy them a radio and television set at the Fire Hall

Captain George Gimblett, Jr., was chairman of the dance committee made up William Trigg, Jack Pruner, Jack Luther, Joe Martell and Hubert Kennedy. They provided bar facilities for their guests at the Club Aragon and gave them swizzle sticks as favors. Later they gave out fancy paper hats to add to the gaiety.

Some lovely new Christmas gowns were being shown off at this dance and Christmas jewelery gifts were evident. But few of the ladies were fortunate enough to have corsages since the florists had also taken the Boxing Day holiday.

Lending their patronage to the dance were Mayor and Mrs. Hugh Waddell, Mr. and Mrs. Roy T. Bogle, Alderman and Mrs. A. B. Burrows, and Mr. Gordon K. Fraser, MP. Also attending as patron and patroness were Mr. and Mrs. Henry Nokes.

The door prize draw was made by Mr. Bogle and the winners were Mr. and Mrs. Andre Dalton. There were four spot dances during the evening and out-of-town visitors here for Christmas were among the winners. The first prize went to Mr. and Mrs. Percy Butler, of Peterborough, the second to Miss Isobel Irwin, of Toronto, and Mr. Tom Jenkins, of Hamilton, the third to Mrs. Marian Winer, of Hamilton, and Mr. J. Let Your Children Help Hang Your New Calendars

By NANCY CLEAVER

How children enjoy the hanging of the new calendars on January First! They have such attractive pictures in such lovely colors! Let them help you as you carefully extract a calendar from its container, which has been mailed in a cardboard tube. Take them along with you when you pick up a calendar from some of the stores or the bank which you patronize. A small child loves to help you choose the place on the walls where the new calendars are to hang.

Before throwing out your last year's calendars, take a second look at them. Is there one with a picture which you like well enough to frame? Perhaps there is a picture or two you could put away to take to your summer cottage. If woodwork is a hobby of one of the members of the family and there is a fret-saw in good repair, why not glue one of the smaller attractive pictures onto a piece of playwood, make a puzzle design on the back, and cut out the pieces? Even a puzzle pasted on heavy cardboard can provide good times for little fingers!

Children like to pull off the page at the end of each month, as well as take down the old calendars. The numbers can be pasted on colored cardboard cards and mother can play a game with junior while he learns his numbers. Various simples games such as "Snap" and "Find the Numbers" can be played by cutting out a set of cards and pasting a large number from a calendar in the centre of each. A simplified domino game can also easily be devised.

A large calendar on the kitchen wall where the schedule in connection with such chores as washing dishes is marked down at the first of each week, save many a hot argument. It also is a good place to jot down plans for a family "spree" such as attending a movie, going on a hike, visiting relatives, etc. The home unit needs to have fun together as well as co-operation in work — and the calendar reminds the members of the family to keep the Family Fun dates clear of other engagements.

One of the best ways to encourage a school age boy or girl to budget the use of time, is a calendar on their own bedroom wall. This is often even more efficient than a small diary for jotting down their activities and responsibilities such as "Wolf Cub Meeting", "deliver extra paper to Mrs. Jones", or "dead line for third book review report."

Children are full of questions and parents do well to encourage school age boys and girls to look up the answers to their own queries in the dictionary. Most public libraries include one or two attractive, illustrated youth books of general information for questioning minds, and the modern encyclopedia sets are fascinating too.

People have always tried to measure time and men for centuries have divided the day into twenty-four hours, consisting of one night and one day. This is the time span made by the revolution of the earth on its axis. The year has been marked by the length of time the earth takes to go around the sun. It is divided into the four seasons. Over four thousand years ago the Chinese were following their own lunar or moon calendar!

Discovering information can be a really exciting adventure for a person of any age. Boys or girls usually enjoy a Quiz. Parents are wise if they participate wholeheartedly in a family quiz from time to time. Why not encourage your child to make up his own Calendar Quiz!

DOROTHY DIX

Woman Criticizes Conduct Of Her Church Members

DEAR MISS DIX: Will you help me decide a very important — to me, at least—matter. I have been a faithful church member for sometime, but now I realize that about 75 per cent of the peole who attend my church are hypocrites. They gossip, fight, drink, and some of the worst sit in the front pews. Some of these people would be better off staying home and bringing their children up right. I have about decided to leave the church I've been attending and go to one where the members are better. I don't like people who feel that if they are seen in church on Sunday, and donate their weekly offering, everything they do is condoned. My husband feels my attitude is wrong, and that I should remain in this church.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: You can run from one church to another all over the country, and you'll find that the members of each belong to the human race, and human nature changes very little. You seem to rush into very harsh judgments, and it is your own nature that needs doctoring or ministering, much more than those of your fellow church members.

HASTY ACCUSATION

You rush into the accusation of "hypocrisy" very glibly, apparently applying the term to any discrepancy between Sunday and Monday behavior. Perhaps a few—very few—people do attend church as a cloak to misconduct, but most of those you blame yield unthinkingly to the very commonplace faults of careless speech and actions. Not even faithful church attendance can make a human perfect, but public worship will make better mortals out of most of us.

In your case, the church angle is relatively minor. Actually, you'd have some fault to find with people were they gathered in any other public place, or even if they never left their homes. You are overly sensitive to faults in others, overly critical of their weaknesses.

Perhaps you are unfortunate enough to live in a neighborhood composed largely of folks of questionable morals; I doubt it, however. Mass imperfection such as you outline is rarely encountered.

Why not try a bit of experimenting? See how many good points some of these so-called "hypocrites" have? Count the deeds of kindness, the acts of patience, the sacrifices they make for their families. Do a faithful job of counterbalancing their faults and virtues, and I am quite sure you'll be surprised at how many of them turn out to be good.

Constant fault-finding is in itself an unpleasant quality; don't let yourself develop it further. If you still have doubts, speak to your clergyman about the situation, but don't expect to correct it by a switch of churches; that won't work at all!

DEAR MISS DIX: My boy friend, who is 17, likes me a lot but gets very annoyed because I have to be in at 11 o'clock and he has until 12. I am 14.

MAUREEN K.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: Your home - coming time is quite late enough for a 14-year-old miss. If your friend really likes you, he won't get mad over such a trifle.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: My mother doesn't think I'm normal because I'm 17 and hate dances. The only time I go to a party or similar affair is when my mother makes me. I don't get along with people in my own age group, but prefer adults around 30. There are other children in our family but I don't get along with them, either. I like very young children and babies, or much older people—not teen-agers.

SUE

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: You certainly are not a normal seventeen-year-old girl, but how far you vary from the norm is difficult to ascertain from a short letter. Your marked preference fo rpeople so much older than you is more cause for concern than your dislike of parties. You are now a senior in high school, and graduation will probably solve much of your trouble. You will probably go on to college or business, where your daily contacts will be with contemporaries of greater intellectual maturity than those in your high school. New associations will help greatly in the leveling off processs you need.

Christmas Concert In Lakefield

LAKEFIELD (ENS). — Christmas Sunday was marked by a special family service at St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church when children of the Sunday School attended with their parents. The sermon, "A Christmas Story" was delivered by the Rev. J. A. Steed.

"Mother and daughter choir" presented special music for the service and was under the direction of Mrs. Harold Trude. Miss Connie Vallance was soloist.

The church was beautifully decorated for the occasion by Mrs. William Blewett and Mr. C. Neill. A basket of white 'mums was the gift of the adult Bible class.

On Monday evening a capacity audience attended the annual Christmas concert presented by the children of the Sunday School. The following program was given: Opening chorus by the pupils of the Sunday School; the address of welcome, Doreen Coons; Drill by the kindergarten class; a song, "Me and My Teddy Bear," by the junior group. A pantomime, "The Nativity Scene," was enacted by members of the senior grades and was interspersed with carols. The intermediate girls class did a "Rose Drill" and the senior boys' rhythm band played several selections.

A monologue by Margaret Refuse was followed by a play, "Santa's Helpers." A drill, "The Parade of the Wooden Soldiers" by junior boys and girls was well received. The senior girls sang a chorus, "Sweet Bells of Christmas," and the closing number was a drill and good-night song by the tiny tots of the Sunday school.

Santa's arrival, at this point, was an enjoyable conclusion to a happy evening, and bags of candy, nuts and oranges were distributed to all the children.

Keeping pace with other fabric developments, wool has shed its traditional uses and come into far wider fashion acceptance. Wool can be as light and airy as silk chiffon or as thick and curly as fur. It's cut into dinner and evening dresses, sunclothes, swim suits, leisure fashions. A wool twosome is shown above that knows no season. Blouse is in a feather-light wool yarn that's closely knit for a lacey look. The bodice has a generous sprinkling of minute rhinestones. It's worn with an all-around mushroom pleated skirt in black wool.

MARY MOORE SAYS:

Your New Year's Eve Spread Grand Finale Of The Year

Since every hostess wants to give her own party on New Year's Eve, those who issue invitations early are the ones who gather in the guests.

Since this is the grand finale of the year, it is a time for informality and buffet suppers are a natural. They suit the atmosphere, and resourceful hostesses enlist their guests who are eager to help.

Give full rein to your imagination. The brightest table centre with sparkle and candles and the most colorful food are the theme of buffet spreads.

Color, variety and surprises. Those you will find in the two menus I have chosen. One fairly simple and on the economical side, the other more elaborate.

SPREAD-YOUR-OWN BUFFET SUPPER

Red Fruit Punch
Hard-cooked Egg Cups with Four Assorted Fillings
Hot Home-made Tiny Rolls
Potato Chips Crabmeat Spread
Liver Paste
Cottage Cheese Dip
Celery Hearts Stuffed Olives
Tiny Lemon Meringue Tarts
Coffee

NEW YEAR'S EVE SUPPER

Cranberry and Orange Juice Cocktail
Turkey Shortcake
Salad in Lettuce Cups
Assorted Breads
Quine and Apple Jelly Gherkins
Pecan Pie Coffee

DIRECTIONS:

RED FRUIT PUNCH: Boil together 1 cup sugar, 5 cups water, grated find 2 oranges and 2 lemons five minutes. Chill. Add 1 cup orange juice, ½ cup lemon juice, ice cubes, 1 or 2 cups red fruit juice such as strawberry or raspberry or cherry, 1 or 2 cups strong cold tea, sliced maraschinos and crescent slices of whole orange, and ginger ale if desired.

HARD-COOKED EGG CUPS: These are the hard-cooked whites, which have been cut in halves crosswise, yolks taken out. With careful cutting scallop or point the edges. Arrange on plate and garnish. Divide the yolks into 4 small bowls. To 1 bowl add anchovy or lobster paste; to another add French mustard and grated onion and seasonings; to the next add chopped green pepper and pimientos and ground olives; to the fourth add mayonnaise and minced ham. The guests choose their own and fill the egg cups themselves.

The cottage cheese dip contains chopped chives or green onion tops, mayonnaise and cream to make it soft and spready. The crabmeat spread is made from flaked crabmeat, mashed with mayonnaise and extra lemon juice.. The liver paste may be bought in cans; or buy liverwurst and mash it with mayonnaise and add minced parsley.

The cranberry juice and orange cocktail is made from straining cranberry sauce and adding canned or frozen orange juice and diluting to taste with ice and soda water or ginger ale.

Turkey shortcake is made from a creamed mixture of turkey served on halved tender tea biscuits. For the salad in lettuce cups be sure to use wafer thin slices of tomato and cucumber; shredded lettuce and chopped celery can make up the rest of the salad. Moistened with French dressing containing plenty of paprika, and garnished with pimiento strips this is very Christmasy.

PECAN PIE (rich, delicious and and popular) — Have ready a pastry-lined pie plate with high fluted edge, unbaked. Cook together ½ cup sugar with 1 cup corn syrup to 228 degrees Fahr. or until a little thick. Beat three eggs well, and beat the hot syrup into them. Add 4 tablespoons butter, 1 teaspoon vanilla, 1 cup broken pecans. Pour into pie shell. Bake at 450 degrees Fahr. (very hot) for 10 minutes then reduce heat to 300 degrees Fahr. for 35 minutes. Cool and serve in small wedges, with whipped cream. This may be garnished with halved maraschino cherries.

WRONG: Make no apology.

RIGHT: Apologize, making sure that the person affected will know that whatever you said or did was not intentional.

Turkey And Rice Crusty Croquettes

You can still make a main dish of unused turkey by combining with rice in croquettes, spiked with just the right hint of lemon rind for a special touch. A deliciously crispy coating covers the cone shaped "dreams" and seals in all the flavors. Serve them hot with left over turkey gravy or a sauce. Ingredients:

2 cups cooked rice
2 cups ground or finely diced turkey
1, 10½ ounce can condensed cream of chicken soup
1 tablespoon finely chopped parsley.
1 tablespoon finely chopped onion
1 teaspoon grated lemon rind
½ teaspoon salt
⅛ teaspoon pepper
2 eggs, beaten
1 tablespoon water
1½ cups fine dry bread crumbs

Method.—Mix together the rice, turkey, soup, parsley, onion, lemon rind, salt and pepper. Chill thoroughly in the refrigerator. Shape into 8 croquettes, using ½ cup of the croquette mixture to make each croquette. Roll the croquettes first in the bread crumbs, then into the eggs which have been mixed with the water, and again into the crumbs. Chill before frying. Fry in deep fat (38 deg. F.) until crisp and brown. Drain on absorbent paper.

Pineapple Dessert Treat For Holiday Parties

Holidays mean parties, with good food and good cheer. You can delight them with this surprise package of hospitality — Pineapple Ladyfinger Dessert. It fits right into the festive season with bright red cherries dotting the snowy white filing, and a decoration of shiny green holly circling the plate. The pineapple flavor is wonderful too, when you use economical canned crushed pineapple.

More good news . . this Pineapple Ladyfinger Dessert is ample for 8 to 10 people and it awaits serving time in the refrigerator, leaving the hostess free to enjoy her holiday guests!

PINEAPPLE LADYFINGER DESSERT

2½ cups crushed pineapple
1 envelope unflavored gelatin
½ cup sugar
¼ teaspoon salt
¼ cup maraschino cherries, quartered.
½ cup chopped pecans
1 teaspoon grated lemon peel
½ pint whipping cream, whipped
1 dozen ladyfingers.

Drain pineapple. Soften gelatin in ¼ cup of the syrup. Heat balance to a boil. Add gelatin and stir until dissolved. Add sugar, salt, and pineapple. Chill until slightly thickened. Wash and drain maraschino cherries. Cut in eighths. Add cherries, nuts and peel. Fold in cream whipped stiff. Line the sides and bottom of a loaf pan (8½ x 4½ x 2½-inches) or mold with waxed paper letting ends extend over top of pan two inches. Then arrange split ladyfingers upright around sides and over bottom of pan. Alternate layers of pineaple mixture and balance of ladyfingers. Chill 12 to 24 hours. Lift mould out of pan. Remove paper. Slice to serve 8 or 10 servings.

Make Left Overs Glamorous

What to do with all the left-over Christmas turkey or chicken always creates a problem, but here are some wonderful solutions for you. Serve it in a casserole with celery and topped with a crispy, golden brown corn flake crust. Another good idea is to make Chicken or Turkey Squares —this is a delicious baked dish that combines rice, parsley, pimiento and oven-popped rice. Or try Scalloped Chicken or Turkey with Stuffing — this will also utilize any left-over stuffing that you may have, and it makes a perfect winter main dish. Your family will never recognize left-over poultry if you make turkey or chicken Chow Mein. This Chinese dish is especially good served with hot buttered crisp oven-popped rice cereal, a modern version of the usual friend noodles.

Here are the recipes for these tasty dinner dishes that will solve your left-over problem:

Fashion Flashes

Selling on sight is the way a smart shop describes the beaded sheath. Bright noon blue beads are used to cover a very slim, short skirted sheath with wide scoop-neck and narrow shoulder straps.

✧ ✧ ✧

✧ ✧ ✧

Something quite new for resort wear is a soft chesterfield made of beautiful Italian tie silk in black and silver. The collar is of black velvet, and fastenings and cuff buttons are shoe-buttons of jet.

Fur Trim Popular

Going right along with the popularity of the fine fabric coat is the smart little touch of fur, a small muff, a fur waistcoat, bag, or glove cuffs. Attracting interest are such items as black suede or capeskin gloves with cuffs of black dyed fox, moleskin waistcoats dyed in luscious colors, and a satchel handbag of leopard framed and outlined in patent leather. Black dyed broadtail-processed lamb bordered in black leather makes a nice muff bag and of course there is the famous little muff of black dyed fox.

Giant Shorthand Job

HENSALL, Ont. (CP)—Robert Moir, former Hensall resident who gained fame by copying the Bible in shorthand after he had taught himself speed-writing at the age of 60, died Thursday at Crystal City, Man. Mr. Moir, who was 93, laid claim to being the oldest living graduate of the University of Toronto. He received his BA degree in 1882.

Industrial

macadam (dirt) roadway recalled by older citizens as muddy in spring and dusty through the long summers.

STOVE PLANT FAILED

The plant of Brooks Manufacturing Co. affords a glimpse of the old carbon works on Townsend St., finally purchased by Canadian General Electric Company. That block, bounded by Townsend, Stewart, Wolfe and Bethune Sts., was the site of a stove works, built by Powell and Jones, in 1886, including a large moulding shop and foundry. They turned out kitchen ranges and heaters, and were one of the bright industrial hopes of the town.

Only three years later, the buildings were idle, and J. W. Taylor, Thomas Brooks and others asked the council for inducements to set up another industry making the carbon sticks that were used in the new electric lighting system.

In 1891, the year in which The Examiner's supplement was published, Peterborough emerged from the old gaslit era. Electric lights came into use on the streets and in some stores.

The carbon works of the Brooks company failed in 1895. The city had contributed $4,000 to assist them in setting up their industry, and at the collapse, as recorded by the late Frank H. Dobbin, a proposal was made to the town council to assume the $10,000 mortgage on the building and operate the business as a municipal venture. Eventually, the Canadian General Electric Co. bought the property, manufactured the carbon electrodes and branched out into insulating materials which finally became the main product of that plant. In 1891 the Brooks factory was quite a presentable building of red brick in two and three storeys.

SWANK DRYGOODS

The J. J. Turner property at King and George Streets was only of two floors at that time, and the Hall Innes & Co. drygoods store on Simcoe St. must have been one of the finest business houses in eastern Ontario. It occupied the buildings now distributed between the Hamilton grocery store, Elim Tabernacle, and the addition which the Bank of Montreal acquired for the enlargement of their accommodation at the corner. The late Richard Hall was the principal partner, it is recalled, customarily wore morning coat and striped trousers and devoted much of this time to the gracious greeting of the women of the town and country. The firm gradually changed its personnel, moved to George St. as the Richard Hall Company, and only recently vanished in its final vestige when the name was changed to the Walker Stores.

Transformed only in the reduction of its mansard room detail is the expansive building of the Central Canada Loan and Savings Co., succeeded by Toronto Savings and Loan Co., and now carrying on the same kind of financial business as the Grey and Bruce Trust and Savings Co.

NEIGHBORING BANKS

The Cox building extends as today from the corner of Brock St., on the west side of George St nearly half way down the block. George A. Cox was president of Central Canada Loan and Savings Co. He was also president of the Bank of Commerce, whose Peterborough branch was located in that building at 439 George St., with William Manson as manager.

In the same block at 431 George St, was the branch of the Bank of Toronto, with Peter Campbell as manager. The Bank of Montreal was situated as now at Simcoe and Water Streets, and the Ontario Bank was at 121 Simcoe St., occupied today by the Peterborough Club at the southeast corner of Water and Simcoe Streets. Charles McGill was manager.

An interesting picture is that of the home of Aaron Cox, brother of George A. Cox, on the present site of Trinity United Church, its wide, gravelled roadway entrance may be imagined as the projection of Simcoe St., and almost exactly the breadth of the steps leading up to the doors of Trinity Church.

On each side of that road approach within the Cox grounds and extending from the gate up to the house, was a long row of pink roses that bloomed profusely especially in June and on into July.

Many other photographs in The Examiner supplement preserve aspects of the Peterborough of 61 years ago, some of them finding explanation in the records of the late Mr. Dobbin. They live, too, in the memories of citizens still surviving those Victorian days.

Stalin Reply Peace Hope Pravda Says

LONDON (AP) — Moscow radio today quoted the Soviet newspaper Pravda as saying millions of people will see Stalin's recent statement on international affairs as a "bright new manifestation of the peace-loving policy of the Soviet government."

The broadcast was the first Russian reaction heard here to the Soviet prime minister's answers to four written questions put to him by James Reston, New York Times reporter.

In his replies, Stalin professed a desire to co-operate in any "new diplomatic approach" to end the Korean war and claimed Russia is interested in ending it. He also said he regarded favorably the possibility of diplomatic talks with representatives of President - elect Eisenhower "looking toward the possibility" of a later conference between Eisenhower and himself.

QUOTES PRAVDA

The Moscow broadcast quoted Pravda, organ of the Soviet Communist party, as saying:

"Stalin's replies to the New York Times once more stress Soviet readiness to collaborate in work ending the war in Korea.

"Stalin's replies published on the eve of the New Year give hundreds of millions of people new strength in the struggle for peace, for ending the policy of force and aggression, for ending the grasping war against the peace-loving Korean people, for regulating international questions by peaceful talks.

"Millions of people see in these answers a new bright manifestation of the peace-loving policy of the Soviet government. . ."

Foreign diplomats in Moscow said Friday the Stalin answers would put Eisenhower on the spot. They said Russia would benefit in propaganda if the U. S. President-elect refuses negotiations for a meeting with Stalin.

British newspapers generally cocked a wary suspicious eye at Stalin's verbal olive branch.

The Conservative Daily Telegraph said it would be imprudent to adopt anything but a sceptical attitude toward Stalin's answers.

The Liberal News Chronicle, while adopting the same dubious attitude, suggested Stalin's "words should not go unanswered for that would leave him with a propaganda advantage."

Lot Of Sport Boys Climb Out On Limb During 1952

BALTIMORE (AP)—The sports world has had a niee crop of limbbums in 1952.

Take, for example, Chuck Dressen, manager of Brooklyn Dodgers.

It was Oct. 4. Dressen's Dodgers had won the first game of the world series and dropped the second to the Yankees.

Quoth Dressen:

"All we've got to do now is take each odd game and we're in."

The Brooks won No. 3 and No. 5 all right, but came a cropper on No. 7 and the Yanks took the championship.

This makes Dressen a limbbum. He insists on getting himself out on a limb with some profundity and looks like a bum when it backfires.

LOTS OF COMPANY

Dressen has lots of company.

Jim Ellis, sports writer for the Baltimore Evening Sun, is self-appointed, unofficial boxscore keeper in the limbbum league. Here are some more entries from his 1952 ledger:

Jan. 3—General Manager Hank Greenberg of Cleveland Indians: "Without Dimaggio, the Yankees will be lucky to finish in the first division."

Feb. 1—Manager Eddie Sawyer of Philadelphia Phils: "I think we'll bounce back." (Phils sank so low early in the season Sawyer was bounced. They finished fourth under Steve O'Neill.)

Aug. 20—Joe Louis: "Walcott's too smart for Marciano. He'll beat him. Sept. 15—Heavyweight champion Joe Walcott: "Rocky can't fight. I ought to beat him." (Marciano knocked out Walcott in the 13th round and became the new champion.)

Oct. 20—Red Grange, after watching San Francisco 49'ers crush the Bears 40-16: "That's the greatest football team I've ever seen." (The 49'ers lost five of their next seven games.)

Find Tommy Cod Season Chief Interest

STE. ANNE DE LA ERADE, Que. (CP)—Prospects of the 1952-53 season is the main topic of conversation these days in this municipality 20 miles below Three Rivers.

What season? Well, this is the time of year when les petits poissons de chenaux, tommy cod to the uninitiated, come up from the sea to spawn.

A period of just three weeks, from Christmas through the Epiphany, Jan. 6, marks the height of the season for the fish, called frostfish in New England, poulamon by the Acadians and microgadus tomcod by men of science.

This is the time of year when the gaily-decorated cabins go up on the ice of the Ste. Anne river, cabins that accommodate two to four anglers and as many onlookers as can crowd in to see the process of fishing through the ice.

The cabin is mounted on runners, pushed out on the ice and you're all set. Then, it's up to the fish.

So far this year, however, there are no cabins on the river And the weatherman can be blamed for the situation. A mild spell melted ice that had formed and chased the few hardy fishermen who had set up their cabins.

A few cold days though should remedy the situation and see the cabins dotting the ice.

The little fish, considered a delicacy, is a bonanza for commercial fishermen too.

Throughout eastern Quebec, they have been netting 40 to 50 tons annually with the value placed between $5,000 to $20,000. These figures are for 1946 and don't include the voluminous catch of the enthusiastic amateur.

Have 54 Studies Under Way In Atom Work

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (AP)—The University of Michigan's memorial-phoenix project said Friday it now has under way 54 research studies on peacetime uses of atomic energy.

In the last year the studies disclosed new uses of atomic energy ranging from a new method of distinguishing between cretins (babies without throid function) and Mongoloid idiots to new ways to kill trichinosis in pork.

Dr. Ralph A. Sawyer, director of the studies, said in a progress report that a new technique was found by which radioctivae iodine is used to measure the thyroid activity of newly-born infants. By this method the cretins can be distinguished from the Mongoloid idiot, whose condition is in no way related to thyroid activity. As a result, treatment can be started without delay.

Dr. Sawyer said a study of radiation shows it can be used to kill bacteria to preserve foods, sterilize drugs, change fermentation procedures and other processes.

Stolarski turned over $800 in cash — all late receipts.

Western Oils Slip Badly During Week On Exchange

By HARRY KINGDON
Canadian Press Staff Writer

Western oils this week slipped off the heights they scaled in last week's advance on the Toronto stock exchange.

But there were signs at the week's end that they might recover their balance some distance from the bottom.

Between Dec. 10 and Dec. 19, the oils gained more than 13 points on the exchange's index. They added a little more last Monday, then started to slip.

Tuesday and Wednesday, they lost about two of their 13 points and seemed ripe to continue the decline when the exchange reopened on Boxing Day. But in mid-afternoon, support appeared and the oils started back up.

Some observers credited the upward change to United States buyers who have recently shown new interest in Canadian western oils. In the year-end tax shuffle of shares, many oils moved into "stronger hands."

The complex association of United States and Canadian business has affected the stock market in other ways recently.

Shares of National Lead Company, a U.S. firm, are due to be listed on the Toronto exchange Monday—the eighth major American company to list its shares in Toronto this year.

Continental Can Co. Inc. was listed in Toronto and Montreal last week. Stockholders of Zeller's Limited, a Canadian retail chain, recently approved a plan to affiliate with W. T. Grant Company of New York—the third largest variety store chain in the U.S.

Frank Kaplan in the Toronto Telegram reports that Canadians now are buying more United States stocks. The premium on the Canadian dollar, removal of foreign exchange restrictions and higher yield on some stocks are among the attractions south of the border.

Here's how the various exchanges reacted this week.

Toronto started the week with a mild advance while papers slipped and industrials gained at Montreal. Prices were mixed in both centres Tuesday and Wednesday. After the Christmas closing, Toronto started a moderate advance and Montreal saw a mild decline.

The New York market moved on a pattern similar to Montreal's—advance Monday, mixed Tuesday and Wednesday, decline Friday.

From Friday to Friday, the Toronto exchange's indexes showed industrials up 1.11 at 319.34, golds up 1.47 at 83.54, base metals up 1.69 at 175.23, and western oils down 2.19 at 122.80.

In the Montreal averages, banks were up .02 at 31.72, utilities up .6 at 90.9, industrials up 1.2 at 205.1, combined up .9 at 167.0 papers up .35 at 706.1 and golds down .44 at 63.53.

In New York, the Associated Press average of 60 stocks was up 10 cents at $115.00.

Paris Course For Curator

LONDON, Ont. (CP) — Clare Bice, curator of the art gallery of the London public library has left for Paris for a year's study of art sponsored by the federal government.

Mr. Bice this year introduced three exhibitions in the London gallery: New Canadians, collectors' pieces and, the latest and still on display, young contemporaries.

For the last exhibition Mr. Bice wrote to art schools and established painters, asking that they suggest students under 30 years whose work showed promise. Those named were invited to send their paintings.

A jury of three Toronto artists, Will Ogilvie, Gustav Weisman and Alex Millar, selected 60 paintings by 28 artists.

In 1953 the exhibition will move to Oshawa, Ont., first stop on a central Ontario tour to such centres as Windsor, Hamilton and Toronto. Mr. Bice says he hopes to have a similar show annually in London.

Charge 300,000 Prostitutes Work In Japan

TOKYO (AP) — A semi-official Japanese commission reported today 300,000 prostitutes are working in Japan and blamed foreign servicemen for the business boom.

The national social welfare commission made its report in a white paper.

Japan's feminine population is about 43,390,000.

The commission said "foreign soldiers should be requested to restrain, and special red light quarters should be created for them early next year."

GOES TO MP'S

The commission's paper will be submitted to all government offices and to members of Parliament.

The commission said 59,000 of the 300,000 girls are operating in 603 red light quarters, and the rest are at large—mainly catering to foreign soldiers.

In pre-war Japan, prostitutes were allowed to operate only in licensed quarters under police supervision. The Allied occupation divorced police from control of brothels and let loose hordes of prostitutes on the streets.

Japanese police gradually gained back control and herded 59,000 girls to the 603 licensed quarters.

School Rugby Player Sues For $50,000

CLEVELAND (AP) — A high school football player sued a former teammate for $50,000 Friday, claiming he broke his jaw in an argument over some missing sweat shirts.

Harold Eisner, 18, in his suit against Stanley Gottlieb, 20, said the injury wrecked his chance for an athletic scholarship.

Eisner said that they got into the argument last August, two months after Gottlieb was graduated, and that Gottlieb broke his jaw in a "malicious and wilful" attack. He said the sweatshirts were missing from the team's equipment.

Sending Troops To Korea Saved Global War—Truman

By ERNEST B. VACCARO

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Truman is getting ready to leave office convinced that a strong United States, co-operating with strong and healthy partners, can mintain peace with Russia.

He believes his decision to send troops into Korea under a United Nations mandate may have saved the world from another global war.

That step, he told me, was the toughest decision he ever had to make, tougher even than the one to drop atomic bombs on Japanese cities in 1945—because it involved the risk of world war.

I talked with the president in his Oval Room office at the White House Friday. It was one of a series of personal interviews he is granting separately to a small group of reporters that has covered him daily through his occupancy of the White House.

PROUD OF RECORD

Truman is proud of his record on foreign affairs and feels that when the history of his administration is written it will be noted for having kept the world out of war for nearly eight crisis-ridden years.

He is planning a country-wide broadcast sometime in January, summing up what he considers the achievements of his administration and charting the course he thinks the country will follow. It would be an elaboration on his message to Congress, to be delivered early in the session opening Jan. 3.

He is proud of the Greek-Turkish aid program, the Marshall plan and the succeeding steps undertaken by this government to strengthen the economic and military potential of Communist-threatened countries.

BOLD STEPS TAKEN

These were bold steps, he said, but the decision to enter South Korea when the North Korean Reds invaded it, in his view, was the "toughest" of all.

When he ordered the atom bombing of Japan, Truman said, he was told it would shorten the war and save the lives of possibly 250,000 Americans and as many Japanese.

In that case, there was no question of the course to take, Truman told me.

In Korea, he said, the whole life of the United Nations was involved. It was a question of acting at the possible risk of world war.

He said he is convinced that the decision was a right one, and that it halted communism in its efforts to engulf the whole world. He believes it gave hope to free men everywhere that if they band together they can never be conquered.

Truman said if he had his years in the White House to serve over he would not change a single major decision.

- WHERE FIVE KILLED—Five men were killed when two freight trains collided near Hydro Glen, 100 miles north of Toronto. Four bodies were recovered and a fifth was believed still inside a locomotive which was partly submerged in water beside the crash scene. Firemen fought with blazing wreckage after some 1,600 gallons of oil from a Diesel engine caught fire. Fifty boxcars and locomotives were smashed in the wreck. Four train crewmen were injured. Canadian National Railway officials attributed the wreck to non-delivery of a message ordering the engineer of the southbound freight to pull into a siding.

Britain Heads For Stadium As Boxing Day Celebration

By GLENNE CURRIE

LONDON (Reuters)—There are a dozen names for the day after Christmas, but in Britain it's "Boxing Day," when John Bull traditionally takes his family to the theatre, the football stadium or the track.

A legal holiday, it's called "Boxing" day because it used to be the day Christmas "boxes" were given to tradesmen and distributed to the poor.

London's theatreland, deserted Christmas Day, came to life with a bang Friday. Thousands crammed into the district. The big attraction was pantomime—an English mixture of music, gags and shapely girls.

Elsewhere in the country, movie houses and community halls in many places have reverted to playhouses where, for a couple of weeks second-string pantomime companies dress up old fairy tales in jokes and songs.

This year, Londoners have eight of the 100-odd professional "pantos" being played in Britain. They range from "Humpty Dumpty" to "Beauty and the Beast," and include the inevitable "Peter Pan."

London also has three "mammoth" circuses, three miscellaneous "Christmas shows," two pantomimes on ice and a rollicking musical treatment of an old melodrama, "Maria Marten," or "The Murder in the Old Red Barn."

Moscow Says Santa Barred From U.S.

LONDON (Reuters) — Moscow radio set out to prove Friday night that American children got no toys this Christmas because Santa Claus was barred entry to the United States as a Communist agent.

The radio, in an English-language program, said Santa failed to satisfy U.S. immigration authorities on two counts. Firstly, he admitted having visited Russia during his world travels, secondly, he admitted being a "supporter of peace."

An immigration officer thereupon announced gleefully that he has caught "a spy named Nicholas" who was carrying "peace messages" with him, the radio said.

Santa escaped arrest by nipping quickly into his sleigh and driving off, the broadcast concluded.

Don't Expect Churchill Will Visit Canada

OTTAWA (CP)—Official Ottawa does not expect Prime Minister Churchill to visit Canada as part of his January trip to North America.

Senior officials said today this looks primarily like a holiday trip to Jamaica for the British leader and that he has given no indication that he intends or wants to come to Ottawa.

Normally, Ottawa would have heard before the announcement if Mr. Churchill had any intention of coming here.

Meaford Native Dies

TORONTO (CP)—Job Edward Almond, 75, born and educated in Meaford, died at his Toronto home Christmas Day. He came to Toronto in 1902 and was an employee of the J. Robert Page Construction Company for 35 years. He is survived by two daughters.

Farmer's Fall Fatal

RENFREW (CP)—George Reid, 47-year-old farmer, died in hospital Friday from injuries suffered a few hours earlier when he slipped on the icy ground on his farm yard at Admaston, eight miles west of here. He suffered a fractured skull in the fall.

Cardinal Plans Grand Crusade

SEVILLA, Spain (AF)—Pedro Cardinal Segura called Friday for a "grand crusade" against Protestants whom he accused of waging a major propaganda campaign throughout Spain.

The fiery archbishop of Sevilla said he had received reports from all over the country of anti-Catholic pamphlets being distributed by Protestants, which "are combatting the authority of the Pope and the episcopacy."

"They (the Protestants) are engendering suspicion against (Roman) Catholic priests," Cardinal Segura declared. "They are combatting. . . Catholic priests and calumniating them. They are combatting the fundamental dogmas of our faith, such as the doctrine of the eucharist and the nature of the Church."

Says Attacker Skater

TORONTO (CP)—Police Friday received a call from a woman who said she was attacked on a downtown street by a man who sped away on roller skates. Upon investigation they were unable to find either the complainant or her assailant.

Hunting Terrorists After 11 Killed

NAIROBI, Kenya (Reuters)—British and African troops, police and reserves ranged through Kikuyu tribal areas Friday hunting for Mau Mau terrorist gangs which murdered 11 Kikuyu natives on Christmas Eve.

Police headquarters here reported that the terrorist fury abated on Christmas Day with only minor incidents occurring while security forces swept through the Nyeri district, about 100 miles north of here.

The search for terrorists also extended into forest areas of the Aberdare mountain range where officials believed some of the gangs might have gone into hiding.

3 Hurt In Collision

ORILLIA (CP)—Three persons were injured Friday night when two motor cars collided on Highway No. 11. Dr. McDermott Sullivan of Flint, Mich., George Dagg and Oakley Crawford, both of Midland, were taken to hospital here.

Dr. Sullivan, driver of one car, suffered cuts and possible concussion. Dagg, driver of the second car, has several broken ribs and cuts, and Crawford suffered only minor injuries.

TV In Color Years Away

Color television for home use is on the dim horizon or it's five years away, according to which spokesman on the subject you approach. The cost of a color receiving set will be exorbitant or it will be twice as much as today's black and white set; again it depends on what man gives the information.

Today color television is used extensively in U.S. hospitals, and the U.S. army, navy and airforce for demonstration purposes. Recently a delicate heart operation was televised in color by transcontinental network, from Los Angeles to New York.

There are two schools of thought on color TV; that of the Columbia Broadcasting System and that of R.C.A. Victor. In the CBS system the basic colors, reds, greens and blues, and finally black and white, go out in batches of dots from the transmitting point. In the R.C.A. system all colors go out in a series of dots at the same time.

With the R.C.A. method the television reception set requires three tubes for the three basic colors. As the dots come in over the air waves, the dots separate through the three tubes and the colored picture appears on the screen.

Unlike the CBS color method, if the R.C.A. system was universally adopted, owners of black and white sets could receive color programs in black and white, with no change whatever in their sets. If they wished to receive color programs, an adapter would be necessary.

New tubes are being demonstrated now in the United States which remove the necessity of the three tubes for color. The new tube can receive telecast programs in both black and white and color without the need of discs, converters and extra tubes. It is expected the revolutionary TV tube can be mass produced by any TV manufacturer at a cost only slightly above the cost of present black and white receivers.

Whitehorse 'Hub Of North' 300 To 3,000 In 10 Years

By STEPHEN SCOTT
Canadian Press Staff Writer

WHITEHORSE, Y. T. (CP)—"Hub of the north."

That's the way Mayor Gordon Armstrong describes this young city of 3,000 which grew out of a village of 300 within 10 years.

Through here pass the major transportation outlets of the Yukon and, to some extent, Alaska—the Alaska highway, the Yukon and White Pass Railway from Juneau, Alaska, river boats which serve the northern towns, and Canadian Pacific and Pan-American Airlines.

Whitehorse, stepping stone on the hazardous trip from the coast to the Klondie goldfield at Dawson at the turn of the century, came into its own when Alaska highway was built in 1942.

NOW YUKON CAPITAL

Declared a city in June, 1950, it is situated on the bank of the Yukon River and is the centre of the Yukon's growing population. The government recognized this when it announced last year the capital will be moved from Dawson to Whitehorse.

This is a city which thinks a civic centre with ice arena is more important than a city hall. It caters to travellers who use the various transportation systems.

It is growing so fast and business is so brisk that Canadian Pacific Airlines has announced it intends to use big, four-engined planes similar to those on its Pacific run to service it.

Last year the first modern cocktail bar in the Yukon was opened here. (The territory voted for liquor by the glass). Today there are nine places to buy a drink and only four to buy a meal.

Growing pains are its greatest malady. It has little money but a great deal to spend it on. Under the articles of its incorporation, it can borrow only comparatively small amounts.

Except in the business district, there is no running water or sewage system. Water is delivered by communities.

A new school was opened this year but already it is too small to accommodate children of city folk and of the estimated 1,500 army and air force personnel living in or around the city.

Think Kind Of "Spit Test" May Be Tip Off To Disease

By FRANK CAREY

ST. LOUIS (AP)—A kind of "spit test" may some day provide an advance tip-off to the oncoming of certain diseases, the American Association for the Advancement of Science was told Friday.

Research on human saliva raises hope for an eventual test that would warn of the "very earliest beginnings" of such ills as hardening of the arteries, arthritis, premature aging and dental disease before any discernible symptoms appear, a woman chemist reported.

Dr. Frances Krasnow, director of the Universal Research Laboratories at Newark, N.J., said the research also opens up new possibilities for advancing man's understanding of these still-baffling conditions.

CHEMICALS TELL STORY

The essence of her report was that certain chemicals which occur in human saliva have an apparent tendency to increase when a person has certain ailments or dental defects. She left the implication that early detection of such an increase —through periodic analysis of saliva—might be a means of foreseeing an ailment.

Dr. Krasnow studied the saliva's content of "cholesterol", a white, fatty substance which also occurs in the bile and nerve tissue. She chose cholesterol because this chemical apparently has some "still unfathomed association" with premature aging, hardening of the arteries, etc.

Medical Teams Trained For Quick Action

OTTAWA (CP)—The Army said Friday it now has a 70-man medical team trained to land by parachute and set up a complete operating room within five minutes.

It is the medical component of the mobile striking force, the brigade-sized paratroop and airborne formation designed for the defence of Canada. Its name is the 1st Canadian airborne medical section.

The Army said "these Florence-Nightingales-in-khaki" could land in support of assault troops, pockets of cut-off troops, or elsewhere. Its men are trained to fight as infantrymen as well as to drop by parachute and carry out their medical functions.

Within five minutes of landing, they could set up two nylon tents as a holding ward and an operating room. They take with them medical supplies, portable stoves, and gasoline lanterns.

Commanding officer of the unit is a 35-year-old native of England, Maj. James Gilbert, wise to the business of jumping from an aircraft from Second World War days.

Appeals Court Rules Heirs Can Make Claim

MONTREAL (CP)—The Quebec Court of Appeals ruled Friday that heirs of the victims of a fatal accident may claim for the latter's pain, suffering and loss of enjoyment of life.

The five judges ruled unanimously against an interlocutory judgment of a Superior Court judge who decided that no provision was made in law for this compensation.

Action was taken by Paul and Harry Green, married sons of Mrs. Ida Green who was fatally injured when struck by a runaway horse in October, 1950.

They claimed hospital and funeral expenses, $500 for their mother's pain and suffering and $3,500 for her loss of enjoyment of life.

Held In Fatal Quarrel

MIDLAND (CP)—Midland police Friday held the two sons of a local trucker pending an investigation into the Christmas night death of Frank Trottier, 53. Trottier died at the home of a relative after an argument with his family. His sons Gerald, 22, and Elphie, 18, are being held on nominal charges pending an autopsy.

New Kind Of Carbon Molecule Can Produce Northern Lights

INYOKERN, Calif. (AP)—A new kind of carbon molecule apparently capable of producing northern lights on comets was described Friday to American scientists by Dr. P. Swings, an astronomer at the University of Liege, Belgium.

Light from this peculiar bit of matter was first observed 10 years ago by Dr. Girard Herzberg, a scientist now with Canada's national research council at Ottawa. But until recently nobody knew what kind of chemical was responsible for it.

Dr. Herzberg saw it in a low-temperature star which contained a large amount of carbon By producing this same kind of light in a laboratory, Dr. Boris Rosen, a colleague of Dr. Swings, was able to theorize that it came from bits of matter each made up of three atoms of carbon.

Dr. Swings told about it at a meeting of the American Physical Society here.

There are lots of chemicals containing three carbon atoms plus some other kinds of elements, but one made solely on three carbon atoms is a scientific curiosity. It soon breaks up and becomes parts for other less strange chemical compounds.

It is likely Dr. Swings said, that protons coming from the sun can strike carbon atoms in the region of comets and produce a halo-like effect similar to the northern lights.

Two Sisters Born On Christmas Day

TORONTO (CP)—Five-year-old Lynda Bishop now has a sister to share her Christmas Day birthday. Lynda was born to Mr. and Mrs. Hedley Bishop Dec. 25, 1947, in Montreal. Her sister, Marguerite, put in an appearance Thursday at the Toronto General Hospital.

"We were just opening our presents Christmas morning when I had to head for the hospital," Mrs. Bishop said.

Buy Site For Mission

WASHINGTON (AP) — Canada has purchased a site here for a new $1,000,000 building to house the Canadian joint staff mission, the Evening Star said Friday. The property involved is in a fashionable area on Massachusetts Avenue, several blocks from the British and Canadian embassies, both also on Massachusetts Avenue.

Plan Floor Refinishing Job In Advance

By MR. FIX
Distributed by NEA Service

The task of refinishing wood floors needn't "floor" you if your floors are in fair condition to begin with. Otherwise you would be wise to consult a professional floor finisher.

That's the opinion of Pierce & Stevens, Inc., manufacturers of floor finishes, who should know. Their advice is to plan the entire job in advance.

First, decide whether to prepare your floors with a sanding machine or to use paint-and-varnish remover to take the old finish off. Of the two types of removers, viscous and non-viscous, Pierce & Stevens recommends the latter for this type of work, because it doesn't require a neutralizing after-rinse.

If you choose the sanding-machine method, here is the equipment you will need (the machines can be rented from many paint and hardware stores):

A drum sander, disc edge sander, hand scraper (for corners) and abrasive (for corners) and abrasive discs and sheets — 3½ (20), coarse; 1½ (40), medium; 2/0 (100), fine.

To obtain results you will be proud to call your own work, a smooth, clean wood surface before the finish is applied is essential. Smooth floors are far easier to clean and keep clean. Power sanding is considered the most practical and effective method of achieving a smooth surface.

Before you start to sand be sure the surface is bare, clean, as smooth as possible, dust-free and dry. Wear clean, soft-soled shoes, remove all furniture, pictures, window shades, etc., open all windows and close doors of adjoining rooms, remove all base shoe moldings.

In the first sweep with the drum sander, use 3½ (20) paper in the machine, pass it slowly over the floor lengthwise with the floor boards, starting at one wall and moving straight to the opposite wall. Then move back along the same line to pick up the dust made in the first sweep.

Each complete pass (wall to wall and back) should overplap the previous pass by two to three inches. Don't let the machine rest heavily in one spot on soft woods such as pine.

On the second sanding, use 1½ (40) paper and the same technique, except that you propel the machine at a slow to medium rate of walking speed.

Use the 2/0 paper for the third and final sanding operation and increase your rate of walking speed.

Of course, the disc edge sander, using the same grit paper as the drum sander and in the same sequence, should be used after each complete operation with the drum sander. Use the edge sander along base boards, on stair treads and in other areas the other machine can't reach.

The finish—be it shellac, varnish or one of many others including a new product that dries, tack-free, within 15 minutes — should be applied as soon as possible after the sanding and dusting operations are compited. Otherwise, moisture may enter pores of the wood and later attack the finish from below.

FIX-IT FORUM

Q—What is the procedure for repainting enamelled furniture?

A—Sand the old paint to remove all gloss, then apply an undercoat —not a flat paint—to give "tooth" for the final finish.

POWER SANDING will help you achieve the smooth surface essential in floor refinishing and takes less time than other methods.

Box Office Take Shows Movies Still Man's World

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—The box office champions of 1952 were announced this week. It appears that the movie business is still a man's world.

Of the top 10 winners, eight are males. Only two gals—Doris Day and Susan Hayward—managed to crack the exclusive club. Miss Day placed seventh and Miss Hayward ninth.

Let's look at the males who won. Three selections come in the musical-comedy field—Dean Martin and Jerry Lewis, Bing Crosby and Bob Hope.

The other five—Gary Cooper, John Wayne, James Stewart, Gregory Peck, Randolph Scott — are largely identified with outdoor epics.

That would indicate the current tastes of movie - goers. They appear to want escapism — music, comedy and especially adventure. And when the public calls for such fare, the ladies are bound to suffer.

Female stars have the best chance in musicals. Witness the rapid rise of Doris Kappelhoff, also known as Day. But the movies offer little for actresses in comedy. Few of the great screen stars of comedy have been actresses.

And the gals are generally at a loss when it comes to adventure. They can do little but provide romantic interludes between the heroic exploits of the screen stalwarts.

Yes, movies today are patterned around the male talents. But such was not always true.

The greatest star of the silent era was a girl, Toronto - born Mary Pickford. And the top attraction of the early 1930s was another girl, Shirley Temple.

In fact, that decade before the war can be considered the heyday of the female star. The box office polls were then crowded with Davis, Claudette Colbert, Irene Dunn, Greer Garson, Ingrid Bergman, Joan Crawford, Montreal's Norma Shearer, etc.

That was when the public was intrigued with the stories of women —deep, penetrating, romantic. But the war changed all that.

Sheet Copper and Aluminum More Durable In Flashing

No matter what type of roof finish is used, flashing must be applied around chimneys, vents, dormers and along "valleys"—the intersection of two roof surfaces. As flashing is expensive to repair or replace in the event of a leak, it should be constructed of rust-proof material. Galvanized steel is used extensively but sheet copper and aluminum are more durable. Building paper or felt should be placed under all flashing.

Particular attention should be paid flashing the valleys which act as drains to carry off water. The metal sheeting should extend at least seven inches under the shingles on each side of the valley. Flashing should be securely attached to chimneys and vents and where the sill of a dormer window rests on the roof, the flashing should be carried up the roof and under the sill.

SUB-FLOOR AND FINISH FLOOR

The sub-floor in a house is laid diagonally over the joists to form a base for the finish floor and to help strengthen the floor framing. It also acts as a working surface during construction. As the sub-floor is laid before the roof is made weathertight, the boards should not be laid too tightly together. This helps prevent buckling caused by expansion.

It is considered good practice to apply a layer of moisture resistant paper before the finish flooring is laid.

Hardwood used for the finish flooring should be well seasoned and kiln dried. As excessive exposure to cold or dampness may warp the wood, it should be laid as soon as possible after delivery to the site. Birch, maple and oak are the hardwoods most commonly used. Although No. 2 grade is generally acceptable, better grades are preferable where a uniform shade is desired.

The finish floor should not be laid until the plastering and other preliminary work on the house has been completed, thereby preventing unnecessary damage to the floor. Where possible, the flooring should run parallel to the length of the room. It should be carried from room to room without change in direction of laying. The joints should be well distributed—preferably a foot or more apart. They should not be made too tight but must allow for the necessary expansion and contraction which can caused buckling.

SHEATHING AND SIDING

Outside sheathing is first nailed to the framework of the house to help strengthen the structure and add to the insulating value of the wall. Immediately following application, the sheathing should be covered with a tarred or asphalted felt or other suitable building paper to prevent moisture from reaching the structural frame and interior finish. This paper must be lapped at least four inches at all joints.

The size or type of finish siding used depends upon personal taste, desired architectural effect and economy. Wider siding usually gives a better appearance than narrow siding and for this reason is is generally preferred. The various styles available may be seen at your local lumber dealer.

Where two pieces of siding must be joined together, the joint is usually made vertically. The actual cut, when made on an angle, makes a better joint and one which is more easily covered when painted. Good practise requires that the joint be made over a stud.

Special consideration should be given to corner joints to prevent moisture from reaching the back of the siding. A mitred joint, will adequately serve the purpose. An alternative is the use of corner boards—vertical pieces which are nailed at the corners before the siding is applied. The vertical end of the siding is then fitted snugly against the corner boards. Careful workmanship is required around the door and window casings to ensure tight joints.

Helicopters Aid Troops In Malaya

LONDON (CP)—British forces battling Communist guerillas in the jungles of Malaya will soon be reinforced with troop-carrying helicopters supplied by the United States under the mutual aid program.

The craft, known as Sikorsky S. W, have been assigned to a Royal Navy air squadron for practical tests and mock reconnaissance over heavily-wooded areas in southern England.

Each machine is capable of carrying a patrol of eight fully-armed men and will be able to land in jungle clearings or hover above the tree tops. Such operations will permit the troops to bring machine-gun fire to bear from close range on roving bands and suspected hideouts as well as to scour the heavy undergrowth with grenades and small bombs.

FORT WILLIAM (CP) — A total of 450,756,978 bushels of grain was shipped by lake from Fort William-Port Arthur during the 1952 season, second heaviest shipping season in the history of the two lakehead ports. The record was 483,700,000 bushels in 1945.

The board of grain commissioners today said that the 92,700,000 bushels of oats and 96,900,000 bushels of barley shipped from the ports represented all - time highs.

Howe Predicting Another Year Of Big Prosperity

OTTAWA (CP)—Trade Minister Howe today outlined some of the major achievements in Canada's 1952 industrial advance and predicted another big year of prosperity for Canadians in 1953. Wages, which have been climbing steadily, may be even higher and the demand for workers greater next year, Mr. Howe said in a 5,000-word year-end statement summing up Canada's strides in trade and arms production. He holds both the trade and defence production portfolios.

What happens to the country's economy in 1953 will depend largely on world trade conditions, he observed, but "present prospects show little indication of any major change in 1953 from the generally favorable conditions that have prevailed in 1952."

PLAYS BIG ROLE

The world demand for arms still would play a big part in general business activity and Canada in 1953 would see a first major flow of arms from her factories in post-war years.

For almost two years, Canada's defence production effort has been gearing for weapons production under the three-year $5,000,000,000 defence program. Countless problems were encountered, especially in production of Canada's CF-100 jet fighter at Malton, Ont. But most of these now have been overcome. Key plants have been set up and are ready to function.

"A large-scale production of complex equipment should characterize next year, while minor programs will tend to fall off," Mr. Howe said.

The world arms build-up against Communist aggression had spurred development of Canada's resources and development next year might be even greater than in 1952.

GOOD INVESTMENT

The Canadian economy, which had the strongest dollar in the world, had been fattened by record capital investment which reached $5,200,000,000 in 1952 and would continue "at a high level."

The future of Canada's export trade was more difficult to predict. Exports reached an all-time high of about $4,250,000,000 in 1952, passing the four-billion-dollar mark for the first time in history.

But a big portion of that increase came from increased sales to overseas countries instead of the United States—Canada's largest customer.

"Because of exchange difficulties it would not be surprising if sales to some overseas countries were not fully maintained at the exceedingly high levels realized in 1952," said Mr. Howe.

The market in the U. S. likely would remain firm and on the whole the outlook was good for large sales of Canadian wheat, newsprint, base metals and other raw and processed materials needed in industrial production in the western world.

The Commonwealth economic conference in London in December had shown a "gratifying" wide measure of agreement among Britain and her Commonwealth partners that trade restrictions which surround the sterling area must be reduced.

Summing up, Mr. Howe said there could be some "soft spots," but "prospective demands for defence, capital expansion and exports, when taken in conjunction with the present strengthening in the domestic consumer market, suggest the maintenance in 1953 of a generally high level of activity and continued moderate upward movement in incomes and employment."

Driver Riled, Shoots Twice At Policemen

WINDSOR, Ont. (CP) — A 21-year-old Windsorite, riled when two police officers accused him of speeding early this morning, shot twice at the fleeing officers after he had snatched a revolver from one officer and disarmed the other.

Inspector of Detectives James P. Campbell today said that police are holding Arthur Menard, 21, in connection with the shooting. Charges are pending completion of investigation, he said.

According to Inspector Campbell, Constables John Nechitaluk and Jack Moxon saw a car "travelling at a high rate of speed."

The officers took chase and trailed the auto at approximately 60 miles per hour. The auto pulled into a driveway and the police cruiser wheeled in behind it.

The driver, Arthur Menard, was told to come to the police cruiser. His brother Harold Menard, 25, accompanied Arthur to the cruiser.

According to police, both Menard brothers started to argue and then fight with the officers. Arthur took hold of Constable Moxon's revolver and threatened to shoot him. He then forced the other officer to throw his gun to the ground.

Brother Harold then started to plead with his brother to leave the officers alone and then finally struck him, knocking him to the ground. The police took to their heels and Arthur fired after them.

They phoned for reinforcements and other officers placed the two men under arrest.

Tree Ornament Poisons Child

TOLEDO, O. (AP)—The 20-month-old daughter of a Toledo hockey player was sent to hospital Saturday with severe convulsions after she swallowed poisonous liquid contained in a Christmas tree light.

Karen Lemoine, daughter of defenceman James Lemoine of Toledo Mercurys, was reported in "fair condition."

Lemoine said his daughter bit the top off a light which contained a fluid that bubbled when the light was lit and drank part of the liquid.

Dr. William Cather said he learned the liquid was methylene chloride, described in pharmacology books as "toxic" and "dangerous" when taken internally.

Army Arrests 291 Suspects

MANILA (Reuters) — The Philippine Army Sunday night arrested 291 suspected Chinese Communist agents on charges of alleged rebellion.

Among them were 25 identified by the army as "members of the secretariat." Four arrested are said to be millionaires.

As officers combed through masses of documents seized in country-wide raids, the Chinese were held without being allowed to communicate with anyone.

Truckloads of firearms and other weapons were also brought in, the army said.

President Elpidic Quirino has ordered the army to speed investigations and to begin prosecutions if it finds evidence warranting such action.

Carlsen Turns Down $2,000,000 Offers

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Capt. Kurt Carlsen of the ill-fated Flying Enterprise reports that he has rejected more than $2,000,000 in offers to capitalize on his experience.

"But I'm a ship captain," he said as he arrived Sunday night on the Flying Enterprise II. "That is all I can do."

Carlsen was greeted by his wife and two daughters, who flew from their Woodbridge, N. J., home and will accompany him to New York via the Panama canal. He is completing a world tour on his new ship.

The old Enterprise, which he manned alone for days, sank off despite courageous efforts to save her.

Hastings Driver Brought By Taxi To City Hospital

CAMPBELLFORD (ENS) — James Convey, age 38, of Hastings, died in St. Joseph's Hospital early Sunday morning while an emergency operation was being performed, following an auto accident near Hastings shortly before midnight on Saturday.

Coroner Dr. Herbert Young said today, Convey's death was caused by suffocation. Dr. Young said his breathing was stopped by Convey's lungs becoming filled with mucus from vomiting. The coroner said no inquest will be held.

A post mortem was conducted by district provincial pathologist Dr. C. B. Waite Sunday morning.

Convey was driving south on a county road when he failed to make a turn. The car mounted an embankment, jumped over a fallen tree and came to rest atop a stump.

The front of the car struck a large elm tree. Convey received head and chest injuries when he was thrown forward by the impact. He was alone in the car at the time.

A passing motorist, Bernard Towns of Brickley removed the injured man from the car and took him to the office of Dr. Wm. N. Campbell in Hastings. Dr. Campbell ordered the man removed to hospital in Peterborough and Edward's Taxi of Hastings made the trip in 22 minutes.

EMERGENCY OPERATION

An emergency operation by Dr. W. S. Fitzpatrick at St. Joseph's Hospital failed to save the man's life. He died after the operation was completed and as he was being removed from the operating table.

Provincial Constable Archie Eady of Campbellford investigated. The car, an old model, was badly damaged.

Convey has two sisters and a brother, all living in the district. Mrs. John Gibson, a sister, lives at RR 3, Hastings, as does a brother, Joseph Convey. Another sister, Mrs. Eileen Young, resides at Brickley.

Find Soldier Has A 20-Inch Tail

ANKARA, Turkey (AP)—Hasan Yildirim, 21-year-old Turkish army draftee, was under observation today by doctors who said they discovered a 20-inch tail growing from the base of his spine.

Yildirim, a native of Anatolia's Yozgat province, said he has had the tail since birth. Doctors are considering surgery.

Two pictures of Yildirim, displaying his 20-inch tail, were published Sunday on the front page of the newspaper Vatan in Istanbul.

Bidault Tries To Form Gov't

PARIS (AP) — Veteran politician Georges Bidault today took a stab at trying to line up enough support in France's volatile assembly to permit him to form a cabinet and end the week-long government crisis.

Bidault, twice premier since the end of the Second World War, was asked by President Vincent Auriol Sunday to try once again after Jacques Soustelle failed to get enough support for his right-wing party headed by Gen. Charles de Gulle.

Whether Bidult would have any more success than Soustelle was a question, although he told Auriol today — after sounding out some party leaders — that he was willing to accept the designation as premier and try to round up majority support for a coalition.

Purge 'Enemy Elements' In Red Youth Brigades

BERLIN (AP) — Communist masters of East Germany Sunday ordered their youth brigades purged of "enemy elements."

The order from the party central committee was published in the newspaper of the blue - shirted Free German Youth, (FDJ), which said the purging process will start in February. The brigades now has 3,500,000 members, including the "Young Pioneers," who range in age from six to 14.

The purge order contained a surprisingly frank admission that the Communist regime cannot even trust the one element on which it has been leaning most heavily — the indoctrinated youth.

In the last three years, the East German regime has shoved many other groups aside to butter up the youth. They have been given special vacations, priority on sports equipment, free entertainment and trips to Berlin.

In 1950, more than 500,000 blue shirts were brought to the Soviet sector of Berlin for a giant Whitsuntide rally. Thousands who sneaked into the West sector went back to the Soviet zone with the clear impression capitalism seemed to have something more to offer than what they had.

A year later, the world youth festival in Berlin, sponsored by the Kremlin, attracted 1,000,000. Again there were large ranks of youth exposed to Western ways.

The central committee's purge order stated that the FDJ must "weed out the enemy elements from its ranks and sharpen the class fight."

INJURIES THEN DEATH were the results of an accident on the Hastings-Warkworth road late Saturday night. After the above car went out of control, struck a tree, then ended up on top of a stump, the driver, James Convey, 38 of Hastings (lower photo) who was injured, was taken to Hastings by a passing motorist. From there, a taxi sped him to St. Joseph's Hospital where he died of suffocation while being treated in the operating room. A post mortem revealed mucus from vomiting filled his lungs and stopped his breathing.—(W. W. Reid Photo)

Expect To Fire Rockets So High Soon They'll Never Come Down

WASHINGTON (AP)—United States rocket experts and military scientists are moving closer to the time when they can fire a missile so high it will never return to earth. The latest hint of this step toward the eventual development of an experimental satellite to move around the earth as does the moon came in a recent address by Air Force Secretary Thomas Finletter. He said he foresees the development of rocket engines producing 500,000 pounds of thrust. With such a propelling force, he estimated, a speed of 20,000 miles an hour will be reached. The altitudes reached by such rockets "will, of course, take them out into space," added.

In less than 10 years, U.S. missile experts have added 2,000 miles an hour to the speed of such big rockets as the V-26 created by Germans in the Second World War.

2-STAGE ROCKET

In early 1949 the army fired a two-stage rocket to a 250-mile height, with the second rocket, after taking off from the first, traveling more than 5,000 miles an hour. Earlier this month a single-stage, navy Viking rocket reached a peak speed of 3,900 miles an hour during a 135-mile climb into the skies.

Missile scientists estimate that the initial speed of a rocket can be added to by each stage—or extra rocket—put on the head of the bumper rocket.

Finletter's estimate of the speed of a rocket with a 500,000-pound thrust was somewhat under the 25,000 miles an hour which many scientists estimate will be required to accelerate a rocket to the point where momentum would carry it across the boundary of earth's gravity.

McCarthy Ready Tackle Colleges

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senator Joseph McCarthy (Rep. Wis.) said today that one of the first things he will do in the new congress will be to investigate the country's colleges in a search for subversive influences.

"It will be an awfully unpleasant task," he said, observing that he expects "all hell" to break loose and that there will be "screaming of interference with academic freedom."

But McCarthy indicated he believes it is of pressing interest to root out what he called "communist thinkers" from the colleges. He said he would rather use that expression than the bald word "communists."

McCarthy told interviewers for the weekly news magazine U. S. News and World Report that this is the first time he has discussed his projected plan of "going into the educational system."

At Convention, Teacher Stabbed

ST. LOUIS (AP) — James C. Strachan, a Toronto teacher, was reported in serious condition at City hospital today with stab wounds suffered when he was attacked by three boys who had demanded the price of a meal.

Physicians said, however, that Strachan, 40, should be able to return to his home next week, barring complications.

Strachan, here to attend meetings of the American Association for the Advancement of Science, said three Negro youths attacked him on a street near his hotel about midnight Saturday when, in reply to their demand for money, he said "Not tonight, boys."

The boys kicked him and stabbed him in both shoulders and the chest. They fled without taking any thing when he shouted for help.

10 Of Crew Casualties In Flying Boat Crash

TOKYO (AP) — The United States Navy announced today that a four-engined flying boat crashed in the Sea of Japan last Friday night. Ten of its 14 crew members are dead or missing.

Four survivors were picked up by a U.S. destroyer.

A navy spokesman said the plane a navy PBM, crashed about 50 miles east of Kosong off the east coast of Korea. The four survivors were rescued by the U.S. destroyer Renshaw.

Queen Mary Confined To House With Chill

SANDRINGHAM, Eng. (Reuters) Queen Mary, here for the royal family's annual Christmas celebrations, again is confined to the house because of a chill, it was announced today.

Two doctors came up from London to see the 85-year-old Queen grandmother. They phoned again this morning to check on her progress, and were told she was better.

Queen Mary caught cold last October, and it kept her at Marlborough House, her London home, until early this month.

Trenton Woman Will Be 106

TRENTON, Ont. (CP) — Mrs. Jane Mitchell will be 106 Thursday. She has never seen a movie.

She will celebrate her birthday with her eldest son Henry, 82, and youngest son Milton, 73.

Now confined to bed, she jokingly adds another year to her age. But her son points to an ancient Bible kept in the farmhouse where she lives some 15 miles west of Belleville and says it shows she was born January 1, 1847.

"When you are as old as I am, a year here or there makes no difference," she says.

She has 18 grandchildren and seven great-grandchildren.

Guests Arrive For Big Wedding

NASSAU, Bahamas (AP)—Guests from Europe, the United States and Mexico arrived here this weekend for the principal social event of the season—the marriage of Nancy Oakes and Baron Ernst Lyssard Von Hoyningen Huene.

The ceremony is to be performed at 8 p.m. AST tonight in the Anglican church of St. Mary the Virgin by the bishop of Nassau, Rt. Rev. Spence Burton.

The couple will honeymoon in Europe before returning to Mexico City.

Nancy is the eldest daughter of the late Sir Harry and Lady Eupice Oakes. She was born in Toronto, May 17, 1924, and has lived with her parents in Canada, England, the United States and Nassau. Sir Harry, who died in 1943, was the well-known Canadian mining millionaire.

The bridegroom-elect is the second son of Herman Freiherr Von Hoyningen Huene. He was born in Wendisch, Mechlenburg, Feb. 9, 1930.

Miss Oakes' first marriage to Alfred de Marigny was annulled in 1950 by the New York Supreme Court. De Marigny was accused in 1943 of slaying Sir Harry. Nancy stood loyally beside him, employing experts who tore down the fingerprint evidence on which the case depended. De Marigny was acquitted.

Eisler Loses Propaganda Job

BERLIN (Reuters) — Gerhart Eisler, who skipped the U. S. in 1949 one jump ahead of the House of Representatives Un - American activities committee lost his job today as propaganda chief in Communist East Germany.

The regime announced that his ministry of information will be dissolved Jan. 1 in the course of "government reorganization."

The ministry's duties will be handled by Premier Otto Grotewohl's own press office after that date.

Eisler, once known as the top Communist in the U. S., has been under a cloud for some months. He has been criticized frequently by party quarters.

Queen's New Title Worrying Ceylon

COLOMBO, Ceylon (Reuters) — Opposition leader S. W. R. D. Bandaranaike said Sunday night the Queen's new title as "Queen of Ceylon" might prejudice any plans for Ceylon becoming a republic.

He told the first annual conference of his Sri Lanka Freedom party that Prime Minister Dudley Senanayake should have consulted Parliament before agreeing to the title change.

Bandaranaike said the Queen's new title might prevent "our country from becoming a republic, even within the Commonwealth like India, and by making our country subject directly to the Queen of England."

Ike Seeks Advice On Extension Of Wage Controls

NEW YORK (AP)—President-elect Eisenhower has instructed a group of advisers to come up with recommendations on whether the new administration should ask Congress to extend wage-price control authority beyond next April 30. An informed source who asked not to be named said today the group has been studying "the whole complex matter" for some time but has not reached even a preliminary decision. The advisers were described as eminently qualified, but the source declined to name them.

In another field, Eisenhower Sunday night named a 14-man agricultural advisory committee to help draft the incoming administration's farm program.

HEADED BY MEYERS

The committee was appointed by Eisenhower after conferences with Ezra Taft Benson, secretary of agriculture-designate. It is headed by W. I. Myers, dean of the agriculture college at Cornell University.

The committee will serve between now and inauguration day, Jan. 20. It probably will be succeeded by a bi-partisan federal agricultural commission.

Only two visitors were on Eisenhower's calling list today — Boston banker Robert Cutler, who served as an adviser during the election campaign, and Paul G. Hoffman, former chief of the Marshall Plan foreign-aid program in the Truman administration and now head of the Ford Foundation. Hoffman also was an adviser to Eisenhower during the campaign.

TOUGH PROBLEM

What to do about wage-price controls is regarded by Eisenhower associates as one of the knottiest problems confronting him.

The present wage-price control law expires April 30. Eisenhower's position during the campaign was that he wanted to see wage-price curbs junked as soon as feasible. He will have to decide soon whether this spring will be a feasible time.

India Won't Accept Solution Over Kashmir

TRIVANDRUM, India (AP) — Prime Minister Nehru says India will not accept the latest United Nations resolution aiming at a settlement of India's dispute with Pakistan over Kashmir.

The British-American resolution, which the UN security council passed Dec. 23, requested India and Pakistan to try to agree on how many troops each side would keep in Kashmir while a plebescite was held to determine the state's future.

Speaking to reporters unday, Nehru charged that the resolution was contrary to previous security council decisions. For one thing, he said, the council failed to refer to the basic issue — the naming of an aggressor in Kashmir.

U.K. Atom Spy Dr. May Freed From Jail

WAKEFIELD, England (AP)—Dr. Alan Nunn May, the Western world's first atom spy, was released from jail today.

The slight, 41-year-old physicist had served six years and eight months of a 10-year sentence for slipping atomic secrets to the Russians. He was caught in the Canadian spy inquiry of 1946.

A spokesman for the home office, which runs Britain's prisons, said May was freed "during the night." He was given time off from his sentence for good behavior.

The scientist was arrested in London after a young Soviet embassy clerk in Ottawa told the story of a Russian espionage organization operating in Canada.

NEVER REPENTED

May never repented for delivering vital secrets to the Russians, insisting that he did it for "the safety of mankind."

Under British law, authorities had to give May time off for good behavior. He is free to go and come as he pleases in Britain so long as he stays out of trouble.

Although many Britons are embarrassed by the comparatively light sentence May received, the British judicial view is that when a man has paid his debt to society — served his sentence — he is entitled to freedom without prejudice.

Toronto Offered Parking Garage

TORONTO (CP) — A Toronto paper says today in a newspage story the Toronto parking authority has received an offer for construction of a $5,000,000 parking garage under the proposed civic squqare.

It says the offer is from Civic Garage Co., Ltd., subsidiary of Garry Carter Inc. of New York.

The project would be similar to Los Angeles' 2,000-car Pershing Square development. Affording access to four downtown streets, it would accommodate up to 5,000-short-term and long-term parkers daily.

Parking problems led to formation early this year of the parking authority, a three - man non-political board of taxpayers headed by former mayor Ralph Day.

Calm Before Storm

Ontario Faces Shortage Of 4,000 School Teachers

TORONTO (CP) — The president of the Ontario Secondary School Teachers Federation said today that the province faces a shortage of 4,000 teachers within the next five years.

J. T. Stubbs of Sault Ste. Marie told delegates attending the federation's two-day annual meeting that "we are resting in a momentary calm at the heart of an educational 'hurricane.'"

"Within the next five years an additional 4,000 high school teachers may be needed, an increase of about 40 per cent," he said.

He urged the holding of a federal-provincial conference devoted "to ascertaining the nature and extent of federal aid to education below the university level." Education cost, he said, is a serious problem facing educationists. He was of the opinion that the teachers themselves could help to alleviate problems such as the latter.

High school teachers, said Mr. Stubbs, should be willing to accept decreased cost-of-living bonuses as the index drops wherever salary schedules are satisfactory and escalator agreements have been operated.

High school teachers also could help by accepting a slightly higher number of pupils for each teacher than is thought generally to be a most efficient ratio. This would spread the supply of teachers over a larger enrolment and have an effect on school space needs.

He warned that those school boards which have not accepted the federation minimum-maximum salary schedule should not expect acceptance of lower bonuses. He added that paying inadequate salaries to teachers would aggravate the shortage.

"The current shortage of qualified efficient teachers would be proportionately more serious had it not been for the salary campaigns conducted by our members in recent years," said Mr. Stubbs.

The president said that Ontario's education problem is complicated by the "great number of unqualified teachers" already teaching. Further, the number of candidates at the Ontario College of Education this year was smaller than last.

Deputy Minister Dies In Chicago

OTTAWA (CP)—Funeral services will be held here Tuesday for Dr. William Clifford Clark, 63, who as deputy finance minister for 20 years gave brilliant guidance to Canada's financial development from the depths of the depression years. His death, from a heart seizure Saturday in a Chicago hotel, saddened the federal cabinet and the finance department. He had been chief adviser to five finance ministers and main draftsman for some two dozen federal budgets.

Dr. Clark felt unwell on his arrival by train at Chicago to address the Allied Social Sciences Association convention, and died of a heart attack shortly after reaching his hotel. The convention luncheon today, where he was to have spoken on Canadian fiscal policy was cancelled.

A church service will be held at Chalmers United Church Tuesday and burial will be at Cataraqui cemetery, Kingston, Ont., where he had been an esteemed professor of economics at Queen's University.

WARM TRIBUTE

In a warm tribute, Prime Minister St. Laurent said Dr. Clark had "a decisive part in shaping the wartime financial and economic policies which won for our country such widespread admiration throughout the world."

But the white-haired finance expert had been proudest of his part in shaping the National Housing Act, the prime minister recalled.

"It was characteristic of him that he should have felt that something associated with the welfare of his fellow-citizens generally would be the finest of memorials."

Finance Minister Abbott remembered Dr. Clark's "clear judgment and unswerving devotion to duty."

His appointment in 1932 as deputy finance minister by the late Prime Minister R. B. Bennett was followed by a series of achievements that showed his mental stature.

He planned the financial side of the family allowances system, helped found the central banking system—the Bank of Canada—and launched the program of short-term government borrowing from financial institutions under Bank of Canada direction. He handled billions of dollars of public taxation.

TAYLOR SUCESSOR?

The question is still open as to who will fill his shoes, but it appears likely that the office will go to Kenneth W. Taylor, former prices board chief and now an assistant deputy minister of finance.

Dr. Clark went to Queen's University from his farm home at Martintown, in eastern Ontario's Glengarry county. He was graduated with a scholarship in economics to Harvard University and returned to Queen's to lecture from 1915 to 1923.

His next move was to Chicago to join S. W. Straus and Company, a financial firm, and in 1930 and 1931 he served on former president Hoover's advisory committee on unemployment insurance in the U.S. But in 1931 he suffered a serious attack of osteo-arthritis and after recovering, he returned to Queen's University as director of commerce and administration.

With his appointment as deputy minister by the Conservative government in 1932 he served under Finance Minister Rhodes, and after the Liberals came to power he was top adviser to C. A. Dunning, J.L. Ralston, J. L. Ilsley and D.C. Abbott.

He is survived by his widow, two sons and two daughters. They are Dr. George Clark, Calgary Kenneth Clark, New York City; Mrs. David McGinnis, Kingston; and Mrs. Donald Johnston, Niagara Falls, Ont. Two sisters, Winnifred Clark, Kingston, and Muriel Clark, Montreal, also survive.

Crescent Wing Bomber Has 1st Flight

LONDON (Reuters)—The world's first four-jet "crescent-wing" bomber has made its maiden flight in southwest England, it was announced here Saturday.

It is the Handley Page 80, ordered in quantity "off the drawing boards" by the RAF some months ago and now taken off the secret list.

The crescent wing, roughly in the shape of a quarter-moon, sweeps back from the fuselage and then straightens out toward the tips. It is said to combine advantages to two other wing types for the latest high-speed jets — the swept-back and the delta, or triangular, wings.

The new plane's engines are imbedded in the revolutionary wing. It has a high swept-back tailplane on top of a single fin.

The plane's manufacturers, Handley Page Limited, claim that "no other bomber flies as fast, as far and as high with as great a bomb load."

Previous claimant to the title was the Avro 698 Vulcan, the first four-jet delta-wing bomber, which made its maiden flight in Britain last Aug. 30.

RCAF Girls Swindled Get Christmas Anyway

DETROIT (AP)—When Col. James E. Johnston, commanding officer of Selfridge air force base, read of the dismal Christmas spent by two Royal Canadian Air Force girls, AW2 Margaret MacFarlane of Brandon, Man., and AW2 Bernice Knoll of Leask, Sask., he took steps to restore their faith in Christmas spirit.

The two had lost their money to a confidence man.

Col. Johnston had the girls invited to a post-Christmas celebration at Selfridge. A staff car was dispatched to bring the girls to the Mount Clemens base Friday.

When the party arrived at Selfridge they were taken on a tour of the base and treated to a turkey dinner at the NCO club. Then they rested in the WAF quarters until later in the evening, when they returned to the NCO club for a dance and a waiting stag line.

Queen Mother Alexandrine Dies In Denmark

COPENHAGEN (AP) — Denmark's saddened populace went into a week of official mourning today over the death of Queen Mother Alexandrine, who reigned as Queen during two world wars.

The Dowager Queen died Sunday, 12 days after she underwent an operation. Death came five days after her 73rd birthday.

The body of the German-born Queen today lay in state in the famed Knights Hall at Amalienborg Castle, her former residence, where her son King Frederick IX now lives with his Royal Family.

According to her express wish, there is to be none of the traditional pomp of public lying-in-state. Only a few will be permitted in the hall to pay their last respects to the woman who reigned from 1912 until her husband, King Christian, died in 1947. A simple state funeral will take place next Sunday.

Beside the Queen's body inside the casket is the banner she brought with her from the German duchy of Mecklenburg where she was born. Alexandrine was a member of the house of Mecklenburg-Schwerin and married Christian in 1898 when he was Denmark's crown prince.

The early years of her reign at Christian's side were made difficult by the prevailing anti-German feelings of the Danes, but she won them over. During the Second World War she told the German commander of occupation troops, whom she was diplomatically obliged to receive at her castle, that she was, indeed, a German "but today I'm ashamed of it." She remained in Denmark throughout the war.

King Frederick was at his mother's bedside when she died.

Golds Take Lead In Market Trading

TORONTO (CP)—Golds took over the leadership in a mixed stock market in early afternoon trading today.

Senior golds drew good support but interest centred on secondary issues. Kenville and Gunnar, both prospects, traded most actively, moving about 120,000 shares for no change in price. Junior producers showed a list of small gains led by Preston and Campbell. Among other active prospects, Chimo and Graham Bousquet gained while Jaculet slipped. Holding companies held firm.

Foods, manufacturing companies and miscellaneous issues were strong in industrials while papers slipped.

A few base metals traded heavily, Bellekeno losing pennies and Estella, Nesbitt-Labine and Ontario Pyrites gaining. Higher-priced issues held firm and Cassiar gained.

Western oils showed a majority of losses as Central Leduc, Del Rio and Federated traded lower. Dome Exploration, Britalta and Canada Southern Rose.

Scout Lodge Burns Blame Fire On Grudge

PALERMO, Ont. (CP)—A fire which destroyed a boy scout lodge five miles west of here Sunday night was believed by police to have been started by a person with a grudge against the Boy Scout organization.

Richard Skillen of Hamilton, one of four scouts spending the weekend at the camp, discovered the fire and entered the building to try to save some equipment. He said coal oil from lanterns used by the scouts was spread over the floor.

Skillen and three companions, Alvin Wilson and John and Peter Crson, all of Hamilton, slept in one of the cabins near the lodge. The boys found a tent they had intended to use slashed to ribbons.

Palermo is 12 miles north of Hamilton.

SHE'S GOT A FUR COAT—The penguin at right seems to be the topic of jealous conversation for her more formally-clad companions at London's zoo. (The very idea. Wearing a fur coat and putting on airs!) Actually, the furry bird isn't being high-hat. All young penguins are covered with down before acquiring their soup-'n-fish suits of feathers.

New Breed Of Cattle Placed On Australia's Ranges

By GRAEME BROOKS

MELBOURNE (Reuters) — A joint Australian-American cattle-raising project is under way in the heart of the Australian state of Queensland, bringing a new breed of cattle to the aid of the drought-stricken cattle industry.

Over hundreds of square miles, strains of cattle which for a century have been the backbone of the Australian beef industry, are giving way to the hardy, heat-resistant, red Santa Gertrudis breed carrying the Running W brand of the King Ranch of Texas.

Sponsors of the project are two companies, King Ranch of Australia, Limited, with almost equal holdings by the King Ranch of Texas, and a group of Australian cattlemen and Associated Stations, Limited, formed by the same cattlemen in association with Swifts Australian Packing Company, Limited.

King Ranch Australia is operating the 7,500-acre Risdon ranch near Warweck in the green foothills of central Queensland's great dividing range.

Roaming Risdon pastures now are $3,000,000 worth of cattle, the bulk of a consignment of 228 Santa Gertrudis brought to Australia in late winter, and another 50 or so brought out since. More are to come.

Shipping costs alone on the first batches were $1,125 a head

At the first auction of Santa Gertrudis in Australia, held at Rison in mid-November, the 12 bulls offered brought in a total of $31,521, with a top price of $3,555 in a single bid, and Australian cattle values are about a third as high as in the U.S.

Santa Gertrudis, known in Australia as a hybrid 20 years ago, thrived under the semi-tropical conditions of North Queensland, finally developing a polled line which Australian cattle interests are trying to propagate.

Authorities estimate more Australian cattle have died from thirst and hunger than have been marketed since the beginning of this latest drought.

Indian Christians Pay Homage To St. Thomas

By ADRIENNE FARRELL

NEW DEHLI (Reuters)—Indian Christians will pay homage to St. Thomas, the apostole—"Doubting Thomas"—this month to celebrate the traditional date of his landing in India 1,900 years ago.

Many thousands of the country's 5,000,000 Roman Catholics will flock to the ceremonies in honor of the apostle at Ernakulam, on the west coast of India, not far from the long-abandoned ancient port of Cranganore where St. Thomas is said to have landed in 52 A.D.

The Pope is sending a special legate, the Australian archbishop of Sydney, Cardinal Norman Gilroy, to officiate at the ceremonies which will last from Dec. 28 to Dec. 31.

St. Thomas is said to have come to India when the 12 apostles scattered after the death of Christ.

The disciple, who refused to believe in the resurrection until he had touched the wounds in the side of the risen Christ with his own hands, is believed to have been martyred himself in 68 A.D. at Myalpur, near Madras.

A church stands today in honor of his name on the traditional spot where he was transfixed by a lance.

The ceremonies will honor the 19th centenary of St. Thomas. But the story of his mission to India is still shrouded in mystery and based on traditions handed of mouth over the centuries

Since the fourth century, it has been generally believed among Christians in the West that St. Thomas came to India. The Western tradition held that St Thomas came to northern India while the Indian tradition holds that he landed and preached in the south.

King Alfred of England sent offerings to St. Thomas's tomb in India in 883 A.D. and when the Portuguese arrived in India in the 15th century, they found about 30,000 Christian families in the south, who claimed descent from Indians converted by St. Thomas.

HAND DOWN

Oral tradition in India has handed down tales of St. Thomas landing at Cranganore, converting high-caste Hindu families, erecting crosses and founding seven churches.

The village of Palayur, 20 miles north of Cranganore, is still known to Hindus today as "Chowgat," the accursed forest.

According to tradition, all Hindus fled from the village because St. Thomas converted some Hindus near the temple there. One Brahmin family still keeps an ancient document in which is written: "Kali year 3153 (A.D. 52) the foreigner Thomas Sanyasi (holy man) came to our village, preached, causing thereby pollution. We therefore came away from that village."

Jailed Four Months For $3.80 Robbery

SARNIA (CP) — A $3.80 robbery brought a 19-year-old Sarnia youth a four-month reformatory sentence.

Clifford Williams today pleaded guilty to breaking and entering Dec. 14. He was found in possession of an eight-foot and a 10-fot steel rule, police said.

Magistrate J. C. Dunlop said he took into consideration the youth's previous good behavior when he sentenced him to four months definite and six months indefinite.

Eye On Horses

OLD TRAFFORD, England (CP) — Members of the Lancashire County Cricket Club here were asked to cease betting—on horses—at the club grounds. Complainants charged that club telephone booths were monopolized by members betting on horse races.

Newfoundland Has 17 CottageHospitals

By STEVE HERDER

ST. JOHN'S, Nfld. (CP)—Newfoundland's 17 cottage hospitals are as important to the province's fishermen, miners and lumbermen as a food cache is to a Yukon trapper.

Although a necessity at all times, in winter—when the airplane is the only link with many of the 1,500 settlements that dot the 6,000 miles of coastline—they often mean the difference between life and death.

Districts not serviced by the hospitals have nursing stations, where a nurse administers to the ailing and injured in a small building—often a log cabin—equipped with basic medical supplies.

FLOATING HOSPITAL

For the man isolated communities that have neither, residents receive medical treatment from a floating hospital ship, whose doctors are trained for the most precarious surgery.

Cottage hospitals are operated under a semi-nationalized system whereby residents subscribe $15 for heads of families and $7.50 for single persons yearly. The province pays the rest.

Subscribers' fees were increased this year from $10 to $15 and $5 to $7.50 respectively when subscriptions fell short last year. The government paid $1,000,000.

In more prosperous areas, residents pay $24 and $12.

The cottage hospital system, founded in 1936, was the brain child of Dr. Harris Mosdell, then deputy health minister. He figured that small, strategically located hospitals could easily substitute for larger institutions which normally would be beyond financial reach of any government or co-operative system.

The hospitals are practical and popular. Subscribers often pay double to show appreciation.

Getting Experience

LONDON (CP)—Maj. Peter Roberts, Conservative member of Parliament, was asked in the House of Commons for his views on outpatients in hospitals. But Maj. Roberts was not there. His automobile skidded en route and he was taken to hospital with minor injuries.

Ice Breaks 2 Boys Are Drowned

50 Other Children Skating Nearby Fail To See Acccident

ELMIRA (CP) — Two boys were drowned Sunday when they broke through the ice of Canagagigue creek, five miles southeast of this town.

Drowned were Gleason Martin, 11, son of Mr. and Mrs. Elias Martin, and Norman Bowman, 14, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ismael Martin.

They broke through the ice a few hundred yards from the Bowman farm and near the Floradale dam where 50 to 60 children were skating.

DISCOVERED HOLE

A brother of Norman Bowman, Ephriam, who was skating with another two brothers, George and Sidney, wandered up the creek and found a hole. Two caps and a glove were on the ice.

Ephriam ran back to the dam and got Sidney. They could just see the head of one of the boys. With two hockey sticks they lifted out the body of Gleason Martin. Firemen and police recovered the body of the Bowman boy.

Elmira is 12 miles northwest of Kitchener.

Urge Repeal Of Taft-Hartley Affidavit Law

WASHINGTON (AP)—The House of Representatives committee on un-American activities, denouncing communism in some trade unions as "a national disgrace," Saturday recommended repeal of the Taft-Hartley law requirement that non-Communist affidavits be filed by union officials.

In its final year-end report to Congress, the committee said:

"This provision of the law, after a start as intended by its authors, is now working to the benefit of members of the Communist party engaged in the field of labor."

The Taft-Hartley law requires that before unions can invoke the assistance of the national labor relations board in collective bargaining negotiations, its officials must first swear they are not Communists in affidavits filed with the board.

NOT TRUE PICTURE

The committee said its evidence showed "conclusively" that union officials in many cases still were Communists even though they had filed the required affidavits.

The reason they are not prosecuted, the report added, "is understandable when we realize that an individual, in signing the non-Communist affidavit, swears only that he is not a member of the Communist party on the day he affixes his signature."

Five Below Zero In Cobourg Area

COBOURG (ENS) —The mercury dipped to zero at Cobourg early Sunday morning and out in rural sections the average was five below. Cold, biting winds were the prelude on Saturday to the change in the weather and, used to the mild temperature of the past two months, most people shivered as they went about their weekend shopping on Saturday. However, the ground is bare of snow and ski club officials are hoping that the New Year will bring enough snow to open up skiing.

Hope For Relations

TOKYO (AP) — The Japanese government today said it hopes the visit of South Korean President Syngman Rhee next month will result in the opening of diplomatic relations between Japan and Korea. Mitsuo Tanaka, government spokesman, said that "on our side we are ready to meet and talk with him. It depends entirely on the attitude of the Korean government."

FILLS NIXON'S SEAT — Thomas H. Kuchel, above, of Anaheim, Calif., has been appointed by Gov. Earl Warren to fill the U.S. Senate seat which will become vacant upon the resignation of Vice President-Richard M. Nixon, Jan. 1. The 42-year-old Republican is at present California's State Controller.

Empty Trailer Breaks Loose

COBOURG —(ENS) —A runaway empty trailer, which broke loose from the tractor near the corner of William St. and University Ave., left the road and after travelling 400 feet struck the north corner of a house owned by Roy Rogers just as he and Mrs. Rogers were bidding their guests good-night around midnight Sunday. The impact jarred the frame house enough to crack the plaster in the north side of the house in rooms upstairs and down.

"We were just bidding our visitors good-night at the verandah when we saw the trailer tearing across the lawn to the north. It went through our fence, took out shrubbery and came to a stop up against the north corner of the house. It gave us quite a shock. I would estimate that it travelled about 400 feet after it left the highway and before it struck our house," said Mr. Rogers.

The tractor was driven by Rennall Regimbold of Ottawa, and he was proceeding south along Williams St., which is a provincial highway, when the trailer broke loose from the coupling. The driver noticed the sudden lightening of the load and pulled up to a stop. Meanwhile the trailer ran off the road, travelled at an angle across the property of Clarence McMillan, through a stout wooden fence and then slammed up against the corner of the house.

Constables T. Shaw and C. Cunningham investigated.

Says Coronation True Act Of Religion

LONDON (CP)—The ceremony attending the Coronation of the Queen next June is described as "an act of religion from beginning to end," by Very Rev. Dr. A. C. Don, dean of Westminster, in the Church of England official year book, just published.

The central act of the whole ritual, he says, is not the crowning, but the anointing of the sovereign.

"All these symbolic rites that follow the anointing," Dr. Don writes, "such as the girding with the sword, the presentation of the orb, the ring and the two sceptres, culminating in the act of Coronation itself, are outward and visible signs. . .But they are charged with inward and spiritual meaning and may therefore be truly said to be sacramental in intention."

MUST PRECEDE

Not until the Queen has been invested with all these emblems of royalty and has been presented with the Bible is she "lifted up" into her throne.

The dean says the Queen can be assured as she stands on the threshold of her reign, that Christian people the world over will sustain her with their prayers. Her subjects would also seek to ease the burdens on the throne by remembering that her home and her children have the right to claim a considerable share of her time and energies.

"This country has a priceless possession in our radiant and youthful Queen, who merits our cherishing as she will deserve and win our allegiance," Dr. Don says.

5 Die In 2 Months On Level Crossing

OAKVILLE.—A Toronto truck driver, John Poka, 30, of Sanford Ave., was killed Saturday when his vehicle was struck by two trains at the Ninth Line east of here.

Police said a Toronto-bound train hit the truck first and carried the wreckage about 150 feet. Another train travelling toward Hamilton then struck the vehicle. Poka was killed instantly.

The death was the fifth to occur at the crossing in two months. There is no wigwag signal and the road makes an S-turn to cross the double tracks. Installation of stop signs and straightening of the road were recommended recently by a coroner's jury.

Will Stalin And Eisenhower End The Korean War?

Prime Minister Stalin regards favourably the idea of meeting Eisenhower. Stalin thinks that war between the U.S.A. and the U.S.S.R. is not inevitable. Stalin says that Russia is "interested in ending the war in Korea". There is nothing new in any of this, except that Eisenhower has replaced Truman as the person whom Stalin would like to meet to talk things over. The difference may be important. The president-elect has lately been in Korea, and during his election campaign promised, in the famous October 24th speech, "to forego the diversions of politics" and concentrate on the job of ending the Korean War—"that requires a personal trip to Korea". Stalin may have as concrete proposals as Eisenhower. The designated Secretary of State, John Foster Dulles, has asked for evidence of them.

* * *

General Eisenhower's very definite statement of last October, and the implication that he would be going to Korea to find a swift and victorious end have been transformed into this statement, made when he returned from Korea: "You all know the simple purpose of my journey to Korea: to look, listen and learn . . . All of us have long realized that there can be no simple formula for bringing a swift, victorious end". It is rather different in tone and substance from his October statement. If Mr. Stalin follows his conciliatory Christmas statement with concrete proposals, or even a simple formula, will they be as impossible for the United States as General Eisenhower's prediction of a victorious end may be for the Communist world?

* * *

There is this hope: The United States and General Eisenhower want an armistice and peace in Korea. That cannot be doubted. It is possible that the U.S.S.R. (and Stalin) want the war to end too, although less ardently because Russian troops are not directly engaged in it. Both sides may truly want the tensions between the two relaxed. The obstacles to these desires being realized are the concrete proposals for doing it; they may be as impeding as the cement "dragons teeth" used on beaches during the war to prevent tank landings. Perhaps Mr. Churchill will be able to point a way through them during his talks with General Eisenhower.

Roses, Roses All The Way

Perhaps it is the Christmas spirit, or Mr. Doucett may be a reformer at heart, with a passionate desire to make the highways of this Province not roads to heaven, but a heaven itself. "All major highways in the Province will be lined with rambler-rose hedges", the Minister of Highways announced.

The picture is pretty. Mr. Doucett gives it a practical frame. Thick rose hedges will make the roads more attractive in appearance, but they will also relieve the monotony of the scenery, he says. (What is so monotonous in a day in June as ten thousand miles of roses in rows?) They will help keep drivers awake, he says. (Counting a hundred thousand blooms, as wide-awake persons in bed at night count sheep?). It will help keep drivers interested. (Pretty flowers, like pretty girls along the way, arouse drivers' interest, but never turn their heads, of course.) Thus accidents will be prevented. Mr. Doucett hopes.

Other practical considerations enter our head. Roses do not bloom all the year, alas, and what if, in the fall, not being kept awake by the pretty hedgerows, a driver careened into a mass of brambles and thorns When he arose between two thorns, what would Mr. Doucett's chances at the polls be from that sore driver's vote?

The notion is very pleasant, on the whole. Roses all the way. Ah! the sweet delights of Ontario's highways!

It Was Not Ever Thus

When we remarked in an editorial a few days ago that the intense and highly sentimental celebration of Christmas was a comparatively modern phenomenon we apparently surprised some of our readers. There is a widespread notion that Christmas, since the advent of Christianity, has always been the crown of the year. But history does not confirm this belief.

A part of the importance of Christmas in our present hierarchy of holidays is the result of its nearness to New Year's Day. But until the introduction of the present calendar Christmas stood by itself, and the New Year was not celebrated until the beginning of March. Christmas was a twelve days' feast, certainly, but it did not have the New Year within a week of Christmas Day.

Nor are we justified in thinking that the celebration of Christmas used to be overwhelmingly religious in its nature. It is true that from the Vigil of Christmas until Epiphany there are several important saints' days, and these were—and still are—appropriately recognized in Catholic churches, but they were not of greater significance than, let us say, Easter. In this connection it is interesting to recall that after the Reformation many people considered Christmas to be a distinctively Catholic festival, and would pay no heed to it. The very word "Christ-mass" was avoided in favour of Christ-tide. As late as 1620 there was a disagreement in Plymouth among the Pilgrims, for some refused to work on that day, as a token of respect for it; the Governor, however, told them that if they would not work, they certainly should not play, and confined them to their homes so that "there should be no gameing or revelling in ye streets".

The Puritans always hated Christmas, and one of the funniest outbursts of the Puritan spirit was in 1652, when Parliament officially abolished Christmas, and sat on that day to show that they had no regard for it. In 1655 John Evelyn sadly records in his Diary that no single church in London dared have a Christmas sermon or administer the Sacrament "on pain of imprisonment or exile". "The Lord Jesus pity our distressed Church!" he cried. Any move in those days "to bring Christ back into Christmas" would have been sternly punished.

King John had a bitter Christmas in 1214, for on that day it was usual for his vassals to visit him and offer him Christmas greeting; nobody came, which frightened the King so much that he hurried to London from Winchester, and hid himself in the house of the Knights Templars, who possessed a sort of extra-territorial right. But on Epiphany (Jan. 5) a great force of barons visited the King and demanded of him that he confirm the laws of Edward the Confessor and Henry I—laws highly favourable to themselves.

Christmas has always been a great day in the Christian world, but the modern, domestic, highly sentimental Christmas in which children play so large a part, is very much a creation of the nineteenth century.

Unpleasantness At Louiseville

A strike is an unpleasant topic to think about at this time of year; equally unpleasant to consider are the methods the police and provincial authorities have been using to deal with the strike at Louiseville, Quebec. Louiseville is an industrial town west of Three Rivers, on the St. Lawrence. The strike began last March with a walk-out from the Associated Textiles Limited plant. It flared into violence this month when police used pistols and night-sticks to disperse the strikers. One worker was shot and four others injured. The Riot Act has been read.

There may be local circumstances and internal struggles for power in the Louiseville situation about which little is said and less known from this distance. But far removed as we may be here in central Ontario from the unhappy scene, we cannot refrain from protesting the use of firearms and bloody wielding of clubs.

Obviously the situation got out of hand, and apparently the tactics of the forces opposing the strikers contributed to this sorry state of affairs. When a strike gets to such a pass as it has done in Louiseville we are not inclined to blame only the strikers. The provincial police, the company officials (who reopened the plant in the summer without securing a settlement, by the shock-squad tactics of hiring strike-breakers), and the Quebec Department of Labour (which has allowed a strike to drag on for nine months) all bear a responsibility for the violence.

There is a lack of reason, tolerance and efficiency in the Louiseville situation. There are better ways of settling a strike than breaking it over the heads of employees. If such a strike had gone on in Ontario and our provincial police had acted as riot squads in a police state, the people of this province would have been incensed—and the people of this province include management, labour and members of the legislature.

We do not wonder that the Catholic Confederation of Labour, to which the strikers belong, is considering a general strike of its 90,000 members. And we have a suspicion that the dictatorial attitude of the Duplessis Government in many provincial concerns, one of the most illiberal governments any province has ever had, have created an environment in Quebec which feeds intolerance and violence, and sets man against man.

NOTES AND COMMENT

For sheer, breathtaking insult we commend the Indianapolis burglar who recently robbed a store and took the burglar alarm.

Yet another writer in a women's magazine advises girls to fascinate men by being good listeners, but we counsel our young female readers against this type of self-torture. It is just as effective to feed a man plentifully and elegantly, talking your head off all the time.

Musical Notes

By PETER PIPER

LOOKING OVER the events of the past year, it does not appear that 1952 will figure in musical history as one of profound importance. Yet we may be mistaken in the long run; we live too near to the events of our own time to see them in their right perspective. We know that 1952 may not be selected by historians of the future as one of the great turning-points of music?

✧ ✧ ✧

DURING 1952 the deaths were announced of Dr. Fellowes, recoverer of so many of the glories of the first Elizabethan era of music, Leo Smith, wise and kindly cellist and music critic of Toronto and Herbert Murrill, head of the music department of the BBC and author of a small batch of finely chiselled compositions. The demise was also announced of the Kingston Rotary Musical Festival, but hopes have been held out that this "loved one" may be resuscitated and brought back into vigorous health. So far we have not detected a heart-beat, but we are keeping our ears to the ground in the hopes of detecting signs of renewed life. During the year the choir of St. George's Anglican Cathedral under Mr. Maybee's efficient direction has travelled around and won fresh laurels in Montreal, Ogdensburg and elsewhere. In Peterborough the annual Kiwanis Festival was the most successful to date, and the present year should bring an even greater number of entries and a higher standard of performance. In this connection I am somewhat disappointed at the tardy arrival of the syllabus of this function: it was promised for the beginning of November, and now we are almost in January.

✧ ✧ ✧

WITH 1953 we enter the Coronation year, and preparations will soon be on foot (if they are not already) in all parts of the Commonwealth to celebrate this important event. Not the least of these will be in connection with the ceremony itself to be held in the Abbey Church of Saint Peter, Westminster. At previous coronations the music chosen has been restricted to anthems and other works by British composers. At the last coronation the music was selected by Dr. Bullock, organist of the Abbey and Sir Walford Davies, Master of the King's Musick in consultation with many other musicians and presented a panorama of English Church music from plainsong to Vaughan Williams. There will doubtless be many changes in the music for the forthcoming ceremony, but one anthem at least will hold its place—Zadok the Priest, the musical centrepiece of all coronations for the past two hundred years. In this magnificent piece d'occasion Handel with the simplest of means produced an overpowering effect of brilliant solemnity that has never been bettered, and a coronation without it is unthinkable. The same could not be said of some of the other contributions to the last coronation by then living composers, which were completely undistinguished with one exception, a rugged and massive Festival Te Deum specially composed for the occasion by Vaughan Williams.

✧ ✧ ✧

AS FOR THE coming Coronation there has been a good deal of talk about making it more representative of the Commonwealth as a whole rather than an exclusively United Kingdom affair. In the musical aspect there is no doubt that it could be done. It would not only be an imaginative gesture to include the work of men such as our Dr. Healey Willan but it would also add lustre to the occasion if the music were wisely selected from amongst the leading musicians of the Commonwealth. Willan's gift for bold and effective choral writing would show to great advantage in such a magnificent setting. Australia is already sure of musical recognition at the Abbey ceremony, for the organist of the Abbey, Dr. McKie, is an Australian himself, and will in any case be taking an active part in the ceremonies. One face will be missed by the old-stagers—the late Sir Walter Alcock, organist of Salisbury Cathedral, who played the organ at no less than three coronations. He was a pupil of Sir Walter Parratt, whose clean and rhythmical style of playing had so great an influence for good. It was my good fortune to study under him for a year, and his genial manner, combined with a strict attention to detail made him an ideal teacher. When I knew him he was in his seventieth year, but he was as nimble on manual and pedal-board as a man of thirty.

✧ ✧ ✧

THE GOVERNOR-GENERAL'S suggestion that a festival on similar lines to the Edinburgh Festival be organized somewhere in Canada, possibly in Ottawa, is one that should be given very careful consideration. An enterprise of this nature demands the outlay of a considerable amount of money. Nobody questions the fact that this country is more prosperous than it has even been, and our currency is actually the strongest in the world today. Surely it would be easy to find the money with the right kind of leadership and organization. In fact the financial aspect, though by no means negligible, seems to offer less difficulties than any other, providing that there are sufficient Canadians prepared to back their love of the fine arts and their faith in Canadian talent with cold cash. The success of a festival is not measured in monetary terms. It may directly and indirectly prove profitable, yet any festival that is viewed primarily as a profit-making business is headed for eventual failure, artistically and financially too.

✧ ✧ ✧

THE SECOND requisite for a festival is talent. Naturally an affair of the magnitude envisaged by Mr. Massey would include a good deal of imported talent. Just as the Edinburgh Festival features French orchestras, Italian operatic companies and other performers from the four corners of the earth, so would the suggested Canadian Festival. Yet there would have to be a fairly strong admixture of Canadian talent. Let us make no mistake about it; we have plenty of talent. Unfortunately we do not see and hear much of it, for there is only a limited scope in Canada and richer rewards are available elsewhere. It is a pity that so many leave us, for they rob Canadian life of much of its colour and savour.

✧ ✧ ✧

THE THIRD and greatest difficulty is that of theatres and concert halls for the performers and accommodation for the "pilgrims". I see no alternative to this but to start building straight away, and I could think of no more appropriate place than Ottawa. The provision of such buildings in the capital would do much to enhance its present dignity and to provide some of the amenities that distinguish the capitals of the more civilized countries from those of the more backward parts of the world: I fear that diplomatists are apt to droop inwardly when they hear that they are being transferred to Ottawa from Brussels or Stockholm, for they know that there will be no opera, no theatre and very few concerts. The remedy lies in our own hands; what are we going to do about it?

HE CAN'T PUT OFF THIS JOB MUCH LONGER

Ontario House In London

(LONDON TIMES WEEKLY)

The Province of Ontario maintains its United Kingdon office at Ontario House, in Charles II Street, in the heart of London's West End. The accredited provincial representative to her Majesty's Government is the Agent General. The designation of Agent General is one of possibly 40 years' standing, which replaces the time honoured position of Crown Agent. These state or provincial representatives carried out extensive duties in the days of broad sovereign rights and even before many federal governments were formed.

Official provincial representation in the United Kingdom is by no means new. As early as 1873 Ontario sent immigration agents on periodic visits to the British Isles to recruit labour and settlers. The first official government office in London was established in 1908, when premises at 163 Strand were acquired for the purpose of exhibiting and encouraging the sale of Ontario products and as an immigration office. In the early thirties these offices were temporarily closed, but in January, 1944, they were reopened at their present address with Mr. J. S. P. Armstrong, who comes from Toronto, as Agent General.

Today, Ontario House is essentially a business office, dealing with purely provincial affairs as defined in the British North America Act. Its functions, although differing considerably from those of the Dominion Government in the United Kingdom, are nevertheless complementary to them. The office acts as a clearing house for all specific information on the province, advising and directing people on matters of trade, commerce, agriculture, emigration, travel, provincial regulations, and natural resources. Ontario House is, in fact, the shop window of Ontario.

The importance of provincial representation in the United Kingdom is vital when it is remembered that 50 per cent. of the United Kingdom's expor and import trade with Canada has its destination or source in Ontario; 75 per cent of the United Kingdom branch plants establishing in Canada are located in the province; 60 per cent. of British captial in Canada is invested there, and over 50 per cent. of all emigrants from the United Kingdom to Canada make their homes in Ontario. Because of this important share of Canada's economy and the many complicated problems facing modern business, one of the principal functions of Ontario House has been to ease the flow of two-way trade. With her 14,000 manufacturing concerns, Ontario must also find export markets in order to keep her population employed and press for an early return to normal trading practices and a lessening of present restrictions. To meet this need there is a Department of Trade and Industry rendering a commercial intelligence service, staffed by experienced industrial engineers. Their activities are directed at counselling and advising British and Continental industrialists on marketing conditions in Ontario, arranging agency agreements and aiding manufacturers in the establishment of branch plants.

Until recently the United Kingdom was the traditional market for most Ontario farm and dairy products. The loss of this market because of the economic situation now prevailing has been a serious blow to the economy of the province. The people are hopeful that conditions will soon improve and that once again Britain will be able to purchase Ontario cheese, butter, eggs, meat, tinned foodstuffs, fruits, jams, tobacco, hardwoods, and rye whisky. It is an important function of the office to find outlets wherever possible for these products. The rapid recovery of certain Continental countries has resulted in their search for new markets for the products of their expanding industries. Inquiries from the Continent are mounting and answering them involves officials at Ontario House in frequent visits abroad.

Wisdom Of The Ancients

FORT WILLIAM TIMES-JOURNAL

FROM OUR text books and history books, from English literature generally, many a Westerner is trapped into the assumption that whimsical and profound thinking has been confined to one side of the globe.

Such folk should study the history and the culture of the people of Laos, the Indo-Chinese state. According to Jean Kaim, this young state, whose 1,500,000 inhabitants are spread over an area of 83,000 square miles, is heir to an ancient civilization still preserved in a folklore which is still part of everyday life, through its charming customs and poetic sayings.

There is one series which runs:

"At ten years of age you no longer catch cold when you bathe;

At 20 you are no longer afraid to go courting young women at night;

At 30 you should be able to boast that you caught a bird without using your bow;

At 40 you should be able to talk about business without timidity;

At 50 the sight of a dead man should no longer frighten you;

At 60 you are no longer interested in young women;

At 70 you are sad in mind;

At 80 you cannot even frighten a chicken;

At 90 you cry in front of those who tend you;

At 100 you are likely to die with or without fever."

The proverbs of Laos which are often quoted in conversation extol a life of dignity. Thus, old people tell children: "Oxen, buffalo, elephants when they die leave us their skins, horns and tusks which are of value; man, on his death, leaves nothing, except his reputation—good or bad." The children are also advised that "A plateful of money is worth less than a stomachful of intelligence."

This respect for intelligence and knowledge expounded in the ancient sayings of the country, has found modern expression in the efforts of its people to improve their educational resources. Today, nearly 20 per cent. of the national budget is devoted to education; primary schools now number 600 and are attended by 40,000 children, and a teachers' training college has been opened.

Bible Message

(From the Authorized Version)

Philip saith unto him, Lord, shew us the Father, and it sufficeth us.

Jesus saith unto him, Have I been so long time with you, and yet hast thou not known me, Philip? He that hath seen me hath seen my Father; and how sayest thou then, Shew us the Father? Believest thou not that I am in the Father, and the Father in me? the words that I speak unto you I speak not of myself: but the Father that dwelleth in me, he doeth the works. (John 14: 8-10.)

✧ ✧ ✧

As the Father hath loved me, so have I loved you: continue ye in my love. If ye keep my commandments, ye shall abide in my love; even as I have kept my Father's commandments, and abide in his love. (John 15: 9, 10.)

✧ ✧ ✧

These words spake Jesus, and lifted up his eyes to heaven, and said, Father, the hour is come; glorify thy Son, that thy Son also may glorify thee . . . I have manifested thy name unto the men which thou gavest me out of the world: thine they were, and thou gavest them me; and they have kept thy word . . .

I pray for them: I pray not for the world, but for them which thou hast given me; for they are thine . . . Neither pray I for these alone, but for them also which shall believe on me through their word . . .

O righteous Father, the world hath not known thee: but I have known thee, and these have known that thou hast sent me. And I have declared unto them thy name, and will declare it: that the love wherewith thou hast loved me may be in them, and I in them. (John 17: 1, 6, 9, 20, 25, 26.)

Unconsidered Trifles

"Her fiance's father is known as a very able judge."

"Zatso? It's more than you can say for her fiance."

✧ ✧ ✧

"I've got to admire you. Your success hasn't gone to your head in the slightest."

On Righteousness

(The Macleod (Alberta) Gazette)

One would think on listening to the Back to the Bible Hour on Sunday afternoons, and the political speeches of the self-declared apostles of righteousness and the "pure" political creed that has no blemishes that the rest of us are sinners and in league with that bad man who has horns and a tail — yes, the Devil!

We do get fed up with hearing certain cabinet ministers who carry their religion on their sleeves, injecting a type of evangelism and a holier-than-thou attitude every time they get an audience, even at dinner meetings where nobody is in a mood to be preached at.

If the bishops and clergy of Roman Catholic or Protestant church were to combine their political beliefs with their religion in the same manner as the party in questions, it would be horrible to contemplate. The way we live indicates whether we are adhering to Christian principles, but for heaven's sake keep religion out of our political debates. The Back to the Bible Hour is just another bid for political support, minus the 1935 slogan of dividends for all.

Guess we will remain among the publicans and the sinners, whom the Scribes and Pharisees scorned.

Aussie Scientists Hopeful Of Making Cheap Rain

By LIONEL HUDSON

SYDNEY (Reuters)—Rain-making scientists in Australia believe they have "very promising" prospects of evolving, within five years, an economical way of changing the natural distribution of rainfall over wide areas to suit farmers and ranchers.

Experiments at present are focussed on the discovery that under certain conditions a cumulus cloud with a reasonably high water content can be induced to rain by spraying just below its base with salt or lime.

This discovery could easily lead to cheap artificial rain, says Dr. E. G. Bowen, a Welshman, chief of the radiophysics division of Australia's Commonwealth scientific and industrial research organization. Bowen was awarded $27,000 this year by the British government for his key work in the wartime development of radar.

His research team has been studying rain formation processes and carrying out extensive rain-making experiments for more than five years.

In 1947, they produced the first recorded fall of man-made rain using the now "old fashioned" method of seeding a super-cooled cloud with dry ice.

The scientists have estimated that by using this process rainfall in southeastern Australia could be increased by five to 10 per cent a year. But, because it involved seeding from twin-engined planes at cloud-top heights, it would not be an economical proposition.

Meanwhile, they set out to study the problem of rain formation in a fundamental way. They started probing rain clouds to find out what went on inside. Microwave radar proved the most valuable research tool for this purpose.

Early in their search for data on rain, the scientists confirmed by radar that downpours often start falling as snowflakes, melt after passing freezing level and form into raindrops. This was the cumulus nimbus cloud on which the dry ice method of inducing rain was so successful.

It was found, however, that many clouds which rain heavily do not even reach freezing level, making it impossible that ice crystals are involved.

Investigation showed that rain results when rising air currents suck into growing cumulus clouds sea salt nuclei or moist dust particles which are bigger than the water droplets already there.

Usually it is salt which causes the coalesence, explaining why coastal regions receive more rain than inland areas.

Seeding a low cumulus cloud with powdered salt from below is 100 times cheaper than seeding towering super-cooled clouds from above with dry ice, Bowen points out. Handling and storage of salt or lime is also much simpler.

Bowen stressed that exhaustive tests still have to be carried out, but it looks as though the team is on the verge of economical rain-making.

What they don't know about sex

In our "enlightened" age, have we merely substituted misinformation for old-fashioned prudery?

In January Reader's Digest, Rev. Margaret Johnstone, tells how, as a marriage counselor, she has found that many who think they know most about the facts of sex are dangerously misinformed. She discusses false ideas that can mean the difference between happy and unhappy marriage, and gives a basic quiz to help you learn how correctly informed you are.

Witch Doctors Prove Popular

By PHILIP KIM

PUSAN, South Korea (Reuters)—Witch doctors and other primitive religion forms are preparing to meet the religious needs of war-weary South Koreans. In 2½ years of war, hundreds of regular places of worship have been destroyed.

The emergency of cultism, in which the gullible credit witch doctors called "Mudangs" with healing powers superior to anti-biotics, is revealed in a survey by the education ministry and the national police service.

In addition to the Mudang there are roadside diviners, blind fortune-tellers, astrologists and palmists.

RELIGIOUS COUNTRY

Korea, traditionally, is a religious country. While the country generally is under the influence of Chinese Confucianism, four other religions are recognized.

Christianity, with 3,150 churches of various denominations, claims 1,915,000 followers. Buddhism, with 1,276 temples of various denominations, claims 1,120,000 believers and Taoism, with 200 places of worship, claims 2,300,000. The "Tae Chong Kyo" with 100 places of worship claims 450,000 members.

Small groups of farmers now conduct their "services" or prayers on hilltops, or at riversides, worshipping their new "gods."

Not all the new "religions" are secret, however. A would-be founder of "religion of greater universal security" went to the social instruction bureau of the education ministry and asked to be registered.

ICE WATER

The man, 53-year-old Pu Kyo Soon, alias Hai Wol Son, resident of Pusan, said that he had healed his third son of internal haemorrhage by giving three cups of ice water as instructed by his god, "Greater Old King."

The national police now are investigating secret religious sects since one was discovered in Seoul earlier trying to collect funds for guerillas.

Police say that, although some of the rituals are beyond common sense, there has been no recurrence of cannibalism or other inhuman rituals discovered before the war.

The witchcraft of the Korean Mudangs is most popular and widely accepted.

Unofficial estimates put the number practising as Mudangs at 4,000 to 5,000. A Mudang, dancing and singing, can often be seen at a house whose luck seemed to be turning bad.

SWORD DANCE

First-class Mudangs frequently dance on razor-sharp swords to drive out the devil of sickness in their patients.

Uusually five or six assistants accompany them. They beat drums and collect money. The more money they receive the quicker the patient is healed, the Mudangs claim.

The average fee for one devil-driving-sword-dancing is 800,000 to 1,000,000 won (about $84 at the unofficial rate).

Air Pollution Investigated By 2 Officials

ST. LOUIS, Mo. (CP) — A searching investigation into health conditions in the smoky industrial ce... ... Windsor, Ont., and Detroit was outlined today by two Canadian health officials.

Dr. Arthur Peart and Gordon H. Josie of the Canadian health department said that the current investigation of air pollution in the Detroit river area is probably the most comprehensive study yet made of air pollution problems.

In their paper delivered to the American Association for the Advancement of Science, they detailed what will be done in a health survey—part of the over-all study going on since 1949.

For several months, or even a year, some 1,000 households in Detroit and Windsor will be checked monthly to see what effect air pollution has on health conditions.

Such disasters as the Donora, Pa., smog in 1948 and this month's smog epidemic in London are "dramatic warnings" of the need for a precise measurement of air pollution's effect on health, the scientists said.

Experts had been unable to prove that any specific disease was caused by continued exposure to air pollution. But smog disasters seemed to indicate the presence of disease which was brought to public notice by unusual conditions.

The Detroit river health survey, made at the request of the international joint commission, will be done co-operatively by Canadian and Ontario health departments and financed by grants under Canada's national health program.

Boys' Parliament Adopts Number Of New Policies

WHITBY (CP)—The lethargy of professed Christians and their refusal to make militant avowals of their faith when confronted with communistic propaganda is more dangerous to Canada than communism itself, Gordon C. Hutchins, premier of the Older Boys' Parliament, said Saturday.

The premier, from Lo... ...nt., was successful in obtaining a majority for a number of resolutions on social problems which had been presented in the "speech from the throne."

The Parliament, being held in the Ontario Ladies' College, adopted a number of policies which will set the members' pattern in leadership of some 4,000 boys of six Protestant denominations in Ontario:

1. The Parliament is opposed to the use of alcohol because of its harmful influence upon physical and mental health.

2. Members are to set an example for their peers by refusing to use tobacco.

3. Commercial dance halls will be boycotted by members of the Parliament, and boys within their leadership will be encouraged to expect morally responsible supervision of the dances they attend.

4. Members will take active steps to retain the interest of youths in their churches, and will urge more positive measures to combat indifference to Christian fellowship and worship.

5. Parliament will oppose commercialized Sunday sports.

SPORTS SHOW WINDOW

By CEC. PERDUE, Sports Editor

Columnist Milt Dunnell wrote in the Toronto Star the other day: "Joe Primeau would be the last man to count a hockey club out of the running until the cold and unrelenting mathematics said the club positively couldn't make the playoffs. Joe was a member of the old Toronto Ravinas, Brantford Falcons, or whatever you'd like to call them, who made one of the most spectacular spurts in hockey history to reach the sugar series. With 13 games remaining, they won 12 and finished third in the Canpro league, which later became the International, and still later the AHL. And they did it with a legweary staff of eight men.

* * * * * *

"'We had Joe Ironstone in goal; Dutch Cain, Bert Corbeau and Carl Voss on defence,' Primeau recalled recently. 'Our forward line was Lloyd Gross at left wing, Freddie Elliott at right wing, and I played centre. For a bench, we had Lloyd Randle and Shrimp McDougall, whose playing weight was about 119 pounds.' One night at Ravina Gardens, when the paid attendance was fewer than 10, the club got the impression it wasn't drawing, so it moved to Brantford and called itself the Falcons. But Brantford didn't appreciate the Falcons, either, so they played the rest of their games on the road. Leafs guaranteed the players' contracts."

* * * * * *

The Same Mighty Mite

Yes, the Shrimp McDougall mentioned is the same lad who started and finished his hockey here. But he starred in between as a junior when he led Owen Sound Greys to the Memeorial Cup, emblematic of junior hockey supremacy of Canada. He was their top scorer. Later, he played pro with Ravinas, Brantford and in Michigan. Had to sit it out for three years, under the AAU rules of the time, before he obtained his amateur card once more and he played for the intermediate Petes (and coached 'em a year) during the middle 30s before retiring. He died some years ago, but his son, Buddy McDougall, is a member of the local junior Oddfellows, and may sometime go as far in the puck game as Shrimp, a master stickhandler.

It's Orillia Pontiacs vs. the Petes at 8:30 tonight in Civic Arena, an OHA senior "B" fixture. Practically tied in the second division of the group standing, these squads will really turn it on from here in as the schedule is half over and the bottom club in each section doesn't make playoffs. Petes have had a layoff over Christmas but kept practising, and should be roaring this eve. We look for them to win a lot of games the rest of the route after a slow start. Curly Mason may be back in action after a sick siege, and the local defence is looking good now. Fryia and Greenlaw are still the main triggermen up front for the Ellis outfit. The Orillians play a right rugged brand of hockey.

TVL-ers Welcome The Dip

The cold snap over the weekend was just like money in the bank to district rinks depending on natural ice. Should be no scarcity of frozen water now for a spell, and the outdoor cushions ought to be ready anytime to accommodate large crowds of youngsters. TVL-ers are set to go tonight with Campbellford at Hastings, Havelock at Norwood, and Lakefield at Marmora. A Tuesday tilt sees Hastings at Lakefield. The Friday frays are: Campbellford at Havelock, with Norwood at Marmora, and next night it's Norwood at Campbellford. A busy week but the schedule just runs six weeks ere playoffs take over. Various rural loops, too, will be commencing schedules right shortly.

As January of '53 bows onto the scene, the basketballers will be getting busy. Two circuits have been going before this, Girl's League in the YW and men's City League in the YM. But a raft of school teams from PCVS, Kenner and St. Peter's will swing into action early in January to compete with hockey as our other winter-time spectator sport. A lot of local lasses and lads strut their stuff in the hoop game during the colder months, and usually we have a few teams which go quite a piece down the provincial playdown trail along about springtime. St. Peter's new gym will relieve some of the gage congestion at the Collegiate gymnasium this winter.

Dese, Dem and Dose

Junior "B" Oddfellows resume OHA activity here Friday night 'gainst the Cobourg Jays . . . Next evening sees them heading for Bella Villa . . . Senior Petes go to Stouffville this coming Friday e'en . . . They're not at home then until Jan. 9 . . . PMHA games New Year's Night, starting at five: Swartz bantams vs. Shamrocks, Aces vs. bantam Trojans, midget Norwood vs. Otonabee Wolves, juvenile Aces vs. Havelock, midget Aces vs. Shamrocks, and Marines vs. the juvenile Shamrocks . . . These schedules conclude the end of January . . . Public school hockey goes right through the holidays with schedules running well out into February . . . Wally Hergesheimer of Rangers and Alex Delvecchio of Detroit are going fine in their second season in the NHL, sophomores so to speak . . . No pro mat card here this week . . . Jerry Fitzgerald is expected back with the lacrosse Timbermen comes spring . . . Some doubt if Harry Wipper will be back here early enough in the summer to assume his PMLA Coaching duties . . . Bob Thorpe hasn't heard yet if his CAHA card is coming through . . . And that's the Monday wash hanging out.

Aussie Players Massacre U.S. Cup Team

By GAYLE TALBOT

ADELAIDE (AP) — Australia's two tennis tigers—Frank Sedgman and Ken McGregor—today yanked the rug from under America's Davis Cup team in a hurry.

They'll play out the final three matches only because all the tickets have been sold and the rules demand it.

First Sedgman delivered one of the heaviest salvoes ever seen in cup play as he opened the series with a crushing 6-3, 6-4, 6-3 victory over the United States captain, Vic Seixas of Philadelphia

Then McGregor wore down young Tony Trabert under a searing sun and finally trounced him by scores of 11-9, 6-4, 6-1.

RANKS AS CLASSIC

The first set between McGregor and Trabert ranks as a classic duel between two great servers. But once Trabert wavered and lost his delivery in the final game, it was all over. From there on McGregor was unbeatable.

Trabert was so frazzled that just before he reached the dressing room he wavered in his stride. An alert ambulance man guided him the rest of the way.

The long struggle in heat of more than 90 degrees was a tough experience for the Cincinnati youngster, playing his first hard competitive match in a year.

The only argument heard in the throng of 15,000 was whether Sedgman or McGregor played greater tennis.

WILL TEAM UP

It only could be assumed they would team up to smack down Seixas and Trabert in Tuesday's doubles. In that event, the Australians could be expected to permit the other two members of their squad—Mervyn Rose and Lewis Hoad—to close out the series in the concluding singles Wednesday.

It is understood that both Sedgman and McGregor will announce they are turning pro after the Davis Cup banquet Thursday night. Their displays today should do them no financial harm when they begin work with Jack Kramer's troupe early next month.

In the opinion of Alrick Man, junior manager of the American team, the long-legged McGregor was the best man on the court today.

Though Sedgman was at his brilliant best in turning back Seixas without really extending nimself, it was McGregor—the Aussie's No. 2 player—who filled the eye. His service and net play against Trabert was spectacular all the way and his ground strokes at times bordered on the miraculous.

Seixas lost mainly because his soft sliced backhand couldn't stand up under the hammering Sedgman gave it. Sedgman moved to the net almost at will throughout and Seixas seldom got the ball past him.

Indians Regain Lead, Drop Redmen 4-3

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Stratford Indians lost first place in the Ontario Hockey Association Senior A series to Owen Sound Mercurys Friday night but snatched it back Saturday.

An Owen Sound surge closed a five-point gap last week and after a 4-2 win over Chatham Friday they held a single-point lead.

Stratford downed Brantford Redmen 4-3 Saturday to regain the lead while Owen Sound lost 3-2 to Sarnia Sailors. Sarnia gets another chance to pick up points tonight when they visit winless Hamilton Tigers.

Kitchener topped Hamilton 11-3 Saturday night while goalie Al Bennett turned away 45 shots compared to 13 saves by Ed Hurley for the home team.

The Stratford win came on goals by Dinny Flanagan, Billy Flick, Herve Dejordy and Bill Walker. Wally Hnatiuk scored all three for Brantford.

Chuck Glaab, Vern Gardiner and Ollie Haddon scored Sarnia's winning goals. Mike Bukacheski and Doug Gillespie tallied for Owen Sound.

LACK LUSTRE

In the lack-lustre effort staged by Kitchener and Hamilton Harry Psutka, Harvey Jacklin and Bill Mitchell scored two goals each. Art Hurst, Don Rope, Charlie Brooker, Don Bauer and Jack McKenzie fired singles. Bill Salvisburg notched two for the Tigers and Bill Hammond scored the other.

Don Grosso, former coach of Sault Ste. Marie (Ont.) Greyhounds fired by the executive for what was termed causing trouble among the players, opened a new career as coach of the Sault Ste. Marie (Mich.) Indians Sunday.

He got off to a bad start. North Bay Trappers, after dropping a 7-4 decision to the Greyhounds in overtime, Saturday night, trounced the Indians 6-3 Sunday. Sudbury Wolves are still in first place with a two-point lead, Greyhounds are next followed by North Bay and then the Indians.

Hec Pozzo scored three for the Greyhounds Saturday. Ron Lay notched two and Chuck and Jimmy Johnston each scored once. Vic Jackson with two, Don Hogan and George Gosselin were North Bay scorers.

Frankie Tingler fired two for the Trappers Sunday. George Gosselin, Vic Jackson, Bo Elik and Jack Leckie scored the others. Laurie Peterson, Gordie Kerr and Jim Farelli shared Indian goals.

DOMINATES TOURNAMENT

KITCHENER (CP)—Jim Carnwath of the Woodstock Badminton Club, Canadian junior champion, made a clean sweep of three divisions at the western Ontario junior Badminton tournament Saturday.

After sweeping to a 15-2, 15-10 victory over Ed Koenig of Kitchener in the A singles finals, he combined with Olin Tucker of Woodstock to defeat their clubmates, Bob Pow and Wayne Milburn 15-12, 15-6.

In the mixed doubles he paired with Anne Douglas to defeat Muriel Storey of Stratford and Ed Koenig 18-14, 15-4.

Miss Storey also scored a triple win, taking the girls' A title by defeating Helen Hay of Stratford 11-4, 11-1, the girls' B title by tripping Dale Perrin of Kitchener 11-6, 11-0, and then combining with Helen Waldner of Kitchener in the girls' doubles 15-11, 15-13.

KUBASEK INJURED

PITTSBURGH (AP)—Freshman centre Frank Kubasek of Cleveland Barons was able to sit up and read the papers Sunday but doctors are keeping him in Mercy Hospital another 24 hours while they check X-rays on a head injury. Kubasek, who comes from Bellevue, Alta., was hurt Saturday night in an American Hockey League game when his head banged into the boards.

PIRATES SIGN COACH

PITTSBURGH (AP)—Pittsburgh Pirates Saturday signed John A. Fitzpatrick, former minor-league catcher and manager, as a coach to fill a vacancy created by resignation of Milt Stock. From 1949 to 1952 Fitzpatrick was a coach of the Hollywood club of the Pacific Coast League. Fred Haney, former Hollywood manager, recently was signed to manage the Pirates.

LONDON (Reuters)—Aston Villa soccer team has turned down an invitation to make a two-month tour of Canada and the United States at the close of the British season, it was announced Sunday. Club officials said the tour, involving 15,000 miles of travelling, would be too big a strain on the players.

Defenceman Leon Bouchard has been obtained on loan from Montreal Canadiens to bolster the Flyer rearguard.

OHA Referee Has Hectic Time As Black Hawks, Irish Tangle

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Fearless Jack Shropshire is in the wrong business. He should be refereeing fights instead of hockey games.

The Ontario Hockey Association Junior A whistle-tooter spent more time with his thumb in the air than a cross-country hitchhiker Saturday night as Galt Black Hawks bowed 5-3 to Toronto St. Michael's in Galt.

Shropshire was so busy handing out 11 majors and five misconducts between punches that he only had time to assess 13 minor penalties in the whole game.

The other Saturday games were shutouts. Windsor Spitfires moved into sixth place by dropping Guelph Biltmores 3-0 in Windsor. Toronto Marlboros, without Eric Nesterenko defeated Oshawa Generals 5-0.

BEAT OUT IRISH

In the Sunday doubleheader in Toronto, Kitchener-Waterloo Greenshirts, currently tailing the parade, took advantage of St. Mike's weakened condition to blast them 6-2. Then Marlboros slipped past the Black Hawks 4-3. This time Nesterenko was on hand and scored a goal.

Quebec Citadelles had a profitable week-end in the Quebec Junior League. They pulled into a first-place tie with Montreal Canadiens by downing Montreal Royals, holders of last place, 7-4 Saturday and 7-3 Sunday. Three Rivers Reds are third.

Between rests in the penalty box, Jack Caffery scored twice and Bill Dineen, Ed Plata and Bill Lee notched singles for St. Michael's Saturday night. Ken Wharram punched home two for Galt and Ed Kawalachuk scored the other.

Parker MacDonald, Wally Maxwell, Eric Bendo, Tom McCarthy and Bill Harris each scored once in the Marlboro shutout.

In the Windsor win Bobby Brown tallied twice and Marlin McAlendin added the third.

SCORE TWO GOALS

Gary Collins and Graham Joyce each scored two for Kitchener Sunday. Ivan Tennant and Buddy Horne accounted for the others. Jim Logan and Paul Knox scored the St. Michael's goals.

Marlboro goals Sunday were by Dave Reid, Tom McCarthy, Louis Bendo and Nesterenko. Ed Sleaver, Jim McBurney and Hillary Menard were Galt marksmen.

Michel Labadie scored three for Quebec Saturday. Ray Cyr, Camille Henri, Bertrand Lepage and Maurice Collins brought the total to seven. Claude Beaupre, Ken Naylor, Rodeck and Brian McCann counted for the Royals.

Henri and Labadie each notched two in the Sunday game. Others for Citadelles were fired by Roland Leclerc, Jean-Guy Gignac and Gabby Alain. Ovila Gagnon, Bowman and Bob Laforest scored Sunday goals for Royals.

Lindsay Edges Kingston 4-3

KINGSTON— Lindsay Warriors ousted Kingston Vics from the third rung on the OHA Junior "B" group ladder when they edged the locals 4-3 here Saturday night. It was a tensely-waged duel with neither team holding more than a one-goal advantage at any time but the visitors staged a strong finish and got three of the four goals in the final period.

Penalties served by the locals opened the defensive gates that enabled the Warriors to score two vital counters early in the last session. Truax scored 13 seconds after the final period began and 52 seconds later Hutton, aided by O'Neill and Truax, gave the visitors a one-goal lead.

With the team at full strength Vics became the aggressors but goalkeeper Truax stopped everything that came his way until Bob Vallier, with Don Senior and Reid assisting, forced another deadlock at 10:17. The break came four minutes after Vallier had placed the teams on even terms when McGill beat Bob Senior after Graham had engineered a tricky attack. Vics responded by forcing the issue but the wary Warriors hung on grimly and skated away with their second consecutive away from home victory.

Nesterenko Gives Leafs 3-0 Win Thanks To Goals

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

A 19-year-old Toronto collegiate student named Eric Nesterenko practically wrapped up the victory single-handed as Toronto Maple Leafs blanked Boston Bruins 3-0 in a National Hockey League game Saturday night. The rookie forward, playing his second game in Leaf livery, scored two goals and set up the third for his linemate Gord Hannigan. The 180-pound Nesterenko plays most of his hockey with Toronto Marlboros of the Ontario Hockey Association Junior A series, a Leaf farm club. He played with Leafs last Wednesday when they shut out Montreal Canadiens 2-0.

Under the three-game lend-lease arrangement which the NHL has with amateur clubs, Nesterenko will play one more game with the Leafs.

Back in action Sunday afternoon, he scored a goal as Marlboros registered a 4-3 victory over Galt Black Hawks.

The almost-forgotten man in the last two Leaf games, both shutouts, was goalie Harry Lumley, who scored his third shutout of the season.

Detroit Red Wings also called on help from the minors during the week-end as they stretched first-place lead to five points with a 2-2 tie in Montreal Saturday and a 7-1 win over Boston in Detroit Sunday.

Glen Hall of Edmonton Flyers of the Western Hockey League replaced the injured Terry Sawchuk in the Detroit net for both games and contributed largely to the Saturday tie by handling 29 shots while Gerry McNeil of Montreal only stopped 15. Detroit also used Marcel Bonin of St. Louis Flyers of the American Hockey League and Jim Hay from Edmonton in both games.

Second place changed hands twice during the week-end. Montreal moved one up on Chicago Black Hawks Saturday, but the Hawks took over Sunday with a 6-3 win from the tail-end New York Rangers in a bruising game.

In the Detroit-Montreal game, Glen Skov and Red Sinclair scored for Detroit. Doug Harvey and Bernie (Boom Boom) Geoffrion notched Canadien goals.

SCORING SPREE

The Red Wings went on a small scoring spree Sunday. Gordie Howe Ted Lindsay and Marty Pavelich rammed home two goals each and Red Kelly notched the other. Howe increased his lead in the scoring race to five points during the week-end. He now has 41. Pentti Lund spoiled the shutout for rookie Glen Hall.

At New York Jimmy Peters scored twice in the Chicago win. George Gee, Scotty Bodnar, Fred Hucul and Gerry Couture added others. Nick Mickoski, Wally Hergesheimer and Neil Strain scored for Rangers.

No games are scheduled tonight.

DeSpirito Gets Three Winners

HAVANA (AP)—Tony DeSpirito booted home three winners Sunday at Oriental Park race track to boost his total riding victories for 1952 to 381 and leave him eight short of a world record.

The 18-year-old Lawrence, Mass., apprentice jockey now returns to Tropical Park, Miami, where he has three more days in which to equal or break the record of 388 winners in a year. The mark was set by Walter Miller in 1906 and equalled in 1950 by Willie Shoemaker and Joe Culmone. The latter also rode in Havana in an effort to break the long-standing mark.

DeSpirito took the opening race aboard Mebob in a 5½-furlong sprint. His other winners were with Khayyams Kid in the fourth race, and Ahenry in the sixth.

At Miami Saturday, DeSpirito rode two winners on the nine-race program at Tropical Park.

FIT FOR A KING—Beaming royally over his culinary triumph, Sweden's Crown Prince Gustav Adolph exhibits a gingerbread man which he fashioned with only a little assistance from his sister, Princess Christina. The royal baker spread more flour over himself and the king's kitchens than he managed to introduce into the gingerbread dough, but cookie connoisseurs claim the confection was a princely treat.

Ship Safely In Harbor After 10-Day Battering

VANCOUVER (CP)—The men who were tossed about like "peas in a drum" came home Saturday after 10 tempestuous days on the Pacific.

The 10,000-ton freighter Maplecove was towed into this port by the deep-sea tug Island Sovereign.

Both had been slammed by savage blows from the Pacific ocean as the Canadian Pacific freighter struggled homeward with a damaged rudder.

The freighter carried a crew of 62. Fifteen men were aboard the tug.

It was a 1,200-mile gale-swept voyage for the freighter and, said crew members, a "nightmare" for the tug.

For five days the tug made little headway against 65-mile-an-hour winds, and waves 40-feet high.

"It was the worst experience I ever had," said Capt. Arthur Warren of the Island Sovereign.

"It was just about impossible to eat, sleep or rest.

"We had three meals, and I haven't closed my eyes for 48 hours."

Capt. R. A. Leicester of the Maplecove said he had only one anxious day—Dec. 18 when the rudder trouble developed

"We had been in gales ever since we left Yokohama for Vancouver and were actually hove to with just a bit of speed on when the steering went."

The crew rigged up a "jury rig" made of a wooden ladder, hatch covers and an iron grating, but it was not a success.

Canadians Buy More Insurance

By FORBES RHUDE
Canadian Press Business Editor

Candians took out more than $2,250,000,000 worth of life insurance this year.

With this 12-month addition, they now carry nearly $19,000,000,000 worth of insurance, or more than twice what they carried at the end of 1944.

During the year they were paid nearly $250,000,000 from their policies, of which about $150,000,000 was paid to living policy holders and the remainder in death claims.

The figures are from the year-end statement of Alfred S. Upton, of Waterloo, Ont., president of the Canadian Life Insurance Officers Association.

SIGNIFICANT RISE

Mr. Upton notes that the interest rate on investments of insurance companies "has risen significantly." The average rate earned during the past year is estimated at near four per cent, compared with a low of 3.54 per cent in 1948.

Commenting on the lengthened life span of recent years, Mr. Upton says that babies born today may be expected, on an average, to live to 68, compared with 47 for those born 50 yers ago. Girl babies may expect an average age of 70, and boy babies 65. Fifty years ago the expectancy was 48 for women and 46 for men.

In another year-end statement, Gordon Mann, general manager, American Can Company, Hamilton, sees "generally improving business conditions in Canada" and a "healthy increase" in the sale of metal and fibre containers.

He says the expected container sales increase "is a good indication of the prospects for the economy generally for 1953, since container manufacturing and the packing and distribution of packaged products touch a major part of the country's industries in one way or another."

Poles Amalgamate With RCAF Association

OTTAWA (CP)—The Polish Air Force Association in Canada has amalgamated with the Royal Canadian Air Force Association, the RCAFA announced Sunday.

The Polish group, headed by Group Capt. S. Olszweski of Dunnville, Ont., was originally formed as a branch of the Royal Air Force Association. It has more than 400 members.

The move will mean formation of new RCAFA wings in Toronto, Hamilton, Oshawa and Montreal.

5,000 Observers Help Make Annual Yule Bird Count

WASHINGTON (CP)—From Florida's Everglades northward to points in Canada and Alaska, more than 5,000 observers are out this month for the National Audubon Society's annual Christmas bird count.

For 51 years, bird lovers have been ranging swampland, prairie and forest around Christmas time to make a census of birds for the society. Reports were sent in last year from 16 Canadian areas.

Purpose of the study is to obtain information on the distribution of the various species and their abundance in the early winter period. The results are published by the society each April and officials say they enable authorities to plan the work of protection and conservation.

WATCH FOR OWL

Editor Kenneth Morrison of Audubon Magazine says this year observers in the United States will be keeping a sharp watch for the snowy owl, an invader from Canada's north.

Every few years the snowy owl roams far south of his normal habitat because of game shortages. Next year will probably be the peak of the current cycle.

The observers, who may pick any date from Dec. 20 to Dec. 28, go out in parties which may number from two to more than 60. They patrol an area 15 miles in diameter and report on the birds they sight. The society will accept no reports covering a period of less than seven hours and prefers a dawn-to-dusk count.

More than 5,100 observers made last year's census. They included 331 Canadians who carried out their count at scattered points from Ottawa to Yorkton, Sask

Canadian reports were submitted from Montreal and Quebec; from the Ontario centres of Barrie, Blenheim, Hamilton, Kingston, London, North Bay, Ottawa, Pickering township near Oshawa, Point Pelee, Port Arthur and Fort William, St Thomas, Toronto and West Elgin; and from Yorkton.

FLOOD CITY RINKS

Park Department employees started today to flood the city's free skating and hockey rinks. At present, children in the city who are skating are doing it on the canal or on backyard rinks.

CONDITION CRITICAL

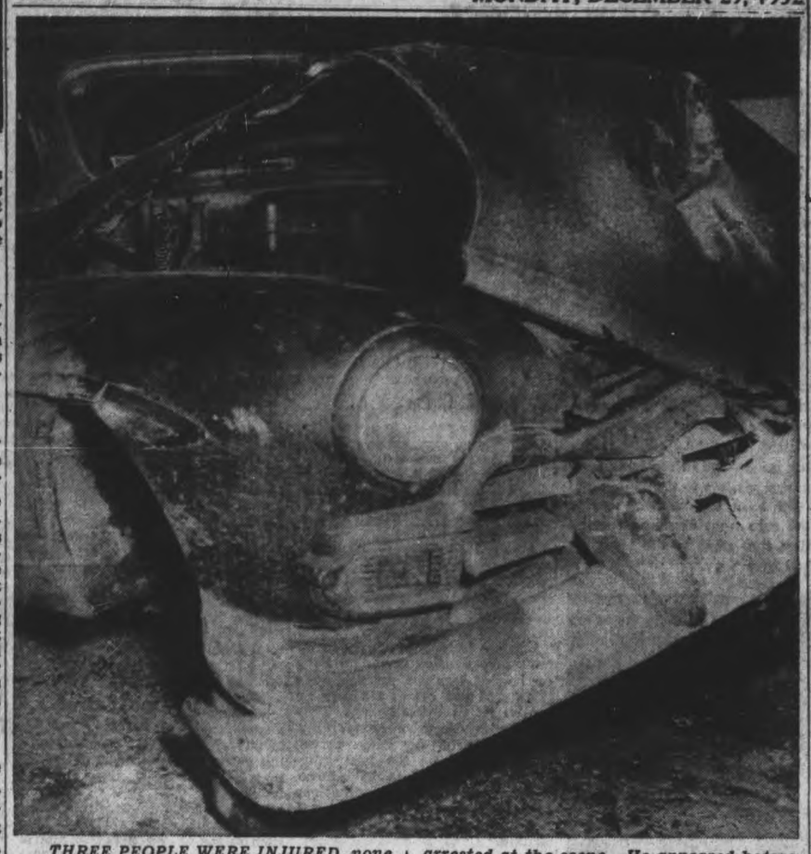
At press time today, Henry Corbin, 36, of 956 Western Avenue, injured Christmas Eve when struck by a hit-run motorist, was reported to be still in critical condition at Civic Hospital.

CLOTHES BURNED

A smouldering fire in a downstairs bedroom closet at the home of Geo. Hildenbrand, 565 Armour Rd., was discovered shortly before 1 p.m. today. A pair of pants belonging to Bob Hildenbrand, his son, and a shirt and a pair of rubber boots were damaged. The hardwood flooring in the closet was scorched. Mr. and Mrs. Hildenbrand had noticed a strong smell of smoke but at first put it down to the smell of their wood fire burning in the fireplace. Later it was found that the upstairs was thick with smoke that had filtered through the cupboard ceiling.

FIVE CHIMNEY FIRES

City firemen had to put out five chimney fires over the weekend. Three of them required handpumps to do the job. The most serious was at the home of E. Frank Lustic of 22 Park Street North, where there was both a chimney fire and overheated pipes. One pump was used. On Saturday two handpumps were needed to put out one at 711 Elcome Crescent, the home of Lloyd Blewett. A third chimney fire requiring an extinguisher was also on Saturday at the home of F. James Frape, 33 Armour Road.



THREE PEOPLE WERE INJURED, none seriously, as two cars collided at Charlotte and Reid Sts., shortly before 7 a.m. today. The driver of the above car, Gordon Newmarch, 20, 121 Brookside Dr., Toronto, was arrested at the scene. He appeared before Magistrate E. A. Gee in police court this morning, charged with careless driving and failing to stop for a stop sign. Newmarch was remanded a week on bail of $500.—(Examiner Staff Photo)

Crews Still Seek Trainman's Body

SOUTHWOOD (CP) — Wrecking crews today struggled to lift the main portion of a steam locomotive to find the body of Jacques Francois Lane, 19-year-old Canadian National Railways brakeman.

A wrecking crane earlier dismantled parts of the two locomotives that collided head-on Dec. 23 about 100 miles northwest of Toronto. Lane was one of five crew members killed in the accident. The other four bodies have been recovered.

The collision ripped up five lengths of track and closed the line for three days. Some 1,600 gallons of oil from the second wrecked freight train, a diesel, burst into flame and burned for hours.

Lane, whose father is a CNR roadmaster at Capreol, was headend brakeman on one of the freights.

Boy Breaks Both Arms In Fall From Tree

Paul Corp, 12, 780 Brown St., fell from a tree while playing with a group of boys near his home Sunday afternoon and fractured both arms.

Paul, who is the son of Mr. and Mrs. J. Corp, was able to get home by himself and was then taken to Civic Hospital for treatment.

His condition is described as satisfactory today.

Festival Of St. John The Evangelist Celebrated By Three Masonic Lodges

Members of the Masonic Craft on Saturday celebrated the Festival of St. John the Evangelist for the first time in the new Masonic Temple. As in other years the celebration of the festival was preceded by the installation of the officers of Corinthian Lodge No. 101 and Peterborough Lodge No. 155. The officers of the third lodge, Royal Arthur No. 523, were installed earlier in the month.

W. Bro. Fred Parsons of Corinthian Lodge was the installing master and he was assisted by the group of past masters from the two lodges. Milton N. Clysdale and Leonard H. Bearne were installed as masters of their respective lodges Corinthian and Peterborough.

Following the installation a past master's jewel was presented to W. Bro. Alex C. Ellis, on behalf of Peterborough Lodge, by W. Bro. B. Duder the retiring master.

The festival was observed in the dining room of the temple with R.W. Bro. Cleeve Hooper, a past master of University Lodge, Toronto and a past district deputy grand master of Toronto District D, as speaker. W. Bro. Ellis presided and during the program Bro. Adam Hawley delighted his audience in his solo numbers of I Love Life, Without A Song and Take Now This Rose. He was accompanied by Bro. Robert Johnson.

R.W. Bro. Hooper discussed masonic education and stressed that masonry builds its temple in the hearts of men and among nations. He mentioned that the masonic installation ceremony which had just been witnessed was not as old as the order, but was comparatively new, dating back to the first ceremony performed in the Grand Lodge of England in 1828. It is the desire of masonry to make genuine masons but unfortunately, there are some who join the craft, who fail to absorb the teachings of masonry. They are irregular in their attendance and miss much of the teachings of masonry. In every lecture, and in every address, there are many teachings that encourage the mason who desires to learn, to progress and live a better life to go our and seek much more masonic knowledge.

The speaker described masonry as presenting a challenge to its members in their way of life just as Mount Everest presents a challenge to the climber who attempts to scale its peaks. That challenge is to exemplify in the lives of masons the true masonic teachings. He urged a study of the Volume of the Sacred Law the central feature of all masonic lodges and a daily reading of this book. "It is the guide book of our living and the treasury of our life." He recommended a daily advancement in masonic knowledge and through the example set by masons they will create a better understanding in the hearts of men.

The toast to The Absent Brethren was proposed by W. Bro. Donald Crawford and was responded to with a minute of silence and the readings of the names of the members of the three lodges who died during the year. R.W. Bro. R. F. Downey proposed the toast to the visitors and this was responded to by Bro. Paddy Duder, a member of Tuscan Lodge, St. Johns, Newfoundland. W. Bro. R. G. Maniece, immediate past master of Royal Arthur lodge, introduced the three new ruling masters, W. Bros. Clysdale, Bearne and Hugh M. Niven of Royal Arthur. Bro. James Ridyard projosed the toast to Grand Lodge and this was replied to by R.W. Bro. Ross L. Dobbin who also introduced the guest speaker. W. Bro. Duder expressed the thanks to the speaker and made a presentation to him.

The newly installed officers are:

Wolfless Hunt Disappoints 30

Members of the Peterborough Fish and Game Association, together with hunters from Warsaw, teamed up on Saturday for a wolf hunt in Dummer township. There were about 30 men in all in the sweep. Although they tramped a considerable territory from the Third to Seventh Lines, they saw no signs of the predators.

After some hot coffee—and hunt master Norman Bradley said they needed it—the whole group moved to Cox's Swamp east of Lakefield and worked north to Clear Lake. They had no luck in that area either and finished about 2.30 p.m., more than six hours after they started.

Mr. Bradley said that they chose these areas because three wolves had been shot there by Warsaw men last week.

A second large hunt is being planned for this coming Saturday and it is hoped that several Toronto hunters will take part.

Begin Work on Diesels

KINGSTON (CP)—The Canadian Locomotive Company here has begun construction of 10 diesel electric locomotives for the Canadian Pacific Railway, an official of the locomotive company said today. He said the order for the 1,600-horsepower engines is valued at $1,200,000.

Five Centres Hold Nominations

Interest Focuses On Smith Twp. Annexation Wrangle

The remaining five municipalities in Peterborough county that have not had elections will hold their nomination meetings today. They are the townships of Smith, Douro Ennismore and Asphodel and the village of Norwood.

Chief interest focuses on the nomination meeting in Smith where a peculiar problem has arisen. The Ontario Municipal Board have approved the annexation of 1,256 acres of the township for housing development. Though the Board's order is effective Jan. 1, the nomination meeting (today) precedes that date so the eligible electors can again vote in the Smith elections.

Moreover electors in the annexed area may stand for office in the 1953 Smith council.

"Theoretically it's possible for the reeve, deputy-reeve and three councillors for 1953 all to come from the annexed area," said A. I. Edmison, township clerk. "It could be an interesting situation".

MANY DISPLEASED

Many of the residents in the annexed area are still displeased about the annexation and the part played in it by the 1952 council; so it promises to be a lively nomination meeting.

Reeve Gordon Fitzgerald has not indicated whether or not he will stand for election this year.

The Smith nomination meeting is from 1 p.m. to 2 p.m. today at the county courthouse; Asphodel's from 1 p.m. to 2 p.m. at the Community Hall, Westwood; Douro's 1 p.m. to 2 p.m. in the township hall; Ennismore's from 1 p.m. to 2 p.m. in the Ennismore township hall; and Norwood's from 7:30 p.m. to 8:30 p.m. in the village hall.

Name J. Cooke 1952 Executive

TORONTO (CP) — Jack Kent Cooke, owner of the Toronto Maple Leafs baseball club, Sunday was named minor league executive of the year by the Sporting News, a baseball periodical.

Selection of the 39-year-old Cooke who bought the Leafs July 4, 1951, was based on the fact that during the last season he gave Toronto a first-division club for the first time in seven years, and set an all-time Toronto attendance mark of 469,000.

Last month Cooke was asked to address the minor leagues' convention in Phoenix, Ariz., on methods of increasing attendance Cooke's methods of the last season included new-car giveaways and vaudeville stunts on the ball field.

The Leaf attendance last season was ahead of the pennant-winning Montreal Royals, who drew slightly more than 300,000.

Big Task

STELLENBOSCH, South Africa (CP)—There are about 500 different tongues in Bantu Africa, but the Bible is available in only 170 of them, and only portions of the Bible at that, says Professor G. B. A. Gerdener of the theological seminary in this Cape Province town.

Geese Grounded

Still retaining a sense of humor in the face of dropping fowl prices, a poultry farmer on the market Saturday had a ready answer for a reporter who was asking for market prices. "How are the geese going?" queried the reporter. "They are not flying," was the wry reply; his way of commenting on the fact that dressed geese have been slow sellers throughout the holiday season.

Piece Of Toast Half-Strangles Seven-Year-Old

A bite of toast that lodged in his windpipe nearly suffocated seven-yearold Paul MacPherson of 502 Bonaccord St., Saturday night. He went blue in the face and the inhalator had to be used on him for 20 minutes.

Paul, son of R. M. MacPherson, city sanitary inspector and Mrs. Hilda MacPherson, was eating his supper with the family Saturday when the accident occurred.

"He had some cereal and was eating some toast when suddenly he began to go blue in the face," said Mrs. MacPherson. "Even his eyelids turned blue; he couldn't get his breath."

GOT INHALATOR

"The first thing I thought of was to get an inhalator for him, so I propped him up with some pillows and we phoned the fire department."

An inhalator team under Captain Bill Sorrie answered the call and worked on Paul for 20 minutes until the food dissolved and he could breathe freely once more. They were directed by Dr. J. A. McNeill.

Paul at no time lost consciousness.

"He's fine today," said Mrs. MacPherson. "Just coughing a bit."

4 Men Resign In Oil Dispute

TEHRAN (AP) — Parliament's four representatives on the seven-man supreme council of the Iranian National Oil Company have resigned following a bitter dispute over management appointments to the big, inoperative Abadan refinery.

It was learned Sunday that three legislators—Ali Shayegan, Kazen Hassibi and Karim Sanjabi—had quit. Their resignations followed that of Hussein Maki, secretary-general of Premier Mohammed Mossadegh's Nationalist party, on Dec. 24.

Maki walked out in protest against the appointment of Dr. Reze Falah as director of the Abadan plant, charging he was a "servant of the British."

Maki's refusal to abide by a majority vote of the council was reported to have resulted in the other three resignations.

Chinese Communists Stage Heavy Attack

SEOUL (AP) — Chinese Communists hurled their heaviest attack in two weeks against embattled Sniper ridge last night, but the massed fire of dug-in Allied infantrymen drove them back.

The crack of rifle and machinegun fire echoed across the frozen Kumhwa ridges on the central front for five hours in the frigid pre-dawn darkness.

The Reds first attacked with two platoons, then built up to company strength — almost 200 men. The Chinese lost an estimated 42 men in their abortive assault on a spur of Sniper ridge known as Rocky point.

Only brief and isolated fights were reported elsewhere along the front.

Three Passengers Injured Driver Of One Car Faces Two Traffic Charges

Toronto Man Charged In Court With Carless Driving, Failing To Stop For Stop Sign

Two charges have been laid against Gordon Newmarch, 20, 121 Brookside Dr., Toronto, as the result of a two-car collision at Charlotte and Reid Sts., shortly before 7 a.m. today in which three people were injured. Newmarch is charged with careless driving and failing to stop for a stop sign. He appeared before Magistrate E. A. Gee in police court and was remanded a week on bail of $500.

The injured are: Mrs. Ida Hutt, 47, Lakefield, Roy McCaul, 49, RR 4 Peterborough and Arthur Roberts, 17, 692 Stewart St. They were passengers in a car travelling west on Charlotte St., driven by Clarence Farrow, 43, of Lakefield, who was not injured.

OUT PATIENT TREATMENT

McCaul was given out patient treatment at Civic Hospital for cuts on his right hand. Arthur Roberts was admitted for a bad cut on the palm of his hand.

Mrs. Hutt is being X-rayed for undetermined injuries, but it is not believed that her injuries are serious.

According to police, the car Newmarch was driving was travelling south on Reid St.

A skid mark extending 69 feet north on Reid St., was found, leading from the point of impact which was approximately in the centre of the intersection.

Newmarch and two passengers in the car he was driving—Ralph Dolan, 33 St. Patrick St., Lindsay and Phillip Boyle of Marmora were not injured.

An estimated $500 damage resulted to the front end of the Newmarch car. Approximately $300 damage was done to the right side of the Farrow car.

Constables J. P. Gillis and Arthur Beardsmore investigated. The injured were taken to hospital by Nisbett's ambulance.

District Pastor Dies At Oshawa

A former minister of Marmora United Church, Dr. W. P. Fletcher of Oshawa, died Sunday in hospital as the result of a heart attack.

Dr. Fletcher was born in Ontario county. He was a graduate of Queen's University, Kingston, and began his ministry in Orono Christian Church in 1893. Four years later he served in the same capacity for the Christian Church of America and worked in nearly every state in the union. It was during this time that he obtained his doctor's degree.

Radio Heroes Last For Years In Children's Melodramas

By JIM ENGLISH

Durable heroes such as last for years on the children's mayhem and slaughter radio shows are not my cup of tea, nor my bowl of Krunchies.

Not long ago I tuned into Giggle McGee, the laughing detective, who was in a pretty perilous spot. Giggles, according to the announcer, had been in some tough ones before, but never anything that matched this.

To review briefly, the laughing detective had been pursuing a band of 17 desperate thieves who had just stolen the bottom three storeys of the Empire Sate Building.

These villains were now trying to pawn the section of the building in Texas. As they haggled with a pawnbroker over the price, in walked Giggles. In stirring tones he announced that at last he'd caught them and now he was going to make them pay for their crime.

Well sir, they ducked out the back door and it took Giggles, who was baffled by their footwork, about three programs to catch up with them in a lonely canyon.

TORRID ACTION

This is where I came in. Giggles, chuckling as he fired, had loosed 17 shots from his 10-shot carbine before he realized it needed reloading. Then, in language befitting a cornered hero, he declaimed.

"Golly whiz, I've forgotten my cartridges."

So, making a valiant retreat, he hid behind a large pile of rocks and sat down.

The 17 gunmen who had stolen a vital part of the Empire State Building surrounded him. He looked at what he was siting on and realized it was a clutch of rattlesnake eggs. If he moved, he got shot; if he sat too long on the eggs they'd hatch out and the deadly little rattlesnake tads would shoot him as full of poison as a full bottle of strychnine.

It was a nasty situation. I wrote Giggles off as one of the poor radio heroes who gets killed off, figuring it was just a short serial. But, six weeks later, I tuned in again at the same time, same station, and there was Giggles, just shooting the seventeenth gunman. Never did find out what happened to the rattlesnake eggs.

This cliff-hanger sort of melodrama must be tough on the kiddies. Remember, Giggles McGee isn't the only program they listen to. Yarns about space pilots, cowboys and supermen plug the radio waves in the late afternoon and early evening. Every hero gets into a rugged spot once a week, at the very least.

IMMORTAL

The most bothersome quality of these frequency-modulated heroes is their immortality. They never grow older, they grow younger once in a while by the use of flashbacks, and they can't be killed at all.

In fact, they live as long as their sponsor loves them, and sometimes other sponsors woo them when their first commercial love is fading. The writers are expendable; they must hew to the story line or out they go.

And so, with this essay, I plump strongly for the disposable, or mortal, hero. It's a faint hope, but this is what I'd like to hear:

The program fades in with the theme "Sagebrush in December". The theme fades out and Smiley Larkin, your favorite announcer, oozes out the happy words of his commercial before Melonhead Mullins, that daring, two-gunned, quick-drawing, two fisted, melonheaded cowpoke is back on the air for another 15 minutes—less commercials—over your own radio station. Here we go.

Smiley: "Well podnuhs, before we find out how your old pal Melonhead made out with Banker Pennysnitch when that nasty old banker was tryin' to foreclose on pore ol' Widder Bumpkin, I wanta tell yuh about Drenchies.

ATTRACTIVE QUALITIES

"Yessir, Drenchies — spelled D-R-E-N-C-H-I-E-S — are made from pure, clean oilcloth. Never quite crisp, never real soggy.

"Just pour a big ol' mess of naphtha gas over your Drenchies and set em out where yore ol'd grandma who can't hardly see is havin' her breakfast. How she'll snap and crackle and pop when you set a match to them!

"Yore maw'll say she never saw anything like Drenchies or yore ol' grandma either.

"But here's our honest-to goodness special offer for this month! Just you send in three ol' boxtops off'n yore Drenchies, along with $13.75, and I'll tell you what you'll get:

"For that little bit of cash and those boxtops, we'll send you absolutely free and postpaid, an opium pipe, two hypodermic needles and the name of the dope peddler who lives in your neighborhood.

"It ain't gonna last long, podnuhs, because the FBI's after us, but if you hurry, you'll git one of the finest ol' jags you ever had.

"And now....back to Melonhead Mullins, the toughest cowpoke in the west. You all remember how Melonhead was talkin' to ol' Banker Pennysnitch and tellin' him . . ."

Melonhead: "Yuh gotta give Widder Bumpkin more time, Banker Pennysnitch, yo' varmint yo'. Why she ain't hardly had time to draw breath since the last payment".

Pennysnitch (interrupting): "Looky here, Mullins, I ain't a-goin' to take nothin' from no cowpoke. You don't know nothin' about fi-nance. Now git back out on that range and poke three-four cows and don't come back here no more.

"I'm a-goin' to give you three minutes to git, and if'n yuh don't, I'm a-goin't to shoot yuh and yuh're a-goin' to die."

THE END

At this point there are three golden minutes of silence. Then Banker Pennysnitch speaks again, in his harsh, rasping voice.

Pennysnitch: "Still here, eh Mullins? Well.. take that! Boom! Boom! Boom!"

Theme fades in and out quickly, and Smiley Larkin is with us again, curse the luck.

Smiley: "Tune in again next week, podnuhs, and listen to the first instalment of Fightin' Sam Pennysnitch, the Fearless Forecloser.

"But don't forget Drenchies — spelled D-R-E-N-C-H-I-E-S — never crisp, never soggy. You can't chew 'em, but they're sure a mouthful."

Charge Court Interfering With Elizabeth

LONDON (CP) — The Sunday newspaper, the People, said Queen Elizabeth's private life is being invaded by public officials who are fervently hoping she won't have another baby for at least two years.

The mass-circulation pro-labor newspaper said "Commonwealth officials are fervently hoping there will be no little brother or sister for Prince Charles and Princess Anne before 1955. Otherwise they see a prospect of the royal tour of Australia and New Zealand being once again interrupted.

"This is a preposterous position for the young queen, who may well desire to add to her family."

GROWING CONFLICT

The newspaper says the public should be made aware of "the conflict that is rapidly building up between the Queen and the court circle."

Efforts of the Queen and the Duke of Edinburgh to modernize the public and private life of royalty were frustrated by court officials.

"They seem determined to make them accept the out-of-date conventions that have surrounded the monarchy for so long. They want to continue the old-fashioned system of engagements planned months in advance and carried out with strict adherence to court rules."

Teeth Fillings Cause Shocks

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Electric shocks from fillings in your teeth may cause pain and disease of the mouth, the American Association for the Advancement of Science was told Sunday.

Even a single metal filling can set up an electric current, sometimes of surprising strength, said Dr. William Schriever, professor of physics at the University of Oklahoma, Norman, Okla.

His new study of shocking teeth included exact measurements of the tiny currents, using special equipment.

A single filling of gold or silver amalgam can become a tiny battery or electric cell through contact with saliva and with fluids in the bones, he said. The saliva and bone fluid are electrolytes, and the metal filling acts like a wire between two electrolytes.

Pioneer Station Agent

STREETSVILLE (CP)—George Edgar Lorimer, 95, a pioneer station agent with the Canadian Pacific Railway in the Canadian West, died Sunday. He came to Streetsville two weeks ago from Burford, 10 miles west of Brantford.

CREW MEMBERS of the Coast Guard icebreaker Eastwind build igloos while "aground" near Baffin Bay.

Baffling Business in Baffin Land

CREWMEN of the U.S. Coast Guard icebreaker Eastwind and natives of Baffin Island had a wonderful time when the huge ship made the earliest trip ever to be effected, to Davis Bay and Baffin Bay, last May. The Eastwind, engaged in a special hydrographic mission, was finally grounded in ice 10 feet thick, some 25 miles from Baffin Island, near Cape Christian in the Canadian Northwest Territories. While oceanographers completed their search for information via dogsled, the remainder of the Eastwind's crew whiled away the time by building igloos, and introducing their native visitors to the delights of food from the "south," and to the rare treat of sound movies, first that some of the islanders had ever seen.

THEIR FIRST EXPERIENCE of sound movies delights Baffin Islanders.

Airlines See Bigger Business In '53

MONTREAL (CP) — Canadian aviation, with a successful and profitable 1952, enters 1953 confident of even bigger business.

Since the year ahead is coronation year, thousands of Canadians will be flying to Britain. But even without that impetus, airline business is expected to be in the boom category.

British Overseas Airways Corporation already has plans for substantially increasing the number of its Montreal-London flights. Its Stratocruisers and Constellations will be joined by Canadian-built Argonauts which have been flying on Far East runs.

KLM Royal Dutch Airlines, recalling when one flight a week was big business, now finds scarcely a day goes by without a KLM passenger or freight plane making the direct flight from Montreal to Amsterdam.

GROWING MARKET

Air France is also finding a growing market in Canada, and the two U.S. lines running into Montreal—Colonial and Northeast—look forward to an even better year over their record 1952.

Candian lines are already in the thick of expansion Canadian Pacific hopped into the jet age when it ordered two comet airliners for use on its vast Pacific run. They will be in operation next spring.

Trans-Canada Air Lines served notice it will be the first international air service to place turboprop planes on North American runs when it announced the purchase of 5 Vickers Viscounts from Britain.

Arsenal For NATO Growing At "Rhine Military Post"

KAISERSLAUTERN, Germany (AP) — A might arsenal for the North Atlantic Treaty Organization is rising in this region just west of the Rhine line. When it is completed next summer it will be the largest military post in the world.

At present it goes by the prosaic name of Rhine Military Post.

Actually, it will be the great supply and storage area for NATO troops. It's an open secret its ultimate aim is to become the chief bastion for Europe's allied defenders.

This enterprise will cost about 1,000,000,000 Deutsche marks, and its supporting elements spread through six sub-posts.

The area is admirably suited for defensive war. Behind Rhine Military Post on the west is a mountain range. Ahead, about 25 miles away at the nearest point, is the Rhine line.

Bisecting the area are three centuries - old invasion routes. Caesar's legionairies camped here. Napoleon's old guard tramped this way to the east. Adolf Hitler built his Siegfried Line not far east from here.

The NATO arsenal is not the only huge military project under way in the Rhine line region.

North in the direction of Trier a Rhineland fortress is being thrown up between the Rhine, Saar and Mosel rivers. Cost of the total defence construction is secret, but officers here say this heartland fortress is admirably suited to their needs.

They have built new rail lines, stepping up sharply the flow of electrical power from Cologne, laying new water lines and throwing up solid brick - steel - and - mortar buildings.

Much of the work is still classified and cannot be released, but such things as the largest medical supply depot in the world, hospitals which will house 1,000 and 500 beds, houses totalling 6,000 living units can be told.

Construction began in 1951. Since that date the Rhineland Palatinate has become one vast boom town.

Four big jet fields are already in operation. Not far off is the headquarters of the U.S. Second Armored Division and a French ground division to give a heavy hand in ground defence. Smaller liaison fields are scattered strategically over the area.

Work is done by 250 German contractors who employ 40,000 workmen. Office workers who have access to classified documents are carefully selected and thoroughly screened.

Unless war comes, the Germans can't lose. Although much of the money comes from occupation costs paid by the Germans, all the installations some day will be returned to West Germany.

Canadians On Guard In 3 Continents

OTTAWA (CP)—The Canadian Army in 1952 stood guard on three continents, fought sporadically on one of them and prepared to build the largest camp it has ever had in Canada. The latter, a $25,000,000 base in New Brunswick, eventually may be big enough to handle the manoeuvres of a full division.

Looking back on the 12 months, army headquarters today listed as highlights 10 events ranging from the fighting on Little Gibraltar Hill in Korea to adoption of the 52-ton British Centurion tanks.

Heavy discharges of veterans of Korea kept manpower totals from increasing markedly. In January the Army had roughly 45,000 men; in December about 48,000.

Throughout the year, the Army maintained a brigade in Korea, another in Germany and a third at home, plus a couple of reinforcement formations roughly equal to two additional brigades.

THE ARMY LIST

In listing the year's 10 big events the Army didn't mention the biggest explosion of all at home, the Currie report. This document, with its description of a "general breakdown" in the system of administration, supervision and accounting of the Army Works Service provoked Parliament's stormiest debates of the year, now awaiting renewal when Parliament reconvenes Jan. 12.

These were the events the Army listed:

1. Sporadic action by the 25th infantry brigade group in Korea while peace talks dragged on. The climax came in October when a fierce engagement was fought atop the battle-scarred peak of "Little Gibraltar" by troops of the 2nd battalion, Royal Canadian Regiment. One company of the unit, aided by armor and artillery, fought the Communists to a standstill in a see-saw battle to take the hill.

2. The 27th infantry brigade group, under rigid training and discipline in Europe, became fully trained as part of NATO defence forces.

3. At home and abroad, the largest troop movement since the Second World War was under way. Some 38,000 soldiers were on the move in 1952 by land, sea and air.

NEW MILITARY COLLEGE

4. Educational facilities for the services' future officers were expanded with opening of le College Militaire Royal de Saint-Jean, St. Johns, Que., by Governor-General Vincent Massey. Introduction of a regular officer training plan also opened up increased avenues of educational advancement for potential officers.

5. To meet the increasing need for tradesmen and specialists, an apprentice-soldier plan was announced under which boys 16 years of age will be recruited for training in special trades.

6. Looking northward, the Army staged exercise "Eager Beaver" 1,000 miles north of Edmonton on the shores of Kluane Lake, the largest joint U.S.-Canadian engineering job undertaken in the northland since the war. Army engineers bulldozed two giant airstrips over ice and frozen muskeg in sub-zero temperatures. In the eastern Arctic, operation "Sun Dog III" brought a joint Army-Air Force manoeuvre into Ungava Bay in northern Labrador.

INTERNATIONAL PARLEY

7. In an effort to advance standardization of weapons among NATO countries, the Army brought together top infantry leaders of the U.S., Britain and Canada in the first three-country infantry conference. Lt.-Gen. Simonds, chief of the general staff, called upon delegates at Quebec City to "think always of the infantry soldier and make more efficient his weapons and lighten his load." The Army also adopted the Centurion tank.

8. Canadian arms shipments to other NATO countries continued "in record quantities." Over a two-year period enough aid has been extended to equip three infantry divisions.

9. Plans to construct the Army's largest training camp in peacetime history were announced.

10. On the female side, the Army continued to build up the new reserve force CWAC organization. Members of the CWAC are training in clerical and other skilled trades at manning depots across Canada.

During the year, 132 soldiers distinguished themselves in action in Korea and received awards that included four Distinguished Service Orders; 19 Orders of the British Empire; two Distinguished Conduct Medals; three Military Crosses; seven Military Medals; four British Empire Medals, and 93 mentions in dispatches.

Say Reds Control Detroit Union

WASHINGTON (AP)—Congressional Red-hunters said Saturday that Communists control the United Auto Workers' (CIO) Local 6000 in Detroit.

The House of Representatives un-American activities committee so stated in its annual report, summarizing seven months of investigations in Michigan.

"Ways must be found to remove the Communists from their positions of control of this large local whose members play such an important role in America's defence," the committee said.

The congressmen said "great strides" have been made in prying Reds from the other auto locals, but warned that Communists formerly in white-collar jobs are slipping unnoticed into trade jobs in the auto industry.

Garage, Barn Burned

BRANTFORD (CP)—Loss was estimated at $5,000 in a blaze Sunday which destroyed a garage and a barn on the farm of B. M. Morgue, Brantford district. Most of the contents of the two buildings including 400 laying hens and tires valued at $1,000 were lost in the blaze.

TINY TUNES—Composer Fritz Kragel, of Munich, Germany, likes his music in small quantities. He creates tiny volumes of music scores, the pages of which are little larger than a postage stamp. Complete in every detail, the scores are inked in with the aid of a magnifying glass and a specially designed pen. Kragel, above, is putting the final touches to a score for violin. Below, a 20-page volume is placed between a German stamp and a centimeter rule, for comparison of size. Each page of the Lilliputian volumes is less than an inch in depth.

Psychologist Defends Mothers Not To Blame For Child's Ills

by ALTON L. BLAKESLEE

ST. LOUIS (AP)—A woman psychologist today lambasted the idea that "mom is to blame" for all of a child's troubles and ills.

Psychologists write a lot about childhood psychology, but practically nothing about the psychology of parents, she said.

Parenthood is just a developmental stage "between childhood and old age," said Dr. Jane Loevinger of Washington University, St. Louis, in an address to the American Association for the Advancement of Science.

TOO MUCH EMPHASIS

Dr. Loevinger cited five statements buttressing her argument that there is too much emphasis on a mother-blaming complex:

1. "Parenthood has never been recognized officially as a branch of psychology, nor as a normal developmental stage."

2. "Child psychology is one of the most intensively cultivated branches of psychology; the psychology of parents is virtually nonexistent." She quoted one psychoanalyst who says that "babies control and bring up their families as much as they are controlled by them."

3. "Research on parents has been concerned almost exclusively with their goodness as parents, as if to say that parents are of interest only for the sake of the child."

4. "In the study of mothers, there has been extraordinary pre-occupation with the concept of 'material rejection.'" But, she added, "almost every child believes at some time or other that what is wrong is that "mommy doesn't love me enough.'"

5. "Literature written by psychologists for parents emphasizes 'the rights of infants,' the obligation of mothers to satisfy their children's needs," but without telling the difference between the child's needs and rights.

Sixth Line School Concert

The annual Christmas Concert was held before a capacity audience in Sixth Line School under the direction of Mrs. Clifford Robinson, teacher.

Allan Davis welcomed the people. The concert opened with a Choral Recitation by Beverley Emery, Ralph Donaldson and Paul Donaldson.

Welcome recitation was given by Sylvia Robertson, followed by a dialogue, "The Sewing Society".

The children sang three choruses with Shirely and Donald Lang taking solo parts.

Dialogue, "Pulling Sam's Tooth", Melville Chamberlain being the patient. Seven girls dressed in long blue gowns with hats to match and carrying pink roses sang the Alice Blue Gown Drill. Ruth Davis taking the part of Alice. Others taking part in the drill were: Shirley Lang, Dora Edwards, Betty Heron, Rosemary Delong, John Renwich and Beverley Sutton. Mrs. G. Henderson and Jim Miller played numbers on violin and piano.

A one act play, "Wanted, A Housekeeper", was well acted by Donald Lang and Melville Chamberlain taking the part of bachelor farmers. A pantomine, "O Little Town of Bethlehem" was given by six girls. Shirley Lang sang while the following girls acted out the pantomine: Betty Heron, Rosemary Delong, Lynn Heron, Joan Renwick, Beverley Sutton and Joan Edwards. Folk song, "Old Folks At Home" by seven pupils, dressed as Negroes acted as they sang.

The sacred play, "No Room in the Inn", was much enjoyed by all. Walter Morrow, music teacher, accompanied the children at the piano.

Allan Davis remarked how well the children had been trained and Mrs. Robertson thanked the people briefly for their co-operation and attendance. Dianne Downer presented Mr. Morrow with a gift from the teacher and pupils in appreciation of his services in training the children to sing.

Santa arrived and distributed the gifts from a well-laden tree.

Find Histamine Trouble-Maker In Body Cells

By ALTON L. BLAKESLEE

ST. LOUIS (AP)—The bad boy of allergies, histamine, is being tracked down in new studies at Washington University medical school.

It's histamine that raises Cain when you breathe in pollens or eat foods or get anything else (allergens) that give you allergies. The pollen or other allergen damages some body cells. The damage lets histamine escape from its prison within those cells to cause the sneezes, swellings, hives, or other troubles of allergies. Allergic people take anti-histamines to counteract the histamine.

How and why histamine gets into certain body cells is not known. Nor is it known how pollens or foods or other allergens manage to damage such cells in allergic people.

DON'T KNOW CELLS

It is not known exactly what cells carry most of the histamine. To learn this is a first step in the histamine studies directed by Dr. Helen Tredway Graham, associate professor of pharmacology.

Using sensitive methods of measurement, her team has learned that most of the histamine in blood is carried by two kinds of white-blood cells. One is the basophils which are rich in histamine, but few in number. Second is the neutrophils which are not 1-30th as rich in histamine as their neighbors the basophils, but outnumber them more than 50 to 1 in normal blood.

Basophils account for only one per cent of the white cells in healthy persons. Two other kinds of white cells, netrophils and lymphocytes, also carry some hisamine, Dr. Graham determined.

The amount of histamine normally in the blood is low. Much more is carried by cells in body tissues, and detecting these cells is the next step.

Histamine is famed mainly as a trouble-maker. Whether it is also a trouble - shooter, serving some useful purpose isn't known. It can dilate or expand blood vessels, and one guess is that it helps regulate blood circulation to body tissues.

EISENHOWER MEDALLION — The plaster model, above, is the prototype of the Eisenhower medallion which will be placed on sale to commemorate the inauguration of President-elect Dwight D. Eisenhower, on January 20. Sculptor Walter Hancock, of New York, redesigned the profile of Eisenhower, and turned up the lips at the corners, because the original likeness appeared "too grim."

New York Night Clubs Icing Champagne Buckets For New Year

By MARK BARRON

NEW YORK (AP)—American night club and hotel impresarios are arranging their floor shows and icing their champagne buckets for the annual carnival of New Year's Eve celebrations.

Indications are that prices will range from "open house," which means customers pay only for what is on their cheque, up to $27.50 minimum per person. The minimum prices for reservation, dinner and favors start at $3. In most of the clubs and hotel rooms, the minimums are about the same charged in the last two years.

On New Year's Eve, entertainment in many clubs and supper rooms usually runs on standard program lines. But the maestros are always hoping for the unexpected guests and celebrities who add impromptu bits to the scheduled entertainment.

For instance) Gigi, longtime headwaiter at the Rendezvous in New York's Hotel Plaza recalls one New Year's Eve celebration in that room early in the century when Enrico Caruso arrived at midnight. This room, which will have a $20 minimum cheque per person this year, was a gay place then as now.

SOLD 5,000 QUARTS

"Everyone drank champagne on New Year's Eve then," Gigi recalled. "Today they drink mostly highballs or cocktails. We sold 5,069 quarts of champagne on New Year's Eve in 1907."

As an innovation at the Hotel Waldorf Astoria this year, a bottle of French vintage champagne will be given to each table of four. The prices per person will range from $20 per person in the Empire Room to $15 per person in the Peacock Lounge.

Many of the clubs and hotel floors will feature full-scale musical shows comparable to revues seen in regular Broadway theatres.

Broadway theatres report an extraordinarily large amount of patronage from out-of-towners for this New Years Eve. The box office managers report that much of this out-of-town trade is due to theatre-goers who seek tickets for sell-out hits in hopes that New Yorkers will be night clubbing during the holiday season instead of crowding the year-round theatre entertainments.

What is a Catholic?

Why are Catholics certain theirs is the "only" religion? Why are they forbidden to read or see certain books, plays, movies? How does the Church explain its stand on divorce? Why does it oppose artificial birth control?

In January Reader's Digest, John Cogley, a noted Catholic layman, answers the most frequently asked questions about his faith. 94 Fatalities Reported Over Holiday

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

The grim toll from the five-day period was 94—more than double 1951's total of 43.

From midnight Tuesday to midnight Sunday 53 persons were killed in traffic accidents, 23 more than in last season's holiday period which extended from Saturday to Wednesday.

British Columbia led the provincial list with 24 violent deaths, seven of them by gassing. There were six traffic fatalities, four drownings, two fire deaths, and five in other accidents.

QUEBEC SECOND

Quebec was second with 21 violent deaths, 13 from traffic accidents. Five traffic deaths were recorded when the Giraud family was killed as their car was struck by a train at a level crossing at St. Perpetue.

Four small children were burned at Deschenes and their father, Pte. Robert Glandon is being flown home from Korea, where he was serving with the 25th brigade. There was one drowning and three deaths from other accidents.

Fourteen of Ontario's 18 fatalities were on the highways. Two boys were drowned in western Ontario Sunday while skating on a creek and three persons died from other causes.

The Prairie provinces were led by Alberta which had 14 deaths, 10 of them traffic. Saskatchewan had one traffic fatality and Manitoba one drowning.

LEADS MARITIMES

The highest toll in the Atlantic provinces was in Nova Scotia, where seven persons died accidental deaths. Four members of one family died in a fire near Charleston on the south shore. New Brunswick had six fatalities, five of them traffic, and Prince Edward Island and Newfoundland one each.

During the week-end as many returned home after spending the long holiday with relations and friends, the highway toll was light. But several persons injured earlier died.

John Poka was killed when the truck he was driving was hit by two trains at a level crossing near Oakville, Ont., and Mrs. Raymond McMaster, 29, of Cookstown was fatally injured when the car in which she was riding crashed into a locomotive nine miles south of Barrie, Ont. James Conbey, 38, was killed near Campbellford, Ont., when his car went out of control and struck a tree stump, and Mrs. Alex Gaudet was killed at Notre Dame, N.B , when hit by a truck driven by a nephew.

Other Ontario fatalities: Gleason Martin, 11, and Norman Bowman, 14, who were drowned when they fell through the ice in a creek near their homes about five miles from Elmira; Byron Overbaugh, five months, who died as a result of injuries received in a Christmas Eve accident near Simcoe in which his father was killed, and Lawrence Pitawanakwat, a Manitoulin Island Indian believed killed by a train near Spragge.

Work On Bomb Victims

HIROSHIMA, Japan (Reuters)—American plastic surgeons probably will come to Hiroshima and Nagasaki in 1953 to work on atomic bomb victims, it was reported Sunday.

THIS IS A SANDWICH? — Count Curnonsky, French gourmet, seems to find something extremely objectionable about the delicacy set before him. Curnonsky, self-appointed arbiter of matters concerning French cuisine, has been known to drive a chef frantic by a frown, or into ecstasies of joy by a gracious nod of approval for some elaborate dish.

Ranch Owner Dives Plane To His Death

SWEETWATER, Tex. (AP)—A wealthy, 23-year-old ranch operator dived his private plane to his death near here Sunday after arguing for three hours by radio with friends who tried to stop his suicide.

He was Ollie William Cox, owner and operator of the 2,560-acre Double Heart ranch, 10 miles south of this west Texas town.

Young Cox had a daughter, Karren Kay, 3, and his wife is expecting another child in about one month.

Over the two-way radio he told the Abilene, Tex., airport control tower over and over that "everything is all messed up."

He told them he was going to crash his plane in a gravel pit near here as soon as the fuel ran out. He did just that.

STEEP DIVE

At 9:55 a.m. as ambulance drivers and officers peered into the cloudless sky, Cox's five-passenger Cessna 170 came hurtling down in a steep dive.

Airport attendants here gassed and checked young Cox's plane at 5:30 a.m. They said Cox told them he was flying to the Fort Stockton ranch about 190 air miles southwest of here.

Later Cox radioed Abilene saying he was going to crash the plane and kill himself when the fuel supply ran out.

M. H. Osburn of the civil aeronautics authority began talking to the flier in an effort to persuade him to land.

When news of the situation reached Sweetwater, A. M. Hubbard, a barber, and Carl Critz, a filling station operator, both friends of Cox, flew to Abilene to the two-way radio and began talking to Cox. Their conversation continued for some three hours.

OH, TEACHER! — Nell Owen, above, of Dallas, Tex., is the nation's "Prettiest Teacher," according to judges of a radio contest who screened 6,500 photos entered by listeners to the sponsoring program. Nell, who teaches dramatics and voice classes in Dallas, received an all-expense paid tour to Hollywood as a prize.

Plan Air Services

TOKYO (AP) — An agreement for air services between the United Kingdom and Japan was signed today by Katsuo Okazaki, Japanese minister for foreign affairs, and Sir Esler Dening, British ambassador. Designated airlines of both countries will be allowed to operate scheduled air services between London and Tokyo and between Singapore, Hong Kong and Tokyo with "certain extensions beyond," the Japanese government announced.

Study Conditions

LONDON (Reuters) — Four Socialists led by the former colonial secretary, James Griffiths flew to West Africa Sunday to study political and economic conditions in British colonies. The others are two Labor members of Parliament —Wilfrid Burke and Eirene White —and Ward Farmer, the party's Commonwealth officer.

See No Change In Condition Of Brodie Twins

CHICAGO (AP) — The official word on the Brodie Siamese twins today was still "no substantial change," but surgeons were heartened by their tenacious grip on life.

A spokesman for the Illinois Neuropsychiatric Hospital emphasized that both Rodney and Roger, separated from their head-to-head connection 12 days ago, are in critical condition.

Roger, the twin who lost his connection with their common brain-drainage blood vessel—the sagittal sinus—in the 12-hour, 40-minute operation Dec. 17, was still in a coma. Rodney, who has the benefit of the large vein and some brain-covering membrane sacrificed by Roger, was alert and apparently near normal.

FEAR INFECTION

The great danger was the possibility of infection, which could quickly prove fatal.

Roger, with virtually none of the membrane which encases the brain has a substitute membrane of a plastic substance, polycthylene. This is covered by a layer of aluminum foil. Over this is a bandage.

Rodney, who has about two-thirds of the top of his brain covered with natural dura matter, has substantially the same head covering as his brother.

Rodney has been taken off oxygen. Roger still gets supplemental oxygen.

Ike To Tackle Old Problems Of Army Days

WASHINGTON (AP)—President-elect Eisenhower soon will tackle some of the same European problems he faced more than two years ago as commander-in-chief of the fledgling European Army.

Eisenhowe will meet Prime Minister Churchill in New York next week, and their talks undoubtedly will mark the beginning of the President-elect's personal involvement in European affairs, even before his inauguration.

2 MAIN QUESTIONS

A multitude of problems, held in abeyance during the U.S. election campaign, boil down now to two main questions:

1. Can the European Allies afford to rearm at the pace they once set for themselves?

2. Is the Russian threat serious enough to require maximum rearmament?

Eisenhower was confronted with similar questions when he first went to Europe in late 1950 to begin rebuilding the almost non-existent defences of Western Europe.

Leaders of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization sharpened the basic questions last week when they reduced by half the funds they said they could spend for constructing more of the airfields and communications deemed necessary for defence.

Sarnia Man Dies Of Crash Injuries

WINDSOR, Ont. (CP)—John Joseph Langan, 68, of Sarnia, died in hospital Sunday night from injuries suffered earlier in the day when his car collided with one driven by Paul Barrette about 20 miles east of here.

Injured were Langan's wife, their seven-year - old granddaughter, Mary Ellen Langan of nearby Riverside, and Barrette, a resident of St. Joachim, about 18 miles east of here. Hospital officials said neither of the three was in serious condition.

Baby Suffocates

SARNIA (CP) — Two-month-old Penny Daniel, daughter of Mr and Mrs. John Daniel, was found dead in her crib Saturday. An autopsy held by Dr. C. N. Partington, Sarnia General Hospital pathologist, showed the child had died of suffocation.

NAVY SECRETARY—Robert Bernard Anderson, 42, of Vernon, Tex., has been named Secretary of the Navy by President-elect Dwight Eisenhower.

Plan Pilot Plant To Make Virus

TORONTO (CP)—Establishment of a pilot plant for large-scale production of polio virus at the University of Toronto's Connaught medical research laboratories was announced Sunday.

Object of the scheme, made possible by a March of Dimes grant of $104,486, will be the development of laboratory techniques which will permit the production of virus in quantities large enough for extensive research and the preparation of a polio vaccine when such vaccine has been proved safe and effective for human use.

Named To St. Paul's

TORONTO (CP)—Very Rev. Cecil Swanson, rector and dean of Christ Church Cathedral in Vancouver, has been named rector of St. Paul's Anglican Church here to succeed Canon F. H. Wilkinson, recently elected co-adjutor bishop of Toronto. Dean Swanson's appointment is effective March 1.

Man Ground To Death

NEW YORK (AP)—Harry Reuber, 66, was ground to death Saturday in the conveyor apparatus of a city-owned garbage truck.

Police said Reuber, who was not a member of the truck crew, attempted to dump rubbish into the truck while it was parked near his home. The whirling blades of the apparatus caught his arm and drew him in.

Alleged Spies Say U.S. Paid $1,000,000

WARSAW (AP)—Two alleged spies were quoted in the Warsaw press Sunday as saying United States intelligence paid out more than $1,000,000 for the recruiting of 100,000 agents in Poland but got "less than a mangy 100 knaves."

The official Polish telegraph agency charged that Arthur Bliss Lane, former U.S. ambassador here, helped arrange a signed agreement in 1950 by which a spy ring, called W.I.N. (Freedom and Independence), agreed to carry out espionage in return for "fixed financial subsidies."

The charges were based on a statement alleged to have been made by J. Kowalski, described as the W.I.N. commandant, and his deputy, S. Sienko.

Their quoted statement ended with the assertion that W.I.N. "promised the U.S. intelligence service 100,000 partisans for their disposal" and the U.S. in turn paid out more than $1,000,000."

"May they know," the statement said, "that this cash was wasted as not only will they get less than a mangy 100 knaves for their anti-Polish aims, but also because the money, which was to have been dynamite against the people's authority in Poland, has been transferred for the creative aims serving the strengthening of the people's of Poland."

Venice Cardinal Dies, No Full College

VATICAN CITY (AP)—Death again has prevented the Pope from having a full 70-member College of Cardinals.

Carlo Agostini, 64-year-old patriarch of Venice, died Sunday, 15 days before he was to have received his red hat, distinctive emblem of a cardinal, at a secret consistory. He was designated for the high office, along with 23 others on Nov. 29.

Technically, the Pope could name another person to the vacancy before the Jan. 12 consistory, but in keeping with his procedure in 1946 is not expected to do so.

There has been no full college of cardinals in 200 years.

ROSENEATH (ENS) — Mary Joyce, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Hoskin of Cobourg, became the bride of Rex Crego, son of Mr. and Mrs. Reginald Crego, of Roseneath, when a lovely ceremony was conducted at Trinity United church, Cobourg, Saturday afternoon. The minister, the Rev. E. C. Kelloway, and Dr. W. P. Woodger officiated. A short jacket of imported lace with long fitted sleeves and beaded on the collar and at the wrists, topped the dress. Insets of lace on the skirt came up to the waist at centre back and a scattering of flowers was to the hem. Her fingertip veil was held in place by a braided silk tulle band beaded with pearls and she carried a bouquet of gardenias and fuscia.

The bride was attended by maid of honor Miss Margaret Hoskin, and bridesmaids Misses Maralyn Woodley and Betty Roberts wearing identical gowns of forest green net over taffeta with strapless bodices, bouffant skirts falling to ankle length and short jackets of shirred net with long fitted sleeves. They carried bouquets of white 'mums centered with poinsettia.

Flower girl, Dianne Hoskin, wore a white taffeta gown with net bouffant skirt, puffed sleeves and net inset at neckline. She carried a taffeta muff covered with white carnations and freesia. James McKenzie was ring bearer. Mr. Robert Cressman was groomsman. The ushers were Messrs. Harold Gilbert and George May.

A reception was held at Trinity hall, where the bride's mother received, wearing a gown of rosewood lace applique on crepe with maching velour hat, navy accessories and an orchid corsage. The groom's mother chose a sapphire lace gown with sapphire feather hat, navy accessories and an orchid corsage.

The couple will live in Ottawa.

What's Right?

You have unexpected company.

WRONG: Keep apologizing for everything, how you look, how the house looks, and so on.

RIGHT: Expect your company to take you and your house as you are. After all you didn't know they were coming.

MR. AND MRS. WILLIAM HERD, formerly of Peterborough, celebrated their golden wedding anniversary at the home of their son Jack Herd of Campbellford recently.— (W. Reid Photo)

Former City Couple Wed 50 Years Ago In Scotland

CAMPBELLFORD(ENS) —The Christmas season was the occasion for a double celebration this year at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Herd of Campbellford. It was also the golden wedding anniversary of Mr. Herd's parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Herd, formerly of Peterborough.

After a family get-to-gether attended by all but two members of the family, who were absent, the bride and groom of 50 years ago cut a large white and gold decorated cake. They received a lazy-boy chair and a gift of money from their children.

Mr. and Mrs. Herd were married in Kirk Hall, Canvuslang, Lanarkshire, Scotland, by the Rev. James E. Houston in 1902. Stewart Herd, brother of the groom was best man, while Jessie Moyse, sister of the bride was bridesmaid. The bride was the former Mary Cowan Moyes of Canvuslang.

The couple moved to Canada in 1913, bringing five children with them. One son, Alexander Herd, died at the age of six.

There are six children. Mrs. A. K. Whyte (Mary) of Peterborough; Mrs. H. R. Cole (Jean) of Ninette, Manitoba; John M. Herd of Campbellford; William Herd of Willowdale; Mrs. Harold Klein, (Annabelle) of Grosse Point, Michigan and Mrs. E. O. Gledhill (Janet) of Newtonbrook. The couple have ten grandchildren.

Jean and Annabelle were absent from the family gathering.

Mr. and Mrs. Herd, who now reside in Campbellford, lived for some time in Manitoba and later moved to Peterborough, where Mr. Herd was employed by the Quaker Oats Company.

Out-of-town guests present were Robert Dickson of Detroit, Mich., and Mrs. James Mackie and son, Douglas, of Montreal.

MARY MOORE SAYS:

New Year's Week Party Menu

In New Year's week what you do at your house—what they do at their place, what we do right here—may vary in age groups, income level and numbers, but the intent is the same everywhere — open-hearted, open-handed hospitality.

Sixteen young people—average age twenty years—are taking our place by storm, and do you know what? They've magnanimously decided to let mother plan the menu—and of course, the little matter of preparing the food. Their thoughtfulness overwhelms me. Mother's darling little helpers will plan the games and decorations of course. They don't trust my ingenuity for that. But this is what I heard in a stage whisper: "Marianne, don't tell Mum what you want to eat. She'll think of something wonderful herself that will wow the kids."

Now I'm on the spot and have to think of something original—or at the very least unusual.

When you read through the menu you will notice that the major expense is for the two chickens and two pounds of mushrooms called for in the chicken ring with mushroom sauce. If you do not use it for a New Year's party, save it anyway, for it is a very good party dish.

This is what is going on at our house tonight.

NEW YEAR'S WEEK PARTY MENU

Chicken Ring with Mushroom Sauce
Hot Rolls Jellied Tomato Salads
Celery Curls Radishes Roses
New Year's Eggnog
(non-alcoholic)
Macaroons Christmas Cake
Coffee

Marianne and Pete make an inocuous red punch that defies description. It contains ginger ale, cranberry juice, orange and cherry slices, ice cubes, cold tea and for all I know it might have an old shoe in it (we have lots). The works is mixed in our soup tureen—that night it's a punch bowl.

CHICKEN RING

(Double this for from fourteen to sixteen people, when you will need two 4½-lb. boiling fowl.) One fowl weighing about 4½ lbs., 2 cups soft breadcrumbs, 1 cup cooked rice, 1 teaspoon salt, ½ teaspoon paprika, ¾ cup skim milk powder, ¼ cup chopped pimiento, 4 eggs well beaten, 3 cups rich chicken broth, ¼ cup chicken fat or butter. Singe, wash, clear and disjoint fowl, cook in water to cover until tender. Cool in cooking broth, and remove meat from bones and cut in coarse dice. (Save the skin for grinding when you are making sandwiches at another time.) Combine ingredients in order given. Turn into buttered ring mould (I am using my precious angel food pan for double this quantity.) Place pan in larger pan containing hot water and bake at 350 deg. Fahr. for 1 hour. Let stand for 10 minutes before turning out on hot platter. Fill centre with

MUSHROOM SAUCE

(Double this for 14 to 16.) One-half cup chicken fat or butter, 1 lb. fresh mushrooms, ½ cup flour, 1 cup skim milk powder, 4 cups rich chicken broth, 2 well beaten egg yolks, ½ cup cream, ½ teaspoon salt, paprika, 1 tablespoon each chopped parsley and lemon juice. Melt fat or butter in large heavy frying-pan, add sliced mushrooms and cook gently 5 minutes—do not brown. Remove pan from heat and add flour and milk powder and mix well, then slowly add chicken broth, stirring until thick. Mix beaten yolks and cream and pour some of the hot sauce into them, stirring, then return all to sauce and stir until smooth. Add seasonings and mushrooms. Heat through. Serve in chicken ring. (This is also good for a modest meal served in a rice ring.) Garnish all generously with parsley and tomato wedges or pimiento.

NEW YEAR'S EGGNOG

(Non-alcoholic.) This is so thick it must be eaten with a spoon. Have all ingredients ice-box cold. Beat 6 egg yolks until very thick and lemon-colored. Add 1-3 cup sugar. Let stand in refrigerator until sugar is melted —about 1 hour. When ready to serve add 1-3 cup pineapple juice —not the sweetened juice, but drinking pineapple juice. (That is where the brandy or sherry would come in if this were alcoholic.) Add ½ teaspoon salt to the 6 egg whites and beat until stiff. Fold carefully into the yolks. At the last moment fold in 1 cup heavy cream which has been beaten stiff. Pile lightly in tall glasses. Sprinkle sparingly with freshly grated nutmeg.

Happy party, folks!

DOROTHY DIX

Formerly Devoted Couple Victims Of Soldier's Wife

DEAR MISS DIX: How can a woman justify herself for stealing another's husband? My husband and I have been married three years and have two children. He was always devoted to us, until this summer. Then another woman entered the picture! She too, is married, and her man is in Korea. She expects him home soon, and says that when he returns she'll settled down and raise a family. Since this affair began (and I can't say just how far it has gone as I don't know), my husband is impossible to please at home. He has me so nervous, just trying to please him, that I would pack up and leave were it not for the youngsters. Do you think this would be the wiser course for me, or should I try to stick it out? He does say he still loves me. CURLY ANSWER: A while back I was soundly trounced in a note from a reader who vehemently objected to my use of the word "darn." Well, if I called the young usurper of your husband's love by a few of the names she deserves, what would be the effect on my gentler readers! Horrendous to contemplate!

JUST A WOMAN'S VICTIM

Love cannot always be controlled, and a woman who sincerely falls in love with a married man is deserving of considerable pity in her own right. What excites condemnation is her subsequent behaviour. The "other woman," in your case, Curly, apparently doesn't even have the excuse that she's in love! Clearly she wants someone to keep her company until her own spouse returns, and doesn't much care whether a married or single man provides the diversion. Your husband is the goat, in this case, until the woman decides he's served her purpose. She's doing a job of breaking up your home, and at the same time being untrue to her own husband, who certainly deserves something more than a faithless mate. She is viciousness personified.

Your husband is an utter fool to fall so easy a victim to her blandishments, but many men do seem to have a blind spot when it comes to realizing the worth of their wives; a siren's lure has lost none of its potency since the days of Odysseus.

It's almost certain that your husband will be a sorry and penitent man in the not too far distant future, so I recommend that you stick things out—for the sake of all of you. When he realizes that he was a temporary infatuation of an aimless and empty woman, he'll appreciate your forebearance. You do have a weapon—though I wouldn't advise using it except in a case of desperate necessity—in the fact that the woman doubtless does not want her husband to know of the affair. Apparently she depends on the security of her married life, and wouldn't relish losing it. Give a little thought to her husband's role in the situation, and share some of your self-pity with him; he'll sadly need it.

DEAR MISS DIX: Since the boy I like is studying to be a minister, he doesn't go to movies, dancing or anything like that, and our dating is confined to church affairs. Some people think I'm foolish to continue going with him, but we are very fond of each other. I am 17 and he is 19. I enjoy the things we do together, and am sure I'll continue liking them. M. C.

ANSWER: You are fortunate to have such a fine friend and, since you are satisfied with your relationship, it would be ridiculous to heed the advice of others.

DEAR MISS DIX: I was married at 19 and divorced at 22. For some time I wouldn't go out with a man, but I met Tom and liked him quite a bit. He loves me and wants to marry me next summer. He is a fine person, but the problem comes in with another man —Dave. He is the one I really love and he loves me, but since Tom has been so nice to me, how can I tell him I am in love with someone else?

ANSWER: That is one of the most difficult things anyone can do—to hurt someone who has never given anything but kindness and affection. In a case like yours, however, the kindest thing to do is break the news soon. The longer it is postponed, the more Tom will be hurt. Tell him directly, as soon as possible.

Israel Worried About Arms Going To Arabs

TEL AVIV (AP) — Israel expressed "serious disquiet," today over reports of Western arms shipments to her Arab neighbors, particularly Egypt, and said the deliveries are a "menace to Israel's security."

Foreign Minister Moshe Sharett called a press conference here to outline the government viewpoint. At about the same time, the Israeli embassy in Washington issued a written statement which it termed an official declaration by the foreign minister.

Sharett said jet planes are included in the arms going to the Arab states — with which Israel technically still is at war, although an armistice is now in force. The Western powers were not identified.

The statement said arms deliveries "far from being conducive to the advent of peace and stability to the region constitute a menace to Israel's security, whilst offering no assured prospect of strengthening the area's defensive capacity against the dangers of outside aggression."

"The Arab states," Sharett said, "maintain by boycott and blockade an active system of economic warfare against Israel. Arms supplies to the Arab states are clearly damaging to Israel's security and to the interests of regional and world peace."

Rule Injunction Constitutional

BUFFALO, N. Y. (AP)—Federal Judge John Knight today declared constitutional the injunction provision of the Taft-Hartley Labor Act.

His decision came as he granted the government an 80-day injunction under the act, restraining workers from continuing a strike at the Dunkirk plant of the American Locomotive Company.

The action, contested by the United Steelworkers (CIO), was the first direct court test of the constitutionality of the Taft-Hartley's act's injunctive provisions.

The government has sought an injunction to keep the supply of nickel-plated pipe, vital to atomic-energy work, flowing from the Dunkirk plant.

Knight ordered the workers to stay on their jobs until March 2.

Knight said the strike could not continue because it affected the health and security of the nation.

Arrest 42 Syrians In Conspiracy Plot

CAIRO (AP) — The independent morning newspaper Al Ahram said today 42 Syrian Army officers and civilians have been arrested on charges of conspiring to overthrow strong man Col. Adib Shishekly's government.

The paper quoted a Syrian Army communique as saying extremist party-politicians tried to create dissension but that the army and the people are standing together to realize Syria's national aspirations.

Carr Only One Still In Jail

OTTAWA (CP) — All but one of the men and women convicted as a result of Canada's 1946 spy probe have now been freed.

Dr. Alan Nunn May, released today in Britain, was the eighth person to complete his spy-trial prison sentence and go free.

The one man left behind bars is Sam Carr, the former organizer of the Labor-Progressive party, who is serving a six-year sentence in Kingston penitentiary. He was linked by the crown with a move to get a false Canadian passport for a Soviet agent.

Carr lags behind the others because he wasn't taken into custody until several years after the espionage probe broke in February, 1946.

The trials that developed out of the investigation sent nine men and women to prison, brought a fine to another and acquitted 10.

Mutinous Asiatic Crew Sails Ship To China

HONG KONG (AP)—A mutinous crew of Asiatic seamen seized the Norwegian ship Rostro last month and sailed to Communist China, the ship's agents reported today.

Wallem and Co., quoting a Canton newspaper, said the Rostro's skipper, Capt. Adolf Buhre, 74, died of shock while his ship was being pirated.

The freighter disappeared mysteriously in pre-dawn darkness Nov. 14. It had no clearance papers, no cargo and little fuel.

The Nanfong Yatpo said crew members seized the ship because they wanted to cast their lot with Communist China. The Rostro was taken to Whampoa, the dock area of Canton. Buhre's body was examined by a doctor who said he died aboard ship of natural causes, aggravated by seizure of his ship.

Hamilton Firemen Receive Pay Boost

HAMILTON (CP) — Hamilton's firemen will receive a pay boost of $4.68 per week, retroactive to Jan. 1, according to a report released by the board of arbitration today. This will mean a New Year's gift of approximately $242 for each first class firefighter.

Official notification of the board's decision was received this morning by James F. Berry, city clerk and Lieut. Melvin Mills, president of the Hamilton Firefighters' Association, Local 288.

The basic rate for a first class fireman will now be $66 per week.

The union's request for a 40-hour work week was turned down by the board. They gave as their reason the fact that most Ontario fire departments work a 56-hour week.

Munitions Equipment Sent To Red China

HONG KONG (Reuters)—Russia is sending Communist China equipment for 12 new munitions plants in the first year of the Chinese Communist five-year plan, beginning in 1953, usually reliable reports reaching here said today.

The five-year plan was announced last Wednesday by the Chinese prime minister, Chou En-lai.

Reports said today that Communist China was herself prefabricating the necessary factory buildings for the new munitions plants, in her iron- and coal-bearing areas.

Senate Committee Asks Unions To Act

WASHINGTON (AP) — A Senate committee today backed up a House of Representatives committee in coupling a plea to unions to toss out any Communist leaders with a call for tougher laws against subversives in organized labor.

The Senate internal security subcommittee headed by Senator Pat McCarran (Dem. Nev.) issued its report to the Senate on a four-day hearing at Salt Lake City last October into the leadership of the International Union of Mine, Mill and Smelter Workers.

In a statement from its headquarters, the union accused McCarran of "acting on behalf of big mine operators in a campaign to behead and dismember this union."

The union, now unaffiliated, was expelled by the CIO in 1950 on grounds that it followed the Communist party line.

Islands Run Out Of Sultans Plan To Become Republic

COLOMBO (AP) — After 800 years as a sulstanate, the 2,000 scattered islands of the Maldive group, 400 miles southwest of Ceylon in the Arabian Sea, will become a republic on January 1.

The reason? The Maldives ran out of sultan material.

The new republic, with a population of 83,000, will remain under British protection. Its first president is 41-year-old Amin Didi, now the Maldivan prime minister and author of the republic's constitution.

The change in political status will come about when Sir Cecil Myers, British high commissioner to Ceylon, signs a new treaty recognizing the republic New Year's Day.

The largest foreign group to visit the islands since the Second World War will witness the inaugural ceremony. Offshore a cruiser of the Royal Navy and at least one RAF flying boat will lend a modern touch to the scene.

But no one expects the political change will alter the islands' peaceful way of life or its business of trading dried fish and other products of the sea to Ceylon for rice.

The Maldivians are Moslems. Traders here say that throughout their recorded history the islands never have had a crime of passion. There is no police force and even political revolutions have been bloodless.

Under Islamic law, alcoholic beverages are banned and the people use little tobacco. Its import or cultivation is prohibited.

Dogs are unknown, since a religious ban exists on their breeding.

Automobiles are almost as rare, there being only five in the national capital — variously called Male and Mave by the natives.

This, the largest island of the Maldive group, has a few roads a mile long. Except for the new president and distinguished visitors, however, most people walk.

Amin Didi decided to make the Maldives a republic after the last Sultan, Amir Abdul Majid Didi, died in Ceylon a year ago. Traditionally only an elder statesman of the islands could be picked, and no candidate existed.

Amin Didi proposed a republic and the 34-member people's council agreed.

Under the treaty with Britain, the British Government will continue to handle Maldivan foreign affairs. It also will furnish protection.

During the First World War, the German raider Emden lurked off the Maldives until she was driven away.

In the last war, raiding Japanese fleets passed through the islands. A British seaplane base was established there to protect Allied shipping.

The islands, explored by the Arabians in the 14th century, were visited by the Portuguese in 1518. In 1645 they passed into the sovereignty of Ceylon.

Serve Bad Meals To Win New Concessions

ST. LOUIS (AP) — If you come home, brother, and find the meat scorched and vegetables soggy, it may be an invitation to the dog-house.

Dr. William Kaufman, a physician and psychologist of Bridgeport, Conn., explained why today in describing emotional uses of food to the American Association for the Advancement of Science.

"Sometimes a woman who resents her husband serves him none of the foods he enjoys," Dr. Kaufman sid.

"If her resentment reaches a point of intense hatred, meat is scorched, bread is stale, vegetables are cold and soggy. The husband begins his retaliation by criticizing her food and ends by paying her alimony.

"Women who envy the interesting time men have at work often exaggerate the kitchen martyrdom involved in preparing hot, home-cooked meals in order to gain concessions and rewards.

"I know one woman who on such a basis got herself an extra television set, a fur coat, a small car—and a separate bedroom Some husbands will do anything to insure their continuing to get a hot, home-cooked meal."

714 Holiday Death Reported Across U.S.

CHICAGO (AP) — Accidents killed 714 Americans during the four-day Christmas weekend. Included in that number were 533 who died in traffic mishaps.

Bloody as the slaughter on the streets and highways was, it did not equal the 551 killed during a similar Christmas week-end in 1936. The record for all accidental deaths during a four-day Christmas holiday period, 789, was set last year.

THE CANADIAN ARMY has had a busy year in 1952 with commitments to the United Nations in Korea and to NATO in Europe plus a full twelve month program of training at home designed to increase the effectiveness of our home defences and train soldiers for the overseas brigades. The above photos show some of the main features of the Canadian Army's efforts during 1952. 1—Opening of the College Militaire de St. Jean in Quebec last September provided French speaking Canadians with the equivalent of RMC for the first time in Canada's history. The photo shows the Governor General inspecting the cadets at the official opening ceremony. 2—Anti-aircraft gunners go into action near Montreal during an exercise designed to test the effectiveness of Canadian defences against enemy air raids. 3—Canada's 27th Brigade, which has undergone intensive training in Germany as an integral part of the NATO forces, parades in Hanover. 4—The new Centurion tank which is being taken into use by the Canadian Army. This is one of the major changes in the Army's equipment program. 5—Soldiers from Canada's 25th Brigade, fighting with United Nations forces in Korea, continued to slug it out with the Communists in Korea during the year. The photo shows "Little Gibraltar," the battle scarred peak where the Canadians fought a notable engagement last October. 6—Rotation of troops both to and from Korea and Germany took place in an ever-increasing scale during the year and were the cause of such happy scenes as the one pictured here as husbands and sons returned to their loved ones at home.

Indian Prelate Made Cardinal

VATICAN CITY (AP) — The Vatican announced today that Archbishop Valeriano Gracias of Bombay is being named to the College of Cardinals of the Roman Catholic Church.

He takes the place vacated Sunday by the death of Carlo Agostini, patriarch of Venice. He will be India's first cardinal.

The surprise announcement of his appointment emphasized Pope Pius determination to bring the college to its full strength of 70 members at the consistory here next month. The college has not had full membership in two centuries.

Says Factories To Increase Arms Flow

OTTAWA (CP) — Production Minister Howe said today that a big flow of arms will come out of Canadian factories next year and predicted that many of these factories will remain in business after the current three-year defence program ends in 1954.

He disclosed also that with the development of highly - technical weapons production in Canada, the Canadian government has been able to cancel some of her defence contracts in the United States. Meanwhile, the U. S. has been increasing her orders in Canada.

As a result, the big deficit in Canada's arms trade with the U.S. has been eliminated and a balance reached in orders placed over a two-year period.

Mr. Howe, who is minister of trade as well as defence production touched on Canada's defence effort in a year-end statement on production and trade.

As production minister he is responsible for the spending of about 70 per cent of Canada's three-year $5,000,000,000 defence program which began in April, 1951.

Mr. Howe emphasized that setting up new arms-producing facilities in Canada was no easy job. But now most of the kinks had been ironed out and most of the needed key plants set up and ready to operate.

These included the A. V. Roe plant at Malton, Ont., to produce the Orenda jet engine and the CF-100 jet fighter. The Orenda will be used to power both the CF-100 and the F-86 Sabre jet fighter under production at Canadair Ltd., Montreal.

The Sabre formerly was powered by the U. S. J-47 jet engine and this meant costly defence purchases in the U. S. The switch-over to the Orenda will cut Canada's arms costs in the U. S.

The Orenda plant was opened last September. "Rapid progress" is being made, said Mr. Howe, to set up production of Orenda components such as fuel systems, combustion chambers, light metal castings and turbine blades.

"In shipbuilding, Canada now is able to produce the propulsion machinery for its own escort vessels. Under the weapons program, new facilities have been created for the manufacture of various U. S.-type products.

"In the electronics field Canada is keeping abreast of the rapidly changing situation and now possesses capacity to turn out such things as walkie-talkies, gunfire control equipment and sub-miniature tubes."

But aircraft production was the biggest program. Output of Sabres was progressing "favorably" and technical difficulties in producing the CF-100 were overcome.

Mr. Howe gave no indication just when the government plans to slow down its armament efforts, but he noted:

"Canada's defence program is one of preparedness and the national situation suggests that the need for such a program may continue for a considerable time."

MacArthur Calls Truman Statement Misleading

NEW YORK (AP)—Gen Douglas MacArthur's description of a statement by President Truman as "inaccurate and misleading" today stimulated anew the controversy around the general's ouster as Far East commander.

MacArthur, in a statement issued Sunday night, took issue with a reported comment by Truman that he relieved MacArthur because the general "wanted to involve us in all-out war in the far east."

The United Press quoted the President as making the statement last Saturday in an interview he gave to its White House correspondent. It was one of a series of year-end interviews granted by the President to White House reporters.

In Washington Sunday night, press secretary Roger Tubby said Truman would have no comment on the MacArthur statement. Tubby said the President "made his statement and is sticking by it."

Courtney Whitney, retired major-general and a top aide of MacArthur, gave out the latter's statement. It said:

"President Truman's statement . . .that I 'wanted to involve us in an all-out war in the Far East' is inaccurate and misleading.

PURPOSE TO END

"My purpose and desire was not to extend the war but only to end it At that time, this could have been accomplished with only a fraction of the approximately 70,000 American battle casualties which have since resulted. Actually the longer it lasts the greater the chance of its spreading. How anyone could use such a bloody drama as a means of self-glorification is quite beyond my comprehension."

MacArthur was fired by Truman on April 11, 1951. Truman then said in a formal statement that he concluded MacArthur "is unable to give his wholehearted support" to United States and United Nations policies in Korea.

The ouster was Truman's answer to a series of statements by MacArthur urging a shift in Korean war policy. Among proposals advocated by MacArthur were the bombing of Red bases north of the Yalu river border of North Korea, the blockading of the Red Chinese coast, and the utilizing of Nationalist Chinese forces stationed on Formosa.

Censorship Still Hampers World News Reporting

NEW YORK (AP) — In Venezuela censorship blacked out election returns. . .

In Colombia mob action put two newspapers temporarily out of business.

In Egypt a new regime gave foreign correspondents their greatest freedom there in recent years in reporting events on that highly strategic country in the Middle East. . .

These were among the developments in the last six months as recorded in an Associated Press survey of censorship and other conditions affecting the free flow of world news. For several years The AP has made these surveys semi-annually.

There is not much change in the over-all picture in the period from June to the end of December as reported by Associated Press correspondents in all parts of the globe.

The Soviet Union, Communist China and the other countries that revolve in the Soviet orbit have not relaxed significantly their tight control over news from their areas.

The chief source of news from the Communist world is in the official radio broadcasts and controlled newspapers which reach the outside world.

Editors became aware of the censor's power in Venezuela as returns came in from the Nov. 30 election. Correspondents reported unofficial returns showing an opposition party taking a sizable initial lead, then messaged they were unable to file any more material. A new president was hastily put into office by the junta in power and subsequent returns showed a majority for the pro-government party.

Two newspapers of the Liberal party in Colombia were the target for mob action Sept. 6 at Bogota. The Liberals are opposed to the Conservative regime. The building occupied by El Tiempo and El Espectador were set afire, and the papers put out of business for a time.

Premier Gen. Mohamed Naguib, the strong man who holds power in Egypt, has officially abolished censorship. The picture is far different from what it was under the ousted King Farouk, when correspondents operated under otner rigid restrictions.

Pravda Uses Letter From U.S. Deserter

MOSCOW (AP) — Pravda today published a letter it said was from United States Sgt. Aubrey Miles, who was reported to have asked for political refuge in East Germany, declaring he would rather go East than be "exiled" to Korea.

U. S. Army headquarters in Heidelberg, Germany, said last week a soldier by that name has been listed as absent without leave for nearly a month. This announcement came after the official Soviet zone news agency ADN said a Sergeant Miles had renounced his U.S. citizenship and asked for political asylum in the East zone

"They wanted to exile us from Berlin to Korea," the top Soviet newspaper qquoted Miles' letter as saying. "And I said to myself there's nothing for me to do there. I must go East like many other American soldiers before me."

The beautiful forests of Ontario, which provide so much pleasure and contribute so much to the economy and welfare of our province deserve a New Year's wish and a New Year's resolution.

Let us resolve to keep forest fires in mind this coming year . . . and to keep them out of our forests. 80% of the forest fires are caused by human carelessness. Only by constant care, watchfulness, and training can we cut down this useless and costly loss.

Hospital Board Refuses To Dissolve

WINDSOR — (CP) — C. W. Caple, member of the East Windsor hospital board of directors, Saturday predicted the present board would never dissolve itself as suggested by commissioner Gordon Fraser following a recent probe into hospital management.

e was commenting on an ultimatum received by the board a

He was commenting on an ultimatum received by the board a Dana Porter which said government grants to the hospital would be cut off unless a new board of directors was formed.

ULTIMATUM FOOLISH

Mr. Caple said the ultimatum was "foolish" and any attempt to cut off grants to the hospital would lead to "starvation of the patients, a strike of the employees" and a subsequent "riot."

"The government is riding for a fall on this issue. That ultimatum can't be enforced. It should never have been sent."

The suggestion regarding the board was one of several contained in the 50,000-word Fraser report which criticized a number of phases of hospital management.

VALLEYFIELD, Que (CP)—Authorities of a caisse populaire (credit union) said Saturday no money appears missing in an abortive holdup of the bank Friday night.

Two men are held by provincial police in connection with the attempt. The bank authorities said if any money at all was taken it could amount only to a few dollars.

Earlier reports in Montreal said La Caisse Populaire Notre Dame de Bellerive, near Valleyfield, was robbed of $6,000.

Remnant Or Iroquois Tribe Hit Up State For Million

By TOM HENSHAW

MONTPELIER, Vt. (AP)—The remnants of an Iroquois Indian tribe that once lived in Vermont and now live near St. Regis, Que., are going to hit up the state for $1,200,000 for land taken about the time of the American Revolution.

Vermont thought that case had been settled years ago, but it has remained on the books since 1798 when a delegation of Cognahwagah Indians from Lower Canada visited the Vermont legislature at Vergennes with a polite plea.

The land they claimed included parts of present day Grand Isle, Franklin, Chittenden and Addison counties with the cities of Burlington and St. Albans.

Tichenor investigated the claim and reported to the 1799 legislature, meeting in Windsor, that:

"(The) Indians. . .might have once had a good right to the territory" but inasmuch as they had moved to Canada and had joined the French against the English and the English against the colonies "in my view the claims of the Indians have been extinguished."

LOST TRACK OF CASE

Most Vermonters lost track of the case. But every now and then a delegation of the tribe dropped in on the legislature and reiterated the claim.

Then Roland E. Stevens, a lawyer of Hartford, Vt., entered the case. In May, 1952, he filed for another hearing before a legislative commission.

An investigating commission was set up by the last legislature. It is due to report to the incoming session and the Indians' case will be heard before the committee on claims.

The Indians—Stevens represents about 5,000 of them—live in two locations known as Cognahwaga and Oka (Lake of two mountains) near St. Regis, Que.

Some are farmers but most are ironworkers, travelling about the U.S. and Canada on bridge and tall building jobs. They are experts in this type of work.

Stevens said he will base the Indians' case on a payment to the Cognahwaghabs signed with the state of New York in 1796 and on an alleged inaccuracy in Tichenor's final report to the 1799 legislature.

"The Cognahwaghabs never joined the French against the English," the lawyer said. "They are Iroquois and all Iroquois hated the French since Samuel de Champlain helped their enemies with his firearms."

Bulls Too Thin Cancel Fight

MEXICO CITY (AP)—Sunday's bullfight was cancelled because the bulls, upset by the presence of many children, have not been eating and can't meet the minimum weight requirement.

Municipal regulations say bulls must weigh at least 940 pounds. Those in the corrals here weighed only 850.

Alfonso Gaona, the bull fight manager, said they weighed enough when brought here earlier in the week. But the constant distribution of Christmas presents to poor children in the bullring had upset the bulls so they had not eaten.

Warns Against Giving Arms To Arab States

TEL AVIV (Reuters)—Foreign Minister Moshe Sharett Sunday warned Britain and the United States against delivering arms to the Arab states. In a statement at a press conference he said it would be "a menace to Israel's security" without strengthening regional defence. Israel and the seven states of the Arab League still are officially at war over the partition of Palestine and the setting up of Israel in 1948.

Sharett expressed "serious disquiet" at reports of arms deliveries by "leading Western powers" to Arab states, especially Egypt.

He mentioned a supply of jet planes from Britain and the reported readiness of the United States to supply Egypt with modern arms.

Movie Column

Sonny Tufts Doesn't Want Party Life

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Meet the new Sonny Tufts.

The actor, once known as Hollywood's party boy, is back in town after spending 18 months abroad.

He says he's through with the party life and the elbow-bending that goes with it.

"Sure, I used to drink," he admitted, "but I did it just for the fun of it. I can remember executives who asked me why I didn't do like some other stars did. When these guys wanted to let off steam, they'd take a couple of cases up to a far-off mountain cabin and have a bender.

"I could never see that. And I wasn't like some others I could mention who always started fights when they got loaded. My trouble was that when I got a couple of cocktails under my belt, I wanted to have fun. If I were at Mocambo, I'd know all the boys in the band, and I'd get up and play the piano and sing. I guess this gave people the wrong impression."

But that isn't what tripped up his film career, he says.

"It was a series of bad pictures," he explained. "In fact, I had only one good picture while I was at Paramount. That was my first, 'So Proudly We Hail.'"

The actor hit a slack period after his departure from Paramount, but his career isgetting into high gear again. This is largely due to the fact that he pulled up stakes and headed for England.

He toured the British Isles for 30 weeks in a play.

"It was a great experience," he said. "The play was too weak to take into London, but the critics said I made a 'personal triumph.'"

He also made an English film, "The Gift Horse," a big production by the Wolff brothers, who made "African Queen" and "Moulin Rouge." Sonny will return to appear in another film for the same producers next spring.

Meanwhile, he is resuming his Hollywood career. He is currently playing opposite Barbara Payton in "Run to the Hills."

Capsule review: "My Cousin Rachel" is a moody period study of evil and intrigue on the English coast. Reminiscent of "Rebecca" and "Suspicion," it piles event on event to a cumulative effect of suspense and intrigue.

There are some inadequacies. The ending does not fulfil the promise of the rest of the film, and the moviegoer must guess the secret of Rachel. But it is well played by Olivia Dehavilland and Richard Burton, a dramatic find.

January Offensive Promised By Communists

SEOUL (AP)—Counter-attacking Allied troops today regained frozen outposts near Chorwon on the western front. The posts were captured by a reinforced Chinese Communist company Monday night. An Eighth Army briefing officer said about 30 Communists were killed and 100 wounded in the vicious Red attack by about 225 men. Allied defenders withdrew after an hour of fighting, but stormed back with reinforcements to reoccupy the lost positions.

A female voice told UN front-line troops in a propaganda broadcast that the Communists will launch a "general offensive" Jan. 4.

Pacific Stars and Stripes said the statement was made in a broadcast in the Kumhwa ridge sector of the central front.

caster opened her program with a

A correspondent for the army newspaper said the woman broadcster opened her program with a tirade against the "poor" food given Allied troops.

The Communists launched a major offensive on New Year's Day in 1951.

Allied air activity was hampered by heavy clouds over most of North Korea.

The Reds hurled five minor attacks on the Kumhwa ridge area of the central front Monday night, but the remainder of the 155-mile battle front was relatively quiet.

Communist big guns continued a steady pounding on the western front.

Acted Rightly Giving Russia Secrets–May

LONDON (CP) — Alan Nunn May, British atom scientist released from prison Monday after serving a sentence for betraying atomic secrets to Russia, said today: "I think I acted rightly."

MORE

Reporters had been hunting for Nunn May for 36 hours after he was quietly released Monday from Wakefield prison.

Nunn May's statement said he had no treasonable intentions when he supplied atomic information to Russian agents during the Second World War.

WANTED VICTORY

"I was wholeheartedly concerned with securing victory over Nazi Germany and Japan and with the furtherance of the development of the peaceful uses of atomic energy in this country.

"My object now is to obtain as soon as possible an opportunity of doing useful scientific work in which I can be of some service to this country and to my fellow men.

"Now that my imprisonment is over I can only wish for the same consideration and fair treatment which I received throughout the long period of my sentence from the prison officials and my fellow prisoners."

A sentence at the bottom of the statement said: "No further statement will be made or interviews given."

Nunn May was arrested in London in 1946 soon after his return from Canada, where he had worked with British scientists on the Canadian atomic research program.

Evidence seized in the exposure of a Communist spy ring in Canada identified him as the mysterious "Alek" who gave the Russians information on atomic research and samples of uranium isotopes taken from laboratories in Montreal.

10,000-Mile Car Race Starts

ALGIERS (AP) — The first entrants in a gruelling 10,000-mile auto race took off today on a jaunt across desert sands and through bog-filled jungles from tip to toe of the African continent.

The drivers left from Oran today. Four more leave Wednesday and 11 others depart at staggered dates from Algiers and Oran until the last one has left Jan. 5. Accompanying the racers will be four cars carrying radio and movie crews and contest officials.

The Mediterranean to Capetown, South Africa, grind, sponsored by the Association of Friends of the Sahara Automobile Club of Algiers and the International Automobile Federation, will bring to the winners a total of 1,250,000 francs (more than $3,500). First prize is 700,000 francs ($2,000). Winners are judged by speed and mechanical superiority.

The first trans-African race was held a year ago. Mario Veglia of Italy won it in an American army-type jeep. Veglia is trying again this year.

Fails To Make Turn Bus Falls Into River

NELSON, B. C. (CP) — An Interior Stages Ltd. bus carrying 20 passengers plunged into the Salmo river Monday after failing to make a turn on the Nelson-Nelway highway 18 miles south of here.

The driver and all but four of the passengers escaped with minor injuries. The four were later reported in good condition in hospital here.

Prince Gets Thrill In Starting Train

WOLFERTON, Norfolk, England (AP) — Four-year-old Prince Charles fulfilled the ambition of many little boys today. He blew a whistle and started a train.

The Prince was at the railway station with the Queen to say goodbye to the Duchess of Kent and her three children who were returning to London after spending Christmas at the royal residence at Sandringham.

Stationmaster E. G. Skillings, tipped that the Prince liked trains, handed him a whistle and a green starting flag.

When all was ready, the Prince blew the whistle, waved the flag and the train set off for London.

Warns Dextran Not Substitute

OTTAWA (CP) — Dr. G. D. W. Cameron, deputy minister of national health, described as "interesting and hopeful" the report today from Bil Boss, Canadian Press staff writer in Korea, on the use of "dextran" as a substitute for blood plasma.

But Dr. Cameron stressed the point contained in the Boss story that the synthetic sugar formula is not a substitute for whole blood in the treatment of shock and extensive bleeding among the wounded.

"It would be most unfortunate," he said, "if these hopeful reports on experiments with dextran led the blood donors to believe that their contributions were no longer necessary."

Dr. Cameron said he was aware of the experiments with dextran in the treatment of acute shock and extensive hemorrhage but had no detailed reports on its effectiveness.

The Red Cross Society's blood donor program is primarily a "whole blood show" he said, and it should be remembered that dextran does not replace blood.

The department of veterans affairs said it has all its hospitals trying out dextran but that there is no sign yet that it will replace plasma.

Deny Norway Pressed For Military Bases

OSLO, Norway (AP)—The Oslo newspaper Morgenposten today quoted Prime Minister Oscar Torp as saying that the Norwegian government has not been pressed by anyone to establish military bases on Norwegian soil.

Pravda, Soviet Communist party newspaper, said in Moscow Sunday that Norway is allowing the construction of air bases suitable for U.S. planes. It warned that such action is incompatible with friendly relations with the Soviet Union.

Morgenposten said that Torp, in an interview, declared that talk about bases was for political reasons and he described the occasional opinions on the question voiced by diplomatic sources as unfounded.

"I can imagine that many military experts wish to acquire bases on Norwegian territory," the newspaper quoted him as saying, "but this is only a military approach to the situation."

Fitzgerald Returns As Reeve of Smith

Reeve Gordon Fitzgerald and Deputy-Reeve Robert McAdam of Smith Township were acclaimed to office Monday afternoon at the annual nomination and ratepayers' meeting. Unexpectedly, there was little criticism of the recent annexation of 1,256 acres of Smith property by the city and nobody else was even proposed for the township's two top elective offices. An election for the three council seats is likely. This prospect provided the feature of the nomination meeting held in the county council chambers where interested ratepayers packed the gallery seats.

All of last year's council were nominated — Howard Beavis, Allan B. Mann, and Sidney Brown. But there were three others as well — Fred Tuggey, Newton P Young and Charles Ireland.

The surprise was the candidature of Mr. Tuggey, a Peterborough contractor who lives at 599 Waterford St. He is a former city councillor and an unsuccessful candidate in this year's city elections.

COTTAGE OWNERS

Mr. Tuggey said he intended to run to give the cottage owners in the township a say in the spending of municipal funds. He claimed that at present the cottages are being "exploited"; they receive too little in return for the taxes levied on them.

G. E. Beals and Geddes Harper were his sponsors.

Another newcomer is Newton P. Young. Mr. Young works in Peterborough but lives by the Lakefield Highway in Smith township.

Like Mr. Tuggey, he signed his qualification papers but he based his dissatisfaction on different grounds.

"You haven't heard any of us newcomers kicking about the taxes—whether they are high or low—but we do feel there is something wrong about the assessment," said Mr. Young. He stated

Shanghai Negro To Ohio Jail

COLUMBUS, O. (AP) — The strange story of the shanghaiing of an Alabama Negro at pistol point from Detroit and his lodging in an Ohio jail was disclosed Monday night as Michigan state police attempted to prevent the man's return to the south.

Michigan Governor G. Mennen Williams telegraphed Governor Frank J. Lausche of Ohio, asking his aid. But the telegram reached Lausche after Gerdis Hill, 21, an auto plant worker, was released from the Toledo jail in the custody of the man who transported him there.

Toledo Police Chief Ray E. Allen said a man who identified himself as Birmingham deputy H. Batson had placed Hill in the Jail. Batson had explained they were "in transit." He produced an Alabama warrant charging Hill with bond jumping.

Hill told the police he was accosted on a Detroit street at pistol point, handcuffed, and shanghaied across the state line.

Have More Planes

WASHINGTON (AP) — Gen. Hoyt S. Vandenberg, Air Force chief of staff, said Monday Soviet Russia has produced five times as many planes as the United States during the last five years.

Declaring that any cut in U.S. plane production can be "catastrophic," Vandenberg said:

"Even today the Russians are equalling our output, or perhaps bettering it."

Churchill Briefs Cabinet On Talks With Eisenhower

LONDON (CP) — Prime Minister Churchill gave his cabinet colleagues a last-minute briefing today on his coming talks with President-elect Eisenhower

Responsible informants indicated that the aging British leader plans to broach four major topics when he meets his old friend of Second World War days in New York.

These are:

1. Anglo-American tactics in case Stalin makes peaceful gestures more convincing than his Christmas declaration of willingness to meet Eisenhower and seek a Korea solution.

2. Britain's desire to become a member of the Anzus Pacific defence pact which now ties in only the United States.

3. General Far East strategy, Britain's part in it, and the impact on Britain and France of any new moves contemplated by the incoming Eisenhower administration.

4. Implications of Eisenhower's recent flying trip to Korea and whether it opened any new approach to solution of the Korean problem.

The Prime Minister plans to travel to Southampton in a special railway coach tonight, spending the night on the Queen Mary at the port's ocean pier. The ship is expected to leave Wednesday morning.

If the Queen Mary makes an undelayed voyage, Churchill will reach New York harbor Monday morning.

Emphasizing the informality of the trip is the fact that the Prime Minister will be accompanied only by his wife, his daughter, Mary, her husband, Christopher Soames, and a small party of aides. He leads no official governmental delegation.

Order Financier To Surrender

NEW YORK (AP) — Financier Serge M. Rubinstein, former "boy wonder of Wall Street" who first was exposed to finances at the Czar's court in old Russia, has until 4 p. m. EST today to surrender for deportation from the United States.

If he fails to show up, he stands to forfeit the $1,000 bond in which he now is free.

The deadline was set Monday in Washington by Attorney-General James P. McGranery, who ordered the 44-year-old Rubenstein taken into custody on a deportation order issued last February. It is based on a 1947 conviction of draft dodging.

In Hollywood, Milton Golden, a lawyer for Rubinstein, said his client had been in nearby Beverly Hills until last Friday but should be in New York by now.

More Points For Rotation

TOKYO (AP) — Behind-the-lines United States troops in Korea will need two additional points for rotation home after Jan. 1.

Gen. Mark W. Clark's headquarters today gave lack of replacements from the U. S. as the reason.

There was no change in the rotation requirement of nine months service — 36 points — for American soldiers at the front. Rear-area troops will need 40 instead of 38 points.

U. S. troops at the front get four rotation points a month. Those near the front get three and soldiers far to the rear get two.

Dairy Product Import Curbed

WASHINGTON (AP) — The U.S. agriculture department today restricted the import of dairy products which it said have contributed to a sharp drop in the price of American-made butter, cheese and dried milks.

Because of the competition of foreign supplies, the department said, it has found it necessary during the last six weeks to buy more than 13,000,000 pounds of butter and more than 1,000,000 pounds of cheese to aid producers of milk and butterfats. The cost was about $10,000,000.

Requests for the import restrictions were made by organized dairy producers.

Specifically, the restrictions will reduce the import of dried whole milk, dried cream and dried buttermilk. Similar foreign products, the department said, have been displacing domestically produced butterfat and milk because they were offered at prices lower than the domestically produced products.

Bus Upsets On Hill 26 Passengers Escape

LEBANON, O. (AP)—A Detroit-bound bus overturned on an icy hill early today north of Lebanon, but the 26 passengers escaped without critical injuries.

The state highway patrol said the Greyhound bus driver applied his brakes to avoid hitting a crashed truck at the foot of the hill.

The truck had smashed into a concrete bridge and hung over the side of the stream.

The Cincinnati - to - Detroit bus flipped over, and landed on its top on a 10-foot embankment.

Suffer Burns In Blast, Two Perish

Boy 3 Loses Life As Baby Sitter Unable To Help

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Fire took three lives in Ontario in the last 24 hours as two people died following an explosion and fire at a Cooksville plant and a boy, 3, perished in a farm house fire near Strathroy.

Mrs. Betty Drury, 34, and Ronald Kivell, 17, died in hospital today from burns suffered Monday in an explosion at the T. W. Hand Fireworks company plant at Cooksville.

Fellow workers at the plant said Mrs. Drury was working alone at the time in a small frame-and-stucco loading shop, one of many separate wooden structures at the plant. Kivell, a carrier, arrived with some "star" casings — cases in which explosives are placed to produce the type of firework which forms a star high in the air.

A low rumble was heard by others in the plant and bursts of smoke were seen rising from the shop. Mrs. Drury and Kivell were found rolling on the floor, their clothing ablaze.

Today's deaths raised the plant's death toll to nine since 1944. Two years ago four persons were hurt in an explosion. In 1944 a blast took seven lives.

Mrs. Drury started working at the plant in October to help her husband save for a new home. The couple had four young children under 12 years of age. A seven-year-old son was drowned in a pond four years ago.

RESCUE ATTEMPTS FAIL

In the Strathroy blaze, Paul Gast, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lorne Gast, of Adelaide township, was burned to death Monday night while left in the care of a baby sitter. The fire levelled their large two-storey farm home. Three rescue attempts were thwarted by intense smoke and heat.

Mr. and Mrs. Gast and two older boys, Roger and David, left Paul in charge of a niece, Mary Lee Thompson, about 14, while they visited Thedford. Another couple occupying quarters in the same house, Mr. and Mrs. Len Canon, were also away at the time.

The Gasts returned to see their home a mass of flames. Mrs. Gast could not believe her baby had perished and kept repeating: "Where's my boy? Where's my boy?"

The baby sitter was driven back by smoke when she tried to get upstairs to rescue Paul. She telephoned her father, Alex Thompson, and a neighbor, Frank Slater. Slater twice tried to reach the child by using a ladder but smoke and heat thwarted him.

Falls Into Hopper Oshawa Man Dies

OSHAWA (CP)—Robert S. Pollard, 27, was suffocated Monday when he fell into a 100-foot coal hopper at the General Motors plant here.

Pollard, a stoker, either slipped or fell into the hopper. Three times plant employees managed to get Pollard's head clear but coal continued to slip down on him.

Each time Pollard's head was brought up he was given oxygen, but finally rescue workers had to give up oxygen and concentrate on getting him out. He was dead when freed.

Woman 77 Left On Road By Hit-Run Driver

TORONTO (CP)—A 77-year-old pensioner on her way to early mass was struck down by an automobile today in east-central Toronto and left dazed and bleeding on the roadway. Mrs. Anna Chorney suffered a fractured hip. Because of her age, her condition is considered critical. Witnesses told police the car appeared to be travelling 50 to 55 miles an hour when it hit the woman and that the driver did not slacken his speed before or after the accident.

"He was going so fast, the woman was tossed in the air and the front of her fur coat torn to shreds," said an investigating officer. "He was out of sight before witnesses could get his licence number."

Police said there is no doubt the driver was aware his car struck the woman, who was just stepping on the curb. The right side of the car, described as a black coupe, spun her around.

It was rather dark at the time of the accident, which occurred at 7 a. m., and visibility was poor due to falling snow, police said.

Hopping Mad He's Not Jailed

COVENTRY, Eng. (AP) — Norman Pickering was hopping mad today—he won't be able to spend a fortnight in jail after all.

Pickering, 47 - year-old motorcycle engineer, drew the sentence after refusing "on principle" to pay a nominal £2 fine imposed by Coventry magistrates Dec. 17 for parking his car without lights outside his dead end street home. He said he thought a warning would have been enough.

Today police told him an anonymous friend had paid the fine.

"It's a ruse—face-saving climb down by the authorities," fumed the frustrated Pickering. "I have given them strict instructions not to accept the fine from anyone."

Pickering had been all set to spend his Christmas in prison. He threw a farewell beer party and knocked at the door of nearby Birmingham jail two days before Christmas. Embarrassed officials told him people just didn't pop into prison like that and sent him home until the proper orders arrived.

Today Pickering said he was sending the chief constable a bill for his expenses — including the cost of throwing the party.

Fingerprinting Law Clarified For Police

TORONTO (CP)—W. B. Common said today it is illegal for police to photograph or fingerprint motorists arrested for drunk driving or driving with impaired ability, unless the accused persons are tried by indictment.

The director of prosecutions of the attorney-general's department made the statement after Sarnia lawyers Ross Gray and Hugh Garrod said police in that city were taking fingerprints and photographs of motorists charged with these offences.

Monday the Sarnia police commission instructed its police on Mr. Common's ruling. The Sarnia barristers said many persons were "being treated like criminals even before they appeared in court."

Find Missing Link Thought Extinct 50,000,000 Years

DURBAN, South Africa (Reuters) —A scientist radioed Monday night that a mysterious creature caught off the Madagascar coast is a genuine coelacanth, a fish once thought to have been extinct for 50,000,000 years.

J. B. L. Smith sent the message from the plane on which he is flying back to Durban from the Comoro Islands. He said he was "elated" with the results of his examination on the little isle of Dzaoudzi where the specimen was caught.

The creature is about the size and weight of a small man, with fins shaped like crude arms and legs.

The coelacanth is suspected to be the "missing link" between the stage when evolutionists say organisms crawled out of the sea and began living on land.

The specimen was caught off the Comoro islands, between Africa and the island of Madagascar. Professor Smith, an ichthyologist (fish expert) from Rhodes University, made the hurried flight to reach the creature before it could rot.

His investigations may fit into place bits of the evolutionary puzzle which have plagued scientists ever since Charles Darwin came up with his then-revolutionary theory of evolution.

Scientists have long known such a fish once existed through their study of ancient fossils, but until 1938 they believed the species had died out about the time that land creatures first evolved from sea creatures—some 50,000,000 years ago.

It wasn't until 14 years ago that the first coelacanth was caught, off South Africa, and it deteriorated before Smith and other scientists could get a good look at it.

Happy Christmas For Mother Dying Of Cancer

ST. ALBANS, Vt. (AP)—Doctors today praised the courage of Mrs. Mary Decelle, 32, who didn't let the knowledge of sure death spoil the birth of her fifth child or the family's Christmas observance.

Mrs. Decelle gave birth to an apparently healthy five - pound, seven-ounce boy Saturday, and died of cancer less than 24 hours later.

The brave mother pleaded with doctors to be permitted to leave hospital so she could spend the holiday with her family at home.

KEEPS PROMISE

Doctors let her go home about 10 days before Christmas and Dec. 26 she kept her promise and returned to the hospital to face the death she, her husband and her parents knew was inevitable.

Dr. Walter Rath said Monday night "Mrs. Decelle was one of the most courageous women I've ever met in my life. She held the child long enough for us to take it and then she died."

Dr. Rath said permitting Mrs. Decelle to leave the hospital so she could be home for Christmas was "a big chance" because surgeons knew she was then living only from day to day.

"But," the doctor added, "the will, determination and courage of Mrs. Decelle prevailed."

The woman's 28-year-old husband Morton, an electrical mechanic, said that although his wife knew she was suffering from cancer and all hope had been given up for saving her life, she appeared to be happy on her last stay at home.

Eisenhower Has Taft Parley

NEW YORK (AP) — President-elect Eisenhower hopes to round out a preliminary draft of his legislative program at a conference today with Senator Robert A. Taft of Ohio and other Senate Republican leaders.

The senators are those who will have a key role in how far the general's legislative program gets in Congress. Besides Taft, due to become Senate majority leader, those scheduled to sit in at today's conference include:

Senators Styles Bridges of New Hampshire, prospective president pro tempore of the Senate — its presiding officer in the absence of the vice-president; Eugene D. Millikin of Colorado, chairman of the conference of all Republican senators; and Leverett Saltonstal of Massachusetts and Milton R. Young of North Dakota, members of the Senate Republican policy committee.

Aides said much preliminary work already has been done on the program and that Eisenhower hopes the first stages can be completed at today's meeting. Additional conferences with congressional leaders are planned for study of the final draft.

Thick Coastal Fog Causes Collision

LONDON (Reuters) — Thick fog along the east coast of Britain today caused a collision between a British naval liberty boat and the 4,000-ton Dutch passenger ship Princess Beatrix, off Harwich. The liberty boat sank but the 24 sailors in it were rescued.

Shipping elsewhere along the east coast was stalled.

Patchy fog in London disrupted air traffic for the fourth consecutive day.

Thick fog in the north of England the industrial Midlands, held up rail and road traffic.

Combing Records For Better Report On Horses

OTTAWA (CP)—The government has officials combing records to see what can be done to tame the horses that leaped out of the Currie report to become nationally famous almost overnight. The signs now are that the cabinet will indicate when parliament reconvenes Jan. 12 that it doesn't agree with that celebrated line in the report which says the horses got on the army payrolls as non-existent laborers. The controversial report on the Army Works Services said that during the clearing of an area at Camp Petawawa, "horses were hired by army personnel and placed on the payrolls under the names of non-existent laborers."

One veteran Liberal party strategist said privately: "If it weren't for those d—— horses, this situation wouldn't be too tough at all. But those nags are going to gallop from coast to coast."

A DIFFERENT LIGHT

A question on the order asking for details about the horses awaits the government. From information available now, it looks as if its answer will be that it doesn't see what happened in the light that Mr. Currie saw it.

It is understood that horses were hired in nearby Pembroke at $1-a-day apiece for the clearing project in a private deal by army personnel. Laborers hired for the project were then told they could be upgraded from 75 cents an hour to $1.50—the rate paid the men with teams of their own—if they would agree to kick back 70 cents of the $1.50.

Roland Tedford Douro Reeve Fourth Time

Roland Tedford, of R.R. 2, Indian River, was returned Monday for his fourth consecutive term as reeve of Douro township. Loyola Moloney, deputy-reeve since that office began in Douro in 1950, was also returned by acclamation.

The nomination meeting was in the Douro township hall which was packed to capacity.

An election, however, looms for the three council seats and for both school areas.

All three of last year's councillors were re-nominated. They were Bruce Dunford, Fergus Moher and Cletus Sullivan. Three others were nominated. Robert Heffernan declined; John K. Ryan, who was defeated in his bid last year, qualified; and Frank Condon, a former candidate, also qualified.

They will have till 9 p.m. today to make up their minds.

TWO SCHOOL BOARDS

Both school boards will likely be contested.

In School Area No. 2, Mrs. Floyd Curtis, believed to be the first woman to stand for trustee, qualified after she was nominated. Four others were nominated to fill the three vacancies: Howard Quinn, Leonard Welch, Kenneth Kidd and J. D. Nickle.

In School Area No. 2, five were nominated for the three vacancies. They include Alphonsus Condon, Bernard Leahy, John Allen, Joseph Sheehan and Frank Condon.

Messrs. Allen and Sheehan are completing their two-year terms. Patrick Condon, the third trustee, declined to run this year.

If there is an election, it will be January 5, polling hours 9 a.m. to 7 p.m.

James Gifford May Face Election In Ennismore

After 19 years as Reeve of Ennismore Township, James Gifford may have to contest an election. At the nomination meeting held Monday in Ennismore village John Harrington, a councillor for 12 years, was nominated.

Indications are that both men will stand for election.

Three members of the 1952 council—Thomas Harrington, William Cavanagh, and Fred Jolliffe—were nominated. Two other nominees were Herbert Moloney, defeated last year, and Harry Long, a former councillor. Four are to be elected.

Mr. Harrington has been a councillor for 12 years; Mr. Cavanagh for three years, and Mr. Jolliffe is completing his first term.

John Harrington was also nominated to council but he declined in favor of the nomination for reeveship.

Nominees have till 9 p.m. tonight to qualify.

If there is an election it will be January 5, polling hours 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. Polls will be the village hall and O'Reilly's School.

Rink Manager Causes Storm

RENFREW (CP)—A municipal clash over appointment of a rink manager has developed into a political storm resulting in resignation of two municipal councillors and the threatened resignation of a third.

Renfrew is 50 miles west of Ottawa.

Councillor Harvey Payne, who claims he received "abuse" from the mayor, said he will resign if the mayor does not make a public apology by Dec. 31.

All three claim that the mayor was "insulting" when questioned about the appointment last week of Wilfred Burnley as municipal rink manager and the salary he is to receive.

Mrs. Hamilton

turned to where McClure's truck was parked across the road from the Hamilton property. After parking her car and watching for a time, she said she saw a man emerge from the bush from a neighboring property. After a conversation with him, she learned the man was McClure and identified him as the man she had seen in the bush cutting the branches.

McClure admitted talking with Mrs. Hamilton the day in question, and there was only a disagreement on details of the conversation they had.

He told Mrs. Hamilton he was in the business of cutting cedar boughs and selling them for floral decorations. She warned him that if any cedar was missing from the Hamilton property, she would hold him responsible. McClure said he denied being on Mrs. Hamilton's property that day or cutting any cedar owned by her. He repeated his denial in court and said that he and his hired man had been cutting cedar on a nearby farm where they had already obtained permission to cut the branches.

McClure also denied having used a knife to cut the branches for several years and produced clippers in court which he said both her and his hired man were accustomed to using. Mrs. Hamilton still insisted, however, that the man she had seen in the woods was using a knife.

She added that a knife had been hanging from McClure's belt when she saw him come out of the bush.

Ten bunches of cedar and two bunches of hemlock (Mrs. Hamilton said she counted 16 bunches) that Mrs. Hamilton saw McClure loading into his truck at the scene were identified as belonging to another man who had asked McClure to pick them up for him. He appeared in court to confirm McClure's evidence.

"It is rather an unusual case," said Magistrate Philp in giving judgement today. "There are unusual aspects that could be noted by anyone reading the evidence. I do not think counsel for the defence can be censured in any regard in his handling of the case. The magistrate said that in his opinion the Crown's case "reduced to whether McClure was the man on the property of Joseph Hamilton described by Mrs. Hamilton . . .

It was only after she saw the truck together with the accused and asked his name that she apparently decided in her own mind he was the man.

"The accused has given the definite statement that he was not on the Hamilton property and I believe from his evidence he knows the limits of the property."

The magistrate pointed out that McClure's testimony that he was not on the property was counterbalanced by Mrs. Hamilton's identification of him as the man she saw in the bush but that he was dismissing the charge because the "degree of certainty" he regarded as being necessary for a conviction was lacking in the evidence.

Nancy Oakes Has Brilliant Nassau Wedding

NASSAU, Bahamas (AP)—Gold heiress Nancy Oakes and her husband, Baron Ernst Lyssard von Hoyningen Huene, flew to Europe for a honeymoon today following their wedding Monday night in this British colonial town.

The candlelight ceremony took place in the Anglican church of St. Mary the Virgin and was performed by the Lord Bishop of Nassau, the Rt. Rev. Spence Burton.

A glittering society crowd from the Bahamas, the United States, Canada, England and Mexico packed the church and hundreds stood outside during the ceremony.

The first part was in the centre of the church where the nave and chancel meet. After the bishop pronounced the couple man and wife, they moved up to the high altar where they recited the Lord's Prayer and were blessed.

The church was decorated with gladioli, hibiscus and white carnations.

GOVERNOR ATTENDS

Lady Eunice Oakes, mother of the bride, was present with her son, Sir Sydney Oakes, and Lady Oakes.

After the ceremony, a reception was held at Jacaranda House, Lady Eunice Oakes' home in Nassau. The couple will honeymoon in Europe before going to Mexico, where the baron is completing languages and economics studies.

The bride wore a pale pink beige evening dress and jacket and a head covering of old Irish lace. Her only attendant was Countess de Premio (nee Lascelles McClure Gudewill of Montreal), who wore a light blue crinoline-skirted evening dress.

Baron Ture von Hoyningen Huene, brother of the groom, was best man and represented the family.

Nancy is the eldest daughter of the late Sir Harry and Lady Eunice Oakes and was born in Toronto.

It was Nancy's second marriage. Her first marriage to Alfred de Marigny was annulled by the New York Supreme Court in 1950.

Rork Ferguson Acclaimed Norwood Reeve

Two other men—Rod Webb and Gordon Parker—were nominated for the reeveship, but both declined, and accepted council nominations. This year's council went in by acclamation for 1953—Mr. Webb, Mr. Parker, John Nixon and Ivan Begg.

Candidates who plan to run must qualify by 9 p.m. today. An election, if necessary, will be held next Monday.

Mr. Ferguson, who has been Reeve for 11 of the past 12 years, indicated he would stand again. He was Reeve for seven years until 1948, when William Pakenham took the senior council post. Mr. Ferguson returned in 1949 and has been Reeve since.

Rod Webb, a councillor for six years, was also nominated for the reeveship, but declined.

All three school trustees whose terms expired this year were nominated: Jack Stewart and Gordon Stackhouse seeking their second term, and H. W. Hudson seeking his third term.

Two newcomers were nominated as trustees, but one, Irwin Warner, declined. The second, Wilfred Brown, has not yet indicated whether he will stand.

Three were nominated for the Utilities Commission: Kenneth Pakenham, a member for years and chairman during part of 1952; Walter Bitten, another veteran, and one newcomer, George Millett. Mr. Pakenham became chairman this year after the death of the former chairman, Harold Bolton.

REVIEW COUNCIL WORK

Reeve Fergupson reviewed the work of county council during the year, and Mr. Webb spoke of the village council's efforts. Both declared they would like to see tax payments for the village put on a quarterly basis, and more streets and sidewalks built for the village. This construction would be done by issuing debentures.

Mr. Pakenham, speaking for the Utilities Commission, said that the commission would probably get a refund from the HEPC amounting to about $400.

Bidault Trying To Get Gov't

PARIS (AP)—Premier-designate Georges Bidault stepped up his efforts today to forge wide support for a coalition government that would push for harsh tax reforms at home and swift ratification of the European Army to bring German troops into the Western defence system.

After conferring all day Monday with leaders of France's major parties, Bidault agreed to try to form a government. He must assure himself a strong majority in the assembly before he can be invested in the job vacated by Premier Antoine Pinay.

Bidault gave top priority to the European Army treaty, declaring it was necessary to bring the pact "out of the icebox." Both France and Germany have stalled in getting their Parliaments to ratify the treaty which would form a one-uniform international Western European Army to be attached to the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

Base Metals Ahead On Toronto Exchange

TORONTO (CP) — Base metals raced ahead in more active early afternoon stock market trading today and other sections picked up.

Noranda, Barvue and Steep Rock were among the few losers.

Utilities, steels, refining oils and banks led the gains in industrials. General Motors and Trans-Montain Pipeline each added more than $1. Papers and foods slipped.

Prospects attracted interest in the golds list and seniors held firm. Gunnar, Chimo, Graham Bousquet and Quesabe moved actively for penny gains. Junior producers held firm, and holding companies gained.

Western oils balanced gains and losses with most leading issues rising. Canada Southern, Home and Stanwell led the gains.

MORE ABOUT—

Fitzgerald Returns

that there must be some "happy medium" to satisfy both the old and the new residents of the municipality.

The sixth nominee was Charles Ireland who was defeated in his bid for council last year.

Ed Kimball and W. C. Mann were acclaimed as trustees for 1953 on the school area.

Mr. Fitzgerald is a veteran of more than 20 years in Smith politics. He has now been returned for his second consecutive year as reeve; before that he was two consecutive years as deputy reeve. He has also held a number of appointive posts in the municipality.

Mr. McAdam is beginning his second consecutive year as deputy reeve. Previously he was a councillor.

The election will be January 5 and the polls will be open 9 a.m. to 7 p.m.

COUNTY RATE UP

Reeve Fitzgerald, in giving an account of his 1952 stewardship, pointed out that it was the county rate and not the township rate that was up. The extra "three mills or so" was chiefly required to wipe out a $19,000 deficit that the county began the year with, he said. With minor exceptions—on the part of the county roads committee and reforestation committee—the committees had kept within their budgets.

He said 6,395 cubic yards of gravel had been laid on county roads in the township; from Young's Point to the 9th line; all of the middle line, and part of the 8th.

"We have got our share of gravel this year compared with the other townships," said the reeve.

On the touchy subject of annexation, Reeve Fitzgerald said that council had considered it thoroughly and could see no other solution. The Land Assembly took options on the 516 acres without consulting them; then the city bought 22 acres in the Queen Elizabeth area.

Then there was the problem of school accommodation.

"We couldn't see anything but for that land to go in with the city," he said.

HELP FROM HYDRO

Deputy-Reeve McAdam said that the $19,000 deficit in the county at the beginning of 1952 had come as "a bit of a shock" to him as well. But this deficit has been just about eliminated and "now the picture is looking pretty good."

During the year the $6,000 Tully bridge was completed on the 2nd line, he said.

Both Deputy Reeve McAdam and Councillor Mann thought that the expenditure of more than $6,000 on the 2nd line was worth while. It was undertaken with the Hydro Electric Power Commission paying 50 per cent of the cost because the heavy hydro trucks were tearing up the road.

"I think it was an extra good job and there will be an extra good road for years to come," said Mr. Mann.

Howard Beavis said that the Smith township roads this year compare favorably with any in a similar municipality.

Sidney Brown complimented the Bridgenorth and Suburban Area fire departments on their work. And he assured farmers that, despite annexation, they would still get service.

"From the school board's point of view, annexation was a good thing," said Trustee W. C. Mann.

He said they were faced with the prospects of building a new school and hiring extra teachers. Taxes may be higher, he conceded, but they won't go as high as they would have done had there been no annexation.

Chairman of the meeting was A. I. Edmison, township clerk and treasurer.

Jas. Humphries Asphodel Reeve For 10th Term

WESTWOOD (ENS) — James Humphries of RR 3 Hastings on Monday was acclaimed reeve of Asphodel township. He is beginning his 10th consecutive term.

The acclamation came at the annual nomination and ratepayers' meeting held in the Asphodel Community Hall, Westwood. A good attendance of ratepayers was reported.

Council will also be the same for 1953. Councillors Bruce Graham, Max Scott, Walter Middlebrook and James Beamish were all returned by acclamation. The same members served in 1951.

Five have been nominated for the two vacancies on the school board.

The nominees include Richard Coughlin and Harold Fife whose terms expire Jan. 1, and three newcomers—Bernard Heffernan, Mrs. Jean Graham and Stanley Andrews. Aubrey Wood, Gordon Warner and Wilfred Buck have still another year to serve as trustees.

JAN. 5 ELECTION

The prospective candidates have until 9 p.m. today to qualify. If there is an election it will be Jan. 5, the polling hours 9 a.m. to 5 p.m.

Reeve Humphries gave an account of county expenditures during the fiscal year and dealt specifically with the administration of justice, child welfare, indigent patients and the Old People's Home.

Councillor Graham reported that the township had bought a new truck for snow removal. And he said there was still lots of work to be done on the community centre.

Councillor Scott said some 4,000 cubic yards of gravel had been dumped on township roads during the year. A number of hills had been removed making driving easier and safer.

Councillor Middlebrook also declared the roads in good condition.

Mrs. F. E. Birdsall asked some questions regarding women jurors who will be eligible for the panel in 1953.

Trustee Harold Fife told of a tour of the schools and said that Cameron and Birdsall schools, no longer used since a school area was formed, had been sold. The school is now centrally located in Westwood.

Fergus Enjoys New Year, Becomes Town

FERGUS, Ont. (CP) — New year's, 1953, will be remembered as the day Fergus became a town.

For years this bustling centre 13 miles north of Guelph has claimed to be the biggest village in Canada. It has a population of 3,500 and 20 industries. There are three schools, six churches, a hotel, a public library, seven lodges and a swimming-pool where at least one outstanding Canadian swimmer has practised.

Last summer Shirley Campbell, 16-year-old Fergus stenographer, won the three-mile women's professional swimming race at the Canadian National Exhibition.

Fergus was founded in 1834 by Hon. Adam Fergusson. Scottish immigrants were its first settlers. Its residents today are regarded as industrious, thrifty and sober. There are no pubs. A beverage room was opened some years ago but it eventually closed.

FINANCIAL ANGLES

One reason Fergus remained a village long after the population reached town proportions was because of several financial angles.

Government grants to villages for road maintenance were 75 per cent. Grants to towns were 50 per cent. It was felt that cost of maintaining municipal government and public works was less under a village set-up.

But now financial benefits have become more or less the same and it was decided to move up to town status.

JAIL NOW WAREHOUSE

Fergus residents are so law-abiding that the town jail is leased to a factory as a warehouse. There is, however an efficient police force with three full-time officers to keep the peace.

Located on the Grand river, Fergus is in the centre of Wellington county. Guelph, Kitchener, Galt Waterloo, Brantford, Hamilton, Toronto, Orangeville and Owen Sound all are within 75 miles.

TWO OF THESE THREE veteran reeves may face an election next Monday. Rork Ferguson (left), 11 years reeve of Norwood, and James Gifford (right), 19 years reeve of Ennismore township, will know by 9 o'clock tonight whether they must contest their positions. Centre is James Humphries, of Asphodel township, reeve for nine years, who was acclaimed Monday at the nomination meeting in Westwood. He starts his 10th term this coming year.

Youth Discuss Needs In Panel Group

What Are The Needs of Youth, was the topic of a panel discussion held at the Rotary Youth luncheon Monday.

The program of this luncheon, the first of its kind to be held by the Peterborough club, was designed as a special youth meeting. About 40 sons and daughters of club members were guests at the luncheon.

The panel discussion, under the leadership of Ross Cotton, was the main feature of the program. The home, religion, vocation and recreation as they affect youth today were discussed by panel members, Hugh Outram, Don Smith, Miss Judy Hardill and Miss Joan Herd.

Harmony in the home was considered a necessary factor for youth. Panel members also pointed out that youth should be given responsibilities in the home accompanied by guidance. The panel also voted yes for allowances which they claimed would give training in the value of money.

All members agreed that they were satisfied with the religious teaching today. They also agreed that going to church helps solve the problems of everyday life.

MORE EDUCATION

The two male members of the panel said they did not think school students spent a great deal of time worrying about future jobs or professions. But all members agreed that not enough of today's youth are going as far in education as they should.

The greatest controversy of the discussion revolved around the topic, recreation. The two main questions discussed were: are there adequate recreation facilities in Peterborough and are these facilities being used properly?

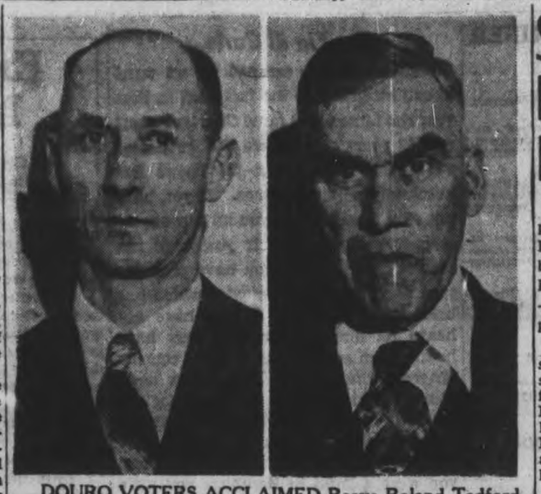
The panel said that there are not adequate recreation facilities in the city, but also were agreed that the facilities provided are not being used to their full advantage.

At the start of the meeting President Bob Maybee turned the meeting over to John Outram. Terry Northrop was pianist for the meeting and Miss Jean Smith led the sing-song. Miss Betty Lapp played a piano solo.

Ian Smith introduced the guests.

The Rotarians and Youth Committee of the club were thanked by Ross Dobbin and Miss Joan Herd.

The program for the luncheon was arranged by the Youth Committee under the chairmanship of Charles Forsyth.



DOURO VOTERS ACCLAIMED Reeve Roland Tedford (left) and Deputy-Reeve Loyola Moloney Monday at the annual nomination meeting. Reeve Tedford starts his fourth term this coming year, deputy-reeve Moloney his fourth term, too. Elections are likely for both council, where six were nominated for three positions, and both school boards. In school area No. 1, six were nominated for three posts; in No. 2, five were nominated for the three positions.

Super-Priority For Two New Bombers

LONDON (Reuters) — Super-priority ratings for production of Britain's two new revolutionary jet bombers — the crescent-winged HP-80 and the triangular Avro 689 —were announced Monday by Supply Minister Duncan Sandys.

The HP-80, a four-engined monster with a crescent-shaped wing sweeping back from the fuselage, flew for the first time Chsritmas Eve and came off the secret list last Saturday. Its makers, Handley Page, say it can fly faster, higher and farther with a heavier bomb-load than any other bomber.

The delta-wing Avro 689 — a flying wing - came off the secret list last summer.

OTHER PRIORITIES

Sandys also extended super-priority to makers of three commercial airliners, likely to become Britain's most valuable export. These are the Comet jetliner and two turbo-prop jobs — the Viscount and the Britannia.

The super-priority rating was introduced last March and was quickly applied to both military planes. Its extension to the five new types means that manufacturers will be able to get scarce materials from six to 12 months earlier than if they had to wait their normal turn.

Year For Truck Theft

TORONTO (CP)—Willard Delore, 25, of Midland Monday was sentenced to one year for stealing a truck and two months for stealing 75 cents worth of street-car tickets. The sentences are concurrent.

De Valera Home Eyesight Saved

DUBLIN (AP)—Prime Minister Eamon de Valera returned home Monday night after 4½ months of successful eye surgery and treatments in an Utrecht clinic.

In a statement issued at Amsterdam, the 70-year-old prime minister disclosed for the first time that a retina of his eye had become partially detached threatening total blindness.

"As a result of the treatment at the University Eye Hospital (in Utrecht)," he said, "the retina is now completely reattached and my sight is at the position it was before the detachment occurred."

Taylor Appointed Acting Deputy

OTTAWA (CP)—Kenneth W. Taylor has become acting deputy minister of finance following the death Saturday of William Clifford Clark, a finance department official said Monday night.

The official said that Mr Taylor, as senior assistant to the late deputy minister, automatically moved up to act in his stead.

Alibi Challenged, Jailed For 18 Months

COBOURG (ENS)—John McIntyre of Hamilton, found guilty last week of breaking into the Sunoco oil depot here on Nov. 30, was yesterday sentenced by Magistrate R. B. Baxter to 18 months definite and six indefinite in the reformatory.

When the oil depot was broken into an attempt was made to batter in the door of the safe, but without success. Police found a wallet near the warehouse with papers in it identifying John McIntyre as the owner.

The defence countered the crown's evidence with testimony which attempted to establish that the wallet had been lost in Toronto. McIntyre's girl friend said she lost the wallet and reported its loss to the lost and found department of the Union station and to a radio station. However police said they could find no record of the loss being so reported.

Child Suffocated

TORONTO (CP)—John Alexander 10 weeks old, was suffocated in his bedclothes Monday. The child was put to bed in the afternoon and was dead when examined a short time later.

Industrials Lost Ground Western Oils Broke Even In 1952 Financial Index

By HARRY KINGDON
Canadian Press Staff Writer

TORONTO (CP)—Contradictory trends marked activity on the Toronto stock exchange in the year now ending. But the exchange figures show 1952 was a big year for stock trading.

A leading Toronto financial journal calls 1952 "the most prosperous in our history." Yet none of the Toronto exchange's indices of market activity showed an advance over Dec. 31, 1951.

Industrials lost ground on the index in spite of the fact that Canadian companies paid more in dividends than ever before.

Western oils broke about even on the year, in spite of sharp third-quarter declines and a feeling among many observers that some oils were over-priced.

Golds closed almost unchanged in spite of constantly-dashed hopes for an increase in the price of gold. Increased government cost-aid made little permanent difference to the golds index.

Base metals upset predictions of January, 1952, by declining during the year. The loss was a reaction to lower prices for various base metals. Mining companies in general, however, distributed record dividends.

LISTING VALUE HIGHER

Value of listings on the Toronto exchange rose from about $12,000,000,000 in 1951 to about $19,000,000,000 in 1952. Value of trading increased from $1,100,000,000 to about $1,30,000,000.

Some 30,000,000 more shares were traded in 1952 than in 1951—590,000,000 compared with 560,000,000.

Western oils started the year with a general upswing, sparked by news of discoveries in the west. Base metals followed, on general optimism. Industrials and golds slid lower.

About this time, the Toronto exchange was running ahead of the New York market, which usually sets the pace. Back in February, however, dips on the New York market were followed obediently by industrials, base metals and western oils.

Thereafter Toronto trading frequently ran ahead of New York. The two centres started to draw together when "the long decline" set in at the end of August.

The Toronto indexes struck several lows for the year. Brief recoveries followed the two-month slump and a possible up-turn appeared toward the end of December, especially in western oils. But all sections failed to reach pre-September heights.

Army Closing Officer School

OTTAWA (CP)—The Army will close its emergency officer-training school at Camp Borden, Ont., at the end of January, it was announced Monday.

The Officers Candidate School was established in June, 1951, to meet an urgent need for junior officers for formations assigned to Korea and Germany. It graduated 380 men but many more failed to make the grade against its tough physical, emotional and psychological obstacles.

The Army said the school is no longer needed because the new regular officer training plan supersedes it.

Blamed For Accident Railman Executed

BUDAPEST, Hungary (AP) — A Budapest railway employee accused of causing a railway accident through negligence has been sentenced to death and executed, Budapest newspapers reported today.

A brief report lifted the secrecy of the Dec. 26 railway accident which caused the deaths of "several persons" when two trains crashed in a Budapest suburb.

Imre Molnar, described only as "a railway man" whose "negligence and carelessness" caused the accident, had been tried by a court martial. He was executed Monday.

Mitchell, 35, a Yugoslavian actor, will be Miss Lee's second husband. Her first was Dave Barbour, guitarist and orchestra leader.

To Discuss Union

NEW YORK (AP) — AFL president George Meany said Monday he and CIO President Walter Reuther have arranged to meet in Washington to discuss proposals to merge the two labor unions. Meany appearing on a television program, said the negotiations will start after the new year and are sure to be "long-winded."

Greater Productivity May Be Key To Economic Advances

MONTREAL (CP) — President Lewis W. Simms of the Canadian Chamber of Commerce, in a year-end message today, said greater productivity may well be the key to ensuring Canada's economic advance in 1953.

Although there may be regional difficulties, "barring unforeseen circumstances, there doesn't seem to be anything on the horizon to mar Canada's record as being the greatest economic news story of the last decade."

"Canadians can rely on competition and the flexibility of free enterprise to carry the economy through the stresses of 1953."

The democratic competitive system has been a force in achievement of Canada's high standards of productivity, but "we must be careful not to impede that force by taxation policies which would kill the incentive of individuals and industry to produce."

WELFARE SCHEMES COSTLY

"It is important to realize that while almost one-half of our current tax burden is for defence—needed as insurance for our freedom—welfare schemes were absorbing 29 per cent of our revenue. The time has come when we should consider whether we are now carrying too great a load and whether we have reached the limit of what we can ask from government in the way of non-defence spending."

These highlights of the economic outlook were outined by Mr. Simms:

Trade—Possible levelling off in over-all trade, with Canadian manufacturers likely to find export markets tough and competitive.

Canadian dollar—Likely to stay at a premium for the first two months of the year and then show signs of dropping to par or below.

Costly of living—Remaining fairly stable with a tendency to rise, but only moderately.

Employment — Usual seasonal unemployment early in the year; aggregate payrolls, however, likely to stay firm; any trend would likely be slightly upward

Industrial production—Rise moderately, remaining somewhat higher than in the first half of 1952.

Wholesale prices—Possibility of further down drift.

Farm prices—Might be slight decline, but over-all picture might pick up; re-entry of Canadian cattle into United States market could help to improve matters.

Capital expenditures—Public and private capital expenditures expected to equal those of 1952.

Consumer buying—Upward trend started in latter half of 1952 expected to continue.

Work With Coats On

COBOURG (ENS)—They worked with their coats on in the various offices quartered in the town hall, when the heating system broke down yesterday. The stoker had been acting up for some time but fortunately struggled along until the weekend cold spell was replaced by mild weather. Repair work is going on rapidly to get things operating again before the mercury takes another dip.

Synthetic Sugar Formula Taking Place Of Plasma

By BILL BOSS
Canadian Press Staff Writer

IN KOREA (CP)—Plasma is about to bow out over here, The Canadian Press has learned, giving way to a synthetic sugar formula called "dextran."

Dextran is nothing more than the same synthetic sugar used in cheap candy bars but dissolved instead in salt water. The blood will accept it in solution and combine with it, keeping the forces of life pulsating in men who have bled enormously until whole blood can be added.

Doctors are excited about the new life-preserving substances, which, they say, is much superior to plasma.

FAVORED BY CANADIANS

The United States Army has decided to change to it and Canadian medical officers here have recommended to army headquarters in Ottawa that Canada follow suit.

Plasma, dried blood crystals dissolved in a saline solution, is administered to soldiers as soon after injury as possible to keep up their body fluid content until transfusions may be performed.

Army doctors, however, have long sought a substitute for plasma for three reasons:

1. Jaundice is produced as a side effect among 15 per cent of patients receiving it.

2. It is expensive, costing $40 a bottle.

3. It can safely make up to only between 40 and 60 per cent of the blood stream's fluid. If the blood proportion drops much below 60 per cent it doesn't combine properly with plasma.

FAR SUPERIOR

Research workers in the United States experimented with several synthetics, including dextran and the cheap candy sugar won hands down.

Dextran's medical significance first was discovered by Scandinavian researchers, whose work was pounced upon by British and American colleagues. It now is commercially produced both in Britain and the United States.

Its advantages are that it is easy to produce, is cheap, has the right resuscitative properties and at the same time is nutritional. Most important, it is successful with far less real blood remaining in the stream than is plasma.

With dextran the proportion of blood can drop to 40 per cent with safety. It has succeeded with only 20-per-cent blood here. And during one rigidly-controlled experiment at 8055 mobile army surgical hospital a man whose blood proportion fell to 10 per cent pulled through.

OVERCOME PROBLEMS

An early problem with American soldier patients, who are avid candy bar eaters, was the side effects caused by the same sugar when injected directly into the veins of bodies conditioned to the stuff.

One effect was to lower the kidney's retentive properties. The other was the direct opposite. Kidneys clogged, causing stoppages.

Such effects were caused by the way certain large molecules combined with the blood. Special filters were devised to screen those molecules out and now medical dextran has only molecules which combine freely.

To the taxpayer its supreme advantage is its cost. Dextran costs less than $2 a bottle.

It already has been tested at the 37th Canadian field ambulance, commanded by Lt.-Col. Clyde Caswell of Camp Borden, Ont., and Canadian officers express the same enthusiasm for it that their American colleagues do.

Too late for Agincourt

EVEN THE BOWMEN who toppled armor-plated knights at Agincourt would have been impressed by the range of a modern aluminum bow used at a recent British archery championship. It shot the winning arrow a distance of 353 yards. Made of a special alloy, the bow had a tensile strength of thirty-two tons!

While sturdy aluminum is playing an essential part in Canadian defence production for the free world, we're afraid the new aluminum bow is a little late for defence use in our atomic age. Aluminum Company of Canada, Ltd. (Alcan).

Chickens Talk In Code That Warns Of Hawk, Dog

By ALTON L. BLAKESLEE

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Chickens talk in a cluck-and-squawk code of remarkable meanings, two scientists reported today.

They can say "hawk coming" or in a different sound "dog or danger around." The baby chick says an equivalent of "hey, mom, I'm lost" and the hen can say "come here" or "dinner's ready."

The study of chicken language even suggests a scientific method of chicken stealing—of which more in a moment.

The sound signals of chickens were analyzed by Dr. Nicholas Collias, zoologist now at Cornell University, and Professor Martin Joos of the University of Wisconsin.

"TALK" RECORDED

The chicken "talk" was recorded by an electronic machine, the spectograph, which translate sounds into wavy lines on paper. The lines give an objective record of the frequencies and intensity.

Joos made the recordings, and Collias made the interpretations, described to the American Association for the Advancement of Science.

Wavy lines show when a chick is chirping in pleasure, or in distress at being alone, hungry, cold or thirsty or hurt. The frequency or timing of the chirps is different.

The broody hen clucks as she walks, summoning her chicks to follow her, Collias said. She gives about two clucks a second.

When the hen discovers food, she clucks rapidly, about four clucks a second, to call her chicks to join the feast.

At night, when she roosts, she gives a purring sound, lasting about 1½ seconds, to bring all chicks under her wing.

If a hawk appears, chickens have an alarm scream, loud and raucous, that sends chicks running to shelter.

But if it's danger from the ground, a dog or a man, the warning is loud, repeated calls of a bit different frequency. The hen also seems to give an alerting call, low and rather brief and harsh, that makes chicks stop and freeze. This is a rapidly-pulsed call.

An Important Municipal Development

On Thursday Peterborough will be enlarged by 1,256 acres and 960 citizens. Neither the acreage nor the number of people make this annexation the most important municipal event of this year; the heart of the deal does. Central to the 1,256 acre parcel out of Smith township, and the chief reason for the annexation, is an area of 516 acres now designated as a Land Assembly block. This is farm land, as yet not developed for housing. The rest of the annexed territory is south and southwest of this Land Assembly area, except a short strip east of it and bordering the Lakefield road—the Filtration Plant land. This strip and the suburban lots south and southwest to Jackson Park tidy the edges of the annexed territory and bring into the city a built-up area which Smith Township felt was urban anyway and beyond its own capacities to serve.

* * *

The Land Assembly area of 516 acres is the heart of the matter. In this remarkable co-operation of Federal, Provincial, city and township governments, a new era in Peterborough planning has taken shape. In the past this city, like most others in Canada, has developed higgledy-piggledy, without rhyme, reason or charm. The outskirts are built up, down and across, a warren of houses, streets and alleys, and then the city has to take them in as they are, often without park or school space, without sewers and water, and with outbuildings and shacks that do not conform with normal urban safety and sanitation requirements. In recent years the townships have drawn up their own building regulations, and the Suburban Planning Committee oversees developments. The Land Assembly area now to be taken into the city is really an extension of town-and-country planning.

* * *

The area (the 516 acres) has become public property. It will be subdivided with care, and houses built and lots sold according to plans drawn to provide for good and orderly development of this new section of Peterborough. The choice of this region in which the land has been "assembled" is excellent. It will check the southern sprawl on the flats, restore the city to its normal centre of gravity (displaced by southern extensions of the last dozen years) and anticipate the northern growth already manifest in the suburban area being annexed south of the Land Assembly area. It is this anticipation of development which gives the scheme its greatest worth. Peterborough's new north will grow from well-placed roots, and will grow in a way which the city can manage economically, without sudden strain on its services. A further value is this: private citizens are protected against speculative prices by this public investment in land.

* * *

The land has been assembled at no cost to the city and ratepayers whatsoever. The preliminary work of survey, and the land purchase itself, have been at the cost of the Provincial and Federal governments. Peterborough will have to provide sewers, water and pavement in due course—that is, as housing sites are required. It would eventually have to provide these anyway, whether or not the land had been assembled, whether or not the area was annexed this year. It is easier and better to plan these services and their financing now, and to do them before houses and alleys are created, than to have to take on the work fifteen years hence, when a cluttered suburb requires annexing. The present new way now possible, authorized by the Municipal Board and financed by Ottawa and Toronto, means that the city can supervise its own future growth.

* * *

Peterborough tax-payers may be rueful that in order to secure the Land Assembly area of 516 acres against future developments, the city had to annex also 740 other acres of Smith township. This larger acreage is mainly built over. With these 740 acres the township council has got rid of some problems and considerable expense. On the other hand, Peterborough has acquired them. The chief problem is overcrowded schools; the chief immediate expense will be school building to house the pupils. The dual annexation—of the 516 acres of assembled land, and the 740 acres of built-over suburbs—will provide side by side a lesson in city development; the one section coming in with all its problems created, the other coming in unencumbered, its future in the hands of the city which will administer it from the outset.

La Zia di Carlo

Before 1952 has escaped us, we want to call attention to the fact that in that year the famous old farce Charley's Aunt was 60 years old. There can be few of our readers for whom this news has absolutely no significance. If you have not seen it well acted, you have probably seen it badly acted. If you have not seen it on the stage, you have probably seen one of the three movies which has been made from it. If you have not heard its lines spoken, you may have heard them sung in the musical comedy Where's Charley? If you are a newcomer to this country you have not necessarily escaped Charley's Aunt; it has been familiar to you in your native France as La Marraine de Charley; when you were a child in Hamburg you were perhaps taken to see Charley's Tante; before you left Naples you probably saw La Zia di Carlo; even if you are a Japanese you may have seen a version of the play called The Aunt of Hawaii. But wherever you saw the play the cry of the false Donna Lucia Dalvadorez was the same—"I'm Charley's aunt from Brazil—where the nuts come from!"

The humour of the play is indestructible; it may be badly bent, but it is never utterly broken. Mauled by amateurs, Charley's Aunt is still funny, and it has been savagely set upon in countless church basements and high school auditoriums. Skilfully performed it delights even those who have declared beforehand that they can never laugh at it again. It is not a great play; its situations are contrived and its characters are caricatures. It is not as funny as The Importance of Being Earnest; nobody reads it for pleasure. But it is made of iron; it is funny even in Japanese; it is recognizable even as La Zia di Carlo.

It is scheduled for 20 productions in England next year, not counting a special Coronation production in London. A remarkable old party for her sixty years, is Charley's Aunt.

A Great Civil Servant

Dr. W. C. Clark, Deputy Minister of Finance since 1932, was Canada's most distinguished public servant. Without political ambitions, he was the fiscal power behind every Canadian government since Prime Minister Bennett appointed him chief financial adviser. He served five Ministers of Finance. His ability amounted to genius. It was he who created the financial structure of notable pieces of social welfare legislation like the National Housing Act, and family allowances, supervised the establishment of the Bank of Canada, sought and found financial and economic policies which carried Canada triumphantly through the war, and made Canadian public finance and our economic fabric the admiration of the world. Few people have Dr. Clifford Clark's mental prowess. When men of his stamp accept and direct public service, a country's nervous system is well tended, and its whole Civil Service grows eminent with him. Dr. Clark died suddenly in Chicago where he had gone to deliver a lecture. His age was 63.

Vietnam And Vietminh

The New York Times recently remarked that "France is the key to European defence. But Indo-China is the key to France". The war in Indo-China is consuming half the French national budget, and taking the lives of her sons. While this costly, terrible war goes on without an end in sight other than the complete withdrawal of France from her Asian colonial empire. France has little heart for re-armament in Europe.

The most distasteful lesson for the French as this winter's campaigning season in North Vietnam (Indo-China) begins, has been to learn that they are incapable of mounting an offensive. The Communist-controlled rebels, the Vietminh supported by a thousand tons of military supplies coming to them monthly, have proved this. Last month the Vietminh drove through Vietnam territory in more than divisional strength while the bulk of their forces were committed to another offensive farther west. On the other hand, the French cautiously tried an advance—a "reconnaissance in force"—and were ambushed after only twenty miles. All the French can do is to hold on; and they can do that only as long as France exhausts her treasury and reserves of soldiers.

In any proposals for peace in Korea, Indo-China must be taken into account. As General Eisenhower said after his return from Korea: "We must all recognise that the Korean war is but the most dramatic and most painful phase, for us at this moment, of our world-wide struggle against Communist aggression". For France, a far more painful operation is the war in Indo-China, which has been going on now for six years.

Experiment In Living

By CHRISTABEL BURTON
(In Imshausen, Germany)

ON one of the highest hills in Hessen, four miles from the East Zonal border, stands a tall wooden cross. To the east roll the snow-covered hills and valleys of what used to be Central Germany, now cut through from north to south by the strip of ploughed land and immense barbed wire that at this point divides the world. Armed police patrol this border by day, and huge searchlights sweep the countryside by night. An occasional rattle of machine-gun fire reminds anyone of the danger of attempting to cross.

* * *

AT the foot of his hill stands an ordinary little Hessen village with, in its centre, a pleasant eighteenth-century house. The cross is a memorial to one of the sons of this house, hanged by the Nazis for his part in the attempt to overthrow Hitler on the fatal "20th of July." It was raised by his spinster sister, Vera, a remarkable woman who worked out, here in her home, an answer to Hitler's reign of terror and to all that has followed it.

You walk up to this house through an untidy little park. If it is night the house looks dim, as it is lit by candlelight. Then, the moment you enter the door, you are besieged by laughing children. They wear simple dress, but have wonderfully good manners. They treat you affectionately, with confidence. You become aware that you are in a kind of enormous family, that there is a special air to the place.

* * *

IT was late when I arrived and the noisy little crowd jostled up the wide staircase to bed, leaving the house in silence. I was taken on the nightly round. The rooms on the top floor were filled with babies, some sleeping two to a cot. The middle floor was all girls, in two-tiered Army bunks scattered about the rooms ("We got these from a deserted barracks—just before the Americans arrived.") Nothing was very tidy, a complete lack of spit and polish; somehow it was homely. "The boys sleep in a little house in the yard which we built ourselves last summer.

* * *

I ASKED how many people there were crowded in this little manor house and its outbuildings. "We shall be seventy people this Christmas, when the older boys come back for the holiday. Now, we have forty children from nine months to fifteen years, and twelve grown-ups looking after them." How is it paid for? "The local authorities pay about 30s a week for each orphan they send—that is about two- thirds of our children. The boys who have grown up and left us become carpenters, builders, or farm workers, and send us what they can from their earnings." But the struggle to pay bills is continuous. The establishment is entirely independent, by choice, and its worries are like those of a working-class family, magnified many times.

At the end of a very long day, as I lay in bed, I heard the rise and fall of liturgical chanting, and realized that it came from the drawing-room-turned-chapel along the passage.

* * *

AT lunch next day (potato soup, black bread and cheese), with the children practising their English on me from all corners of the room, I heard something of the background of this experiment in community living. As a girl Vera trained as a social welfare worker in Berlin. She returned home to practise what she had learned in her native village; she lived in the kitchen of her own home and from there worked to relieve the wants of the poor children of the neighbourhood.

* * *

WITH the coming to power of the Nazis, she used a small legacy to rent a disused mill outside the village and start a holiday home for children. Around this idea, with its expressly Christian purpose, there grew up a small circle of friends, who came to help her. There was, of course, constant hostile inspection by the local Nazis, and at the outbreak of war the children's home was officially closed. But her simplicity and obscurity were some protection, and she continued to keep her door open to whoever came for refuge.

* * *

THROUGHOUT these years, her circle of friends kept in touch and she continued to offer shelter to anyone in need. The risks involved were immense, and the hardships of living considerable. They fetched their firewood from the forests, made their own candles, ate only potatoes and vegetables. Whoever was in her house, whatever their religion or lack of it, joined in a simple form of prayer which reiterated the community's primary purpose.

* * *

THE end of the war brought the biggest flood of refugees and homeless children coming from the East. And now this Hessian village was transformed from being an obscure place hidden in the middle of a country into a frontier outpost facing a new kind of border. The numbers at the mill swelled dangerously: starvation faced them more than once.

* * *

IN 1947 currency reform obliged her family to sell the family home. Vera decided to try to buy it for her community orphans. "We had to have more room, you see, for seventy people just don't fit into two small houses." The miracle happened. Just enough American, Norwegian and Swiss aid was forthcoming, the big house was bought and her heterogeneous family moved in.

* * *

THIS year, they are celebrating their fifteenth Christmas. I saw the children returning from the village school, talking and laughing and kicking the snow. The older boys in their self-built workshop were eager to show the toys they were making for Christmas. In the evening they all gathered to sing their evening prayer. The former drawing-room was filled with this group of men, women and children, each with a memory of loss or hardship, most with no relatives on earth. A little boy in dungarees held a candle, whilst a homeless soldier, now ordained, read the lesson. The voices rose in perfect harmony. When the singing ceased the silence was intense. Even the sounds coming up from the village were muffled by the snow.

* * *

WHAT of the future? "We have never planned ahead, just faced situations as they came along." They are conscious that they have evolved a kind of community that does not fit into exacting pattern, they may have parallels only in the earliest Christian times. They will try to become self-supporting, talk of a pottery school, of acquiring farmland (which is at least cheap in this neighbourhood, as no one likes to live so near the Soviet Zone). Whatever their future may be, their present state is something very remarkable. It seemed to me that in this little outpost I was witnessing Christianity in its simplest and most patent form.

Anthony Quayle of Stratford

ON DECEMBER 22, Anthony Quayle embarked with his Stratford-upon-Avon Shakespearean company for a tour of New Zealand and Australia which will keep them away for nearly a year. A second Stratford Company, including Peggy Ashcroft and Michael Redgrave, has been organised to play on the home ground from March to November in the coming year. A further coast-to-coast tour of the U.S.A. and Canada has been fixed by Stratford for the winter of 1954.

These are big plans. Doubling the team means elaborate organisation. Not a penny of public money is asked for all this. The tax-payer will get the advantage to British prestige without having to pay for it through the British Council. Quayle had led another tour in the Antipodes (1949-50) and came back enthusiastic about the reception and the results. He was determined to go again. Now he does set out again, with Stratford's reputation enhanced by its recent seasons here and with its productions so much in demand that it can develop a three-year home-and-abroad plan of this kind entirely on its own resources. This is a tremendous advance from the previous modest achievements and ambitions of the company.

The change has been swift and steadily maintained. In 1945 Major Anthony Quayle returned to England and his civilian suit, which in his case was the motley. He had been a gunner and then seconded for special service with the anti-German elements in Albania. As those elements were also "anti" each other, life with a Resistance whose members so bitterly resisted the different parties in their own nation was full of political dilemmas as well as of physical hardships and hazards. Quayle might well have come back exhausted and cynical.

* * *

INSTEAD he returned full of ideas, energy, and confidence. He produced two well-written novels based on his war experience. But the stage was more to him than the desk, and he set out to build on the solid, but not yet exalted, position that he held in the profession most dear to his heart, that of actor.

He was not, in 1939, one of the box-offices "names". He was barely twenty-six then, and he was known as capable, versatile, and hungry for hard work. He had left Rugby School early. He had declined to enter his family business in Liverpool. He had been to the Royal Academy of Dramatic Arts and left it without medals, seizing an available job in a music-hall sketch before the Academy test performances were given. He went, in 1932, to play small roles at the "Old Vic" under Harcourt Williams, just after John Gielgud and Ralph Richardson had finished their brilliant seasons there together. In the pre-war years he had wide and plentiful experience and some travel, playing Laertes to Olivier's Hamlet in Elsinore and also going with the "Old Vic" company which toured in Europe and Egypt in 1939.

So, when the war broke out, he was an arriving actor, not an arrived one, and he had not been a producer at all. Then came a six years' break in his career. The fortunes of war sent him from Gibraltar to join the goatherds among the misty mountain-tops of the Greek border, no place for conducting Service Entertainments. Later, like so many others who had seen their careers crumble away, he might have found "Operation Bowler" a path to more difficulties than opportunities. But within three years he had been appointed to a position of exceptional responsibility. He had gone to Stratford as actor and assistant producer. Then, by a courageous invitation, since fully justified, from Colonel Fordham Flower and the Executive Committee of the Shakespeare Memorial Theatre at Stratford-upon-Avon, he was appointed Director. Wisely, no time limit was set to his tenure of office, provided that he justified his promotion.

During those three preceding years Quayle had made rapid progress, especially in production. He had in Gibraltar met and impressed John Perry, of H. M. Tennent, and Perry and John Gielgud gave him a wonderful chance when they brought him in to direct the big production of Dostoievsky's "Crime and Punishment" in which Edith Evans, as well as John Gielgud, appeared. Quayle next revealed a nice vein of comic invention by his direction of Vanbrugh's "The Relapse". At the same time he was keeping his hand in as an actor, being especially praised for his Iago wtih Tearle's Othello.

* * *

QUAYLE ADMITTEDLY came to command at Stratford in 1948 when fortune was beginning to "ow with the Avon rather than the Thames. Sir Barry Jackson's excellent work there had cleared away some cobwebs and given new reclame and something of a national status to what used to be a repertory company of average quality compelled to hustle their eight productions onto the stage in rapid succession. Quayle extended the ambitious policy of getting the "stars" to Stratford: in order to lure them he gave only five productions a year and those at considerable intervals—too long intervals, his critics alleged. The town resented his slow opening of the season, because visitors only came for occasional nights instead of for a series of consecutive performances. But the box office figures were one form of reply. The post-war prosperity of the Stratford theatre kept steadily rising as more and more "names" were attracted, standards were heightened, and petrol, no less important, was more easily available. It was nesessary to make alterations in the theatre and add to its seating accommodation and amenties. So good had the takings been that all this building could be done without request for a Government subsidy.

While it is true that Quayle came in on a good tide of fortune, he earned his success, the confidence of his Council, and a C.B.E. in 1952, by strength of will and steadiness of labour. To be an obstinate idealist is to be a very formidable person, and he backed his ideas of Stratford's future as a national asset, drawing the world to Shakespeare and taking Shakespeare to the world, with a stubborn resolve and an organising power not often to be found in the practising artist. At the same time he was able to continue as an actor and so to improve his craft that he became a "star" in his own person.

* * *

FEW ACTORS have shown more range than Anthony Quayle. He can be the fiery Roman Fascist Coriolanus, at one minute and the melancholy Jaques at another; none could have seemed slimmer and meaner than his Mosca, that evil insect of Ben Jonson's "Volpone", none more robust and rubicund than his Falstaff in the series of Shakespearean Histories played in their true chronological order, which Stratford offered as its contribution to the Festival Year of 1951. At one time he seemed likely to be noted as a burly actor, a man of eloquence and vehemence. But he has thinned his physique and refined his performance. It would be hard now to think of any part that one would put outside his scope. At thirty-nine age sets no physical limit to an actor's reasonable grasp. Quayle sailed last week with three parts in hand, Othello, Falstaff, and Jaques, besides the burdens of leadership.

As Director and protagonist he has, while serving Stratford, much in common with the traditional Actor-Manager. But there is more than the spur of personal ambition to move him to these tasks. He realises the extraordinary magnetism exercised over the world by Stratford as a place. (It is something of a miracle that a small country town with a branch-line train service can pack a large theatre with the works of one author from March to November.) He believes passionately in the cementing power of Shakespeare among the English-speaking nations and indeed among all peoples. He holds that the world is to be met on its own doorstep by the actor who believes in these things as well as brought to Avonside to meet him there. And so, with a team in whom he trusts, he sets out on the first leg of his next three-year plan, including two major crossings of the various oceans.

Letter To The Editor

WITH FACTS BEFORE HIM

Sir: As Mr. R. H. Clarke who wrote a letter to your newspaper a few days ago has not had a reply by a member of the Co-Operative Commonwealth Federation, (C.C.F.) I believe he will recognize the impossibility of a busy man like the Premier of Saskatchewan, Mr. T. C. Douglas, from replying. If he was to enter in such an undertaking he would have no time for Provincial business.

I will enlighten Mr. Clarke and those who have read his letter, as I am sure he has not had the subjects clearly defined.

Mr. Mackenzie King in his book, "Industry and Humanity", outlines some very desirable reforms. The tragedy is that he consistently refused to put these reforms on the Statute Books until he was compelled to do so by the pressure of public opinion in order to get the support of Members of Parliament whose vote he needed for his political survival.

A recent article by Bruce Hutchison in Maclean's Magazine repeats a story which is already well known that . . . Mr. King only brought in Old Age Pension legislation where defeat was staring him in the face and he needed the support of Mr. Woodsworth and Mrs. Heaps.

Mr. Clarke is wrong when he says the pension was $28.00 a month when the Saskatchewan C. C. F. Government took office. The pension was $20.00 a month plus $5.00 a month bonus paid jointly by the Federal and Prvincial Governments. The Saskatchewan Government asked the Federal Government to pay a pension of $40.00 a month, at the Federal Provincial Conference as a sign of good faith. The Saskatchewan Government began immediately to pay their share of the $40.00 a month pension which meant that the Old Age Pensioners got $28.00 a month.

It wasn't until the following year that the Federal Government agreed to pay its share of the $30.00 a month pension while the Saskatchewan Government continued to pay its share of a $40.00 a month pension. They did not take away from the Old Age Pensioners; but simply paid their share of the $40.00 a monthy pension and had to wait until two years ago before the Federal Government finally caught up to them.

Thus for Mr. Clarke to suggest that Saskatchewan Government took anything away from the Old Age Pensioners is sheer nonsense. They were five years ahead of Ottawa in paying the Province's share of the $40.00 a month pension.

They also began on January 1st, 1947 to give completely free hospital, medical and surgical services as well as dental care, glasses and drugs to Old Age Pensioners and their dependents. Theirs is the first Province in Canada to provide these services and they were paid for entirely out of Provincial funds without any assistance whatsoever from the Federal Government. This is another of the Social Reforms about which Mr. King often spoke but about which nothing was done until a C.C.F. Government undertook to put it into effect.

You may now explain to your informant the true facts as I have given them and I can assure you I always write my letters to the press with the facts before me.

Yours truly,
MAURICE E. KETCHESON

Bible Message

(From the Authorized Version)

The voice of the Lord is powerful; the voice of the Lord is full of majesty. (Ps. 29:4.)

I will stand upon my watch, and set me upon the tower, and will watch to see what he will say unto me, and what I shall answer when I am reproved. And the Lord answered me, and said, Write the vision, and make it plain upon tables, that he may run that readeth it. For the vision is yet for an appointed time, but at the end it shall speak, and not lie: though it tarry, wait for it; because it will surely come, it will not tarry . . .

Robbing Banks Easy, Woman Says

LOS ANGELES (AP)—"Robbing a bank takes no more courage than going into a store and buying a loaf of bread."

That's the opinion expressed Monday by grandma, the bank bandit, Mrs. Ethel Arata, 52, who has admitted a brief crime career including two bank stickups.

She told officers during a fingerprint session that her greatest regret was that she "ruined Christmas for the federal bureau of investigation agents and police" who were kept away from their families when she was arrested during an attempted holdup on Christmas Eve.

Earlier it was disclosed the grandmotherly type woman who says she really isn't a grandma was the daughter of a former New York multi-millionaire.

Her uncle, Benjamin S Catts, 70, a Hollywood real estate broker, has corroborated her story that her father lost millions in the 1929 crash. Catts said she is obviously ill and he will instruct his lawyer to help her.

Robbed of $500

HAMILTON (CP)—A truck driver, George Robertson, was slugged over the head and robbed of $500 Monday night at Campbell's Corners, four miles west of here. The assailant had hidden in the back of the truck. The thief escaped in a car.

Viruses 5th Columnists Working In Human Body

ST. LOUIS (AP)—The secret of how life makes new life is brought nearer solution by discoveries announced Monday.

The findings also partly answer another great puzzle—how viruses manage to force living cells to make new viruses that cause polio, 'flu, and other diseases. They do it by slick subversive work that would make fifth-columnists jealous.

The discoveries were reported to the American Association for the Advancement of Science by Dr. Barry Commoner, associate professor of plant physiology at Washington University here.

By one approach, he tackled both mysteries.

Living cells reproduce themselves, turning out materials to make new cells exactly like the parents.

A virus does about the same thing. To reproduce itself, it must enter a living cell.

There it not only robs the cell of nutrients the cell needs, but does far more. It takes over the cell's own machinery, forcing the cell into slave labor to make hundreds of new viruses.

The cell normally follows elaborate, intricate chemical steps to make a new cell. The virus manages to switch these steps, to turn out viruses.

Dr. Commoner and associates reported finding some of these chemical steps and the changes that occur.

Learning these steps could open the way to preventing some virus diseases, by interrupting these steps, and since the mechanism of reproduction is so similar the findings also could explain more about how living, healthy cells reproduce themselves.

Pope Criticizes Persecution OF RC Churches

VATICAN CITY (AP)—Pope Pius in a bitter encyclical today sharply criticized persecution of Roman Catholic Churches of the Oriental rite, almost all of which are behind the Iron Curtain.

The Pope's encyclical, addressed to patriarchs, archbishops, bishops and local ordinaries of Oriental Churches, called for a crusade of prayer to exhort that these "grave offences" be appeased.

"In many regions where the Oriental rite particularly flourishes there has been unleashed a new tempest which seeks to overthrow, devastate and destroy in misery flourishing Christian communities," he declared.

The Pope's letter especially mentioned the persecution of the church in Bulgaria where Bishop Eugene Bossilkoff, bishop of Nicopolis, and three other priests recently were condemned to death.

The Roman Catholic Churches of the Oriental rite recognize the authority of the Pope but do not follow all the Roman customs and ceremonials. They are not to be confused with the Greek or Russian Orthodox Churches.

AIMED AT OTHERS

Although the encyclical was addressed to the Oriental rite churches, its context clearly indicated the Pope's criticism also was aimed at persecution of members of the Latin rite of the Roman Catholic Church in East Europe.

"We know that today there are multitudes of the faithful in Oriental regions who weep bitterly as they see their bishops put to death or dispersed, or so impeded that they are unable freely to address their flocks, and, as rightfully should, exercise over them their authority; as they behond so many of their churches destined to profane uses or left in squalid abandonment," the Pope's letter said.

The Pontiff also mentioned persecutions in Romania and the Soviet Ukraine which he said were directed both against the faithful of the Oriental rite and those of the Latin rite.

Butler Rejects Bond Suggestion

LONODN (CP)—R. A. Butler, Britain's chancellor of the exchequer, has turned thumbs down on a plan to issue Commonwealth certificates or bonds to stimulate interest in colonial development.

Butler said in the House of Commons a better way would be through increased buying of savings certificates. He was replying to Eric Johnson, a Conservative member of Parliament who spent the years from 1923 to 1930 on a cattle ranch in British Columbia's Cariboo area.

The idea of Commonwealth certificates or bonds was advanced unofficially, by newspaper and other sources, during the Commonwealth economic conference. The conference ended with a communique stressing the need for a high level of internal savings to provide capital for increased development in the sterling area.

1952 Aggravated Problems On International Front

By JOHN TRACY
Canadian Press Staff Writer

Events of 1952 did more to aggravate than relieve the world's problems but there were a few signs that nations were trying to get along together.

Resurgent nationalism in the Middle East complicated the difficulties posed by the Korean war and the cold struggle between the East and West continued unabated. The war in Korea itself seemed no closer to an end despite the truce talks, which began in July, 1951, and the debate in the United Nations general assembly.

The Commonwealth and Empire early in the year mourned the death of King George VI. But as the young Queen Elizabeth acceded to the throne and preparations were made for her Coronation next June, British subjects everywhere looked to the dawn of a new Elizabethan age.

Election of Gen. Eisenhower as President of the United States was one of the important events of the year. He would not assume office until his inauguration Jan. 20, but weeks before that he had made a dramatic flight to Korea to see the war for himself.

There was talk of a possible meeting between Eisenhower and Soviet Premier Stalin, and Prime Minister Churchill announced a pre-inaugural meeting with Eisenhower in the U.S. early in the new year.

CORRUPT CABINET

Whole sections of the African continent were troubled by outbreaks of national feeling in underdeveloped areas. Scores died in Egyptian riots early in the year. They led to the ousting of King Farouk, arrests of corrupt members of his cabinet and finally the seizure of power by a professional soldier, Maj.-Gen. Mohammed Naguib.

The unresolved dispute between Britain and Iran over nationalization of the Anglo-Iranian Oil Company throttled the Iranian economy, dependent on oil. Mob violence in Tehran, the capital, was followed by the assumption of dictatorial powers by the ailing Mohammed Mossadegh and the rupture of diplomatic relations with Britain.

Britain's colonial relations were troubled by a series of grisly murders in Kenya as a native secret society, the Mau Mau, went on the warpath. Both whites and blacks were slain by the tribesmen whose name means "the hidden ones" and whose blood-oath pledges them to drive out white settlers.

Violence also punctuated the political struggle in South Africa where Prime Minister Daniel Malan's government established a high court of Parliament to uphold his race-segregation laws. An appeal court invalidated the plan but scores were killed in racial outbreaks and natives embarked on a campaign of passive resistance to racial laws.

EUROPEAN FEDERATION

The bright spot in the world picture was in Western Europe where a group of six nations moved toward a vast new social and economic era.

The foreign ministers of France, West Germany, Italy, Belgium, The Netherlands and Luxembourg agreed in July to make the West European coal-steel production pool effective. From there continental statesmen went on to start work on a treaty draft for a "European political authority" or confederation of their six nations by next March. The drafting group is working throughout the winter in a race against time.

The Korean war was half-way through its third year with truce talks dormant and enemy prisoners rioting. The apparently fruitless talks at Panmunjom, suspended indefinitely by the UN command in October, gave way to debate in the UN general assembly, but a UN proposal to end the war was rejected late in the year by Red China.

WASTES NO TIME

Gen. Eisenhower, who resigned as North Atlantic Treaty Organization commander in Europe to come home and win the election as a Republican, made his flight to Korea early in December less than a month after his election. All he would say about the war was that there were "no trick solutions" to the problem, but there was every indication he and his aides were hard at work on the issues.

The arms race between East and West continued with Britain exploding its first atom bomb on a Pacific island in October. A lone Pacific atoll too was the scene of what U.S. officials called a hydrogen-bomb test.

Late in the year a new note was injected into East-West relations when an American newspaper man received a reply to a series of questions sent to Stalin. The Soviet premier said he looked with favor on a suggestion that arrangements might be made for a meeting with Eisenhower to help ease world tension.

Some diplomats called it the "same old Soviet line" but many agreed that the suggestion merited study.

LEADING MARKSMEN—Toodie Greenlaw, left, Gus Leonard in the centre, and Roy Armstrong, each were in on three goals to lead the Petes to a 9-6 OHA senior "B" victory over Orillia here last night. It was the roughest puck fray seen here so far this season, and the win hoisted the Petes into fifth place in the group race over the rugged Orillia pack.

Petes Hurdle Orillia Squad By 9-6 For Fifth Spot In Roughest Tilt Of Season

The Petes outfought a rugged Orillia senior "B" puck squad here last night to earn a 9-6 victory which jumped them over Orillia into fifth place in the group standing. A fair-sized crowd viewed the roughest fray of the season as Referee Maurice Walsh handed out 26 penalties, 14 to the visitors, and could have issued quite a few more. Match misconducts went in the second period to Keith Montgomery of the Petes and Des Kelley for three fist fights—one on the ice and two in the penalty box. A straight match penalty for deliberate attempt to injure was given Ab Bowen of Orillia in the final minute of play when he cut Chum Fryia over the head.

EVERYONE IN IT

Police and fans got into it, too, during these brawls, the police with great difficulty restoring order as the angry players kept mixing it up and some of the many milling fans threw some punches at Orillia players. Referee Walsh said after the game: "What can you do but keep throwing them off? This was real hard hockey, the kind that requires two referees to keep properly under control."

The husky northerners, noted for a rugged brand of hockey, laid it on from the start, and some of the home players were quick to retaliate. A number of minor fights were let go entirely, being overshadowed by the bigger brawls, or called as roughing penalties. The teams frequently played with two men in the sin bin, but few goals were scored because of a man advantage. In fact, each side scored once when short a man.

AN EARLY LEAD

Jim Ellis' scrappers took a 3-2 lead in the first frame and built it up to a 5-3 margin going into the fairly even third chukker. Play was slow at first, but plenty fast and exciting in the last two periods, and strenuous all the way through. The Petes played with just two forward lines, giving Orillia two extra men on the bench, as Coach Ellis figured the players he had out there thrived on extra work—and it proved out that way.

Gus Leonard and Toodie Greenlaw each hit the lamp twice for the winners, with single markers racked up by Don Floyd, Chum Fryia, Keith Montgomery, Buck Legrow and Doug Hunter. Leading in assists was Roy Armstrong with three, as Ted Collins clicked on two, and Greenlaw, Fryia, Leonard, Hunter and Floyd on one each. Rusty Aitken sparked the O's attack with three tallies, Jack Drews, Clary Payne and Earl McCrone getting one each. Bruno Favero had two assists, with one apiece being marked to Aitken, Lloyd Pearsall, Jack Davison, Dan McDonald, Payne and McCrone. Their goalie was tough to beat.

WENT GOOD

The home defence went well, with Armstrong a standout both ways in this game. The first line of Leonard, Greenlaw and Fryia turned in a solid performance, with the latter shining most of the way. A goal he didn't get but made a great fight for around the enemy goal was a feature of the fixture. Greenlaw also got a goal called back because of the crease. Hunter, Collins and Floyd were flying, too, in a good effort. Spiker was in the lineup, but not used in the tussle. Ray Harding turned in his usual stellar performance in the home cage, and he had to be good to keep out the scrappy Orillians in every period.

Teams:

Orillia — Goal, Kewley; defence, Davison and Pearsall; centre, Long; wings, Favero and Aitken; alternates, McCrone, Payne, Drews, Kelley, Bowen, Richardson and McDonald.

Petes — Goal, Harding; defence, Legrow and Wasson; centre, Leonard; wings, Fryia and Greenlaw; alternates Hunter, Collins, Floyd, Montgomery, Armstrong and Spiker.

Referee M. Walsh.

Hamilton Ties Old Record Of Most OHA Games Lost

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Hamilton Tigers tied a record Monday night.

The Mountain City boys now can claim to have lost as many games as any team in the history of the Ontario Hockey Association Senior A series.

The Galt Moose Club of 1939-40 was previously single holder of the dubious title. Hamilton tied their efforts by dropping No. 26 as Sarnia Sailors came through with an overtime goal to win 3-2.

The Hamilton executive offers no excuses. They are in the process of rebuilding their club and are using several players who performed last year with Hamilton Aerovoc Junior B team.

With the exception of Ab Conick, Nick Pidsodny and a few others, the fabulous "old men of the Mountain" who made the Tiger name synonymous with champion, have departed.

FIRST PLACE TIE

Sault Ste. Marie (Ont.) Greyhounds pulled back into a first-place tie with Sudbury Wolves by downing North Bay Trappers 8-5 in a scheduled Northern Ontario Hockey Association Senior southern group game.

Hamilton gave the Sailors a good battle. Bill McFarlane scored the overtime winner. Others were by Don Emms and Ollie Haddon. Ab Conick and Doug Smith tallied for the Tigers.

Lorne Watters scored three for the Greyhounds and Doug Towers added two more. Singles were by Joe Bumbacco, Terry Biocchо and Mat Mesich. Boros Elik notched two for the Trappers and Frank Ringler, George Gosselin and Dan Wilks potted the others.

LIFT LONG SUSPENSION

MONTREAL (CP)—Martin Conway, president of the Quebec Amateur Hockey Association, announced Monday night that Jean-Guy Talbot, suspended last March for a year, has been reinstated.

Talbot was playing with Three Rivers Reds when he cut down Scotty Bowman of Montreal Canadiens, in a Junior Amateur Hockey Association game in Montreal. Talbot, no longer of junior age, recently asked the QAHA to reconsider his case.

SPORTS SHOW WINDOW

By CEC. PERDUE, Sports Editor

Some of the more modern hockey fans feel that there is nothing wrong with the present wide-open brand portrayed by the puckists. They will argue that the bodycheck makes for rugged action and keeps players' heads up — if they don't want to be dumped hard. And they say the forward pass has certainly stepped up the tempo of play. One can hardly argue either points. Nor do we intend to do so. Perhaps there was more good stickhandling seen before, as well as efficient poke-checking, but there's nothing wrong with a legal bodycheck, as far as we're concerned. And not only the forward pass but the frequent change of players during a game combine to make hockey faster than in the old days.

* * * * * *

It's undoubtedly a speedy sport on skates nowadays, and no one plays it faster than the juniors. They have the legs and wind, and they don't save themselves — having energy to burn. Yes, they tear in there on the attack, wheel and roar back down the ice as rivals race goalward with the puck, and are ready to pivot and go for another rink-length rush. Continuously. Fans here Friday will see this when Cobourg Jays and the local Oddfellows clash in an OHA junior "B" fixture at Civic Arena. Never a dull moment with these husky young hockeyists turning it on in league play. Doug Mortimer's men can keep well up in second spot with a win that p.m.

Imports In The TVL

Dick Bridgman, TVL puck secretary from Trenton—remember him as a COBL shortstop for Belleville?—has a letter in elsewhere outlining some of the Trent Valley League rules re use of players. Schedule was included, but we ran in several days ago for the northern division, embracing Lakefield, Havelock, Norwood Hastings, Campbellford and Marmora. Other section doesn't interest us till playoffs hover some six weeks hence. The TVL is quite liberal this year in allowing imports, though each village club must have at least five bona fide residents in the lineup for each game. That allows 10 imports to play in a game. A club may sign 20 players but no replacements are allowed for injuries. OHA juniors can play in the TVL anytime this winter, so long as they come within this import rule.

* * * * * *

Plenty of punches thrown in that 9-6 senior "B" puck win for Petes over Orillia here last eve. A number of the players got in their licks, the police had to be rough in a few cases to quell outbreaks and some of the more rabid fans got in the odd blow. A real rugged encounter, those northerners playing it rough. That's no one-sided statement as statistics prove that Petes play a clean brand of hockey when their rivals do likewise. In fact, they take quite a bit ere battling back, but Orillia puckists certainly lay it on. They didn't get the best of it last p.m. either in punches or penalties—and they rated what they got. But it was an exciting encounter and hoists the Ellis' outfit o'er the O's.

* * * * * *

Looked A Bit Better

Playing with but two front lines—both of which turned in a real workmanlike chore—the Petes looked a bit better over the route. Though they had to fight every inch of the way. Defence and goalie were real good, too. Kelly and Monty tangled on the ice and were forcibly removed to the sin bin. The battle boiled up there, too, twice and it took a lot of work by timers and police to break it up. They got the gate for the night. Bowen cut Fryia over the noggin late in the tilt and was chucked out, too, taking a few blows from angry fans en route as players and folks swarmed around. It looked like a man-sized donnybrook for a spell. Petes have a stiff one coming up in Stouffville on Friday.

* * * * * *

Doug Runions, former Campbellford hockeyist, is still active in the game, playing this season for Dunnville intermediates. An item in the St. Kitts paper deals with the 42-year-old player thusly: "Though somewhat slower than he was nearly 20 years ago, Runions is still one of the top centremen in the loop and few senior clubs would turn down the chance to sign him if he wished to essay that type of hockey. St. Catharines followers will remember Runions in the late 30s and early 40s when he was one of the most colorful players in the strong OHA senior group. His free-wheeling style and smooth plays which he organized from centre position 'made' almost any winger who was fortunate enough to play on the same line. He now owns a business in Fisherville, just outside Dunnville in the Niagara area."

Hither And Yawning

Whipper Watson will soon be seen on television in a series of pro mat bouts in Chicago . . . Walt Smillie advises that the public school puckists are sitting it out for the holidays . . . Six PMHA tilts on tap at Civic this Thursday night, starting at five . . . No TVL results received at this writing; perhaps they haven't enough ice yet . . . Hastings is listed for Lakefield tonight; Friday frays are: Campbellford at Havelock, and Norwood at Marmora . . . Bowen of Orillia draws an OHA suspension for his match penalty here last p.m. . . . Kelley had stitches knocked out in his scrap with Monty, and another Orillia player may have suffered a fractured nose, we hear . . . Chum Fryia got a bad bump on the head from Bowen's stick . . . Ref Walsh came out of it with a bruised leg and cut finger, and he called it the roughest game of the season . . . These OHA jousts here should be packing the arena, but the crowds have been just so-so up to date . . . Orillians have a strong dislike for the cellar and 'twas mighty tough pushing 'em into it last evening . . . Can't say that we notice the days getting much longer yet.

NHL ATTENDANCE UP

MONTREAL (CP)—The National Hockey League announced Monday that paid attendance so far this season is up 6½ per cent over the comparable time last season.

For the first 97 games—through Christmas—the total was 927,137 compared with 870,539 for the same number of games a year ago, an increase of 56,598. The league schedule reaches the half way point when 105 games are played.

Total figures for the six clubs of the league individually were not announced, but increases were given. Only New York Rangers showed a decrease of about two per cent.

Chicago showed the greatest increase, 35,000. The others are: Boston, 15,000; Detroit, Montreal and Toronto, 5,000 each. New York Rangers' decrease is 1,937.

COACH IS SUSPENDED

MONTREAL (CP)—Martin Conway, president of the Quebec Amateur Hockey Association, said Monday night the suspension of coach Jacques Belanger of Montreal Royals of the Junior Amateur Hockey Association will probably continue until Sunday. Belanger drew the suspension for refusing to obey a referee's order to leave his players' bench at a game in Quebec Saturday.

BOXING ON TV

TORONTO (CP)—Amateur boxing will be televised for the first time in Canada Tuesday, Jan. 6, when the Toronto Amateur Athletic Club moves into East York Arena on a 13-week TV contract. Bouts will be held every Tuesday night during the period, starting at 8:30. They will be televised from 9 p.m. to 10 p.m.

CALL UP GORD HAWORTH

NEW YORK (CP)—New York Rangers announced Monday they are bringing up Gord Haworth, 20-year-old centre, from Valleyfield Braves of the Quebec Senior Hockey League for a three-game trial in the National Hockey League. Haworth, 20 years old, five-foot-nine and weighing 160 pounds, is New York property and will appear first here Wednesday night against Toronto Maple Leafs.

BARONS SUMMON STEARNS

CLEVELAND (AP)—Cleveland Barons of the American Hockey League called up centre Cal Sterns Monday from their farm team at Seattle. He will arrive in Cleveland in time to play against St. Louis Flyers tonight. Two Barons' centres are injured—Bob Bailey and Frank Kubasek.

SAXTON WINS AGAIN

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Johnny Saxton of New York won his 35th straight victory Monday night with a brawling 10-round decision over Danny Womber of Chicago. The undefeated New York welterweight took charge in the early rounds and was trying hard for a knockout at the final bell. Saxton weighed 146, and Womber 149¼.

Dies After Fight

TORONTO (CP)—Russell Conners, 27, died Monday night as the result of a fist fight Christmas Eve. Tendons and arteries in his right arm were severed when he put his fist through a window when a blow missed its mark during a street fight.

TWO PETERBOROUGH SKIIERS, Jack Holland (left) and Garry Braund, are instructing at Ste. Marguerite, Quebec. Mr. Holland is the chief instructor and he is assisted by Mr. Braund who is a law student at Osgoode Hall. Between the two instructors is Miss Louise Genest, daughter of the late Mr. Justice Jean Genest, of Toronto, who is an assistant instructor at St. Adelle, Quebec.

Some Of Rules For The TVL From Secretary

The following letter to the sports editor of The Examiner from Secretary Dick Bridgman of the Trent Valley Hockey League—residing in Trenton—is self-explanatory, but the schedule for this area has already been published:

Sir.—I am enclosing a complete schedule of the TVL northern division, which begins Dec. 29. If ice is not available it will start when weather permits. The league embraces 12 teams: Lakefield, Havelock, Norwood, Marmora, Campbellford and Hastings in the northern division. The southern section has Stirling, Frankford, Trenton, Wellington, RCAF No. 6 Repair Depot, and Pointe Anne. It is expected the winner of each division will playoff for the title and Thos. Bata Trophy, though details haven't been completed yet.

I would appreciate it if you would mention the fact that applications for referees in the northern division are being accepted and anyone wishing to apply should contact Mr. Chas. Puffer of Norwood (phone Norwood 2-3588) as he will handle all northern assignments. So far there has been but one application from Peterborough, and the league uses two referees for all contests.

SOME RULES

The deadline for player's certificates is Jan. 11; each club may sign 20 players but no replacements for injured players are allowed. At least five players signed must be bona fide residents of the place for which they play. A team may sign up to 15 imports but only 10 may play in any one game, with the other five being local players. So one club may not be too strong for the others, the league voted that no club may sign more than five men who played OHA senior "B" last season after Jan. 1 of 1952. Peterborough and Belleville are open territory. Intermediate and senior played in OHA competition after Jan. 1, 1953, may not participate. However, junior "B" players are allowed to play both OHA and TVL the same season. CAHA rules apply in all cases.

Sincerely,
DICK BRIDGMAN.

Conn Smythe Predicts Long Casualty List For N.H.L.

By MEL SUFRIN

NEW YORK (CP)—Conn Smythe predicted Monday night that the National Hockey League will have a "casualty list a mile long before the season is over."

The managing director of Toronto Maple Leafs, in New York for a few days before heading south for a Florida vacation, commented in an interview on the host of injuries suffered by NHL players this season.

"Closer competition" was one reason he gave for the increased number of players sidelined with injuries.

EVENLY MATCHED

"The teams are so evenly matched you've got to fight like a demon every night," he said. "There isn't a chance that you're going to fight every game and not get injuries."

It used to be, Smythe said, that a team could occasionally rest some of its players in games against weaker teams in the league. But now, with the clubs more evenly matched than ir years every game is a crucial one and coaches are sticking as much as possible to first-string talent.

The result is that a coach often takes a chance on a player with a sore knee and ends up with a full-fledged casualty.

HAMPERED BY INJURIES

Smythe's Leafs and the Rangers, whom they meet here Wednesday night, are among the clubs hampered by injuries.

Toronto is without Max Bentley, George Armstrong, Rudy Migay and Howie Meeker.

The Rangers had their trouble earlier in the season, losing goalie Chuck Rayner, centre Don Raleigh and defenceman Leo Reise for various periods.

Montreal Canadiens have been hurt by the loss of Elmer Lach and Billy Reay and Detroit Red Wings, though they lead the league with a 15-game undefeated streak, are likely to feel the loss of goalie Terry Sawchuk, who suffered a broken bone in his leg.

THE Calvert SPORTS COLUMN

by Elmer Ferguson

If I could re-roll the film of 1952, these are some of the things I'd like to see:

Terry Sawchuk in the Detroit Red Wings nets, playing any one of those incomparable shut-out games in the Stanley Cup series; Sugar Jim Henry, the Boston Bruin goaler, making his last gallant stand against Canadiens in the Cup series, with his nose broken, his eye-lids mere slits that had been carefully pried open before the game; Rocket Richard scoring goal No. 325 for a new National League record, unaware that his final shunt had sent the puck rolling in, turning deathly pale and almost fainting when he realized that the long strain, lasting five games, had ended at last.

Rod Smylie, making the 25-yard run after taking a 36-yard pass to snatch victory for Toronto Argonauts over Hamilton Ticats in the dying moments of the third playoff game to decide the Interprovincial football title; any of the races in which the great grey colt Native Dancer, 2-year-champion of the year, spread-eagled his field; the fantastic ending to the Ray Robinson-Joey Maxim fight, when Robinson, out-weighed, collapsed from the fearful heat and his own exertions.

Emil Zatopek, grimacing and shadow-boxing his way to three Olympic triumphs on cinder-path and road, stamping him the greatest distance runner of our time; coach Casey Stengel of the champion Yankees juggling to make those amazing pitcher changes, in the last game of the world baseball series; Joe Black, tall, smiling, soft-spoken Negro pitcher, starting the opening game of the Series and winning it.

Big Jean Beliveau, giant Quebec Ace, and most-sought amateur by professional clubs, cranking up for one of his great free-wheeling rushes, then roaring along to score as the Quebecers blazed their trail to the Alexander Trophy; Milt Schmidt of Boston Bruins, one of the greatest of modern ice stars, whistling home goal No. 200, the night of March 18, and Bobby Bauer, of the immortal Boston Kraut line of Schmidt-Dumart-Bauer, returning for one glorious night in the Big Time, to score a goal; George Geneureux, a 1-year-old trap-shooting star from Saskatoon, with ice-water in his veins, winning for Canada its only gold medal at the Olympic games against the best shots in the world.

And the film of 1952 wouldn't be complete unless you were sitting on the 50-yard line when Edmonton Eskimos overcame a 19-point deficit and went on to eliminate Calgary Stampeders in the western football race; and a week later, after losing the opener of the two-of-three final right in Edmonton to Winnipeg, took the final game to the amazement of everybody except Frankie Filchock, who called the shots all along.

What a film all that would be. I'd like to see it and so would everybody else.

Your comments and suggestions for this column will be welcomed by Elmer Ferguson, c/o Calvert House, 431 Yonge St., Toronto.

SUICIDE BY PLANE — An ambulance crew digs at the wreckage of a private plane at Sweetwater, Texas, to release the body of Ollie William Cox, 23 (inset), wealthy operator of the Double Heart cattle and sheep ranch, after Cox dived his Cessna five-seater plane into a gravel pit. Cox ignored radio pleas of his friends who tried for three hours to convince him to land and not to commit suicide. At right is Sheriff Cal Montgomery, of Sweetwater, who watched the crash with other officers powerless to prevent it.

Canadians To See Progress In Wages—Gregg

OTTAWA (CP)—Canadian workers can look for a year of continuing progress in employment, wages and working conditions, Labor Minister Gregg said today in his year-end message to labor.

"In predicting what lies ahead of us in 1953," he said "It must be recognized by all that it depends to a large extent on the international situation.

"But without further deterioration of the world situation, it would appear that we can expect a year not unlike the one through which we have just lived—a year of economic and social advance for the Canadian worker against a background of continuing unsettled international affairs.

SITUATION STABLE

"The economic situation appears generally sound. Many of the large resource - development programs will continue throughout 1953, and there is still a large volume of unsatisfied demand for housing.

"A high level of personal income is forecast, which should sustain employment levels in the trading and consumer-goods manufacturing industries.

"With favorable economic conditions, the Canadian worker can look for a year of continuing progress with regard to employment conditions, wages and working conditions."

During the year just ending, he said, Canada attained record levels of production and employment. The Canadian labor force passed the 5,400,000 mark—up 75,000 in a year. The economy was able to absorb tens of thousands of immigrant workers with a minimum of unemployment. Wage rates rose, and the normal work week declined.

CONFIDENCE IN FUTURE

One of Canada's greatest assets, Mr. Gregg said, is the faith of Canadians in its future, and in this respect workers had a vital position. In the final analysis, they were the most important investors.

"Without this confidence in the future," he said, "organized labor in Canada would not be the responsible and indispensable influence that it is today.

"Organized labor has achieved and maintains its position because, in all its progressive programs, it is one with all Canadians in believing in the ultimate high destiny of this nation."

MASS AT FORUM — About 15,000 Roman Catholic faithful crowd the Montreal Forum to attend Christmas midnight mass, celebrated by Msgr. J. C. Chaumont, auxiliary bishop of Montreal. Msgr. Chaumont substituted for Msgr. Paul-Emile Leger, archbishop of Montreal and newly-created cardinal, who is in Rome for the consistory where he will be raised to his new rank in January.

Porter Claims He Was Attacked By Strange Snowman On Everest

By ADRIENNE FARRELL

NEW DELHI (Reuters) — A Sherpa porter on the recent Swiss expedition on Mount Everest claims he was attacked by a shuffling, hairy "abominable snowman" and lived to tell about it.

Swiss members of the unsuccessful expedition said here Monday night they personally had not met the fabulous creature—legend has it he can kill by glance of his "evil eye"—but "definitely heard padding and shuffling outside the tent at heights where no animals live."

The Sherpa told them a yeti—Tibetan name for a mystery—had seized him, but bounded away when it heard 14 other Sherpa tribesmen with the expedition come running up the trail to his rescue.

The attack is said to have occurred just below Lhotse glacier, 28,000 feet up the 29,002-foot mountain, the world's highest peak which has never been conquered by man.

ONLY EVIDENCE

The Swiss said they had no other evidence to back the Sherpa's story. "It might have been the snowman. It might have been a bear. Or it might have been some freak of imagination," said one.

The Sherpa porters are not so skeptical. One of them said he and his comrades often heard the cry of the yeti at night.

Villagers near the mountain swear the "snowman" exists, describing him as a shaggy, six-foot monster.

British explorer Eric Shipton early this year published photographs of footprints taken 19,000 feet up the mountain in 1951. Impressions twelve inches long showed the path of two creatures, with three toes and a thumb, which had bounded across the snowy slopes.

Fifth Polio Case

STRATFORD (CP) — A young Stratford father of three, taken to hospital here Christmas Eve with a mild attack of poliomyelitis has been taken to Kitchener-Waterloo Hospital for treatment. His condition is good. This brings to five the number of polio victims here this year.

Saves Choking Infant

TORONTO (CP)—A fire captain was credited Monday by doctors with saving the life of an 11-day-old infant when he applied artificial respiration after the baby choked while feeding. Capt. Arthur Heaslip said Nancy Brown was "already turning blue" when firemen arrived at her west-end home.

Have No Valid Proof Crater From Meteor

ST. LOUIS (CP)—Three scientists Monday told the American Association for the Advancement of Science that there is no valid proof that Chubb crater in northern Quebec was formed when a meteor struck the earth.

Drs. Paul W. Healy, Lincoln Lapaz and Frederick C. Leonard of the institute of meteoritics, University of New Mexico, said that no meteorites have been found at Chubb crater, nor any materials definitely identified as produced by the heat and pressure that would accompany such an impact.

The crater was discovered in 1949. Investigations during the summer of 1951 showed it to be 1,350 feet in depth, the deepest crater known on earth.

Admit Three Papers To University Press

MONTREAL (CP) — Three student newspapers were admitted Monday to the Canadian University Press, and now all 10 Canadian provinces are represented.

The three members admitted at the annual meeting of the organization being held at McGill University are: the Muse of Memorial College, St. John's, Nfld.; St. Mary's Journal of St. Mary's College, Halifax; and the Ontarion of Ontario Agricultural College at Guelph.

Dr. F. Cyril James, principal and vice-chancellor of McGill, told the conference that college newspapers have an important role in developing a healthy philosophy towards athletics, the academic program and student activities in general.

Call Mountbatten Power Behind Throne

PARIS (AP)—The illustrated weekly Noir et Blanc (Black and White) told its readers Monday Admiral Lord Mountbatten is the "grey eminence" of the British court. The term was applied to Cardinal Richelieu's secretary in France and has come to mean a power behind the throne.

The magazine said Mountbatten has "predominant influence" over his nephew, the Duke of Edinburgh, who in turn influences the Queen. It said British conservatives are uneasy because "he whom some call King Louis (Mountbatten) has communicated to Philip of Edinburgh all his revolutionary ideas concerning establishment of a kind of popular monarchy."

Good Deed Backfires

MISSION CITY, B.C. (CP)—It's nice to have thoughtful neighbors, but. . .

Mr. and Mrs. G. R. Grant were visiting out of town during the Christmas holiday. Two hours before they were due home, a friend lit a fire in the kitchen stove to warm the house, checked the drafts an hour later and then left. The house burned to the ground.

Dr. Jordan Says

Electric Shock Methods Offer Some Hope To Mentally Ill

By EDWIN P. JORDAN, M.D.

M.B. asks a difficult, but interesting question: "Have electric shock treatments," she asks, "proved to be helpful in easing mental disturbances in persons where such condition is apparently inherited?"

The reason this question is difficult to answer is that it is not clear just what the correspondent means when she says "inherited mental disturbances."

Most mental disease is not directly inherited. Also, there are several kinds of mental disturbances just as there are several kinds of heart disease, so that one cannot lump them together and say that they should all be treated in the same way.

However, the question of electris shock treatments is an exceedingly interesting one and can be discussed in general terms.

Since about 1928 new hope has arisen for many patients with mental conditions because of the discovery that some mentally diseased people may be improved by giving them shock treatment.

At first shock was produced by giving large doses of insulin (which is used in the treatment of diabetes). In large doses this insulin causes a type of reaction which doctors call shock.

The mental condition of many of the mental patients who received this shock treatment cleared up. However, certain disadvantages developed from the use of insulin. A substance called metrazol was then tried. This also produced shock.

A few years later electricity began to be used to give the shock treatments and this, too, brought about good results in many cases. Now electric shock is probably used most often, and although these treatments do not cure all mental patients, they do help in many cases. Usually several shock treatments have to be given before the best results are obtained.

Persons who have friends or relatives whose cases warrant trying shock treatment ought not to expect too much. It does not always work, but it offers hope to many. Of course, it is not suitable for everyone and the mental specialist in charge of the individual patient is the only one who can decide whether or not it is worth a trial.

MENTAL ILLNESS IS DISEASE

It cannot be emphasized too often that those who have a mental disease are just as truly ill as are those who have a broken bone, a tumor or some other trouble which can be seen or felt.

In the not too distant past, those who suffered from a mental disease were often kept in chains or solitary confinement, were beaten, and no effort was made to get at the source of the difficulty. Reform finally came in most places and the mentally ill came to be treated more humanely.

With this more sensible view have come real advances in treatment, of which electric shock treatment is one.

Traffic Deaths Reach 1,000

TORONTO (CP)—Ontario is making progress in highway safety but 1,000 persons died and 23,000 were injured during 1952, Ontario Highways Minister Doucett said Monday.

In a year-end message Mr. Doucett suggested the following New Year's resolution: "In driving and walking, let us use the simple Christian principle 'do unto others as you would have them do unto you.' This golden rule alone will save more lives, human suffering and dollar losses than any possible legislation, law enforcement or safety engineering."

Says US Needs Seaway More Than Canada

LONDON, Ont. (CP)—Canada alone will build the St. Lawrence seaway project but the United States needs the seaway more than Canada does, Dr. E. G. Pleva of the University of Western Ontario said Monday.

He said the seaway is essential to the expanding economy of the U.S. despite the fact that the U.S. has had "many years of deficit financing."

Dr. Pleva, head of the university's geography department, spoke to about 100 western Ontario farmers and their wives here for a two-day rural life conference.

He claimed that Canada was the most logical country—financially and economically—to build the seaway.

Lt.-Col. J. E. Andrew Senior Consultant

OTTAWA (CP)—Lt.-Col. J. E. Andrew, 43, of Toronto, of the Royal Canadian Army Medical Corps, will become senior consultant in the office of the director-general of medical services here Jan. 31, the Army announced Monday.

Lt.-Col. N. H. McNally, 37, of London, Ont., will succeed Col. Andrew as area medical officer for headquarters, western Ontario area at London.

No Heat, No Mail Postmistress Declares

SECANE, Pa. (AP)—Mrs Eleanore Kirkland defied heroic tradition Monday. The postmistress of this Delaware county village refused to distribute the mail until she got some heat.

Three windows in her office in the Pennsylvania Railroad station were broken and the pot-bellied stove was cold when she arrived. Her fingers were too numb to sort letters.

She hung this sign out front:

"Post office closed until Pennsylvania Railroad provides heat and repairs three broken windows. Temperature in post office at 6:30 a.m. Monday, 36 degrees."

A bit later a railroad spokesman and the station agent agreed it was very cold, apologized, got a fire going and ordered a rush job on the windows which had been broken during the week-end.

Meanwhile the mail went out.

Fire Damages Pickfair

BEVERLY HILLS, Calif. (AP)—A fire caused several thousand dollars damage Monday to Pickfair, the mansion where Mary Pickford and the late Douglas Fairbanks once held court as king and queen of the silent films. Flames swept through part of the second storey. Cause of the fire is unknown. Miss Pickford, a native of Toronto, and her present husband, Buddy Rogers were home at the time.

CAR SEAT BURNS

A smouldering cigarette butt started a small fire in the back seat of 1950-model coupe at Monaghan Rd. and McKellar St. early today. The car is owned by an Ottawa traveller. Damage to the seat is estimated at less than $25. Firemen used a handpump to put it out.

Pastors Score Religious Chain Letters

Chain letters with a religious twist have been received by parishioners of several United churches in the city.

The letters imply they have the blessing of the United Church, but several ministers denounced this implication as having no basis.

"The United Church would not authorize such a thing," said one.

The letters do not ask for money. They advise the receiver to read St. Matthew, Chapter 17, Verse 20.

"The luck of it has been sent to you. It has been around the world several times sent by the United Church officials. Please copy this and send to four other people within four days or you will receive very bad luck."

DESTROY LETTER

The Bible verse referred to reads: "And Jesus said unto them, Because of your unbelief: for verily I say unto you, If ye have faith as a grain of mustard seed, ye shall say unto this mountain, Remove hence to yonder place; and it shall remove; and nothing shall be impossible unto you."

The Rev. B. S. Morwood, of Mark St. United Church, said the chain letter had "no basis in reality. There is nothing in the United Church which authorizes such a thing, and I am sure the church would not countenance it."

He said it was merely "the same old craze with a new twist to it."

Another minister, who refused use of his name, said that he had heard of religious chain letters making the rounds of almost every charge he has had.

"They're straight superstition," he declared. There was no foundation in United Church beliefs for any such action.

His advice to everyone who received such a letter was, "Throw it in the waste basket."

Peanuts Slip Into Lung Of Boy, 3

Operation Performed In Toronto Youngster Fine

Next time three-year-old Danny Deck of 56 Hilliard St. takes a mouthful of shelled peanuts—you can bet it will be a small mouthful and he'll chew the peanuts carefully. Failure to take this precaution has caused the young lad several days of discomfort and an operation in the Hostpital for Sick Children, Toronto.

Danny was the victim of a freak accident in which a couple of peanuts slipped down into his right lung. And it required an operation in the Toronto hospital Monday night to remove the peanuts (actually one and a half).

Saturday night he was eating a mouthful of the nuts and he began to choke. His parents, Mr. and Mrs. William G. Deck slapped him on the back and he seemed to cough them all up.

Danny seemed all right then except that he was having difficulty breathing, and a slight whistle was heard whenever he spoke. This continued from Saturday night to Monday morning.

SEEN IN X-RAY

When Danny didn't get any better Mrs. Deck took him to the Peterborough Clinic. An X-ray revealed the whole peanut and the fragment lodged in his lower right lung.

Dr. R. M. Matthews, child specialist, recommended that Danny be taken to the Hospital for Sick Children. The operation was Monday night and Danny is reported in good spirits today.

It was the second choking accident to children here on Saturday night. Paul MacPherson, 7, of 502 Bonaccord St., nearly suffocated when a piece of toast lodged in his windpipe and firemen had to use an inhalator on him for 20 minutes.

Young Colt Runs Headon Into Car, Badly Injured

A yearling Percheron, owned by Orville Moncrief, of Cavan township, was badly hurt Monday night and may have to be destroyed as a result of running into a car.

Dr. D. C. Smith, Peterborough veterinarian, said that the valuable young colt is suffering from shock and exhaustion after lying by the side of the road for well over an hour. Its right back leg is paralized and whether or not it will survive is "touch and go."

No bones were broken.

The half-grown horse ran out of a gate at the farm of Mr. Moncrief onto Highway 7A, half a mile west of the junction with Highway 28. John Murrie, 17, of R.R. 1, Cavan, was driving his father's car east along the highway when the horse, apparently confused by the headlights, ran into the car.

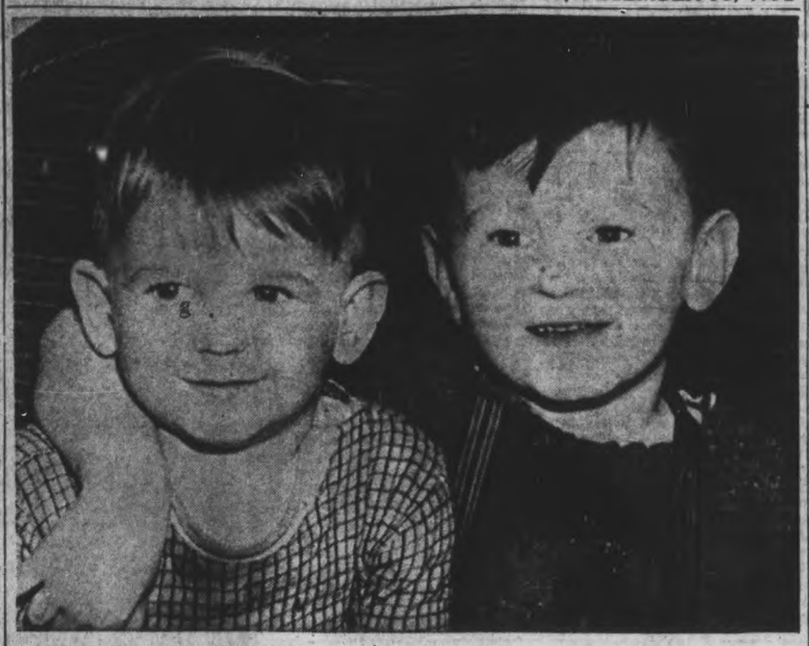
The vehicle received about $800 damage.

Badly hurt, the colt slumped to the road and lay there in the cold until he was finally put on a stone-boat and dragged to the warmth of Mr. Moncrief's barn.

OPP Constable George Louth investigated.

Vote On Slippers

GENEVA (Reuters) — A vote will be held here next month to decide whether or not school children should be forced to wear bedroom slippers in class. The trouble began when the school in the Geneva commune of Meinier was redecorated. The municipal council decided that the children should wear slippers so as not to scuff the paintwork. Parents rebelled and forced the local government to call for a referendum.



SYMPATHY FOR THE PLIGHT of these two boys, Gerard 3, and Edward 4, and their five-month-old baby brother, Patrick, sons of Henry Corbin, 956 Western Ave., who was struck down by a car as he was crossing the street in front of his home Christmas Eve, has prompted a neighborhood collection that netted about $90 in cash and promises. Mr. Corbin who was previously reported in critical condition, is unchanged. George Rayment, 915 Western Ave., is making the collection helped by Ed Hele, 909 Ford Ave., on Western Ave. and Ford Ave. to assist the family over their crisis.—(Examiner Staff Photo)

Smith Twp. To Stick To Date Of Election, Tax Collection

Alex Edmison, clerk and treasurer of Smith township, asked the assembled ratepayers point blank on Monday afternoon: 1. Do you prefer having your annual election date the first Monday after the New Year; or earlier? 2. Would you like to see the present method of collecting taxes changed from one payment at the end of the year to two compulsory instalments?

Not many of the ratepayers bothered to speak to either of the questions but the consensus seemed to be that they were satisfied with both the present election date and the present method of collecting taxes.

An argument in favor of keeping the present nomination and election date is that it gives the treasurer a chance to draw up a full statement on the year's finances, not just an estimate on how things will go.

Against this are the arguments that people are less interested in municipal affairs during the holiday season; and the end of the year is the season for bad winter storms that may result in a poor attendance at nomination meetings and a small vote.

None of the ratepayers present said that either of these risks justified a change in date. One suggested it might be worth a trial once. But chances are that the earlier date is a dead issue.

DIFFERENCE ON TAXES

There was some difference of opinion on how taxes should be collected.

At present taxes can be paid up to December 15 on a voluntary basis; defaulters are then fined a half of one per cent each month.

(Many township officials feel this is not a sufficient penalty. In effect, the taxpayer can borrow money cheaper from the municipality than from the bank. Formerly the penalty was four per cent and tax arrears were only a fraction of what they are now. To date the tax collector has received about $120,000 but there is still some $34,000 outstanding.)

As an inducement for Smith ratepayers to pay their tax bills early, the municipality gives a two per cent discount on bills paid by July 1. This costs the municipality about $700 a year in lost revenue.

It was the proposed doing away with this discount that caused the most opposition.

NO DISCOUNT

Under the new system half the taxes would be payable June 15 and the other half December 15. There would be no discount.

Ross Harrison, ex-reeve, said, "I've enough trouble paying once a year, regardless of twice." He was not in favor of doing away with the bonus and opposed a change.

Charles Ireland said flatly: "I don't think the two per cent discount should be abolished."

The opposite view was put by Fred Tuggey who, like Mr. Ireland, is a nominee for Smith council.

"If you had two or even three instalments you would have less trouble collecting taxes," said Mr. Tuggey.

Newton P. Young, also a council nominee, came out in favor of two instalments; so did Erie Pearson.

"The two compulsory payments help out the poorer man and not just the people on easy street," he said.

Milton Clark, tax collector, gave the project a knock on the head by saying: "If you start the two-payments system then I'm not interested in being tax collector."

He said he doubted that it would do the job expected and it would require more work.

After everybody that wanted to had said his say, the meeting adjourned.

Board Awards $50 To Firemen

Copies of the arbitration award on terms of the 1952 working agreement between the city council and Peterborough Fire Fighters' Association have been received by both parties.

Secretary George Gimblett, Jr., said he had time only to glance through the report.

"They allow us $50 increase in the basic pay," Mr. Gimblett said.

The firemen had asked for something around $530 in their appeal to the board.

At the City Hall, City Clerk Outram was making copies of the report for mailing to the members of the council.

Ald. A. B. Burows, chairman of the fire and light committee, has called a meeting of his committee for tonight at 7:30 to discuss with Smith council representatives details of fire protection areas in the annexation agreement which is just about concluded.

Roundaries Set For Douro School

Areas from which Douro's new Coronation School will draw pupils have been set by the trustees of School Area No. 2.

Two classrooms which will handle about 70 pupils will be opened Monday when other schools open, and the remaining two rooms will be used at a later date.

Senior grade pupils from the Auburn School who live in the area around Leahy's and Spencley's Lanes and on the River Road south of Spencley's Lane will attend. They will be drawn from Grades 5, 6, 7, 8.

The other area will be on Park Hill Road east of the canal. Pupils from either side of the road may attend Coronation School or the Rifle Range School.

Until now these pupils have been attending the Auburn and Rifle Range schools.

Woman Defies Order To Get Out Stays In Court

Mrs. Joseph Hamilton today defied Magistrate W. R. Philp, QC, in police court when he ordered a police officer to remove her from the court room. After he had repeatedly warned Mrs. Hamilton to stop interrupting W. J. Arthur Fair, QC, who was defending Kenneth McClure on a theft charge, or he would have to ask her to leave the courtroom, the Magistrate lost his patience. "Officer, conduct Mrs. Hamilton from the court room," ordered Magistrate Philp.

Immediately, Mrs. Hamilton broke out in a new storm of words. "I will not do it," she declared emphatically. "He (Mr. Fair) has been slandering me all morning" . . . . at this point, OPP Constable Archie Eady had walked to where Mrs. Hamilton was seated at the rear of the courtroom and her rapid fire comments were interrupted for a moment by Constable Eady urging her to leave quietly. "I'll publicize this," Mrs. Hamilton threatened.

MODIFIES ORDER

Then, Magistrate Philp modified his order and said, "I'll let you stay if you promise to keep quiet." The magistrate added that any more interruptions by Mrs. Hamilton would result in her being removed from the room.

The unusual incident climaxed a court comedy that has been going on intermittently since September when Mrs. Hamilton first laid a charge against McClure of stealing cedar branches worth at least 25 cents from property owned by her husband in Dummer township. In the first charge and a later charge alleging that the value of the boughs was over $25, Mrs. Hamilton named herself as joint owner in the charge. In each case, this had to be amended over Mrs. Hamilton's strenuous objections when it was shown she did not own the property jointly.

After a preliminary hearing several weeks ago, Magistrate Philp dismissed the indictable offence and a week ago, evidence was heard on the lesser theft charge.

The case was adjourned until today when both Mr. Fair and Crown Attorney John A. Bradshaw presented their arguments.

Throughout both trials, Mrs. Hamilton had to be constantly reminded to refrain from interrupting while Mr. Fair, Mr. Bradshaw, and other witnesses were talking.

McClure, the accused, remained practically unnoticed except when he gave his evidence and Mrs. Hamilton held the spotlight.

CONTINUED REMARKS

After the Magistrate modified his order that she be removed from the courtroom, Mrs. Hamilton continued to make remarks as Mr. Fair continued his address, but she was not quite as insistent as before.

After Mr. Bradshaw presented his comments on evidence, the Magistrate dismissed the theft charge against McClure. "In a charge of this variety, there is not that degree of certainty which warrants a conviction," Magistrate Philp said in dismissing the charge.

Then, Mrs. Hamilton jumped to her feet and said she was going to appeal the case immediately. "I have not had the co-operation of the Crown," she declared. "I want to appeal the case."

A week ago, Mrs. Hamilton was in the witness box for nearly three hours. Her testimony was punctuated by frequent reminders from Magistrate Philp to "please restrict your remarks to answering the questions."

When Mr. Fair asked Mrs. Hamilton a question, she would either evade the question, or reply with another question which resulted in Mr. Fair commenting, "I would like to get an answer that is not a whole jumble of words."

COMIC PERFORMANCE

He termed her performance in the witness box "the worst comedy I've ever experienced in some 30 years at the bar." Emphasizing that he was sincere in his efforts to defend his client, Mr. Fair said "I sincerely don't consider a courtroom is the place to pull a comic show."

Today, Mr. Fair said "this woman's conduct is the most unusual I've ever seen in any court during consistent experience of over a quarter century."

After Mr. Fair ended his summing up of the evidence, court adjourned for 10 minutes, and a veteran police officer of many years' experience in Toronto Magistrates' courts said Mrs. Hamilton's conduct was "outright contempt." She would never have got away with it before some Magistrates, he added.

After Mrs. Hamilton had been ordered to leave the court room, Mr. Fair blasted her for "showing such contempt to the learned magistrate and Crown attorney." He congratulated Mr. Bradshaw "for the very able way he has conducted the case, particularly in view of the conduct of the principal witness, Mrs. Hamilton.

"Her threats of publicizing this and that (referring to Mrs. Hamilton's threat when ordered to leave the courtroom) are common knowledge. Not only has she visited all departments of the administration of justice but she has also used the newspaper while this case was being decided," said Mr. Fair.

SAW MAN CUTTING

Mrs. Hamilton testified that she was walking through the woods the afternoon of September 25 when she saw a man cutting cedar branches on the Hamilton property with a knife. She said she left without attracting the man's attention, went to the house, drove her car to a neighbor's, then re-

The names are as follows: Capt. Victor Barry of the Fire Department; R. A. Bell, Robert J. Bolton, 405 Walton St.; Louis M. Brooks, 199 Dalhousie St.; Miss Eva Brown, 461 Mark St.

William A. Clarke, Hartley St.; Donald T. Crawford, 12 Aberdeen Ave.; J. A. Dewart, 589 Water St.; Mary E. Elliott, 596 Water St.; Douglas J. "Major George Melton has been local director of civil defence training," Col. Dewart said. "At the top are the federal and provincial governments. In Ontario, civil defence is a branch of the department of Hon. Arthur Welch, Provincial Secretary. The corresponding federal department is that of the Hon. Paul Martin, Minister of National Health and Welfare.

"Major Ken Smith is director under Hon. Mr. Welch, and Chief Instructor is Major J. H. Adams.

"The syllabus of study was followed in our Peterborough course, and as director here I wish to compliment the men and women who volunteered and qualified as civil defence general instructors. They are now equipped to act as instructors of others if that service should ever be needed. In a short time they could quickly communicate their knowledge and training to other groups, and in an emergency we could soon have a comparatively large number of our people capable of carrying on civil defence work."

Col. Dewart especially mentioned the interest and effort of Major George Melton who was director of training under Major Adams of Toronto.

MARRIED ON CHRISTMAS DAY in Lakehurst United Church were Mr. and Mrs. Thomas S. Gillespie who will live in Hamilton. The bride is the former Stella Marie Hutchinson.—(Parks Studio Photo)

Christmas Day Wedding In Lakehurst United Church

Lakehurst United Church was the setting for a Christmas Day wedding of wide interest in which Stella Marie, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Hutchinson of Lakehurst, became the bride of Thomas Samuel Gillespie of Hamilton, son of Mr. and Mrs. Melville Gillespie.

The church was lighted only by candles with twin candelabra at the altar and candles in the windows. Large poinsettias and white pine served as attractive seasonal background for the candles.

The ceremony was performed by the Rev. D. P. Morris and the music was played by Mrs. W. J. Stockdale. During the signing of the register Mr. Nelson Windover, grandfather of the bride, sang "O Perfect Love," and afterward Mrs. Stockdale played "The Lord's Prayer."

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was lovely in a ballerina length gown of nylon tulle with strapless decollete topped with a jacket which had long sleeves that extended over the wrists and a high stand-up collar. Skirt of the gown was fashioned in five layers of the tulle cut in handkerchief points. Her veil, also of nylon tulle, was caught to a bonnet-shaped hat made of lace and trimmed with seed pearls and fell to fingertip length. She carried red and white carnations with streamers of white velvet bells.

Miss Edith Hutchinson of Peterborough was maid of honor for her sister and wore a ballerina gown of bright red velvet and nylon net, and Miss Doris Barcroft, bridesmaid, was in a gown of dark green net over taffeta. Two young sisters of the bride, Della and Carol Hutchinson, were flower girls and were in pale green frocks. Each attendant wore a headdress of feathers to match her gown and they carried cascades of Christmas holly and white carnations.

The groom's attendant was Mr. Rodger Gillespie, and the ushers were Arthur and Norman Hutchinson.

The reception following was in the Lakehurst Community Hall. The bride's mother received in a dress of navy crepe and wore navy and grey accessories and a corsage of pink carnations. The groom's mother was wearing a dark brown suit and beige accessories and her corsage was also of pink carnations.

For travelling the bride chose a black suit and black and white accessories and her going-away corsage was of holly and red roses.

The couple will live at 454 Cannon St. E. in Hamilton.

THE LOVELY YOUNG LADIES pictured above were in charge of arranging the Christmas formal dance of the YWCA Friday Night Supper Club which bears the appropriate name "Holly Hop". Display Of Youthful Charm At YW Formal "Holly Hop"

Formal dance gowns a-glitter with sequins and brilliants and a-glow with newness and color were merely ornaments to their lovely young wearers at the "Holly Hop" in the YWCA Monday evening. The girls every one displayed their individual tastes and personalities in dress and accessories and with their shy but carefully groomed escorts made up an altogether delightful display of the charm of youth.

Dancing was in the Y gymnasium where pastel blue and rose streamers and lights, gilded pine boughs and balloons were the setting. A 20-foot Christmas tree decorated with gay baubles and a smaller tree on the orchestra stand carried the Christmas theme there, but the recreation room was arranged for lounging and the Green Room for buffet refreshments with decorations in the traditional Christmas red and green and silver.

The decorating was done by girls of the Friday Night Supper Club under convenership of Miss Lorraine Bacon. Refreshments were convened by Miss Marie Robinson and the punch was arranged for by Miss Joanne Watson. Ticket convener was Miss Shirley Peryer and Misses Beth Davidson and Millie Hayward took tickets at the door and looked after registration.

President Miss Sally Poole was receiving, assisted by her escort Mr. Bob Craw and the patrons and patronesses, Mrs. H. T. Rehill, president of the Y board, and Mr. Rehill, Mr. and Mrs. Tom Cook, and Mr. and Mrs. Stan McBride.

Allow UK Women To Buy Nylons

LONDON (AP)—British women in 1953 will have their first chance since the Second World War to buy Canadian and American nylon stockings legally.

The board of trade said today the 1953 token import plan will be the same as in 1952, except that one-third of the quotas for full fashioned hosiery may be used for nylons.

When Britain clamped down on imports from Canada and the U.S. owing to a dollar shortage she introduced the token import scheme to permit North American manufacturers to keep their brands before the British public.

DOROTHY DIX

Talk Of Old Flames Bores Wife Of Wedded Don Juan

DEAR MISS DIX: My husband's pet topic of conversation is his old girl friends. I try to ignore him when he embarks on the subject, but it makes him worse; I even left him once, but it did no good. We were married four years ago, when I was 18 and he 30. We have one child. Eleven years ago Ralph dated a high-chool girl, then went into the army. The girl married while he was in France, has a fine husband and a very happy home. Ralph insists she only married for spite, and still loves him. He claims she would divorce her husband and marry him, even now. This I doubt, since we have met the lady on a few occasions and she barely speaks to Ralph. This is just a sample.

There are about ten different women he remembers, romantically from the past. Whenever we encounter them he makes a big fuss, then later becomes reminiscent with me about his erstwhile loves. He never introduces me to them, even when he stops to talk on the street. Some of the ladies seem scarcely to remember him, yet he builds up this big yarn about how much in love they were with him, and how jealous they must be of me. He is very nice and charming, and a pleasant person to be with, except for this brand of bragging. Of course, he blames everything on my jealousy, which is entirely a figment of his imagination. I am annoyed—not jealous.

MRS. L. W.

ANSWER: Why not counter with a lively recital of your own high-school romances — real or imaginary? Be just as voluble in your reminiscences. You might give him something to think about that will divert attention from his own Casanova past.

Ralph was 30 when he married you, so he had several years in which to build up this romantic past—most of which has been greatly magnified in the present. It is most probable that Ralph's youth lacked the love of a serene and secure home, so he invented or amplified any affection that came to him from the outside. In his own mind, every girl who smiled upon him was terriby in love. This trick of substitution is quite usual with people who have been denied the love of parents. If you look into Ralph's past, I'm quite sure you'll find that such a lack existed. The fact that he has felt the need of carrying this bolstering habit into marriage would indicate that somewhere along the line you have failed to supply the assurance he requires.

CONSULT A MARRIAGE COUNSELOR

One could scarcely expect a girl of 18 to marry a man 12 years older and be able to appreciate and fulfill his emotional needs, especially in a case like yours, in which Ralph is a bit complex. You may need professional help to unravel your personal problem, for which I strongly recommend a marriage counselor. It may be that in one way or another you make Ralph feel inferior to you, so it seems perfectly natural for him to boost his own morale by boasting of the conquests he has made. Perhaps there is strong affection between you and the members of your family; if a comparable feeling doesn't exist in Ralph's family circle, this would also be a cause of unconscious resentment.

Try a bit of analyzing and, if you don't come up with a workable answer, seek the advice of someone to whom you can present the entire problem and its background.

✣ ✣ ✣

DEAR MISS DIX: I am a young lady of 25 with a good job, and very active in the community and church projects. I have been going with a man four years older who has a wonderful job and fine personality. My problem is that he is divorced and some of my friends and relatives feel I shouldn't go with him. Members of my immediate family like him very much.

H. L.

ANSWER: You are qualified through years, background, and intelligence to judge the worth of the man yourself. If you are satisfied that the failure of his first marriage did not reflect on him, that he has severed all emotional ties with his first wife, and will undertake the obligations of family life with you, there's no reason why you shouldn't continue going with him.

DEAR MISS DIX: Do you think mothers should treat 14-year-old daughters like babies?

ANSWER: Some 14-year-old girls are pretty babyish. A girl can convince her parents that she is growing up only by acting grown up. As you assume more responsibility around the home, more privileges will be extended you. If you make a fuss and cry every time you are denied something you want, naturally, you'll be treated as a child.

Great London Fog Destroyed Priceless Robes

LONDON (CP)—The great London fog of '52 notwithstanding, Montreal and Toronto still may get a good look at a selection of Royalty's robes.

The four-day fog in early December damaged beyond repair some near-priceless exhibits of the "Museum of Costume" which was to tour the United States, and perhaps Canada, starting Jan. 3.

Now, says Mrs. Doris Langley Moore, who is taking the museum on tour, everything is in confusion. She still hopes to visit parts of Canada but the original date has been set ahead. Nor have any firm arrangements been made.

Costumes have had to be handwashed to rid them of the fog's filthy traces. Others have been replaced to maintain a high standard.

Besides childhood clothing and apparel worn at the last coronation by the Queen and Princess Margaret, Mrs. Langley Moore has some from the Queen Mother. One is the crimson velvet robe, trimmed with gold and ermine, the elder queen Elizabeth wore for parts of the last coronation service.

MARY MOORE SAYS:

Rib Roast Of Beef For New Year's Dinner

Since I found myself seated beside a doctor friend of ours who is a capable cook when he is up north on vacation—and a trencherman the year round—I said "Kay, what is your idea of the perfect New Year's dinner?" He turned to look straight at me and answered "I'm of English extraction, you know Mary. I want a big standing rib roast of beef. After that anything goes—but a heavy dessert. I lean to sherbets or light things like that." My brother echoed this—and I do too. What about your menfolk? Would they like this menu for New Year's dinner?:

Seafood Cocktail
Prime or Standing Roast Ribs of Beef
Horseradish Brown Gravy
White Potato Puff
Broccoli with Hollandaise
Lettuce and Cress Salad with Roquefort French Dressing
Mince Pie or Strawberry Sherbet
Nuts
Assorted cookies Coffee

SEAFOOD COCKTAIL

Mix together lightly flakes or bite-size pieces of shrimp, lobster and crabmeat, and add salt, pepper, ½ teaspoon grated onion or chopped green onion tops, up to ¼ cup finely choped celery. Have this ice cold. When ready to serve spoon onto small lettuce cup in sherbet glasses, pour over about 2 or 3 teaspoons

Cocktail Sauce (for seafood): ½ cup chili sauce, ½ cup catsup, ½ cup prepared horseradish, 1½ teaspoons Worcestershire sauce, 2 tablespoons lemon juice, and, if desired, a few drops tobasco sauce.

To roast the standing ribs, wipe with damp cloth, dredge all over with salt and pepper and paprika. Place on open pan; do not add water, do not cover and do not baste. Have oven preheated to 325 deg. Fahr. If meat is taken directly from refrigerator these are the times for roasting: 6 or 8-lb. roast—rare 28 minutes to the lb.; medium 32 minutes per lb.; well done 37 minutes per lb. Most cooks overroast beef. This means when it is sliced cold later it is hard and juiceless and the flavor and life have been baked out of it.

WHITE POTATO PUFF

Make fluffy mashed potatoes—rather moister than usual. Beat into them 2 beaten egg yolks, then fold in 2 stiffly beaten egg whites. Pile into buttered casserole, brush top with butter and bake at 350 deg. Fahr. for 30 minutes or until puffed and golden.

HOLLANDAISE SAUCE

Don't make this if you are in a hurry—you must be calm, because it is the aristocrat of all savory sauces and requires all of your attention. Do not have water boiling—and over it in top of double boiler melt ½ cup butter. Gradually stir in 4 beaten egg yolks, stirring constantly. Slowly stir in ¾ cup boiling water. As soon as this is thick and smooth remove from heat at once—as it easily separates. Add shake of cayenne, ¼ teaspoon salt, and 2 tablespoons lemon juice. Carry to table in warmed pitcher and pass at table. Do not pour this over the hot broccoli as I have seen it curdle when it comes in contact with the boiling hot vegetables.

STRAWBERRY SHERBET

Milk may be used instead of cream in this recipe if you wish.

Soften 1 teaspoon gelatin in 2 tablespoons cold water, then dissolve it in ¼ cup boiling water. If using fresh strawberries (or raspberries— add ¾ cup sugar to ¾ cup of them crushed. If frozen fruit is used add only ½ cup sugar. Also add ¼ cup lemon juice. Let this stand 2 hours, stirring it once or twice until syrup forms. Add gelatin mixture to fruit stirring them together well. Pour into freezing tray and freeze to a mush. Remove to cold bowl and beat with rotary beater until creamy and frothy. Whip ½ cup heavy cream until stiff. Fold into it an egg yolk beaten until very light and a stiffly beaten egg white. Fold the beaten fruit mixture into the cream mixture carefully; return to tray, freeze until firm stirring occasionally.

I hope this is a happy dinner for you and yours. Tomorrow, being the last day of the year, I will resolve and reminisce.

But trust in God to meet again.

—Ever remembered by brother Francis and sister-in-law, Peg.

ROBERTS—In loving memory of Baby Roberts, who passed away December 24, 1936.

That we down here do not forget,
We love and miss her so.

Crown Protests Light Fine In Assault Case

LINDSAY (ENS). — Mervyn Switzer, 18, of Gooderham, was Monday found guilty of assaulting Provincial Constable Gordon Langton of Haliburton, at a dance at Gooderham two weeks ago. He was fined $50, and costs, by Magistrate Gee. Crown Counsel Lorne Jordan protested the sentence, and asked for either a prison term or a heavy fine. Switzer was charged after an altercation at a wedding dance in the village to which the constable had been invited. The constable did not attend as a guest, but called during the evening and arrested one of the other guests, Garnet Maxwell, 28, on a charge of being drunk. When he was taking Maxwell to the cruiser, some shoving resulted and he found himself on the ground on top of the arrested man. During the struggle, he testified he had been struck several times. When he looked over his shoulder at the crowd assembled he had noticed Switzer on his knees beside him, preparing to hit him again. He ducked and felt three distinct blows on the back of the head. Later he arrested Switzer and charged him with assault.

Switzer testified that he had not come within 15 feet of the scene of the fight, but admitted under cross-examination that he "might have been on the inside of the circle." He also admitted having three pints of beer, of which there was plenty at the dance, and it was on this basis that Magistrate Gee convicted him, commenting "we have an officer, who was apparently sober and the accused who admits having some beer. At his age, that might be enough to make him forget what he had been doing."

Defence Counsel Jos. Staples, asked for a fine, in view of the youth of the defendant. Crown Counsel Jordan, however, said the offence warranted either a prison term or a heavy fine.

SPIRITUAL AID—Weapons slung over their shoulders, GI's line up to pay their respects to Francis Cardinal Spellman after attending Christmas mass said by the New York Archbishop. In his second consecutive visit to troops in Korea at Christmas time, Cardinal Spellman flew from base to base to give his blessing to thousands of servicemen.

Foreign Agents Discovered Secret Base

WASHINGTON (AP)—Col. Paul W. Tibbets, pilot of the plane which dropped the first atomic bomb on Japan, said today foreign agents penetrated the secret B-29 base in Utah where the first A-bomb crew was trained.

Tibbets said agents of two foreign countries were arrested within the closely - guarded air base at Wendover, Utah, at a time when only a handful of scientists and high military men knew about the bomb.

He did not name the countries, nor say whether the agents had had an opportunity to learn any secrets.

Tibbets made the statement while chatting informally with air force officials and others following a private showing of a new motion picture based in large part on his experiences.

OFFICIALS SURPRISED

Among those in the group was Air Force Secretary Arthur Finletter, who showed signs of incredulity. Finletter asked how it could have been possible for spies to get into one of the most carefully guarded spots in the United States.

Tibbets replied Wendover was a busy bus and rail stop and the base itself was built on a fenced-off desert area on the Nevada-Utah border, a locality difficult to screen completely even with highly trained military police on hand.

The new movie, "Above and Beyond," was based on Tibbets' difficulties—personal and professional—as commander of a group set up to develop the B-29 and its crews as an A-bomb carrier and to stage the atomic bombings which just preceded the end of the war with Japan in 1945.

Tibbets, now 37, said the security problem was in no way overdrawn in the film.

The film portrays the near-breakup of Tibbets' marriage over the secrecy issue.

Retired Gen. Carl A. Spaatz, who was chief of the strategic air force near the end of the Second World War, said the entire responsibility for the first bombing rested on Tibbets' shoulders, and said history had proved the soundness of the young officer's judgment.

GIFT EVERY DAY—Every day in the year will be Christmas for Mrs. George Adamson, of Kitchener. Under Mrs. Adamson's Christmas tree are 364 gifts from her husband, each with an individual date, and all beautifully wrapped. The dates range from December 26, 1952, to December 24, 1953.

U.S. Experiences Most Strikes In Six Years

WASHINGTON (AP) — The year now closing brought more strikes and more idleness from work stoppages in the United States than any period since the industrial convulsions of 1946, the labor department reported today.

It said 4,950 stoppages began in 1952. This was close to the record of 4,985 set in 1946 when labor went after its "first round" of post-war wage boosts.

Thirty-four major stoppages, involving more than 10,000 workers each, were recorded. The biggest was the two-month strike of the CIO United Steelworkers.

AFL unions were involved in 17 of the major stoppages, CIO unions in 12, and independent unions in six. The industry most hit was construction; it had seven big strikes, five of them affecting projects of the atomic energy commission.

Strikes of all sizes outnumbered the 1951 total by about five per cent, but man-days of idleness more than doubled — increasing from 22,900,000 in 1951 to 55,000,000 this year. (A man-day is the time of one man for one day.)

Some 3,500,000 workers were involved in this year's stoppages, as against 2,200,000 last year.

Economic issues, primarily wages, were the dominant cause of the large shutdowns.

Visitors Speak At YPU Meeting

MILLBROOK (ENS)—The interchurch young people's group met on Sunday evening at the home of Donald Spicer.

Paul Sanders, the president, was in the chair for the business meeting.

Don Kent was in charge of the program.

The worship service was taken by Mac Ingham. He gave a resume of the history of the province of Ontario. Tom and Lindsay Belch spoke telling of what the inter-varsity Christian fellowship meant to them in their life at U. of T.

George Ingham was at the piano for the meeting and Donald Spicer for the sing-song which followed. The game period was conducted by Donald Kent.

Supper hostesses were Irene Trick and Leona Ball with others of the young people assisting in serving.

Permit Teachers Given Support

TORONTO (CP) — Harold Fisher of Niagara Falls Monday told an executive meeting of the Ontario Public School Men Teachers Federation that more assistance should be given "permit" public school teachers in their early days of teaching.

Permit teachers are those teaching after a six-week course. Last summer a program was inaugurated whereby high school graduates could take a six-week course and begin teaching public school.

Mr. Fisher said that one permit teacher in his district was "almost in tears" because he had never seen a demonstration of teaching a class and so didn't know how he himself was doing. Delegates agreed that many of the permit teachers were doing as good a job as many graduates of the regular one-year course.

The executive decided to advertise for applications for a new post of assistant general secretary with a salary of between $4,000 and $5,000. The post is limited to federation members.

Want Comics "Cleaned Up"

WASHINGTON (AP) — A House of Representatives committee said, today that "some of the most offensive infractions of the moral code" are contained in low-cost publications including comics for sale on newsstands all over the United States.

It rapped segments of the publishing industry for not taking steps to clean up its standards and for being guided too much by "the profit motive." It said censorship "definitely is not a practicable or adequate answer."

The committee was created last summer to probe "pornographic materials."

Little Remo Dies Italians Sad

ROME (AP) — The Christmas Eve death of Little Remo, a two-year-old baby elephant, is rivalling the childhood mystery of who killed Cock Robin.

The Rome zoo withheld the news for 48 hours to avoid saddening the children on the happy holiday.

Thus far Rome newspapers have advanced three theories on the cause of death:

1. Little Remo was stabbed up the trunk with a tiny stiletto dipped in a mysterious African poison. No motive was suggested in this version.

2. Little Remo, who loved spaghetti and ate it by the tubfull, just ate himself to death on a dish not fitted to elephant digestion.

3. He succumbed to intestinal influenza — a disease now prevalent in Rome.

His keepers scoffed at all three theories.

"Bosh," they said. "It's bad enough to lose him. Why can't they let us have him stuffed in peace? We had an autopsy. He died of colic. That's all there is to it."

Bad Cheque Artist Asks, Gets 18 Months

LINDSAY (ENS). — A 62-year-old Peterborough man, James Doughty, asked for and received a term in the Mimico Reformatory when he appeared in magistrate's court here on a charge of using bad cheques.

Doughty, who appeared for sentence on five charges of cashing worthless cheques in Lindsay and Peterborough stores, asked for a term in reformatory, so he could take "the cure." He had pleaded guilty to the charges, after being spotted in Lindsay by a clerk in a store where he had used a bad cheque earlier this year.

Crown Counsel Lorne Jordan pointed out to Magistrate Gee, before sentence was passed, that the value of the cheques cashed was almost $250. Magistrate Gee thought the offence had been serious enough to demand a stiff penalty, and sentenced Doughty to 18 months determinate and nine months indeterminate in the Mimico institution.

Hungary Defies Russian Master

VIENNA (AP)—Hungarians were reported by a Vienna newspaper today to have boycotted Communist attempts to substitute a "Fir Tree festival" for traditional Christmas.

On Christmas Eve, when everything normally closes at mid-day, the Communist regime ordered theatres, movies, bars and entertainment places to remain open.

"But from 6 p.m. until midnight, the brightly lit and gaily decorated streets were ghostly empty," said the Vienna newspaper Weltpresse. "Street cars were only sparsely occupied and theatres and movies visited only by persons in uniform ordered to attend. The festival became a popular demonstration against the (Communist) regime."

The government had ordered that Christmas Day be known as the day of the Fir Tree festival and had ordered that Hungarians work on Dec. 26—traditionally a holiday.

Nationalists Report Mainland Attacks

TAIPEH, Formosa (Reuters) — Chiang Kai-shek's eldest son, Lt.-Gen. Chiang Ching kuo, said today that Chinese Nationalist troops made numerous attacks on the Comunist-held mainland of China this year, killing 41,727 enemy soldiers between January and October. Another 3,025 Communists were captured.

The Nationalist leader's son, who is chief of the political department of the national defence ministry, also said that Nationalist troops made at least 21 forays on the mainland. They captured 350 villages and nine islands off the China coast.

Chiang Ching kuo added that the build-up of Nationalist armed forces would be intensified next year to prepare for "counter-attacking on the China mainland."

Drop Kaufman From TV Show After Remark

NEW YORK (AP) — Playwright George S. Kaufman has been dropped from the CBS television program, "This is Show Business," because he remarked. "Let's make this one program on which no one sings 'Silent Night.'"

He made the remark on the Dec. 21 show.

Kaufman's departure from the program was disclosed Monday. It was said that several hundred letters and phone calls had been received by the network and the show's sponsor, the American Tobacco Company saying the remark was "anti-religious" and in questionable taste.

Some letters, it was reported, threatened a boycott of the sponsor's products if Kaufman remained on the show.

"This was not wittingly an anti-religious remark," Kaufman said. "I was merely speaking out against the use and over-use of this Christmas carol in connection with sale of commercial products."

East German Police Revolt In Barracks

BERLIN (AP) — East German People's Police revolted in their barracks, Dec. 26, the West German newspaper Telegraf said today.

Reason for the mutiny, the newspaper said, was an order that the East Germans were to be transported to training centres at Prenzlau, Torgelow and Pasewalk to join the new East Germany Army.

When the order became known, the report said, the police barricaded themselves in their rooms.

Reinforcements were called in and broke up the mutiny.

Deadlock Broken, TV Programs From U.S. Channelled To Canada

TORONTO (CP)—United States television programs will be channelled into Canada as the result of the breaking of a stalemate over rates between the CBC and two big U.S. networks, the National Broadcasting Company and the Columbia Broadcasting System.

The CBC declined Monday to reveal details of the final settlement, but one report was that U.S. shows will be brought in on a 50-50 basis. Previously U.S. networks wanted 70 per cent of the CBC's receipts from sponsored programs and negotiations broke down soon after the Canadian stations went on the air last September.

The programs will reach Canada over a microwave relay system from Buffalo to the CBC's Toronto television transmitter. Pending completion of a microwave hookup between Toronto, Ottawa and Montreal, probably next spring, the U.S. programs will be made available to Montreal's station CBFT by kinescope filmed recordings.

The only U.S. programs now televised in Canada are a few recorded programs and re-new arrangement is expected to appear on screens within range of Toronto's station CBLT next week. It will probably be Studio One, an hour-long dramatic program.

Red Wings Hold Nice Lead Wait Confidently For New Year In NHL Play

MONTREAL (CP)—Waiting confidently for the new year and the second half of the season, Detroit Red Wings hold their most comfortable lead in the National Hockey League race since they took over Dec. 11. Early in the season, the Red Wings held first place briefly and then sagged, but never too far off the pace.

The NHL's official statistics, released today, show clearly why Detroit is sitting on top with a six-point margin.

The Wings last lost a game Nov. 23 when they were shut out 3-0 by Chicago Black Hawks, then the leaders. The Wings were in fourth place, four points behind Chicago.

Since then, they have gone undefeated in 15 games—eight wins and seven ties for 23 points.

The Wings are the first team to pass 100 goals this season. They have 111 and have been scored against only 67 times. Terry Sawchuk leads the goalies with a goals-against average of 1.97, including three games with substitutes in the Detroit net. The nearest to that is 2.15 for Gerry McNeil of Montreal Canadiens.

Behind the Red Wings and their 43 points it's still a dog-fight for the next four places. During last week's play Chicago crept ahead of Canadiens for second place with 37 points. Canadiens have 36, one more than Toronto Maple Leafs, who displaced Boston Bruins for fourth place but hold it by only two points. New York Rangers remain in the cellar with 20 points.

Detroit's Gordie Howe now has a five-point lead in the scoring race. Last week the big fellow rolled up four goals and two assists for a 21-20 count of 41 points. His 21 goals leads the league in that department. His 20 assists are tied by Wally Hergesheimer of New York, Maurice Richard of Montreal and Alex Delvecchio of Detroit.

Hergesheimer clung to second place in point-scoring behind Howe, getting one goal and two assists. He now has 36 points.

Below them the positions underwent changes. Detroit's Ted Lindsay, with three goals and four assists, jumped from fifth place to third and is on Hergesheimer's heels with 35 points.

Richard, with nary a point, dropped back to fourth place. He has 31 points, one more than Metro Prystai of the Red Wings, who moved from sixth to fifth. Ted Kennedy of Toronto, still with 29, dropped from fourth to sixth.

Paul Ronty of New York moved ahead of Delvecchio for seventh place, now having 27 points to Delvecchio's 26.

A trio with 23 points each follows. They are Sid Smith of Toronto, Red Kelly of Detroit, highest scoring defenceman in the league, and Cal Gardner of Chicago.

Behind Sawchuk and McNeil in the goalies' standing come Jim Henry of Boston with 2.53; Harry Lumley, Toronto 2.63; Al Rollins, Chicago, 2.66, and Chuck Rayner, New York, 3.27.

Toronto is the most penalized team with a total of 462 minutes. The Red Wings' Ted Lindsay is still the most penalized player. He has sat out 70 minutes.

Sullivan Leads Scoring In AHL Play

NEW YORK (AP)—George (Red) Sullivan and his Hershey Bear teammates dominated the scoring in the American Hockey League today. The Bears, currently tied for first place with Cleveland Barons, have five men in the top ten.

Sullivan is the individual leader for the second straight week with eight goals and 35 assists, Lorne Ferguson of Hershey is second with 39 points, followed by Guyle Fielder of St. Louis Flyers and Ike Hildebrand of Cleveland barons, tied for third place with 35 points each.

Dunc Fisher, although transferred to Boston during the week, continued to lead the goal scorers with 20, and Sullivan's 35 assists were far ahead of his nearest rival.

Johnny Bower of Cleveland continued to pace the goalies, although he allowed 15 goals in three games. His goals-against average is 2.52 and he has blanked the opposition five times. Frank Sullivan of the Pittsburgh Hornets, with 63 minutes in the penalty box, leads in that department.

Injuries Dog Bowl Teams

NEW YORK (AP) — Adhesive tape and splints threaten to replace the slide rule in determining odds on the major football bowl games Thursday with the toll of pre-game casualties reaching record proportions.

Three teams—Georgia Tech, Tennessee and Florida — have seen their chief offensive performers cut down with injuries. Tennessee has lost its veteran coach, the ailing Bob Neyland.

Southern California's Rose Bowl hopes have been jarred by loss of Jim Psaltis, ace defensive back, through ineligibility. The Trojans' Pasadena opponent, Wisconsin, has its fastest runner, Harland Carl, hobbled by a twisted knee.

Tulsa, Florida's opponent in the 'Gator Bowl, has two line backers on the shelf and a halfback on the doubtful list with severed Achilles tendon.

Albama, which takes on Syracuse in Miami's Orange Bowl, is racked with colds and minor injuries, most serious of which is a leg ailment suffered by tackle Jack Smalley.

CRASHING THROUGH—Detroit Lions' Bob Lane, between Cleveland and Browns' Walt Michaels (34) and Tommy Thompson (54), crashes through from the two-yard line for his team's first touchdown in the second quarter of the National Football League's championship game in Cleveland. Detroit won, 17-7.

Eddie Sawyer Decides Quit Baseball

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Eddie Sawyer, fired last June as manager of Philadelphia Phillies, announced today he is quitting baseball in favor of private business.

Sawyer, former Ithaca, N. Y., college professor, who directed the Phillies to the 1950 National League pennant, was removed in mid-season this year as manager and given a job in the club's front office. He was succeeded by Steve O'Neill.

His retirement from baseball after 18 years in the game in both the minor and major leagues dispelled rumors that Sawyer would succeed Fred Haney as pilot of the Hollywood club in the Pacific Coast League. Haney recently was named manager of Pittsburgh Pirates, a post for which Sawyer also had been mentioned.

"I wouldn't be interested in a minor league job," Sawyer said at his home, where he is recuperating from a grippe and virus attack.

Sawyer was in the first year of a three-year contract at a reported $35,000 a year, plus bonuses based on attendance, when he was dismissed. He has at least $70,000 coming to him under the contract even if the bonuses were voided. He said that he expected to reach an amicable adjustment of the contract with club president Bob Carpenter.

Sawyer left his managing job with Toronto Maple Leafs to pilot the Phillies in 1948, succeeding Ben Chapman in mid-season when the club was floundering in last place. He directed the team to a sixth-place finish that year In 1949 the youthful Phillies, known as the "whiz kids," finished third.

The kids surprised everyone and on the wings of a hot mid-season streak won the 1950 senior circuit flag. In the world series, they lost four straight games to New York Yankees.

The slump that overtook them in the last month of 1950 was carried right into the 1951 season and the team dropped to fifth place. When the club started poorly in 1952, Carpenter removed Sawyer in favor of O'Neill. The Phillies finished third last season.

Plante Signs Contract With Canadiens

MONTREAL (CP) — Jacques Plante, goalkeeper for Montreal Royals of the Quebec Senior Hockey League, Monday signed a two-year contract with Montreal Canadiens and will be turned over to Buffalo of the American Hockey League.

Under the agreement between leagues and the QSHL, Plante would be subject to draft, at $7,500, if he played one more game with the Royals. Once he is past age 22, he could be drafted when he has played in 50 per cent or more of his team's games in the current season. So far he has played in 29 games of Royals' 60-game schedule.

The lowest club in the highest classification of pro leagues would get first choice, and then the other clubs in reverse order of standing. If no NHL club took him he would then be subject to draft, in order, by American Hockey League and Western Hockey League clubs. If he refused to sign a regular pro contract he could still remain with the Royals but if he ever changed his mind he would have to go to originally drafting him.

Terms of the contract were not announced but Frank Selke, managing director of Canadiens, said both he and Plante were pleased.

Tessier, traded to Barrie with goalie Bill Harrington for three players and a bundle of cash, has 32 goals and 26 assists or 58 points. He is four points up on Wally Maxwell of Toronto Marlboros and seven ahead of Jim McBurney of Galt Black Hawks. McBurney holds the goals scored leadership with 34.

Pick 'High Noon' As Best Film

NEW YORK (AP)—New York film critics Monday selected "High Noon" as the best film of 1952 and its director, Fred Zinnemann, for the best direction of the year.

The movie starred Gary Cooper and was produced by Stanley Kramer.

Chosen as the best actor of 1952 was Sir Ralph Richardson for his performance in a British film, "Breaking Through the Sound Barrier."

Shirley Booth won the best-actress award for her performance in "Come Back Little Sheba."

Hydro Increase For Toronto

TORONTO (CP)—Mayor Allan Lamport said Monday a boost in hydro rates to domestic and industrial users in this area will probably be announced this week, but added that the increase should be no greater than 14 per cent.

The mayor said this is the amount of rate increase which will be passed on to Toronto Hydro by the Ontario system. He said the average householder will find his bill for two months up less than $1.

Army Ups Manpower For First In 6 Months

OTTAWA (CP)—The Army increased its manpower in November for the first time in six months.

Recruiting figures released Monday showed that the Army had 47,702 men at the end of November compared to 47,540 at the end of October.

That signalled the end of a drop that started in June.

PCVS Old Boys To Play Present Cagers

The annual Old Boys' basketball exhibition by former Collegiate cage stars against present PCVS senior players is slated for 8 p.m. this Saturday in the Collegiate gym. It will be preceded at 7 by a tilt between the PCVS juniors and midgets.

Many of the former hoop aces who played under Bev Goulding are now at college, but home for the holidays, and most are expected to take part. Any wishing to do so can contact Blair Thomson (telephone 7483), as he will captain the Old Boys against the Goulding bunch in this contest.

Seven of the 1949 Canadian juvenile basketball champions from here will likely take part Saturday evening. These include Don Griffin, Henry Dinsdale, Harold Grafstein, Bill Thompson, Al Northcott, Byron Young, and Carl Sargent. Others like Don Richardson, Don Ash, Blair Thomson and several more will be in action, too.

Churches Have More Members

OTTAWA (CP) — The Roman Catholic Church and the United Church of Canada, the two largest religious bodies in Canada, both made major gains in membership in the 10 years between the last two censuses, the bureau of statistics reports.

Its report of the 1951 census showed the Roman Catholic Church with 6,069,496 members and adherents—43.3 per cent of the total population of 14,009,429. This was a gain of 1,263,065 from 1941 when 4,806,431 Canadians—41.8 per cent of the population—said they belonged to the Catholic church.

The United Church of Canada had 2,867,271 members and adherents in 1951, compared with 2,208,658 in 1941—a gain of 658,613. As a proportion of the total population, the increase was from 19.2 to 20.5 per cent.

Operate On Coldwell

OTTAWA (CP)—M. J. Coldwell, national CCF leader, Monday underwent a minor surgical operation and hospital authorities described his condition as "good." The 64-year-old member of Parliament for Rosetown - Biggar, Saskatchewan, entered Ottawa Civic Hospital for a check-up Saturday.

De Spirito Has Four Winners

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Apprentice jockey Tony DeSpirito, driving to break the world's riding record of 388, brought in four winners in seven races at Tropical Park Monday and pushed his total for the year to 385 with two days to go.

The nervy little Lawrence, Mass., boy drew thunderous applause when he came whirling home to win the first, second, fifth and seventh races. He did not have mounts in the third and fourth, finished out of the money in the sixth and eighth, and was third in the ninth.

"I think I'll break the record now," DeSpirito said, "If I can just get the mounts."

His agent, Norman Sudduth, said he has six mounts for today. "And I'm taking all the horses I can get."

DeSpirito was a tremendous favorite with the big week-day crowd from the time he forged ahead on Tedlin in the first race and won by six lengths.

South Africa Scores 1st Win In 42 Years

MELBOURNE (AP) — South Africa's cricket team today scored its first test victory in 42 years over Australia, winning the second test match by 82 runs.

Australia won the first test at Brisbane.

Brilliant fielding and catching by the youthful South Africans were the outstanding features of the game.

Russell Endean, a successful batsman on this trip, made 162 for South Africa in their second innings.

The scores were: South Africa 227 and 388, Australia 243 and 290.

Outbreak Fatal To 2

CASTOR, Alta. (CP)—Schools in the Altario district, about 35 miles east of here, closed Monday owing to an outbreak of spinal meningitis which already has claimed two lives. Dr. A. M. Day, district health officer at Castor, has asked for a ban on all public meetings in the Altario area, about 10 miles from the Saskatchewan border in central Alberta.

Australia Clinches Davis Cup For Third Year In Succession

By GAYLE TALBOT

ADELAIDE (AP) — Australia's great combination of Frank Sedgman and Ken McGregor whipped Vic Seixas and Tony jtrabert 6-3, 6-4, 1-6, 6-4 in the deciding doubles match today to clinch the Davis Cup for the third year in a row.

The U.S. loss in three straight matches will go down as one of the most one-sided in cup history.

Numerous times teams have dropped the first three matches in the challenge round but research fails to uncover when one side was able to win only one set in two days.

Seixas and Trabert really never had a chance against the brilliant Aussie pair today. From the moment Trabert dropped his opening service to give the Aussies a 3-0 jump it was obvious to the capacity crowd of more than 15,000 that they were sitting in on a slaughter.

BRILLIANT TENNIS

For the second straight day McGregor played probably the most brilliant tennis of his career. He so dominated the court that there was no place for the Americans to go but out.

The losers managed to break Sedgman's service twice in winning the third set but they never got to his long-legged partner.

Some expert opinion held that the U.S. disaster was mostly attributed to Seixas' failure to win points from the right court and give Trabert the chance to go for winners from the left court. However, such talk was highly technical and all it boiled down to was that Tony and Vic just didn't have the guns to match those of these terrific Aussies.

REVERSE PROCEDURE

In the first set Trabert was netting the ball and Seixas was knocking it out. In the second set, they reversed the procedure with the same sad results.

In those two sets Sedgman and McGregor scored clean winners—the majority of them on McGregor's volleys. In these two sets, the Americans scored only nine placements—six of them by Seixas.

Trabert's erratic form might be largely attributed to the exhaustion he suffered in losing his singles duel with McGregor in Monday's lilting heat.

Top Hollywood Headliners During 1952

By BOB THOMAS

1. Marilyn Monroe. Just about everything she did seemed to make the papers. Of course, she was aided by the fact that editors could illustrate the stories with pictures. She kept in the prints with her romance with Joe DiMaggio.

2. Charlie Chaplin. He got back in the news by starting his first film in five years. Then he startled everybody by opening his movie set to the press and submitting to interviews. But the big news came when he decided to visit his native England after many years of absence. The United States justice department said he would have to apply for a clean bill of health before getting back into this country.

3. Walter Wanger. Having shot his wife's agent in 1951, he paid for it in 1952. Hollywood was ready for a juicy trial involving Mrs. Wanger (Joan Bennett) and agent Jennings Lang. But Wanger pleaded guilty and was sentenced to four months in jail.

4. Mario Lanza. He started out the year as the top attraction in show business. Then he ran into difficulties with his studio and refused to report for a picture. At year's end, he was unemployed and faced a multi-million-dollar suit brought by his studio.

5. Johnny Ray. He rose to fame on his tear - jerking songs.

6. Lana Turner. As usual, her romantic involvements were in the news. She broke up with Bob Topping, got a mysterious cut in a shower accident, had a much - publicized romance with Fernando Lamas. By the end of the year, both Topping and Lamas were out of her life.

7. Howard Hughes. His manoeuvrings with RKO made the financial news of the year. It was a complicated deal. Hughes wanted to sell out but ended up with the company again, plus the down-payment of the reluctant buyers.

8. Rita Hayworth. Her on-and-off marriage with Prince Aly Khan was milked of its news value throughout the year. Rita was also back in the movies and making big money again.

9. Humphrey Bogart. He finally got his just reward from the Academy—an Oscar for "The African Queen."

10. Lucille Ball. She was the hit of the year on TV. Her show with husband Desi Arnaz jumped to the top of the audience ratings and stayed there.

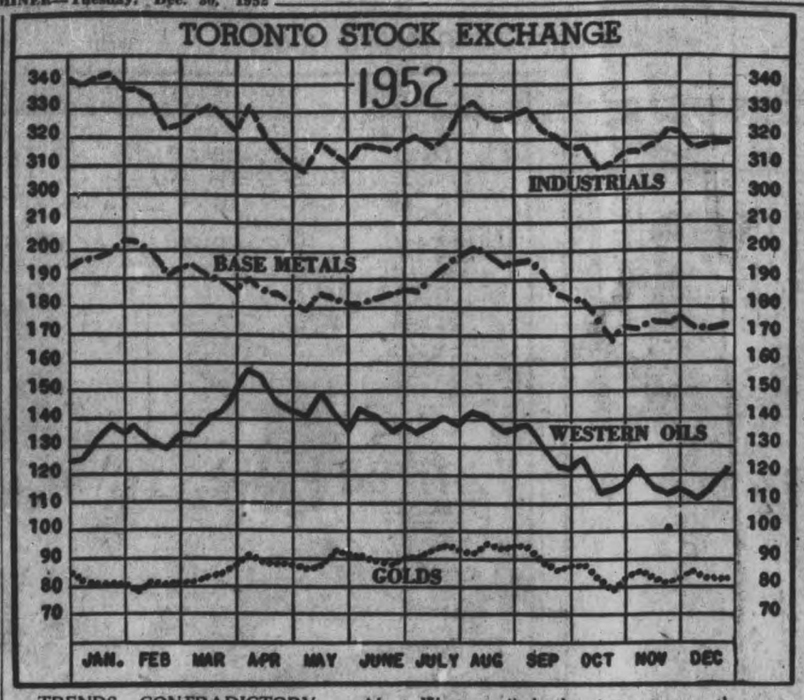
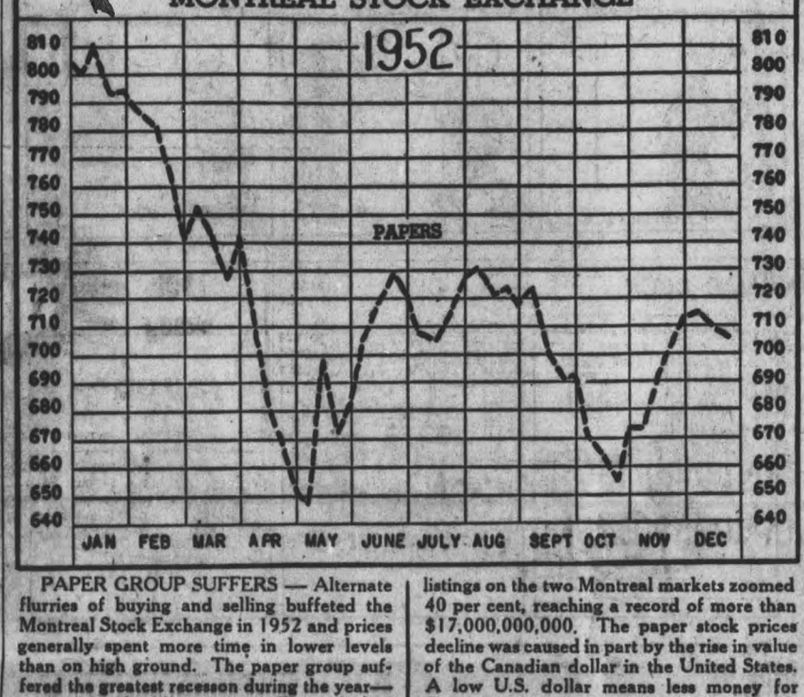
TORONTO STOCK EXCHANGE



TRENDS CONTRADICTORY — Although 1952 was called the most prosperous in history, contradictory trends marked activity on the Toronto Stock Exchange. None of the exchange's indices of market activity showed an advance over December 31, 1951. Industrials lost ground on the index despite the fact Canadian companes paid more in dividends than ever before. Western oils broke about even on the year. Golds closed almost unchanged and increased government cost-aid made little permanent difference to the golds index. Base metals upset predictions of January, 1952, by declining during the year. The value of listings on the Toronto exchange rose from about $12,000,000,000 in 1951 to about $19,000,000,000 in 1952.

MONTREAL STOCK EXCHANGE



PAPER GROUP SUFFERS — Alternate flurries of buying and selling buffeted the Montreal Stock Exchange in 1952 and prices generally spent more time in lower levels than on high ground. The paper group suffered the greatest recesson during the year—approximately 12 per cent. The value of listings on the two Montreal markets zoomed 40 per cent, reaching a record of more than $17,000,000,000. The paper stock prices decline was caused in part by the rise in value of the Canadian dollar in the United States. A low U.S. dollar means less money for Canadian paper producers.

Weekly Wage Of $61 As Agreement Signed

STRATFORD (CP)—Rubber workers at the G. L. Griffiths and Sons plant here will receive average weekly wages of $61 for men and $50 for women as a result of an agreement signed with the company and the United Rubber Workers of America (CIO-CCL).

A joint statement by the union and company Monday said employees have been granted a seven-cent-an-hour wage increase, a graduated vacation-with-pay plan and inclusion of the present cost-of-living bonus into wages.

Retroactive pay of $25 will be given workers who were employed before last Sept. 2.

Newspaperman Broughton Dies

WINDSOR, Ont. (CP)—Howard Broughton, 52, the little man who started his newspaper career as a messenger for the old London Advertiser in his native London, Ont., died Monday a few hours after suffering a heart attack at his desk in the Windsor Star editorial room.

He joined the Star 10 years ago and for the last seven years has been western Ontario editor for the paper.

He worked for the Advertiser only a short time before he graduated to the reportorial staff. Later he served as reporter, sports editor and editor for the London Free Press.

Working Time Loss Low In November

OTTAWA (CP)—Working time lost through industrial disputes in November was the lowest for any month this year, the labor department reports.

However, time loss for the first 11 months of 1952 was much heavier than in the same period last year.

Until the end of November of this year, strikes and lockouts caused the loss of 2,822,308 mandays. For the same period in 1951, the loss was 785,904 days.

Preliminary figures for November of this year, the department said, showed 22 strikes and lockouts involving 5,084 workers and with a loss of 44,176 man-days.

In October, there were 38 stoppages involving 13,322 workers with a time loss of 165,009 days.

Fined For Bingo

HAMILTON (CP) — A local church group, through its representative, Nick Cupick, Monday was fined $300 on a charge of disposing of goods by game or lottery. Cupick had previously pleaded guilty. Testimony showed that the bingo, which offered a car and $500 with other prizes, grossed about $9,000 and netted about $1,500. Proceeds went to the Church of the Holy Resurrection.

Remanded To Hospital

TORONTO (CP)—A 27-year-old woman charged with stealing more than $5,000 worth of goods from several stores was remanded Monday to psychiatric hospital. Police said they found in Audry Hindle's home a carload of goods ranging from mink coats to a boat speedometer. The woman was arrested while leaving a store with a fur coat. Officers said they believed the goods were gathered during the last two or three years.

Clark Foresaw Challenge To Canadians

OTTAWA (CP)—Dr. William Clifford Clark believed that the impatient striving of Canadians for higher living standards, greater security and more leisure may present a "compelling challenge" for Canada's steadily expanding economy.

But the deputy finance minister also believed that Canadians are united "as never before" and whatever the challenges may be, the Canadian people will "face up to them with new confidence."

The 63-year-old financial wizard touched on the problems ahead in a 9,000-word speech which was to have been delivered before a Chicago conference of American financial and economic experts. But he died in Chicago a few hours before that meeting was held.

The speech, while reviewing advances in the Canadian economy in the last 10 years, actually was a summary of the second-half of Dr. Clark's 20-year career as deputy finance minister.

The Second World War, he estimated, cost Canada about $20,000,000,000, but Dr. Clark believed that the "first lurch forward" in the rapid expansion that followed the war came from the war itself.

But the growth sprang also from the Laurentian shield — the V-shaped area of rock which is Canada's geological backbone and probably "its greatest treasure-trove of mineral wealth."

Beaten, Jaw Broken

SARNIA (CP)—Mel Warwick, 50, of Froomfield, is in hospital unable to talk and suffering multiple head injuries received when he apparently was beaten up by an unknown assailant. Because Warwick can't talk, provincial police can't find out what happened. He suffered a broken jaw, his teeth were knocked out, and he received a severe cut at the back of the head.

Outmoded Freight Rate Structure Undergoing Complete National Revision

OTTAWA (CP)—Canada's freight rates, fundamental to the nation's economy but among its most controversial problems, were undergoing their greatest upheaval in history as 1952 came to a close.

A huge house-cleaning of the outmoded rate structure was in progress. Apart from this, there were implications of a possible general boost in rates across the country.

Aside from a new series of rounds in the running six-year battle between the railways and a group of provinces, two developments stood out.

First was an order of the railway-regulating board of transport commissioners directing the railways to set up an equalized scale of class rates—the basic tolls—between the Pacific coast and the western border of New Brunswick. The four Eastern seaboard provinces were exempted.

This was the major step in implementing the national policy of freight rate equalization laid down by Parliament in December, 1951. The board order of last Dec. 12 is to become effective tentatively Jan. 1, 1954.

The implications of major freight rate changes were contained in a proposal to the board for a radically-new method of establishing freight rates, separate from its equalization scheme.

This was from the Canadian Pacific Railway, which for years has been the "yardstick" for establishing rates on the basis of its current financial needs for time to time. The CPR now wants the board to revamp the rate-making set-up to let the company earn a 6½-per-cent rate of return on its investment in railway property.

This suggests giving the railways authority—though they would not necessarily use it—to jump tolls by about 30 per cent. In a separate application pending the board decision on the over-all principle, the railways ask specifically for a nine-per-cent boost on the rate-of-return principle.

That application is distinct from the railways' application for a nine-per-cent increase—about $43,300,000-a-year—to cover new wage rates, which the board granted in December. The two rate-of-return cases are to be heard by the board early in January.

On the normal—or fighting—freight rate front during 1952, there were both wins and losses by the antagonists.

A major victory for the provinces was a decision by the transport board to throw out a railway application for an increase of eight per cent in the fall. It was their first clearly-defined win in six years, though they had managed to shove down the amounts sought by the railways in some earlier cases.

In the earlier cases, the railways first asked 30 per cent and got 21 (in 1948), asked 20 and got all of it, between 1949 and 1951, and asked 22 and got 17 between 1951 and 1952.

The increases won by the railways—with the last nine-per-cent hoist—add up to 85 per cent above rates in effect before 1948 on the traffic to which they apply. This is about half of the carriers' $1,000,000,000 freight revenue.

What they don't know about sex

In our "enlightened" age, have we merely substituted misinformation for old-fashioned prudery?

In January Reader's Digest, Rev. Margaret Johnstone, tells how, as a marriage counselor, she has found that many who think they know most about the facts of sex are dangerously misinformed. Bad Stomach, Couldn't Eat, "Always Taking Soda"

This Man Tells How the Syntona Medicine Finally Aided Stomach, Relieved Gas, Pains, Sour Acidity. Also Free of Headaches, Dizzy Spells, and Tired, Rundown Feeling.

"I have seen and heard of many different medicines, but Syntona has given me more relief than anything I ever took before," declared Mr. Leonard Arsenault, 84 Strachan street west, Hamilton, Ontario, in a recent report.

"For a long time I suffered with burning pains in my stomach, awful gas and sour acid risings. Every time I ate a meal I would get this awful heavy, burning, bloated sensation. I was always taking soda and the relief I got would last only a little while. I was subject to throbbing headaches and dizzy spells and recently I got so that I couldn't get sound sleep at night and I felt tired out from the time I got up in the mornings.

"One day a friend advised me to try Syntona, so I got some and it was certainly a lucky day for me. After taking this medicine only a little while I began to eat things I couldn't before and now I eat just about everything that is put before me. The gas, sourness, burning and bloated feeling is cleared up and I don't get those awful headaches and dizzy spells. I sleep better, too, and have more energy than I had for a long time."

More and more scientists are turning BACK TO NATURE for medicines to relieve the suffering of mankind. 12 of the active ingredients in Syntona are SUPPLIED BY THE EARTH. They are compounded in a modern laboratory and blended into this pleasant-tasting, easy-to-take liquid medicine.

Why not give Syntona a chance to help you, too? It is sold and recommended in Peterborough at Elliott's Drug Store. (Advt).

Currie Report On Army Biggest Story To Come Out Of Parliament

By D'ARCY O'DONNELL
Canadian Press Staff Writer

OTTAWA (CP)—A major controversy concerning administration of army camps in Canada overshadowed other developments during 1952 sessions of Parliament.

In mid-December the government tabled the Currie report. Its description of a breakdown in the army works services branch and a general haste-before-cost attitude in the defence department led to opposition demands for the resignation of Defence Minister Claxton.

The report, prepared by George S. Currie, Monteal accountant and wartime deputy minister of national defence, described thefts from the army camp at Petawawa, Ont., and criticized the lack of security arrangements at army camps.

"PETTY PILFERING"

The government's stand as outlined to the Commons by acting defence minister Campney was that the opposition had tried to bloat "petty pilfering" from the army camp at Petawawa, into a major issue for political advantage. There was no reason, argued Mr. Campney, to lose confidence either in Mr. Claxton or the head of the army.

While the debate was in progress, the Commons defeated four motions of non-confidence in the government. None of the motions referred to the Currie report.

The Progressive Conservative motion criticized the government for "excessive and unjust" taxation and for "waste and extravagance." It urged meetings with the provinces to discuss such things as national health insurance and a re-allocation of tax fields.

A CCF motion criticized the government's "failure" to inaugurate a national health insurance program immediately. A second motion urged advance payments to farmers for wheat stored on farms.

In the last of the non-confidence motions. All moved during the traditional throne speech debate, the Social Credit party proposed the adoption of more realistic economic policies.

HISTORIC DEVELOPMENTS

A spring session of Parliament was highlighted by several historic developments. The session was opened Feb. 28 by Canada's first native-born governor-general — Rt. Hon. Vincent Massey. From Confederation in 1867 Canada's governors-general always had been chosen from among prominent residents of the United Kingdom.

History was made, too, when Parliament amended the British North America Act—the basis of the Canadian constitution—for the first time without reference to the United Kingdom Parliament. From 1867 to 1949 the power to amend the constitution rested with the United Kingdom Parliament.

As a result of legislation passed in 1949, the Canadian Parliament can amend the constitution on almost any matter within jurisdiction of the federal government.

The amendment this year dealt with a readjustment of representation in the Commons. It provided that no province can lose more than 15 per cent of its seats in any redistribution of representation. It also added a seat to Canada's fast-growing Northwest Territories.

The changes will increase membership in the Commons after the next election to 265 from 262.

The present Commons standing: Liberals 183; Progressive Conservative 48; CCF 13; Social Credit 10; Independent Liberal 2; Independent 4; vacant 2; total 262.

The Senate: Liberals 75; Progressive Conservatives 8; vacant 19; total 102.

4 In Patrol Stage Own War Kill 3 Reds, Sent To Klink

By BILL BOSS

IN KOREA (CP)—Four Canadian soldiers who loaded up on rum and staged their own little war in no man's land killed at least three Chinese, gathered useful information—and landed in the pokey when they got back.

For venturing into no man's land unordered and "under the influence" and a variety of other technical offences, a corporal and three privates of the 3rd battalion Princess Patricia's Canadian Light Infantry are undergoing punishment at the field detention barracks in Seoul.

Their breach of discipline was a headache to Lt.-Col. Herb Wood, their commanding officer, who could not stand for soldiers taking off on their own to engage the Chinese virtually single-handed. But the results of this impromptu effort were appreciated by higher formations.

PATROL'S SCORE

The "patrol" is officially credited with:

1. Killing the two Chinese manning a Communist outpost.
2. Killing at least one of three Chinese manning another.
3. Locating an unsuspected enemy gun position.
4. Locating a suspected enemy mortar.
5. Discovering the bodies of three United States Marines and recovering a 45-calibre automatic pistol.

Taking events in their sequence, the quartette were among Patricias sent to rear headquarters for showers and clean-up Dec. 18. While there they came into possession of some rum.

Back in the line they argued about patrols. The corporal, who had been over here two years ago with the 2nd Patricias said later:

DECIDE ON PLAN

"This here do is different from what it was with the 2nd battalion. We were always on the go. We moved in daytime and stayed put at night. The fellows here say you can't patrol in daytime with the Chinese sitting there looking at you. So I decided to show them."

His buddie decided to go too. Only 21, he says he was just squiffed enough "to want to get me a Chinese."

After they'd left the word got around. Two others of the lubricated shower parade decided to go too. All one of them remembers is falling on his face about 500 yards out, and then waking up hours later back in the lines again.

His mate went along to give "covering fire" but acknowledged it wouldn't have been very effective.

OUT IN PAIRS

Although the two pairs were out at the same time they didn't work together.

The significant "operation" was the corporal's.

A shocked brigade headquarters learned during the afternoon that an artillery observation officer reported "Canadians climbing a Chinese position"

An exchange of shots was heard, the Canadians moved on. Presumably that was when the first two Chinese were killed.

They moved unhurriedly several hundred yards to another position, a tall hill, were seen to climb about one-third of the way up, pause and then move around for another approach. That was when they spotted the previously-unreported gun and the mortar. Both were later verified by air photographs.

Climbing the same hill frontally, they were seen to reach the Chinese' system of outpost crawl trenches. Shots were heard exchanged. Apparently that was where one of the three Chinese was killed.

HEAD FOR HOME

Then, said the corporal, "we dusted for home."

The corporal's 21-year-old companion, excited by the occasional swigs of rum from a bottle they'd taken along, and his nerves frayed by the excitement, became hysterical.

"He just went berserk," said the corporal. "I had to hit him on the jaw and knock him out to bring him in. Every time he came to I knocked him out again."

The artillery officers' descriptions of their return to the lines is a classic, with the corporal apparently alternating between trying to benumb the soldier's senses with applications of rum and knocking him senseless.

They and the third, who moved independently, were placed under close arrest immediately. Their platoon leader went out after the fourth man, still in his alcoholic coma.

DIVIDE REACTIONS

The colonel's reactions were divided between admiration for the corporal's accomplishment and unqualified scorn for his discipline.

"If he'd been ordered to go the job might have been worth a Military Medal," he said. "But we can't have soldiers personally deciding how the war is going to be run.

"Further, this effort messed up our patrol plans for the next 10 days. The Chinese were made more alert and it's made the job so much tougher for everybody.

"It cost the Canadian tax-payer about $10,000 to lay down the artillery and mortar fire we sent in to protect their withdrawal when we saw them returning."

EXPECT PUNISHMENT

Each of the four had a good idea what was ahead when interviewed by The Canadian Press. Each agreed Army discipline could not tolerate such breaches.

"But," maintained the corporal, "I wanted to prove to plenty of people that we could do daylight patrols, here the advantage of being able to see things outweighs the disadvantage of possibly being seen. You can always take cover."

"I don't think they'd have let me go out if I'd asked to go. So I took it in my own hands—which is a foolish thing to do."

Raging Fire Damages Old Metropolitan Store

SMOKE BLANKETED a fire that broke out in the basement of the old Metropolitan store about 10:55 a.m. today. Firemen were hampered in their efforts to fight the blaze by the smoke which enveloped the scene. The fire was believed to have started in the basement from a torch men were using to erect steel beams. This was beside the scene of the fire of Nov. 17 in which Ostranders Jewellers was gutted.—(Examiner Photo)

Blaze Begins Near Site Of Nov. Fire

Smoke Blacks Out Busy Street, As Crowds Watch

A fire which is believed to have started from a blowtorch with which men were working in the basement of the old Metropolitan store, broke out about 10:55 a.m. today.

Smoke obliterated the building and no one could see how much it was spreading immediately.

Just about six weeks ago, Nov. 17 a fire broke out in Ostrander's Jewellers next door to the Metropolitan store and gutted the building.

The old Metropolitan store was not burned in the November fire, but it is being renovated by Allan B. Collis. Metropolitan store moved to a new location nearer Hunter St. site of the Zacks fire of May 19, 1951.

While the renovation job was being done, a large plywood canopy was erected in front of the former three stores, Ostranders, Levine's Ladies' Wear and Metropolitan.

BELIEVED CONFINED

Smoke was oozing out from all along this canopy, but it is believed the fire was being confined by firemen to the Metropolitan store.

Elwood Gillespie, one of the carpenters working on the job under Huffman Construction Co., said as far as he knew men were working with acetylene torches on steel beams which would support joists.

He said "somebody yelled, Fire, so we ran down to get our tools, but the flames were already leaping up and we couldn't get to them."

NINE CHESTS LOST

It is believed nine chests were lost valued at about $300 each.

About 11.30 a.m. the new fire chief, Ralph Leonard, who officially takes over January 1, arrived to direct the fire fighting. At this point smoke obliterated the whole scene.

About a dozen of the 30 workmen on the job grabbed a garden hose and tried to fight the flames, but without success.

The smoke swept into the Woolworth store next door north and drove customers out, but it appeared the fire had not spread that far.

Red Agent Tries Steal Big Aircraft

Shoots 2 In Crew While Passengers Helpless On Flight

TAIPEH, Formosa (AP)—A Red agent fleeing the Philippines Tuesday shot and killed two crew members of a passenger plane in a desperate but futile bid to reach sanctuary in Communist China.

Nationalist Air Force fighters forced the plane down on Quemoy Island, a Nationalist outpost just 15 miles from the Red mainland.

The agent, Hung Tsu-chun, was brought to Taipeh under heavy guard today, along with seven passengers who survived the bizarre attempt at aerial piracy.

Hung, 23, appeared unconcerned on his arrival here.

FANTASTIC FLIGHT

During the fantastic flight, the plane flew over part of the mainland. Communist anti-aircraft opened up, but caused no damage.

A final ironic touch was added when the plane, a DC-3 of the Philippines Air Line taxied to a halt on Quemoy.

Miss Mary Alice Ireton, Bethel, O., a passenger, said Hung apparently thought the co-pilot had landed in Red territory. He was startled to find himself surrounded by Nationalist soldiers.

Press reports from Quemoy said Hung surrendered meekly.

Another passenger, Carlos Barranda, 37, an insurance adjuster, said trouble started just after the plane took off on what was supposed to be a routine trip from Laoag in northern Luzon to Aparri, about 100 miles to the east.

HEAR SHOTS

"About 15 minutes out of Laoag I heard two muffled noises," he said. "I thought they came from the engines, but afterwards I realized they were shots. Immediately as the shots were fired, the plane plunged crazily as if out of control.

"Then it righted itself.

"The next thing I saw was the flight purser, Eduardo Diago, kicking the door to the crew compartment. Then I heard two more shots . . . fired through the door.

"Diago spun half around, then collapsed right in the cabin.

"Blood was spouting from him.

"I was told afterwards that the Communist had gone into the compartment, locked the door and ordered the pilot, Capt. Pedro Perlas, to head for Communist China.

"Captain Perlas objected and the Communist fired two shots into his head. These were the muffled noises I heard and that's why the plane seemed suddenly out of control.

"It was okay again when the co-pilot, Capt. Felix Gaston, took over the controls.

"Right to the time he landed, 4½ hours later, the Communist kept his revolver sticking into Gaston's neck."

Barrenda said Hung had two .45-calibre revolvers, but he could not confirm a report that the Red agent also carried two hand grenades.

He said the Communist ground fire missed the airliner. The only damage to the plane, he said, came from machine-gun bullets fired by the Nationalist interceptors who forced it down.

Hogs Crammed Into Pens At Fair Grounds

So many hogs they don't know what to do.

That just about sums up the situation so far as Canada Packers are concerned. Now that the federal government have dropped their price ceiling on pork by three cents a pound, farmers in the district are bringing to market as many hogs as they can to beat the Jan. 1 deadline.

At press time today Canada Packers officials said they were "jammed to the rafters" with pork.

Hog pens, sheep pens and all available space at the exhibition grounds are being turned into temporary quarters for the surplus hogs from the packers.

Before 11 a.m. some 226 had been transported to the exhibition grounds and the rush is just beginning, officials indicate. It will likely keep up till midnight.

Many undersized hogs are being brought in as well.

Two Trains Collide Injuring 26 People

FT. SMITH, Ark. (AP)—A freight train and a passenger train which was running late collided near here late Tuesday, injuring 26 persons.

Nine required hospital treatment.

Cause of the collision, which occurred just across the Arkansas border in Oklahoma seven miles south of here, was not determined immediately. The passenger locomotive ended up on top of the freight locomotive.

Plan 3-Man Panel Handle Suspects

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—Informed sources said today UN Secretary-General Trygve Lie soon will set up a three-man panel to deal with American employees suspected of being disloyal and will demand the U.S. state department supply complete evidence of why they should be fired. The panel is expected to be headed by a Canadian jurist, as yet unnamed. Lie, disturbed at congressional charges that he "shockingly" kept U.S. subversives on his staff, is determined to seek a showdown, these sources said.

RULE ON LOYALTY

The secretary-general and other high U. N. officials insist they want no American on the staff guilty of disloyalty to his country. They say they have done everything possible to weed them out when presented with concrete evidence by responsible U. S. government agencies.

The panel will rule on all loyalty questions. When Lie announces the panel membership he will also insist that the U. S. government say in specific terms why certain American employees should be regarded as disloyal. And Lie feels, the panel should rule only on the basis of concrete evidence submitted as to whether suspects should be ousted.

Besides the Canadian jurist, it is envisaged that the other two members of the panel would be such men as Dr. Ralph J. Bunche, Nobel Prize winner and director of the UN division of trusteeship, and Constantin Stavopoulus, acting UN legal chief.

So far UN officials have said the charges against "suspects" still employed by the UN are "flimsy," said to number 14. Twenty-nine Americans have been let out, either by firing or termination of contract.

Tuesday night's Washington announcement that the federal bureau of investigation would henceforth screen American employees and future employees was looked on here as a possible solution to the problem. The FBI reports would be made available to Lie's new panel and could serve as the "definite evidence" which Lie has demanded.

Texan Named Champion Liar

BURLINGTON, Wis. (AP) — The world's champion liar of 1952 was announced today by the Burlington Liars' Club, and the winner of the annual award is — not surprisingly — a Texan.

The club selected airman Harry V. Cummings of Dallas as the grand prize prevaricator for his tall tale about Japanese mosquitoes.

"One night in July I had just turned in for the night when I heard the door open. At first I thought it was one of the other guys who slept in the room with me. When I got a better look I saw it was two mosquitoes. They stood nearly six feet tall, and believe me, I was too terrified to move, so I just lay there when they approached my bed.

"I heard one of them say: 'Do you think we should eat him here, or should we carry him home?'

"After a moment's consideration, the other replied: 'Let's eat him here. If we carry him home the big mosquitoes will take him away from us.'"

Mayer Called On

PARIS (CP) — Rene Mayer, veteran Radical-Socialist politician, today agreed to try to form France's 18th government since the war. Despite their name the Radical-Socialists are somewhat right of centre.

Following a brief meeting with President Vincent Auriol in the presidential palace, Mayer accepted the task of trying to form a coalition cabinet which could command a majority in Parliament.

Canadians Plan One-Night Spending Spree

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Canadians will go out tonight to buy themselves a Happy New Year in the country's biggest one-night spending spree.

A Canadian Press survey shows Canadians who choose to spend the night out will pay anywhere from $2 a couple at the neighborhood theatre to $35 at Toronto's swank Royal York Hotel.

House parties will still appeal to many Canadians, particularly in western and eastern regions. Residents of Montreal and Quebec will also favor house parties this year because government regulations require bars and night-clubs to stop serving liquor at 10 p. m.

$15 A COUPLE

Edmonton celebrants who go out for supper, dancing and ensuing celebrations can expect to get by for about $15 a couple. Parties must take their own liquor, but mixers are provided by most hotels. Some 400 reservations have been sold out for two weeks. Late movies and house parties are favored by many who want street-car money for Jan. 1.

Toronto, where the night out could run to $50 or $75, leads the spending parade. Some clubs, however, such as Casa Loma and several hotels, report reservations available but expect no trouble filling all seats.

In contrast to the Royal York's tab for $35 a couple, other hotels, such as the King Edward offer a dinner dance at $5 minimum a person.

Taxis are expected to be scarce. Cab dispatchers figure they will stop broadcasting about 10 p. m. and let each cabbie look out for himself.

Execute Red Agents

TAIPEH, Formosa (AP) — Six convicted Red agents were executed here today, bringing to 67 the number put to death since Nov. 28.

Admiral Byrd's Flagship Aground, Burned On Reef Off Yarmouth

YARMOUTH, N.S. (CP)—A sturdy three-masted schooner which saw her proudest days as the flagship of Admiral Richard E. Byrd found Tuesday what may be her last resting place on a reef off this western Nova Scotia port. The flame-blackened City of New York, last of Canada's large wind-jammers, ended a long drift on Cheboque ledge off Yarmouth harbor, where a port official predicted: "She's there to stay." The 391-ton veteran, converted to a coastal cargo ship when bought in 1943 by Capt. Lewis Kennedy of Conquerall Bank, N.S., was being towed to Lunenburg by the motor vessel Arctic Sealer when her towline snapped.

She drifted on to the reef and caught fire. Capt. Thomas Hemmelman of Lunenburg and his five-man crew were rescued by an RCMP patrol boat.

WON REPUTATION

The City of New York, built as the Samson in a Norwegian shipyard in 1885, won a reputation as an unbeatable ice-bucker on the northern sealing grounds with her 34-inch topsides and her 40-inch bottom planking of rugged greenhart.

She was known as the strongest wooden vessel afloat in 1928 when Ronald Amundsen, famed Arctic explorer and one of her early skippers, recommended her to Byrd for his Antarctic expeditions.

Under her new name, she was fitted as a floating museum on Byrd's return and became one of the big attractions at the Chicago World's Fair.

The City of New York's later days were less glamorous. Stripped of her topmasts and some of her sails, equipped with an auxiliary diesel and radio-telephone, she moved in and out of eastern seaboard ports with coal, potatoes, lumber and molasses.

Capt. Kennedy found that 65 years of smashing through ice in the coldest corners of the globe had not produced a crack in her hull.

Gets No Pleasure From Sweeps Win

BERKELEY, Calif. (AP)—A year ago Harry Yool won $142,000 in the Irish Sweepstakes. A cautious man, he decided he would not spend any of the money until he had settled all tax claims against it.

The taxes came to about $80,000 and Yool, a 60-year-old retired electrician, paid them off as they became due.

Yool, who was in a hospital after an operation, died Monday.

Friends said they believed he had about $62,000 left, but he did not spend a cent of his sweepstakes winnings.

Berlin Honors Dead Policeman

BERLIN (AP)—A crowd of 150,000 West Berliners turned out Tuesday to honor a policeman killed by marauding Russian soldiers.

The throng filled the square in front of city hall to pay public homage to Herbert Bauer, shot Christmas Eve on the French-Soviet border.

Lord Mayor Ernest Reuter told the rally that Bauer was a "sacrifice" on the altar of freedom because he was defending an island of freedom the night Soviet soldiers sallied into the West, tried to kidnap three Germans and then sprayed tommy-gun fire into the platoon of West Berlin police who came to the rescue.

Will Have Get Together

Ditch-Diggers, Cabinet Men Welcome At Massey Levee

OTTAWA (CP)—The people and the governor-general will get together Thursday.

In the traditional New Year's Day levee, every man from cabinet minister to ditch-digger is welcome to shake the hand of His Excellency, dip into the punchbowl and eat a piece of cake.

It will be Rt. Hon. Vincent Massey's first of these historic public receptions since taking office early this year and, while he will be following out the custom of his predecessors generally, he will be departing from practice in one way.

He is switching the levee this time from the pillared corridor of the main Parliament Building's Hall of Fame to the red-carpeted Senate chamber where he opened Parliament twice during the last year.

An aide said there was no particular reason for the change, except that it was considered "more appropriate." Lord Willingdon did the same thing in 1929, but others have stuck to the Hall of Fame, a part of the main corridor leading to the Centre Block.

In the Senate chamber, the governor-general will stand for precisely an hour, from noon to 1 p.m. EST, beside the Speaker's throne. There, all who are able to file by in that time can meet him.

The levee is a hand-down from the days of the kings of France, later carried on in Canada by the French seigneurs, who would meet the menfolk of their seigniories once a year.

Even today, women generally are not admitted to the levee. But the rule is relaxed for women officers of the services and for those holding public office, such as Ottawa's Mayor Charlotte Whitton.

Otherwise, it's all fairly free and easy. Clothes don't matter Strictly speaking, the guests should drop a couple of calling cards with an official on hand for that purpose, but the governor-general's household says anyone without cards can just forget this part.

Survives Surgery

New Operation Gives Twin Skin Covering For Brain

CHICAGO (AP) — Rodney Dee Brodie, separated from his Siamese twin in a history-making operation two weeks ago, underwent new surgery Tuesday as a team of medical men began the procedure to give him a skin covering over his brain.

The 15-month-old boy, the stronger of the twins, was on the operating table two hours and 15 minutes and withstood the ordeal "fairly well." His condition today was described as good as could be expected.

The surgical separation of the twins, who were born joined at the heads, left the boys without natural caps for their heads. Roger Lee, the other twin, has been in a coma since the 12-hour and 40-minute operation Dec. 17. His condition is too precarious for any plastic procedures at this time, doctors said.

The plastic surgical procedure gave Rodney a skin cap that covered about 75 per cent of the brain area. The cap was formed of a strip of skin from Rodney's body that had been prepared in preliminary plastic procedures. The rest of the child's brain is protected by the natural membranous skin covering. Thus, the brain now is entirely protected by a natural shield.

Tuesday's operation by a team of four plastic surgeons, a neurosurgeon, a pediatrician, an anaesthesiologist and nurses, was the first of a series of plastic procedures aimed at removing Rodney from the critical list. It was performed to forestall a possible brain infection and to give the child a start toward a normal life.

Later a supporting structure, in the form of grafted bone or a plastic or metal substance, will be placed between the inner and outer brain coverings—the membranous brain cover and the skin put in place Tuesday. That will give his brain the rigid protection it requires.

HAPPY NEW YEAR

Big Hog Movement As Farmers Try Beat Jan. Deadline

TORONTO (CP)—The biggest movement of hogs in the history of the Ontario stockyards is under way as farmers try to beat the Jan. 1 deadline on the federal government's present hog support price. A price support reduction from 28 to 23 cents a pound for grade A hogs becomes effective tomorrow. In the confusion of unloading new shipments on Tuesday night there was no accurate count of the hogs on hand, but buyers and handlers estimated it to be at least 10 times the normal daily run of about 2,000 hogs.

Sheep and cattle pens, as well as the hog pens at Ontario stockyards, were filled with hogs.

The increased flow of hogs began a day or so before Christmas. It tapered off at the holiday but swelled back to 8,000 Monday. It was a deluge Tuesday which couldn't be counted. It was estimated that there are 20,000 hogs in the yards.

Packinghouse buyers estimated it will be a week before slaughtering catches up with the overflow shipments.

Buyers noted that many farmers had shipped under-finished hogs in an effort to avoid the three-cent price support drop and warned that the lighter hogs were bringing reduced prices.

"We can't make hams out of an under-finished pig," one buyer said.

One major problem facing stockyard and packinghouse handlers is in finding a way to feed the extra hogs. Normally, the hogs are held at most one day before slaughtering. Many of the shipments which arrived Tuesday may not be slaughtered until Saturday or Monday.

Farmers' Market To Have Drive-In Bank

TORONTO —A new farmers' market which will include a community hall and the first drive-in bank in Ontario will be constructed at a cost of $225,000 at Jane St. and Wilson Ave. in North York next April.

The bank will be operated by the Canadian Bank of Commerce. A similar one is in operation in Vancouver. Motorists will be able to drive into a slot and lean out the auto window right before the teller's cage. All they have to do is pass over their bank books and money.

The market will be part of a $2,000,000 shopping centre already under way at the intersection and expected to be completed within two years.

The market will replace the North York farmers' market on on Young St. at the city limits, which has been in operation since 1922. The site was sold last November for a service station.

Accommodation will be provided at them arket for farmers from points as distant as Barrie and Holland Landing, as well as Vaughan and Markham Townships.

Farmers will use the building only about two days a week. To be economically sound, it must be in use throught the week. To assure this, it will be constructed to provide facilities for a community hall. In the basement will be a bowling alley and auditorium space.

Soviet Police May Nab Briton

LONDON (Reuters)—Within the next three months Moscow police may arrest a Briton who, with the support of his government, has defied Soviet law for almost five years.

Since March, 1948, George Bundock, 30, a Londoner and a wartime paratrooper, has been a voluntary prisoner within the British embassy compound in Moscow—off limits to Soviet police.

But now the embassy has been ordered to move to a new location and Bundock will lose his immunity for the time it takes him to travel there. If police can catch him on the short journey, he is theirs.

Bundock, a former embassy storekeeper, was sentenced to serve 18 months in a Soviet jail for an offence in connection with a Russian girl.

Holding that the result of a trial before a Moscow "people's court" was a foregone conclusion, the British embassy did not allow Bundock to appear in court to answer publicly the charges he denied in private.

AT THE AGE OF 102, Mrs. Catharine Dingman died suddenly Tuesday night while her son William, 80, was helping her into bed.—(Examiner Staff Photo).

Mrs. Catharine Dingman Dies Suddenly Aged 102

Warkworth is 25 miles southwest of Peterborough.

Another centenarian of the Warkworth district Mrs. Eliza McGinnis of R.R. 2, Warkworth, will be celebrating her 104th birthday New Year's Day.

Born on St. Patrick's Day, March 17, 1850, Mrs. McGinnis was born in Valleyfield, Que., and took great pride in the fact that she was the daughter of French Canadian parents, the late Mr. and Mrs. Timothy Giroux.

Throughout her life, she was noted for her good nature and keen sense of humor. One of her favorite comments was "I wasn't born in this country, I was born in Quebec."

When she was a young girl, her parents moved to Norham, a mile south of Warkworth. Later her father ran a hotel and grocery store, then was proprietor of a hotel in Norham.

ACQUIRED BROGUE

At 20, she married Wallace Dingman who had recently arrived in Canada from his native Ireland. Although she always insisted she was a French Canadian, Mrs. Dingman's speech in later years had a distinct trace of the Irish brogue she probably acquired from her husband.

Although she never revealed why she thought she had enjoyed such a long life, Mrs. Dingman was a firm believer in the old adage of "early to bed, early to rise." She retired no later than 10 in the evening and until recent months, when her health began to fail somewhat, she was always up by 5 in the morning.

Her hobby was growing flowers and she liked nothing better than to get out in her garden and work among the many varieties which she grew, until advanced age forced her to confine herself more closely to her home.

After her husband died 30 years ago, Mrs. Dingman and her bachelor son William moved into Warkworth from the Oak Heights farm in Percy Township where she and her husband farmed for many years.

She had a family of six children, four of whom are still living. They are: William of Warkworth and James also of Warkworth. Another son Stephen died some years ago. One daughter, Mrs. G. Macoun of Toronto also died some years ago, but two other daughters, Mrs. William Lawlor (Jennie) of Guelph and Mrs. James Kelly (Kate) of Cramahe township are still living.

As for grandchildren and great grandchildren, Mrs. Dingman in later years used to tell friends she had so many she couldn't count them. One of her granddaughters has a family of 13.

She was a parishioner of St. Jerome's Roman Catholic Church, Warkworth. The body is resting at the Allen Funeral Home, Warkworth until Friday.

Requiem mass will be held from St. Jerome's Church at 10 a.m. Friday morning. The Rev. Herbert Fitzgerald of St. Jerome's will officiate.

Burial will be in St. Jerome's cemetery.

Superforts Hit Big Ore Plant

By JIM BECKER

SEOUL (AP) — Rumbling artillery duels and Allied air strikes opened the final day of 1952 on Korea's bleak battle front after B-29 Superforts plastered two vital Red targets.

A flurry of pre-dawn ground scraps ended at daybreak. No major engagements were reported.

Twenty-one Superforts from Japan and Okinawa flew through heavy Communist ground fire and harassing night fighters in their two-pronged attack. They dumped more than 200 tons of high explosives on a sprawling ore processing plant near the Yalu river and a key supply centre near Sinanju. Sinanju is about 45 miles north of Pyongyang, Red Korean capital.

The air force gave no details of damage to the Choak-Tong ore processing plant, a 105-acre target 25 miles southwest of Uiji on the Yalu, and the 85-acre Woolywon supply centre. The air force said the plant processed graphite before the war.

Tower Bridge Opens While Bus Crossing

LONDON (AP) — Fourteen persons were injured slightly Tuesday night when London's famous Tower Bridge opened suddenly while a passenger bus was crossing it.

All the victims received their injuries when they were hurled to the front of the bus as it slid safely to the far side.

The bridge, crossing the Thames just above the city's dock area, has a roadway divided into two sections that lift up in the middle to allow the passage of large ships upriver. A London transport official said a signal warning that the bridge was to be raised did not function.

Record Year For Tourists

TORONTO (CP)—Travel Minister Cecile says 1952 was a record-breaking tourist year for Ontario—the seventh such year in a row.

He said Tuesday incomplete figures for this year showed some 1,360,000 United States automobiles visited Ontario in a tourist category, compared to 1,343,000 last year.

Mr. Cecile said the 1952 increase was spectacular in that the province had to overcome the higher value of the Canadian dollar. This increase, he said, cut the value of the U.S. dollar by 15 per cent in a few years.

Firemen Hampered By 30 Below Zero Weather At Megantic

MEGANTIC, Que. (CP)— A mother and her four young children were burned to death early today in a fire which destroyed their two-storey wooden home.

The dead are Mrs. Alphonse Pepin, and Gaston, Nicole, Pauline and Normand, whose ages range from three months to seven years.

Megantic is in the Eastern townships 50 miles east of Sherbrooke.

The fire broke out at 7 a.m., before the husband, a night shift worker at Megantic Manufacturing Company, arrived home

Firemen said they believe the fire was caused by overheated stovepipes. The home is located on the edge of town.

All five bodies were found on the kitchen floor and when firemen called by neighbors arrived the house was in flames.

Firemen were hampered by a temperature of 30 degrees below zero.

Vics Tighten Grip With 4-2 Win

LINDSAY (ENS). — Kingston Vics tightened their hold on second place in the OHA Junior B group standings here last night by turning in a 4-2 overtime win over the Lindsay Juniors. The hard-fought game saw the visitors come from behind in the third period to tie the score, and tally twice in the overtime without a reply.

The teams split a pair of goals in the opening period, with Wilding opening for the visitors early in the game and Bill Williams scoring the tieing marker, when he lifted a long shot from the blue line, the Vic defenceman Rea deflecting behind Senior.

In second, the locals took a one-goal lead, when Art Truax finished off a beautiful passing play with Murray Packer to put the locals ahead. Action began to get rough near the end of the period, Rea of the Vics and Graham of the locals tangled at centre ice, Graham drawing a minor for highsticking, in addition to the major, which Rea also received.

In the final frame Maracle scored on a rink-length rush in the second minute of play to knot the count, and although both teams tried hard throughout the rest of that frame, they were unable to score again. The two goalies, Don Senior and Reg Truax, turned in great performances during the last part of the period as both teams put on dangerous rushes in attempting to gain the win. After the teams switched ends, Bill Senior and Rea scored within two minutes of each other, early in the overtime, and the Lindsay kids were through for the night. They had few good chances in the time remaining, while the visitors made things increasingly difficult for Truax.

The teams split the 19 majors almost evenly, the locals drawing nine minors and a major, Kingston eight and one.

Ask Ottawa To Ban Vegetable Oil

Expect Government Move Carefully Before Taking Action

OTTAWA (CP)—New United States restrictions on imports of Canadian dairy products have brought angry talk of retaliation from dairy officials.

The curbs Tuesday on Canadian powdered whole milk and buttermilk were "most deplorable," said the National Dairy Council, which represents Canada's dairy industry.

The council's executive secretary, W K. St. John, suggested that any Canadian retaliatory action be taken against the heavy flow of U.S. vegetable oils—mainly soybean oil—which go into margarine, the dairy industry's biggest competing product.

DEEPLY REGRETTED

A government trade official said the new restrictions are "deeply regretted." But government sources suggested that outright retaliation is another matter.

When earlier U.S. restrictions were placed on imports of cheese, butter and other dairy products more than a year ago, the Canadian government made it clear it considered them a breach of the General Agreement on Tariffs and Trade, and reserved the right to take retaliation against American products.

But officials said Tuesday the government may treat the latest curbs carefully, at least until the U.S. embargo on Canadian livestock and meats is lifted next March 1.

CAUSED SURPRISE

The U.S. agriculture department's announcement caused surprise in Ottawa. The new curbs were opposite to the promise made by a U.S. government delegate to a GATT conference last fall that he would seek to have the cheese and butter restrictions eased or lifted.

Quotas under those restrictions were increased slightly last July, but Canada and other dairy countries considered the action insufficient.

Mr. St. John said the new restrictions are "a further blow to an already serious dairy outlook." Canada's dairy industry had large surpluses which it had to export if it were to survive.

About 10,000,000 pounds of buttermilk and whole milk powder were sent to the U. S. this year, he said, and Canada had "record high" stockpiles of dried milk.

Mechanization And Mediocrity: 1953

Many listeners, Catholics and non-Catholics, must have been deeply impressed by the Christmas Eve broadcast of Pope Pius, in which he spoke of the "cold mechanization of modern society" and of those who believe that the salvation of the world lies "in the organization of men and things in a strict unity". In the free and democratic nations of the world, as well as in those nations which are under Communist domination, there exists today a frightening and pitiable faith in the power of sheer organization to meet all the problems of mankind. If only we can create a social system in which every loophole is blocked, they seem to say, we shall save mankind from the evils which seem to be part of the human heritage.

* * *

It is true, of course, that planning and organised vigilance of all kinds can do wonders to improve the lot of man; everyone can think of matters in which this has been proved true. But planning and organized vigilance bring evils in their train which we do not immediately recognize; they are threats to the human spirit, and particularly to that realm of the human spirit which exults in variety. In our passion for systems we often deal harshly with people and things which cannot be reconciled to the system. Just as Hitler, in his ideal state, had no place for gypsies and exterminated them by the thousands, so our state systems have no place for wayward but beautiful, strong and productive elements in the human spirit, and there is a tendency to crush them in the name of the system.

* * *

A protest similar in character to the Pope's was made recently in our own country by the Provost of Trinity College, Dr. R. S. K. Seeley, who said: "The real danger of our age is the tyranny of mediocrity; we have become obsessed with the idea of the average and the normal . . . the depersonalization of society meets us at every turn from the worker in industry, who loses his name and becomes a number, to the formation of public opinion by the Gallup Poll; unless we can fight and win the battle against mediocrity there is no hope that one can see for society."

* * *

Mechanization and mediocrity are interlocking evils. The state which is too completely organized begets mediocre people (for it will tolerate no others); the mediocre population bends readily to mechanization, for it does not want to be bothered with thinking. A mediocre and mechanized society is ripe for fascism—for fascism is the triumph of planning.

* * *

We talk too much about the communist menace; we are too little aware of the menace that is inherent in our own highly-organized society. Communism is merely fascism; fascism can spring from any society where the will and intelligence of the people has been subdued to a pattern. We want the benefits of planning, of course. But we can possess them without danger only if we sharpen our wits and take care that the lullaby of the planned, secure society does not rob us of intelligence and the infinite variety of the human spirit.

The Death Of Several Authors

Contemporary literature sustained a considerable blow on December 26, when Marjorie Bowen, George R. Preedy, Joseph Shearing, Robert Paye, John Winch and probably also Evelyn Winch, Edgar Winch, E. M. Winch and Bertha Winch all died. On the same day died a lady of eccentric appearance called Gabrielle Margaret Long; she was all of them. She was 64 and under her various pen-names she wrote somewhere in the neighbourhood of 200 novels.

Mrs. Long wrote to make a living, and she was possessed of extraordinary facility. She was an able writer, particularly gifted in writing of historical characters and creating the atmosphere of long-past periods of history. But she learned that critics are fickle readers, who are loathe to believe that an author can write two or three books a year, and write them well. This, of course, is critical nonsense, as many a facile writer from Daniel Defoe, down through Anthony Trollope, has proved. But in order not to weary critics and the public with the name of Marjorie Bowen she wrote as Preedy, and as Shearing, and as the prolific and numerous Winch family. She also found time to write plays, to paint a considerable number of pictures, and to execute elaborate panels of needlework. She had four children.

Such industry, allied with success and distinction, leaves us gasping.

End Of The Municipal Year

As Peterborough enters the new year, it leaves behind the Council of 1952 and takes on the Council of 1953, which meets for the first time next Monday. This year's Council was not faced by the heavy works program of its recent predecessors but did have a heavy problem in meeting the operating expenses of all the varied buildings and services to which the city has been committed. This year's Council had the unpleasant task of levying the highest tax rate in the city's history and disbursing the largest budget—after doing what paring was possible.

Two veteran members of Council are retiring; Dr. Herbert Young after six years of service and Alderman James Gillespie after four years of service. Their work in committee and as heads of several committees, as well as in the council chamber has been faithful and valuable. Their experience will be missed by the 1953 Council. Public service such as they have given has been exacting and time-consuming. Peterborough has benefitted from it.

The Board of Education has had a busy building year. The new Kenner Collegiate was opened and also four rooms at the Grove School, in the southern part of the city. Work was started on a new nine-room school in East City and another four-room school at the south end. During the year the Board administered a budget of more than a million dollars. A budget such as this, and building programs of this extent which the Board of Education has had to undertake in the past and will have to deal with in the future, point to the increasing importance of the Board's work.

Two members of this year's Board are leaving: Dr. Ralph Honey, former chairman and a member for six years; and Mr. Frank Jobbitt, also a former chairman and a member for eight years. Their service, freely given, has been appreciated and was important in the last half dozen years when the Board was initiating and carrying out its very large post-war program of building to deal with the expanding school population.

In the Utilities Commission the year was marked by the announcement that Mr. Ross Dobbin would retire in 1953. A remarkable record of public service was ended, for the time being, when Mr. Gordon Matthews was defeated in the elections: he had been on the Commission for 27 years; he and his father, the late T. F. Matthews, had between them given 45 years of service on the Commission, and were its chairmen 43 of those years. The debt which Peterborough owes to father and son will not quickly be forgotten.

Inherited Pain

A recent judgement of the Quebec Court of Appeals has a flavour of otherworldliness. A woman was fatally injured when struck by a run-away horse in Montreal two years ago. Her married sons put in a claim for hospital and funeral expenses (including a tombstone) and among other things also asked $500 for their mother's pain and suffering and $3,500 for her loss of enjoyment of life. The defendant attacked the claim for pain, suffering and loss of enjoyment of life on the grounds that these were personal and died with the victim. He argued that these claims were not transmissible to the heirs. The Court of Appeals found that they were, and became part of the inheritance of the lawful heirs who are seized of the property, rights and actions of the deceased. This judgement in Quebec, therefore, does not accept the principle that it is cheaper to kill than to maim. It is a point already covered by Ontario legislation.

One Advantage Of Living In Peterborough

On Boxing Day Montreal and district had its 23rd hold-up of the month. This is almost one hold-up a day. It is a disconcerting way of being relieved of money and we are able to say that that sort of unpleasantness has been spared Peterborough people not only this month but all year. Peterborough has not had a hold-up in 1952. Whether this is due to the efficiency of our police, the smallness of Peterborough pocket-books, or the lack of anonymity which a small city affords, we cannot say. However, the freedom from hold-ups and shake-downs is one of the advantages Peterborough offers over metropolitan centres.

NOTES AND COMMENT

A Brantford woman has been stung by a bee which was roosting in her Christmas tree. These southerners run risks unknown to those of us who dwell in the real North.

Funny that Mr. James G. Endicott is permitted by the Government of Canada to accept a Stalin Peace Prize, but if the Queen wanted to make him a knight Ottawa would not hear of it.

The Brantford Expositor says that if President Truman does not bridle his tongue, somebody will say that he is a poor loser. And if they do, Battling Harry will soon have plenty of free time in which to put on the gloves.

THE NEW ICE AGE

Banquet With A Bombe

By IVOR BROWN

ONE BIG BRITISH firm of ice-cream manufacturers alone sends out three million portions of this joy on every day. There may be ups and downs in the demand, according to the month and the weather, but, if people are being frozen outside and want no internal refrigeration, savings are made over the winter period to cope with the summer rush. So, on the average, about twenty million portions a week are coming from one supplier—and there are plenty more busy producers in the trade.

✣ ✣ ✣

THIS BRITISH ADDICTION to ice-cream is having curious and extensive economic consequences. It is, for example, an enormous prop of the entertainment industry. Mr. J. Arthur Rank (the film magnate) has recently explained that the gigantic profit of £1,151,000 on the sale of ice-cream is a principal asset of his Odeons and other palaces of pictorial delight. I have been told by managers of theatres, which, unlike cinemas, have bars, that ice-cream is much more valuable to them than alcohol; especially is this true of local repertory theatres, where the average price of a seat is 3s.6d. or less, and the public cannot afford to buy spirits or even beer in the intervals. But the sixpenny ice-cream is eagerly sought, the profit is a good one and the traffic handy and convenient. The supplying companies provide and stock the refrigerators. There is no risk in the service of ice-cream, since it keeps well; costs are small, there being no washing-up charges or loss of china.

✣ ✣ ✣

ON THE OTHER HAND, there are those who suffer by this vogue for ice. The Apple Growers of Kent have recently been complaining that boys will not buy the (possibly) sour fruit if they can be sure of the frosty sweetmeat. The taste formed in boyhood is continued, if not strengthened, in the growing man. Adults, as well as urchins, no longer demand to be 'stayed with flagons and comforted with apples'; they would rather be stayed with Coca-Cola and comforted with choc-ice, since they are sick of high prices.

✣ ✣ ✣

IT CAN BE SAID that we are being Americanised in this matter. The British business man, who usually took a bit of cheese after his main course, was always surprised in America when he saw his fellow business men devouring portions of fruit pie smothered in ice-cream. But he is now much more inclined to take an ice himself, whatever the weather. At least he knows that it is safe, which was not the case at one time.

✣ ✣ ✣

IN MY BOYHOOD ice-cream was a treat—or a menace. At the more lavish Christmas parties home-made ice-cream, with real cream in it, was sometimes served, very rich and delicious. In summer there was the wandering Hokey-Pokey Man, usually an Italian, the Antonio with the ice-cream cart made famous in a Music Hall song. But cautious parents and nursemaids were terrified of Antonio. The children were assured that he made the stuff in his back yard and kept it under his bed; they were told in awesome voices that typhoid was the likely reward of those who indulged in it. As far as I can remember, from a few shy indulgences which left a guilty conscience, it was harmless enough, being only frozen cornflower and a poor enough bargain for the purchaser.

✣ ✣ ✣

LATER THERE came the "stop me and buy one" epoch, when the travelling container was pedalled to the beaches; and this trade still goes on. But the ice-cream sold now comes usually from factories with standards of cleanliness in method and of purity in material. There have been very few cases of illness caused by patronage of the well known firms. And today the travelling lorries of the big distributors visit shops even in the smallest and furthest villages where there is a refrigerator installed and the stuff can be safetly purchased. So the old luxury—or peril—has become the reliable commonplace of British life.

✣ ✣ ✣

"AS SOON seek roses in December, ice in June," wrote Lord Byron of the unlikely event. But now ice in December is the quite normal refreshment of the young. The tub, the cornet, the bar, the choc-ice are almost as natural to a winter outing as to a summer one. It is not only the public banquet that ends with a "bombe": the private meal is just as likely to include a frozen bar or two from the "frig" of the local confectioner.

✣ ✣ ✣

IT IS REMARKABLE that the taste in food has moved so overwhelmingly from hot to cold. The Dickensians wanted everything warm, their beer mulled, their brandy served with hot water. Can you imagine Bob Sawyer demanding an ice-cream soda? Now, though the climate has not greatly altered, you will not find a tavern in the town where hot drinks are demanded or supplied. Instead, the more select bars will have ice on the table.

✣ ✣ ✣

HOW MANY small children in the Dickens period tasted ice-cream? Hungrily they craved for hot pies, or the steaming stewed beef called "a la mode". But now the mode has been polarised and the happiest child is he who can make an igloo of his stomach day after day. To do this is neither difficult nor, by modern accounting, expensive. And the joy of it is that nobody seems to be poisoned in the process. The modern child expects ice-cream as a right which knows no seasons: Sundae observance is part of his design for living.

Unconsidered Trifles

"What about the $10 you owe me?"

"Quite all right—it's your birthday next Sunday and I'm going to bring it to you with my congratulations."

"You just bring the money and I'll congratulate myself."

✣ ✣ ✣

A parson had occasion to reprove a small boy for swearing. "If you feel you must say something just say 'Bother!'" he said. "Your father doesn't swear, does he?"

"Oh, no, sir."

"Well, then, if he were working in the garden and suddenly stepped backwards on to a rake which flew up and hit him from behind, what would he say?"

"He would say: "You're back early, dear!"

1952: The Year of Stagnation

By SEBASTIAN HAFFNER

THE YEAR 1952 has been something of a freak year in international affairs, inasmuch as the strongest world Power has taken a temporary leave of absence from world affairs for almost the whole of the year.

For the preceding ten years American policy had been the most important determinant factor on the world scene; and never more so than in 1951, when America embarked on a global diplomatic offensive, trying to create "positions of strength" — integrated systems of alliance—in Western Europe, the Far East, and the Middle East, and backing them up with a massive rearmament programme at home and a system of military subsidies—the "Mutual Security Programme"—abroad.

Although these policies were continued, in a routine manner, by America during 1952, the impetus behind them flagged increasingly, until, in the closing months of the year, it had become almost nil.

This was, of course, due to the Americans' preoccupation with their Presidential elections and to the result of these elections, which have turned the Democratic Administration of President Harry S. Truman into a mere caretaker Government for the last two months of 1952 and the first three weeks of 1953. From the spring of 1952 onwards, major new foreign political initiatives on the part of the United States were excluded by electoral pre-occupations; from the middle of the year, electioneering activities absorbed almost the whole time and energy of the American political leaders; and from November 5 onward, the whole future of American foreign policy became an unknown quantity. The voice of America, which in preceding years had set the tune to the whole international orchestra (outside the Russian sphere) became increasingly weak and uncertain during 1952, and by the end of the year had almost fallen silent.

In consequence, many of the great developments which, under American guidance and inspiration, had got under way in various parts of the world in the preceding years, showed signs of stagnation and disintegration in the second half of 1952.

THE MOVEMENT towards West European Union, for example, which earlier in 1952 had reached high-water mark with the setting-up of the Coal and Steel Community and the signature of the Bonn and Paris Treaties with Germany, became bogged down. The Bonn and Paris Treaties remained unratified in France and Germany, and old-style bickering over the Saar took the place of large-minded integration plans between the two countries. No progress at all was made with the Middle East Command plans announced in 1951. Relations between Britain and Persia, and the French position in Tunisia, Morocco and Indo-China, deteriorated, with American policy unformulated and American mediating or arbitrating influence in abeyance. In America's own sphere in the North Pacific, her partnership with Japan did not develop beyond the starting-point established with the signature of the Peace Treaty and Security Pact in 1951, and the change in the Pacific power balance hoped for from a revitalisation of Japan did not materialise. In Korea, where the long-drawn armistice negotiations finally broke down in the autumn, American policy appeared devoid of any idea of how either to win or to wind up the war.

In the closing months of 1952, the world had begun to take on an uncanny resemblance to pre-1939 times, when America had been voluntarily outside the mainstream of international politics. Local issues began almost everywhere to take precedence over global ones, people were speculating hopefully about the end of the cold war and, with a half-relieved, half-cynical feeling, looking forward to a holiday from history. Horizons everywhere were shrinking; from Britain to Japan and from France to Australia, people were wistfully rummaging the lumber-rooms of the political memory for their cast-off pre-1939 clothes and trying them on to see whether they still fitted. There was a whiff of "normalcy" in the air—the "normalcy" of the good old times when America was a far-off self-isolated continent and Communist Russia a cloud no bigger than a man's hand on the far horizon.

RUSSIA'S OWN TACTICS during 1952 contributed in a subtle and effective manner to the creation of this mood. It had been foreseeable that America's absorption in home politics during 1952 would present Russia with a world political initiative during this year, and it had been widely feared that Russia would use this opportunity for promoting acute world crisis, even war. It was still remembered that the last American Presidential election year, 1948, had seen the Prague coup, the Berlin blockade, and the start of the final Communist offensive in China.

In 1952, by contrast, Russia abstained from any forcible or aggressive move. She did not even reinforce her army in Germany in step with the reinforcement of the Atlantic forces in Germany under SHAPE (Supreme Headquarters, Allied Powers in Europe), but allowed her margin of tactical military front-line superiority in Europe to be substantially reduced without batting an eyelid.

Simultaneously, she initiated, during the middle of the year, a purge of the most fanatical and offensive-minded Communist leaders in the satellite States; the founder-members of the Cominform, disciples of the late Andrej Zhdanov, and local leaders of the Communist political coups of the early post-war years—Anne Pauker in Rumania, Slansky in Czechoslovakia, Gero in Hungary —all were demoted and some of them even executed. The satellite countries were provided with a more respectable appearance of semi-independence ("tame Titoism"), thus encouraging the resumption of neighbourly relations with them on the part of non-Communist Europe. An "economic conference" in Moscow, deliberately kept free from the cruder aspects of cold-war propaganda, revived in Western commercial circles hopes of East-West trade and more formal private relations across the Iron Curtain.

IN THE NON-COMMUNIST countries the Communist party-line was, in the course of the year, switched from violence to legal respectability and from militancy to an attempt to renew popular-front links with other left-wing parties. The fact that Socialist and Radical parties found themselves in 1952 nearly everywhere in opposition against Conservative Governments, and that they found common ground with Communists in sympathy with Colonial rebellions and general coloured discontent, provided these new tactics with a not wholly unpromising prospect. Everywhere among the West European non-Communist Left, Malan (Prime Minister of South Africa) was emotionally replacing Stalin as Enemy Number One, and there were even wistful attempts, in tune with the fashionable revival of the mood of the 'thirties, to work up a new German bogy to take one's eye off the Russian danger.

At the same time Russia not only kept up her rearmament and her "hate-America" propaganda, but also remained intransigently obstructive in every matter of real diplomatic business. She bluntly refused all-German elections after having first raised hopes; she equally refused a resumption of the Austrian Treaty talks, and she torpedoed an Indian compromise proposal to bring about a Korean armistice. It was clear that she did not at all seek any real relaxation of world tension through diplomatic compromise or settlement, but intended to keep the cold war going at full intensity. It was equally clear that she hoped, by refraining from acts of direct military aggression and by shifting the onus of "war-mongering" on to the United States, to disintegrate the American system of alliance in Western Europe, the Far East and the Middle East, and to make moral conquests in preparation of future new political conquests.

In the virtual absence of American counter-action during 1952, she had considerable, though intangible and imponderable, successes in this respect. Not only did the process of building up Western unity and strength everywhere slow down, and in many places come to a standstill in 1952. It was unmistakeable that most of the free nations in Western Europe, Southern Asia and the Pacific, found the relaxed 1952 atmosphere of phoney normalcy rather agreeable, and were likely to react with some anti-American resentment if, as was to be expected, the new American Government were, in 1953, to disturb this new atmosphere with some unwelcome reminders of the continuing harsh realities of the world situation.

THIS INTERNATIONAL mood of the end of 1952—a mood of unhealthy euphoria, based on a deliberate escapism—is unlikely to last. It could become established only if America were really to return to isolationism; but after all, America has only taken a sabbatical year, she has not permanently withdrawn from world politics. She remains the greatest military and economic world Power, on whose actions the course of Twentieth Century world history continues to depend more than on any other single factor. Her return to active international policy during 1953 will probably quickly change the picture and restore some of the continuity with pre-1952 world trends which was so oddly interrupted in the second half of the past year.

Nevertheless, the case with which, in the last six months, the steam has gone out of the American system of alliances during so short and foreseeable a withdrawal of active American pressure is a fact which deserves to be seriously pondered by the new American Administration. It seems to show a flaw in the previous conception of American foreign policy.

This flaw may lie in the too exclusively military definition of the "positions of strength" which America had set out to build in a free world prior to 1952. Especially since Korea, American world policy seemed directed more towards the preparation of strategic positions against a hot war than towards winning the cold war. It was, to all appearances, based on an assumption of imminent Russian military aggression. This assumption may, of course, still be proved true. But it is equally possible that Russia will refrain from military aggression—indeed, she is the more likely to do so the stronger the precautions taken against it on the part of America and her Allies. In that case the accumulation of arms brought about so reluctantly and at so much sacrifice by the Western nations will seem, in the general view, wasted; and the American insistence on continued rearmament and military preparedness will be resented.

ALTHOUGH REINSURANCE against Russian aggression remains a constant necessity, the real task of winning the cold war implies beyond it the creation, in the free world, of a viable, self-sustaining political and economic system which holds out to its member States a plausible prospect of stability, peace, increasing prosperity, and national and individual self-respect. To create such a system, it is necessary to tackle those "internal contradictions" in the Western world on whose exploitation Russia has based her chief hopes of winning the cold war: the conflicting aspirations of classes, races and nations, and the unbalance and instability of the international economy. This does not—indeed, cannot—mean appeasing every aspiration of every "under-privileged" class, race or nation. It does mean choosing definite social, racial or international positions, in harmony wth definite, strong, respectable and alliance-worthy social, racial or national interests—and sticking to them. It means, above all, making the economy of the free world stable and self-balancing and independent of the constant injection of demoralising direct dollar aid in one form or another.

The new American Administration, in resuming the task of leading the free world towards strength and security, will probably not be able simply to continue where the old one lost grip a year or so ago. If it wants to regain the American initiative and world leadership which so dangerously slipped during 1952, it will have to tackle the deeper causes of malaise in the Western world—first of all, in all likelihood, in the economic sphere.

Bible Message

(From the Authorized Version)

Know ye that the Lord he is God: it is he that hath made us, and not we ourselves; we are his people, and the sheep of his pasture. (Ps. 100: 3.)

✣ ✣ ✣

What doth it profit, my brethren, though a man say he hath faith, and have not works? can faith save him? . . . . Yea, a man may say, Thou hast faith, and I have works: shew me thy faith without thy works, and I will shew thee my faith by my works. . . . Was not Abraham our father justified by works, when he had offered Isaac his son upon the altar?

Seest thou how faith wrought with his works, and by works was faith made perfect? And the scripture was fulfilled which saith, Abraham believed God, and it was imputed unto him for righteousness: and he was called the Friend of God. (James 2:14, 18, 21-23.)

Canada Regrets Dairy Restriction

OTTAWA (CP) — A trade official said Tuesday that Canada "deeply regrets" the United States decision to extend its dairy import restrictions to cover whole milk powder and buttermilk powder.

He was commenting on a Washington dispatch in which the U.S. agriculture department announced the new restrictions to reduce surpluses in the U. S.

These are additional to restrictions on imports of cheese and other dairy products imposed more than a year ago and eased slightly last July.

Canada and other dairy exporting countries unsuccessfully protested the curbs.

The official said the latest curbs may injure Canada's milk powder industry next year. The U. S. has been an outlet for some of Canada's surpluses and it was a question of whether alternative outlets could be found.

Ask Increase On Telegrams

OTTAWA (CP) — The telegraph companies Tuesday applied to the board of transport commissioners for increased rates on some messages.

The companies asked increases of five, 10 and 15 cents in the price of 10-word telegrams, depending on the distance sent. The increases would become effective Feb. 1 if authorized.

Though higher basic rates are sought, the companies proposed no change in extra-word charges on full-rate telegrams, night messages and telegraph money orders.

For day letters, there would be an additional charge of between one and five cents for each additional 10 words or part of that above the standard 50 words. The corresponding increase for night letters would be between one and three cents.

Press rates would not be affected.

More Sports Championships Come To Peterborough During Successful Year '52

By CEC. PERDUE

Peterborough had one of its better sports' years in 1952, once again showing sports fans in Ontario and in places like Vancouver and Winnipeg that this is one of the top cities for athletics in the country. The Petes' Timbermen again won the Mann Cup as Canadian senior "A" champions. The local Orfuns captured the Eastern Canada intermediate "A" rugby football title, losing out in the Canadian final. A curlnig rink from here competed in Canadian championship matches before losing out. A number of other Peterborough teams won provincial crowns, and many more took part in provincial playoffs.

Ted Reeve of the Toronto Telegram, probably the most widely-read sports columnist in the Dominion, write in his pillar recently of Peterborough: "What a sports hotbed that town has become!"

THEY WON AGAIN

The highlight here in '52 was the second straight Canadian senior title brought to Peterborough by the lacrosse Timbermen. President Bob Peirson, Manager Bob Curtin, Coach Bob Thorpe and a keen executive lined up another good team in a strong group. The club had to fight hard all season and especially against Toronto Yorks in playoffs to come through, but romped through Vancouver in four straight games in Toronto Maple Leaf Gardens to annex the coveted Mann Cup once more. They had a big civic welcome home. The club has ambitious plans afoot to field another titular team in 1953.

Coach Doug Miller Jr. and Manager Bert Chapman piloted their juvenile "B" squad of the well-organized Peterborough Minor Lacrosse Association to the OLA title in that division, just to show fans that there are many good minors being brought along in this sport.

ORFUNS STARRED

The grid Orfuns, with the help of half a dozen good Orillia players, finally clicked last fall after several discouraging seasons. They won their group over Cobourg, Oshawa and Kingston, ousted Hamilton for Ontario intermediate "A" honors, and then edged Montreal here for the Eastern Canada championship. That sent them west to Winnipeg but there they lost a tough final game to a powerful club. The Orfuns received an enthusiastic welcome home by their good supporters and civic and Chamber of Commerce officials. They, too, plan to go all the way next year.

Capturing the Ontario curling crown last winter, a local rink of Burritt Harrison, Ken Bissett, Vic Brown and skip Dr. Ralph Clark, represented the province in the Canadian curling championship competition in Winnipeg. The local rink made a good showing against very stiff opposition from every province in the country, but lost out finally in the round-robin event. These competent young curlers expect to do even better this season.

WON IN SOCCER

Peterborough UEW soccer team also had a most successful season to capture the Ontario intermediate soccer championship for the second straight year. A well-organized team of able footballers (of the soccer variety) they cleaned up once more in their eastern group and went on to defeat Kingston Uniteds and bring another provincial title to this city. They will be back again in '53.

One more Ontario crown was won late in the year by two local ladies, that in badminton. Competing in the Ontario "B" badminton championship tournament, Maurice Charlton and Verna Rose won the ladies' doubles in the Carlton Club tourney in Toronto. The victory automatically puts them up in future "A" competitions in this sport.

In high school rugby football, Johnny Lynch's St. Peter's seniors won the Ontario Catholic Conference, while SPS juniors were second best in their "A" grouping in COSSA play. Bev Goulding's classy PCVS senior "A" squad rolled through to capture another COSSA crown, the COSSA being a sizeable section of Ontario running from the Midland area down through the Niagara peninsula. This same Collegiate crew won its game at the Red Feather tournament in an excellent showing in Toronto.

CAPTURED COBL

The senior baseball Petes returned to the Central Ontario League and won out over Kingston, but declined to continue in OBA playdowns owing to loss of players late in the season. The club will rebuild and field a strong team next summer.

Quite a few other clubs from here in various sports went a considerable distance in provincial playoffs. The Otonabee Wolves in minor hockey captured the OMHA bantam title. Though a nearby district team, rather than a city club, they played scheduled games earlier in the PMHA. Campbellford midgets were another district team to go all the way through in OMHA play.

In major hockey here, the senior "B" Eagles forfeited a game to Kingston late in the season and drew an OHA suspension, the club not returning to action this season. The senior "B" Petes won their group but lost out to Stouffville Clippers in playdowns, that team going on to win the OHA senior "B" title. The junior Oddfellows had a good season, also, though failing to win their group. They and the Petes are hot at it now in another stiff campaign. There is also a big minor setup going regularly at Civic Arena once more.

STEPPING UP

Frank Buckland of this city was elected first vice-president of the OHA this year and should within two years become president of the Ontario puck body. Bob Abbott of Peterborough this past year was chosen president of the Ontario Golf Association. Dot Millar was returned as treasurer of the Provincial Women's Softball Union. Ken Kingston is back on the OLA executive again.

It has been such a busy year in sports here that a roundup story at year's end must necessarily be sketchy, and many important incidents missed. Through the winter there was much good basketball played at the YW, the YM and the Collegiate gyms, and there will be plenty more this winter, with St. Peter's and Kenner having new gyms. Plenty of curling bonspiels provided sport for hundreds of ladies and men. There was carpetball and bowling, too. Also professional wrestling.

The spring saw the softballers start interesting seasons, the lacrossers and baseballers doing likewise, and these games drew some large crowds in the summer months. Water sports, swimming and lawn bowling proved as popular as ever. Soccer, races, golf and tennis had their followings. Football took over in the fall, followed by hockey as winter neared once more. These and other sports provided healthy and enjoyable exercise for many girls, boys, women and men, and proved good entertainment for many hundreds of sports followers here and throughout this district.

KEEPING PACE

Sports have kept pace with Peterborough's progress and growth in population. As the city reaches the 40,000 mark, athletics have improved and the 1952 list of championships and near - titles proves this. They should continue to do this, despite some inadequate facilities for games. There is no Memorial Centre here yet, and a better grandstand is required for ball at Riverside. Most games in this centre are played under lights now, and there is artificial ice for hockey, curling and skating. The various schools are keenly aware of the value of sports, which promises many fine athletes here in the future.

As 1952 bows out on a triumphant note in the sports' part of the Peterborough symphony, "a confident 1953 waits in the wings to carry on the high athletic tradition of this good Central Ontario city.

SPORTS SHOW WINDOW

By CEC. PERDUE, Sports Editor

As these printed words trickle through the hour-glass, like the sands of time, we bid adieu to 1952 and greet a new year. It is customary at year's end to take stock of oneself, glancing briefly back back over the twelvemonth gone, and then face into the future. It was a good year for Peterborough in sports, 1952. There was lots of action in various lines of athletics. Our lacrosse Timbermen again won the Mann Cup, senior Canadian champs. Our grid Orfuns took the Eastern Canada intermediate "A" football title, losing to Winnipeg in the national final. A local curling rink, skipped by Dr. Ralph Clark, made the Canadian playoffs. UEW took the Ontario intermediate soccer title again. Maurice Charlton and Verna Rose won a "B" provincial badminton crown. A local "B" juvenile team took an OLA championship. PCVS seniors captured the COSSA again. And won their Red Feather contest. SPS seniors won the Catholic loop. Petes ballsters and puck' seniors cleaned up their two groups. Several district teams were successful, too. Yes, a good 1952. Happy New Year to everyone in 1953; to sports fans, to club officials, to all the athletes, and to all our readers. May it even exceed old '52. May we have more and better sports for all, young and old, girls and boys, women and men, for participants and spectators and those who follow athletics through newspapers. Let us organize early for a big year in all lines of sports. Let fathers (and mothers, too) take interest in the athletics their children indulge in. May Mayor Hugh Waddell and other interested parties be successful in getting early and positive action on our Memorial Community Centre in '53 so that this fine city of ours will be an even better one in which to live. After looking back proudly on the achievements in athletics here in the year closing tonight, let us look forward confidently to another year of clean, exciting and successful sports — and smile happily as we say to one and all: "A HAPPY NEW YEAR!"

Lear Given Walking Papers As Coach Of Calgary Stampeders

CALGARY (CP)—Les Lear is out as coach of Calgary Stampeders.

Club President D. P. McLaws announced Tuesday night, following a joint meeting of the board of governors and the Stampeder Football Clhb, that Lear would not be re-hired for the 1953 season.

Lear is the second Western Interprovincial Football Union coach to be dismissed at the end of the 1952 season. Frank Filchock, who took Edmonton Eskimos to the Grey Cup final, was ousted earlier in a contract dispute.

Lear was not available for comment on his dismissal.

McLaws said that four applications have been received to fill Lear's position. No names were released.

TOOK CHAMPIONSHIP

Lear went to Calgary as playing-ciach in 1948 and promptly captured the Western championship and the Grey Cup. The following year Stamps won the Western title but missed out against Montreal Alouettes in the Grey Cup final. They hit rough going in '50 and '51 and were bounced out of the Western playoffs by Edmonton Eskimos in '52.

Lear and assistant coach Ed Champagne hit the headlines during the 1952 season when they were charged with assaulting player Mel Embree in a dressing-room bout in Calgary. Lear and Champagne were acquitted after Embree retracted part of his statement in court.

Lear was born in Grafton, N.D., but broke into football in Winnipeg. He played with the Blue Bombers from 1937 to 1942. He took over as coach of the RCAF Bombers in 1943, then played two seasons with Cleveland Rams of the National Football League.

He moved West in 1946 and played with Los Angeles Rams. The following year he was with Detroit Lions.

At Calgary, his next stop, Lear stayed for five years. He has taken part in six Grey Cup finals —four with Winnipeg Blue Bombers and two with Calgary—and has been with a winning team three times, twice with Bombers and once with the Stampeder club of 1948.

Marlies Leading Junior OHA By 10 Points

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Toronto Marlboros have Eric Nesterenko and 10 points on the rest of the Ontario Hockey Association Junior A teams.

Barrie Flyers, at this point the team most likely to overtake the Marlboros before playoff time, now are a full 10 points behind the leaders. The Toronto team established the margin Tuesday night by edging St. Catharines Teepees 4-3.

Nesterenko, currently the wonder boy of the National Hockey League since scoring twice against Boston last Saturday while playing for Toronto, picked up a goal and an assist in the victory.

TIE IRISH

Windsor Spitfires tied the third-place Toronto St. Michael's Majors 5-5. Windsor is in sixth place. The Irish had to score three goals in the final period to save a single point.

Besides Nesterenko, Wally Maxwell, Lou Bendo and Jack Harris scored for Marlboros. Ken Schinkel with two and Brian Cullen were St. Catharines marksmen.

In the tie, Bill Lee with two, Ed Plata, Paul Knox and Butch Ratchford were Toronto goal-getters. Archie Burton, Ross Graham, Bob Brown, Ted Reid and Marlin McAlenin shared Windsor goals.

Belleville Edges Cobourg Jays

COBOURG—Cobourg Jays were the better team for 50 minutes here Monday night and threw a large-sized scare into the league leading OHA Junior A Belleville Bees for that space. Then the Jays collapsed and Belleville rapped in four quick goals to win 8-6.

The Jays, who have yet to win a game in the district league, led the Belleville crew 3-2 at the end of the first period, closed the second with a 4-3 edge and reached the 10-minute mark of the third session leading 6-4. Two Cobourg stars, Dutch Boswell and Sleep Dawe, who had worked most of the game, started to fade at that point, and the Belleville squad came on with a rush to score four goals in eight minutes.

Boswell was the star of the game as he scored four goals and passed for another in the Cobourg cause. Teammate Frank McIvor got the other two and assisted on one of Boswell's.

Sleep Dawe was the spearhead of nearly every Cobourg play from his defence post.

Belleville was led by Pat Gilmore, who counted twice. Other Belleville goals went to Doug Hull, Jerry Goyer, Ray Hermiston and Ron Halstead. The win gives Belleville an eight-point lead on the pack.

Here and There In Sport

By The Canadian Press

TORONTO (CP)—Take a good, firm grasp on your rocking-chair arms, you old-time, 60-minute hockey player, and listen to this: They now have individual clocks for each player to ensure he doesn't play more than 20 or 35 minutes a game.

Honest, Toronto Maple Leafs are operating an elaborate clocking system to make sure the players won't be overworked. Seems Leafs think it might shorten their careers. The system is also in use at their Pittsburgh farm team's arena.

It works this way: Two men sit in a booth before panels of electric switches. Each is assigned to a panel representing the Leafs or the visiting team and there is a switch labelled with the name of each player.

As a man steps on the ice his switch is thrown and a clock in a small room starts ticking. When he steps off the ice the switch is cut off and the clock stops. All clocks are wired into the timer's clock so that play interruptions are taken into account.

In the clock room a third man records each player's times at the end of each period and rushes the information to Managing Director Conny Smythe in his box nearby and to coach Joe Primeau.

The clock system is also used to regulate the ice time of a player who may be good for 10 minutes or so and fades after that. It shows up as a player who is out of condition and wilts after only seven or eight minutes of play. The Leafs don't say what information they get out of the clocks devoted to the visiting team.

SEEK ALLAN CUP ENTRY

EDMONTON (CP)—Dr. W. G. Hardy, Canadian Amateur Hockey Association representative, says Edmonton may yet have an Allan Cup entry this year. He said he and Jimmy Graham of Edmonton are "interested" in re-forming the Edmonton Pats.

Pats, a pick-up club selected from former pros and amateurs living in Edmonton, last year reached the Western Canada senior final, losing to Fort Frances Canadians.

FROWN ON PRO HOCKEY

EDMONTON (CP)—Professional hockey has not yet been accepted by Edmonton fans. That was Club Manager Jim Paul's explanation Tuesday of a $14,218 deficit incurred by Edmonton Flyers from 1951-52 operations in the Western Hockey League.

Paul said the current season probably will be as bad if not worse financially. Edmonton led the eight-team WHL circuit in attendance last season but about the half-way mark of this season was nearly 30,000 customers off the pace and was ranked third lowest in revenue.

Flyers, sponsored by the Edmonton Exhibition Association, were a big success at the gate while playing in the old Western Canada Senior League. Along with Calgary and Saskatoon, they made their professional debut last season after the WCSL folded.

FBI MAN WINS AWARD

NEW YORK (AP)—Horace Ashenfelter, the determined federal bureau of investigation man who became Olympic champion steeplechase runner almost overnight, was named Tuesday as the 1952 winner of the James E. Sullivan memorial trophy.

This award, one of the most coveted in amateur sports, is presented annually by the Amateur Athletic Union to the "amateur athlete who, by performance, example and good influence, did the most to advance the cause of good sportsmanship during the year."

1952 Most Miserable Year For Canadian Sportsmen

By JACK SULLIVAN
Canadian Press Staff Writer

TORONTO (CP)—Maybe Canada's once-proud amateur sportsmen should forget about 1952. It was the most miserable year from a national and international standpoint that most can recall.

The one big shining light in the play-for-fun family was George Genereux, a 17-year-old crew-cut trapshooter from Saskatoon, who won Canada's only gold medal in the summer Olympic Games at Helsinki. He went over as another guy called Joe and returned as the singularly-praised hero of the country's team of 113 athletes and 28 officials.

On the professional level, big-time football kept the sports scene alive with probably its best season. Newspaper ink flowed freely as both the Western and Eastern leagues reached their peak in crowd appeal and down-to-the-wire finishes, climaxed by the greatest spectacle on the calendar — the Grey Cup final.

GREY CUP RECORD

A crowd of 27,395, a record for a Grey Cup final, saw Toronto Argonauts defeat Edmonton Eskimos 21-11 and win their 10th Canadian championship. The game was televised for the first time in history and an estimated 700,000 persons saw the game within the 90-mile range of the Toronto station. Gate receipts, not yet officially announced, were believed to be about $125,000, highest in history.

In the National Hockey League, Toronto Maple Leafs and Montreal Canadiens were humiliated in the Stanley Cup by the high-stepping Detroit Red Wings. The Wings disposed of Toronto four straight in the semi-finals and duplicated the performance against Canadiens in the final—the first time in history a club has won the trophy in eight straight.

Montreal Royals placed first and Toronto Leafs were fourth in the triple A International Baseball League but both were eliminated in the playoffs. The Leafs drew an all-time record crowd of 469,325 for the season in their home park.

A few individual amateur performers stood out but almost generally amateur sport was in a far-from-healthy state.

FAILED TO ATTRACT

Lacrosse, tennis, track and field and swimming suffered severely at the gate. The three-day Olympic swimming trials at Toronto attracted 550 persons or fewer. Amateur hockey crowds were down in many areas with only the seven-team Quebec Major League reporting a marked increase. League games there drew more than 1,000,000 persons, the largest in history. Nearly all six teams in the Maritime major circuit lost money in the 90-game schedule.

Squabbles and bickerings hit some amateur sports-governing bodies and heavy broadsides were fired at the Canadian Olympic Association. There was controversy over selection of the summer team and hints of bungling, incompetent handling and favoritism were tossed around.

Canada's hockey team, Edmonton Mercurys won the winter Olympic championship at Oslo, Norway, but Canadian skiers held their record of not winning a point for Canada since the games started 28 years ago.

Canadian athletes were also-rans at Helsinki and the resultant blow-off by Canadians may end in a shake-up of the COA personnel at its annual meeting scheduled for January. President Sidney Dawes of Montreal has intimated he will resign.

POOR TURN-OUTS

A crowd of only 1,450 saw Peterborough Timbermen win their fourth and final game over Vancouver Pilseners to take the Canadian senior lacrosse best-of-seven title series. Again, at Toronto, the last game of the Memorial Cup Hockey final drew only 3,447 fans as Guelph Biltmores whipped Regina Pats.

Fort Frances Canadians defeated Stratford Indians four games to one to win the Allan Cup and Quebec Aces, led by Jean Marc Beliveau defeated Saint John Beavers four games to one in their best-of-seven Alexander Trophy series for the Canadian major hockey championship.

Montreal Stelcos won the Canadian soccer championship over New Westminster Royals at Winnipeg. Stelcos won the final game of a best-of-three series 2-0 before a crowd of only 1,400.

In tennis, Tony Vincent and Lucille Davidson, both Americans, won the Canadian senior men's and women's titles. Marriette Laframboise of Montreal and Stephen Gottlieb of New York won the junior singles crowns.

OTHER CHAMPIONS

Billy Walsh of Winnipeg won the Canadian curling championship and Tillsonburg Livingstons whipped Winnipeg Varsity Grads three games to one in their best-of-five series for the Canadian basketball title. Livvies defeated the University of Western Ontario Mustangs in the Olympic trials and an all-star team made up of Tillsonburg, Mustangs, Grads and Montreal players competed for Canada in the summer Olympics. They were knocked out in the first round.

Marlene Stewart, the Ontario youngster from the Lookout Point Golf Club near Welland, Ont., retained her Canadian women's closed championship. Johnny Palmer of Badin, N.C., won the Canadian open and Pat Fletcher of Saskatoon the Canadian Professional Golf Association titles.

Toronto's Cliff Lumsden won the 10-mile world professional swimming championship and 16-year-old Shirley Campbell of Fergus, Ont., the women's mile at the Canadian National Exhibition.

Canada's racing classic—the $15,000-added Queen's Plate—was won in the mud and rain at Toronto's Woodbine Park by Epigram, owned by the Three V's stable of Toronto.

New Year's Eve Big Break For Young NHL Rookies

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

New Year's Eve, 1952, may be a big date in the memory of a couple of young hockey players. Two forwards, one for Toronto Maple Leafs and one for New York Rangers, will make their National Hockey League debut tonight in the traditional New Year's Eve game in New York.

Gordie Haworth, up from Valleyfield of the Quebec Senior Hockey League, will be a new face in the Ranger line-up. The 21-year-old centre is up on a three-game trial basis and after that can return to the Quebec loop without losing his amateur status. He probably will pivot Nick Mickoski and Jack Stoddard.

Rightwinger Church Blair, who played on the Marlboro Allan Cup championship team in 1949, will be in the Leaf uniform, but whether he plays or not depends on Howie Meeker.

The little rightwinger has been limping for the last few weeks with an injured knee. If Meeker is able to keep on playing, Blair will be sent back to the Leaf American Hockey League farm, Pittsburgh, which also is having injury troubles. Blair is up in the NHL under the emergency recall section of the NHL-AHL agreement.

The New York-Toronto game will be the seventh meeting between the two clubs so far this season. The fourth-place Leafs won the first three meetings, then lost to the tail-end Rangers. The last two clashes resulted in ties.

In the only other New Year's Eve game third-place Montreal takes on the front-running Red Wings in Detroit. A victory for Montreal would push the Canadiens past the idle Chicago Black Hawks into second place.

New Year's night Toronto moves on to fifth-place Boston and Montreal to Chicago.

Kingston Vics Drub Oshawa Bees 10-0

KINGSTON—In a reversal of form that was fast and startling, Max Jackson's Kingston Vics rebounded from Saturday's 4-3 defeat by the Lindsay Warriors and crushed Oshawa Bees, 10-0, Monday night. The local Ontario Hockey Association junior "B" entry also regained possession of third place in the group standing.

Seventeen sentences were inflicted, with the Oshawans drawing nine. Nine of these were jammed into the first session when Myles of Oshawa and Maracle of the Vics staged the lone uprising of the encounter and drew majors.

Turning Off Highway In Crash Driver Fined

Richard Walsh, of Indian River, was convicted of careless driving by Magistrate W. R. Philp in police court Thursday and was fined $10 and $37 costs.

Walsh was driving a light truck and making a left-hand turn at the Indian River crossroad the afternoon of November 27 when he was involved in a collision with a car driven by Floyd E. Pethick, of Toronto.

Pethick was travelling west on Highway 7 and Walsh had been travelling east on the highway and was turning to go north toward Indian River when the accident occurred.

BLEW HORN

Pethick said he saw the truck when he was about 150 feet away and blew his horn and applied his brakes. He said he continued after he saw the truck making the turn on the assumption it would be off the highway by the time he got close to it. However, the two vehicles collided.

OPP Constable John Ricard said he measured a skid mark 78 feet to the east of the front wheels of the Pethick car. Pethick estimated his speed at between 50 and 55 miles an hour before he applied his brakes.

As he approached the intersection, Walsh said he had to slow practically to a stop because two transports were coming west. After they passed, he said, he looked in his rear view mirror and believed he also looked ahead and saw nothing coming either way before he started across the highway.

Mrs. Mary Dunford was with with Walsh who was delivering mail for her husband and she stated definitely there was nothing coming over the brow of the hill to the east when they started across the highway.

Constable Ricard estimated the brow of the hill was 400 feet to the east of the point of impact.

W. B. Gordon defended Walsh and argued that the Crown had failed to show that Walsh had been negligent.

"I don't know why this charge was laid in the first place," declared Mr. Gordon. "The only possible reason I can see is as a subsequent claim for civil damages."

At this point, Crown Attorney John A. Bradshaw interrupted with "No, no."

Magistrate W. R. Philp told Mr. Gordon he should not say such a thing when a provincial police officer was involved.

Mr. Gordon said he had come to this conclusion after listening "to the most vehement way Pethick gave his evidence."

TIRED OF QUESTIONS

Pethick, who had complained in the witness box that he was "sick and tired of all this cross-examination" (by Mr. Gordon), stood up at this point and started to talk but was ordered to sit down.

Mr. Gordon said that the "cause of the accident was the excessive speed of Pethick."

Magistrate Philp took issue with Mr. Gordon's statement that all the Highway Traffic Act required was that a man act as a reasonably prudent man would, and said that in his opinion "in making a left-hand turn, the standard required is greater than reasonable care."

Mr. Gordon replied that his client was charged with careless driving. "You can't build that section up to greater heights by employing other sections in a criminal matter," argued Mr. Gordon.

"I can't agree with you in this matter," said Magistrate Philp in finding Walsh guilty.

ALBANIA, the area once referred to by Winston Churchill as the "soft underbelly of Europe" is still a soft spot in NATO's plan to assure the defense of the Mediterranean Sea. This tiny (10,631 sq. mi.) land on the Adriatic remains Russia's eyes and ears on the Mediterranean. Its mountainous terrain has few resources of any importance, but its Bay of Valona, protected by the Soviet-fortified island of Saseno, could be one of the largest naval bases in the area. Albania has been the scene of many conflicts with Turkey, the Balkan states and Italy for many years. Part of the Turkish empire, it became an independent principality in 1912, was invaded by the Serbs in 1913, independent again in 1917, a republic from 1925 to 1928 when its present, Ahmed Bey Zoga, became King Zog I. He fled in 1939, and Albania was overrun by the Axis until 1944. A provisional government was established by the West with the understanding that free elections would be held in 1945. The Reds, through strong-arm methods, won the election and Albania was proclaimed a "peoples" republic in 1946. Another country had fallen behind the Iron Curtain. Sovietization was immediately started with strict security enforced. Submarine pens were built at Saseno and airfields at the capital of Tirana. In 1951, Albania's tough mountain men tried to revolt, but Soviet-led troops squelched the uprising. After the revolt, General Enver Hoxa was deposed as leader of the National Liberation Movement, the sole party, and Mehemet Shehu, a Soviet favorite took over. He immediately instituted strict disciplinary measures against "enemies of the state," linking Albania closer to the Soviet Union in the "cold war."

Sunday School Holds Annual Yule Concert

MILLBROOK (ENS)—St. Andrew's United Church Sunday School held their annual hot meat pie supper and concert in the church hall on Monday evening. Mrs. Wilfred Fallis was in charge of the supper.

Two choruses and a playlet were staged by the Mission Band children under the direction of their leader, Mrs. Arnold Fallis.

The girls of Rev. A. M. Butler's class sang a group of carols under his direction. A film strip of "The Christmas Carol" was shown. George Ingham played two piano solos. There were several numbers by the Sunday school orchestra under the direction of Beverley Patton.

Mrs. Homer Ouellette's class contributed an action song by four little girls. Elinore Crowley gave a reading "The Story of an Unwise Man." The boys of Mac Ingham's class presented a dialogue "A Midnight Excursion." Mrs. Wilfred Fallis' class gave a dialogue "The Poets Cornered" by Lenore Ouellette, Laureen Guthrie, Joan Gilbert and Gloria Freelove, and a reading "Seein' Things" by Helen Ingham.

By request the Home and School nativity play under the direction of Mrs. B. B. Dawson was repeated. Ernest Powell took the part of the innkeeper replacing Harry Williams. Others in the cast were Wilfred Elson, Mrs. Bruce Ingham, Mrs. Herbert Bremner, Mrs. Charles Sanderson and Nancy Powell.

Sunday school superintendent, Herbert Patton, acted as chairman.

Girl Planning Wear 2 Rings

BUFFALO, N. Y. (AP) — Catherine E. Larson, 18, a blue-eyed blonde, will wear two engagement rings Thursday when she is married to Glen E. Andrews.

The one on her left hand was given her by Andrews, a 24-year-old veteran of Korea and Heartbreak ridge.

Bob Heath was killed on Heartbreak ridge. The day he died—Sept. 27, 1951 — one of the four stones from the ring he gave Catherine was lost.

"I'll never want the ring repaired," Catherine told a reporter Tuesday night, "because the stone fell out the day of Bob's death. I want to wear the ring the same as it looked that day."

Return Trustee For 2nd Term On Smith Board

BRIDGENORTH (ENS) — Ray Harding was re-elected Tuesday night for his second three-year term as a trustee of the school board of SS 5, Smith township, at the annual meeting held at the school in Bridgenorth.

Mr. Harding will continue in his duties as secretary-treasurer. Other board members are Karl Blewett, chairman, and Don McKay.

Mr. Blewett discussed the new accident insurance policy which covers any school child hurt on school property during school hours, or under teacher's supervision elsewhere. The small representation of ratepayers present welcomed this policy.

The chairman also mentioned that a census of pre-school children would be taken during the year to determine the future school accommodation needs of the area. In 1953, 20 to 25 children would start in the beginner's class, he said.

At Christmastime, 106 children were enrolled in the school, down from the peak of 117.

Reviewing the work of the board during the past year, Mr. Blewett spoke of the venetian blinds installed in the new school, insulating of the old school's ceiling, fireproofing of the furnace door, purchase of new playground equipment.

For the future, a drinking fountain would be installed in the old school as well as a telephone, and plans were still in order for an emergency exit to be added at the new school. Motions were made that toilet facilities be installed at the old school and that fire drill be held twice a week for three months.

Ratepayers asked if it would be compulsory to add a kindergarten to handle the overflow of young pupils. The board answered that it was not necessary or compulsory in a rural school.

George Easton acted as chairman and W. G. Ray was acting secretary.

Georges Lemay Turned Back At U.S. Border

MONTREAL (CP) — Georges Lemay, Montreal real estate man who made front-page news when his wife disappeared in the Florida Keys a year ago, is back in the news again today.

Lemay, who left Tuesday by automobile for Florida, said he was turned back at the border by United States immigration officials. He said he couldn't understand why as he had sufficient funds, birth certificate and other identification papers.

At Rouses Point, N.Y., a U.S. immigration official said Lemay was turned back because he lacked necessary travel documents.

After being turned back, he showed newspaper men a document signed by Jesse E. Walker, U.S. immigration official at Champlain, N.Y., saying he had been refused entry and indicating the matter could be reopened through a hearing.

He said it was the second day in a row he had been refused entry.

REFUSAL ROUTINE

At Rouses Point, Eugene Lincourt, officer in charge of the immigration office, said the refusal was routine.

Lincourt said he understood Lemay's travel documents were not in order and that he had been referred back to the U.S. immigration office in Montreal to obtain correct papers.

Lemay said recently he would return to Florida when James O. Barker, a deputy sheriff of Monroe county, was no longer in office. Barker, who investigated Mrs. Lemay's disappearance, was shot and killed by his son last Friday.

Lemay then said he would return to "clear up certain aspects of the case."

On his return here after being refused entry, he said:

"Now, I won't go by myself and if I do go all expenses will have to be paid. But I don't think any officials in Monroe county or anywhere else want to see me. If they did, I wouldn't have been stopped at the border.

Driving is a privilege — Not a right. Last year more than 16,000 drivers lost this privilege because they violated laws designed for the protection of all citizens.

What Constitutes A SAFE DRIVER

No matter what types of tests you may have passed in order to drive your car — are YOU really a SAFE DRIVER? Do you drive your car day in and day out passing the vital tests of conscientiousness . . . carefulness and alertness? Do you keep your mind strictly on the business of driving safely? Do you extend courtesies of the road to fellow motorists? Do you ALWAYS keep your car in perfect mechanical condition? Do you give proper hand signals? Do you observe the traffic signals without cheating? Do you drive without excessive speed. IF YOU DO — then you may count yourself as a "good" driver . . . fully aware of the responsibilities of SAFE DRIVING!

Don't be blind to these facts!

Your Driver's License and Motor Vehicle Permit will be suspended if you are convicted of any offence under the Highway Traffic Act, if the magistrate orders suspension of your driver's license and/or motor vehicle permit or if you fail to satisfy a judgment recovered against you for damages arising out of a motor vehicle accident. Mercurys Subdue Indians Take Over 1-Point Lead

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Stratford Indians and Owen Sound Mercurys are turning the Ontario Hockey Association Senior A series into a two-team race.

The lead changed hands for the third time in four days Tuesday night as the Mercurys downed Stratford 7-4 and took a one-point margin. Kitchener-Waterloo Dutchmen are third with 31 points, eight behind Stratford.

The Mercurys have had little trouble with the Indians all season. In five meetings, the Owen Sound team has scored three wins and a tie. The Stratford victory was a 5-4 affair in Stratford. Owen Sound bounced the Indians 7-3, 7-6 and 14-6.

BIGGEST TURNOUT

The biggest turnout of the season, a crowd of 2,310, watched the game in Owen Sound Tuesday night.

Harry Kazarian scored twice for the winners. Other goals were by Bill Allum, Tommy Burlington, Jack Ingoldsby, Jerry Reid and Andy Grant, Mickey Roth tallied twice for Stratford. Herve Dejordy and George Aitken each scored once.

On Friday night, Stratford travels to Brantford, Hamilton is at Chatham and Kitchener is at Sarnia. There are no games tonight.

Flyers Bounce Cleveland In 4-2 Triumph

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

The two top teams in the American Hockey League flopped Tuesday night. St. Louis Flyers defeated the slumping Cleveland Barons 4-2 and Providence Reds routed Hershey Bears 4-3 in overtime.

Cleveland and Hershey are tied for first place. Providence and St. Louis are fifth and sixth, respectively, in the seven-team loop.

At Cleveland, the Flyers scored two goals in 31 seconds late in the final period. It was the Barons' fifth straight game without a victory.

Harry Taylor gave St. Louis the leader in the first and Guyle Fielder made it 2-0 in the second. The Barons fought back in the third to tie the score on goals by Ike Hildebrand and Steve Wochy, but with less than three minutes to go, Ken Hayden and Bert Hershfeld exploded the deciding tallies past goalie John Bower.

GIVES REDS VICTORY

Trailing 3-1 with less than three minutes of regular time remaining, the Bears came back to force overtime.

It was the Reds' fifth straight win and the second straight game in which Toppazzini fired the deciding goal.

Hershey scorers were George Sullivan, Joe Schertzl and Ray Gariepy. Providence's other goalgetters were Johnny Denis, Ed Kryzanowski and Ray Powell.

Labor Stresses Willingness To Co-operate

OTTAWA (CP)—Organized labor's willingness to co-operate with other elements for the general good was a common note in year-end messages released Tuesday by the heads of Canada's two biggest labor congresses.

The statements were issued by Percy R. Bengough, president of the 525,000-member Trades and Labor Congress of canada, and A. R. Mosher, president of the 370,000 member Canadian Congress of Labor.

"Organized labor," said Mr. Bengough, "will be only too pleased to co-operate with industry in maintaining and improving production during 1953. We desire to co-operate with our various governments in establishing social security including health insurance, as this is the only possible way that better and happier lives can be enjoyed by all of the people."

President Mosher said the labor movement "takes very seriously its obligations as well as its right." It was making progress in various activities aimed at "promoting the finest type of citizenship and advancing the general welfare."

Turkey Prices Vary Greatly

TORONTO (CP)—Turkey prices are varying a great deal in Ontario through the holiday season, with farmers in Grenville county showing disappointment with low prices received, the department of agriculture said Tuesday in its weekly crop report.

Turkey prices in Grey county varied from 38 to 60 cents a pound and Cochrane south reports the birds there selling at prices about 10 cents a pound lower than last year. All Christmas turkeys were sold, however.

In Huron county farmers have used the open weather to bring all outside work up-to-date. One farmer was even noticed laying tile last week.

Car, Train Collide Renfrew Couple Killed

RENFREW (CP)—Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Mason of Renfrew were killed early today when their car collided with a passenger train at a level crossing three miles west of here.

The train was travelling from Montreal bound for Sudbury.

Mr. and Mrs. Mason, who celebrated their 25th wedding anniversary only this month, had left a party at the home of friends a short distance from the scene of the accident only a few minutes before. Heavy frosting on the car's windows was given as a possible reason why the Masons did not see the approaching train.

Store Explosion Takes 6 Lives

CHICAGO (AP) — Three persons died and three others were believed burned to death in a fire Monday which destroyed a furniture store and warehouse. An explosion preceded the spectacular blaze.

Firemen found the bodies of two men and a woman in the smoldering ruins of the four-storey building. They were tentatively identified as company employees.

Firemen said another employee and two unidentified women customers were reported seen in the basement at the time of the explosion and presumably were trapped by flames.

TCA Carried 1,125,000 Passengers

Canada's steadily expanding economy in 1952 was reflected in the record achievements of Trans-Canada Air Lines in the field of air transportation, G. R. McGregor said today. The Company again exceeded previous peaks of performance, both in passengers and commodities carried and, in spite of increased operating costs, will once again present a profitable financial statement at the end of its fiscal year.

Approximately 1,125,000 passengers flew on TCA's North American and International routes, an increase of 20 per cent over the 1951 totals, and used 71 per cent of the airline's year-round capacity. Aircargo and air express volume increased by 27 per cent to 6,850,000 ton miles and "all up" mail reached a total of 4,850,000 ton miles, a 9 per cent increase over 1951.

Highlighting North Atlantic operations was the introduction on May 1 of a low fare service that offered a saving of almost $200 on a round-trip ticket between Montreal and London. There was evidence that this greatly widened the airline's market for overseas travel and during the summer months the North Atlantic load factor rose to 85 per cent.

Steps were taken by the airline, Mr. McGregor said, to ensure that its carrying capacity would meet the increasing demand by the travelling public. Three additional North Star aircraft were purchased, bringing the fleet total to 23 North Stars and 27 Douglas DC-3s. Thanks to its high maintenance standards, the Company was able to secure better than 10 hours daily utilization of the four-engined aircraft during peak traffic periods. As a result of these factors, it was possible for TCA to fly 27,300,000 revenue miles in 1952, an increase of 13 per cent over the previous year.

Throughout the year, flight frequencies tended to increase over comparative months in 1951. The winter schedule, which became effective on November 1st, provided the travelling public with 8 per cent more service than a year previously and passenger traffic during that period remained at an unusually high level on the domestic system. This was due in no small measure to the operational regularity maintained by the Company and it might be noted that TCA stands second to no other airline in the field of on-time operations.

On the North Atlantic, the Company operated daily flights throughout the year with the exception of November and December when five flights weekly are scheduled.

TCA's growing traffic was achieved with only minor changes to the route pattern. Service inaugurations for the year were confined to the extension of the North Atlantic route to include Dusseldorf, Germany, and the addition of Fredericton, N.B. to the domestic pattern. Goose Bay, which had previously been served only by trans-Atlantic flights, was also included in the domestic route pattern on a once-weekly flight basis.

PURCHASE 15 BRITISH PLANES

With Company surveys indicating a continuing growth of air travel, TCA took steps in 1952 to provide for its future equipment requirements. An order was placed for 15 British-built Vickers Viscount aircraft, embodying the principle of turbo-propeller power. These new aircraft, to be used on the Company's inter-city routes, will be the first of their type in North America. By combining vibrationless flight with an extremely low level of cabin noise, they will enable TCA to offer its customers the utmost in flying comfort.

Selection of the Viscount was made after a thorough investigation of all commercial aircraft now in production, and their purchase at a price of $11,500,000 was the largest single dollar order placed with a British firm since World War II.

Increased demand for international service will be met early in 1954 by the acquisition of eight Lockheed Super Constellations.

The Super Constellation is one of the largest and most luxurious aircraft in the world. It is sufficiently commodious to allow comfortable low-fare accommodation as well as lounge facilities and additional amenities for regular fare passengers.

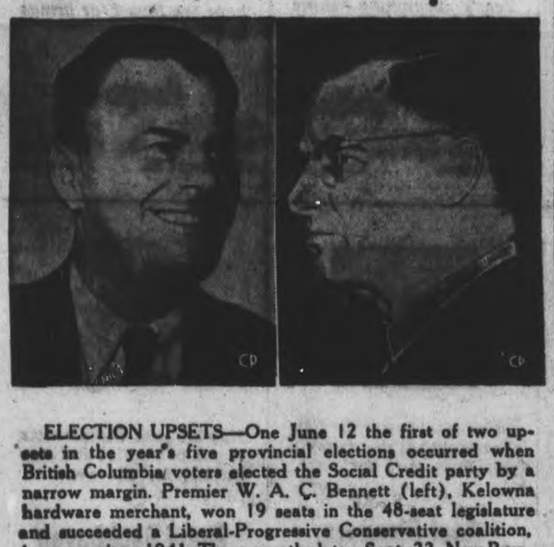
FOOT-AND-MOUTH—Canada's $2,000,000,000 livestock industry was struck a crippling blow Feb. 25 with the announcement of an outbreak of dreaded foot-and-mouth disease in southern Saskatchewan. Western cattle trade virtually came to a standstill. Export was stopped. Some 2,000 cattle were destroyed with compensation amounting to about $500,000 paid to Western Canada's farmers. Here an RCMP officer posts a quarantine sign on a farm near Regina. In August, it was announced Canada was cleared of the disease and in November the United States announced the ban on import of Canadian meat and livestock would be lifted next March 1.

GANG LEADER—Edwin Alonzo Boyd, 38-year-old leader of one of Canada's most notorious gangs of bank robbers, in March was the focus—with his gang—of an intensive manhunt following the shooting of Toronto detective Edmund Tong and for a series of bank robberies and an escape from Toronto's Don jail. Captured, Boyd and three gang members again escaped from Don Jail. On Sept. 15 he was behind bars once more and less than a month later two members of his gang —Steve Suchan and Leonard Jackson—were sentenced to be hanged for Tong's murder. Boyd got life imprisonment.

NATIVE GOVERNOR—On Jan. 24, Rt. Hon. Vincent Massey was appointed Canada's first native-born governor-general. Wealthy, cultured—his name for years has been synonymous with the arts—the successor to Lord Alexander brought to his new post a notable record of public service and intellectual attainment. He is shown greeting Prime Minister St. Laurent on the opening of the seventh session of Canada's 21st Parliament. One of the last appointments of King George VI, Governor-General Massey is the 56th in a line dating back to Champlain in 1608, and the 18th since Confederation. In 1925, when he was appointed Canadian Minister to the United States, it was the first diplomatic appointment of ministerial rank to be made by Canada.



ELECTION UPSETS—One June 12 the first of two upsets in the year's five provincial elections occurred when British Columbia voters elected the Social Credit party by a narrow margin. Premier W. A. C. Bennett (left), Kelowna hardware merchant, won 19 seats in the 48-seat legislature and succeeded a Liberal-Progressive Conservative coalition, in power since 1941. Three months later, Sept. 22, New Brunswick ousted a Liberal government in office 17 years and chose a Progressive Conservative administration headed by Premier Hugh John Flemming (right), 52-year-old lumber merchant. The PC's took 36 of the 52 seats. Premier T. C. Douglas and his CCF government were re-elected in Saskatchewan June 11 with 42 of the province's 53 seats. In Quebec on July 16, Premier Maurice L. Duplessis led his Union Nationale party to a repeat victory with 68 of the 92 seats. E. C. Manning was returned as premier of Alberta for the fourth time when the Social Credit party Aug. 5 won its fifth straight election since 1935, with 52 of the 61 seats.

B.C. DEVELOPMENT—1952 was a year of tremendous industrial expansion in British Columbia. At Kitimat, 450 miles north of Vancouver, an aluminum key was being cast near a wilderness treasure trove. There a $550,000,000 project was under construction by the Aluminum Company of Canada. Alcan says it will be the world's biggest smelter. Cable tramlines creaked up and down a mountain incline to supply the camps tunnelling through the mountains. Architects have drawn up blueprints for a model city at Kitimat, with everything planned in minute detail for a population of 46,500. It is to be a seaport and a railway terminus as well as a smelter site.

BIG OIL YEAR—In April it was announced the fast-growing oil industry had made Canada the British Commonwealth's leading oil producer for the first time. Canada's 1951 output of 6,500,000 tons topped Borneo—previous leader—which produced 5,000,000 tons. A $90,000,000 pipeline stretched like a great serpent from Edmonton to Superior, Wis. Other pipelines to the West Coast and east to Ontario and Quebec were under construction. A November survey showed 185 of the 947 geophysical crews hunting for oil and gas on the North American continent were working in Western Canada. Estimates of Canada's total oil reserves climbed from 72,000,000 in 1947 to a present-day guess of 1,700,000,000 barrels. Shown are manifolds—at the Interprovincial Pipe Line Company's pumping station at Edmonton—which control the flow of oil before it goes into the pipeline and a 1,126-mile trip to the head of the Great Lakes and eastern markets.

UN PRESIDENT—Oct. 14, a month after ending a year's chairmanship of the North Atlantic Council, Lester B. Pearson, Canada's external affairs minister, stepped into another top international post. He was named president of the United Nations General Assembly. In his UN position he immediately had to contend with the ramifications of the search for a Korean truce, the bitterness of the East-West split, the resignation of Trygve Lie and the suicide of Lie's chief lieutenant. He also had his hands full at home—his department, with new embassies in a number of countries, was expanding in important directions; and, at year's end, Parliament was in session.

(CP Photos)

RECORD GRAIN CROP — Most of Western Canada's record grain crop of 1,400,000 bushels was in by November and grain men opened full throttle on the biggest grain-moving rush of the season. An armada of freighters rushed millions of tons of wheat and other grains down the St. Lawrence river into marketing ports. Western farmers improvised granaries, ranging from spare bedrooms to an air force hangar, to store part of the remainder when grain elevators and regular granaries became choked. At some places thousands of bushels were piled in the open due to lack of storage space. Here is overflow grain on the Matador co-operative farm near Swift Current in southwestern Saskatchewan. Two of the farm's granaries (in background) hold 100,000 bushels.

LITTLE GIBRALTAR—In October, Canadian soldiers fought their toughest battle of the Korean War at Little Gibraltar Hill, with fewer than 100 facing 1,000 attacking Chinese. There were at least 66 casualties, including 14 dead and 13 missing. All but a handful of one company of the 1st Battalion, Royal Canadian Regiment, were hit. Three men from B. Company relax after the battle. Left to right are: Pte. Murray Deadder, Kentville, N.S.; Pte. John Lewis, Highland Village, Colchester, N.S., and Pte. Arthur MacDonald, Hampton Station, N.B. The Canadian unit defended a spur of the hill, directly under enemy observation from three sides. The regiment was knocked from the spur but regained its position despite tough Chinese opposition.

Douro Council School Boards To Be Contested

An election will be held January 5 in Douro Township for the three vacancies on the council and for the three vacancies on each of the two school boards.

Roland Tedford of RR 2, Indian River, was returned Monday as Reeve for his fourth consecutive term. And Loyola Moloney, Deputy-Reeve, was also returned by acclamation for his fourth consecutive term.

By 9 p.m. Tuesday night four candidates had qualified for the three seats on council. They were Bruce Dunford and Cletus Sullivan, both on the 1952 council, and John K. Ryan and Frank Condon.

Mr. Ryan was defeated in the contest for council last year. Mr. Condon is also a former candidate.

Fergus Moher, the third member of the 1952 council, did not qualify.

In School Area No. 1 four qualified for the three vacancies: Alphonsus Condon, Bernard Leahy, John Allen, and Joseph Sheehan. Frank Condon was nominated but chose to run for council instead.

Messrs. Allen and Sheehan served the 1951-1952 term along with Patrick Condon, who would not stand for election this year.

All five who were nominated qualified by deadline for the three vacancies on the board of School Area No. 2.

It is the first time there has been election for this board since it was first formed about six years ago. And this year sets another precedent: Mrs. Floyd Curtis is the first woman candidate to offer her services to the electorate.

Besides Mrs. Curtis the candidates are: Howard Quinn, Leonard Welch, Kenneth Kidd, and J. D. Nickle.

Hours for voting at the five polls in Douro are 9 a.m. to 7 p.m.

Asphodel Fills Twp. Offices

WESTWOOD (ENS) — There will be no election in Asphodel township this year.

By the nomination deadline Tuesday night, only Mrs. Jean Graham and Harold Fyfe had qualified as school trustees for the two vacancies on the school board.

Reeve James Humphries and councillors Bruce Graham, Max Scott, Walter Middlebrook and James Beamish were returned by acclamation at the annual nomination and ratepayers' meeting held in Westwood Monday.

Mr. Humphries will be beginning his tenth term as reeve.

Mrs. Graham is a newcomer to the school board, while Mr. Fyfe finished out the term of a trustee who resigned before his term was completed.

Three others nominated for school trustees, Bernard Heffernan, Stanley Andrews and one of the retiring trustees, Richard Coughlin, failed to qualify by the deadline at 9 p.m. Tuesday night.

VISITS YELLOWKNIFE—Kate Aitken, Canadian writer and radio commentator, finds that boys in the northern frontier towns have the same interests as boys in the cities —both like guns. When she stopped in Yellowknife, N.W.T., during a holiday season tour, she offered Albert Sickye, young Indian boy, a gift for Christmas. Albert chose the toy pistol as his father looked on with approval.

Two Contest Reeveship Of Ennismore

Two veterans of Ennismore municipal politics will contest the reeveship on January 5. They are James Gifford, who has received acclamations for 19 consecutive years, and John Harrington, 12 years a councillor.

Reeve Gifford's continuous term of office, unopposed, is a Peterborough County record. He was warden of the county in 1936 and has been in municipal politics a total of 22 years.

The four councillors were returned by acclamation. Thomas Harrington, who served for the last 12 years, did not qualify. The vacancies caused by both Harringtons leaving the contest for council have been filled by Herbert Moloney, a former member who was defeated last year, and Harry Long, also a former councillor.

Mr. Cavanaugh has completed three years and Mr. Jolliffe, one year.

Each school section will hold its own election.

The election day will be January 5, polling hours 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. Ennismore Village Hall and O'Reilly's School will be the two polling stations.

Born in Dummer township, he was a son of the late William McMillan and Margaret Ferguson. He retired several years ago and moved to Norwood to live.

Educated at SS 2, Dummer, he was a member of Norwood United Church and a steward of the church until illness kept him from his duties.

Surviving are his widow, the former Mary McGee, three children, Mrs. G. H. Edmonson (Evelyn) of Toronto, Alfred, R.R. 1, Norwood, and Lyle, R.R. 4, Allliston. One sister survives, Mrs. George Hamlin (Ella) of Norwood.

Funeral service will be conducted at 2 p.m. Friday at his home by the Rev. H. K. Wright. Burial will be in Norwood cemetery.

Many Pheasants

ST. THOMAS, Ont. (CP)—The 1952 pheasant shoot at Pelee Island in Lake Erie yielded about 6,900 cocks and 1,500 hens.

Young's Point Man Honored At Gathering

SELWYN (ENS)—The home of Mr. and Mrs. Jimmy Jones at Young's Point was the scene of a happy gathering of young people Saturday evening, when they gathered to honor Donald Nicholson who is leaving Young's Point on Jan. 6 to join the Royal Canadian Mounted Police.

The evening was pleasantly spent in dancing and sing-songs with Mr. Jones providing the music.

On behalf of the gathering Mr. Jones presented the guest of honor with a handsome leather writing case, and pen and pencil set, each engraved with his initials and the RCMP insignia.

Refreshments were served by Mrs. Jones, Master Gary Jones and Miss Marilyn Jones. Those present included: Misses Joan Monks, Mary Collins, Cherie Kingdon, Phyliss Gray, Faye Darling, Joan Northey, Helen Dunford, and Floyd Freeburn, Donald Nicholson, John Darling, Doug Heard, Bob Evans, Don Nelson, Larry Godfrey, Cameron Freeburn, and Mr. and Mrs. Jimmy Johnson.

Six Candidates Seek Seats On Smith Council

Six candidates are seeking the three vacancies on the Smith Township council. The election will be January 5.

Reeve Gordon Fitzgerald was returned for his second consecutive year when he was acclaimed at the nomination meeting Monday afternoon. Robert McAdam was acclaimed Deputy-Reeve, also for the second consecutive year.

The two trustees—Edison Kimball and W. C. Mann—were acclaimed to the 1953 school board. Mr. Kimball is beginning his first term.

The six candidates for council include last year's members — Howard Beavis, Allan B. Mann, and Sidney Brown. Of the other three, Charles Ireland was defeated in his bid last year, and Fred Tuggey and Newton P. Young are newcomers to Smith politics.

Mr. Tuggey is a Peterborough resident who owns a summer home on Lovesick Lake, and he says he is campaigning to get a better deal for the summer cottagers. He was defeated when he ran for city council this year in Peterborough, but he previously served on city councils.

The polling stations will be open 9 a.m. to 7 p.m. on election day.

Hail Insurance

REGINA (CP)—A. S. Simpson, secretary of the Canadian Hail Underwriters' Association, reports the amount of hail insurance written in Western Canada this year was the largest since the peak year of 1928.

Acclamation Fills Offices For Norwood

NORWOOD (ENS)—No election will be held in Norwood next Monday. All the candidates were elected by acclamation.

Reeve Rork Ferguson was acclaimed Monday night after Rod Webb and Gordon Parker both declined nominations for reeveship. They accepted nominations for the council which was acclaimed to include Mr. Webb, Mr. Parker, John Nixon and Ivan Begg.

The three 1952 school trustees, Gordon Stackhouse, Jack Stewart and H. W. Hudson indicated Monday night that they would run again this year. Wilfred Brown, a newcomer, was nominated. But before 9 p.m. Tuesday Mr. Stackhouse stepped out and allowed Mr. Brown to take his place. Therefore there will be no election for school trustees.

The Utilities Commission was also acclaimed and will consist of Kenneth Pakenham and Walter Bitten.

Prepared To Sell International Tunnel

DETROIT (CP)—The Detroit and Canada Tunnel Corporation is prepared to sell the 22-year-old international tunnel which runs under the Detroit river and connects Detroit and Windsor, Ont., for $18,000,000, the company announced Tuesday.

Under the company's charter, Detroit and Windsor have the right to purchase the property at the construction cost of $15,000,000 with certain adjustments.

STATUTORY MEETING

The statutory meeting of the 1953 Peterborough county council will be Jan. 20, the third Tuesday of the new year. First item on the agenda at that time will be the election of a warden. Later the standing committees will be elected.

SEEK BARGAINING RIGHT

United Steelworkers of America (CIO-CCL) applied for certification as bargaining agent for the employees of the Bethlehem iron Mines at Marmora. The union's rival, International Union of Mine, Mill and Smelter Workers (Ind.), previously lost a bid to win the Marmora employees in a vote.

APPOINT NEW FIRE CHIEF

Noble Hicks, fire chief of the Smith Township Suburban Fire Department, resigned Tuesday night in favor of Lockie Longhurst who has been his assistant. The part-time firemen are now under city not Smith Township jurisdiction. The agreement is on a month-to-month basis and will likely remain until the city can hire and train full-time firemen to look after the north end of the city, particularly the newly-annexed portion. Mr. Longhurst was available 24 hours a day and would be better suited to be in charge.

MOST PETERBOROUGH FAMILIES boast a pet. In most cases it's just a mongrel dog or cat, but there are a number of usual pets such as monkeys, hamsters and parrots. William Cole, 587 Downie St., (upper left) and his blond spaniel, Honey, are great pals. For youngsters a puppy or a cat seem most popular. Franie-Jane Ball, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. A. H. Ball, 563 Weller St. (upper right), will agree that Sunshine Shani-Pooh, her Siamese cat, is a good pet. One of the more unusual pets is a monkey, but they're usually kept in cages. Jo-Jo, owned by Dorothea Chapman of Millbrook (lower right), has the run of the house until he starts stealing eggs.—

Fire Fighters Disappointed In Arbitration Award; Board Split On Decision

Revised Schedule Will Give Increases Of $50 To All Members of Department, First Class Firemen To Get $2,850 a Year

Members of Peterborough Fire Fighters' Association who had a chance to read overnight the award of the board of arbitration on their 1952 working agreement with the city council, expressed disappointment that the wage increase across the board was only $50. The report was signed by Judge W. S. Lane of Picton, and N. L. Matthews, QC, Toronto, nominee of the municipality. C. L. Dubin, QC, Toronto, who was nominated by the firemen as the third member of the board, dissented from the award, "taking the position that a basic wage should have been set and the cost of living bonus eliminated."

At the sitting of the board of arbitration here September 19, the city was represented by T. J. Carley, QC, as counsel, and the Fire Fighters' Local, No. 519, by Reg Swansborough, of Hamilton.

"The least we expected was something better than an increase of $50," said Harry Nokes, president, "and the feeling of disappointment is made a little heavier by the reports during the last week or so of awards to the men of some other departments.

"For instance, the men in Hamilton got a lump sum increase of $242, and three others are Leaside, Scarborough and East York. Our salary for first class firemen was just about at their levels, but awards they have received bring them up around $3,500-$3,700, as compared with ours of $2,850."

REVISED SCHEDULE

The revised schedule of the Peterborough Department, with the $50 added, is set out as follows in the award:

1st Assistant Chief, $3,550; 2nd Assistant Chief, $3,350; captains, $3,050; electricians, $3,050; mechanics, $3,050; first class firemen, $2,850; second class firemen, $2,750; third class firemen, $2,625; fourth class firemen, $2,500.

The concluding clause was: "In setting the above wage schedules, we are in no way intending to disturb the present cost of living bonus which is being paid to the personnel of the department. Our intention is that cost of living bonus shall continue on the present basis, and on the basis of the present calculations. We, therefore, make our award accordingly. Mr. Dubin dissents with this report, and takes the position that a basic wage should have been set, and the cost of living bonus eliminated."

The award is signed by Judge Lane and Mr. Matthews but not by Mr. Dubin.

Mr. Dubin's contention expressed the request of the Fire Fighters that their cost of living be incorporated in basic salary. It was mainly on that point that council and the Local failed to agree early in the year.

MEANT $168 INCREASE

On the question of salaries and particularly their incorporation of the cost of living bonus, the award mentioned the fact that for first class firemen this request would involve $168 over the existing gross pay and would range both upward and downward for the other ranks.

"In addition, it is requested that the men be paid for their acting rank by putting in a clause in the following wording: 'When a member is required to act in the capacity of an officer for any reason, he shall receive pay for the rank in which he is acting.'

"The whole question of wage parity between the firemen and the police was canvassed, and it appears that roughly there is parity between them, although the police work a much shorter work week.

"It is urged upon us in this connection that, since the arbitration in 1950 when the question of parity between the two forces was in issue, the hours of the policemen have been reduced from 48 to 44, and that the firemen's hours have been reduced from 56. It is quite true that in the arbitration award of 1950, it was said that the differential in hours from 56 to 48 was a factor in setting the wage at that time.

"It is also true that differential has been increased in favor of the police without a corresponding change in wage rates, but if we were to accede to this as the sole basis for wage change, it would mean that, if the Peterborough police got an unwarranted reduction in hours, of necessity the firemens' rate would have to go up to compensate for it.

"This, to me, is rather fallacious reasoning, and while we must bear it in mind as a factor, I don't think it is any controlling factor by any stretch of the imagination. We think there must be parity of annual pay between any police force and any fire fighters' force in any municipality, but we are not prepared to tie that parity on

H. Ploughman Elected Head Of Game Assoc.

Hugh Ploughman was elected new president of the Peterborough Fish and Game Protective Association at the annual election of officers on Monday evening. He replaces Jack O'Neill who was president for the past season.

Under Mr. Ploughman are the following new officers: Norman Bradley, first vice-president; Stan Purser, second vice-president; Glen Daniels, secretary; Frank Adam, treasurer.

New executive members are Harry Calberry, Ken Payne, Gil Downer, Geo. Walton, Jim Weyer, Cam Rowatt, Howard Steen, Bud Fisher, Bert Carter, and Fred Goodfellow, together with Charles Kingan, were voted honorary presidents of the association.

Several changes were made in the club's constitution and it will be a rule this season to have the aims of the association read to each new member upon enrolment. Broad plans for the coming season will be chiefly to sponsor more junior club work and to have the club engage in more conversation programs than they have until now.

A vote to change the name of the club to the Peterborough Conservation Club was ruled out. The old name will be retained.

A fair number of members were in attendance at the meeting and they feel under the leadership of conservation - conscious Hugh Ploughman, past chairman of Zone 5, Ontario Federation of Anglers and Hunters, that their club will benefit greatly from his broad experience.

City's Acreage Increases Almost One-Third With Smith Annexation

Peterborough enters a new year tomorrow bigger by 1,256 acres. The Smith township annexation, first in four years, brings the city's total acreage to 5,229.65. The annexation becomes official New Year's Day. On Dec. 22, the Municipal Board announced its approval of the city's scheme to take in the large chunk of the township to the north. Last annexation was in 1948, when 290.6 acres were taken from North Monaghan township. By this single step of annexation tomorrow, the city will also grow by 960 people, from 220 families.

The step has been a contentious one much of the way. Ratepayers in Smith township opposed the city's plan, arguing that there was land within the city suitable for housing development. Evidence was heard by the two-man board, and judgment was given a week ago Monday.

The township group argued that it was "too much and too soon" through their counsel Ralph Standish.

Five hundred and sixteen acres of choice farmland became city property under the Land Assembly scheme. Cost of this purchase was $211,000.

Value of the land to be taken in is set by William Telford, Smith township assessor, at about $400,000. This, of course, includes the land beyond the 516 acres bought under the Land Assembly Scheme.

First annexation undertaken by the city amounted to 21 acres. This came from North Monaghan in 1929. It was 12 years before any more land was annexed, and in 1941, 18 acres were lopped off Smith township. Smith lost another 20 acres in 1943 and 29 acres in 1947.

In two successive years, 1945 and 1946, North Monaghan lost a total of 768.35 acres—683.5 acres in 1945 and 85 the next year. Then, in 1948, 290.6 more acres came from North Monaghan.

Another parcel is the triangular-shaped land east of the Land Assembly area, running from Langton St. where it meets with the Otonabee River north to a point 150 feet north of Concession Rd. (It is bisected by Highway 28 and includes the filtration plant.)

The western section annexed was also at the request of Smith township who felt they could not properly service this area. It is south-west of the Land Assembly area and follows the city boundary as follows: Wolsley St. west on Highway 7 to Donegal; north on Bellevue to Fairbairn St.; north on Fairbairn to Highland Rd.; then west on Highland to West Communication to a point 150 feet north of Lee St.; east about 2,000 feet; south, half way to Highland Rd. and east to a point 250 feet west of Highway 7.

To avoid mixups with the township the city annexed 250 feet west of the Highway; 150 west of the extension of Hilliard St., and 150 feet of the Concession Road.

Jones Acclaimed Hastings Reeve

HASTINGS (ENS) — A new reeve of Hastings village, J. R. Jones, was acclaimed Monday night at the nomination meeting. Six were nominated for council, but only four qualified, and they were acclaimed as well.

Following is the 1952 council: W. A. Thomas, Walter Peck, Joseph Lynch and Francis Kennedy. Mr. Kennedy is a former councillor, but did not sit on the 1952 council. The other three are all 1952 councillors.

Mr. Jones replaces C. S. Howse, reeve during 1952 and a veteran of many years of municipal affairs.

M. A. O'Shea was acclaimed hydro commissioner.

Two who were nominated but did not qualify for council were A. Orr, former reeve and councillor, and Bruce Scott.

The new reeve has served two years on the council, and is a veteran of the RCAF. Formerly a resident of Peterborough, he and his brother Ernest operate the Royal Hotel in Hastings. His father, the late E. W. Jones, was well known in district standard bred circles.

New Section Of City To Get Smith Fire Protection

A temporary agreement between the city and the volunteers of what used to be the Smith Township Suburban Fire Department was reached Tuesday night. A revised "fire area" to be looked after by the volunteers assures fire protection for the newly-annexed area belonging to the city and for a large part of the township lying close to the city boundaries.

Beginning Jan. 1 the suburban fire department, consisting of Fire Chief Lockie Longhurst and a force of nine men, will come under the orders of Peterborough's new fire chief, Ralph Leonard. A maximum of five men will answer any call.

Under the terms of a verbal agreement reached Tuesday night with the city's fire, water and light committee the part-time firemen will get $5 for the first hour when called out on a fire and $2.50 for each extra hour or fraction of an hour. They will get $2 an hour for practising.

The agreement is on a month-to-month basis and may be terminated after a month's notice by either the members of the suburban fire department or the city.

TAKE TIME

"It will take some months to hire and train extra city firemen to look after the enlarged area caused by annexation," Mayor Hugh Waddell explained. "Yet the city is faced with the immediate responsibility of providing fire protection for this area."

Mayor Waddell said that the suburban area department were already a trained group and had the mobile equipment most suitable for fighting fires in rural areas.

(The suburban area department has a pumper truck that transports 500 gallons to a fire. The city force is most effective where there are hydrants; its pumper's top capacity is 134 gallons.)

The suburban area department fire station is on Bellevue Street near the junction with the Chemong Road, and it is within the 1,256 acres that were annexed by the city. So the problem facing township and city officials was how this would affect fire protection.

AGREEMENTS SIGNED

Formerly Smith Township was divided into two fire areas— one station being the suburban department, the one now annexed, and the other in Bridgenorth. Agreements were signed with Smith residents for a 10-year period guaranteeing fire protection.

For only $6 a year, paid for 10 years, a farmer could have fire protection. And, according to a Smith by-law, anybody agreeing to pay $150 could call the depart-

It's New Years

Hogmanay Overshadows Christmas For All Scots

Hoot mon; it's Hogmanay! Hae a nip frae the Wassail Bowl, an' a Happy New Year tae ye, lad!

In the Highlands of Auld Scotland and in the homes of sons and daughters of the Land o' the Heather all over the world, the celebration of Hogmanay at New Year's is a bigger event than Christmas.

Like the origin of the word itself, the reason why the Scots regard Hogmanay as the most important holiday of the year, is shrouded in the mists of antiquity.

In Scotland and in France, New Year's is the big holiday of the year. Christmas is regarded more as a religious festival.

Hogmanay and the evening before are often called the daft or crazy days and the description fits, because this is the one time of the year the dour Scots throw sobriety (no reference to alcohol of course) overboard and really have themselves a time.

VAGUE BEGINNING

Encyclopedias and reference books are vague as to how and why Hogmanay became the traditional time for exchanging gifts and greetings, feasting and toasting to the good fortune of one's friends. However, it is generally believed that both the custom and the name came from France.

Just being King of the French province of Normandy bored William the Conqueror so he decided to cruise across the English Channel and bring the English under his sway. Until then, December 25 was regarded as New Year's Day. William was crowned King of England on January 1 and after his coronation it was ordered that the year was to begin with the first of January.

England fell in line with other Christian countries shortly after who started their year on March 25, and did not change over to the Gregorian calendar until 1752 which restored January 1 as the beginning of the year. December 25 had become an established religious festival commemorating the birth of Christ by the fifth century.

January 1 assumed a special significance as the eighth day after Christmas but from the earliest times, there was a good deal more hilarity connected with the celebration of New Years than Christmas.

As to the origins of the word Hogmanay, authorities differ. One version has it derived from the French "au qui menez" referring to the custom of the ancient Druids who went into the forest January 1 to offer up sacrifices to their pagan gods, then gathered mistletoe and distributed it among the people.

PLEASANT CUSTOM

This probably explains how that very pleasant not to say exciting feature of kissing under the mistletoe came about.

Tradition has it that any girl caught on the streets in Scotland on the eve of Hogmanay can be kissed whether or not she has an escort along.

Just how the escorts regard this custom is not stated in the reference books.

Another feature of Hogmanay is the custom of "firrst footin". As a prelude to a "firrst footin" expedition, the head of the house brews a kettle of potent brew known as a "hot pint" or Wassail Bowl.

Can Find Nothing Decrepit About Departing Year 1952

By FORBES RHUDE
Canadian Press Business Editor

The traditional picture showing the departing year as a decrepit old man doesn't apply to 1952—at least in an economic sense.

For 1952, after an uncertain youth, is striding out in the full strength of manhood and setting a pace which young 1953 will do well to follow.

Indeed, if 1953 is to find a place among the shining years, it will be because it will have consolidated and developed the things which 1952 started.

Economically speaking, 1952 produced what the Bank of Nova Scotia in its current monthly review calls "prosperity without inflation," and this theme runs through many year-end reviews.

PRICES STEADY

The phrase means, in brief, that production and incomes have increased, but prices haven't. Here are some quotes from the bank's review:

"Canada's gross national product is likely to be quite close to $23,000,000,000, some $1,500,000,000 larger than in 951. Much of this increase reflects a larger physical volume of production.

"There has been some increase in industrial output, particularly related to defence and to development of resource industries. The most striking increase in production, however, was in the grain crops of the Western plains. . .

"The most encouraging feature of the year was the fact that business, and the consumer goods industries in particular, improved significantly during the year. Unlike 1951, which started at a high level and ended with evident slackness, 1952 began rather disappointingly and is ending very favorably. . ."

The review sums up:

"The truth is that economic conditions at the close of 1952 stand comparison with any past period. Most of the slackness in the economy has been taken up and employment is again at a high level. .

NO INFLATION

"Moreover, the return to 'full employment' has on this occasion occurred without any apparent renewal of inflation. Indeed, the cost-of-living index is a few per cent lower at present than it was last spring or than it was at the corresponding date a year ago.

"In short, incomes have increased. . .and the value of money has not depreciated. The result is that real income has risen significantly over the year."

If one were to find a cause for worry, perhaps it is in the fact that every one is so agreed that the present situation is so encouraging. It is unlikely that either the Canadian or any other economy has as yet worked out the way to perpetual prosperity. Other years, probably near years, will have to develop new approaches.

Two Children Regain Sight

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP)—Two children cried with delight Tuesday because they could see.

They looked with wonder at their Christmas toys.

They told doctors, who removed bandages, that they could see trees outside the hospital windows.

The children, Ignacio Rodelo, 13, and his sister, Emma, 12, of Tecate, Mex., had been almost totally blind since birth.

They were operated on for removal of cataracts, Christmas Eve at San Diego's Mercy Hospital.

Many Jobless On Coast

PRINCE RUPERT, B.C. (CP)—Not a single vacancy for male employment was registered at the Prince Rupert office of the Unemployment Insurance Commission Tuesday as officials faced the greatest number of out-of-work benefit claimants in several years as a result of a shutdown this season of the herring industry. The office counted 1,200 applicants for work and 1,069 claimants for unemployment insurance during the week ending Dec. 24.

Canada Loses Great Friend In Clark Death

OTTAWA (CP)—Cliff Clark, short, white-haired public servant, passed from the scene of great economic triumph to his final resting place Tuesday. Canada's economic strength was his monument.

The wheels of government ceased turning momentarily as a vast array of departmental officials, headed by Prime Minister St. Laurent and the cabinet, paused to pay him tribute.

Cabinet ministers mingled with clerks and university professors, bank executives, with railway officials, filling Chalmers United Church to overflowing in memory of the 63-year-old deputy finance minister.

With bowed heads they paid tribute to the one-time Queen's University professor who for 20 years as deputy minister helped steer Canada through economic perils to a strong and forward world position.

His body was taken to his beloved Kingston for burial at historic Cataraqui Cemetery.

LOSE GREAT FRIEND

"We have lost a great friend," one deputy minister was heard to comment to another. "He was an incredible man; no one really knew his true worth," another was heard to say.

In the crowded church, an old friend, the Rev. A. M. Laverty, Queen's chaplain, put into words the thoughts that may have passed through the minds of many who mourned the little man with the twinkling blue eyes and the brilliant brain.

"A perfectionist, he knew how intractable figures and people could be. A wise man, steady and sound, he was discerning and daring. Unusually perceptive, he was patient with those who moved at a slower pace."

Mr. Laverty, a close friend of the Clark family, pictured him as fulfilling "to a remarkable degree" Winston Churchill's requirement for a trusted adviser—"courage and ability, experience under fire, sound preparation."

Young Bridegroom Blows Himself Up

BOISE, Idaho (AP)—A coroner said Leonard Edge, 32, of Baker, Ore., placed a stick of dynamite under his pillow in a hotel room Tuesday and committed suicide by blowing himself up.

Edge had been honeymooning with his bride of one day, Opal Parker, also of Baker.

Coroner Clyde Summers said Edge put a stick of dynamite under his pillow and detonated it with a blasting cap, wires and a flashlight battery. Summers said Edge left notes which indicated he was despondent.

Mrs. Edge had returned to Baker, Summers said, before her husband committed suicide.

UN In Miniature In Toronto Home

TORONTO (CP)—It's like a United Nations assembly in miniature at the suburban home of Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Woodbury.

The Woodburys have taken seven children, representing four races, to bring up as their own.

The children are Joanne, 7, half Indian; Patsy, 6, Chinese; John, 6, part Chinese; Dennis, 5, part Indian; Norman, 7, white; and Gary, 3, and Michael, 4, both Negro.

Give Hospital Board January 5 Deadline

TORONTO (CP)—Attorney-General Porter said Tuesday he is giving officials at East Windsor Hospital until Jan. 5 to put into effect recommendations of the recent royal commission report on the hospital's administration.

He said he cannot understand why the hospital board has taken so long to act on his letter of Dec. 20 which suggested a form of reorganization for the board. The reorganized board would not include members of the present one.

Obituary

MRS. ANNIE WILKINS

MARMORA (ENS)—The death occurred suddenly in Toronto on Monday morning of Mrs. Annie Maud Wilkins (nee Fulford), widow of the late Dr. William H. Wilkins. A few years ago she and her husband resided temporarily for a few months at St. Paul's rectory with their daughter, Mrs. J. M. Brownlie and Canon Brownlie. In that period they came to know many parishioners. Last summer she revisited the village and renewed several acquaintances. She is survived by six step-daughters, Mrs. Angus Campbell (Marjorie), Toronto; Mrs. J. M. Brownlie (Nora), Marmora; Mrs. R. B. Winlo (Sylvia), Toronto; Mrs. J. G. Cooper (Dorothy), Swift Current, Sask.; Mrs. Leslie Allen (Freda), Lethbridge, Alta. and Mrs. George Grant (Grace), Toronto.

The funeral service, held in the Church of the Transfiguration, Toronto, on Tuesday afternoon, was followed by burial in Park Lawn cemetery.

Elderly Dentist Dies

TEESWATER, Ont. (CP)—Dr. George S. Fowler, 89, one of Ontario's oldest practising dentists, died Monday. A resident of this village 63 miles south of Owen Sound for 60 years, he kept two practices going for the last few years, one here and one at Sundridge where he spent his summers.

TWO BY TWO—Eleven children, including five sets of twins, have been born in the past six years and eight months of the married life of Mr. and Mrs. Paul-Emile Tremblay, of St. Georges, a small Saguenay river village in northern Quebec. Ten children still are living. Mrs. Tremblay holds her newest set of twins, Francoise and Francice, born December 10. Papa Tremblay, a carpenter, holds Jules and Julien, born August 10, 1951. Clement, 2½ (standing at right) was a single birth. At left are Jacques and Jacqueline, born July 18, 1949, a year after Ronald and Ronaldo (seated at centre). Standing between the parents is Raymonde, whose twin Raymond died a month after their birth February 18, 1947.

Well-Equipped And Efficient Railways Required For Strong, Growing Canada

By W. A. MATHER, President Canadian Pacific Railway Co.

MONTREAL— Despite the high level of business and industrial activity in Canada during 1952, the financial results of Canadian Pacific's railway operations in the year again left much to be desired. The unprecedented flow into Canada in the first few months of 1952, of investment capital from the United States and abroad, the tense international situation calling for the diversion of a substantial part of the country's productive effort to defence needs, and other factors, combined to push material costs and wages upward to the extent that net earnings on railway operations were still inadequate to provide a fair return on the large investment in railway property.

The record 1952 Western grain harvest, together with brisk activity in the development of natural resources, as well as in the growing output of farms, fisheries and the manufacturing plants, and an unabated activity in the construction trades, resulted in increased demands upon the country's railway facilities.

Notwithstanding this high level of industrial and agricultural output, and the resulting increase in ton-miles of freight carried, the railways were nevertheless compelled to seek financial relief from the burden of mounting material and wage costs through further applications to the Board of Transport Commissioners for increases in freight rates.

Recognizing the urgency of establishing a sound financial position assuring both a fair return to the company's shareholders on their investment, and an ability to obtain the necessary capital required for the development and expansion of its transportation facilities, the Canadian Pacific, in July last, made application to the Board of Transport Commissioners calling for the establishment of a "rate-base rate-of-return" formula under which the company would be given the opportunity of earning up to six and one-half per cent on the net capital investment.

Such an approach, we believe, offers the only effective solution to a financial problem of growing concern not only to the railways of Canada but to the country at large.

NATIONAL PROBLEM

Confident that an equitable solution of what is now coming to be recognized as a truly national problem in respect of railway finances will ultimately be achieved, and recognizing its responsibility to meet the growing transportation demands of an expanding economy, the Canadian Pacific went ahead in 1952 with a substantial program of improvement and development.

Because of their greater efficiency and economy in operation, a fleet of the most powerful type of Diesel-electric locomotives ever used in Canada replaced steam power in the territory between Calgary and Revelstoke this year. In 1953, Diesel-electric locomotives will also replace steam power in the territory between Crowsnest, on the Alberta border, and Hope, B.C., where the southern route joins the main line.

TELETYPE SYSTEM

In order to give improved service to patrons in respect to cars consigned to them a teletype system of communication is progressively being installed. The territory Windsor through to Boston was completed some time ago and this year all principal points between Fort William and Vancouver were linked up by teletype.

Canadian Pacific Steamships' operating revenues for the year, while continuing to be adversely affected by increasing costs of materials and wage rates, were more seriously depressed by a marked falling off in ocean freight rates, which reached their lowest point for several years. This was particularly true in the case of North Atlantic grain rates. Passenger carryings continued to be heavy during most of the year.

Canadian Pacific Air Lines entered into negotiations during the year to operate services between Vancouver and points in Mexico, Peru and Brazil. It is expected this new service will be inaugurated during 1953.

Two deHavilland Comet jet airliners nearing completion in England will make Canadian Pacific Air Lines the first North American air line to use this most modern type of aircraft. They will be put into service early in 1953 between Australia and New Zealand, and Hawaii by way of Fiji, cutting the present flying time in half. Douglas DC-6 airliners will be used between Vancouver and Hawaii, as well as between Vancouver and the Orient. In addition, a number of Consolidated Vultee Convair-240's are being acquired for domestic air services.

While 1952 was outstanding as a year of continued Canadian expansion on a gratifying scale, the problem of the Canadian Pacific in respect of its rail operations remains one of the adjustment of its earnings to meet the pressing needs of the present and the challenge of the future. On the outcome of our efforts to make this adjustment, by which we may obtain sufficient financial resources to continue our replacements and improvements, depends our success as a transportation company. No country, particularly one of such distances as Canada, can remain strong and growing without the services of well-equipped and efficient railways.

Finally Reunited With Family

EAST GREENWICH, R.I. (AP)—Archibald Lewis Douglas of Toronto finally was reunited with his family Tuesday after United States immigration authorities twice had upset his plans to be with them for Christmas.

He has a 10-day visitor's permit and Sunday night will return to Toronto, where he is a copy reader with a publishing house.

Douglas said he holds no resentment against immigration officials who halted him at the border last Tuesday and again the next day.

"I understand that with American immigration officials under heavy pressure to keep out subversive elements they will occasionally keep out a sheep when they try to exclude a goat," he said.

The 53-year-old son of the late Norman Douglas, British novelist, said the immigration inspectors may have become suspicious when they learned his wife was an American citizen and now is with her mother, Mrs. G. A. Whitworth, in this town.

Rat Draws Money From Bank Runs To Store For Cheese

By ALTON L. BLAKESLEE

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Meet a rat that draws money from a bank and runs to a store to buy cheese.

Given a choice of a quarter, dime or nickel, he chooses the quarter, which buys five pieces of cheese. The dime or nickel buys only one.

The rat does this in the laboratory of Dr. Loh Seng Tsai, professor of psychology at Tulane University.

The test shows that rats have a sense of value, Dr. Tsai told the American Association for the Advancement of Science. The rats also learn to use tools as well as coins, all indicating a high rate of intelligence.

It is the first time, he says, that rats have been shown to be able to use tools and tokens. It has been done with apes and chimpanzees—and other psychologists have trained chimps to use slot machines.

CHEAPER FOR STUDY

Now rats, which are cheaper and can be bred to be all alike, can be used for studies of mental processes and behavior in animals, which in turn can help toward a better understanding of the whys and wherefores of the human mind.

The smart-money rat works it this way: The rat pulls a chain, to spill coins from a can hanging overhead. The rat picks up a coin in his mouth, runs over to put it on a saucer in exchange for cheese.

One rat learned the value of the coins from getting the bigger reward by choosing the more valuable coin.

Earlier, Dr. Tsai showed that cats and rats can be trained to cooperate and live in peace.

Well-Educated Parent Good Teacher Dean Says

TORONTO (CP) — A leading Canadian educationist said Monday night that in probably one-third of the 90,000 classrooms in the country the teacher could be replaced by a well-educated parent who could carry on just as successfully.

Dr. M. E. LaZerte, former dean of education at the University of Alberta, made the statement during an address to the Ontario Secondary School Teachers' Federation.

He said that to the extent a group appears more interested in protecting its economic status than in improving standards of service, it loses prestige and public support, which places teachers in an unfortunate position. He added:

"Their financial position has never been secure. Their business is discussed publicly before school boards, not privately. In order to obtain a living wage they have been forced to bargain and negotiate continuously in most provinces. This practice keeps money matters before the public most of the time.

"In contrast, the public seldom hears anything of the financial problems of other professions."

Queen To Get Special Edition

LONDON (Reuters)—The Queen will soon have a special heavy-paper edition of the London Times on her palace breakfast table each morning.

The Times announced today that publication of the "Royal Edition" will begin Jan. 1.

The "Royal Edition" was produced before the war but has been suspended since because of paper shortages.

In addition to its royal subscribers it also goes to libraries for permanent file purposes.

It will cost six pence compared with four pence for the standard edition.

The Queen receives three or four papers including the Times, regularly. A secretary lays them on her breakfast table. And often she sends out for more papers if the news is interesting.

Lemay Leaves On Florida Trip

MONTREAL (CP) — Georges Lemay left Montreal by motor car Tuesday bound for Miami, Fla., but said he will not enter Monroe county, where his wife Huguette disappeared almost a year ago, unless he is subpoenaed.

The 26-year-old Montreal real estate man, told reporters:

"I do not intend to enter Monroe county or Key West unless I am subpoenaed to do so. I certainly am not going to stick my neck out in any case."

Lemay's 22-year-old wife disappeared at Tom's Harbor in the Florida Keys Jan. 4, 1952. Lemay said she left a pier when they were fishing to return to their car 100 yards away to don warmer clothing. He said he never saw her after that.

He said recently he would return to Florida when James O. Barker, a deputy sheriff of Monroe county, was no longer on the case. Barker was investigating Mrs. Lemay's disappearance. Barker was shot by his son last Friday and Lemay said he would immediately return to "clear up certain aspects of the case."

Make Big Strides In Radar But Most Of It Secret

OTTAWA (CP) — Canada has made important strides in improving radar since 1945 but 90 per cent of what she is doing is secret, the National Research Council said Tuesday.

The government scientific agency's annual year-end summary of activities reported "important advances" in the military field in radar in 1952. In non-secret work "a notable contribution has been made. . . which will result in smaller radar antennas and clearer radar pictures."

The only light it threw on this field was the information that the radio and electrical engineering division, which handles it, is erecting a building that will allow all its staff to work together rather than in scattered buildings.

Officials elaborated to say that these advances fit into a pattern of developments going on steadily since the war. They range from the use of radar to study the sun to the design of equipment for Canada's own early-warning network, through both fields of pure and applied science.

Canada's efforts are closely linked with those of the United States and United Kingdom and all three have made big strides. It remains substantially true to say that radar is limited by the horizon, that it cannot see around the "bend" in the earth, but officials say all sorts of improvements have been made in its effectiveness.

G. S. Matthews, Father Served 45 Years On Utilities Commission

The New Year, bringing into effect the results of its municipal elections, fixes attention in passing on the remarkably long service of Gordon S. Matthews as a member of the Peterborough Utilities Commission for 27 years. It also invites reference to some of the incidents and phases of this public administrative body which on January 1, 1953, enters its 52nd year.

Mr. Matthews is a son of the late T. F. Matthews, the first chairman of the Commission when it was instituted in 1902. Excepting a gap of six years, father and son were successively members of the Commission 45 years, and a more extraordinary fact was that they were respectively chairman 18 and 25 years for a total of 43.

The Utilities Commission was first known as the Water Commission when it was established at a special election on February

GORDON S. MATTHEWS

4, 1902. Its name was changed to Utilities Commission in 1914 with the acquisition of the electrical system and later the gas works.

The original commissioners were T. Frank Matthews, W. H. Moore, and T. H. G. Denne, who held office for two years by virtue of his position as Mayor of the city.

Mr. Matthews was head of the Matthews Packing Co., which was later merged into the Matthews-Blackwell Co., and finally the Peterborough branch of Canada Packers Limited.

Mr. Moore was a prominent lawyer and KC, and Mr. Denne for some years an executive of the Quaker Oats Co.

In 1904, Mr. Denne was succeeded by William H. Hill, district manager of the Sun Life Assurance Co.

18 YEARS CONTINUOUS

Mr. Matthews was for 18 years continuously a member of the Commission and its chairman, until he went to Toronto in 1919. Mr. Hill was a member 10 years, and was succeeded by Robert Hicks, fuel dealer at Charlotte and Bethune Streets, who was 12 years on the Commission.

Mr. Moore remained with the Commission 19 years. He was chairman in 1920 with Mr. Hicks, and Charles E. Sisson, an electrical engineer of the Canadian General Electric Co. staff. George H. Duncan was also a member that year, taking the place of Mr. Moore at his illness.

E. F. Mason, grocer, was elected in 1921 and W. H. Bradburn in 1922. Both of them had been members of the city council, Mr. Bradburn subsequently becoming mayor and finally was elected to the Ontario Legislature for Peterborough West.

Mr. Mason was chairman in 1925-6, and it was in the latter year that Gordon S. Matthews was elected a Commissioner.

Mr. Bradburn was chairman in 1927 with Mr. Matthews and Mr. E. R. Shirley, of the C.G.E. engineering staff who then began a long term of fifteen years.

John Crane, manager of the Dominion Bank, succeeded Mr. Bradburn in 1928. The Commission of that year was composed of G. S. Matthews chairman, E. R. Shirley and Mr. Crane. They continued together in office eight years until 1936 when Roland Denne succeeded Mr. Crane.

No change in personnel occurred in the next four years, but in 1941 George A. Macdonald took the place of Mr. Denne, and in 1942 Fred Hills followed Mr. Shirley.

Matthews, Macdonald and Hills comprised the Commission until 1952 when Dr. Gordon R. Langley replaced Mr. Macdonald, and the next and present change was the election December 1 of Dick Raine in succession to Mr. Matthews.

The intermediate chairmen from 1921 to 1927 inclusive were: W. H. Moore 1 year, R. Hicks 4 years, E. F. Mason 2, W. H. Bradburn 1.

Some of the terms of the Commissioners, in addition to those already mentioned were: C. E. Sisson 2, George Duncan 1, G. A. Macdonald 9, Roland Denne 5, John Crane 8, W. H. Bradburn 6, Fred Hills 11, now beginning his 12th year; Dr. Langley 1, now begining his second of the elected term of three years.

PUMP HOUSE IN 1909

The principal changes in physical poperty of the Utilities Commission was the completion and opening of the new pump house in 1909. This is the first building on the river side of the Lakefield Road, approaching the filtration plant and its park area which was added to the waterworks system in 1921.

The pumping station, replacing an old one constructed by a private company, provided the pressure that delivered water through the mains of the city.

The folter beds, eleven years later, eliminated foreign matter, and chlorination was a further improvement of the quality of Peterborough's water supply.

Gradual growth of the city prior to the outbreak of the Second World War required chiefly the laying of mains and private services. That was a fairly long period of general adequacy of the water works system. The war halted a major extension of main on Bethune St.

A new surge of population during the 1940's and subsequently, with cast iron pipe scarce during part of that period, is of comparative recent memory. The Commission and its employees were under pressure to keep pace with the opening of new streets in new sections of the city. Rate of pumpage increased, pumping capacity had to be enlarged and finally the Commission had to expand the filtration plant, letting a contract that is now in progress.

WATER TOWER

With the approach to completion of Peterborough Civic Hospital, the Commission was confronted with the necessity of setting up an elevated water tower, with booster pump, for the protection and the supply of water throughout the building. Houses in the neighborhood benefitted from that rather large physical investment.

The development of the electrical department and the scrapping of the old gas works at the foot of Simcoe St., with the switch to propane, cannot be related satisfactorily in a few paragraphs.

PUBLIC OWNERSHIP

Primarily, the city council of 1912-13 had to convince the citizens of the merits of public ownership of electric power, as an additional utility.

The eastern Ontario system of the Hydro-Elevtric Power Commission was promoted by the Hon. G. Howard Ferguson. Local private companies went out of business. The Utilities Commission's power substation on Aylmer St. was finished and put into use in 1924. The members that year were: Hicks, Mason and Bradburn with Homer O. Fisk as manager. Since then new storage and garage accommodation have spread out over the Commission's block of property bounded by Aylmer, Sherbrooke, Bethune and Dalhousie streets, and eventually the new headquarters and accounting office was built in 1951 and has been in use since last winter.

Meanwhile, Peterborough's new residential areas with their new streets and houses, and a general improvement of the city's street lighting system confronted the Commission with the problem of trying to keep up with the demand. In fact, improvements which were under consideration at the main substation were more or less delayed while that central load was distributed through the construction of a series of secondary stations, the first of which was built on Romaine St.

Two others are located on High St., one on Clifton St. in Ashburnham, one at Auburn, and altogether there are five of them.

Of the 16 Commissioners who have developed Peterborough's public utilities from the very begining when citizens had to be convinced of the advantages, as they were presented and held out, of public ownership, only five survive the half century of service and supervision. They are: G. S. Matthews, a past president and now honorary president of the Ontario Municipal Association, E. R. Shirley, George A. Macdonald, Fred Hills and Dr. Langley.

CONSISTORY HALL—This is Consistory Hall in the Vatican when on January 12 Pope Pius XII will name 24 new cardinals to the Sacred College. This will be the first time in at least 200 years the college will have its full quota of 70 cardinals. Included will be Archbishop Paul-Emile Leger of Montreal, the sixth cardinal in the history of the Roman Catholic church in Canada. James McGuigan, of Toronto, also will attend the consistory. In the background in the hall is the pontiff's throne. The ceiling of the hall is gilded with gold brought from America by Columbus.

Farm Workers Decrease 24%

OTTAWA (CP)—Canada's agriculture labor force decreased nearly 24 per cent in the 10 years between the 1941 and 1951 censuses while the number of manufacturing workers increased more than 40 per cent, the bureau of statistics reports.

With a population increase of about 22 per cent, the total labor force grew by 1,090,202 to 5,286,153—almost 26 per cent above the 1941 figure of 4,195,951 when nine instead of 10 provinces were included.

The number of agriculture workers dropped from 1,082,074 in 1941 to 827,030—a decrease of 255,044.

The largest numerical increase was in manufacturing, which increased by 391,147 to 1,360,662 from 969,515.

Keep Botanical Terms Simple, Professor Says

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Better keep those botanical terms in simple English.

That was the advice Tuesday from Samuel A. Graham, professor of economic zoology at the University of Michigan. He told a group of scientists people will never call vegetation by fancy Greek and Latin designations.

"One would be about as likely to hear a mule skinner talk to his team as follows: 'Thou hybridized descendants of Eohippus. . .May thy ossified residue live in a supertorrid habitat through the eternal transportation of ecological sequences.'"

Hydro Services Multiplied Four Times In 25 Years

From the annual reports of the Ontario Hydro-Electric Commission are quoted the following comparative details of physical values and other facts in the development and expansion of the property of the Peterborough Utilities Commission. The figures are respectively for the years 1926 and 1951:

	1926	1951
Population of city	21,726	37,192
Lands and b'ld'gs.	$ 75,069.71	$210,554.86
Substation equipm't	81,916.71	494,194.15
Distribut'n system	164,880.03	804,525.69
Line transformers	82,029.23	338,973.65
Meters	78,878.12	239,638.12
Street lighting	42,162.91	144,618.63
Total plant value	$559,783.85	$2,273,004.02
Cost of power purchased	$131,342.32	$ 670,159.11
Revenue from power sold	225,941.48	1,038,462.33
No. domestic consumers	5,627	9,964
Commercial consumers	804	1,250
Industrial, etc.	149	200
Total consumers	6,580	11,414

(Utilities Commission buys electric power from the Hydro and virtually retails it to the various groups of local consumers.)

The general improvement in Peterborough's street lighting is indicated in the wattage of lamps in use in 1926 and 1951, as follows:

In 1926—there were 838 60-watt lamps, 360 100-watt lamps, 23 300-watts, one 500-watt, 15 400-candle power, 43 1,000 candle power, and 44 magnetite arc lamps. Total cost to the city council $16,439.83.

In 1951—there were four 1,000-watt flood lights, 72 300-watt ornamentals, 1,355 300-watt standards, 320 100-watt lamps. Total charge to the city $34,699.98.

The per capital cost of street lighting was 0.76 cents a year in 1926, and 0.93 cents a year in 1951.

That means each person in Peterborough pays 93c a year, as compared with 76c in 1926 for the lighting of the city streets.

The average domestic monthly bill was $1.43 in 1926 and was $3.68 in 1951.

The average monthly bill of commercial power users was $5.22 in 1926 and was $12.27 in 1951.

Truck Driver Fined For Careless Driving

NIAGARA FALLS, Ont. (CP)—A truck driver was fined $35 Tuesday on a careless driving charge which arose when he drove the truck down the centre of an icy street he was sanding and was involved in an accident.

William Roseborough, 41, pleaded innocent but the court ruled there was nothing in the Highway Traffic Act which allows a truck to drive down the middle of a road, regardless of how a municipality wants the job done.

Many Hogs Sent To Packers Beat Price Drop

Heavy deliveries of hogs at Canada Packers during the last week are anticipating the three-cent drop in price effective on January 1.

Federal government's support price is being reduced from $26 per hundredweight to $23, Grade A dressed, on the basis of Toronto. The decline with the turn of the year is at the rate of $3 per cwt., rail grade, or three cents a pound.

Management of Canada Packers indicated today that the volume for the last week or ten days might show an increase of 50 per cent over the same period last year.

"We have to take delivery until Wednesday at midnight. It is not a question of being able to receive them, but it is a matter of having sufficient cooling space, which is an important factor."

Farmers have known for some months that the Hon. James G. Gardiner, federal Minister of Agriculture, announced the reduced price at the beginning of 1953.

During the year marketing of hogs in Canada has shown an increase of approximately one-third over the same period of 46 weeks in 1951.

From January 1 to November 8 the average price on the Toronto market was $19.66 per cwt. for "Grade A dressed hogs converted to live basis; and Chicago average to November 8 this year was $19.26 for 200-220 lb. live gilts and barrows, U.S. funds converted to Canadian at current rate of exchange."

The trade comment was to the effect that "prices do not compare too unfavorably with those prevailing in the U.S."

Acclaim Council, New Reeve In Alnwick Twp.

ROSENEATH (ENS). — All elective posts in Alnwick Township were filled by acclamation, it was announced Tuesday night after qualification deadline (9 p.m.) was passed.

A new man, James Thompson, is Reeve of the township. He has been a councillor for several years but has never before been nominated for reeve.

Fred Broadworth, reeve for two years, declined the nomination on Monday night. He is the son of George Broadworth, reeve of Percy Township who was acclaimed this year. He and his father were one of the rare father-and-son teams who sat on the United Counties Council.

One newcomer, Hector Winkworth, is on the four-man council this year. Mr. Winkworth, whose farm overlooks Rice Lake, came to Canada from England about six years ago.

The other three acclaimed councillors are all veterans of municipal affairs: Harold Taylor, Earl Braithwaite, and Edwin McCleary.

The five-man school board was returned for another two-year term: Ross McCracken, Lloyd Parker, Harold Davidson, James Timlin, Frank Adams. Charlton Grigg was reappointed representative for Alnwick on the board of Cobourg District Collegiate.

Council Honors Science Editor

ST. LOUIS (AP)—The council of the American Association for the Advancement of Science said Tuesday the late Howard W. Blakeslee, long-tine science editor of The Associated Press, "affected profoundly the knowledge and emotions of all he world."

The council adopted a memorial tribute to Blakeslee and two other members of the association who died during the last year.

The others are Dr. Edward G. Conklin of Princeton, N.J., president of the association in 1936, and Dr. Forest R. Moulton of Evanston, Ill., administrative secretary of the association from 1937 to 1949.

Of Blakeslee, the council said:

"He worked with words that the people might know. Reporting the hearts and minds of scientific men, he affected profoundly the knowledge and emotions of all the world."

Attlee Blasts Party Disunity

LONDON (Reuters)—Labor party leader Clement Attlee told British Socialists Tuesday the party had been hampered by disunity in the ranks, "disunity which is quite unnecessary."

In a New Year message to party members, he said: "During the coming year we must resolve to close our ranks, remembering that the cause for which we stand is far greater than any individual differences."

Attlee did not mention the party's left-wing rebel, Aneurin Bevan, by name, but his message was a clear reference to the quarrel which has several times brought the party to crisis point since Bevan resigned from the last Labor government. The Bevanite wing claimed Britain was spending too much on arms.

Geese Outwit Yule Hunters

KINGSVILLE (CP) — Several thousand Canada geese received a horrible surprise in the last few days and a number of farmers in this area had goose for Christmas dinner.

In other seasons the area within a mile radius of the Jack Miner bird sanctuary was prohibited ground for hunters. This year, due to complaints of crop damage by geese, farmers in the affected district were given special licences to shoot five geese a day for the last week and a half.

Some sportsmen feared a large slaughter but the geese soon learned the new rules. The birds jammed themselves wing-to-wing inside the sanctuary and when they took off flew almost straight up to avoid the guns.

Edward D. McCurdy

Funeral service tor fhe late Edward Daniel McCurdy, who died suddenly at his home at Cordova Mines on Christmas Eve, was held on Saturday at the Free Methodist Church at the mine.

Pallbearers were Harry, John, William, and Earl Edwards, John Izzard and Clarence Holland.

Flowerbearers were Morley and Morris Chard, Fred and Forest Hay, Orville and Harry Edwards, Jr. Burial was at Maple Grove Cemetery, Havelock.

Want Lower Beer Tax

TORONTO (CP)—The Ontario Hotelkeepers' Association wants lower taxes on beer. A resolution, slated to come before the association's annual meeting Jan. 12 to Jan. 14, asks the provincial government to "substantially reduce" the gallonage tax on beer.

MASTERMIND?—This is former convict Alfred J. Gagnon of Rhode Island who has allegedly confessed to "masterminding" the million dollar Brinks' holdup. He will appear before a Federal Grand Jury which is investigating the robbery.

Master Barber Honored By His Clients

Robert Hefter, 74, who has cut the hair and trimmed the whiskers of the rich and famous for some 56 years, accepted the tribute with the aplomb of the master barber he is.

Hefter's patrons gathered under the aegis of the Comb and Scissors Club. This exclusive group requires endorsement by at least two old members before you can join, and have your hair cut by Hefter.

Benjamin F. Fairless, board chairman of the United States Steel Corporation, and Elton Hoyt II, Cleveland, O., ore and transportation magnate, were the moving spirits behind the occasion at the Madison Hotel where Hefter now has his shop.

But the ghosts of other famous Hefter patrons were surely there—President Theodore Roosevelt, J. Pierpont Morgan the elder, Chief Justice Charles Evans Hughes, Andrew Carnegie, F. W. Woolworth and President William Howard Taft.

Hoyt made the presentation of an expensive banjo clock equipped with weather-reading instruments —thermometer, barometer and hygrometer—to the wispy, grey man who was friend and philosopher to some of the guests since they wore knee pants.

Can't Keep Pace With Road Traffic

OTTAWA (CP)—The provinces spent more than ever before on roads in 1952 but still aren't keeping pace with increases in highway traffic, the Canadian Good Roads Association reported Tuesday in a year-end report.

One reason for the "critical" situation was that provinces were squeezed by rising costs. "Expenditures did not accomplish as much as in previous years."

The association forecast that highway budgets to be presented to provincial legislatures in the next two months are expected to exceed the record $350,000,000 spent on highways this year. The figure does not include municipal expenditures.

TCA Reports Increase In 1952 Passengers

MONTREAL (CP)—G. R. McGregor, president of Trans-Canada Air Lines, in a year-end statement Tuesday said TCA in 1952 exceeded previous peaks of performance, both in passengers and commodities carried.

Despite increased operating costs, the company "will once again present a profitable financial statement at the end of its fiscal year."

Approximately 1,125,000 passengers flew on TCA's North American and international routes an increase of 20 per cent over 1951, and used 71 per cent of the line's year-round capacity. Air cargo and air express volume increases by 27 per cent to 6,850,000 ton-miles and "all up" mail reached a total of 4,850,000 ton-miles, an increase of nine per cent.

Letter Writer Jailed

MOSCOW (AP) — A poison-pen letter writer has been sentenced to five years in prison and expelled from the Communist party, the Moscow press reported today. The reports said Alexander Chagunov changed his job on the Trans-Caucasus Railroad 14 times in 12 years and spent much of that time writing letters containing fake charges against his associates.

Hungary Leaves

BUDAPEST (AP) — Hungary Tuesday withdrew from the UN educational, scientific and cultural organization because "UNESCO has become an instrument in the cold war." Only Czechoslovakia now represents the Soviet satellites in the body. Hungary, in a letter to acting director-general John Taylor, accused UNESCO of deeds "serving American war policy, crowned by the admission of Franco Spain."

DUBLIN (AP) — The Irish government today will hand over to the export-import bank its first interest payment on the Marshall Plan loan, $1,603,935. The Republic of Ireland's loan totalled $128,200,000.

Russian Curbs On Scientists Big Weakness

By ALTON L. BLAKESLEE

ST. LOUIS (AP) — A Russian weakness is the Soviet Union's destruction of their own science, Dr. Conway Zirkle, university of Pennsylvania botanist, said today.

Obedience to the party line is the destructive virus, he told the American Association for the Advancement of Science. This weakening of Russian science, he suggested, could be a powerful secret weapon in the West's favor.

The Communists themselves possibly "do not know all that is happening, and do not understand what they are really doing."

He said the anti-science virus in Russia "started its infection in genetics, in a field where science conflicted with the Communist faith. Genetics denies the inheritance of acquired characteristics, and this type of inheritance promises so much so easily that it has always been a favorite of those who want to make over mankind in a hurry."

VIRUS SPREADS

The virus has spread to other sciences, weakening Russia's progress and security, and "there is some positive evidence that the Communist authorities themselves are helpless and cannot stop what they started."

The virus makes Russian scientists, who want to live, watch closely for clues to the party line, and produce what the commissars seem to want from them, Dr. Zirkle said.

As laymen, the commissars can't tell good science from bad, except in engineering or physics where visible results don't measure up to par. But in medicine and agriculture, the poor scientists can get along, for "in spite of quacks and cultists, patients recover and crops grow."

Dr. Zirkle gave this assessment of major fields of science in Russia:

Statistics has "lost its basic honesty," is "used to falsify data for propaganda purposes."

Psychology and psychiatry are practically dead. Biology and agriculture "are so permeated with quackery that nothing of importance can be expected from them."

RIGID RULES

Medicine, pathology, physiology are "forced into a rigid and stupid orthodoxy." Geology is subjected to political attacks.

Astronomy "includes the amusing quackery of astro-botany, or the study of plant life on the planets," but "nevertheless much excellent work is being done by Russian astronomers."

Certain theories are forbidden in chemistry, but Soviet chemists are doing much good chemical research.

Despite condemnation of some ideas in physics as "idealistic, Russian physics is definitely good. Russian mathematics is truly excellent," and engineering "is probably adequate for all military and civilian purposes."

'52 Good Building Year

TORONTO (CP)—Building contracts in Ontario totalled $750,000,000 in 1952, Earle L. Shepherd, president of the Ontario Association of Architects, said Tuesday. In a year-end statement Mr. Shepherd predicted no building decline during the next year.

SPAIN, guarding the western approach to the Mediterranean Sea, is of vital importance to the NATO nations, as attempts are made to close another door against the advance of international communism. Although primarily an agricultural country, Spain has an abundance of minerals such as copper, iron, zinc and coal—but NATO nations are more interested in her location than her resources. Spain provides a great land mass from which Allied planes could take off for the defence of the rest of Europe and of Africa and a final bastion from which Allied armies could fight in the event of Red aggression from the East. The Pyrenees Mountains separating France and Spain, provide one of the great natural defence lines of Europe. Spain will not become a member of NATO. The United States is negotiating for air and naval bases in Spain, Spanish Morocco and such other areas as the Balearic Islands. The deal is being made on the basis of mutual benefits. One of these to Spain will be $100 million earmarked under the U.S. Mutual Security Program. Others include the modernization of her 400,000-man army, and the modernization of her archaic highway system. Under this program of co-operation, Franco is expected to ask the return of Gibraltar to Spain. The Spanish take the position that with all of Spain made available to Western defence, the British no longer have any real reason for hanging onto Gibraltar. But the British who have held the "Rock" since 1713 are in no mood to give it up.

Suggest Public School Teachers All Have University Degrees

TORONTO (CP) — Representatives of Ontario's 5,000 public school men teachers recommended Tuesday that all public school teachers possess university degrees.

The Ontario Public School Men Teachers' Federation Provincial executive decided at its annual meeting that the college course should include the professional training needed for teachers.

Delegates approved the department of education's emergency measures to meet the teacher shortag, but decided to ask for more stress on English, both in secondary school courses and by emphasizing the techniques of English instruction at training schools.

The federation's proposal would abolish normal school and substitute a three-year university course for students who finish grade 13 or a four-year course for grade-12 students.

NOTE DISCREPANCIES

A group studying the provincial education grant system reported that discrepancies in the formula applied to the elementary and secondary schools resulted in a teacher's pay at the elementary level no higher than the wages of a laborer. The committee said public schools received the smallest percentage grant, except for vocational schools which are assisted federally.

The committee also reported that teachers should be more evenly distributed among communities. Too many communities, by their inability to pay, are deprived of their right to have properly certified teachers.

Delegates approved a three-week summer training course for prospective school principals.

The course will provide instruction in how to run a school for public school men with at least five years' teaching experience.

The plan, as presented by W. G. Loney of Kitchener, calls for granting of a certificate at the end of the course which will contain objective comments on the teacher's progress. The course probably will be given either at Queen's or Mcmaster Universities or at the University of Western Ontario.

Freighter Missing

HAMBURG, Germany (AP)—The 6,367-ton German freighter Melanie Schulte was reported missing today between Narvik, Norway and Mobile, Ala., its destination. The vessel was last heard from Dec. 21 when it radioed its position as 100 miles west of the Hebrides in the North Sea off the coast of Scotland.

Charge Grant Discrepancies For Schools

TORONTO—A group of teachers studying provincial education grants observed Tuesday that discrepancies in the formula applied to elementary schools and secondary schools makes teacher pay on the elementary level no higher than the wages of a laborer.

The committee set up by the Ontario Public School Men Teachers' Federation, made an interim report at the federation's annual executive meeting.

The committee agreed that all salaries for teachers should be relatively equal, when qualification, responsibility and experience were equal.

The committee made these other observations:

The best, average and below average teachers should be distributed among communities. Too many communities, by their inability to pay, do not have properly certified teachers.

The system of grants based on assessment is inequitable due to lack of standardization of assessment throughout the province.

Educational costs are not excessive compared to cost of other services.

Municipalities hardest pressed are new suburban areas where industrial and commercial assessment is low. Such municipalities should be compensated by a grant based on need and ability to pay.

The committee made no specific recommendations. Its members said they had not studied the question of federal aid to education enough to comment on it.

The federation asked it to continue the research and make its findings available to the Ontario Teachers' Federation, which is soon to embark on a similar study.

Vincent Fee Returned As Emily Twp. Reeve

OMEMEE (ENS) —At Emily township nominations Monday, Vincent Fee, reeve, was returned to office by acclamation for the fifth time in succession, his initial appointment having been obtained in the same way.

Seven were nominated for councillors—George Magee, Elwood Faulkner, Elmer Mahood and Peter Perdue, and three new ones —Lloyd Ashmore, Edward Lowes and Harry Endicott. It is Ashmore's and Lowes' first appearance but Endicott has had past experience both on the council and as reeve. Election will be held next Monday.

Two Men Remanded On Charge Of Rape

LINDSAY (ENS). — Two Lindsay and district men, Wilfred Dumoulin 36, and Gerald Statham 17, were remanded for a week here Monday on a charge of raping a 15-year-old Lindsay girl on Christmas night.

The two were formerly charged when they appeared in court with their counsel, H. E. Richardson. No plea was taken.

Several extra Provincial Police officers attended the court room when the accused made their appearance and Inspector Ralph Taylor, of the Criminal Investigation Department, Toronto, also attended.

The third man in the alleged rape is still at large. The case is being investigated by Constable George Mountsteven, of the Lindsay detachment, and Corporal Rawlings of Peterborough.

Granted Divorce

FALL RIVER, Mass. (AP) — A Korean war veteran who said his wife soaked his civilian clothes in a bath tub to keep him from meeting old pals was granted a divorce Tuesday on grounds of cruelty. Joseph T. Canara, 27, testified in court that when he put on his uniform instead, his wife tossed a basin of boiling water at him, scalding his chest.

MARY MOORE SAYS:

New Year's Resolutions For The Cook And Family

Many, long years ago, I was eleven years old, and well do I remember writing a list of New Year's resolutions—not for myself but for my beloved and gentle father.

Number One was: Resolved to let us children sing and play other songs besides hymns on Sundays. Number Two was: Resolved that father stop scolding Wilf (my brother) when he wouldn't get up in time to eat his breakfast before school.

It seems that my idea of making New Year's resolutions was to make them for someone else . . . and, bless my soul, they say a leopard can't change his spots — and here the old girl sits at her desk still making resolutions for someone else. This time you are the victim.

No. 1—Resolved to serve more salads and fresh fruits. No. 2—Resolved to stop overcooking vegetables. No. 3—Resolved to reduce that oversize waistline (and live longer). No. 4—Resolved to take more walks. No. 5—Resolved to do more for neighbors, etc.

I wonder what I would look and sound like on a soap box in Hyde Park in London? Surely nobody would listen but dear old friends like you who are used to my sermonizing.

I know I'm an old harpie when it comes to sugar, but it isn't poverty that makes poor teeth.

F'instance: In the magazine store at our corner I watched three little boys about six and eight years old, select candy bars and quickly slip off the wrappers and soon as they had given the man their coins, start munching on them at once. Everyone of them had decayed front teeth.

When you feel your children deserve treats, train them to buy nuts and raisins. Steer them away from pop drinks with their high sugar content and other even less desirable ingredients. Encourage them to drink milk. None of the alternates I am suggesting cost any more than the offending and often habit-forming sweets.

The Canadians serving on the Canadian Council on Nutrition are highly skilled, highly trained experts. They have drawn up a set of food rules that every mother, every cook, every housewife, every nurse should know by heart. They should adhere to these rules as closely as they do to the rules of cleanliness. For, if you do, as sure as the sun rises every morning and God is in His heaven, the health of your family will benefit from them and their health will improve, and sickness will abate, and doctor bills will dwindle.

1—MILK: Children up to 12 years, at least 1 pint; adolescents, 1½ pints to 1 quart. Adults, at least ½ pint.

2—FRUIT: One serving of citrus fruit or tomatoes or their juices; one serving of other fresh fruit.

3—VEGETABLES: One serving of potatoes; at least 2 servings of other vegetables, preferably leafy, green or yellow and frequently raw. (Mary's note: the skin of potatoes contains vitamin B, so eat it at every possible opportunity.)

4—CEREALS AND BREAD: One serving of whole grain cereal, and 4 slices of bread with butter or fortified margarine (Mary's note: preferably whole wheat bread—for the bran and germ of wheat contain vitamin B.)

5—MEAT AND FISH: One serving of meat, fish, poultry, or meat alternates such as eggs, cheese, dried beans. Use liver frequently.

IN ADDITION: Use eggs and cheese 3 times per week at least. All growing persons and expectant mothers and nursing mothers, 100 International Units of Vitamin D.

To help you adhere to this sensible and health-giving program, I in my turn will give you menus and recipes that observe the rules without being monotonous or uninteresting. Is it a bargain?

A happy and healthy New Year to all Mary Moore friends.

Charlotte Whitton Named "Woman Of Year" For Second Time In Row

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

A woman mayor who keeps in the headlines is Canada's "woman of the year" for the second time in a row.

Charlotte Whitton of Ottawa headed the 1952 list of outstanding women chosen in a Canadian Press poll by women's editors of Canadian daily newspapers.

Others high in the voting include Lois Marshall, Toronto soprano who thrilled reviewers when she sang in New York's Town Hall and who now plans a three-year concert tour of Canada, the United States and South America.

CP asked women's editors to choose the year's outstanding women — on a basis of news interest — in sport; literature and art; stage, screen and radio; music and public affairs, and in addition to choose a "woman of the year."

The result: public affairs and woman of the year, Miss Whitton; sport, golfer Marlene Stewart of Fonthill, Ont.; literature and art, Mazo de la Roche, Toronto novelist; stage, screen and radio, Ottawa-born Suzanne Cloutier; music, Miss Marshall.

GETS MOST SPACE

Mayor Whitton has been given more space in Ottawa newspapers than any six other mayors. Two years ago she led the polls with the biggest vote any controller ever received in the national capital. When Mayor Grenville Goodwin died a few months later she completed his term and this year was elected in her own right.

For some months in 1952 she waged a friendly feud of words via the newspapers with Mayor Allan Lamport of Toronto. The two buried their differences last October at a Whitton-inspired plowing match at Carp, Ont., for mayors only. Mayor Lamport was first and Mayor Whitton third.

"Next year if we girls have to wear jeans and slacks, the men should have to wear kilts," was her final comment.

OTHER CONTENDERS

Another contender in both woman-of-the-year and public affairs categories was Mrs. Tillie Rolston, 65, first woman cabinet minister with portfolio in Canadian history. British Columbia's Social Credit government named her minister of education.

So was Mrs. Pauline McGibbon of Toronto, prominent Dominion Drama Festival official and first woman president of the University of Toronto Alumni Association.

Kate Aitken of Toronto, radio commentator and world traveller, was given votes in public affairs and stage, screen and radio.

Others mentioned in the theatre group included Shirley Douglas, daughter of Premier T. C. Douglas of Saskatchewan, now studying drama in London; Gisele Mackenzie, Winnipeg-born radio singer; and Toby Robins, CBC television actress.

GAINS FAME

Suzanne Cloutier, who got most votes, is the daughter of Queen's printer Edmond Cloutier. In the last year she has gained international fame as an actress.

Mazo de la Roche, internationally known for almost a quarter century for her books about the Whiteoaks family, headed the literature and art class. Miss de la Roche's latest book, "A Boy in the House," was published in 1952.

Close contenders in this category were two French-language authors, Gabrielle Roy and Mrs. Germaine Guevremont. A year ago Mrs. Guevremont won Governor-General's award with "The Outlander." Miss Roy's "Where Nests the Water Hen" appeared in English translation in 1951.

Votes also were given to Marianne Macdonald, 18-year-old McGill University student who recently published her first book, "Black Bass Rock," a suspense novel for children.

Marlene Stewart, 18-year-old golf wonder, was chosen leader in sports for 1952. Miss Stewart won the Canadian Ladies Close championship and is a member of the seven-member team to compete in British open and international contests in 1953.

Breakdown May Follow Childbirth: BMJ

LONDON (CP)—Mental breakdown occasionally follows childbirth but occurs rarely in an extreme form, it was indicated in a survey published in the British Medical Journal.

All women in Bristol who had a child in a 10-year period ended in mid-1948 were studied. Of some 80,000 women whose cases were investigated, 1.4 per thousand went to a mental hospital afterward.

Of those who had breakdowns, about 80 per cent recovered normal health.

Dr. R. E. Hemphill, who conducted the survey, expressed belief that mental breakdown may often be the result of some doctrine (glandular) exhaustion rather than of purely mental causes.

He observes that pregnant women are surprisingly resistant to physical illness. They appear to be insulated by their condition against severe psychological and social stresses, such as housing difficulties, bombing or bereavement.

ACHIEVED AIM

Aim of many earlier explorers was achieved by Raould Amundsen in 1903-06 when he sailed the Northwest Passage to the Pacific.

MRS. JOSEPH P. RIBLEY of Rochester, who was before her recent marriage Miss Kathleen O'Grady, a graduate of the School of Nursing of St. Joseph's Hospital, Peterborough.

Stay On Your Feet In '53

Stay on your feet in 1953. That's a New Year's resolution worth keeping—and it's much easier to stick to than those solemn vows to swear off smoking, or fudge sundaes, or any other vice to which you're addicted.

Foot doctors, who see an awful lot of weary feet at the start of each year, because of Christmas shopping and holiday gadding-about in improper shoes, say that a few simple precautions can bring you happy feet in 1953.

These foot specialists point out that poorly-fitted or badly constructed shoes do more than cause aching feet. A variety of ailments, ranging from crippling backaches to acute depression (the Monday morning "blues" seven days a week) can frequently be traced to improperly shod feet.

Here's what the doctors suggest to keep you foot-happy during 1953:

(1) Take a good look at your shoes. Do they fit properly, without cramping your toes or squeezing tender nerves and muscles, which can impede blood circulation? Do they fit snugly around the heel? Shoes that slide up and down will work blisters on your feet in short order.

(2) Examine the material in your shoes. Make sure it's leather top and bottom. Leather uppers are sufficiently supple to "give" with your foot, at the same time they provide adequate support. The resiliency of leather soles helps absorb the shocks and poundings on your daily marathon.

(3) Do you have the right types of shoes in your wardrobe? If you have only high-heeled shoes, and wear them all day long, you're just storing up trouble. Have at least one pair of low-heeled walking shoes—and there are plenty of pretty ones around. Alternate high and low-heeled shoes, so that your leg muscles are accustomed to both. Also, don't keep wearing the same pair of shoes day after day, even if you're mad about them. They'll soon become uncomfortable — and, incidentally, it's poor economy. Shoes last much longer if you "rest" them between wearings.

Observe these resolutions — and 1953 will be a happier New Year, at least as far as your feet are concerned.

Ribley-O'Grady

A wedding of local interest took place in Rochester, N.Y. during the Christmas season when Miss Kathleen O'Grady, daughter of Mrs. T. O'Grady of Peterborough and the late Mr. O'Grady, became the bride of Mr. Joseph P. Ribley, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Ribley of Rochester.

The bride, given in marriage by her brother, Mr. Fred O'Grady of Peterborough, chose for her wedding a floor-length gown of white nylon tulle over satin with fitted bodice of Alencon lace, embroidered with irridescent sequins and pearls. A matching lace and sequins cap held her shoulder-length veil of French illusion. Her flowers were white pompoms centred with a purple orchid.

Miss Virginia Hafner of Rochester as maid of honor wore a ballerina type frock of shrimp-colored nylon tulle and matching jacket. Mrs. William Weider, her bridesmaid, wore a simlar gown of champagne colored lace and nylon tulle. Both carried crescent shaped bouquets of chrysanthemums.

The groom's attendant was Joseph P. Ryan and the ushers were William Weider, Paul Ludwig and Gerard Fallon, all of Rochester.

Mr. and Mrs. Ribley will live at 300 Clay Ave., Rochester.

New Year Parties All Set To Welcome 1953

A welcome to the little New Year fellow will go out tonight from many groups of friends at private parties in homes throughout the city. Many more will be giving him the traditional greeting with noisemakers, etc. at the big parties that have become annual affairs in Peterborough.

As usual, there has been a scramble for tickets and many last-minute requests but all the organized dances have been sold out. Club Aragon and Brock Ballroom are each expecting a full house of New Year revellers by the number of tickets sold in advance.

Officers of the 50th HAA Regiment RCA (Prince of Wales' Rangers) have extended invitations to their New Year's Eve party in the Officers' Mess, and they will also entertain at a New Year's Day reception in the Mess. President of the Mess is Major John L. Smith. Kawartha Club has favored club members with the limited supply of tickets and entertainment there is under the chairmanship of Mr. John McIntyre.

Knights of Columbus are holding a New Year's Eve party at their club house which is restricted to 75 couples and invitations have been available through members only. The Canadian Scottish Club also holds an annual New Year's Eve party and this year is having it at the Alpha Club.

New Year's Eve parties are dress-up occasions and the local shops have been busy selling new gowns to the ladies and providing the men with tuxedo and dress suits. But in spite of all their preparations, the little fellow they are honoring is expected to wear a simple sarong trimmed only with "1953".

Queen Mother Prefers Personal Gift Shopping

By MURIEL NARRAWAY
Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON (CP)—Two shoppers seen happily mixing with Christmas gift seekers were Princess Margaret and Queen Mother Elizabeth.

Mother and daughter have always preferred personal Christmas shopping to choosing gifts from a selection sent yearly to Buckingham Palace. "It spoils half the fun," Princess Margaret is reported as having said in younger days.

One December excursion was made at tea-time to a London department store. The royal ladies, one in black and the other in coral, circled the gift counters laughing and talking and giving orders. They spent much time examining fine glass ware

Although royal presents bought for the family circle are a personal matter, secrets will out. Among those known to have been purchased are an exquisitely-carved antique box bought by the Queen Mother for the Queen. Princess Margaret bought her sister a small jade ornament as costume jewelry.

The Duchess of Kent bought most of her Christmas presents in such places as Hong Kong during her recent tour of the Far East. Her gift to the Queen is believed to have been a colorful length of Chinese silk to wear as a scarf. For Princess Margaret there was a carved ivory cigaret holder of unusual design and Prince Charles received an Oriental dancing toy—several little men dangling from a pair of sticks.

Princess Margaret is said to have bought for Prince Philip a tiny clock set in a miniature steering wheel—and the Princess Royal rent him the prints of two old sailing ships set in narrow black frames.

DOROTHY DIX

Outlook For Remarriage Poor, Widows Informed

DEAR MISS DIX: What becomes of widows? Are they supposed to slowly die—of loneliness? Are they all supposed to eat out their hearts for companionship—or should they go out and pick up friendship? I wonder!

I know of numerous widows—all alone—like myself (and I am not old by years or actions), and I feel as they do—there must be some decent way we can reach companionship. I am not ready for a rocking chair yet!

Have already tried church organizations but again I run into the same deal — husbands and wives, or older people, or adolescents. So here I am still alone—and I don't like it! I am not bad looking, have no figure faults, enjoy sports, radio, shows, a good laugh and good company.

How about some of the bachelors and widowers writing to your column and giving us some pointers on how we can meet them?

Few people realize how desperate this condition has become, and those of us who do get into trouble have it brought on by just such callous attitudes toward our loneliness. T.M.

ANSWER: Widows today face a problem that is becoming increasingly difficult as the gap grows in the ratio of widows to widowers. There are some seven million widows in this country, outnumbering widowers by better than three to one. So as far as the question of remarriage goes, the outlook is not too hopeful. Widows are more likely than not to be sought chiefly by harassed fathers of motherless children who are more eager to acquire a budget-balancer than anything else. Bachelors in the pertinent age group are so thoroughly settled in their single blessedness that there's very little hope of getting them in the matrimonial sweepstakes. Your expectations, therefore, as far as marriage are concerned, can't be viewed with an optimistic eye, and I'd be out of order to present the facts in any rosy light.

COMPANIONSHIP BRIGHTER OUTLOOK

As far as companionship goes, the outlook is much brighter Since you mention the fact that you know numerous widows, can't you find among them congenial company to assuage your loneliness, at least?

I agree that most people — meaning, of course, those who are secure in their own homes with husbands—are apt to be heedless of your plight. It would be a good idea if married couples did give a little more consideration to their widowed friends; and would try occasionally to arrange dinner or cards and include the lady and perhaps an eligible male, if one can be found.

When being entertained by your married friends, you must be wary of being over-attentive to the husband. Wives are inclined to regard unattached women as predatory females and will be quick to notice, and take exception to, any undue attempts to engage hubby's interest.

Since your range of interests is wide, you should be in a position to make friends easily. As a reading guide, I suggest "You Can Start All Over" by Marjorie Hillis Roulston, which can be obtained at any book store.

DEAR MISS DIX: I have been going with a man for 12 years. Two years ago he gave me a diamond ring, which he later took back. Now I see him Tuesday and Thursday, but Saturday and Sunday he spends with a married woman. I want to get him back, but don't know how to go about doing it. ALICE.

ANSWER: You are very foolish, Alice, to continue wasting your affection and time on a man so utterly worthless. Every statement in your letter is an indictment against him. Do have the courage to give him up. There may be ways of getting him back, but his demands would not be met by a self-respecting young lady, as I'm sure you are. He's wasted enough of your time already.

❖ ❖ ❖

DEAR MISS DIX: My son died a few days before his wedding. The girl has the engagement ring, and I have the wedding ring. She has asked a member of the family about the wedding ring, and our minister says that since the wedding did not take place she could not possibly wear it. What shall I do with it? M.G.

ANSWER: If the ring has no sentimental value to you, I would advise taking it to the jeweller who sold it, and asking if he would buy it back, explaining, of course, the circumstances.

Coldsprings WI Sponsor Christmas Dance

COLDSPRINGS — (ENS) — Christmas decorations, colored balloons, streamers, horns, fancy paper hats, and many lovely formal gowns made a festive appearance at the Hamilton township community hall on Monday night, when approximately 200 attended the Yuletide Dance sponsored by the Coldsprings Women's Institute. Mrs. Graydon McIntosh and committee were in charge of arrangements.

Dancing was to music supplied by Potter's Orchestra of Warkworth. The door prize draw made by little Linda Turk was won by Mrs. Boddy of Cobourg. Mr. McConkey has lived and farmed all his life on the farm the couple now own. He was born there and lived there with his parents until and after he was married.

Their five children presented their father with a gold watch, their mother with a dresser; the grandchildren gave a gold watch-chain and a gold locket and chain.

Mrs. McConkey is the eldest daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Isaac Elliott and Mr. McConkey, who is 75, is the eldest son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Silas McConkey. What's Right?

In a small social gathering you express an opinion and it is challenged by someone else—and the others present agree with the other person.

WRONG: Feel that you must prove you are right, no matter how long you have to discuss the matter.

RIGHT: Let the matter drop with some good-natured remark like: "Well, I seem to be outvoted."

Of Interest to Women

Queen Named Woman Of Year

NEW YORK (CP)—Queen Elizabeth II is named "Woman of the year" by the editors of Time magazine who placed her portrait on this week's cover against a background of a rose in full bloom.

The Queen is the first mother and the third woman to receive the magazine's annual citation for newsworthiness. Since 1927, Time has named annually a man or woman who dominated the news of the year.

The three women previously named by the magazine are the Duchess of Windsor and Mme. Chiang Kai-shek.

The editors describe the Queen in an article as "a fresh young blossom on roots that had weathered many a season of wintry doubt."

The magazine's annual choice is of a figure who "dominated the news of that year and left an indelible mark—for good or ill—on history."

E. H. Temme of England was the first woman swimmer to swim the English channel both directions, in 1927-34.

CALLADINE—In loving memory of Samuel Calladine, who passed away January 1st, 1951.

The love a heart holds dear,
Fond memories linger every day,
Remembrance Keeps him near.
—Ever remembered by Madge, Jim and Jack.

CHIMENTI—In loving memory of a dear father, Peter Chimenti, who passed away January 1, 1951.
Two years have passed, dear father
Since you were called away;
How well do we remember
That sad and weary day.
You suffered much, you murmured not,
We watched you day by day;
We cried and prayed that your dear life
Would not be taken away.
—Ever remembered by daughter Virginia, Dorothy, Irene, sons-in-law and children.

CHIMENTI—In loving memory of my dear husband, Peter Chimenti, who passed away January 1, 1951.
He is gone, but not forgotten
And as dawns another year
In my lonely hours of thinking
Thoughts of him are always near.
Days of sadness still come o'er me
Friends may think the wound is healed
But they little know the sorrow
That lies within the heart concealed.
—Ever remembered by his wife.

FALLIS—In loving memory of a dear husband and father, Herbert Fallis, who passed away Dec. 31st, 1948.
He had a cheery smile, a pleasant way,
A helping hand to all he knew,
He was so kind, so generous and true
On earth he nobly did his best,
Grant him, Jesus, heavenly rest.
—Wife Isabel and family.

HARTWICK—In loving memory of Mrs. Wm. Hartwick, who passed away December 30, 1950.
In our hearts your memory lingers,
Always tender, fond and true,
There's not a day dear mother
We do not think of you.
—Ever remembered by daughter Marge, son-in-law John and Jackelin.

HARTWICK—In loving memory of Mrs. Wm. Hartwick, who passed away December 30, 1950.
Two dear bright eyes, a tender smile,
A loving heart that knew no guile,
Deep trust in God that all was right
Her joy to make some other bright.
If sick or suffering one she knew
Some gentle act of love she'd do
No thought of self, but of "the other";
We know He said "Well done, dear mother."
—Ever remembered by husband and family.

US Davis Cuppers Avert Complete Rout

By GAYLE TALBOT

ADELAIDE (AP) — America's Davis Cuppers averted a complete rout at the hands of the Australians today when Vic Seixas defeated Ken McGregor 6-3, 8-6, 6-8, 6-3 in the final match of the challenge round to make the score 4-1 for the record books.

In today's first match Frank Sedgman knocked off Tony Trabert in straight sets 7-5, 6-4, 10-8 for the Aussies' fourth straight victory.

The score of this match was misleading. Sedgman permitted the ycung U. S. sailor to break through his service first in each set then rallied with what looked like effortless ease to win.

Seixas flashed his finest form in defeating McGregor although the big Aussie, with the pressure removed, played well below his great game of the last two days.

Although the Aussies had clinched the cup by winning the doubles Tuesday, another capacity crowd of 15,000 turned out for the final two matches.

The crowd got most of its thrills in the Seixas-McGregor match. Vic swept the first two sets, although he had to come from behind in the second set. He fought off set point six times before McGregor finally managed to take the third set.

After intermission Seixas swept the fourth set for the lone U. S. victory.

Indicative of Vic's keenly-placed shots, McGregor had 106 errors to Seixas' 93. Each had five aces. Two of Vic's came in the last set and helped build up a 4-1 lead that McGregor could not overcome.

It was learned that a group of wealthy Australians are offering Sedgman financial inducements not to turn pro Thursday, but it is strongly doubted they'll get anywhere.

Tony DeSpirito Smashes Riding Record

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Apprentice jockey Tony DeSpirito smashed the world's all-time riding record Tuesday when he brought in his 389th winner of the year to erase a mark set in 1906.

The 18-year-old jockey from Lawrence, Mass., rode four winners on the nine-race program at Tropical Park to break the record of 388 set by Walter Miller and tied in 1950 by Joe Culmone and Willie Shoemaker.

The icy-nerved boy scored his record-breaking victory on King's Quest in the ninth and final race to climax a spine-tingling stretch duel with apprentice Robert L. Stevenson, riding Joe E. Lewis.

Racing steward Marshall Cassidy presented DeSpirito with a silver trophy.

Driving hard to break racing's all-time riding record, DeSpirito was a dismal sixth on Saddle Bags in the seventh, but he almost made it on Tel Aviv in the eighth, when he finished second to Thwarted by 2½ lengths.

RIGHT TO WORK

After bringing in four winners Monday to run his score to 385, he went right to work in the first Tuesday aboard Classic Night.

The colt failed to overtake Con Merchant in a stretch duel and was second by a head in a photo finish.

DeSpirito led all the way in the second on Potterac to win the mile-and-a-furlong event by 1½ lengths.

DeSpirito got his 387th winner on Dark Destroyer in the third race, a six-furlong sprint for two-year-olds.

The jockey tied the record on Jantember in the fourth, a claiming race for two-year-olds at 1 1-16 miles.

DeSpirito rested during the fifth and sixth races, then rode again in the seventh but finished sixth on Saddle Bags, with Topside, ridden by Charlie Burr, the winner.

DeSpirito announced after the presentation that he was sending the $50 jockey fee for winning the final race to Walter Miller who is in a sanitarium in New York state.

OSHAWA BEATS BELLEVILLE

BELLEVILLE — The Oshawa Truckers strengthened their grip on first place in the OHA senior B group standing here Monday by edging the Belleville Glen Roys, 5-3, before 1,373 paying customers in the Belleville Memorial Arena. The win gave the Truckers a three-point margin over the runner-up Stouffville Clippers.

Lakeshore Teams Pushing Feud

COBOURG.— The smoldering Lakeshore Hockey League certificate fire burst into full flame here Tuesday. OHA Business Manager William Hanley notified Cobourg Comet President Stan Williams that the Comet win Friday against Bowmanville Barons had been protested because the Cobourg club had used Bernard (Bun) Flesch. Bowmanville are also protesting two Orono men, goalie Slips Rowe and defenseman Flintoff.

Apparently Flesch did not get a release from Port Hope to play with Cobourg. Cobourg claim they have tried without success to secure the release and even went so far as to pay the Port Hope club $30 the Redmen claimed was coming to them from the cost of equipment which they bought last year for Flesch.

The Bowmanville protest went further than Flesch and asked clarification of six newcomers to the Cobourg club this year. They are regular goalie Clarke Commerville, Playing Coach Jim Munroe, defenseman (Boom Boom) Baker, and forwards, Jack Reeves, Dave Casey and C. Beatty.

30 European Athletes Detained In New York

NEW YORK (AP)—About 30 European athletes are being detained by security guards in a New York hotel, not as prisoners but because "technically all of them are outside the United States."

They include 23 members of the Rapid soccer team of Vienna, en route to Bogota, Colombia, for a series of games, and five bicycle riders returning from the recent international races in Caracas, Venezuela.

An official explained:

"None of these people have entry visas. Technically all of them are outside the United States. As soon as they can leave for their legal destinations, they will go."

The speedy forward turned down offers from the Canadiens to remain with Quebec Aces of the Quebec Senior Hockey League. He and Miss Couture plan to marry next spring.

Hogmanay

It is said that this is the same thing as Shakespeare's Gossip's Bowl in Midsummer Night's Dream. Recipes vary, but in general, the idea is to mix up a concoction of warm ale, nutmeg, sugar, and toast, topped off with roasted crabs or apples to give the flavor a distinctive taste.

On the stroke of 12, each member of the family would dip in to the kettle for a wee sip and the merriment began.

After a round of toasting, handshaking and general hilarity, the older members of the family would start out armed with the kettle filled with the warm refreshing punch and a good supply of shortbread, buns, bread and cheese to exchange greetings with their friends.

The idea was to be the first one to put your foot inside your friends' doors after the New Year. After dipping into the kettle at a friend's house and of course offering a draught in return, it was on to the next and so on till the wee sma' hours and the kettle was empty.

A variation on this custom was the independent first footers. The young bloods of the neighbourhood who took advantage of Hogmanay to rap on the door of attractive young ladies.

SPPECIAL PRIVILEGE

Being a young lady's first footer carried with it the privilege of a kiss and with the surprise element it might even be accomplished without a chaperon. However, great was the disappointment when a wizened maiden aunt answered the door instead.

In remote towns in Scotland, it is the custom for bands of young children of poor families to dress themselves in sheets, doubling the front up to form a vast pocket. Then like Canadian youngsters on Hallowe'en shell out expeditions, they go through the streets calling at doors of wealthier residents for bread, or a portion of oat cake, often improved with the addition of cheese. This is their Hogmanay.

From mediaeval times until the early 19th century, the streets of Scottish cities and towns took on a carnival atmosphere on Hogmanay eve. Thousands of flickering lanterns lit up the dark streets as crowds of people all carrying bowls of hot toddy hurried from the house of one friend to another, wishing everyone "a guide New Year" on the way.

Then on December 31, 1811 an event occurred in Edinburgh which ended the age old custom and put a damper on festivities from then on, as far as crowds of people mingling in the streets were concerned.

A gang of young hoodlums decided it would be an ideal time to waylay wealthy citizens who were abroad and rob them. They went at it in a big way and were able to defy the police and authoities until 4 a.m.

During the many scuffles and fights which resulted, two men were killed, one a policeman, and several were wounded.

The loot the gang collected was substantial but the ringleaders were finally arrested and although three were executed publicly, New Year's eves in Edinburgh have never been the same since.

On the day before Hogmanay, Scotch lads and lassies everywhere are looking forward eagerly to an evening of gay times, and good fellowship, drinking to the good luck, health and happiness of their relatives and friends. Then to wind up festivities, there will be plenty of good food and an exchanging of gifts on New Year's Day.

It's a good custom but what do the bairns do about Santa Claus or does he come down the chimney on Hogmanay too?

Firefighters

a yearly wage to an hourly basis.

POLICE ON 44 HOURS

"It may be that for certain reasons the police do 48 hours' work in 44, as against the 56 hours that the firemen have. It has been said before, and no doubt will be said again, that firemen have little to do accept in emergencies, and that therefore the time element is not really a factor involved. We feel that we must concur in this point of view, and while there is some difference between the differential which did exist in 1950, and the differential which does exist in 1952, we feel the present parity should not be seriously disturbed."

(Apparently the report did not dispose of the firemen's request for increase of pay for any of the men assigned temporarily to an officer's responsibility, as, for example, if a first class fireman was required to take the place of a captain for some period.)

CITY'S STEP PROPER

"In view of the fact that cost of living bonus plays a great role in the wage structure of an employee, whether he be a fireman, industrial worker or a policeman, it does seem to us that the Peterborough authorities have taken a proper step in establishing a cost of living bonus which contemplates a very important element in wages.

"The association request to incorporate this in basic pay is one-sided. They take the position that, if the cost of living goes up, they should continue to receive the cost of living bonus, but if it goes down, they should not be forced to take a reduction in their wages. Such reasoning, in our opinion, is not reasonable, although quite understandable."

IF FATALITY OCCURS.

The following section of the report explains itself. "On the question of accident and sickness, the association has requested that, if a fireman is killed in the performance of his duties, his full salary shall be paid to his widow for a period of one year."

The city trims the position against this that such a request, if granted, would probably harm the dependents of the deceased in that it would limit to a fixed amount the contribuions which might well be given to meet the situation. Both the association and the city drew our attention to the unfortunate incident in Peterborough where three persons were killed in a fire (May 19, 1951).

The Association takes the position that the City did not shoulder its responsibility, but cut off the payment of salary to the dependents at once. The City, against this, takes the position that they raised a benefit fund, which is available to the dependents, which would be far in excess of the amount which could have been paid from salary, and that it would be very unlikely that any such money would have been subscribed had it been known that the City would automatically carry on the payment of salary for the definite period in question.

"TEAR IN THE EYE"

From a psychological standpoint, it must be remembered that money must be collected and paid at the time when the "tear is in the eye," and it is doubtful whether the tear would be in the eye if the section were defined in the agreement.

The Board feels, after hearing the argument both for and against, that the request should not be granted.

We sympathize with the Firemen in circumstances such as this, and feel that they should receive at least the amount of a year's salary from the municipality itself, or from the insurance of the municipality, but we doubt the feasibility of writing it in the contract. I am afraid that if we were to recommend that this clause be written into the contract, we would be doing an incalculable harm to any person who might come under this clause at some future time. We would be prepared, therefore, to rule that the City be required to alter their present contract to provide that the widows of such firemen who are killed shall be paid for all annual holidays accumulated sick leave or statutory holidays standing to the credit of a man who was killed in service.

On the question of liability insurance, it might be that such insurance would be humane and of a very definite value to both the City and to the Firemen. This we think, however, is not a matter of negotiation, and not a matter with which this Board of Arbitration should deal. In our opinion, it is much more a matter for the councillors and the council of the City of Peterborough to deal with than one on which we should make a finding."

These were the major issues in the appeal of the Association.

Three Local Rinks In Oshawa 'Spiel

The seventh annual Ontario Teachers' Bonspiel in Oshawa this week was won by B. Robinson's rink of Toronto Western Tech. A full entry of 32 rinks competed for the J. D. Waugh Memorial Trophy and 16 sets of prizes.

Wes Switzer of Peterborough skipped his rink to third with three wins and a total of 12, others of the quartet being N. Smith, H. Wilson and J. Moebus. They lost out on second place only because Skip Switzer had to draw an extra shot to win a tie game in the final game of the night, and so had no count for his third win.

F. B. Smitheran has a rink here of Jas. McNabb, John McNeil and W. L. McNeil. The other Peterborough rink was R. F. Downey's, composed of J. Lee, F. H. Dearborn and O. M. Steer. There was a special presentation to the veteran A. F. Downey by the bonspiel committee.

ment if a fire broke out, even though he had no signed agreement.

Peterborough now finds that it has inherited the responsibility for honoring these agreements since the city annexed one of the fire stations.

City and suburban firemen have talked the situation over; so have the Smith council and the Peterborough fire, water and light committee. A general agreement has been reached.

The fire areas as originally laid out in Smith Township have had to be revised. The Bridgenorth department will now extend further south, taking over some of the suburban fire department's former area.

NEW AREA

Now the suburban fire department, under city jurisdiction, will only answer calls in this revised fire area. This area extends from a point on the Emily boundary, a mile and a half south of Fowler's Corners, and continues in an easterly arc, passing about a mile and a half north of the present city limits, to a point where the road between Concessions 4 and 5 meets the Otonabee River, about two and a half miles south of Lakefield.

(A detailed description of the new suburban area fire area appears in an advertisement elsewhere in the Examiner.)

Instructions to the suburban area firemen are to answer all calls in the annexed area which is now part of the city. These calls will be backed up by a pumper and the chief's car, which contains radio equipment, from the main station in the city.

In addition they will answer calls from about 30 others in the fire area who agree to pay the $150 for an emergency call. However, equipment from the main station will not go out on calls that are in the fire area, but not in the annexed portion.

Mayor Waddell said the city hoped to push along in its laying of hydrants and making other fire protection arrangements so that this temporory arangement won't last more than six months at the most.

Alderman A. B. Burrows was chairman of the meeting between the fire, water and light committee and the Smith firemen. Also present in an advisory capacity were Chief Leonard and Assitant Chief Stewart Foster.

Britain's Anglers Plan More Action

LONDON (CP)—Encouraged by their biggest victory to date, Britain's anglers plan more legal action to safeguard their fishing holes.

Their court-room triumph, won over the Derby Corporation, among other defendants, records in effect that a city's need for sewage disposal doesn't justify the damaging of fishing grounds. Costs of $112,000 were charged to the corporation.

Plaintiffs were the owners of fishing grounds on the River Derwent, the Earl of Harrington and a Derbyshire angling association. The country-wide Anglers Co-operative Association backed them.

CCF Organizers Now Appointed

TORONTO (CP)—Six organizers were appointed for various parts of Ontario Tuesday as the CCF party prepared its campaign for the next federal election.

They are: C. C. Ames, northern Ontario; Fred Young, eastern Ontario; Ken Bryden, Hamilton-Niagara; Luscas Nicholls, Bowmanville-Kingston; Ted Isley, Wellington-Waterloo; Dudley Bristow, Toronto.

The organizing campaign to boost membership will begin March 1 and the party hopes to have candidates in half the province's ridings by Easter. E. B. Jolliffe, Ontario party leader, will tour points between Kirkland Lake and Kenora to boost the northern drive.

Newsprint Price Less In Quebec

QUEBEC (CP)—Quebec newspapers probably will continue to get special price consideration from the province's newsprint manufacturers.

This was indicated Tuesday by Premier Duplessis following a closed meeting with eight representatives of Quebec's largest newsprint producers.

Mr. Duplessis said he believed the companies "will co-operate" with the government in giving Quebec newspapers special price consideration.

This means that Quebec publishers will continue to pay less for their newsprint than newspapers outside this province.

Informed circles say that until a definite arrangement is concluded, Quebec newspapers will not feel the full effect of any projected increase.

BELIVEAU ENGAGED—While Montreal Canadiens are having difficulty getting Jean Marc Beliveau to agree to a National Hockey League contract, the 21-year-old hockey player makes a more romantic pact with his fiancee, Elsie, Couture, of Quebec city. Beliveau, who scored five goals when he played three lend-lease games with Canadiens, gave Miss Couture the ring Christmas night. The speedy forward turned down offers from the Canadiens to remain with Quebec Aces of the Quebec Senior Hockey League. He and Miss Couture plan to marry next spring.

Hogmanay

It is said that this is the same thing as Shakespeare's Gossip's Bowl in Midsummer Night's Dream. Recipes vary, but in general, the idea is to mix up a concoction of warm ale, nutmeg, sugar, and toast, topped off with roasted crabs or apples to give the flavor a distinctive taste.

On the stroke of 12, each member of the family would dip in to the kettle for a wee sip and the merriment began.

After a round of toasting, handshaking and general hilarity, the older members of the family would start out armed with the kettle filled with the warm refreshing punch and a good supply of shortbread, buns, bread and cheese to exchange greetings with their friends.

The idea was to be the first one to put your foot inside your friends' doors after the New Year. After dipping into the kettle at a friend's house and of course offering a draught in return, it was on to the next and so on till the wee sma' hours and the kettle was empty.

A variation on this custom was the independent first footers. The young bloods of the neighbourhood who took advantage of Hogmanay to rap on the door of attractive young ladies.

SPPECIAL PRIVILEGE

Being a young lady's first footer carried with it the privilege of a kiss and with the surprise element it might even be accomplished without a chaperon. However, great was the disappointment when a wizened maiden aunt answered the door instead.

In remote towns in Scotland, it is the custom for bands of young children of poor families to dress themselves in sheets, doubling the front up to form a vest pocket. Then like Canadian youngsters on Hallowe'en shell out expeditions, they go through the streets calling at doors of wealthier residents for bread, or a portion of oat cake, often improved with the addition of cheese. This is their Hogmanay.

From mediaeval times until the early 19th century, the streets of Scottish cities and towns took on a carnival atmosphere on Hogmanay eve. Thousands of flickering lanterns lit up the dark streets as crowds of people all carrying bowls of hot toddy hurried from the house of one friend to another, wishing everyone "a guide New Year" on the way.

Then on December 31, 1811 an event occurred in Edinburgh which ended the age old custom and put a damper on festivities from then on, as far as crowds of people mingling in the streets were concerned.

A gang of young hoodlums decided it would be an ideal time to waylay wealthy citizens who were abroad and rob them. They went at it in a big way and were able to defy the police and authoities until 4 a.m.

During the many scuffles and fights which resulted, two men were killed, one a policeman, and several were wounded.

The loot the gang collected was substantial but the ringleaders were finally arrested and although three were executed publicly, New Year's eves in Edinburgh have never been the same since.

On the day before Hogmanay, Scotch lads and lassies everywhere are looking forward eagerly to an evening of gay times, and good fellowship, drinking to the good luck, health and happiness of their relatives and friends. Then to wind up festivities, there will be plenty of good food and an exchanging of gifts on New Year's Day.

It's a good custom but what do the bairns do about Santa Claus or does he come down the chimney on Hogmanay too?

Firefighters

a yearly wage to an hourly basis.

POLICE ON 44 HOURS

"It may be that for certain reasons the police do 48 hours' work in 44, as against the 56 hours that the firemen have. It has been said before, and no doubt will be said again, that firemen have little to do accept in emergencies, and that therefore the time element is not really a factor involved. We feel that we must concur in this point of view, and while there is some difference between the differential which did exist in 1950, and the differential which does exist in 1952, we feel the present parity should not be seriously disturbed."

(Apparently the report did not dispose of the firemen's request for increase of pay for any of the men assigned temporarily to an officer's responsibility, as, for example, if a first class fireman was required to take the place of a captain for some period.)

CITY'S STEP PROPER

"In view of the fact that cost of living bonus plays a great role in the wage structure of an employee, whether he be a fireman, industrial worker or a policeman, it does seem to us that the Peterborough authorities have taken a proper step in establishing a cost of living bonus which contemplates a very important element in wages.

"The association request to incorporate this in basic pay is one-sided. They take the position that, if the cost of living goes up, they should continue to receive the cost of living bonus, but if it goes down, they should not be forced to take a reduction in their wages. Such reasoning, in our opinion, is not reasonable, although quite understandable."

IF FATALITY OCCURS

The following section of the report explains itself. "On the question of accident and sickness, the association has requested that, if a fireman is killed in the performance of his duties, his full salary shall be paid to his widow for a period of one year."

The city tries the position against this that such a request, if granted, would probably harm the dependents of the deceased in that it would limit to a fixed amount the contribuions which might well be given to meet the situation. Both the association and the city drew our attention to the unfortunate incident in Peterborough where three persons were killed in a fire (May 19, 1951).

The Association takes the position that the City did not shoulder its responsibility, but cut off the payment of salary to the dependents at once. The City, against this, takes the position that they raised a benefit fund, which is available to the dependents, which would be far in excess of the amount which could have been paid from salary, and that it would be very unlikely that any such money would have been subscribed had it been known that the City would automatically carry on the payment of salary for the definite period in question.

"TEAR IN THE EYE"

From a psychological standpoint, it must be remembered that money must be collected and paid at the time when the "tear is in the eye," and it is doubtful whether the tear would be in the eye if the section were defined in the agreement.

The Board feels, after hearing the argument both for and against, that the request should not be granted.

We sympathize with the Firemen in circumstances such as this, and feel that they should receive at least the amount of a year's salary from the municipality itself, or from the insurance of the municipality, but we doubt the feasibility of writing it in the contract. I am afraid that if we were to recommend that this clause be written into the contract, we would be doing an incalculable harm to any person who might come under this clause at some future time. We would be prepared, therefore, to rule that the City be required to alter their present contract to provide that the widows of such firemen who are killed shall be paid for all annual holidays accumulated sick leave or statutory holidays standing to the credit of a man who was killed in service.

On the question of liability insurance, it might be that such insurance would be humane and of a very definite value to both the City and to the Firemen. This we think, however, is not a matter of negotiation, and not a matter with which this Board of Arbitration should deal. In our opinion, it is much more a matter for the councillors and the council of the City of Peterborough to deal with than one on which we should make a finding."

These were the major issues in the appeal of the Association.

Newsprint Price Less In Quebec

QUEBEC (CP)—Quebec newspapers probably will continue to get special price consideration from the province's newsprint manufacturers.

This was indicated Tuesday by Premier Duplessis following a closed meeting with eight representatives of Quebec's largest newsprint producers.

Mr. Duplessis said he believed the companies "will co-operate" with the government in giving Quebec newspapers special price consideration.

This means that Quebec publishers will continue to pay less for their newsprint than newspapers outside this province.

Informed circles say that until a definite arrangement is concluded, Quebec newspapers will not feel the full effect of any projected increase.
